CLCLOUD IN SKY OF QUEBEC LIBERALS

Premier Gouin Wants to Bring on Provincial Contest Before Federal DANGER IN THAT Quebec Opposition Likely to Show Big Gains, in Which Case Laurier's Star Would Seem to be Waning—No Longer Any "Solid Quebec"—Big Influence of New Brunswick Elections.

(Special Correspondence of The Telegraph).

Quebec, March 14.—The result of the New Brunswick elections is much mused in political circles in this province. How to maintain Quebec "solid for Laurier" is a fruitful subject of discussion. How to keep the support of the Liberal party in the province is another topic. The Liberal party in Quebec is not without its difficulties. The party is not without its difficulties. The party is not without its difficulties.

CATTLE DISEASE HELPS EMBARGO

London cable to the New York Herald says: The recent discovery of cattle-disease in Scotland is a grave disappointment to the cattle breeders and others who have been for several years agitating for a relaxation of the embargo on live cattle from the United States, Argentina and Canada.

It is feared that it will be a long time now before the board of agriculture will lend a friendly ear to the pleas and arguments of those who desire to see the removal of restrictions on the importation of live stock. Some of the familiar arguments are now quite obsolete. Dead meat can be brought from America and sold in the large towns of England at a cheaper rate than meat killed in England.

The government says that granted that foreign grown meat can be introduced from America and other countries into Great Britain and be sold at prices which pay the foreign growers, there is no longer any advantage to introduce it alive rather than dead.

It is now generally admitted that meat from America can be carried to England in as good condition as though the cattle were brought alive to London or Bickenhead and then slaughtered. Indeed, it has long since been proved that the carriage of meat in good condition is a very much easier problem than the carriage of live cattle in good condition, and that meat necessarily takes less room when dead than when alive. The cost of conveyance is less and the profit to the seller greater.

It used to be said that it would be impossible to apply the same principles of packing to a rise in price not much less than that caused by the plague itself. Meat is cheaper in England today than it was a few years ago, and it is not so much as it was in the days of the plague. It is not so much as it was in the days of the plague.

COOKE FINDS FIGHT TOO HARD FOR HIM

Minister Who Elop'd With Floretta Whaley Says Knowledge That He is an Outcast is Too Much.

San Francisco, March 15.—Jere K. Cooke, the depositor pastor of the Episcopal church at Hempstead, (L. I.), who eloped with Floretta Whaley, a year ago, and who, it is said, telegraphed yesterday to Mrs. Kaziah Whaley, the girl's grandmother, for help, and that he and his family were ill and destitute, was located in this city today.

The couple were found living in a suite of rooms in Masonic avenue, well to left appearances and with comfortable surroundings. The baby alone looked pale and peaked, but the parents attributed this to the hot weather.

After an interview the former reporter admitted that he had telegraphed for help and that the struggle of life had been too much for him, and that he had made a failure of everything.

"We are different from the others," said Cooke. "We cannot ask friends to help us, because we threw aside friends. We laughed at the world—and the world will laugh at us. Lately I have begun to realize that no man, however strong he may be or however great may be his incentive, can buck the world. It is older than us, and stronger."

In reply to the question: "You are controllable and seemingly have all you want?" he said:

"It is not a matter of material comfort; it is the knowledge that one is an outcast. It is the understanding that the kind hearted you are an object of charitable curiosity, and to the others just a simple card. These are things which no man can fight. It is the world that is against me. I have no friends here. I have no friends here. I have no friends here."

Cooke has some friends who say that as soon as it is known that he is in want there will be no trouble about his getting everything he needs. They say that he is only by reason of the fact that he has not told any one of his straits that he is in trouble.

Forest Protection.

The announcement to the forestry convention by Hon. Sydney Fisher that the government proposed to make of practical effect the entire eastern slope of the Rocky Mountains a forest reserve, was deservedly applauded by the members of the association. We cannot now take too many pains to conserve this invaluable form of national wealth. The Rocky Mountain reserve is not to be locked up from the people; it is to be made available to the government and "cropped" for such timber as can be safely taken in a scientific manner. This is a modern policy which must well be extended to a large area.

Robert Meighen made a practical suggestion indicating a way in which both federal and provincial governments might prevent the inevitable destruction of much standing timber which now threatens. He pointed out that the new transcontinental railway is being run through hundreds of miles of the best timber lands, and expressed the fear that it would lead to many disastrous forest fires if care were not taken to hinder them. He did not fear the spark from the locomotive, but the carelessness of construction gangs, and urged that suitable precautions be taken to prevent such a catastrophe.

