WHAT ST. JOHN WILL DO ON SOLDIERS JOY DAY AND WHEN THE PRINCE IS HERE

Comprehensive Statement of Events in Two Days Programme Prince Will Pass Through the City Streets Six Times—The Features of the Great Days So Far as Arranged, Given In Their Proper Sequence

The Times here presents a comprehensive statement of the events so far arranged for the big days of August 14 and 15.

Soldiers' Joy Day and the visit of the Prince of Wales. The committees which have the details of the matter in hand have been working in a quiet way, but have accomplished a great deal as a glance through the programme will show.

All that remains are the finishing touches and then it will be the goodwill and enthusiasm of the general public in co-operation with the various workers to make the celebration one long to be remembered in the history of the Loyalist city.

The Night of the Thirteenth. Doubtless the afternoon and evening of August 13 will be marked by a great influx of returned soldiers from all parts of the province and of the civilian population on taking part in the two day festivities.

Band Concerts All the Time. In the forenoon and during the afternoon as well as at night the numerous bands being engaged for the festivities will give over their concert in public places to keep the joy spirit going all the time.

Parade on August 14th. This marks the commencement of two days of rejoicing and honours which will culminate in the grand re-union of New Brunswick overseas workers on August 15th.

PAPERS SAY POLICE STRIKE IN LONDON HAS PROVED FAILURE

London, Aug. 2.—(By the Ass'd Press)—While early this morning it was obvious to all persons in the streets that the police strike did not approach a degree which might be characterized as general it was difficult to ascertain its exact extent.

The metropolitan police commissioner at midnight admitted the number of strikers had increased by 886 during Friday, but he added that the total of men who had left their posts was only 654 out of a full police strength of 20,000.

The virtual consensus of Saturday morning's newspapers is that the London strike has completely failed. Liverpool is the only provincial city where the police responded to the call, but there are a few men out in Manchester, Birmingham and other places.

London, Aug. 2.—There was some looting reported in the east end of London during the night. Later this morning it was reported that 600 policemen were out in Liverpool and 900 in London.

London, Aug. 2.—Looting and rioting occurred throughout the night and the Lord Mayor appealed early today to the military authorities for aid.

DAYLIGHT SAVING BILL AGAIN TO GO TO THE PRESIDENT

Washington, Aug. 2.—The senate yesterday decided to have the proposal for repeal of the daylight saving law again run the gauntlet of President Wilson's veto.

OLD FIRE LAWS AND REGULATIONS OF FIRE POLICE

Interesting Document of Laws Covering Duties of Our First Fire Department—None of Original Members of Force Now Living

Foreman John Bond of No. 4 company has a copy of the laws of the St. John fire police force and the sections of the fire law that apply to the force, which was organized on June 16, 1851.

Section VII.—And it is enacted, That the persons to be appointed as firemen and appointed to be members of the fire department, are hereby required and enjoined always to be ready at a call by night and by day, in performing their several and respective duties in the extinguishing of fires that may happen to break out in the said city and in the preservation of property thereat, and upon the breaking out of a fire within the said city, the fire policeman shall immediately repair to the place where the fire may be and protect all property which may be either removed or being removed, to preserve the same from destruction, including the fire hydrant.

Reservations Part of Treaty

Proposal in United States Senate So Worded—The Four Clauses

Washington, Aug. 2.—The reservation proposal agreed to by seven Republican senators as a basis of ratification of the League of Nations covenant is so worded, it became known last night that the "reservations and understandings," enumerated below, will be made a part of the treaty and shall not stand simply as a detached interpretation by the senate.

That whenever the two parties notice of withdrawal from the League of Nations shall have been given by the United States as provided in article one, the United States shall be the sole judge whether all its international obligations and all its obligations under this covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of withdrawal.

That the suggestions of the council of the League of Nations as to the means of carrying out the obligations of article ten into effect are only advisory, and that any understanding under the provisions of article ten, the execution of which requires the use of the American military or naval forces or economic measures, can under the constitution be carried out only by the action of the congress, and that the failure of the congress to adopt the suggestions of the council, or of the League, or to provide such military or naval forces or economic measures, shall not constitute a violation of the treaty.

That the United States reserves to itself the right to decide what questions are within its domestic jurisdiction and declares that all domestic and political questions relating to its internal affairs, including immigration, interstate traffic, the tariff, commerce and all other purely domestic questions, are merely within the jurisdiction of the United States and are not by this covenant submitted in any way either to arbitration or to the consideration of the council or the League of Nations, and to the decision or recommendation of any other power.

London, Aug. 2.—(By the Ass'd Press)—Herbert Hoover, head of the International Relief organization, speaking at a dinner of the supreme economic council, warned his hearers against apathy in the face of the economic conditions now governing the world.

London, Aug. 2.—(By the Ass'd Press)—A strike, almost general in its scope, is in progress here. Troops have been called upon and machine guns have been placed in the heart of the city.

PROFITEER COMES UNDER ATTENTION OF SUPREME BODY

Allied Council at Paris Taking Up His Case

Collective International Purchasing of Foodstuffs is Being Considered—Return to System Used in War Days is Advocated

London, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press)—Steps toward international collective purchasing of foodstuffs to prevent profiteering and speculation, which are declared to be rife in all countries, were taken at a meeting of the supreme economic council yesterday.

The members of the council said they recognized that profiteering and speculation had been going on generally for some time, but the activities toward unwarranted price raising during the last thirty days were considered alarming.

Other leaders in battling include Henry St. Louis, 319; Williams, Philadelphia, 317, and Roush, Cincinnati, 316.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, is setting a merry pace with the stick in the American League, and has boosted his average from .346 to .362. Sisler also is leading the league in total bases, having to his credit 150, made on 119 hits in eighty-five games.

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—H. C. Hocken, M. P. was elected Grand Master of the Grand Orange Lodge of British America at the closing session here last night.

Resolutions reassuring the Orangemen of Ulster of the united support of the British Empire, were passed.

THORPE AND SISLER LEADING THE BIG LEAGUE HITTERS

Sisler Also Has Base Record for American League, Cobb Hovers Around Top—Setting a Hot Pace

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Jim Thorpe, the Indian outfielder of the Boston Braves, has suffered a slump in hitting, but not enough to cause him to give up his position as leader of the National League.

George Sisler, the St. Louis star, is setting a merry pace with the stick in the American League, and has boosted his average from .346 to .362.

Ruth of Boston, tied Seybold's American League record for home run honors by cracking out his sixteenth circuit drive.

THE COMING OF PRINCE OF WALES

Events of August 15 When St. John Will Have Royal Guest

Since the port of St. John has been chosen by the British government and the royal household as the first point on this side of the Atlantic at which the Prince of Wales will make a landing it is assumed that this Loyalist city will be the centre of Canadian officialdom during the stay of his royal highness.

Not only will the premier of the province assume the duties of host alongside His Worship Mayor Hayes but the federal prime minister, Sir Robert L. Borden, and distinguished associates will be here also to greet the heir to the throne.

London, Aug. 2.—(By the Ass'd Press)—A strike, almost general in its scope, is in progress here. Troops have been called upon and machine guns have been placed in the heart of the city.

Vienna, Aug. 2.—(By the Ass'd Press)—Bela Kun, Hungarian communist dictator, has resigned and been succeeded by a Socialist government, according to a telephone message from the front that reached London in September 1918.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

Griefs of Orphan Life and Mother Longing

Child Paths Blended With Wonderful Humor In Famous "Daddy Long Legs" Story

"Daddy Long Legs" in which Mary Pickford will be seen at the Imperial Monday is filled with the most delicate and artistic imagery throughout. One of the most effective features of the play is a comparison of the rearing of Juddy Abbott, the orphan asylum girl, and Angelica Wykeoff, a spoiled rich child.

Judy (Miss Pickford), the little girl who, despite cruel treatment and bad living conditions in the asylum, brings sunshine and aid to the smaller children who are symbolized by a lily, rising from a dumping ground of old rubbish. Angelica is symbolized as a lotus growing in a beautiful lake of culture, but unable to stand the rigors of the ordinary out-of-doors.

There is a pretty bit showing the court of Dan Cappid who sends forth his emissaries to see that Judy falls in love. Babies, whimsically clad with wings, thin diaperies, play the part of Cappid's attendants.

