DELEGATES OPTIMISTIC ON RETURN

MARITIME MEN ENCOURAGED BY FINE RECEPTION AT OTTAWA

Presentation of Case Focuses Attention of Whole Dominion on Problems of Lower Provinces

FOLLOW UP NEEDED, SAYS L. W. SIMMS

Ontario and Quebec Papers Are Strongly Commended by St. John Men For Generous Backing of Port Demands—About Twenty-Five of Local Deputation Home Today

Highly optimistic as to results that may be expected from their meeting Premier King, members of the Cabinet and of the House of Commons, a large number of St. John members of the all-Canada delegation which strongly advocated a national transportation policy and a limiting of the British preference to trade through Canadian ports, returned home at noon today. It was the general feeling of the members interviewed that while tangible results were not apparent, the trip would serve the purpose of focusing the attention of the entire country on the problems of the Maritime Provinces, and thus lead to prompt action by Parliament.

URGES STRONG FOLLOW-UP

L. W. Simms, president of the St. John Board of Trade, declared on his return that a strong follow-up was needed to emphasize the purpose and aims of the delegation. Mr. Simms expressed the opinion that much remained to be done, even though the Government's reception had been favorable.

About 25 delegates returned home today. The remainder are due to leave Montreal this evening, arriving here tomorrow noon. All praised the handling of the delegation by the C. P. R. and the C. N. R.

Interviews were obtained with those who could be reached on return, as follows:

L. W. SIMMS

That the Maritime delegation to Ottawa was a long step forward in the movement to secure preferences down east, and that a strong follow-up was necessary to consolidate what had been gained and to press on with the good work in this direction, was the opinion expressed by L. W. Simms, president of the St. John Board of Trade, who returned this morning from Ottawa with several other members of the delegation. "We must not take it for granted that our work is finished now," Mr. Simms declared in an interview. "Much remains to be done, and if we are to reap the benefits of the trip, the presentation of our case to the Parliament of Canada we must be prepared to maintain our efforts in this direction."

Impressive Scene

Speaking about the delegation and its reception by Premier King and members of the cabinet, Mr. Simms said it was an impressive sight to see the large delegation grouped in the railway committee room and listen to the addresses. The Maritime Mayor John Murphy, Halifax, Mr. Simms declared, was a splendid utterance. R. A. Macaulay, St. John, who presented the Maritime case, also did his part well. The presence of J. E. Walsh, general manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, with the delegation, and his address to the Maritime association unqualifiedly back of the plea for the Maritimes, was a distinct asset and one that was bound to react favorably. "Apart from the public meetings, I feel that the acquaintance formed between the Maritime delegation and those from other parts of the country, was both pleasant and profitable," Mr. Simms said.

A. NEIL McLEAN

A. Neil McLean, representing Seville, N. B., said he felt the return trip was a very favorable one. He was very favorably received and that the trip was wholly worth while. The evening meeting in particular, he said, was an outstanding feature, it being attended by many of the members from Western Canada. They showed deep interest in the addresses made.

A. F. BLAKE

A. F. Blake, of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, said he felt the delegation had been most valuable and had served to inform not only the Premier and members of the Cabinet but the situation complained of was serious one of Parliament and the country generally with the same idea. He referred particularly to an editorial in the Montreal Star as a sample of the publicity which the demands of the Maritime Provinces were getting in the newspapers of the country and said he felt the public mind as it brought the as a whole were reading these articles and they were bound to hear fruit. The turnout from St. John was most creditable and one that the city should be proud of. He spoke appreciatively of the service given by the C. P. R. in running the special train and looking after the delegates enroute.

GEORGE WARWICK

George L. Warwick, of O. H. Warwick Co. Ltd., said that he thought that the delegation would go a great deal of good eventually, although he pointed out that they might not secure exactly the objects they went after. He felt that the visit had stirred up a feeling that the time had arrived when the Maritime Provinces must have consideration from the rest of Canada. That the members at Ottawa were

Died Today

FRIEDRICH EBERT, First president of German Republic, who died this morning from peritonitis, following appendicitis operation.

States Ebert Great Ruler

British United Press. BERLIN, Feb. 28.—Count Von Bernstorff, former German Ambassador to the U. S. paid tribute to Ebert in a telegram received by the United Press from Starnberg, Bavaria. It read: "President Ebert's historical merit is that he rescued Germany from Bolshevism. He did not want revolution but, when the refusal of the Kaiser to abdicate made revolution inevitable, Ebert took over the leadership with a firm hand and gradually restored order by retaining, contrary to the desires of the Radicals, the good will of former officials. Thereafter he governed with fine tact and great non-partisanship. Silent dignity marked his administration."

EBERT DIES AS HOPE FOR HIS RECOVERY HIGH

First Ruler Under New Regime Had Remarkable Career. COUNTRY GRIEVES. Statesman Was Looked Upon As First Leader to Sink Party Allegiance.

The end came this morning to the remarkable man who started his life as a saddlemaker's apprentice and went on to become the first head of the new democracy. Suddenly stricken ill Monday night and operated on Tuesday morning, Ebert weathered the ensuing critical days until early today when a sudden relapse occurred as his physicians were beginning to restore hope of his recovery. His sturdy physique, weakened by the poison of peritonitis, failed to rally and he died at 10.15 a.m.

Around his bedside when the end came were grouped his wife, his daughter Amalie and her husband, Dr. Wilhelm Jaczke, and his son-in-law to survive the war, Friedrich, Jr. State Secretary Meisner was the only other person present, aside from the doctor and his assistants.

Herr Ebert's nervous system had been badly shaken by the Magdeburg trial affair, and personal attacks against him in connection with the alleged illegal loans of government funds to the Barnt brothers. The judge, while convicting a newspaper editor of libeling the President, took occasion to criticize Herr Ebert for his attitude during the war, virtually charging him with treason.

The political attacks upon the President, which culminated in the Magdeburg trial, and the efforts to connect him with the Barnt loans scandal added greatly to the burdens imposed upon him.

PREPARE BILL TO SAFEGUARD MUNICIPALITY

Custodian for Estate of Those Living in Municipal Home

SOME THERE HAD MONEY IN THE BANK

Legislation Sought So That The Institution Could Be Re-imbursed

The Board of Commissioners of the St. John Municipal Home is to present to the N. B. Legislature at Fredericton a bill, the object of which is to allow for the appointment of an official custodian of the estate of every person who becomes an inmate of the home, at East St. John, as a public charge.

The Reason For It Members of the board when asked what the object of the legislation was replied that it was to correct an injustice which they felt had been allowed to exist too long already. It was pointed out that in some cases persons had been sent to the institution and kept at the expense of the municipality for years. At the time of death it was discovered that they either owned property or had money in the bank and relatives would step in and claim the estate.

Reimburse Home. This bill would give the municipality the right to reach estate, up to the amount due for board and lodging the inmate for the time he or she had been in the home. Should any money remain after the bill of the institution had been settled this would go to the next of kin.

It had been felt by the commissioners for some time that it was not fair to the taxpayers of the municipality that they should be called on to support any one person who had the means of paying for support.

MARITIME MEN ARE ENCOURAGED

needs of the Maritimes prominently before the Government. He also mentioned the splendid support given the movement by many of the Upper Canadian papers, particularly the Montreal Star, in a recent editorial.

The reception by the members at Ottawa was not as enthusiastic as was expected, Mr. Tilley said. At the evening meeting which was held before the regular session only between 30 and 35 members attended to hear the delegates. Later, when a vote was taken in the House it showed 178 members in attendance. He said that this showed a general apathy among the members when fewer than one-fifth of those in the House took the trouble to hear the delegation put forward their claims.

THOMAS BELL

"Taken collectively, I believe the Ottawa will arouse much enthusiasm and will be of much greater effect than disconnected individual efforts," Thomas Bell, prominent lumberman, told a reporter for The Times-Star on his return home today. "When you get a body of men thinking along the same lines and pulling hard together," he said, "something is bound to happen, and I am satisfied that this delegation set their thinking, and thinking hard, at Ottawa." The movement is in line with what Mr. Bell and Mr. McKenna have done, it should have a most beneficial effect.