The business of the men who are in touch with the facts in this duty of forest protection, we to stir up the people and compel the attention of governments. It is only our ignorance of the facts which enables us to be so careless, as a people, as we are in this matter. When W. W. Price, assistant chief of the American department of forestry, tells us that the timber available for supply stands in the United States will be used up in twenty or thirty years at the present rate of consumption, we ought to begin to understand that a treeless monopoly we have in our possession.

GRAIN CUTTING WITHOUT INTERRUPTIONS

WHEN the grain is ripe you want to get it off the stalk as fast as possible, and you want to do it without any interruption. The Deering binder does this for you. These newspapers advocate: British connection Honesty in public life Measures for the material progress and moral advancement of our great Dominion No graft! No deals! "The Thistle, Shamrock, Rose and the Maple Leaf forever."

LIVELY POLITICS: The people of Newfoundland are not in their normal condition unless they have the liveliest kind of a political campaign in progress.

He also sets forth a political platform with no less than thirty planks. It may be explained that Sir Edward was a member of the Bond government, but retired in July last because of a difference of opinion in the cabinet over the question of raising the wage of laborers throughout the island to $1.25 per day.

The whangdoodle of Bell Shute and the Lie Factory on Duckworth Street are working overtime to boom the Tories' new-found leader, Sir E. P. Morris, but the public won't enthuse with a cent.

There is, however, another side to the story. The St. John's Telegram, which is printed on pink paper, is particularly lurid in its denunciation of Sir Edward Morris, whom it describes as a traitor, and of the editor of the News and all who are in any way politically associated with them.

selling the country's assets. Twelve months later he joined with the present government in passing an Act to undo the Railway Deal that he had left his party to support; and today he is black-guarding through his henchman, P. T. McGrath, the government that passed that Act, while he himself sat in that government for eight years, approved every line of the Act and if he has not enforced its provisions he has pretended to do so.

The Telegram charges that Sir Edward received a Counsel's fee of Six Thousand Dollars in the Arbitration of 1902, and another Five Thousand Five Hundred Dollars in the Telegraph Arbitration of 1904, and that he is now looking for more. We quote again: "Sir Robert Bond is regarded by the Morris-Morison gang with exactly the same disfavor that a gang of thieves contemplates a policeman; but the people know in whom their safety lies, and they are not likely to supplant an able and honest man with one whose equitability has been frequently demonstrated."

Although Sir Edward Morris is in his platform declares for "the maintenance of self-government and no confederation with Canada," the Telegram refuses to accept his statement. It declares that he has been an exceptionally friendly terms with the Reids, and that the Reids, the Canadian Pacific Company and the Dominion government would use every effort to bring about the union of the colony with Canada; and adds: "It would be to their interest that such union should take place, and they even now find Sir Wilfred Laurier doing out the prospects of such union to the Canadian electors in the event of his party being returned at the polls. The Canadian people as a whole are continually showing their anxiety for the union of this colony and when the opportunity offers, every effort on their part will be used to complete the bargain. We have, therefore, to warn the electors to be on their guard and to keep a close eye on the developments that may take place within the next few months, and it is well for them to seriously consider the dangers of placing the power in the hands of men like Sir Edward Morris."

The stupendous effrontery of Sir E. P. Morris in appealing to the electors of this colony to place him at the head of affairs, in view of his past treachery, is only exceeded by the colossal gain, the one hundred thousand horse power impudence of his man Friday in assuming that he can persuade the electorate that Sir Edward and his Tory moss-backs are actuated by any motives other than love of loot as they were in 1897.

CRIME IN ENGLAND: The criminal statistics of England and Wales for the year 1906, issued as a Blue Book, show, says the Edinburgh Scotsman, that the number of persons tried for indictable offences was 59,079, as against 54,667 in 1905, when the present form of criminal return was adopted, but in fifty years the population had increased from nineteen and a quarter millions to thirty-four and a half millions, and proportionately to population thefts had diminished about forty per cent.

THE SUFFRAGISTS: The woman suffragists scored a victory in the British House of Commons on February 28, when Mr. Stanger's bill was read a second time. It simply provides that in all acts relating to the qualification and registration of voters, wherever the masculine gender occurs, the same should be held to include women, and that women should not be disqualified by reason of marriage. It is true that the second reading does not dispose of the question. Indeed, the vote had no sooner been taken than Mr. Stanger moved that the bill be referred to the committee of the whole House, and this is regarded by many as having converted the vote into a more open expression of opinion. The fact remains, however, that 271 voted for the bill, and only 92 against it. This is certainly a significant expression of opinion from so important a body as the British House of Commons.

