ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE, TORONTO, ONT.

ST. MICHAEL'S COLLEGE was established in 1852 by the Basilian Fathers from Annonay, France, at the request and under the patronage of the late Most Rev. Dr. De Charbonnel, then Bishop of Toronto. For four years the College occupied the wing of St. Michael's Palace on Church street. In 1856 a more suitable edifice was erected on the present site which was partly the gift of the late Hon. John Elmsley. Since that time the building has been more than doubled in size; and the chapel attached to the College has been also enlarged and improved. The location is one of the most beautiful and healthy in the City of Toronto.

The object of the Institution is to impart a thorough Catholic training, moral and intellectual, so as to fit young men for any position in life which they may wish to occupy.

The studies advancing steadily with the educational progress of the country, it was deemed to be to the advantage of those studying for the liberal professions to have the College affiliated with the Provincial University. In 1881 this affiliation was effected upon a basis similar to that of several of the Catholic Colleges of England and Ireland with the London University. An Act was passed in 1887 by the Local Legislature, according to which the same relations were maintained with the University, and provision for the teaching of certain departments in the curriculum was made by the Government. A confederating college may avail itself of this teaching or not, according to its own convenience. An examination before the University examiners is required in order that students may matriculate. The examinations of the second and third years are passed before the College authorities, whose certificates are received by the University Senate. At the end of the first and the fourth year the University Board examines. Throughout the course all the lectures in Mental and Moral Philosophy and History are given at St. Michael's College, so that the education is purely Catholic. The following University statute was lately passed providing for the fourth year examinations in Mental and Moral Science:—"In the honor department of Mental and Moral Philosophy of the fourth year the Senate shall institute two distinct examinations on the two systems of Philosophy taught in the confederating arts colleges." Thus all the examinations in Mental and Moral Science are upon the matters taught in St. Michael's College, upon the successful passing of which, a student may obtain a degree from the Provincial University of Toronto.

STUDIES.

The course of study comprises, besides an Elementary Department, three Departments, viz.: the Commercial, the Classical, and the Philosophical.

Since it is most important that every Catholic of education should possess a thorough knowledge of our religion, all possible care is taken to make this branch complete, and students have every opportunity of learning well the grand moral and dogmatic principles of our Holy Church. Christian Doctrine forms an essential subject in all the Departments. Besides a special class each week, some time is devoted to it every day.

Lessons in elocution are given by a professor to the advanced students of the various Departments.

Students are required to pass a satisfactory examination before a certificate is given.