The master stroke of directorial genius takes place in the scene showing the death of an orphan baby, who had not had proper care in the asylum, and who dies in the arms of Judy. The dead mother of the child is seen in the form of a beautiful white shade which moves forward, passing like air through the furniture and gently taking the baby from the arms of "the little mother."

Marshall Neilan directed the picture, and in its exquisite symbolism proved himself a master of the artistic as well as of the humorous situation.

ST. JOHN TO HAVE NEW MANUFACTURE

S. Warren of Sydney street was reported by the United States with a patent for the manufacture of a grain harvester consisting of extension guards for picking up lodged grain also wind-rotters for same. Mr. Warren has made arrangements for the manufacture of large quantities of these machines in the states and also making arrangements for manufacture of them in St. John in the coming year. He is also getting a patent on guards and windrotters in Canada. He intends to make St. John headquarters for manufacturing and distributing these machines in the future. Arrangements have been made for selling with different wholesalers in the provinces.

THE HABITANT. Beside the mighty river His white-walled village stands And there he tills in patience His long and narrow lands.

In patience and contentment He goes his changeless way, Kindly of heart and human, Honest as God's own day.

Over the smiling landscape Looms up his high church-spires, He keeps his beacons burning. Lit by his Breton fires.

His eyes show fear of no man, His hands are hard with toil Through years of want and plenty He ploughs his stubborn soil.

Year in, year out, he labors; His household prosper there; He sees his boys grow stalwart; His daughters blithe and fair.

Out on the world he gazes, As wide St. Lawrence flows, No envy stirs his bosom, No hatred of his foes.

He asks but the right to labor In peace, and then to lie Under the great spirit's shadow—Under God's friendly sky! —Rev. James B. Dollard, Litt. D., Toronto, July 3rd, 1919.

PACKING THE TRUNK. (Henry Edward Warner, in Richmond Times-Dispatch.) Did you ever attempt to pack a trunk And find it till your arms were sore Trying to get things back in the place Where you're certain they were before?

Trying to fit in a two-inch space A garment that takes up eight, And viewing the trunk and the whole shebang With a gritting, consuming hate!

Did you ever sit down to think it out And figure and measure and swear, Groaning a groan as you cursed the job And tore at your sweat-damp hair?

O, man who packs, though a saint he be, Is a temperous cuss at best, When he's trying to put a coat in a hole That is far too small for a vest.

You may hammer your thumb when you hang a print, You may step on a carpet tack— You may smash a rib when you're cleaning a house.

And in moving break your back; But physical hurts are a bagatelle Compared with the mental pain When you know that your shoes were in there once And you can't get 'em in again!

Somewhere in the asphodel meadows, there Where the shades of our fathers dwell, In the other side of the Path of Joy By the brink of the place called Hell, I think those sinners whose sins were great.

Are doomed forever to pack, Knowing that things were once in the trunk And condemned to get 'em back!

They were discussing embarrassing situations and Charles Murray told how Mack Bennett, comedy king, once put him in a very awkward fix, all in the name of realism.

"Now, in this scene," said Bennett, "go over there and kiss those bathing girls. Then their escort will punch you and you run."

"But," protested Murray, "those aren't our bathing girls. Those girls don't belong to the company."

OTTAWA NON-PLUSSD CONCERNING ASSENT TO THE PEACE TREATY

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—Announcement from London that the king had given his assent to the peace treaty is arousing much concern. Just what the despatch means is uncertain.

There were two bills before the British parliament. One expressed approval of the German peace treaty; the other, approval of the Anglo-French treaty. Under the bills, the king "may do everything necessary" for the carrying out of the treaties. It is assumed here that the despatch means that the king has given royal assent to the two bills, not that he has formally ratified the treaties.

If, however, the despatch means that formal ratifications have been deposited in Paris, a serious constitutional situation will arise. The special session of the dominion parliament is being called expressly to approve ratification of the peace treaty, and any ratification by legislation is as much necessary, if the king has already ratified the treaty, the session will be more or less of a dead letter except inasmuch as it continues to confirm orders in council is concerned.

The question is under close consideration, and it is understood, correspondingly, is that the imperial government that the exact situation may be determined.

U. S. SENATE LEARNS OF 217 AMERICANS KILLED IN MEXICO IN EIGHT YEARS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—Two hundred and seventeen American citizens were killed in Mexico since the end of the regime of Porfirio Diaz on May 28, 1911, so the senate was informed yesterday by Secretary Lansing, when claims filed by American citizens asking damages because of Mexican depredations during the time have totalled $42.

NO PROFFITEERING BY WHOLESALE GROCERS

Ottawa, Aug. 2.—"The wholesale grocers in the United States with a patent for the manufacture of a grain harvester consisting of extension guards for picking up lodged grain also wind-rotters for same. Mr. Warren has made arrangements for the manufacture of large quantities of these machines in the states and also making arrangements for manufacture of them in St. John in the coming year. BURSTALL TO H. Q. Montreal, Aug. 2.—A despatch from Ottawa to the Gazette says:—Major General Sir Henry Burstall, who commanded the second Canadian division during the battle of Vimy, is being appointed adjutant-general at militia headquarters here, as had been reported. It is authorized, however, that he will be a member of the staff of the headquarters and may be appointed to that position. It has not yet been definitely decided, however, what office he will be detailed to accompany the Prince of Wales during his trip through Canada.

It is a certain young officer who, according to his own story, is thanking his stars that Gen. Pershing had a sense of humor.

"Some of my men were Polish, and better soldiers never lived, but I guess in Poland life has been one long sad story. Any way, I never ran across a bunch who took things so literally. One night the Germans sent over three-inch shells that landed square in our trench. In the morning I told one of my men, Pete, we called him, to take it away."

"Where shall I, answered peevishly; 'put it to bed in Pershing's tent.' 'A little later a brighter officer came along and he said, 'I don't want your tent and there's something wrong.' 'You wouldn't imagine what was up until I stood before the chief. He great me and would you believe it, there was that blamed shell. Pete sure had obeyed orders. Well, I suggest I let it go but Pershing suddenly began to smile. He said: 'I just want to caution you not to order Pete to capture Berlin until the rest of us are ready to go with him. He might go and do it, you know.'"

PEACE. Give me the pulse of the tide again And the slow lapse of the leaves, The rustling gold of a field of grain And a bird in the nearest eaves.

And a fishing-smack in the old harbor Where all was happy and young; And an echo or two of the songs I knew When songs could still be sung.

For I would empty my heart of all This world's impulsive roar, And would turn to my home, and fall Asleep in my home once more;

And I would forget what the cities say, And the folly of all the wise, And turn to my own true folk this day, And the love in their constant eyes.

There is peace, peace, where the sea-birds wheel, And peace in the breaking wave; And I have a broken heart to heal, And a broken soul to save.

WHAT ST. JOHN WILL DO ON SOLDIERS' DAY AND WHEN PRINCE COMES

(Continued from page 1) while higher in rank than all these officials will be His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, governor-general of Canada and vice king. His Excellency will bring his formal suit and will of course officiate at the landing and subsequent ceremonies as representing the Majesty King George. Aside from the official phases of the prince's coming to St. John will become a sightseeing centre for all Canadians, a meeting place for provincials and an especially attractive homecoming spot for New England folk formerly domiciled in these parts.

Motion picture camera men are to be here in numbers, including the official cinematographers of the British government who are commissioned to make historic records of Prince Edward's journey to the King and Queen and their private collections. Each of the big newspapers in upper Canada and numerous American journals will have correspondents on the scene, in addition to such press agencies as the Canadian Associated Press and the Associated Press of America. The fact that on previous occasions when outside newspaper men flocked to these parts in such numbers as will be expected in a fortnight were the lifeless disaster, the sinking of the Titanic and in a smaller degree the recent ho-ops of transatlantic airmen. Indeed St. John will be very much in evidence in the world because of the prince's first landing at this port, and it is probable public spirited bodies will take for the occasion a vacation from their regular duties and press representatives with as much interesting data and up-to-date photographs of the city as will be accepted.

As the royal functions are usually promptly carried out by the landings, it is to be expected to be on time. The prince will be landed from H. M. S. Dragon in a pinnace accompanied by his suite of military and naval officers on the Red's Point landing stage or identically the same spot—though a bit modernized—at which his royal grandfather, also a boy of fifteen, was landed fifty-nine years ago. As he proceeds along the gayly decorated dock and after the first formalities of greeting a chorus of 1,000 school children, terrace fashion, will render patriotic odes and welcoming songs and it is suggested that a chorus of mothers in the vicinity of the dock will sing a song of welcome.