BRITISH POLITICS: The despatches have already stated that the Unionists captured a parliamentary seat in Hastings, and have explained that the dear loaf had something to do with it. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman had declared that the adoption of the Unionist policy of protection, or preferential trade, would increase the price of bread, and at two previous elections in Hastings the Liberals had won the seat. This time, however, the Unionists were able to point to the fact that the price of bread had very materially increased under the premier's own policy, and they asserted that had a preferential policy been adopted, the advance would not have taken place. It is interesting now, in view of the result of the campaign, to note the arguments presented in favor of the government candidate. There was a straight attack upon anything that seemed to suggest the adoption of a protective policy, and the free traders were appealed to with all the well-worn arguments of former years. The following paragraphs quoted from the Hastings correspondence of a London paper, issued a few days before the election, may be taken as an illustration of the arguments presented on behalf of the government: "Mr. Du Cros says: 'Taxation of foreigners instead of ourselves.' Any sensible man knows that we cannot tax foreigners by fiscal reforms or 'tariff reforms.' Protection, whichever they choose to call it, but that any important duty the Protectionists propose to put on things coming from abroad must tax ourselves. No town in England would suffer more from a protective tariff, as it is called (but which in reality, means a cloak for the constitution of combines and trusts, which tend to make the rich richer and the poor poorer) than Hastings, and similar resorts. The Free Trade Union has today a capital leader, as expected shortly by the people, as it touches Hastings so closely, and the moral of which is Protectionists want to tax you, your means of living, and your customers in order to put more money into the pockets of the wealthy landowners and speculators, who run the Tariff Reform League."

Despite these appeals the government candidate was defeated. Yesterday morning's papers contain a report of a significant speech by Lord Esher, his lordship is as much a free trader in theory as he had been in the past, but he sees danger ahead, not so much from the Protectionists as from the Socialists, and he declared in the most unqualified way that it might be possible that the country would have to adopt protection as a safe-guard against the extreme folly of socialism. In other words, his lordship foresees the possibility of the adoption of a large section of the Liberal party to that of the Unionists in the next general election, for the Socialists are extremely active, and have made such gains in parliamentary representation that, though greatly divided among themselves, they yet threaten to become a formidable factor in the politics of the United Kingdom.

Another interesting fact to be noted in connection with British politics at present time is the announcement that while Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman is expected shortly to give up the premiership because of increasing ill-health, his great opponent, Mr. Chamberlain, who has been so often reported as entirely out of politics, is recovering his health, and looking forward to an active resumption of his place in public affairs. The Liberal government has arrived at a critical stage in its career, and the developments of the present year will be watched with the keenest interest throughout the empire.

A Western Example: New Brunswick people who are anxious that something should be done in this province to check the ravages of tuberculosis, and to provide for the care of patients, will doubtless derive some encouragement from the remarkable success of a similar movement within the last year in British Columbia. It is a most gratifying record that is spread upon the report submitted at the first annual meeting of the British Columbia Anti-Tuberculosis Society held recently in Victoria. The reports of the directors state that the society was incorporated early last year, and a meeting held in May. A committee was then appointed to inspect proposed sites for a sanatorium reported in July in favor of a ranch at Tranquille, which was secured by paying down the sum of $25,000 for the payment of the balance, and the houses on the place were reconstructed for the accommodation of consumptive patients. At the same time a manager of the farm, which consists of 600 acres, with 8,000 acres more under lease from the dominion, which is held to secure outright, was appointed. In the two buildings was accommodated sixteen patients, and six more were soon added. Applications for admission became so pressing that cottages were built to accommodate six more patients, and still later provision was made for four more, or twenty-six in all. No further provision can be made until more general executive quarters are built, and this course was decided on at the annual meeting. The following is an extract from the directors' report: "As may be seen from the financial statement there has been collected from all sources $53,475.20, there has been expended up to December 31, 1907, $31,259.58, leaving a balance to our credit of $22,215.62. This money has been subscribed 215.82. We are endeavoring to meet present demands in buildings unsuited to effective handling cases of consumption and entirely inadequate to the numbers of cases seeking admission. The government have contributed $10,000 towards the building of a hospital for advanced consumptives. The board of directors fully recognize the great and pressing need of such an institution, and recommend the court of governors to direct and give full powers to the incoming board to build and equip a hospital for advanced consumptives." The farm manager was able to show a good profit on the year's farm work. He stated that expenditures on the farm had been $2,619.85 and the receipts from sale of produce, cattle, etc., had been $5,225.22, leaving a balance in favor of the farm of $2,605.37. On December 31 there was the following live stock on the ranch, cattle, 600 head, horses 65 head, sheep 18 head, pigs 12, fowl 250. On the same date there was on the ranch 300 tons of hay, 200 boxes of apples and 20 tons of vegetables, the whole valued at $4,225. New buildings were needed, however, especially in connection with live stock and dairy production, and these will be constructed. With abundant timber on the property the cost of erecting needed buildings will be relatively small. The medical superintendent reported that the cost per month for maintenance of patients is about $55. Some of the first two will be discharged within the next two or three months. A summary of the weights, including those who have been under treatment ten weeks or over shows the following facts: "Total gain for sixteen patients, 181 pounds; average gain per patient, 11.13; gross gain, $36.45; net gain, $21.12. Eight patients who had cough on admission have lost it and seven who have expectoration, are now free of it."

