HARDEN SHOWS GERMANS WHAT THEY NOW FACE

Summarizes Allies' Account Against His Country

HE MAKES AN APPEAL

Says Germany Must Approach Allies With Assurances That She Places All Hopes on Giving up Military Ambitions and in Creation of New World

London, Jan. 2.—The Times quotes an article appearing in Die Zukunft, of Berlin, on Dec. 14, in which Maximilian Harden appeals to Germany to make a demonstration of good faith and readiness to secure confidence by giving guarantees.

The article asserts that the German people fail to face the facts about their own plight. First, it says, the German people accepted the "official lie" invented in order to conceal the responsibility of the emperor for the outbreak of the war.

Germany had been wretchedly attacked, and, second, when defeat came, the German people let their rulers too lightly go. It declares that the German people do not really understand the account which is being made up against them...

The article asserts that the German people do not realize the situation they have to face, and after expressing the belief that the allied view is the correct one, it says that Germany really places all her hopes in the abandonment of military ambitions and the creation of a new world.

King and Prince To Be Here This Year?

Ottawa Report of Visit by His Majesty and Prince of Wales in Late Spring

Toronto, Jan. 2.—The World in a special despatch from Ottawa this morning says—King George and the Prince of Wales are to visit Canada. Such is the statement made here on high authority. According to the present arrangements, the king and the prince will make a tour of the overseas dominions, and Canada will be the first to receive the honor of the royal visit. The date of their arrival in the dominion is more or less contingent on the settlement of European affairs at the peace conference; but if matters are cleared up sufficiently to permit the king leaving England, the visit will take place in the late spring.

The present tentative arrangement is that the king will visit Canada in time to hold a review of the touring British fleet at Quebec on Empire Day, May 23. What other chief cities of the dominion he may visit is at present unsettled.

Acting Prime Minister Sir Thomas White said this morning that the government had no official information as to whether the King and the Prince of Wales are going to visit Canada or not. A rumor that they are to do so has been circulating in some quarters.

Smashing Blow At Bolsheviks

ARE ANXIOUS OVER RUSSIA

British Foreign Office Showing Concern—Where Will a Stable Government be Found?

London, Jan. 2.—Russian affairs are causing the British foreign office considerable anxiety, says the Mail. The necessity of maintaining a definite Allied policy as to Russia is extremely urgent, and it is said it has been decided that the Russian question will be first to be discussed at the peace conference.

It is presumed that all the Allied nations are overwhelmingly against any intervention in Russia, although the British government has also decided that to encourage the creation of a stable government in Russia is in the interests of the Allies. It is at present quite obscure. In the meantime, instructions and instructors are being sent to the true Russian armies in the south, in Poland and the forces on the borders of Siberia and Finland.

Two hundred thousand Russian soldiers released from German prisons are expected to pass through the Baltic provinces in a few days. The Russians are destitute and in a serious condition from exposure and lack of food.

START INQUIRY INTO CHARGES RELATIVE TO STEAMER NORTHLAND

Ottawa, Jan. 2.—Investigation into the Northland charges opened in Ottawa before Judge Hodgins this morning and adjourned till afternoon. Although some returned soldiers were available for evidence, it was thought fair that their story should be told when officers of the steamer are to be present tomorrow.

There were two points of view to be borne in mind in the inquiry, Judge Hodgins said. The men who had made the charges were men to whom Canada owed a great deal. They were coming back, and he thought he was right in saying that Canada felt everything possible should be done for their comfort and convenience. It was due to them that their complaints should be thoroughly investigated. On the other hand, a serious reflection had been made on the owners of the vessel, and it was due to them that the fullest opportunity should be given of investigation. He thought it advisable that in addition to the ship's officers mentioned, the stewards should be called, who, it was alleged, had sold food to the men.

They will be sworn in tomorrow afternoon and at a meeting of the council which will follow they will be allotted to the offices which they will fill. It is expected that Mr. Thornton will become commissioner of public safety and that Mr. Jones will take the water and sewerage office.

A PROGRAMME FOR 1919.
The war with autocracy is over. The war against evil which affect social conditions and the general welfare of the people must still be carried on, and with increasing vigor. It is fitting, at the beginning of a new year, that we consider some of the matters which call for action, and resolve that so far as we are concerned, individually and collectively, they will not be overlooked or neglected.