In the specially decorated army with the other and appointments suitable for the occasion, although it is just possible the dominion greeting may be reserved for his royal highness's visit to Ottawa. There will be no do-nothing parade, although it is just possible the dominion greeting may be reserved for his royal highness's visit to Ottawa. There will be no do-nothing parade, although it is just possible the dominion greeting may be reserved for his royal highness's visit to Ottawa.

There will be no do-nothing parade, although it is just possible the dominion greeting may be reserved for his royal highness's visit to Ottawa.

It seems to have turned out that the disappointment experienced by the officers and men of St. John's crack battalion, the 26th, at not being privileged to carry colors across the front after all a matter of congratulation since this deferred ceremony of presenting regimental flags is to be done at the hands of the prince to the throne in the home city of that intrepid unit. After the prince presents the colors with attendant religious exercises, the fall of the whole battalion will march past in review, the prince taking the salute.

Tablet Unveiling in the Post Office. Upon conclusion of the interesting military ceremonies the prince and official party will proceed at once to the new post office. From this point where a tablet in honor of the St. John men who participated in the late war will be unveiled by him. The unveiling will naturally attract a large number of people and entrance to the building will doubtless be governed by some sort of ticket plan in order to avoid an embarrassing crush. In his progress from the barracks to the post office the populace will again have the opportunity of greeting his royal highness from the curb.

Royal Inspection of West Side. The prince's next move will be in the direction of West St. John and the streets to be traversed are to be Prince William, Dock and Mill, Main, Douglas avenue, across the bridge, the falls, Lancaster avenue and thence to Prince street, where the newly equipped military hospital—formerly the school for the deaf—will be inspected. Retracing Prince street the royal motor and others will circle the Carleton district by the way of King Line, Dufferin road, then down to the falls, and thence the full length of Prince street to the bridges and back to the city by the principal streets, giving the people of North End also the opportunity of seeing the royal guest.

Luncheon at the Union Club. Arriving at the Union Club, His Royal Highness will be the guest of Premier Foster and the New Brunswick government at an official luncheon, the covers for which will be laid for a strictly official list of guests. The arrival of His Royal Highness at this point and his departure are expected to attract large crowds of onlookers.

Governor's Reception at Rothsey. Towards the middle of the afternoon the prince and accompanying parties will motor through the city, possibly by way of King Charlotte, Union and Waterloo streets to Rothsey by the usual route. At the suburban resort His Honor Lieut-Governor Pugsley and Mrs. Pugsley will tender him an official reception at Government House. Along the suburban roadway it is expected residents of the resort will erect welcoming devices and decorations besides giving the king's son a lusty cheer as he whizzes by. The residents of Rothsey are preparing some definite scheme of ornamentation to this end.

Return to the City and Embarkation. After the governor's reception the royal guest will be motored back to the city and it is understood he is to embark aboard H. M. S. Dragon at once. His return through the streets will again give the people a glimpse of his smiling personality and no doubt everybody can be depended upon to greet him in the manner which he deserves not only as our next king but as a jolly good fellow in the fighting ranks of the late war and

Police Court

In the police court this morning William Moore was charged with breaking and entering a case in the City Island, also with interfering with Policeman Colwell on Sunday afternoon in Nelson street.

Policeman Colwell said that on last Sunday he placed James Moore under arrest in Nelson street on suspicion of breaking into a C. P. car. William Moore, his brother, was with him and the defendant ran to a pile of bricks in the power house, picked up one in either hand and threw them at the policeman who called to a fireman in the power house to catch him. The fireman ran after him and the defendant let a shower of bricks fly at him. The policeman and the defendant swore at the policeman and threatened to brain him if he put bracelets on his brother. The case was postponed.

The defendant was arrested at Missep on a warrant.

Arthur Devlin and Charles Perry, arrested by Sergeant Detective Power and Detective Biddiscombe, were charged with breaking and entering the quick lunch wagon in North Market street owned by John Durand. They were remanded.

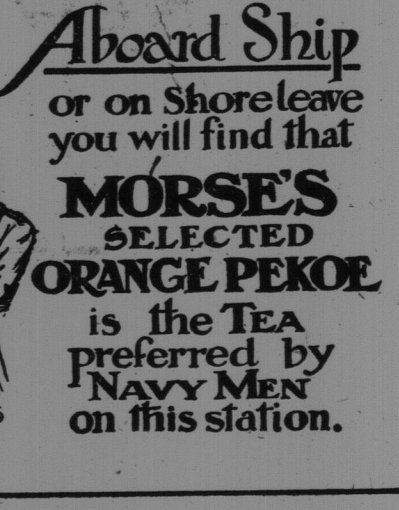

AGAINST REVOLUTION

Paris, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Negotiations which have been going on for some time for a coalition of the moderate political parties of France in the coming elections against both the Royalists and the extreme Socialists are reported on good authority to be making headway and likely to succeed. This combination would include the Radicals, Republican Socialists, Alliance Democratic and Federation Des Cauches.

The fundamental point in the combination platform will be "neither reaction nor revolution." Such a combination is regarded as almost sure to elect a working majority in the new chamber.

SHOE MAN SUGGESTS EMBARGO ON HIDES FOR TIME IN CANADA

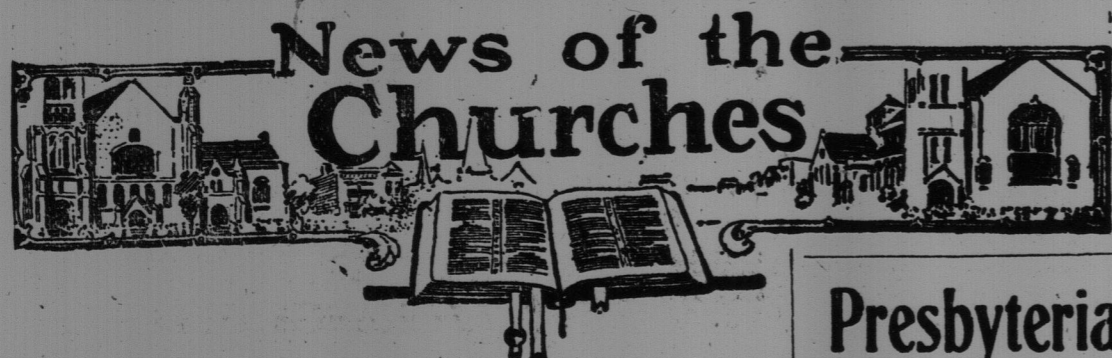

Montreal, Aug. 2.—An embargo of a few months' duration on Canadian hides and a system of licensing under government supervision for the export of such hides and leather as are not needed in Canada, are the suggestions of Joseph Daoust, of Daoust, Lalonde and Company, shoe manufacturers, as remedies for the high price of footwear in this country and as protection for Canadian manufacturers in competition with other countries, particularly the United States.

THE FIRST DAY OF MACAULAY BROS. & CO'S SALE A BIG SUCCESS.

Yesterday, the first day of Macaulay Bros. & Co's sale was remarkable both for the crowds attending, despite the unpleasant weather, and the wonderful clearance of so much summer merchandise. The opportunity is such an unusual one that we will not venture to predict how long it will endure. If the first days' business is to be accepted as a criterion we believe the clearance we wish to accomplish will take place in record time. However, there are still many useful lines to be picked up by the economical buyers, and not only the women but the men in their department have great opportunities of securing many articles of wear at prices unknown for years. Sale continues all next week.

THE CULTURED CANADIAN WOMAN

Will Want to See These Period Cabinets
THE woman who takes pride in her home—the woman of trained taste who expresses her personality in her surroundings—the woman who wishes her children to have the advantage of refining influences—that type of woman will wish to inspect this display of the New Edison in period cabinets whether or not she intends to purchase.

From now on each New Edison instrument, with the exception of two models for special purposes, will be encased in a period cabinet of exquisite beauty.

That they are authentic is proved by the indorsement of Miss Elsie de Wolfe, America's most distinguished authority on interior decoration. She writes: "From the characteristically diminutive and graceful Heppelwhite to the costly replicas of historic pieces, the superior furniture value of Edison cabinets can scarcely fail to impress the lover of good furniture."

See these period cabinets on exhibition at our store this week.

Rebecca, age eight, was very proud of her father's rank as a first lieutenant, and grew quite indignant when a neighbor boy called him "captain."