NOTE AND COMMENT: The Robinson government is keeping the faithful in sad suspense. Are those appointments to be or not to be made? If the United States should be compelled to face another coal strike, 1908 would be a rather bad year for industry in that country.

FIDELITY AND EFFICIENCY: Speaking in Boston last week, Governor Hughes of New York gave a most forcible utterance to thoughts which are as timely as they are far-reaching. He pointed out the need of a movement in the realm of business and politics. That which he puts into words is also being translated into action and the province of New Brunswick has furnished one of the most recent instances. We quote: "Men who will prey upon minority stockholders or abuse the trust that are committed to them in our great financial enterprises will prey upon the people if they have a chance. Whether powers of supervision and regulation will be wisely exercised depends, not upon the words of the statute book, but upon the character of the supervisors and regulators. 'Between the man who attempts to fool the people in order to get rich and the man who attempts to fool the people in order to get office; between him who seeks his personal profit through an abuse of his trust as director, and the man who uses public office to serve himself or his personal friends, there is nothing to choose.' 'The people are tired of bores; of the use of political machinery to place men in office for the purpose of serving special interests; of the use of public prerogatives for private gain, and of the prostitution of grants of power to selfish advantage. The people will insist that the watchword of every department of government must be fidelity and efficiency.' Fidelity and efficiency are the watchwords which the people of New Brunswick have given to the new government, which will probably be formed this week for its guidance in the administration of public affairs. After a long period in which the province has been the scene of the highest interests of the province had become more and more apparent, the mandate for reform has been given. It was not a mere party triumph the press announced on March 4th, and the new premier could make no greater mistake than to listen to purely partisan or sectional appeals in the formation of his cabinet and the governmental policy. He cannot afford to be wholly influenced by such appeals as that of the man who says: 'I did that for you and you must do this for me.' The man or the constituency which thrusts the purely selfish consideration into the foreground is placing a stumbling block in the way of better government, and doing the new premier a great disservice. Any political reformer might well envy the opportunity now given to Mr. Hazen to say no to the selfish place hunter, and appeal from him to an aroused public sentiment in favor of the man who can be trusted to offer honest and intelligent devotion to the public interests. If any man in the victorious party were so eager to advance his personal interests as to insist upon securing a place in the cabinet, and by his insistence embarrass the premier, he would be the very sort of man who should be left on the outside. Happily there is no indication of friction in this respect. The new premier is to have a free hand. He is of course made aware of the views of his followers, which is perfectly right; but as their views are practically certain to differ in some respects he must make the final choice; and that choice should be determined by fitness rather than loyalty. There will be no 'pickings' for the member of Mr. Hazen's cabinet, nor any sacrifice of public interests for the benefit of their friends. This cabinet will be on trial as no cabinet has been for a quarter of a century. It has pledged to fulfill and abuses to reform. The people demand a clear statement of the condition of affairs in the various departments, and a return to business-like methods of administration. Reputation will be made or marred during the next twelve months. The men called to office must spare themselves, nor permit themselves to be the servants of any personal or selfish interest. The sneer that men cannot be honest and be in politics must be discarded by the government. The slavish fear that this or that interest or class or constituency may be alienated must not influence the conduct of the members. No man in Canadian politics has risen more rapidly in public esteem than Premier Whitney of Ontario, and his strongest characteristic is the frank courage with which he takes his stand upon every question, and stakes the fortunes of the government upon the decision. That is what New Brunswick wants today. The new government must be a strong one determined to perform its tasks with fidelity and efficiency. Its members can well afford to devote the time and effort necessary to make a record for clean and progressive administration, for they will be establishing a precedent that will count for much in the subsequent history of their native province. To them is commended a sacred trust and a great responsibility. Let us conclude with another splendid paragraph from the address of Governor Hughes, trusting that it may apply to our own people and the conditions here: "There will be no going back. The people are intent on the proper administration of public office, the recognition of the supremacy of public rights, the discharge of public obligations, and the elimination of the abuses of public privilege. They also desire to encourage thrift and to reward industry; to make every man secure on what he has honestly acquired, to give every incentive to honorable effort. Reason and patience, investigation and study, constant insistence upon fair opportunity for all and partiality for none, true democratic sympathy and genuine desire that the success of each may mean an advantage of all, and the inculcation of the patriotism of peace and devotion to the maintenance of our institutions—these are the safeguards of our stability and the assurance of our future."