R. E. ARMSTRONG

R. E. Armstrong, when interviewed, said: "A member of the Maritime delegation to Ottawa, and as Secretary of the St. John Board of Trade, I would like to impress the facts upon the people of the Maritime Provinces that it is a splendid delegation, that a good presentation of the whole national situation was made, that a keen interest was shown by all members of Parliament and that a most courteous reception was extended them by the Government."

Preliminary Conference.

"Before the arrival of the special C. P. R. train from New Brunswick there was a fear in the minds of many of the other delegates who had reached Ottawa that it would be very difficult to secure the co-operation of all representatives from eastern and western Canada. A brief conference of representatives from all sections was held to promote the expansion of all routes and a subject was fixed upon along broad national lines that was given the approval and endorsement of every one present."

Word of the tragic death by drowning of the wife of Gerald Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Griffin, formerly of Fairville but now of Bangor, was received recently by Mr. and Mrs. William Haggarty of Fairville, Gerald Griffin's uncle and aunt. The fatal accident occurred at Lincoln, Me. on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Griffin were motoring from their home in East Millinocket, Me., and with them were their 18 months old baby, Miss Adelaide Marden of Old Town and Vennie Theriault of East Millinocket who was driving the car.

dent by volunteers who had dived repeatedly into the icy water before they were able to locate it. Efforts at resuscitation were unsuccessful. Other members of the party were thoroughly chilled but were cared for by the people of Lincoln.

The ice cutting field was not marked or guarded in any way and Theriault was unacquainted with the conditions. No blame is attached to the driver.

Mrs. Griffin was 21 years of age, and her untimely death has come as a great shock to her husband's relatives here.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 28, 1925

DOWN HERE AND UP THERE

Beginning with the open confession that we would rather have a new C. N. R. station, some more piers for C. N. R. traffic, and some other evidences of C. N. R. interest in this part of the country than contribute to a partial payment of $124,000 for a C. N. R. golf course in Jasper Park, we turn to some information brought out in the House of Commons on February 25.

Mr. Sutherland inquired on that date what had been the cost to date of the C. N. R. golf course at Jasper, and was told by Hon. Mr. Graham that it was $124,290.47.

The cost of the seed used to date was $4,885.82. Mr. Sutherland asked whether it was true that considerable of the material provided and of the work done had been destroyed by wind and other causes, and was informed that such was not the case.

Mr. Sutherland inquired as to the cost to date of the C. N. R. golf course at Minaki, north of Kenora, on the National Railways.

He was informed by Mr. Graham that it was $94,621.41.

The C. N. R. is not the only railway that promotes or builds golf courses for the purpose of adding to its traffic receipts by attracting tourists and other travelers. We in the Maritimes have nothing against golf courses as such. But the people down here think there are pressing necessities which should come before the construction of golf courses and the expenditure of half a million dollars for radio. It is true that a part of the radio equipment has been in our territory. But even as to that, it is felt in the Maritimes that piers and stations, and hotels, and a sturdy determination to route traffic through Canadian channels should come before these other things.

Also, if the C. N. R. finds it a paying policy to scatter plenty of a smiling land, why does it not construct a few hotels and golf courses in the Maritimes, where its rails reach no end of places in which the scenery, the climate and the general surroundings would be quite as attractive to tourists as anything to be found in Jasper or Kenora.

It would be quite as sensible to add traffic to this section of the C. N. R. at any other section. It would pay just as well. Furthermore, as we pay our share of the cost of golf courses and hotels on other portions of the C. N. R. it would be only just, in addition to being good business, to give the Maritimes their share of such improvements.

There seems to be nothing wrong with the people of the Maritime Provinces as taxpayers. Their money seems to be good. Are the people of the Maritimes to be allowed to think that when it comes to traffic, to hotels, to tourist attractions, they are debarred from receiving their share of government or C. N. R. expenditure because they live East of the Quebec boundary? Surely national and provincial demands piers, stations and hotels in this district quite as much as golf courses are needed on other parts of the C. N. R. system.

When is the equal treatment to begin?

AN UNPLEASANT REVELATION

This country was in rather an ugly temper twenty-one years ago. That was the day of the famous Alaskan boundary dispute, and a wave of indignation swept over Canada because of the impression that the British member of the Alaskan tribunal had, for reasons which were not then understood and which never have been fully explained, consented to an award unjustly depriving Canada of territory to which we were rightly entitled, and which the United States was most anxious to get, and did get.

There is some new light upon that old and unpleasant incident, and it is what is now charged in connection with it by the Toronto Star is true, it is perhaps lucky for all concerned that Canadians were not aware of it at the time. In that day the involved issues came to give the involved issues calm consideration, being thoroughly convinced that Lord Alverstone, for one reason or another, had failed signally to protect their interests.

The Toronto Star now charges that this failure was due to the direct and brutal threats of Theodore Roosevelt to seize the territory in dispute should the award of the Alaskan tribunal be other than he desired. This charge is based upon the recent publication of letters exchanged between Colonel Roosevelt and Henry Cabot Lodge, a member of the tribunal, while it was sitting.

The Roosevelt-Lodge letters, supplemented by the interview in The Star with Mr. Henry O'Brien, K. C., who was law partner at the time with the late Christopher Robinson, K. C., a Canadian counsel before the tribunal, makes plain much that until now had been unexplained. "It is quite evident that the three representatives of the United States did not sit on the tribunal as 'jurists of repute' to consider evidence and make a boundary award on the merits of the case. They were sitting through a figure above cost of production; and lastly to the fact that farmers are coming into this country. There is a distinctive sense of a turn for the better in the air.

If the income tax can be reduced to somewhere near the level of the United States tax, the Manitoba Free Press says, some of the money now invested in untable bonds would go into general business enterprises and more outside capital would come into the country. This, it suggests, would mean an increase in the volume of taxable income, so that, as a matter of fact, a cut in the income tax would not mean the loss in national revenue which many people think.

Odds and Ends

"You never know what you'll find among the odds and ends."—From "Notes by a Wayfarer."

Maple Sugar Days

Sap is about to mount in the maples, if we are to believe the weather prophets, and this fact has prompted a veteran to recall some of the scenes and methods in an Ontario sugar bush of an earlier day.

"It may be helpful to some amateurs to relate the early methods of sap collection," writes B. M. Wylie in the Toronto Globe, "and compare the primitive systems of those days with the finished methods of today. In this line I served with my grandfather, who was the son of an Adolphstowner, and in those days we used an axe and a 3-4 inch auger made by the neighboring blacksmith, a 1/2-inch gimlet of like manufacture, a pocket knife and a piece of flint. Troughs to hold the sap were made from basswood lengths of 8 to 12 inches diameter, cut in lengths of two feet, split in halves and hollowed out with the axe. Later the blacksmith worked out a hollow adze as finishing tool. After the hollowing process was completed it was my business to burn or char the inside, to lighten the grain and prevent leakage. This was done over embers or the residue of fire made by igniting birch bark and cedar with a spark from the knife blade on the flint.

"The spiles for tapping were made from cedar blocks 1 1/2 inches square by 12 to 16 inches long. These were split in two, shaped into a 3-4 inch bore, with a gimlet and made ready for insertion in the sugar hole through the bark of the tree.

"We gathered the sap in pails and carried it to a central point, where large iron pots or coolers were suspended over a fire from an immense iron wood pole, which rested on either side of the vessel by greasing the supports set in the ground. The boiling was to me a severe task, as I was required to be ever on guard to prevent the boiling over of the vessels by greasing the inner rims with a piece of fat pork attached to the end of a stick. Also I had to be constantly dipping the contents from the larger to the smaller pot, until finally all was reduced to one pot in a state of syrup, to be carried home for final boiling on the cook-stove or fire-place, where sugar would be run into milk pails or smaller basins.

"But what's the use of talking about these primitive methods in this day of patent spiles, tin buckets and caprons, with no doubt the farmer's electric current as fuel, and motor conveyance to collect the sap?"

Has She Changed?