"I'll have you understand that my daddy is not a captain," she said, "he's a lieutenant." "Oh, it doesn't matter," replied the boy, "he is an officer." "Indeed he is not an officer," she protested. "Yes, dear, a lieutenant is an officer," interrupted Rebecca's mother. "Well," persisted Rebecca, still determined to maintain her daddy's dignity at all cost, "he's not much of an officer."

NEED OF JUVENILE COURT.

The police magistrate of Peterboro, Ontario, recently ordered two boys to be lashed. One was nine and the other six years of age. They had broken into three stores. The boy of nine years was given ten and the boy of six years five lashes, laid on by a policeman. In addition the older boy's mother, a widow, was fined $12 and the father of the younger boy $18, or ten days in jail.

Through the courtesy of W. H. Golding the Times today presents an outline of the chief features of the big celebration of August 14 and 15. It gives in proper sequence the list of events which so far have been arranged both for the tribute to our soldiers and the welcome to the Prince of Wales. It will be of general interest as placing together in orderly manner the various parts of the programme, and will guide the people in making their plans for participation in the big times that are promised.

The allied supreme council in Paris is taking up the case of the profiteer and the speculator in food and may adopt a system of international collective buying to check those who are making wealth out of the necessities of life.

The U. S. senate again has passed a bill repealing the daylight saving measure. President Wilson probably will veto it again.

And now the National Liberal Convention takes the first place among Canadian events.

A HINT FOR MOTORISTS

Just remembering that the slower a wheel turns the more traction it has will enable many motorists to avoid the terrors of a self-dug grave when stuck in mud or sand. Nine owners out of ten, when stuck in the mud, will put their cars in low gear and then race their engines for dear life, shortening the life of both tire and motor. With the wheels going at such a pace it is impossible to get any traction, even if straw or twigs are placed beneath the treads, and the chains will be slipped around idly. The effect is usually to dig a deep hole and increase the difficulty.

The Montreal Daily Star of July 25 contains a cut of Geo. S. McSweeney, who has recently been elected vice-president of the M. A. A. Rugby Club. Mr. McSweeney is a son of the late Wm. B. McSweeney, a prominent barrister of Halifax. It will be remembered that Geo. McSweeney married Miss May Joughins, daughter of G. H. Joughins, a prominent C. G. Railway official. He is a nephew of Hon. Senator McSweeney of Moncton.

SIR ROBERT'S PLEDGE.

In a message to the people of St. John on the eve of the elections in 1917 Sir Robert Borden said: "The thorough and efficient equipment of St. John harbor is part of our policy. I desire to emphasize what I declared at St. John on the 1st of September, namely, that the defeat of the Laurier government will not retard, hinder or prevent in any way the construction of terminal facilities at St. John, or the equipment and development of that port as one of the Atlantic national ports of Canada."

In a speech in St. John at that time he said: "On several occasions when the party had laid down its platform it has emphasized the necessity for the nationalization of the great ports of Canada, of Montreal and Quebec, of St. John and Halifax."

Sir Robert's pledge, so far as St. John is concerned, has not been fulfilled. We all know what has been done for Halifax, and that the port of Quebec has not been compelled to do what is now asked of St. John, which is to provide out of harbor revenue for the interest and sinking fund on the present debt and all future expenditures for harbor development. Commission is not nationalization, and Sir Robert Borden in 1911 promised nationalization.

It is because of the different treatment St. John has received from that accorded Halifax and Quebec and because the pledge of nationalization has not been carried out, that the citizens, before they vote on commission, should have definite knowledge of what the government proposes to do in relation to through traffic here, the facilities for handling it, and the rates to be charged shipping using the port. Let Sir Robert and his government speak again.

VOCATIONAL TRAINING.

A recent despatch says that "It is anticipated that when the provincial premiers and ministers are in Ottawa to attend the National Industrial Conference in September, the first definite steps will be taken in connection with putting into effect the plans for the encouragement of technical education covered by the bill passed by parliament at its recent session."

The question to be decided will be the manner in which the federal grant, to the extent of $10,000,000, covering a period of years, shall be spent. It is explained that the federal government desires quick practical results, in order that large numbers of young people may be fitted as rapidly as possible for efficient work in industry. Of course this is the aim of the provinces as well, but no system can be satisfactory that does not include pre-vocational work in the public schools as well as the vocational high schools and technical colleges. At the very outset provision should be made for working boys and girls, who have left school, but the whole educational system of each province must be adapted so such courses as will enable all pupils who do not desire to take a full classical course to pass into a vocational high school and get a course of practical training along desired lines, whether for commerce or industry.

The bride tittered, but the curate, getting hotter and hotter, tried again. "Will thou have this man to thy wedded woman?" he said. "At this the bridegroom interfered—" "Aw don't know wot yer wants me to hev," he said, "but aw coom here for her," laying his horny hand on the bride's shoulder, "an aw'll hev her or nowt."

RECENT DEATHS

Michael Brown. The death of Michael Brown, one of the best known farmers along the coast and one of the oldest inhabitants of Public Landing, occurred yesterday at his home in Public Landing. Mr. Brown was born at Public Landing and has been engaged in farming there all his life time. He was a life-long Liberal and a very respected citizen. He leaves to mourn three sons, Michael, of Detroit, James, of Cincinnati, and John at home; also two daughters—Mrs. E. J. Teahan, of St. John, and Miss Sadie, of Public Landing. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives. The funeral is to take place from his late residence on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, old time.

Maxfield D. Libby. Presque Isle, July 30—News was received here today of the death of Maxfield D. Libby, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Libby, in Washington (D. C.). The deceased was employed by an automobile concern and was burned by an explosion, resulting in his death. Mr. Libby left tonight for Washington and will accompany the afflicted young wife, who was Authora Colwell, of St. John (N. B.), to Presque Isle, in company with the body of his son.

Mrs. Amelia E. Estabrook. The death took place at Springfield (Mass.) on July 24, of Mrs. Amelia E. Estabrook, widow of Hassen Estabrook, of Cookville, Westmorland county, aged eighty-eight years. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Prudence Patterson, Springfield (Mass.), and Miss Lucy Estabrook, of St. John, and one son, James J., of Springfield (Mass.). The remains are being brought to Public Landing for interment in the Cookville cemetery.

GIANT AIRSHIPS TO CIRCLE THE EARTH

Giant airships, which will bring every important city in the world within ten days' journey of London, are forehanded by Sir Trevor Dawson, the managing director of Vickers, who expects to see airships twice or three times the size of R-34, while Brigadier-General Groves, R. A. F., forecasts airships of 8,000,000 cubic feet capacity, four times the size of R-34, capable of traveling 15,000 miles and with strong undercarriages.

He is convinced that it would be a practicable proposition to build a rigid airship to carry fifty tons of cargo and freight for a non-stop voyage of 10,000 miles at eighty miles per hour. It is probable that three classes of airships may be designed: Ships of moderate size and high speed, for carrying express mails and passengers; Liners for passenger traffic, of a large size and high speed; and Large airships of comparatively slow speed and large carrying capacity, for general transport.

Steaming Through the Skies. Sir Trevor indicates that the firm's engineers are studying the possibilities of the use of steam engines in these great airships, while Brigadier-General Groves, R. A. F., forecasts that success within a reasonable time, he added.

"We know more about the development of steam engines than about internal combustion engines. The result to be attained is to have an engine of sufficient power and not exceeding a certain limit of weight with developments made recently in steam turbines this should not be a difficulty."

When the great ocean routes were timetabled it is calculated that times from London would be: From London to Days, Cairo 1 1/2, San Francisco 4 1/2, New York 2 to 2 1/2, Colombo 4 1/2, Perth (Australia) 8 1/2, Nairobi 8 1/2, Cape Town 8 1/2, Rio de Janeiro 8 1/2.

The cost of operation for a regular service would be at a passenger rate of $4 per mile and a mail rate of $4 per mile. With larger airships, carrying greater loads, lower rates might apply.

By the use of a mooring-mast, or tower, to which the airship is moored by the nose, the dirigible would be able to ride out in any weather clear of the ground. The airship could easily be moved to, or released from, the tower in any wind up to sixty miles per hour without difficulty.

Passengers could get into or out of the ship by means of a lift in the tower, and so there would be no need to hop the ship, except for periodic overhaul and refit.

Airships would have saloon rivaling those of the great steamships for comfort and luxury. As lightness is, of course, essential, it is probable that practically everything would be made of aluminum alloy, as strong as steel and one-third the weight.