Toronto city's share of the receipts of the street railway company's revenue for February was $31,142.24. This, says the News, was an average of $1,074 per day, compared with $936 per day in February, 1907, and $420 per day in February, 1905. The following table shows the relative advances made since that time:

Mr. Hugh Clark, M. P. P., in an address before the Progressive Club in Toronto, said on the subject of prison reform: "Ontario is twenty-five years behind the leading states of the American Union in this regard." He advocated a farm on which the prisoners could work, and the conversion of the "prison" into the "reformatory." He also told his hearers of the methods pursued in several states, pointing out how every effort is put forth to redeem the man, and save the country a citizen.

Says the Montreal Gazette: "The London County Council has instituted a movement to make its great city better from a religious and moral point of view. The task is a heavy one, not that London is proportionately more wicked than other great cities or that it has fewer good men in it than are to be found in communities of equal number elsewhere. While great masses of people are congregated in one centre, however, sin gives countenance to sin and indifference to religion is encouraged by indifference, so that the appeal of duty loses some of the force it has when the delinquent stands by himself or with only a few associates. There will be hope that the present movement will have some success, not only because many good men are united with it, but because there are behind it, able men who in the discharge of their public duties are generally in circumstances led to think of by-laws and enactments rather than of appeals to conscience as a means to the end."

CURES FOUR BY HIS SIMPLE FAITH PLAN: Rev. Dr. Herbert N. Hopkins of New York, at Second Lenten Prayer Treat, etc. Meeting, Reports Good Results. (N. Y. Herald.) Four cases of cure or marked improvement in illness were reported to a large congregation last night by the Rev. Dr. Herbert N. Hopkins, pastor of the Church of the Holy Nativity, Protestant Episcopal, at Bainbridge avenue and Woodlawn road, the Bronx, at the second of the seven "faith cure meetings" that are to be held during Lent by Dr. Hopkins. The first of the series of meetings was held a week ago last night. The physical manifestations of the efficacy of prayer, said Dr. Hopkins had resulted since the first meeting.

had remarks: "In this connection it may be said the indications point to a probable awakening at no very distant period of the Woman's Associations of Canada on the question of the suffrage. For a long time past exchanges of opinion on the subject have been quietly going on in Ontario, Quebec, British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces, and more particularly in the province of Quebec, and the growth of sentiment in favor of Woman suffrage has been most marked."

Discussing the proposed Georgian Bay canal and its possible effect on United States trade, the New York Journal of Commerce takes this cheerful American view: "The bulk grain trade will become view: 'The bulk grain trade will become of relatively less importance to New York as time goes on, and what the Georgian Bay development in the Canadian North-west. If this waterway plan is successfully carried out it will doubtless be important to the dominion, but it is doubtful if it will be of much consequence to the United States unless our own opportunities are neglected.'"

NOTE AND COMMENT: The Robinson government is keeping the faithful in sad suspense. Are those appointments to be or not to be made? If the United States should be compelled to face another coal strike, 1908 would be a rather bad year for industry in that country.

THE CONVENTION: The Liberal convention which is to be held in this city on April 21st, will be for many reasons a most interesting affair. The decision of Dr. Pugsley to raise the federal issue in the recent provincial election, without first having received the consent and support of the Liberal party as a whole, resulted in disaster to himself as the self-constituted leader of the party. He will be called upon at this convention to explain to Liberals like Senator Ellis and Mr. Turgeon, why he invoked the Liberal party in the disaster, which overwhelped the Robinson government on March 3. After full explanation, and the promise of more prudent conduct in the future, the minister may be able to rally around him his Liberal forces of the province for the work of the federal campaign, which cannot now be very long delayed. Indeed, the calling of this convention may be an indication that the general elections are to be brought on during the summer of this year, and that the Liberal party, in the opinion of Dr. Pugsley and others of his party, the provincial elections really did make a significant difference in the national political situation. The announcement of the convention will, no doubt, be made the most of by the Conservative press, in support of its contention that the defeat of the Robinson government may be accepted as a reasonable forecast of what will happen in this province when the federal government appeals to the people.

Ottawa, March 15.—Sir Frederick Borden, in a question of privilege, called attention to a misstatement in an Ottawa Citizen editorial of the 13th inst. regarding the Ross rifle, in which it was stated that in the war office papers for 1906 there was a report on a test of the Ross rifle which showed the latter to be inferior to the Lee-Enfield rifle, which the imperial troops are armed. The Citizen editorial in question had accused the minister of militia of having neglected the matter and of having kept back from parliament the information which it contained. It was stated that since this volume reached the parliamentary library, it had been clandestinely abstracted therefrom without any one knowing where it had gone. The minister of militia stated in regard to the foregoing that he was informed by the parliamentary librarian: (1) That all reports of this kind had ever been received in the parliamentary library; (2) That all the war office papers for 1906 which had reached the library were still on the shelves. CHICAGO BANKER

Chicago, March 15.—John R. Walsh, former president of the Chicago National Bank of this city and convicted of illegal use of the funds of that institution, was yesterday denied a new trial by Judge Anderson of the United States district court and sentenced to serve five years in the federal penitentiary at Fort Leavenworth.