Consider first the public health. We are beginning to realize more fully that a child should be the subject of intelligent care before it is born, and that pre-natal conditions may very seriously affect its physical or mental state. Even if we do not as yet consider the physical or mental state of those who marry, the welfare of their offspring calls for some training for proper nursing, with provision for proper nursing, and in large centres maternity hospitals available for those whose means are limited. There should be, for example, a free maternity hospital in connection with the General Public Hospital in this city and such an outside nursing service associated therewith as would be adequate for the needs of the patients. In many cities there are free centres where mothers may take their infants at regular intervals for examination and for advice, and where this is done there is a marked decline in infant mortality. Medical inspection in the schools is the next necessary step, in order that physical defects may be discovered and, if possible removed, thus overcoming what so often proves a handicap not only in school but through life. The present year should see the system of medical inspection which has been adopted in St. John made compulsory throughout the province, and if the work ought to be enlarged in this city the funds should be regarded as a necessary first charge upon the educational treasury. A census of mentally defective children and for their instruction, with an institution for those of very feeble mind, are also essential in the interests of social welfare. The proper physical and mental development of boys and girls also calls for proper playgrounds, and in large centres for play instructors. What forward steps in regard to these various matters will this city and province take during the year that has just begun?

There is also the matter of housing which has so vital a bearing upon child life and the public health and morals. The Associated Charities, the women whose war-work took them into the poorer tenements, the nurses who were called there by the epidemic of influenza, and all who are engaged in social welfare work in connection with the churches or other organizations, know that in St. John the housing conditions are far from satisfactory. In the United States it is believed that as soon as wages and the cost of building materials are stabilized there will be a building boom. No doubt here also there will be a renewal of building activity, possibly with government co-operation in financing the business. Whether there is or no, there is great need in St. John of a better building code, to enable the authorities not only to regulate new building projects but to enforce the improvement of many houses in which families are now compelled to live. The present year should witness the adoption of a definite and constructive policy in this regard.

Vocational training offers another inviting field of activity. The city council has verbally assured a committee of business men that it will grant the money needed to make a start in St. John. It remains for the school board to appoint a vocational training board and get the approval of the new provincial board for its programme, which will be given as a matter of course. Then an expert can be engaged and a practical beginning made with various evening classes in existing school buildings. Eventually the city must have a measure of vocational training in its public schools, under a revised course of instruction, and a vocational high school for the advanced classes of those who intend to engage in industry when they go out of school. The development of the system will take several years, but a practical beginning can be made before the present winter is over.

If those who have worked so nobly during the war in the various local fields of war work will now direct some of their energy into these other channels, the year 1919 will be notable for the improved social and educational conditions accomplished.

St. John welcomed the visit to this city of Mr. F. A. MacKenzie, the distinguished journalist and war correspondent, whose writings on Canada's part in the war have been read with such deep interest, and whose broad grasp of Imperial affairs has won him recognition in the highest circles. As a correspondent he has had experience in several wars, and as a working journalist in London and a writer on Imperial questions from many viewpoints he has won high rank. Moreover, he is a Canadian, who has seen the Canadian soldier at his great task.

PROVINCIAL POLITICS.
The political situation in New Brunswick is extremely interesting. In view of revelations made it would be very improper for the legislature to go on doing business with all of the present members in their seats. This must be obvious to those members whose conduct in certain matters that have been under investigation was so improper as to render them unfit to go on making laws for this province. The way to clean house is to use the broom. If these members remain in the house and there is no restraint of their acts by their fellow members, then the whole house should be emptied. If there is to be no penalty at all attached to their wrong-doing, there will be no reform, and men of high purpose will have no part in politics. The Premier government has applied the probe, and it is now for the legislature to act. Will the colleagues of Messrs. Murray, Jones, Smith, Baxter and Currie condone their acts and assert that they ought to remain in the house? Will they go on record to that effect? The issue cannot be dodged by saying that other members would do the same under like conditions. The answer to that is that after a few have paid a proper penalty the thing will stop; or, if it does not, that the penalty must be imposed again and again until the desired change has been brought about. There is too much partisanship. This province wants a clean administration. That is infinitely more important than a party triumph. The provincial revenue is small, the needs are great, and only a strictly business-like administration should be tolerated by the people. It is perfectly clear that there must be a house-cleaning at Fredericton, and since those who should resign their seats show no disposition to do so, the situation becomes extremely interesting. Their inaction throws the responsibility for action upon their colleagues and upon the government. We may be sure the government will not hesitate to do its full duty if and when the necessity arises.

A HINT FOR US ALL.
Now that we are entering upon a new year and are to have a reorganized police force the common everyday citizen might do well to take to heart these observations by a public official of Boston:—
"Many persons are far more willing to air their opinions and shout their complaints into the ears of their next-door neighbors than to take a few minutes' time in taking them to those authorities who have the power to deal with them. The negligence of a public official, the discourtesy of a street car conductor, the lawlessness of gangs of young men, the boisterous shouts and inconsiderate actions of boys and girls, are allowed to pass, perhaps with some contention, but in nearly every case without action. National and state legislatures have enacted numerous laws for the benefit of the people and for the preservation of peace and harmony, but these laws become so much wasted paper if individuals recklessly disregard them, and in a degree become anarchists and Bolsheviks. And these disturbers of the peace will grow in numbers if the individual does not recognize his own responsibility, and point out infractions to the attention of the officials delegated to enforce the laws."
Is there not a sting in these remarks for about ninety-nine out of a hundred of our people? For example, how many of those who know boot-leggers tell the inspectors about those law-breakers? And the same rule applies to gambling dens and to a great number of infractions of the laws. If there is a sincere general desire to improve conditions in the city there must also be sincere and general co-operation. Can we have it in St. John in 1919?

The two new city commissioners will not be long in getting into harness. It will necessarily take some time to familiarize themselves with the details of departmental work. The presence of two new men at the council board will of course lend a new interest to civic affairs, the more so that these two represent in an unusual degree the labor organizations of the city. We have entered upon a new phase of city government, in which the members of these organizations may be expected to take a keen interest. That will not be at all a bad thing for the city, for in the past there has been too much apathy all round.

Maximilian Harden in his newspaper is telling some blunt facts to the German people. They may be disagreeable but they are the facts that Germany must face.

The problem of Russia is one that is not easy of solution. The Allies do not wish to send armies into the country, but can the Bolsheviks be otherwise subdued?

Mayor Church of Toronto has been re-elected, despite very vigorous opposition by several of the city newspapers. This is his fifth year in office.

St. John welcomed the visit to this city of Mr. F. A. MacKenzie, the distinguished journalist and war correspondent, whose writings on Canada's part in the war have been read with such deep interest, and whose broad grasp of Imperial affairs has won him recognition in the highest circles. As a correspondent he has had experience in several wars, and as a working journalist in London and a writer on Imperial questions from many viewpoints he has won high rank. Moreover, he is a Canadian, who has seen the Canadian soldier at his great task.

LAUDER GIVEN OVATION HERE
Noted Entertainer Packs The Big Imperial
AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME

Famous Scott's Work Crowns Evening of Rare Pleasure at New Year's Entertainment—A Fine Company—New and Old Numbers by Mr. Lauder

Whether rendered with a burr or without it that was the verdict of the audiences which packed the Imperial at two appearances yesterday. Even without the great Scottish entertainer the programme was one of rare excellence; but with Lauder to crown it all, with song and story, old favorites and new production, and the appeal to the heart in his allusions to the war, the peace pact and the task of reconstruction, it was particularly delightful. The music suited the entertainment, as did the varied and striking stage settings. Eye and ear were alike charmed. His personal war experiences have added a touch of pathos to Lauder's stage work which is particularly appealing at this time for he strikes a responsive chord in every heart.

Thought It Was Suicide
A prominent merchant was discovered a few days ago brandishing a razor at midnight. His wife called for assistance, but found her Hubby was only parting his corns. Far better not to risk blood poisoning—use Putnam's Corn Extractor, 25c. at all dealers.

In his songs and talks, however, he is the same old-fashioned Scot; whose John expression is in itself provocative of laughter, without being grotesque or foolish. There is a naturalness, even in his fooling, that is the proof of his art. His songs are fetching and he soon had his audience singing the refrain of two of the new ones last evening. His appeal in behalf of the Lauder fund for maimed Scotch soldiers was a bit of rugged eloquence.

On his first and every appearance he was greeted with a hearty applause that showed how much he is appreciated by St. John audience. His songs included Back to Where the Heather Grows, There is Somebody Waiting for Me, When I Was Twenty-one, I Love a Lassie, A Wee Hoose Among the Heather and Let Us Talk of War No More But Let Us Sing of Love. In a reference to peace and reconstruction, he said:

"The peace pact must be built on a solid foundation; it must be built on the rock of justice and truth. It must be built high, up and until it reaches the sky, eye, and higher than that, it must reach to God. And Canada must build, too. She must build and be careful in building. We all know what German Kultur has proved to be, but it has now crumbled to dust—and we must be careful that none of that dust sweeps into Canada and finds a lodgment in crevices here."
Japanese balancing artists, Chinese dancers, Jella Curtis in fine and bird imitations and impersonation of several singers, Bert Melrose in a funny act that had a half-raising finale, all contributed very clever parts; while the living statuary, showing haunting groups of man, woman, horse and dog in various poses, with a war-like touch added and Joan of Arc at the end was perhaps the most artistic ever shown on a St. John stage. The posing by the dogs and the horse was a really remarkable result of careful training.

The music by the orchestra, directed by Daniel Dow, included an overture arranged by him and a medley of Scottish selections. The Scottish Highlanders' Band played stirring airs at the close of the general programme.
An entertaining interlude was Lauder's auctioning of a copy of his book

NEW YEAR'S DAY.

As a result of inclement weather there was very little celebrating on New Year's eve. At midnight factory whistles, church chimes and steamboat whistles could be heard throughout the city heralding the new year. Special services were also held in many of the local churches.
With turkeys selling at eighty cents a pound many families who were accustomed to having one for New Year's dinner had to forego this custom and refused to buy them at such exorbitant prices.
Watch services were held in many of the churches and large numbers were in attendance. Yesterday being a holy day in Catholic churches regular services were conducted.

An Ivory Soap shampoo is a distinct pleasure. The soft, smooth, delightful lather quickly covers the head, absorbing the dirt of scalp and hair. Rinsing leaves the hair fluffy and soft and the scalp pleasingly invigorated. A regular shampoo with Ivory promotes healthy hair.

Dangerous Antiseptics and Germicides Are Unnecessary

A dependable antiseptic has come to be considered a necessity in most homes. Especially in this time since Absorbine, Jr. has had such a wide introduction, because this liniment is not only a powerful antiseptic and germicide but it is absolutely safe to use and to have around the house. It is not poisonous and it cannot do harm even if the children do get hold of it. That is a big point to consider.

Absorbine, Jr. is concentrated and is therefore economical. It retains its germicidal properties even diluted one part Absorbine, Jr. to 100 parts water—and its antiseptic properties, one part Absorbine, Jr. to 300 parts of water.

The antiseptic and germicidal properties have been repeatedly tested and proven in many prominent chemical laboratories. Detailed laboratory reports mailed upon request.

Absorbine, Jr. combines safety with efficiency. $1.25 a bottle at most drugists or postpaid. Send 10c for liberal trial bottle.

MAY POSTPONE CONFERENCE

The illness of Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries, who has been operated on for appendicitis, will make it impossible for him to meet representatives of this city discuss the harbor commission project, as Hon. #### WANTS CHIEF PINLEY

Fredrick Gleason, Chief of Police Pinley has been offered a position as sub-inspector in charge of the St. John river counties and chief inspector of the province for the enforcement of the prohibition act. The chief was asked this morning in reference to the matter, but declined to make a statement. It is known, however, that he has had such an offer for some time, and it seems to be the opinion of members of the police commission that he will accept it.

Chief Pinley was formerly on the St. John police force.

LIKELY NO SUCCESSOR

There has been some speculation regarding the appointment of a successor to fill the office which will be vacated by John B. Jones as a result of his election as city commissioner. When asked about the matter this morning, Premier Foster said that Mr. Jones had been given the sale of marriage licenses and produce stamps, in addition to his duties as registrar of vital statistics, chiefly in recognition of his long and faithful service as liquor license inspector when that office disappeared under the new prohibitory law. It was not likely, he said, that a successor would be appointed, but in future the work of his office will be carried on by a clerk in the provincial government office.