THE NEW YORK FACE (New York Globe) There is no other face in the world like it. That steady, expectant look is not duplicated elsewhere in any country. Back of the face is a brain crammed with a subway education, acquired between 149th street and Brooklyn Bridge, out of newspapers and volumes light enough to be carried in the hand. It is a mind that reflects the face.

A brain on which world catastrophes cause not the suspicion of a convolution. Facts, facts, facts are punched die-wise on the hard shell of a brain.

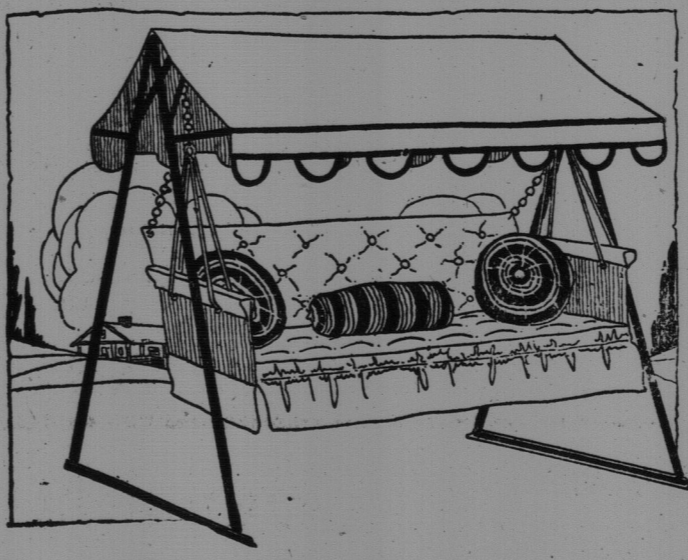

You may see the New York face anywhere in this cosmopolis. You cannot miss it anywhere in the country. You see it turned up on its individual neck, staringly surveying the bulletin that announces the death of ten thousand or a hundred thousand men.

There is an added gleam in the eyes, a slight movement of the lips, and the thrill is gone. World turmoil does not move this impassive face that is New York. Reflected on it there is no halo of heart. Making his judgment from the faces of people that pass the street justly decides New York is the coldest city in the world.

Wander to Flagstaff, in Arizona, to San Francisco, to Paris, London, Russia, Italy, you can pick your American and know your New Yorker by his face—unperturbed, ruffed by no passing emotion, blasé. At Monte Carlo, on the Champs Elysees, the Strand, in the shadow of the Sphinx, in the land of veiled women out of the cosmopolitan crowd you can always pick the New York face. Look around you now, as you wait vainly on the subway platform for a train that will whirl you out to your barn in the Bronx, and see the necks slightly tipped forward, the faces eager, strained, waiting, hoping for some thrill that will light, some shock that will cloud the stoniness of those faces.

Manchester Robertson Allison Limited KING STREET GERMAIN STREET MARKET SQUARE

A girl once sang a song where she asked, in the first line of the chorus, "I wonder if he'll miss me?" and she sang it with more force than expression or sweetness; in fact, she was slightly off the key. As she sang the first verse there was a restless shuffling of feet, the chorus brought out a buzz of voices.

The second verse did not add to the interest, but increased the noise. She reached the chorus in safety, and once more noisily inquired, "I wonder if he'll miss me?" A man in the gallery said, "If he does he never ought to be trusted with a gun again!"—London Blighty.

WHY WE SWEAR AND SMOKE

We are gaining on the drink habit, but tobacco and bad language seem to be gaining upon us. This was the verdict of Professor Gilbert Murray, given in a lecture he delivered at Hampstead, England. "Tobacco," he observed, "is a slight narcotic poison. The use of bad language I take to be due to the slight nervous convulsion momentarily destroying self-control and releasing subconscious interests, which are normally suppressed." He did not venture to say whether the use of this slight narcotic or bad language was beneficial, or whether, as some suggested, they should be confined to women and persons of sedentary habits. Never in the history of the world had there been a society in which both men and women were so habitually under the influence of slight sedatives as at present. It might be temporary and of no significance, but it was curious, and he would like to see it analyzed. "I am not at all sure that our jaded nerves and silly tactics are really due to decadence. In part they are merely due to overwork." George L. Weidner of Eschbach, Penn., eighty-two years old, works in the hay and grain fields every day.

MR. P. H. McHUGH.
108 Church Street, Montreal, December 10th, 1917.

"I was a great sufferer from Rheumatism for over 16 years. I consulted specialists, took medicines, used lotions; but nothing did me good. Then, I began to use 'Fruit-a-Tives', and in 15 days, the pain was easier and the Rheumatism was better. Gradually, 'Fruit-a-Tives' relieved me of these complaints; and gave me a good appetite; and in every way restored me to health."

KING'S COUNTY BOARD OF HEALTH MATTERS

The Kings county board of health met yesterday afternoon at Sussex. A report on an investigation of the wells and cess-pools at Hampton and Rothesay showed unsanitary conditions existed. In most cases the wells were too close to the houses and nearly always on a lower level. Leakage from cess-pools ran from one property into others and conditions were far from satisfactory. A committee was appointed to arrange for adequate supply of pure water. The board recommended that the two villages be incorporated for this purpose. An increased salary was recommended for the doctor in charge of the medical inspection of schools. The licensing of milk dealers and slaughter houses was decided upon.

A coroner's jury empanelled by Dr. F. L. PUBLIC HEALTH NOTES

Water Supply and Drainage in Villages

In a former note some reference was made to this subject and it was urged that every village of any considerable size should become incorporated, at least for these services, so as to insure a legal, constant and efficient system for all the people of the community concerned.

permitted to remain so wooded, or, if denuded of its trees, these should be allowed to re-establish themselves. If of a character not favorable to forest growth, it should be still kept in its natural condition, although excessively boggy or peaty areas are not very desirable sources of water supply because of the acid character of the water and, often, of its rather disagreeable color and, sometimes, repugnant odor.

Known from Coast to Coast R.G. LONG & CO. LIMITED TORONTO CANADA

Next in importance to the freedom of the water from possible pollution is the quantity which the area is capable of supplying. Generally speaking, the amount will depend upon the size of the catchment area, for rain and snow-fall, the source of all water supply is pretty equable over the whole province.

No one thing conduces to health more than a generous water supply, always provided that a correspondingly adequate system of drainage accompanies it. The writer is exceedingly doubtful of the expediency of providing a public water supply without proper sewerage facilities.

CURES WITHOUT DRUGS

One of the latest discoveries in medicine was given to the public when "Catarrhazone" was placed on the market about fifteen years ago. Since then thousands have been cured of asthma and catarrh. An interesting case is reported from Calgary in a letter from Dr. E. Thompson, who writes: "Nothing can be said too strong for Catarrhazone. I suffered four years on asthma in a way that would beggar description. I went through everything a man could suffer. I was told of Catarrhazone by a clerk in Fidelity's drug store and purchased a dollar package. It is worth hundreds to me in a week. I place a priceless value on the benefits I have since derived. Kurds Wonder About Future of Their Country

Formerly Owed Allegiance to Both
Turkey and Persia But Position
Uncertain Since Armenia Was Signed

(Toronto Mail and Empire)

Kurdistan is the area stretching in a boomerang shape from Diabekir across the north of the Mosul Vilayet and bending down to the Jebel Hamrin, the low hills some sixty miles east of Baghdad. The Kurds are by some believed to be the modern descendants of the ancient Medes and speak a language which is either a dialect of Persian, or, as is also contended, has developed parallel with modern Persian from a common present tongue. Their written language is Persian and it is in Persian that the educated Kurd prefers to converse. Closely allied with Irak, they have attracted to their area some Arab tribes, but these, while preserving the traditions of their race, have, to all intent and purpose, become Kurds. The Kurds who dwell on the foothills at the edge of the Irak inhabitant settled villages, the houses of which are frequently built of stone. They reap two harvests each year, but by far the more important is the spring harvest of wheat and barley. Wheat is most plentiful in the district of Erbil—the scene of Alexander's victory in 331 B. C.—and it is from these regions that the province of Baghdad used to obtain its wheat. At the moment when the bulk of the wheat which was consumed in her big cities and the surplus which her merchants exported.