Attorneys for the defence entered a motion in arrest of judgment which they argued for some time. It was generally thought about the court room that they would consume two or more hours in giving their reasons for the granting of the motion, but Attorney Hart, who presented it, ceased speaking in about thirty minutes. Judge Anderson then promptly overruled the motion and sentenced Walsh to banish to five years in Fort Leavenworth.
The charges against Walsh grew out of a doeing in 1905 of the Chicago National Bank of which Walsh was president, and its allied institutions, the Home Savings Bank and the Equitable Trust Company. Walsh was accused of having lent funds of the Chicago National Bank and its allied institutions aggregating some sixteen millions of dollars on fictitious and insufficiently secured notes to nearly a score of struggling enterprises which he himself had founded and practically owned. Many of the notes, it developed at the trial, were signed without authority in the names of various employees of Walsh. Walsh on the witness stand, admitted nearly all of the transactions charged against him, but claiming the defence that all he did was for the good of the bank he headed and that all of the loans proved good and that he lost nothing in consequence of them. The trial covered a period of nine weeks.
Mr. Walsh's three banks, the deposits of which aggregated $28,000,000, were declared insolvent Dec. 18, 1905. Mr. Walsh, John M. Smyth, and Maurice Rosenfeld, the latter being a director in the Chicago National Bank, pledged their private fortunes, aggregating $5,000,000, and the associated bankers of Chicago guaranteed the Walsh liabilities, so far as the deposits were concerned. It was not generally known until weeks afterward that the man who prompted this manifestation of public spirit was the late Marshall Field, who was depositing at $1,000,000 the Home Savings Bank at $100,000, and the Equitable Trust Company at $500,000.
Negotiations between Mr. Walsh and the Clearing House Association were wound up last April. The Walsh securities proved to be worth more in the open market than had been supposed, and some were turned back to the former banker while the associated banks retained, at book value, something like $4,500,000 worth of the assets. In the meantime the government delegated National Bank Examiner, E. P. Moxey to overhaul the books of the banking institutions and the Walsh corporations. In Mr. Moxey's report the bank examiner declared that up on many of his properties Mr. Walsh had issued a vast amount of watered stock—something like $30,000,000—which had been voted by Mr. Walsh by the directors appointed by him. Mr. Walsh's arrest, Wood's Hole, Mass., Mar. 15.—The revenue cutter Mohawk arrived here this morning from New Bedford after having put agent Johnson of the Red Star Line on the British steamer Silvia, which stranded on Sow and Pigs Ledges at the entrance of Vineyard Sound yesterday.

Agent Johnson is of the opinion that it is extremely doubtful if the vessel can be saved, owing to her being in such an exposed position. She is heading to the northeast, lies about 80 yards northwest of the buoy and is full of water and aft.

The tug I. J. Merritt, with lighter Chitenden, arrived at Cuttyhunk by daylight this morning and immediately began the work of removing the cargo from the vessel's hold. There was a heavy swell on and the tug Merritt and the lighter were being grinded badly on the bottom. At noon a heavy southwest gale sprang up which so interfered with the work of the tug Merritt that the lighter was abandoned. Efforts will now be directed towards saving all possible of the vessel's cargo before the cutter returns.

The crew, owing to the fact that their sleeping quarters were under water, did not remain on board last night, but were taken ashore at Cuttyhunk by the lighters, returning to the steamer at daylight this morning.
A diver has been at work today making an examination of the hull and outside of the steamer, but his report is unobtainable on account of the southwesterly gale which has been blowing since early this morning. It is believed that the ship was not damaged beyond repair.

The light-keeper at Cuttyhunk reported at sunset tonight that the seas were making a clean breach over the Silvia.
The Cuttyhunk life saving crew rendered great assistance today in carrying messages back and forth between the wreck and the mainland.

At 6 o'clock the crew of the Silvia were all brought ashore to the life-saving station at Cuttyhunk. They stated it as their belief that the Silvia would probably go to pieces tonight.

Passengers Taken Off.
Her passengers who were taken off by the boats of the United States revenue cutter Mohawk, left Cuttyhunk and were carried to New Bedford, where they remained in hotels and lodging houses awaiting arrangements which are to be made by the steamship company for forwarding them to their destinations. All the light baggage belonging to the passengers was taken away with them.