MERCHANTS HELP IN THRIFT STAMPS SAVING CAMPAIGN

Decision of Meeting of Retail Business Men Held This Morning

At a meeting of the Retail Merchants of the city, held in the board rooms of the Retail Merchants' Association, Germain street, this morning with F. W. Daniel in the chair, the question of selling thrift stamps for the government was discussed. The meeting unanimously agreed to help in the sale of these stamps and, after a brief discussion, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we, the St. John Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association are glad to be able to help in any way we can towards the getting of our people generally to take up the idea of saving through the "thrift stamps" now being issued by our government, and to this end we feel that every merchant in St. John, no matter whether his business be large or small, should have "thrift stamps" on sale in his store, and further we feel that our merchants will take a personal interest in having "thrift stamps" introduced to their customers—knowing also that it is a fact that everyone who has the idea of saving is a better citizen and always more valuable to the community.

PLANNING FOR PEACE

Business Leaders of City Called Together by Board of Trade

The board of trade has invited the business leaders of the city to sit down with them at their first meeting of the New Year to consider a peace programme of city development. In the invitation which is sent out through the Journal, the officers of the board say: "During the four years of war many important matters relating to the progress of the city have been laid aside. Now that peace is at hand and a peace programme of development—one that will place the Loyalist city of St. John in the forefront of the cities of Canada—should be planned along comprehensive lines. Leaders in the industrial, commercial, shipping, civic and public activities of the city and province will be asked to attend and give short suggestive talks."

Among the city leaders who have promised to attend this meeting and submit their views are Sir Douglas Hazen, Mayor Hayes, R. W. Wigmore, M. P., W. S. Fisher, J. A. McAvity and A. H. Wetmore. Premier Foster, who was invited, found that engagements would call him out of the city on that evening.

PRESENTATION

Gold Watch and Chain and a Fine Pipe, With Address, to Robert E. Chatterton

Robert E. Chatterton, foreman carpenter of the "War Fundy," was agreeably surprised on New Year's eve when John Crowley, storekeeper for Great St. James, presented to him on behalf of his employees the following address:

On the threshold of a new year, it is customary to give expression to one's feeling of good-will and good fellowship. During the last twelve months we have witnessed under your supervision and had ample opportunity of appreciating your sense of justice.

Whilst looking in view the interests of our employers, you have also invariably sought to be fair to the men working under you as foreman. Your good nature and even temperament have made the work alike easy and pleasant for those who have been associated with you.

The good relationship, which has been strikingly evident amongst us, particularly in these days of constant strife between capital and labor, employer and employee, is in a large measure due to your kindness and sense of fair play.

We feel, Sir, that we cannot allow this opportunity to pass without giving some tangible expression to our feelings of good-will towards you. We would therefore ask you to accept this small token as an expression of our deep appreciation, accompanied with our hearty good wishes for the new year.

The gift was a handsome gold watch and chain, suitably inscribed, and a fine pipe.

Although unexpected, Mr. Chatterton briefly responded, and in a few well chosen words thanked the donors and wished them all a happy new year.

COUNT de BURY IN NEW YEAR'S LIST

Among the New Year's honors conferred by His Majesty King George is one of special interest in St. John—the elevation of Lieutenant Colonel Henri R. V. Count de Bury and Bucarne to be a Commander of the Order of the British Empire. The family has been prominent here for years and the new Commander spent his boyhood here. His career in military life has been followed with interest by local friends, who have been proud of his success and will be greatly pleased at the new honor won. Mrs. Daniel Mullin of St. John is a sister.

DONNELLY-HARRINGTON.

A wedding of interest to many St. John people took place in St. Ambrose's church, Dorchester, Mass., when Gertrude, youngest daughter of Mrs. Jane Harrington, formerly of this city, was united in marriage to Joseph A. Donnelly of New York. After a short wedding trip to Norfolk, Va., Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly will make their home in New York. Mrs. A. Bowes of this city, sister of the bride, was present at the wedding.

THE POLICE.

Inspector Caples is now temporarily in charge of the local police force and has been since Tuesday, when Chief of Police Simpson vacated the position. There was no one at the chief's desk this morning as the inspector was on duty during the night. Miss Ross, police matron, was looking after the clerical branch of the work.