Mr. Dana Gibson has been defending the modern girl. He thinks, he has not in spite of her appearance, she has not changed much from the Victorian girl, or, for that matter, from the girl of any age. I like to believe this, and yesterday, when I saw a young man in white spats and a double-breasted coat sitting in the park next to a girl with singed hair who was smoking a cigarette, I am certain their conversation was like this:

He: Er—Miss Jane, it occurs to me that you cannot but be sensible to the effect upon me of your charming and enlivening society. Further, I am rash enough to hope that you are acquainted with the very warm regard in which I hold you.

She (blushing, and averting her head): Sir, you do me too much honor. I protest you do. I cannot believe that my poor accomplishments are capable of entertaining one of your attainments. Surely, sir, Miss Rose, who sings an air so divinely.

He: Say no more. I have, perhaps, presumed. Yet, believe me, it was for no base motive, but rather from a genuine affection. At this point he took her hand, and I waited for her to swoon with love, but she never kissed him. So something's wrong somewhere.

Her Name For Him. Say a man's name is Joseph Montgomery Smith, and is generally called Joe. When he marries his wife will inevitably call him Montgomery. I have never known it fall.—E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Several signs of a distinct turn for the better are noted by a writer in the Manitoba Free Press. He writes: For the past few weeks there have been recorded in the news columns of the western press frequent sales of farm lands to purchasers from both outside and inside Canada. It is a healthy sign, due possibly to the conviction that western lands are now to be bought as cheaply as they will ever be; to the fact also that grain prices are likely to be stabilized for a while at Sailor's Wife. (Mary Siegrist in New York Times.) She used to sit and watch the phantom clouds. Move in bright arabesques along their destined way. She used to fling the shutters wide and And clap her hands with her own child at play. She used to sit and hear the conning sea. Moan out its secrets tenderly. She counted then. Each careful hour, marking off the days Until that hour when he should come again. She heard the faint cry of fledglings in the wheat— She knew when each new sensitive life was born; A world lay deep within the plover's cry— They were her friends, the fledglings in the corn.

That was a thousand years ago! Today The sea stands mute—the clouds have turned dust-gray— Never a sail comes home but great tears start.

Two Songs. (Ann Hamilton in Scribner's.) I. Through the long dusk my spirit shags To hear the wind break through the wood. And in the twilight it is good To watch the dark come down the hill Into the stream beside the mill. For love goes always where I go And burns within the lost bird's cry— Like a late whisper comes; the sky Flings out two lonely stars, and these Over the new moon-crescent rise Ghostly, beneath love's eyes.

II. Sunlight wakens me after dream And through the day upholds the hours Like laughter, and the twilight seethes Gentle as flowers Remembered from a summer's dream The spent moon lifting into gold Comes kindly, knowing how beneath Earth's dark indifference, I hold Love hung across my heart, nor care Whether a moon be young or old Or day or night be there.

Pigeon From Among King Square Flock Leads To View of High-Toned Birds in Home

Two gentlemen were talking in King Square one day this week, watching the pigeons enjoying the bounty of some kindly citizen. One of the men was Robert Romney, who is a pigeon fancier. He suddenly exclaimed "Why there is one of my birds," pointing to a pretty white bird, among the grey pigeons should be bagged and given for food to the poor people, but Mr. Romney thought differently, especially when there was a risk of privately owned birds being captured. "That bird cost me a considerable sum," he said, and he spread his hat over it and walked off with it under his arm. He got the pigeon and a reporter got this story.

The bird had a tag showing its ownership. An invitation to Mr. Romney's aviary at the top of St. Prince William street was accepted. There are well-kept white pens for 100 birds of prize grades, brought from England by the owner, who hopes to make them an interesting hobby for his young son. Since an early age, Mr. Romney kept pigeons in England and his love has not slackened with the years. Some of his birds are from the United States, but he says, these are not so useful for carriers of which he has a choice variety.

In these pens are Dragons, with wattled heads, and large bodies. These birds will fight a cat. One lost its life recently fighting a feline in King Square. Occasionally citizens find a tame pigeon stalking their dining tables, or pecking faultlessly at their shoes, as they walk through King Square. These are some of Mr. Romney's birds, which are not afraid of anything or anyone.

There are the Jacobins, with feathers forming a cowl that when ruffled resembles a school boy's touselled head rather than the head covering of a monk. The Fantail has an appendage which gives it its name. This bird is considered well-bred if its head touches its tail as it walks or stands. The Romney birds meet the requirements and were showing off beautifully when seen.

These was the Booted Tumbler, with wings growing out of its body, projecting over its claws. These extra wings cause it to drop gently to earth when it flies up, counterbalancing, as it were, its ordinary flying equipment. There are only a few of the many varieties of birds he owns. The Pouter, Turbit and Owl varieties are all there, with many more.

The wild birds have redeeming qualities as related by Mr. Romney, who always has some in his pens for nursemaids for the young fledglings. The wild, or common pigeon likes domestic responsibility, while its aristocratic sister avoids all the cares it can. The high bred pigeon mother leaves its newly laid eggs to the care of the wild bird, which chirps over the job with keen pleasure. The father, however, takes care of the eggs at night and looks after the fledglings.

There were two fledglings, hatched a few days ago, piping a sad lay, while their mother was bustling about after laying more eggs, in a pen just beneath her first family. The father was near the nest and went in to comfort his neglected family, which peeped happily, glad that someone cared.

A well-stocked medicine kit is necessary for pigeons of high birth. They have to have their eyes cleaned sometimes after a quarrel unless eyes are pecked. Iodine, boracic acid, castor oil, toothes and a soft camel's hair brush were noticed among the medical supplies for Mr. Romney's pets. They certainly gave much to think over, as while their resemblance to human qualities is good and bad.

SAYS NOTHING EXCELS SCENERY HERE

Former St. John Man Declares East Neglecting to Capitalize Charms for Vacationists—Points Out 30,000,000 People in New England Within Day's Journey of Maritimes

By A. M. BELDING

Special Representative of The Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star now touring Western Canada in the interests of the Maritime Provinces.

VANCOUVER, Feb. 18.—(By mail)—I have already written about what the tourist traffic has done for British Columbia, the estimate of expenditure by tourists last year being $40,000,000. I asked J. N. Harvey, a former St. John man who has been active in tourist matters as well as in the Board of Trade here to give me a message for our people. Mr. Harvey kindly dictated the following reply, which cannot but be of interest to Maritime Province readers:

"You have asked me for a message to our people in the Maritime Provinces that might help them solve the problems that are confronting them now. This is rather a large order, and I would not think of attempting to meet the specifications; but those of us who live on this side of the continent are still keenly interested in that part of the country which gave us birth, and it is possible some of the experiences we have had here might help you.

Believes Trade Is Possible.

As far as your transportation problems are concerned we have much in common, and in the interests of a united Canada there must be served by the coming together of men who will place the interests of Canada as a whole before all other considerations. I feel, however, that a very considerable business could be developed between the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia by direct line of steamers touching at St. John and Halifax, bringing your products to us and taking British Columbia goods in return.

"This year a former Moncton man, W. H. Edgett, who has been living in British Columbia for 15 years, has brought potatoes from New Brunswick for British Columbia tables. I notice by this morning's paper that our City Council, on the casting vote of the Mayor, gave an order for valves, running into a few thousand dollars, to a St. John firm, even at a little higher price than the English or German quotation. Such action as this will demonstrate Vancouver's attitude towards the products of Canada.

Have Overlooked Assets.

"I believe the Maritime Provinces have overlooked one of their greatest assets—that of the summer tourist. You have some thirty-odd million people living in the New England States, who are only overnight away from you, by rail, by steamer, or by motor-car. It is said that there are more Maritime Province people and their descendants living in the New England States than there are in the Maritime Provinces. Cannot these people be induced to spend a vacation in the old home-land and bring others with them? I know of grander scenery, such as we have in British Columbia, but I know of nothing more beautiful than the scenery of the Maritime Provinces. If you will only convince the people referred to that they have everything they desire for a summer vacation—cool nights, beautiful scenery, good roads, bathing beaches, etc.—you will have them in overwhelming numbers. Where will you find, in any land, more beautiful scenery than on the River St. John, Kennebecasis, Kingston Creek, the Belleisle, the Miramichi, the Restigouche, or Matapedia, or better bathing beaches than the Bay of Fundy, Shediac and Cape Tormentine, to say nothing of the attractions of the sister provinces of Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island? I am convinced, also, that the Maritime Provinces have lost tremendously by not making something of their legendary and folk-lore. I believe there should be developed and talked of not only before Canadian and Rotary Clubs, but in the public schools.