Among the passengers on the Silvia were the crews of two wrecked vessels, the steamer Beta, which went ashore on Turkey Island, and the schooner Marjorie J. Sumner, from Weymouth (N. S.), which was wrecked in West Indian waters, not long ago.

Among the passengers on the wrecked Silvia was Wendell Gray, son of Dr. J. H. Gray, of Fairville. The lad although only eighteen, has been at sea two years, and is one of the crew of the wrecked schooner Marjorie J. Sumner.

THREE ITALIANS SENT TO DORCHESTER

Judge Gregory Sentenced Them to
Three Years Each for Wounding and Robbing Comptoir.

Edmundston, N. B., March 13.—The Maritime court circuit court opened here on the 10th inst., and has been occupied all the week in the trial of the charge against three Italian for wounding and robbing another Italian named Carmino Venzio at St. Hilare on the night of Dec. 21 last. The prisoners, Pasquale Iacopetta, Salvatore Iacopetta and Frank Rivers, were arrested at Millocket, Maine. The injured man was left on the road in a dying state, and he was the only witness who could depose to the assault and the robbery. The prisoners all denied the robbery, and claimed that one of them only, Pasquale Iacopetta, had done the shooting in returning the assault on his brother. Venzio had over thirty-five cuts on his head and hands, and the right hand was nearly severed.

The prisoners were convicted and sentenced by Judge Gregory to three years each in the Dorchester penitentiary. A Lawson represented the crown, and Hon. D. J. Purdy also returned to St. John.

GOVERNMENT LIKELY TO RESIGN THURSDAY

The provincial government will meet here Tuesday morning to complete unfinished business. It is understood that the work will probably take until Wednesday and that the resignation of Premier Robinson and his colleagues will be placed in the hands of the lieutenant-governor on Thursday. The premier and Hon. F. J. Sweeney passed through the city Saturday evening on their way to Moncton. Hon. H. A. McKeown and Hon. D. J. Purdy also returned to St. John.

Lieutenant Governor Tweedie returned to St. John on Saturday and will remain in town until Thursday or Friday. It is expected that he will call on J. D. Hazen to form a new administration as soon as the resignation of the retiring government is received. The new government will probably be sworn in next week and the issue used for the necessary by-elections. It is said no opposition will likely be offered, Thursday, April 23, is named as the probable date for the legislature to meet.

North Sydney, N. S., March 13.—Steamer Bruce which arrived at North Sydney today, had over 100 passengers, the majority of whom carried injuries received on the Newfoundland railway yesterday in one of the worst accidents in the history of the road.

The train was moving rapidly when the engine and forward cars rolled over and over, hurling the men, women and children from the berths in the tangled wreckage. Some were killed outright although a cook on the train received injuries likely to prove fatal.

Wm. Babcock, going to Alton (Mass.), was hurled about 200 feet and his wife and child also severely injured.

One girl bound for Vancouver had her face covered with bandages and the teeth protruded from her mouth.

Heavy bank snow near where the wreck occurred rendered the work of rescuers difficult and for nearly six hours the injured passengers were obliged to make out the best they could until a wrecking train reached the scene, during which time many pitiful scenes were enacted, distracted parents fearing their children were buried under the wreckage.

Ottawa, March 13.—Dr. Daniel early this morning, in closing the debate on the resolution of Mr. Peleg against needless and useless expenditure in public works, said that he would like to see the government vote for the New Brunswick election, and the statement that federal politics did not enter into that election. That is hardly correct, as far as the travelling is becoming bad through their business here yesterday and all, excepting Provincial Secretary Allen, went to St. John by last evening's train.

Miss Hazen, daughter of the late George W. Allen, and niece of J. D. Hazen, was appointed government stenographer, in succession to Miss Gertrude McDonald, who resigned. It is understood that several other vacancies were filled. The government will meet in St. John on Tuesday and it is stated will issue a proclamation bringing the Judiciary Act into force.

The soft weather of the past few days has caused the snow to disappear very rapidly and the travelling is becoming bad.

Ex-Ald. John Scott of this city met with a serious loss when his lath mill at Fredericton Junction was totally destroyed by fire which caught at one o'clock yesterday morning.

Particulars of the fire are very meagre, but it is learned that none of the other buildings nor the lumber were burned.

The mill was erected last fall at a cost of more than $3,000, and a crew of upwards of fifty men had been employed by Mr. Scott all winter. It had been his intention to cut at least eight million feet of laths and between five and six million feet had been saved before the fire.

There was no insurance on the mill building, although an application for insurance had been made.

New York, March 13.—Jere K. Cooke, the pastor of the Episcopal church at Hempstead (L. Mrs. Whaley said later that some $6,000 belonging to Floretta was in trust at Hempstead, but that she would require more definite information regarding the exact condition before she gave aid to her granddaughter. The fact that the telegram was prepaid influenced her opinion.