Before the war there were fruit gardens everywhere and grapes, raisins, figs, pomegranates, pistachio nuts, and figs in abundance. From the valleys distilled mostly by Jews, the favorite intoxicating spirit of the country. Other exports were gall nuts, bug tragacanth, hides and wool. The wool came from the flocks owned for the most part by the nomad tribes which in the summer live in the hills and in winter bring or rather are brought, by their flocks to the plain, for the sheep is master and when the climate changes turns towards the regions were instinct tells him the season will suit him, as surely as the migratory birds make their annual journeys. These upland Kurds live in hair tents and subsist chiefly on the sheep—on which they depend for their supplies of milk, cheese, wool and meat—and also on the spring crop of wheat or barley. The spring crops depend for their irrigation on the rainfall; the summer crops, where these are sown, consist of maize and millet, and are watered by small canals, by the karez system of continuous wells so familiar throughout Persia and Baluchistan, or by springs which are fairly frequent. Sulaimaniyah, Keut Sanjak, and the immediate neighborhood produce a rich revenue from the tobacco which under the Turkish regime, supplied Mesopotamia and most of Arabia with both the heavy yaghill tobacco and the light tutun favored by the cigarette smoker.

Oil is known to exist and remains to be exploited; there are springs with sulphurous others with medicinal qualities. Salt is found in one or two places. The country is good to look upon, rolling plains merging into foothills, and beyond great mountains of snow. In spring and late in the summer wild flowers are abundant. Streams are abundant and the climate at the worst less severe than that of Mesopotamia, while at best it is superior to the mildest of India's hill stations. The Kurd himself is a tough, not overclean mountaineer, with something of the Mongol in his type of face. He is cheery and good-humored, ever ready to see the point of a joke and to laugh as heartily as the rest when he finds himself the victim. He is not the less warlike and is especially expert in guerrilla tactics. The nomad dwellers of the uplands are truly tribal; they own real allegiance to their head men, and in some cases to the head woman—for the Kurdish women are exceedingly emancipated, and besides of exceptional force of character have on occasion been known to command their tribe. In the more settled villages the tribal condition continues, but in practice the head of a village is usually some strong man who has created for himself or inherited a position and gathered around him a following. An interesting case is reported from himself with clients to whom he afforded protection in return for services.

The unit of communal, one can hardly call it political, life, was at any rate before the war, the village. There was little co-operation between village and village, and where a group of villages did exist the tendency was towards disintegration. It is probable that the war will be found to have drawn together many communities for mutual protection, but the policy of the Turk was ever to discourage the ambitious and enterprising, and the task of welding the scattered elements into a single people would be beyond the ability of any one Kurdish sheikh unaided by external assistance.

And this would be the more difficult because the Kurds owed (they seldom paid) allegiance to two governments. Turkey includes Sulaimaniyah and E. Spannuth, a second-hand dealer of Pottsville, Penn., has been seized by authority of New York city officials. The book covers the period from 1687 to 1694, and contains the titles to most of the property in the financial district, worth hundreds of millions. Spannuth says he bought the book from an antiquarian and will contest the right of the city to seize it.

PROHIBITION ENDS VICE SQUAD'S WORK

Detectives Who Frequented Boston Cafes Reduced—No Further Need For Them, Says High Police Official

(Boston Globe.)

Probably because of the marked decrease of crime in this city which has been noticeable since war-time prohibition became operative on July 1, the night vice squad of the Boston police department, consisting of two plain clothes men from each of the in-town divisions, has been temporarily abolished and its members, much to their disgust and disappointment, returned to regular patrol duty.

The vice squad has played a particularly important part in the rounding up of street walkers and users of cocaine and other drugs. They had what is known as a "roving" character, and made a specialty of appearing in the cafes where drinks were formerly served to women in company with male escorts. These places have always proved fruitful sources of arrests.

All the members of the vice squad received the order to return to uniform duty with chagrin and amazement. While their work on the vice squad brought them no extra pay they considered it in line for promotion and felt disappointment at being thrust back again, as they consider the order transferring them to ordinary patrolmen duty.

A New Blood-Food Has Been Discovered That Works Wonders

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN- DOWN

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into this blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Perozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and fresh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Perozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor. Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Perozone—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure. For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Perozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Perozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days. In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Perozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results. Let Perozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Perozone.

captains is ample proof of the untruth of this rumor. Commissioner Curtis and Supt. Crowley have made no statement whatever regarding this action, but a high police official said yesterday that no remarkable stretch of the imagination is necessary to grasp the fact that crime during the last four weeks of prohibition has been greatly decreased and that a large part of the duties of the former vice squad is eliminated by the failure of girls and women of questionable reputation to visit the drinking cafes—where there is now nothing stronger than the 2½-percent beer and ale—as they used to do in the days when hard liquor of all sorts was served.

The wind up there averages about double the velocity of the wind down below. Chimney sickness is due not to the height alone, but to the swaying of the chimney. In a bad gale the Saganoski chimney sways fifteen inches from side to side. The most marked oscillation is at right angles to the course of the wind. Thus, in a driving north wind, it wobbles from east to west—Tit-Bits.

BIG TRANSPORT PLANS IN ENGLAND

London, July 12.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The vast scope of the work to be undertaken as soon as the much-discussed transport bill is passed by parliament was outlined the other day in the House of Commons by Sir Eric Geddes, minister of ways and communications, who will head the new extensive reforms and improvements planned for the railways, roads and docks. The railway programme includes the following:

- Elimination of all competitive services given merely for the sake of competition. Common use by all lines of rolling stock.
- Elimination of privately owned railway cars.
- Increase of traffic by judicious electrification of certain lines.
- Increase of the size of rolling stock, necessitating the alteration of station platform clearances, enlargement of the entrance to warehouses and the like.
- Standardization of rolling stock and locomotives.

Chimney Sickness.

Chimney sickness is a complaint that few people are likely to suffer from, but anyone who found himself on a windy day at the top of the Saganoski chimney in Chicago might get it. The chimney of Saganoski is the tallest in the world. The shaft stretches up 500 feet above the foundation pier, and as the base is 450 feet above sea-level to start with, the place where the smoke comes out is actually 1,000 feet up, and

Symptoms That Tell of Biliousness

HOW TO PREVENT AND CURE

Are you dizzy? Does your head swim? Does everything turn dark when you rise after stooping? Are you constantly suffering from headache? Are you short of breath after going upstairs? Is your tongue coated and furred? These symptoms give warning that your system needs a thorough cleansing—all poisons must be flushed out. The remedy is Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Marked benefit immediately follows their use. These famous pills loosen the bowels and stop constipation; they act on the liver and kidneys, make them strong and vigorous. This ensures health and purity for the blood and consequently the whole system benefits. No other medicine tones and braces like Dr. Hamilton's Pills; they at once cure nervous headache, dizziness, poor color, coated tongue, and all diseases arising through fault of the stomach, kidneys, or liver; try them. There's a Touch of Tomorrow In All Cole Does Today

THOSE who think only in the present, live in the past. It's the touch of tomorrow in what is done today that identifies advancement. To sense the trend of the future and be the first to give it tangible expression has been Cole's aim. Season after season—year after year, his advanced creations in motor car design have forecast the styles of the future.

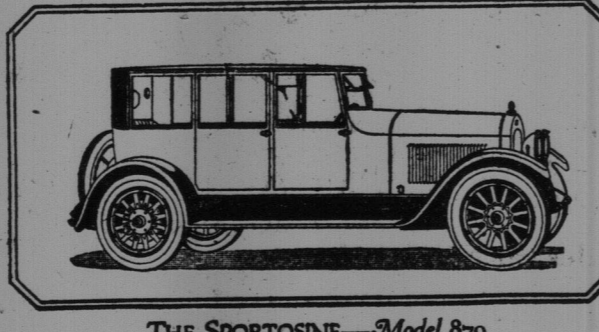

The Aero-EIGHT became instantly the forerunner of a new vogue. It established new standards of design and performance. For ten years Cole had been laying the foundations for this epoch-making creation, devoting the last five years exclusively to the Eight. He was one of the first two American manufacturers to build an eight-cylinder car—the first to apply to it the principles of aertype engineering. Satisfied only with that which others had not yet achieved, Cole has put a touch of tomorrow in all that he has done. It is that which gives the Aero-EIGHT the prestige of advanced achievement. It is that which has given the Cole product its distinction from the very beginning.

Latest Creations in All-Season Cars

THE SPORTSEDAN—Model 878

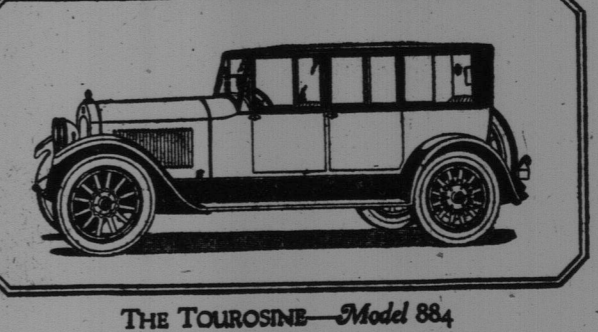

THE SPORTOSINE—Model 879

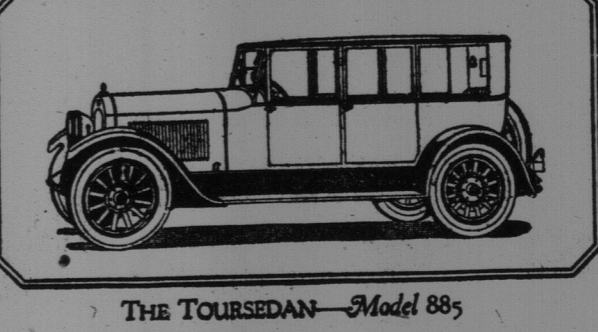

THE SPORTCOUPÉ—Model 883

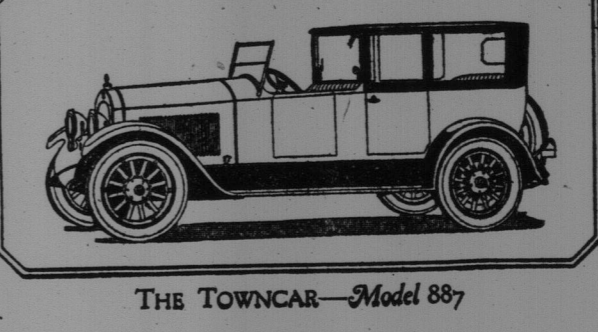

SO it is that the new Aero-EIGHT All Season models again introduce striking innovations in motor car design. They anticipate, as usual, the styles of the future and bring with their ownership a feeling of pride in the possession of that which others have not yet attained. Original—even to their names—the Aero-EIGHT Sportsedan, Sportcoupé, Sportosine, Toursedan, Tourosine and Towncar are authoritative examples of advanced coach building. They introduce flush panel construction—a new development in enclosed car design. They eliminate permanently those features which in the past have so definitely restricted the use of enclosed equipages. Their individuality of design, their pleasing harmony of color, the dignity and refinement of their appointments bear the hallmark of superior craftsmanship. There's a touch of tomorrow in the new Aero-EIGHT All-Season Cars; a note of futurity that fortifies the confidence which the public has placed in Cole as the producer of advanced motor cars. CHICAGO FANS THREATEN TO BOYCOTT NATIONAL LEAGUE

Threatening to boycott the National League for the rest of the season Chicago fans are making an open display of displeasure for the recent trade that gave the Giants Phil Douglas, a finished and accomplished pitcher, for Davey Robertson, an outfielder with a record of achievement, but one who has played no baseball to speak of for two years.

One Chicago newspaper prints a full page of protests from Cub fans. Most of these worthy arguments are based on the fact that the Giants were showing signs of slipping and that the advent of Douglas surely will send up the truck and provide a carriage for the rest of the journey. The Windy City bugs have given up the ship and insist that there will be no further chance to stop the Giants now.

It would have been much better to battle to the finish of the race as they were than to strengthen the Giants without taking any of the efficiency of the club away is the argument of one fan. He writes that McGraw gave nothing for considerable and is to be congratulated for pulling the wool over the eyes of the Cubs.

It is strange that the fans in Cincinnati do not take the same view of the matter as do those in Chicago. In fact the protests are even more numerous and to the point in the home of the Reds. William Phelon, who rides the down-trodden Reds and boosts them in their glory, says that he is ready to toss up the sponge. He declares that the only thing necessary to complete his baseball journey is a photograph of seven owners asking McGraw to take the pick of the respective seven teams just so as to have a winning club in New York.

Cincinnati would like to show that there is collusion behind the deal and that the Cubs, realizing that they are too far out of it to have a chance, saw to it that the Reds would not have a chance either. Most of such charges come from beaten fans who like to believe that nothing in baseball is honest. The fact of the matter is that the trade benefited both the Cubs and Giants. That McGraw had reserve or extra material so valuable as Robertson is to his credit and not to be held against the Giants.

The Cubs have a host of fine pitchers. Douglas hardly will be missed with Alexander, Hendrix, Tyler, Vaughan and a couple of youngsters going at proper gain. The Reds have an outfield much too fast for Robertson. He never has been missed at the Polo Ground in the last two years.

Robertson will fill a mighty hole in the Cub outfield. It will make it possible to shift Lee Magee back to the infield, either at second or third, and play Robertson alongside Mann and Plack. Robertson should make the Cubs a factor in the race for the rest of the season provided he can lean against that apple as he did before he retired from the game.

"I know a feller named Jules Laplante from Terrebonne. He's work three, four years on dry goods firm on rue Notre Dame, Montreal. He tole me last wik when I was in Montreal that when a Toronto business house writes a letter to his firm in French the whole plant close down for de afternoon. C'est pour rir. Too much laugh, by ginger. The manager calls the staff laugh, and reads that letter, written by a Toronto stenographer. The feller in that office are all French-Canadian, and you oughta hear de staff laugh.

"But our better Canadiennes in de French offices in Montreal conduct correspondence with Toronto firms in English so's you kin't tell de difference whether the writer is French or English. DELEGATE TO ST. LOUIS. Rev. R. H. W. Pinkett has recently returned to the city from Halifax, where he had been attending the Nova Scotia conference, which conference has honored him with the position of recording secretary for four consecutive years. This year the conference elected him one of the delegates to the general conference which will meet in St. Louis in May, 1920, to represent the conference.

HOUSING WORK BEING PUSHED

New Toronto Commission Hastening Construction on 54 Structures

(Toronto Globe.) Many foundations are completed and brick-laying started yesterday on nine of the houses being built in New Toronto by the New Toronto Housing Commission. More than half the material for the fifty houses contracted for is now on the grounds and the commission confidently expects to have all the outside work finished by the fall at the very latest.

The original grant of $200,000 has been exhausted, and the commission will likely make application for $250,000 more following the meeting next Friday night.

With 134 applications to date the New Toronto Housing Commission claims to have handled more work than any commission in any town in Ontario. The commission follows the same plan as the Toronto Housing Commission, and advances money for the site as well as the building.

Thirty-six houses are being erected on one block while others are being built on single lots.

Every house erected in New Toronto aids directly in relieving the congestion of houses in Toronto. A great many of the applications granted have been to people who never resided in New Toronto nor owned property there, but who lived in Toronto all their lives. The houses are all being built of brick and tile, and the present plans are for five and six-roomed detached and semi-detached houses costing $3,000 to $3,600, being employed to rush the buildings through to completion. If the commission is successful in negotiating a further loan, a great effort will be made to complete the eighty houses, not yet contracted, this season.

FAMILY DISAPPEARS JUST BEFORE SOLDIER RETURNS. St. Thomas, Aug. 1.—The rather mysterious disappearance of Mrs. Dolly Little and her two small children from their former home in London three days before the husband and father, Corporal James A. Little, returned home from overseas with the 18th Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, has aroused considerable interest in this city. Corporal Little being a resident here. The three seem to have left London without any persons knowing it, and consequently their present whereabouts are unknown. The press and local authorities are assisting Corporal Little in his search.

LOCAL NEWS BIRTHS AND MARRIAGES. Seven births were registered at the office of the registrar of vital statistics this week, four boys and three girls. Nine marriages were also recorded. NO GAMES TILL FURTHER NOTICE. President Morris of the St. John Baseball League executive and President Belyea of the West End Improvement League announced this morning that there would be no more games played in the city league until further notice. TEN DEATHS. At the board of health offices this week ten deaths were recorded from the following causes: Cholera infantum, two, and senility, apoplexy, pernicious anemia, pulmonary tuberculosis, tubercular enteritis, carcinoma of stomach, abdominal tumor and purpura neonatorum, one each.

HAS RESIGNED. Capt. E. J. Mooney of this city, who has been a P. M. at Halifax for some time, has resigned, but before re-entering civil life will undergo further treatment for wounds received while in France. Before leaving the service he was the recipient of a handsome loving cup from the men of the military police at Halifax with whom he was very popular. Captain Mooney was overseas with the 6th C. M. R.

VANDALISM. School officials and people in the neighborhood are indignant over the action of some hoodlums who have been defacing the King George school, Bentley street. They are in the habit of sitting on the concrete steps and persist in chipping off parts of the front. It is the intention of the officials to try to find those responsible and to have them punished to the fullest extent.

FOR CHILDREN ONLY. Complaint is made that on band concert nights at Victoria Square youths and girls of twenty years and even older are in the habit of using the swings and other apparatus placed in the playgrounds adjoining for the children. Last year damage was done in this way and for the sake of the children and their pleasure the grown-ups are asked to desist.

MARNEY-THOMPSON. A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Burley, 76 Water street, west, when their niece, Miss Pearl Thompson, was united in marriage to Fred Marney, both of this city. Rev. Mr. Heaney officiated. Miss Hazel Thompson and Everett Marney acted as witnesses. The bride received many presents, including checks from her father and the groom's father. Mr. and Mrs. Marney will reside in this city.

WEST SIDE SCHOOL CHILDREN. An effort is being made to create more interest amongst the school children of the West Side in connection with the visit of the prince and princess of all the Carleton children has been called in LaTour school at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning. It is announced that the program to be being handled by Principal Owens, of St. Patrick's; Principal McDermid, of LaTour school a representative of Beaconsfield school, and Rev. Mr. Heaney, representing the West Side Sunday schools. It is planned to send all the children to the city to assist in the reception at Red's Point and the whole assembly attend at the Military Hospital while the prince is there.

IN THE MARKET. In the city market this morning the following prices were quoted: Beef, from 25 to 35 cents; pork, 35; veal, from 30 to 35; lamb, 30 to 40; new potatoes, 65; cauliflower, 20 to 25 each; carrots and beets, three bunches for 20 cents or eight cents a bunch; celery, 10 cents a head; fowl, 55 cents; chickens, 65; butter, 45 to 50; cabbage, 5 cents a pound; white turnip, 5 cents a bunch; Swedish turnips, 60 cents a peck; lettuce, 5 cents; radishes, 5 cents; tomatoes, 15 to 20 a pound; raspberries, 20 cents a box; blueberries, 25 cents a peck; cabbages, two for 25 cents; beans, 70 cents a peck; peas, 80 cents; rhubarb, 5 cents a pound; eggs, 55 to 60 cents.

ANOTHER NEW BRUNSWICK OFFICER IS DISPLACED. Capt. C. McN. Steeves Must Give Way For Appointee From Montreal. Another instance of a New Brunswick officer being ousted by the department of militia from an appointment in this district is reported in connection with the selection of Lieutenant Burns of Montreal, who has been appointed works officer for this district. This appointment has been held since his return from overseas by Capt. C. McN. Steeves, who is now discharged. There is much talk about the city concerning this case which is regarded as a parallel to that of Major George Keefe as cadet inspector.

Captain Steeves, who in civilian life is a well known engineer, went from here with the 118th Battalion and on its being disbanded transferred to the field engineers, 8th division, seeing considerable service in the forward area with that unit. He was promoted from lieutenant and made adjutant of the battalion in France because of his good work and general qualifications. Since his appointment as works officer for this district he has performed his duties capably and there is very strong feeling concerning his having to give way to an officer from outside the province. Lieutenant Burns has been overseas and served for some time on headquarters staff in France. There is nobody criticizing him or his record on the other side but merely the system which ousted him in favor of those from other parts when it comes to the matter of appointments to the military departments in this district. The question is being asked "Would Nova Scotia, Quebec or Ontario, all three of which are represented in appointments here, permit of New Brunswickers being sent to oust appointees from their provinces?"

Big Fire in Detroit. Detroit, Aug. 2.—The A. Wadsworth Manufacturing Company's plant, covering an area of three blocks, an adjoining workmen's camp and the large yards of the Sibley Lumber Company, were destroyed by fire last night. Police placed the loss at nearly $1,000,000.

OVER A BRIDGE AND INTO CREEK

Alfred Belyea Has Narrow Escape From Death at South Bay. Alfred L. Belyea of Lancaster Heights, had a narrow escape from death this morning when his automobile crashed through the bridge at South Bay and landed in the creek and turned over. Mr. Belyea was alone in the car and escaped with a shaking up and slight injuries to his back and shoulders. Mr. Belyea said he was proceeding at about twelve miles an hour when the car took a lurch and swerved to one side and before he could ascertain the trouble it applied his emergency brake the car had crashed through the railing and he felt himself being precipitated through space. He said he remembers saying, "My God, am you not then he did not seem to recollect anything else until he was standing on the road again. When the car went through the bridge, he said, it took a complete somersault and landed bottom up in six feet of water. He did not know what position he was in when the car struck the water, but he said it was huddled up behind the steering wheel. Everything happened so quickly, he said that he did not fully realize what occurred until it was all over and he was standing looking down at his Chevrolet, which was almost out of sight in the water. Mr. Belyea intended to bring his family to the city this morning from their country home, and is now thankful that his plans did not materialize. He said if anyone else had been in the car there is no doubt that one or more would have been killed. He said it was the most wonderful escape from death or serious injury that he wanted to be in. Mr. Belyea was unable to ascertain the extent of the damage to his car, but later in the day went to the scene to have it hauled out of the creek.

Man In The Street

How d'ye like your tax bill? Or perhaps we shouldn't use the word "like"—What's that? Since they've decided to snatch the Prince off to Rothsay surely they will let his Marine band stay in the city. If it is said that they must accompany him, think of how many will use the over original expression about "telling that to the marines." New York couple were married in an aeroplane this week. What a device of a time their friends must have had trying to shy the old shoe at them for good luck. Someone suggests that people should see to it that their windows are washed so well as the buildings decorated for the coming holidays, but we wouldn't like to mention this as it sounds rather impertinent. A news item on the import of "sulphur and molasses" appeared in the press this week. Might have been more acceptable earlier in the season. A Mr. Mutch and Miss Mutch were married recently in Newcastle, which means to say that as she was, she will always be Mutch to him—in fact, she will be Mutch more than ever, and indeed, well what the use? About the only article of apparel one can wear these days with any degree of certainty as to its being reasonable is one's suspenders. Prohibition is said to be the factor which has resulted in a decrease of that once prevalent disease designated P. C. E., which interpreted means permanent curvature of the elbow. Might just as well be at work in this weather as on vacation. Those who are still planning are still hoping. Red Tape and Economy. The Railway War Board would not permit of extra trains running for Soldiers' Day here. Peace economy—but only a couple of weeks ago a big ocean liner was brought across the Atlantic with no one aboard but some officers, nurses and a few civilians—room for a couple of thousand men left vacant. Mail service between Canada and Germany has been resumed, but it is not believed that any extra clerks will be required to handle the business. "Germany has begun to pay for the war," says local headline, but as a matter of fact she really began to pay in earnest on August 8 of last year, when Foeh's mighty blows began to fall. Where Ignorance is Bliss. A country woman recently made some dry goods purchases in the city and on her way home was displaying several of the articles to a friend. When asked where she made her purchases, she replied, "At Push & Pull's." On investigation it was found that she was referring to the brass plates on the two outside swinging doors of a local shop marked respectively "Push" and "Pull."

ST. PETER'S ANNIVERSARY. (New Freeman). Thirty-five years ago, yesterday, Aug. 1, 1884, the Redemptorist Fathers took over the charge of St. Peter's parish. The first rector was Rev. Michael Oates, C.S.S.R., who is remembered for his indomitable energy in planning and fixing up the church grounds in which he was loyally assisted by the members of the congregation. He had entrenched himself in the hearts of the people of the parish, and although dead for many years, the first rector is still kept keenly alive in memory by many hundreds of the parishioners.

CHAPLAINS HOME. Friends in St. John will be interested to know that Rev. Donald McPherson and Rev. Miles N. Tompkins of Antigonish, N. S., have returned from overseas. The former was a major, going overseas as Catholic chaplain with the 25th Battalion and serving with various units not only Canada, but imperial and Australian as well. Father Tompkins is probably better known to many of the soldiers from these parts. He was Catholic chaplain with the 60th Battalion and also for a time with the 116th. He also was promoted to major's rank in France where he won the military cross in action.