Tourist Association.

"It was my privilege to be a member and a director of the so-called 'Pacific Northwest Tourist Association,' which functioned here for some years, and which did a great work for the northwest. It was financed by a vote of $20,000 each from the States of Oregon and Washington, and $10,000 from the Province of British Columbia. Our head office was in Seattle. There were directors from each of the states named and British Columbia, who gave their time without remuneration and paid all their own expenses. We met twice a year at different cities in the states and in this province. By the directors meeting their own expenses, the $20,000 was left to be used entirely for publicity. We used the press of the middle American West and California and for winter tourists we used the Canadian prairie press. You tell me that New Brunswick had, without very much effort on her part, some 10,000 motor-cars visit her last year, while British Columbia had more than 86,000 come in here. You can scarcely imagine what our tourist trade means to British Columbia until you have made some effort to make it mean something to the Maritime Provinces. I would recommend that the three provinces get together and form an association similar to the one referred to above. You will have no difficulty in finding public-spirited men of ability who will be willing to serve at their own expense, and then get each province to vote a substantial sum to be used for advertising in the press of the New England States. It will repay a thousand-fold for every dollar spent judiciously in this way, and will give you a summer income that will surprise you. In addition to the money spent for ordinary advertising, these people from the States spend large sums in the stores, for clothing and other woolsens. The American tourist is permitted to take back with him $100 of merchandise so long as he declares it for his own use. This means much to the merchants.

Stand Well Everywhere.

"I do hope you will consider this suggestion of a Maritime Province Tourist Association. If you will write to W. J. Hofmann of the 'Oregonian,' Portland, Ore., who was president of our organization for a number of years, and use my name, I am sure he will be glad to give information that will very materially assist you.

"We have a pride in the Maritime Provinces, and justly so, because they have given so much towards the building up of Canada, and so much towards the building up of the neighboring republic as well. The Maritime Provinces stand well everywhere. There are a great many people in British Columbia endeavoring to build up an 'empire within Canada' on this side of the Rockies who wish you well. Your visit has done much to quicken the interest and to give a better understanding of the problems of the Maritime Provinces."

GERMANS REJECT SAILLESS VESSEL

Say Flettner Rotor Ship is of no Practical Value as Yet.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—The Union of German Shipowners, at their congress at Hamburg, Friday, rejected the Flettner rotor ship as of no immediate practical value. Their judgment was based on the record made by the Russian on his trip to Scotland. The shipowners agreed that there was nothing in the test trip to show that man-power had been saved by the sailless sailing ship.

They conceded that there had been a 30 per cent. saving in fuel, but they pointed to the fact that this saving was only one-half per cent. of the total operating expenses. They say on the other hand that the insurance rates for rotor ships would be so much higher as to more than offset even the saving in fuel.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family supply easily and promptly made. Serves above all.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, keeps children like it—and it is pure and good.

Four 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a 16-oz. bottle; then fill it up with water, or plain sugar syrup, or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. If desired, thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "1/2 ounce of Pinex" with directions as to use. It's the only thing else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Eyes Strengthened 50% by Proper Eye Care, Says Doctor

Suggests Simple Home Treatment Which Quickly Removes All Irritation and Sharpens Vision.

No longer is there any excuse for most of our eye troubles. For specialists have perfected a simple but amazingly effective treatment which not only quickly relieves burning, itching, smarting, aching eyes, but also banishes eye headaches, eye-strain and blurred vision. This simple treatment is called the Bon-Opto system, and is now being prescribed by physicians and specialists everywhere. It is based on the latest scientific discoveries. Scientists have recently proved that 90 per cent. of all eye troubles are due to weakness in certain little muscles which adjust the eye. Eyeglasses alone will not strengthen these muscles. But the Bon-Opto treatment seeps through directly to them, heats and tones them, and soon restores them—and therefore the eyes—to their old-time strength and vigor.

Don't neglect your eyes. The discomfort felt after an automobile ride, a movie, or any close work, are important danger signals. Yet every irritation and ache can be almost instantly banished by a Bon-Opto eye-bath, and more serious trouble prevented. Bon-Opto should be in every home. Your eyes are far more important than your teeth. As often as you use your toothbrush, you should take your eye-bath.

To get a package of Bon-Opto. Results guaranteed. Money back without question if you are not delighted with the improvement in your eyes and sight. Bon-Opto is sold by good druggists everywhere.

WARNS AMERICA OF PACIFIC ALLIANCE

Soviet Minister Declares Stronger Russo-Jap Pact May Follow.

BERLIN, Feb. 27.—L. M. Karakhan, Soviet Minister to Peking and formerly assistant Commissioner of Foreign Affairs, issued a warning today that the Russo-Japanese treaty is a forerunner of a Pacific alliance which may be unpleasant for America.

Failure on the part of the United States to recognize Russia, he declares, brings Japan out of her isolation in the Pacific and the "support of a friendly power on the continent." He views his statement as an open bid for America to rush in with recognition before the alliance becomes exclusive.

"Our agreement with Japan," he says, "serves as a warning to America that by the fact that she maintains no relations with us she merely hurts herself."

GIVES ADDRESS ON VOTING TO WOMEN

Mrs. Richard Hooper Speaks to Institute Members at Hampton.

HAMPTON, Feb. 27.—The Hampton Women's Institute met today in the Assembly Hall of the Consolidated School. Miss Margaret Turnbull, vice-president, presided. A large number was present.

A splendid address on Women's Franchise was given by Mrs. Richard Hooper of St. John. Mrs. Hooper impressed her audience with the importance of women going to the polls and exercising their right to vote, that before voting both sides of the question should be heard and thoroughly discussed, then to vote for the candidate whose policy is the best for the advancement of the country.

A vote of thanks, moved by Mrs. R. A. March and seconded by Mrs. Coates, was extended to Mrs. Hooper.

Committee Reports.

The reports of the different committees were satisfactory. The treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $174.25.

Mrs. McMullin reported that the sewing materials that had been purchased were nearly all made up, so $5 was given to carry on this work. The next sewing meeting will be on Tuesday evening with Mrs. G. A. Ross.

Mrs. George Barnes has offered to form a millinery class and Mrs. Howard Campbell has offered to assist her. This class will be instructed in the making and trimming of a hat.

Mrs. Coates reported that socks and mittens had been returned to her to send to the Red Cross Society.

In place of the usual social hour, all the members attended the afternoon tea which was held in the lunch room of the school, the proceeds to be used for school purposes. Miss Gibson, the domestic science teacher, was in charge of the tea and the tables were in charge of Misses Evelyn Sollows, Lois March, Edith Snodgrass, Gertrude Coleman, Alice Reed, Mabel Bannerman and Frances Hill. The tea table was presided over by Miss B. Howard and Miss Leah Frost.

The tea table and smaller tables were pretty with decorations of spring flowers and emblems for St.

REPORT OF SPLIT IN MARITIME RANKS

Montreal Paper Says Some of Delegates Were for Open Warfare on Portland, Me.—Vice-president of Montreal Board of Trade Denies Any Threats of Secession Were Made

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—Despite reports to the contrary, there was no threat of secession made by the delegates from the Maritime Provinces when they laid their case before the Government at Ottawa yesterday, said G. Laffoley, second vice-president of the Montreal Board of Trade, who accompanied the delegation to Ottawa as a representative of the Montreal Board and who spoke at the conference.

The Maritimes felt that they had been left to themselves and had not shared in Canadian development in the last six years and expressed this view at Ottawa, said Mr. Laffoley, but any reports that they threatened secession if their request were not granted were greatly exaggerated, and should never have been made.

Preference Restriction. It was the intention of the Maritime delegation to present a resolution asking that the British preferential rate only be applied to British goods coming through Canadian ports. This resolution was supported by nearly all the Boards of Trade in Eastern Canada. But after representations from Mr. Laffoley, who pointed out that the amount of goods that came through American ports was small, the resolution was not stressed, said he.

Impressed by Sincerity. Mr. Laffoley said he was greatly impressed by the sincerity of the Premier and his colleagues in the Cabinet, and their obvious desire to do all in their power to foster the idea put forward by the Montreal Board of Trade, calling for the equipment of Canadian ports, east and west, to handle Canadian trade so as to benefit Canada as a whole.

Report of Division. MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—The Star today carries the following from its staff correspondent in Ottawa:

"It appears that considerable friction enveloped a conference of the Maritime Provinces delegates in the Chateau Laurier preliminary to the general meeting with the cabinet. It is understood that many of the delegates desired to press their case in more severe terms than were eventually used and that it was originally planned to demand a direct ban on the shipment of Canadian goods through other than Canadian ports. This it was understood was directly aimed at the heavy annual shipments of freight and grains from Portland, Me.

"Playing With Fire." This course was finally abandoned, it is believed, at the instance of the representatives from the Montreal Board of Trade who persuaded the delegates to accept the resolution which was finally presented to the Government. The policy of instituting a commercial warfare with Portland, Me., was characterized as 'playing with fire.' Some of the more militant termed the Montreal resolution as 'perfectly harmless.'

"It was pointed out that millions of bushels of Canadian grain were annually shipped through Portland.

Speculate on Results. "Further discouragement was given when western delegates pointed out the recent changes in the British preference, giving a 10 per cent. discount on the preference to goods entering Canada through Canadian ports, had practically resulted in bringing all this trade into Canada. One or two of the more advanced from the Maritimes are understood to have declared that the delegates might as well turn around and go home.

"There is much speculation here as to what this split in the Maritime ranks will eventually mean.

SHIP MEN ACTING ON INCREASED TOLLS

Additional Raise Claimed Injustice on U. S. Merchant Marine.

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Following a preliminary discussion of the proposed increase in Panama Canal tolls, held yesterday at the offices of the American Steamship Owners' Association, the executive committee of the association at a luncheon at the India House today will act on a suggested amendment to the bill.

The bill now pending in Congress was gone over thoroughly by American ship owners at the informal meeting. Any change concerning the measure was heightened by the recent statement in the Panama Canal Record that it would result in an annual increase in tolls of $4,200,000 a year.

Recommendations Not Divulged. It is understood that at the luncheon today the full committee will have before it a detailed report and proposed amendments to prevent any increase in the burden on American ship owners at this time. Winthrop L. Marvin, vice-president of the association, said yesterday he could not divulge the exact nature of the recommendation in advance of the conference.

Statements from various shipping officials yesterday expressed considerable dissatisfaction with the bill as it now stands, and it is reported also that many of the members of the Senate Committee on Commerce, which will act on the measure tomorrow in Washington, are also opposed to that part increasing the tolls.

Argument Against Bill. Arguments raised in opposition to the bill are that it should not be the function of the Government to make a profit on the waterway, as existing tolls are sufficient to meet all expenses, and that the imposition of an additional $4,000,000, or approximately 25 per cent, would be an injustice to the American merchant marine. Another point is that the proposed higher tolls would decrease the ability of the steamship lines to compete with the transcontinental railroads.

In addition to the Panama bill the executive committee of the association will take up national marine policies with a view to formulating those to be advocated at the next session of Congress.

SEEK COMMISSION

LePres Declares Board to Investigate Montreal Administration to be Asked.

MONTREAL, Feb. 27.—La Presse, an afternoon French language newspaper, today says: "We are informed on excellent authority that a royal commission to inquire into the municipal administration of Montreal will be sought in the course of the month of April and the name of Alderman Maguire who have attempted to operate specialized egg farms, but these failures can usually be traced to a lack of knowledge of the poultry business, poor sanitation and a failure to consider the law of diminishing returns when making plans and estimates for launching in the poultry business."

At the present time farm flocks average only 25 or 30 laying fowls. Flocks of 100 birds are becoming fairly common and a very few are found where the number of mature fowls reaches five, six or seven hundred.

Specialized poultry raising requires considerable skill. The difficulties met with are losses due to contagious diseases which sweep occasionally through flocks, causing great loss, an excess in brooding and rearing which are much greater in flocks of several hundreds than they are with smaller numbers. There have been failures among persons who have attempted to operate specialized egg farms, but these failures can usually be traced to a lack of knowledge of the poultry business, poor sanitation and a failure to consider the law of diminishing returns when making plans and estimates for launching in the poultry business.

Calculating Profits. What is meant by this latter point is that it is incorrect to assume that because a flock of 100 birds can be made to show a yearly net profit to the owner of $4 each, that a flock of 1,000 birds will net the owner $4,000, or 10,000 birds $40,000. Yet this is the manner in which inexperienced persons have calculated their profits on paper, and when in actuality these results have not been attained they have blamed the poultry industry rather than their own poor judgment.

No other class of livestock is kept so widely, and both on the farm and in the city lot, poultry consume much food material that would otherwise be wasted, converting it into very nutritious and palatable eggs and meat. On the farm, as a side line, a fair-sized flock of poultry occupies a distinctive place, for they may be kept to a considerable extent on land occupied by crops. There they not only obtain much free food but also benefit the crops by eating injurious bugs, grubs and worms. In general, throughout the country, the fowls are cared for by women and children and thus do not compete for labor with other lines of farming.

Tendency to Specialize. General farm conditions are favorable for a moderate sized flock, even the feeding and management often are given little expert attention. On the farm, range is abundant, buildings and trees offer protection from rain and high winds, and disease is less prevalent than where fowls are kept under more intensive conditions. The failure of large scale poultry plants has often

IMPORTANCE OF POULTRY INDUSTRY GROWING IN N. B.

Business is Now Largely Generalized But There is An Increasing Trend Toward Specialization

By F. LESLIE WOOD (Provincial Poultry Superintendent.)

THE poultry industry in New Brunswick is a generalized rather than a specialized industry. It is, however, one which is growing in importance, and if a thorough study is made of livestock statistics it will be found that poultry is the only branch of livestock which shows a consistent increase in population over a period of years.

At the present time farm flocks average only 25 or 30 laying fowls. Flocks of 100 birds are becoming fairly common and a very few are found where the number of mature fowls reaches five, six or seven hundred.

Specialized poultry raising requires considerable skill. The difficulties met with are losses due to contagious diseases which sweep occasionally through flocks, causing great loss, an excess in brooding and rearing which are much greater in flocks of several hundreds than they are with smaller numbers. WILL FLOAT LOAN

Belgian Chamber of Deputies Approves Plan to Raise $50,000,000.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 27.—The Chamber of Deputies has approved a plan to float a $50,000,000 loan in the United States. The approval was unanimous. Half the sum will be devoted to rebuilding the devastated areas. The other half will be divided between the National Bank of Belgium and the Congo. The money for the Congo will be expended for machinery.

Easy to Market. Poultry-keeping provides a variety of products that are always in demand. While the chief source of revenue is usually from the sale of market eggs, there is also to be considered the sale of hatching eggs, breeding stock, dressed and live poultry.

Poultry products are easy to market being bulky and always in good demand. Fowls give quicker returns for money invested than other classes of livestock owing to their early maturity, early productiveness and short life cycle.

Poultry-keeping appeals to, and is suitable for persons of either sex. It does not entail much manual labor and is often chosen by persons whose physical strength does not allow them to become engaged in more strenuous kinds of work. There are few more kind of occupations than poultry raising. The work may be exacting and require attention to details but it is not heavy work and being done largely in the open air is very healthful.

Few Disadvantages. Poultry-keeping increases the fertility of the soil. Poultry manure, when properly stored and saved, makes a valuable fertilizer; in fact it is the most valuable of the farm manures. Fowls use much food that would otherwise be wasted.

The disadvantages of poultry-keeping are few and may be summed up by saying that outbreaks of disease sometimes cause considerable losses, and that persons wishing to take up the occupation do not always have the required capital. The first mentioned disadvantage can largely be overcome by proper sanitation measures. Poultry-raising in New Brunswick offers one of the most, if not the most profitable branches of agriculture at the present time if properly managed. It requires skill, foresight, patience, experience, common sense, business knowledge, methodical methods, prompt attention to details, the ability to plan and carry out the plans. With these requirements no person should make a failure. Success or failure depends on the personality and ability of the manager.

4-DAY POULTRY COURSE WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

INDUSTRY SHOWN AS PROFITABLE SIDELINE

Banquet Tendered by Staff and Students of Vocational School Enjoyed.

WOODSTOCK, N.B., Feb. 27.—The short course on poultry husbandry held at the Carleton County Vocational School here during the last four days was brought to a close this afternoon after having enjoyed a high degree of success...

Given proper housing, combined with intelligent feeding and careful management and assuming that the fundamental factors, selection and breeding, have been given due consideration, poultry offers to the average farmer a profitable sideline, it was shown.

Reference was today made by E. C. MacMurtrie, of the Federal poultry division, to the great strides made by British Columbia in the matter of her poultry industrial development.

The final classes in the poultry judging competition were presented to those in attendance, and after all cards were handed in and the reasons duly submitted, the task of selecting the three persons attaining the highest scores for the week was taken over by Mr. Wood, provincial poultry superintendent, and Mr. Wilson, Federal poultry promoter.

Miss Evelyn Hale, Pembroke, was acclaimed the best poultry judge, while Walter Shippy, Lower Woodstock, was a close second. Miss Grace Mowatt, Connell Road, and Miss Jean Rogers, Northampton, were tied for third place.

A banquet tendered by the staff and students of the Vocational School, assisted by the local Women's Institute, was the occasion for a large gathering at the school in the evening.

Following the banquet an illustrated lecture was delivered by Mr. Wood, provincial poultry superintendent. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, music and dancing, the party breaking up at a comparatively late hour.

Hook-up For Inaugural Speech

Here are shown radio engineers at work at the great speech input and long distance panel at W.E.A.F., New York City, where the inaugural speech of President Coolidge will be received over a wire and then re-broadcast through stations all over the country.

The short course on poultry husbandry at the Carleton County Vocational School here was maintained during the third day's programme yesterday.

An interesting address was given by Mr. Wood, provincial poultry superintendent, on housing and sanitation as applied to poultry keeping.

Importance of Feeding.

G. R. Wilson, federal poultry promoter, gave a splendid lecture on the fattening of poultry for market. The importance of a proper knowledge of feeding methods and the avoidance of undue forcing were pointed out, and emphasis was laid upon the value of presenting the product in a form that would please the buyer.

Egg Production.

The first speaker of the afternoon was E. C. MacMurtrie, inspector of the federal poultry division in the Canadian Record of Performance Policy. Mr. MacMurtrie spoke on feeding of poultry for egg production. He dealt in an able manner with the many details so important to the production of eggs on an economic basis.

A banquet tendered by the staff and students of the Vocational School, assisted by the local Women's Institute, was the occasion for a large gathering at the school in the evening.

Following the banquet an illustrated lecture was delivered by Mr. Wood, provincial poultry superintendent. The remainder of the evening was spent in games, music and dancing, the party breaking up at a comparatively late hour.

HORSES ARE SAVED AS BARN IS AFIRE

Firemen Twice Called to Chesley Street to Dr. H. London's Property.

A barn in the rear of the dwelling of Dr. Harry London, V.S., at 171 Chesley street, was badly damaged by fire early last evening. Two horses in the structure were taken out safely. When the alarm from box 184 rang in the flames could be seen from King street and it was thought that a serious fire was in progress.

Two streams, one from Bentley and the other from Chesley street, were used, and the fire was kept from getting into surrounding property. The Salvage Corps used several covers in the house next to the fire.

The building on fire was close beside the bakery building of Dwyer Bros. Some smoke got into the bakery building but little damage was done other than to the barn.

The alarm was rung in at 9 o'clock and at 9.50 the all out was sounded. Shortly before one o'clock the firemen were again called to Chesley street, where the fire in the barn had started again. The flames again rose above the surrounding buildings and the fire department had an hour's hard work before the smouldering embers were totally soaked.

MACKENZIE'S CHARGE DRAWS DENIAL FROM N. S. PREMIER

Farmer Chieftain Takes Government Severely to Task for Recent Shuffles in Cabinet Portfolios

ARMSTRONG ACCUSES THE OPPOSITION

Prime Minister Declares Opponents of Government Doing the Country No Good by Crying About Stagnation and Depression and Keeping Silent on Advantages of Province

HALIFAX, Feb. 27.—Government and Opposition clashed for the first time this afternoon when the Legislative Assembly resumed the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. Premier Armstrong and D. G. MacKenzie, Farmer, Cumberland, leader of the Opposition, were the speakers and both were in excellent form.

Mr. MacKenzie scored the Government for leading the country into depression and stagnation. He charged reckless expenditures and intrigue. He styled party expediency as the curse of the country and criticized the methods of the Government in filling cabinet appointments.

Mr. Armstrong defended his treatment of the cabinet changes and accused Mr. MacKenzie of advancing a mountain of criticism without a particle of constructive suggestion.

He said the Opposition was doing the country no good by crying abroad that there was stagnation and depression in Nova Scotia while saying nothing about the advantages the province enjoyed.

The debate was adjourned by Fortman Way, Cape Breton, and the House adjourned until next Monday evening.

MacKenzie's Objections. Mr. MacKenzie attacked the manner in which recent cabinet shuffle had been effected. When Hon. D. A. Cameron had resigned his portfolio as Provincial Secretary Hon. Mr. Armstrong had taken it and vacated the Ministry of Works and Mines. Hon. William Chisholm, Minister of Highways, had taken the Works and Mines portfolio, and A. S. Millan, chairman of the highways board and not a member of either House, had been appointed to the Legislative Assembly and made Minister of Highways.

Mr. MacKenzie said he believed better men could have been selected to fill these important offices and thought the Minister of Highways should be a member of the Assembly and present to speak for his department on the floors of the House.

"Party Expediency." Party expediency, he complained, had been the compelling factor in these changes. "Party expediency had been the curse of the province," he added. "Party expediency has made the Government machine what it is today, a machine of rusted, worn out parts, and new parts are being put into it in an effort to make it work smoothly again. I feel sure, however, that this move will not meet with success."

Premier Armstrong replied that party expediency was applied in every party that ever existed in any country. He could not believe that the people of Nova Scotia would have suffered the so-called "curse" of party expediency for 40 years. It was an insult to the intelligence and independence of the people to say they had submitted to a "curse" for 40 years.

CHURCH WORK FOR 100TH BIRTHDAY

Plans For Renovation at Stone Church For Centenary Observance in September.

Plans for improvements in the church and for the painting of the interior of the church were approved at the annual meeting of the St. John (Stone) Church Workers' Association held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. G. Fred Fisher, president, in the chair. Gratifying reports of the year's work were received and it was shown that receipts had totalled about $2,800 while the chief money raising effort had been the sale and tea held in the fall. The 100th anniversary of the church will be observed on Sept. 11, and the members of the Church Workers' Association entered with enthusiasm into plans for having the church thoroughly in order and all improvements completed for the centenary celebration. The officers of the previous year were re-elected as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. A. L. Fleming; president, Mrs. Fred Fisher; vice-presidents, Mrs. Mrs. Sherwood Skinner; second, Mrs. T. E. G. Armstrong; secretary, Mrs. J. W. McKean, and treasurer, Miss C. O. McGivern.

His System Was Absolutely Cleared

SO SAYS ONTARIO YOUTH AFTER TAKING DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. Edward Dupuis suffered from kidney ailments and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

AULD, Ontario, Feb. 27.—(Special). "I took one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills and it did me so much good that I got a second box and it absolutely cleared my system."

I suffered from rheumatism and backache. I often had stiff joints and my joints and was always tired and nervous. My head also used to ache. I am never bothered now. This statement comes from Mr. E. Dupuis of this place.

Mr. Dupuis suffered from three of the various ills that accompany any kidney trouble. That's what he got prompt and permanent relief from Dodd's Kidney Pills. They act directly on the kidneys, strengthening them and enabling them to do their full work of straining all the impurities out of the blood. Impurities in the blood are the seeds of disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills make good health by removing the seeds of disease. Sound kidneys mean pure blood. Pure blood means good health.

Prophecies No Text Books In Ten Years

NEW YORK, Feb. 28.—In ten years text books as a medium for teaching will be as obsolete as the horse and carriage are now, Thomas A. Edison prophesies in an interview.

"Maybe I'm wrong," he states, "but I believe that in the next ten years visual education, the imparting of exact information through the motion picture camera, will be a matter of course in all our schools. The printed lesson will be largely supplemental, not paramount."

READY FOR TENDERS IN TWO WEEKS' TIME

THE St. John Vocational Committee met in conference with F. Neil Brodie, architect last night. Dr. L. M. Correa, M.L.A., chairman, presided and the committee went over the plans which have already been approved by the provincial authorities and which were passed by the committee.

Mr. Brodie said he could be ready to call for tenders in two weeks' time. The plans as they have been approved are very similar to those already described and show a gymnasium and an auditorium in the rear.

Dr. Correa said last night that several applications had already been received for the position of director of vocational education, but that the matter of an appointment would not come up for definite decision for some little time. He did not anticipate calling a meeting of the Vocational Committee until Mr. Brodie had something to report with regard to the tenders.

TRAIL RANGERS IN JOINT MEETING

Boys of Ludlow and Zion Churches Hear Speeches and Have Debate.

A joint meeting of Ahmeck and Iroquois Trail Rangers was held last evening in the Ludlow street Baptist church, West End. Frank W. Peer, Chief Ranger of Ludlow street church, who presided, welcomed the boys from Zion church. Short addresses were also given by Rev. W. A. Robbins and R. H. Parsons.

The chief speaker of the evening was Rev. F. M. Milligan, who delivered a gripping address on "The Boy and the Church."

A debate on "Resolved that the aeroplane is of more service to man than the automobile" brought forth an abundance of oratory. Messrs. Purdy, Clark and Purdy for Zion upheld the auto, while Everett Campbell, Frank Peer and Ken. Black for Ludlow spoke for the aeroplane. Rev. Mr. Milligan and Willard Hamilton were the judges and awarded the decision to Ludlow street.

Ernest Stay and Albert Purdy expressed appreciation of the kindness of Ludlow street boys. Dainty refreshments were served by Miss Evelyn Black and Miss Olive M. Parsons. Auld Lang Syne brought a very happy evening to a close.

CHARLIE GORMAN SHATTERS LONG STANDING INDOOR RECORD FLASHES AROUND TRACK IN SENSATIONAL BURST OF SPEED

Also Sets Rink Record in the 220 Yards—Willie Logan Wins Senior Title and C. O'Connor Intermediate

A new world's indoor record for 440 yards was established by Charlie Gorman in the Victoria rink last night, when he set up a mark of 36 4-5 seconds, which is the fastest time ever recorded by an amateur while in competition. The former record was held by Bobby McLean, time 37 3-5 seconds.

Gorman showed a great burst of speed and flashed around the circular track at a pace that astounded the many spectators. When it was announced that he had shattered McLean's long standing mark, thunderous applause re-echoed throughout the enclosure.

In the first special race in which Gorman hoped to establish a new record, he was pitted against Willie Logan, Canadian and International 18-year-old champion, and another local skater. They got away fast at the crack of the revolver with Logan leading and Gorman at his heels.

Gorman was feeling in the best of shape and decided that he would like another trial at the indoor record. His request was granted by Referee Frank White and the judges, with the result that he jumped into the lead at the start, leaving his competitors in the rear, and finally broke the tape in the time of 36 and 4-5 seconds.

Four official watches out of six had the time, which gave Gorman, the local speed king, a world's indoor record for the distance.

Gorman also broke the Victoria rink record for 220 yards when he skated the distance in 19 seconds flat. The former record was 19 2-5, held by Fred Logan.

Mix-Up In Boys Race. There was a mix up in the final for the 440 under 16 year olds. Harry Smythe of Moncton who made good at the Canadian championships at Toronto, also at the International meet at Saranac Lake, N. Y., placed for the final and when the starters gun fired he fell.

Frank White heard the protest from Smythe and after a conference with the judges, and Starter Brown, who explained he tried to call the skaters back but his revolver misfired, it was decided that Smythe should skate the distance alone, and if he made the time for the quarter mile as fast as the others had done there would be another final. This appeared satisfactory and the boys from the Railway town skated alone and made the time. The other skaters who had been in the final were given plenty of time and then called out to race, but with the exception of Smythe and Walter Miller the others remained in the dressing rooms and refused to compete.

Miller and Smythe were started and it was a beautiful race with Miller defeating the Moncton boy by about two feet in the final. Miller then won the championship for his class with Smythe second.

A Skate Off. At the conclusion of the programme it was learned that C. O'Connor and E. Sparks were tied in points for first place in the under 18 year old class so they agreed to skate off at a distance of 440 yards. O'Connor won out.

116 Contestants For Maritime Skating Championships Here

Along the Sport Trail

By RAY HANSEN

THE BIG skating meets are proving very popular with local fans. Last evening the New Brunswick championships were held in the Victoria rink and on Monday evening St. Peter's Y. M. A. will stage the Maritime championships in the Arena, and from all indications they will attract a record attendance.

BABE RUTH has every reason to long remember the old but true saying "every man to his own trade." A few days ago at Hot Springs he decided that as a golfer he had few equals especially among ball players. He got into a tiff with Goose Goslin of the world champion Senators and wagered $300 that he could defeat him in an 18 hole match. The two mighty sluggers started away with the Babe topping them, driving them into the rough, slicing and carrying low, middle and high.

GROVER CLEVELAND ALEXANDER, veteran pitching ace with the Chicago Nationals, has set his heart on winning 20 games this season. It will be his 19th start in the Major leagues and he is so eager to get in the pink of condition that he is already on the Pacific coast awaiting the arrival of the Cubs. Alexander sustained a bad injury to his wrist last season having quite badly shattered by a batted ball. This handicapped him towards the close of the season and he lost his effectiveness.

THE AMATEUR hockey authorities in the States have apparently the right idea of enforcing teams to live up to their obligations. A few days ago the Cleveland team of the U. S. Hockey League resented a decision handed down by the referee during their game with St. Paul and they left the ice refusing to finish the period. They contended they had notched a goal which the referee refused to allow and when their arguments failed they left the ice for a short time later.

THE SHAMROCK IV, Sir Thomas Lipton's last challenger for the cup, has gone the way of many other famous yachts and is now another victim of the marine junkies. It was supposed that it would be kept intact as a "trial horse" for the new challenger, which is to try for the coveted silverware next year. She was, however, showing signs of deterioration, her veneered wood hull of wicker construction, was separating and aluminum parts were getting chafed.

RECORD ENTRY LIST FOR MEET MONDAY NIGHT

Cups Valued at $300 Are Prizes For Title Contests

An imposing list of 116 entries for the Maritime amateur speed-skating championships next Monday night in the Arena under the auspices of the St. Peter's Young Men's Association has been completed and all that is needed to crown the efforts of the organizers with success is some good hard ice. The entry list constitutes a record for the season and speaks well for the effort being made by the St. Peter's Y. M. A. to regain its former commanding position in Maritime athletics.

In the senior class, there are 20 entries, a notable exception being Charles L. Gorman, St. John's skating ace. Gorman, however, may be on hand for exhibitions, but will not compete, leaving the field to the young skaters including Willie Logan, Canadian and International boy champion; Ed. Snodgrass, International 18 year old champion and star of the policemen's sports meet; Bernard O'Connor, Maritime champion in 1924; Roy Lawson and others.

Entries in the 220 and 440 yard races in the under 12 class are: P. try for the coveted silverware next year. She was, however, showing signs of deterioration, her veneered wood hull of wicker construction, was separating and aluminum parts were getting chafed.

Two postponed games were run off last night in the first and second league series. Doc Kelly and A. Sheehan defeated G. Murray and F. Cilly and J. Young and D. Corkery defeated T. Nugent and T. Griffin. D. Corkery substituted for A. O'Brien and Griffin for J. Henderson.

St. John Hockey Fans Get Eye Opener In Last Night's Game

St. John hockey fans got an eye opener in the Arena last evening when they saw the St. Johns play rings around the visiting New Glasgow team and win out by a score of 7 to 1. From the face-off until the match terminated the local boys showed speed and aggressiveness, an uncanny ability to break up rushes of their opponents and combination playing that was outstanding. They changed their style of play and the result speaks for itself. In the net they had one of the classic performers in the Maritime Provinces, Red Bidlake of Fredericton, who by his coolness, contortions, gameness and all around ability proved a veritable stonewall to the opposition. His stellar performance was one of the features of the game and if he should ever join the St. Johns he would be one of the most popular players that ever donned a uniform. There was only one discordant feature in the game and that came in the first period when Jimmy Gilbert and Referee Payne got into a mix-up. The fans were greatly incensed over the affair and called upon the referee to banish the St. Johns center. However, his trouble was overlooked and the game proceeded. The work of Brad Gilbert was a feature. The "oddtime" can show a few of them how to shoot as well as how to play defense. He is very popular with fans. Boudreau is another local boy who by his clean playing, brilliant stick handling and fast skating has won a place for himself with the followers of this great sport. His combination playing last evening was a real treat. How Scores Were Made. St. John scored twice in the first period, Boudreau tearing through the

STAGE AND SCREEN ATTRACTIONS IN ST. JOHN THEATRES

EMMA DEWEALE
TRACES NAME
TO NORMAN DAYS

Ancestor Accompanied William the Conqueror in British Invasion
GRANDFATHER WAS IN HALIFAX GARRISON
Carroll Character Woman Has Made Several Trips Through Maritimes.

When William the Conqueror crossed the English channel and, in 1066, by the Battle of Hastings put the sun of the Saxon ruler Harold into eclipse, there was one amongst his band of Norman followers named DeWeale, who had accompanied his distinguished leader through the conquest of Southern Italy and the invasion of Sicily, and achieving a notable name for bravery and courage. So it was when William ascended the British throne, that he bestowed upon his worthy henchman a rich estate in Warwickshire. And there was founded the British house of DeWeale, of which Miss Emma DeWeale, character woman of the P. James Carroll Players, is a direct descendant.

Although she was born in Boston, she still looks back with pride on a long and loyal line of British soldiers who were her forefathers and who served their sovereigns and their empire with distinction, not only at home and in its far-flung colonies, but in most of the campaigns in which British arms were utilized. And it is with much pride that Miss DeWeale—she still retains her maiden name—can look back on the fact that her own son, serving under the Stars and Stripes in the late war, followed in the footsteps of her grandfather, and her great grandfather, and so along the line back to their Norman forebear.

Grandfather Was in Halifax.
The first member of the family to come to the American continent was Miss DeWeale's grandfather who, as British army officer was placed in command of the garrison at Halifax, N. S., and remained there for some time. It was there that some of his children were born. Miss DeWeale's father, the youngest of the family, was born in England and later removed to Boston, where he engaged in business. Born and educated in the New England metropolis, Emma DeWeale during her early life took up the study of elocution seriously. While still in her teens she made her first appearance as a public reader at a benefit entertainment given by one of the fraternal organizations of Boston. She continued in this capacity for a few years and filled numberless engagements for a variety of objects.

Transfers to Stage.
From the platform to the stage was but a short step and it was not surprising therefore that, before she had well launched into her twenties, Miss DeWeale was struggling—they all struggled in those days—in the legitimate drama.

And so, since then, her time has been almost fully occupied between productions, both on the road and in fixed locations, and stock. Her leanings, however, are more towards stock because, as she puts it, "It gives one at least a semblance of a home and the opportunity of making congenial friends. Work on the road is one perpetual round of packing and unpacking, embarking and disembarking, with only very unsteady and very indefinite periods of respite for meals and sleep."

Is No Stranger Here.
Miss DeWeale is by no means a stranger in the Maritime Provinces; she has been down this way so many times that she declares she has lost count. When the name of Kirk Brown was almost a household one in these parts, Miss DeWeale was one of his aggregation and she recalls such people as Marguerite Fields, Theodore Bird, David Edwin, Henry Crosby, Harold Chase, Marjic Dow and others, whom theatregoers of the last decade or two have hardly forgotten. And every nook and corner of the St. John Opera House stage for her is filled with memories of former days and players with whom she appeared here.

In Nova Scotia, Too.
And in Nova Scotia, where her grandfather served his Queen, she is also well known. For three seasons—those of 1917-18, 1918-19 and 1919-20—she played in that province with a stock company under the management of E. V. Phalin, during the last two seasons of which she was associated with Edna Preston, last year leading woman here and this year still under the Carroll banner in Halifax.
It was in Halifax that Miss DeWeale joined the Carroll organization, handling the female character parts for that company for a great portion of last season, so it was without hesitation that she accepted Mr. Carroll's proposition to be a member of the St. John company this year. She also worked with him during one summer season at Bangor.

Son in Great War.
Miss DeWeale's son, Frank Fey, although but 19 years of age, was one of the members of the first U. S. overseas contingent during the war, serving with the 102nd Machine Gun Battalion from Massachusetts until he was shell-shocked and gassed early in 1918. It was not until after the armistice that

THEATRES AFFECTED
BY WINTER SPORTS

Radio Also Has Influence on Attendance But Cas. is, After All, Main Issue.

In a recent issue of a leading theatrical paper a survey of the Canadian theatrical situation was reported. The chief reason given for backwardness in business was the popularity of skating and other outdoor winter sports, an international vogue for the past two or three winters, reaching a new height the season now tapering off. This condition applied from the far east of Nova Scotia to Calgary, and the reports from the milder climates of the country across the Rockies seem to be in keeping with the same conditions.

Eastern theatrical people, while they realize the opposing power of outdoor amusements, are inclined to attribute much of this winter's slump to other conditions, and the general scarcity of plain old-fashioned "spending money," otherwise the family's plus of funds that used to be forthcoming without skipping or worry.

Radio Also Factor.
The "radio menace," with which some theatrical papers have been dealing a great deal the last year, is still no doubt a drawback to the theatre and movie houses, since programmes of music and other entertainment keep whose families at the household fire-side. Altogether, the show business has been having more downs than ups in the last two years, with no relief in the ways of expenses.

he was able to leave hospital and return home in the footsteps of his mother, he adopted the stage as his profession and spent the 1919-20 season with her as a member of the Phalin company at Halifax. Mr. Fey is now spending a few weeks with his mother here. So severe was his case of shell-shock during the war that that madly, chosen from all the U. S. veterans for medical observation at Harvard University.

Likes the Maritimes.
"I like this part of the country," Miss DeWeale told The Times man. "I suppose I have spent so much time here that I have become really acquainted; but, really, I liked the people from the start. They have always been kind to us and very generous in their appreciation of the efforts which we always make to please them. I have been very happy during my three seasons with Mr. Carroll—he seems to have the happy faculty of picking the most congenial people for his companies—and I hope that I shall be spared to work for many more years with him."

VITAGRAPH WINS
IN $50,000 ACTION

Suit For Damages Brought by Community Association Dismissed.

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 28.—The action for $50,000 damages filed against Vitagraph by the Community Amusement Association has been dismissed. The plaintiff is generally held to be the storm centre of the free shows situation in the Northwest.

The action was brought for alleged breach of contract, Community claiming that Vitagraph failed to live up to an agreement for service. Vitagraph refused to supply the pictures, alleging that Community was about to enter towns that had theatres, contrary to the original agreement. When the distributors decided not to supply the pictures, suit was instituted.

A similar action against Selnick has been dismissed, but there yet remains a damage suit against "Greater Amusements."

DUTY AND PLEASURE. One little boy was standing near the entrance to the armory this morning and was asked in by Miss Mary Gunn, who conducts the story-telling hour there on Saturday mornings. The little fellow shook his head and said, "I have to go to the beach to pick up coal, but perhaps I can hurry and get in before it is all over." Off he ran and Miss Gunn was pleased to see him arrive in time for the second story. He was out of breath with hurrying, but enjoyed his half hour of pleasure after keeping his promise to mother to pick up enough coal for her to cook the dinner for the family.