The fact that the telegram was prepaid influenced her opinion, she added, and she thought that her financial distress was to justify hasty action on her part.

CITY BUYS PROPERTY AT LOCH LOMOND

The property at Loch Lomond known as the Raymond property and consisting of 1150 acres of land and the old Ben Lomon house was purchased at auction by the city on Saturday for $8,000. Frank Potts was the auctioneer and offered the property for sale at Chubb's corner under a decretal order of the equity court. The property was bought for the purpose of acquiring the rights to the freshwater of the lake, it being the understood policy of the water and sewerage board to acquire the lake and prevent contamination of the water from sewage or other causes.

For the purpose of the sale the property was divided into four lots. Lot 1 contained about 400 acres, some seven or eight acres of which are now overgrown. The lot adjoining, known as lot A, included the grand Ben Lomon house, out buildings and a cottage and covers about 300 acres. The building on these two lots started at $1,000 and continued at about $200, was sold to Ald. Frink for $500. By the purchase of these lots, the city acquired nearly three miles of water front. The price is considered satisfactory, especially in view of the fact that the properties had been previously offered to the city some time ago at somewhat higher figure.

Fredericton, March 15.—A marriage which has been looked forward to with interest for some time, was solemnized at St. Anne's church last evening, when Miss Annie E. Phair, daughter of Mrs. Andrew Phair, became the wife of Stephen Bishop, of Moncton. Rev. Canon Montgomery of Kingshear performed the ceremony in the presence of few friends of the contracting parties.

The bride, who wore a brown travelling suit with lace to match, was given in marriage by W. B. H. Penney. The happy couple had a luncheon at the bride's home and left by the evening train on a honeymoon trip to the New England States.

Word was received here today that John Donohue, formerly a clerk in the provincial secretary's office here, had met with a serious accident at Glouce Bay (C. B.). Mr. Donohue was given other than that he had undergone an operation after an accident and his condition was quite critical. The travelling was becoming bad through their business here yesterday and all, excepting Provincial Secretary Allen, went to St. John by last evening's train.

Coil-Spring Wire

Imported direct from England is used for the laterals of "Maritime" Wire Fence. This wire, while it stretches up stiff and taut, is yet remarkably springy—makes a fence so elastic that it instantly springs back into its original exact position after undergoing pressure severe enough to stretch an ordinary fence permanently out of shape.

Test the galvanizing of this English Wire when your knife and will find it heavier, smoother, better. Fact is, this English Wire makes Maritime Wire Fence fully 25 to 100 per cent more lasting than ordinary fencing—a 25 to 100 per cent better investment.

Bridge Contracts Awarded by Commissioner of Public Works

Fredericton, N. B., March 13.—The local government met here this morning and again this evening, but so far as can be learned transacted very little business of importance. Several applications for charters were granted and routine business was disposed of.

This afternoon's meeting was presided over by the lieutenant-governor and the schedule was cleared up. The government will meet here tomorrow morning and afternoon and the members will leave for St. John by the evening train. It is likely that a meeting will be held in St. John on Tuesday to finish up the business and the resignation of the cabinet will be handed in on Wednesday or Thursday.

Commissioner of Public Works Hon. C. H. LaBilious this morning gave out a number of contracts as follows:
Three span superstructure of the Eel River bar bridge, Restigouche county, to Duncan & McNeilan, of Campbellton.

Single span superstructure of the Black River bridge, Kent county, to C. J. Rudick, Chatham.

Two span superstructure of the St. Jacques bridge, Madawaska, to the Canada Foundry Company, Toronto.

One span superstructure of Broadway bridge, town of Grand Falls, to the Canada Foundry Company, Toronto.

Superstructure of the Eel River bridge in Restigouche to John C. McLean and James P. McPherson, River Charles, Restigouche.

Ryan Brook bridge, York county, to Whitman Brewer, St. Mary's.

Woodland bridge, Charlotte county, to McLaughan and Boone, St. Mary's.

Tenders for four bridges, two of which are in Northumberland county and the others in Charlotte and Sunbury counties, have been opened, but no awards have as yet been made, and Hon. Mr. LaBilious said that it might be that these contracts would be left for his successor to award.

The ceremony took place before the hymn which preceded the unveiling of the tablet which was about to be unveiled was in memory of his generous act in donating his fine library to Trinity church.

C. P. Clarke, the senior church warden, then mentioned the drapery from the tablet. The memorial, which is a handsome specimen of the engraver's art, is placed on the north wall of the nave about half way up the church. The inscription, cut in old English letters, is filled in with black and red enamel, while the mitre engraved under the first line is in purple. The tablet is shield shaped, 22x26 inches, and is mounted on quartered oak. The inscription reads:
