WILL HAVE SEVEN DAYS CHAUTAUQUA

Splendid Success of Last Week Resulted in a Guarantee of The Fall Week of Joy

With the program on Friday evening the three days Chautauqua came to an end. It surpassed the very best that was hoped for, each day's program being better than the preceding one. The only flaw in the serenity of the occasion was the fact that the hall was not large enough to afford room for all who wished to attend.

In Woodstock the local guarantors had to go into their own pockets to make good their obligation. Here the capacity of the hall was over sold before the doors opened for the first performance. The guarantors sold fifty per cent more tickets than the contract called for.

It was with no difficulty at all that the required number of guarantors were secured to insure a full week—seven days—Chautauqua for next summer. This will be in a tent with seats for 1500 people. Sixty guaran-tors were required to assure a ticket sale of at least $1000. Within 24 hours 92 guarantors were secured without going out of town.

The local officers of the 1931 Chautauqua are: Mayor Keith, chairman;
J. E. Nixon, vice chairman; A. W.
Kyle, secretary; C. S. Baker, treasurer.

MARKETS GLUTTED WITH POTATOES

(Fredericton Mail)

The potato market for export trade as far as quality and position are concerned, is in a most depressed condition. The shippers here are buying neither tubers nor potatoes. The cause is the glutting of the United States market.

From church records it is known that a large number of American potatoes are being raised on the American market daily, while not more than three or four carloads of Canadian potatoes are going across the border each day. The Canadian crop is one of the largest on record. Monthly reports sent out by the U. S. Department of Agriculture place the monthly surplus for each month greater than that of the previous month by some millions of bushels. The Boston market is glutted with potatoes at the present time, the price being $1.50 for a one hundred pound bag. The price paid by shippers up to the present has been $1.75 to $2 per barrel.

Turnips not in demand. Shippers have been paying fifty cents per barrel for turnips, but lately have been buying none. Retail price is now 41 per barrel.

The potato market is quiet in Aroostook county, holding nominal at $2.50 and $2.75 a barrel. The farmers say they must have close to $3 a barrel to make the season pay. H. W. Arn-strong, a Caribou producer, received $2.25 a barrel for his crop, getting nearly $30,000. He sold the potatoes in the field to a New York buyer after the potatoes were in blossom.

One Engine Recovered—One Lost

One of the two hoisting engines belonging to the equipment of the New Brunswick Contracting and Building Co., employed in rebuilding Hartland bridge, which were swept away in the recent flood, has been recovered and is again in operation. The other one cannot be located. It seems remarkable that a machine weighing eight tons could have been carried away by the river and become lost absolutely, but such is a fact.

Work on the bridge is progressing very satisfactorily, although the setback by the freshet in September was costly.

Happy Wedding at Windsor

A wedding of much social interest took place on Oct. 20 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Havelock Wassen, Windior, when their daughter Cora E. was united in marriage to Elmer L. Brown of Houlton. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. V. Bragdon under an arch of evergreen in the presence of many relatives and friends. Bridal chorus was rendered by Mrs. Henry Smith of Windsor. A sumptuous lunch was heartily enjoyed by all present.
The bride, who was given away by her father, was beautifully attired in a dress of georgette crepe, bride veil caught up with orange blossoms, and carried bouquet of white carnations.
Going away suit of brown tweed with black tye and hat to match.

The bride was the recipient of many valuable and useful presents. Groom's present to bride was a very substantial cheque. After a trip by auto to some provincial points the happy couple will reside at Houlton, County road. At home after Nov. 24.

WEDDINGS YESTERDAY

At the home of Mrs. S. S. Page at Coldstream on Oct. 27, their daughter,
Laura Behnke was married to Ralph Shaw. Rev. C. A. Bell officiated the ceremony in the presence of many friends and relatives. The bride was charmingly attired in white crepe-dechine and carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums, and was unattended.
The marriage took place beneath an arch of rowan berries, autumn leaves and ribbon. After congratulations and lunch the young couple motored to Hartland and there took the express for a brief tour. The bride's travelling dress was of navy blue with hat to match.

Yesterday a merry party started out by auto for Fredericton. They were Fred Gray of Bonaventure and Mrs.
Dorothy Gray of Carleton Place; Raymond Teddie and Miss Grace Brown of Lower Bristol. Their avowed intention was to be married before the day ended, and, while no confirmation has reached The Observer, it is presumed that nothing came in the way of the worthy inclinations of the young people, and a host of friends are wishing them joy.

Today at the home of Col. Paget Windsor, his daughter Francis will be married to Robert Glass.

Death of a Child

The death of Willard Troy youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Fitzherbert of Munton occurred at their home on Oct. 4 after a few days illness of cholera. Services were held at Kilburn Methodist church conducted by Rev. H. V. Bragdon. Interment being made in Kilburn cemetery.
Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents.

Hartland Girl Married in Calgary

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Charlotte Myra, only daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. B. Estey of Calgary, Alta. to W. Roy Condon.
The ceremony was performed on Oct.
24.

The bride spent the first years of her life in Hartland until in 1925 she accompanied her parents to Calgary where they have since resided.

cords, Militia Department, Ottawa.

United Farmers Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the U. F. N.
B. Branch 21, will be held in Hartland, Monday night, Nov. 1/ at 8 p.m.
Election of officers for the ensuing year and other important business will be transacted. A full attendance is requested.

MAY LOSE OUR CHEIF INDUSTRY

Rumored That Frasers are Buying the Timber Lands the Source of Sayre's Supply

If reports going round are true Hartland may lose its chief industry, which is the big lumber mill of F. E. Sayre which has been in operation at the mouth of the Beagumic for 25 years.

It is reported that the Fraser Interests have about completed the purchase of all the N. B. Railway lands and included in this is the chief area from which Sayre's lumber comes. So far there is no confirmation of the rumor, and in any event the mill will have sufficient lumber to operate two years longer.

The loss of the mill will be a severe blow to the town, but there may follow some other industry, possibly a pulp mill and development of electrical energy.

THE MICHELHAM MILLIONS

All England Interested in Famous Case

The great fight for the Michelham millions is providing England with an amazing story of money, romance and intrigue.

The Chancery Court has just decided one of a long series of suits. By the judgment handed down, the present Lady Michelham, formerly Miss Capel, who married the Hon. Hermann de Stern the day before his father, the late peer, died, loses a death-bed marriage settlement of $5,000,000 bringing in an annual income of $100,000.

The judge ruled that when she made the settlement, Lord Michelham made the settlement. Lord Michelham any business or understanding any transaction. Suits to upset the will were brought by the Dowager Lady Michelham and Capt. Jefferson David Cohn, well-known racehorse owner and one of the trustees and beneficiaries under an earlier will.

Evidence revealed that on January 3, 1919, Miss Capel and the Hon. Hermann de Stern attended the dying peer at his bedside and sought his approval of their marriage. He agreed and signed the settlement, his hand being guided by Lady Michelham. The marriage took place in London on the following day. Lord Beresford giving the bride away. Two nights later Lord Michelham died.

The late Lord Michelham was the son of the Baron Hermann de Stern, who inherited a fortune of about $10,000,000. The Stern family were bankers in London, Paris and Brussels and the late peer was bequeathed fortunes by both his father and his brother, who for some years before his death was insane.

"Jeff" Cohn, who married a daughter of Horatio Bottomley, met the Michelhams in 1902 and spent much time with them in Paris, where Lord Michelham opened up a magnificent apartment in the Rue Nitot, which was rented by the British Government for its peace delegation last year. Through his success on the turf and his entertainment on his yacht Alberta of the King and Queen of the Hellenes, "Jeff" became a leading figure in continental society. He was regarded as Lord Michelham's most intimate friend.

In 1911 the peer made a will, appointing as executors his wife and "Jeff" Cohn. Under this will "Jeff" would receive $25,000 for acting as trustee, plus $3,000 a year as long as he so acted.

In 1915, however, Lord Michelham executed a new will from which Cohn's name was omitted. Immediately prior to the peer's death his son, then eighteen years of age, was about to marry Bertha Isabella Capel, who was then thirty-nine years old. She was the daughter of a remarkable woman, who ran a famous salon in Paris in the eighties, and who obtained a coal contract for the French Navy when she fell into financial embarrassment.

Where Women Are Wanted.

Walking down the Strand recently a newspaper reporter counted 230 women to fifty-eight men in the space of a quarter of an hour while the proportion in a tube carriage was twenty-two women to six men, says Pearson's Weekly.

As we are all aware, we have now an enormously greater number of women than of men in Britain. Even before the war British women outnumbered English men by nearly a million. To-day the difference is about two millions.

Some people declare that there is nothing to be done to remedy this state of affairs. Why not? There are heaps of countries which want women. Take Western Australia. In that great country there are three men to two women. There is not a single Australian state where men do not outnumber women. For the whole of the island continent 200,000 women are required to make the sexes equal.

Matters are not quite so bad in Canada, but even there 130,000 women are required to even up matters. Smaller dependencies are in a worse way. The Falkland Islands, for instance, have 3,000 men to only 600 women. Trinidad has 135,000 men to 119,000 women.

The fact is that in almost every part of the British Empire, except in Britain itself, there are more men than women. There is no other country in the world which has so great a preponderance of women as has England to-day. Surely, emigration is the best, indeed the only cure for the present state of affairs.

Guarding Crown Jewels.

The crown jewels are no longer in the Tower of London. They have been removed to one of the vaults beneath the Bank of England to be closed, says Pearson's Weekly.

Even there, however, they could hardly be safer than when reposing at their ordinary home in the Wakefield Tower, where, as most people are aware, they are kept inside an octagonal glass case, enclosed by a sort of steel cage.

Case and cage look commonplace enough. The bars of the latter are quite slender, and the glass is the ordinary shop window kind. Nevertheless it would go hard with anybody who tried to tamper with them.

For each of these innocent looking steel bars is connected with a series of electric burglar alarms, and the slightest attempt to tamper with them would set alarm bells clanging all over the tower.

At the same instant a hidden screen of tempered steel concealed in the upper part of the structure would descend at a run, so that in a few seconds the jewels would be automatically enclosed in what is, to all intents and purposes, a steel-tight eight-sided steel safe.

At the same instant of time all the occupants of the level room, would find themselves imprisoned therein by the mechanical closing of the doors, and the outer gates of the tower would also close to automatically.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But it Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run down, had no appetite and was nervous. The nurse who took care of me told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting strong. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and you may use my testimonial."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R. R. 2, Bothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ailments is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.

If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

EAST, WEST, HOME'S BEST

It has been said that The Youth's Companion has had more readers per copy than any other publication in America. There is good reason to believe this to be true. But the important thing is that the influence of the paper upon its millions of readers has always been directed to building character. "East, west, home's best" has been its unuttered slogan. In its articles, editorial and otherwise, it has dwelt upon the importance of good citizenship. In all its contents it has aimed to give not only entertainment, but "stopping-stones to higher things."

A year of The Youth's Companion brings a tremendous tide of faithful and diversified reading that cannot be found elsewhere.

The 55 issues of 1921 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—55 issues in 1921.
2. All the remaining issues of 1920.
3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1921.

Confirmation at New Denmark

His Lordship the Bishop of Fredericton, spent Sunday, Oct. 17 in Grand Falls and New Denmark. In the morning he held confirmation in St. Ansgar's church, New Denmark, when the rector, Rev. R. E. J. Britton, presented a large class for confirmation. In the afternoon, the confirmation was confirmed at St. Alban's church, Medford. In the evening, His Lordship was the preacher at the service in All Saints' church here.

On Sunday morning a special service for children was held in All Saints' church. The church was very nicely decorated for the harvest thanksgiving service which was held in the evening. At this service, the infant daughter of Rev. A. J. and Mrs. Pattison was baptised by the bishop, the little one receiving the name of Florence Mavor.

PRICE vs. VALUE IN SHOES

In buying shoes (and everything else, as well), it's value you want. Imported shoes cost more because of the freight, duty and exchange. These things don't add to the value of a shoe. They only increase its cost.

This store has one mission in life. That is to give you the best value. Made in Canada shoes are today better value, grade for grade, than shoes imported from any country. They reflect the very latest and best styles and shapes. The material is honest. Workmanship is high grade. And so, because the propriety of this store depends upon service to our customers, we sell and recommend Made-in-Canada Footwear, knowing that we can thereby give you the best value and satisfaction.

A New Character

When, four years ago, KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE TEA first appeared, something more than a new tea had been produced—a new character in tea had been created. Only after most searching experiments in flavor-blending were we at last able to develop that peculiarly mellow richness of flavor so delightful to the taste, which has won for KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE the high place it holds. The total annual sale of KING COLE ORANGE PEKOE has doubled twice in the last two years.

We are confident that you will say that it is different to any tea you ever tasted.

A RED CROSS BRIDGE

Food Plentiful in Canada. Scarce in Europe—Needs of the Children.

The development of the dairy industry of Canada during the past two decades has been surprisingly rapid. Quick to realize the profits to be derived from milk production and the great value of dairying in conserving the fertility of the soil, the Canadian farmer has not hesitated to increase his investments in dairy cattle. The industry expanded during the five years of world war. Canada, being distant from the theatres of war, although handicapped by the drafting of a military service of half a million of her most vigorous manhood, was able to continue the development of many of her important industries, particularly agriculture.

It was not so in Europe. There the very blast of war, which left profits in some parts of the world almost extinguished, not only industry but national life itself in other. The drain upon manhood was so great that now in hundreds of thousands of families no adult males remain. Europe more-over is filled with orphan children whose prospects of life is marred by the lack of all that is necessary to bodily and mental growth. In most cases the earning power and consequently the purchasing power of their families is utterly destroyed.

Turning again to Canada we find there a surplus production of the commodities that are so badly needed in Europe. Condensed milk for instance is a commodity that is a prime necessity for the children of the poor communities of Europe but the nations to which they belong have no means of purchasing it for them. The Canadian Red Cross is going to endeavor to supply part of their needs by means of a general appeal for contributions to be made during Armistice week on behalf of the British Empire Fund, which is to be used in the humane task of relieving the sufferings of millions who are stricken by famine and disease. Part of the fund will be used for purchasing in Canada suitable supplies and thus the Red Cross will furnish the bridge across which some of our surplus milk will reach the emaciated children in war-stricken areas. Those who assist will not only have the satisfaction of having contributed to relieve the sufferings of others less fortunate but by helping others will thereby indirectly help themselves.

FROM GENEVA.

Organizer for League of Red Cross Societies Tells of Need of Europe's Orphans.

"While we at home are intent on industrial expansion and place in the sun, Europe in its war-weakened condition is fighting for its very existence," said Donald W. Brown, director of the department of organization in the League of Red Cross Societies of the World, which has its headquarters at Geneva, Switzerland. He visited Toronto to learn the peace program of the Canadian Red Cross Society and to establish closer contact between it and the league.

Millions of War Orphans.

Having just arrived from Europe, Mr. Brown was able to give the Canadian Red Cross some first hand information concerning the people of Europe. He called attention particularly to the condition of the children, so many of whom are now orphans. While the exact number who have lost one or both parents during the war cannot be determined, the most conservative estimate places the number at over ten millions. This number seems quite consistent with the heavy war casualties among so many nations.

Dependent Upon Charity.

The condition of these children is in most cases very pitiable. Many of them have no homes and they are dependent upon whoever may be charitable and kind enough to help them. But there are few who are able to give such help for the mass of the people of Russia, Poland, parts of Roumania, Czecho-Slovakia and other countries are so poor that they have not resources for themselves. Consequently in the great area between the Baltic, the Black and the Adriatic Seas, there are millions of children who face the coming winter, and particularly the coming winter, without hope of proper care unless outside assistance is given them.

Disease Prevalent.

In addition to the unhappy condition of the children the adult populations are in the direst of misery on account of disease. Suffering has been accentuated by lack of food and clothing, nursing and medical attention, and "tuberculosis," smallpox, typhus and dysentery are continuing unchecked.

Typhus which has so often proved a scourge and menace to the human race is again prevalent, and unless checked will most likely extend its ravages to an alarming degree.

British Empire Appeal.

For these urgent reasons, Mr. Brown said, the League of Red Cross Societies has made an earnest appeal to the people of the British Empire and he was glad to hear that the cause of the suffering children was being taken up in Canada. He had learned that an appeal on behalf of the British Empire Fund would be made in Canada by the Canadian Red Cross during Armistice week and wished for it every success.

Typhus in Canada.

In its earlier days Canada suffered from the ravages of a disease then known as "spotted fever" but now known generally by the name of typhus. It is a disease that spreads rapidly and is very destructive of human life. In the years 1846-47 it was brought to Canada by immigrants and caused great loss of life. It is only by taking urgent measures to stamp it out in the centres where it is now raging that it can be prevented from extending.

Trinidad Boasts Many Industries

TRINIDAD is the southernmost colony in the chain of West Indian Islands proper, being situated 10 degrees north of the Equator, between the 61st and 62nd degrees of west longitude. She is the second largest island of the group, and the most prosperous. She is rich in soil, vegetation, and minerals. Situated close to the mainland of South America, possessing extensive petroleum fields, and with modern facilities at Port of Spain for the handling of cargo, she has been singled out by the Committee on Shipping in the Caribbean after the war as the headquarters for West Indian shipping.

The "Land of the Humming Bird," as Trinidad was called by the Caribs who inhabited the island, was discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1498. Like Jamaica and the majority of the West Indian islands, Trinidad is mountainous, intersected with ravines and plains, all of which abound in luxuriant vegetation. The scenery is gorgeous. Above, sunny skies, around the island glassy sea; sloping hills, rich foliage, avenues of palms. You marvel, on passing the little islands that rise sentinel-like off the coast, at such sights as the Gulf of Paria, which separates Trinidad from the Republic of Venezuela, the four or five channels at the northern entrance known as the Dragon's Mouth, each of the four islands at the entrance rising, as someone has written, like a jewel from the sea. To the south is the Serpentine Mouth. Then comes Port of Spain, nestled below lofty peaks, with hills and valleys in the distance clothed in nature's garb, and looking resplendent under a tropical sun.

In 1797 Trinidad passed from Spanish control into the hands of Britain, the Spanish Governor having capitulated to an expedition headed by Admiral Harvey and Gen. Sir Ralph Abercromby. Sir Walter Raleigh had, however, visited it years before when he was on what is recorded as "his ill-starred expedition to the Eldorado-Guiana." Raleigh attacked St. Joseph, one of the coast towns of Trinidad, and burnt it. It was from close to her shores that Nelson chased the French fleet through the West Indies across the Atlantic to Trafalgar.

Trinidad contains 1,860 square miles and is 85 miles in length. Her industries are many; her population is about 400,000. Of this number one-third consists of East Indians.

About 1857 borings for petroleum were made by an American concern, but the venture was not successful. In 1866 another start was made at Brighton, and at a depth of 160 feet small deposits of oil were found, the weekly output being from 50 to 60 gallons. In 1901 Mr. Randolph Rust and others took up the question, with the result that operations were commenced on an extensive line. Since then the efforts of those concerned. In the financial year 1914-15, 36,753,931 gallons of petroleum were marketed. To-day there are at least 70 oil-wells in the colony, the product of each being from the heavy asphaltic to light oils. Refineries have been established to manufacture gasoline, kerosene, and other oils; and to-day the Trinidad product is being placed on the market of the neighboring islands. In 1917 35,805,505 gallons of petroleum were exported; in 1918, 41,122,837 gallons; and in 1919, 46,017,819 gallons.

The increase of sugar in Trinidad is satisfactory. From 10,000 tons in the years gone by, it has advanced steadily until last year the output was considerably over 50,000 tons. In the second year of the war, the sugar industry was worth to Trinidad more than one million sterling. Large quantities of molasses are exported, along with sugar, to Britain and Canada.

Trinidad's cocon won its way to popular favor. In 1940, but 1,254 tons were exported; in 1915 a high-water mark was reached, 24,000 tons being shipped to British markets at a price of at least two millions. Last year more than 24,000 tons were sent abroad. Trinidad produces coconuts by the million each season. Last year 30,000,000 nuts were exported.

Trinidad is the only colony in the Caribbean proper that possesses a floating dock and up-to-date repair plant, and a line of steamers owned in the colony.

The island is well provided with hotels, clubs, and golf links. The Savannah is the centre of gaiety at race meetings, cricket, or other sports which attract many persons to Port of Spain. Her rivers, pools, and waterfalls—the Diego Martin and Maracas falls, the Blue Basin with its beautiful cascade—in the midst of the most luxuriant tropical vegetation, are worth seeing. Being an agricultural colony, no effort is spared in the training of young men in matters relating to that industry. Agricultural societies preach the gospel of production and co-operation; an extensive Government stock farm is maintained, where cattle and horses of high grade are offered at public auction yearly. The botanical gardens, attached to the Agricultural Department, and a monastery on the hills, are among the institutions that have helped to advance agriculture, and it is the desire of the Government and people that a West Indian Agricultural College should be created here, to which not only students from the Caribbean colonies but those of other tropical lands could be sent to learn scientific agriculture. Her railway system does its share in the development of trade; it is to be extended; water supply is to be provided for villages, and motor roads are to be constructed. A coal of $2,500,000.—London Times.

YORKSHIRE HUMOR

Burly Farmer is Much Like the Scot.

Like the Scot, the Yorkshireman is distinguished more by his "long head" than by a nimble tongue, says Tit-Bits. His thoughts do not lightly turn to jesting, but he has a keen sense of humor. The wag who pits his wits against him is likely to come off "second best" in the encounter.

Such was the experience of a lawyer of rather shady reputation who was rash enough to cross swords with a burly Yorkshire farmer. "Well, farmer," said the man of law, as he looked quizzically at the former's enormous bulk, "if I'd a pig as big as you I'd hit him with a mallet." Quick as a flash came the retort: "Well, mister lawyer, if I'd a dog as big as thee I wouldn't wait till to-morrow; I'd hang him to-day."

A South Yorkshire collier was once trespassing on a well-known nobleman's land when he found himself face to face with the owner. "What are you doing here, sir?" demanded his lordship. "Aren't you aware that this is my property and that the public have no right of way over it?" "Oh, it's thy land, is it?" coolly inquired the trespasser. "And how did it get it?" "It has belonged to my family ever since the first earl got it centuries ago," answered the peer. "And how 't' first earl got it?" persisted the other. "He fought for it." "Oh, he did, did he?" said the collier, as he proceeded to take off his coat. "Then I'll fight thee for it!"

An American had been telling a number of rusties in a Yorkshire inn a thrilling story of a fight with a snake which "measured twenty-three yards in length," to which they had listened with open eyes and mouths—all but one man, who when it was ended, calmly proceeded to talk of the prowess of his grandfather, who "stood nearly eleven feet in his stockings." "Houd on a bit!" at last reconstructed one of the comrades. "Thou'd better knock off a foot or two, lad, if tha wants us to believe thee." "Oh, all right!" was the placid answer. "Let him knock ten yards on his snake, and then I'll see what I can do with my grandfather."

"Why didn't you put my luggage in as I asked you?" angrily demanded a passenger of a porter as his train was moving off. "I did," shouted back the porter; "yer luggage has more sense than yerself. Y're in it wrong train."

Equally amusing is the story of the dying gamekeeper, between whom and a village poacher there has been a long-standing and bitter feud. Aware of the feud, the vicar begged the dying man to see his enemy and forgive him, so that he might die at peace with the world. "Why should I?" asked the gamekeeper. "The poacher has just arrived at the bedside a pathetic scene was witnessed, the two men clasping hands and shedding tears of penitence and pardon. "I forgive thee, Jack," sobbed the dying gamekeeper in farewell, as the poacher stumbled weeping to the door. "But the man remember—if I should happen to get better—this is—off!"

"Well, Mrs. —," said the doctor to the wife of a patient who had led her a miserable life, "I hope your husband's temperature is not higher to-day." "Well," was the startling answer, "that's just what I was wondering, sir. Ye see, he's been dead since noon."

A mistress was a Yorkshire maid-of-all-work who had only one fault—a lack of cleanliness. "Do you know, Mary," the mistress at last remonstrated with courage to say, "if you would only wash your face every day in hot soapy water it would make you look beautiful." "Would it now?" was Mary's answer. "I wonder, mum, y've niver tried it yerself."

Fewer Novels

Already the paper shortage is causing London publishers to hang up the novels of many who are not in the front rank, and if things get worse even the best sellers may have to seek other livelihoods. So London Opinion thinks, we soon may be reading items like these:

October: William Le Queux obliged to accept post in the C. I. D. at Scotland Yard, where he is employed marking with a cross, in maps of the scene of the crime, the spot where the murder was committed.

November: E. P. Oppenheim accepts the post of maître d'hôtel in the grill room of the Hotel Milan.

December: Sir Conan Doyle practices the tambourine, and contemplates becoming a spiritualistic medium.

Arnold Bennett turns commercial traveler, and pushes Five Towns' crockery.

Robert Hichens goes to Rescator's Restaurant, where, in Arab dress, with stained face, he takes charge of the Turkish coffee department.

Robert Chesteron accepts offer from Pavlova to join her in Russian dance illustrating "The Dying Gladiator."

A Narrow Escape

The Marquis of Hartington tells an episode from war days when the spy scare was at its height, according to a writer in the Halifax Chronicle. Certain confidential information that the military authorities wanted to keep absolutely secret was sent round by trusted couriers in locked despatch boxes, with elaborate precautions of signing and countersigning and checking every stage. No one below the rank of major-general was entrusted with the knowledge, and even these were bound by tremendous oaths of secrecy. After a time it was found that these weighty documents, which were circulated in printed form, were being set up by printers who were under no obligation to preserve secrecy, and, in fact, took no precautions whatever against leakage. However, nothing did leak out, but the military mandarins, it is said, shuddered when they realized the risks that had been run.

SATISFIED WITH DOG'S MEAL

Westerner in New York Pleased He Knew a Good Thing When He Saw It.

A man and wife moved to New York from the West—a sane, conservative American man and wife, used to money and knowing the worth of it—and brought the family dog along, paying $5 extra fare for the dog by the way, on the train. They went to a large and gorgeous hotel and in the due course of time the dog needed sustenance.

"Bring for a waiter," said the husband, "and we'll get the dog some scraps."

The floor waiter came and when asked to bring some food for the dog explained with some hauteur that he was the floor waiter and not the dog waiter, but would inform the dog waiter of the desires of the dog. The dog waiter arrived in course of time and the predicament of the dog was explained to him. The dog waiter wrote down the order carefully and departed. Presently he returned bearing a slyer tray on which were displayed daintily various articles of food—some vegetables, some meat and a cracker or two.

"What's that?" asked the husband, examining the contents of the tray with interest.

"The service for the dog, sir," the waiter replied.

"How much is it?"

"One dollar, sir."

The husband took the tray.

"Get the dog a bone," he said. "I'll eat this. It's the best-looking meal I have seen in the place, and the cheapest."—Samuel G. Blythe in Saturday Evening Post.

KNIFE ENDED ALL SQUAWKING

Pets of Clemenceau No Longer Created Disturbance After Undergoing a Slight Operation.

M. Clemenceau's love of pets, of which much has appeared in the press since his recent visit to London, once involved him in trouble with his neighbors. Twelve years ago, during his first term as premier, he had a number of peacocks and storks installed in the gardens attached to the ministry of the interior. There are no trees in these gardens, only lawn and flower beds, which in M. Clemenceau's opinion lack animation—hence the peacocks. But other people living in the Place Beauvau complained that these birds were too animated, their cries being so persistent as to render sleep impossible.

Things reached such a pass that the prefect of police was asked to inflict his official superior for disturbing the peace of his neighbors, who were all the more indignant because M. Clemenceau went home every night to sleep at his flat in the Rue Franklin, far out of the range of the peacocks' cries. However a scandal was averted by the premier allowing a slight operation to be performed on the vocal chords of his pets, which, without otherwise injuring them, rendered them incapable of squawking.

And Still Eggs Are Hatched

The hens need a walking delegate. Grinding the beaks of the poor unprotected fowls seems to be the modern poultryer's long suit. With the modern working day of an anarchy hen on an up-to-date chicken farm, where as many as 15,000 eggs are hatched at one time.

Electric light has done it. The lights turn steadily until 10 p. m. At 4 a. m. they are turned on gradually until their full glare wakes the hens. The poultry then sit up and rub their eyes and think, "How short the nights are getting! Yet it's certainly daylight. Well—just one darned day after another!" Nights are short. The touching innocence of the hen victimizes it to the extent of getting only six hours' sleep a night. Eight-hour day? Why, the chicken works as long as the farmer!—The Nation's Business.

Listen!

Have you heard about Peps? Peps is a scientific preparation put up in pastille form, which provides an entirely new and effective treatment for coughs, colds, chest and throat troubles.

Peps contains certain medicinal ingredients, which, when placed upon the tongue, immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey, they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the lungs.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the lungs and air passages, these Peps fumes get there direct, and at once commence healing.

STRUCK IT LUCKY

Among the list of farmers in Aroostook who are losing money, and bound to lose, there is one in a while some farmer "strikes it lucky." H. W. Armstrong, one of Caribou's large farmers, is congratulating himself that he is among the last mentioned. For years he has been in the habit of selling his crop to a large dealer in New York, and this season is no exception in that particular.

The New York party came on to Caribou when potatoes were in bloom, and looking their best. He offered Mr. Armstrong $25,000 for his crop, which was refused, holding out for $30,000. A compromise was made, and the price of $25,000 per barrel agreed upon, and a deposit of $2000 made.

Mr. Armstrong, who is a good farmer and understands thoroughly the science of potato raising, harvested a big yield, and will receive for his crop, at the price agreed upon, over $20,000.—Caribou Republican.

White Children Cannot

Be Reared in West Africa On Account of the Climate

THE life of Englishwomen who follow their husbands—civil servants, officers, merchants—to the British colonies on the West Coast of Africa is described in the London Telegraph by Ethel and Alan Leherbridge. The outstanding fact of the situation, they say, is that the climate forbids the rearing of white children.

"Only in parts of Northern Nigeria," they write, "is it safe to risk the presence of a young white life. For there fresh milk is obtainable and the heat is not so trying. We have seen one white child in our travels. It was pathetic in its pallor and apathy. Its little legs, which should have been plump and sturdy, were merely scrawny brown sticks. And this in spite of the most devoted and tender care. Truly, the life of a mother on the West Coast is no bed of roses!

"But it must not be thought that existence among the feminine element is a sad one. There are many wives who look with their husbands into out-of-the-way portions of their districts and who enter into the discomforts and even dangers of the journey with positive zest.

"We recall one athletic, fair-haired girl who thought nothing of riding a few miles in the morning, slipping into a bush, skirts, breeches and field boots, and trudging along by her husband through hunters' paths until the rising sun compelled her to take to her hammock. Her pet monkey and parrot always traveled with her, and were as skilled at making themselves comfortable as she.

"Long practice had made her adept at what might be called the 'sultana in parvo' type of luggage, and she could always produce a dinner gown and accessories out of a microscopic bag when necessary required. When we asked her if she would not prefer to be in one of the large ports where bridge and dancing were the order of the evening, she bluntly said that she was fed up with that sort of life and that she preferred to shoot for the pot rather than to chase golf balls, and to sleep the sleep of healthy fatigue in a palm leaf hut in the bush than to fast to a gramophone until the early hours of the morning.

"That is one way of helping one's husband upon the coast. There is still another. It consists in doing most of his work for him until he sinks into the status of a cheerful nonentity and is known merely as 'Mrs. X's husband.' Masterful women there are in plenty all over the world, but nowhere is it so easy for a masterful woman to grasp the reins in her own hands as on this coast. Take the line of least resistance' is an insidious doctrine easy to adopt out here, and if the work is done, well, what matter whether Mr. or Mrs. X is responsible?

"We have known wives who signed their husbands' official documents, others who seemed to forget that a woman should not take a military salute, and others who spoke of 'the soldier in my company.' These women, as a rule, are not good housewives. They are short-tempered with the black boys, and are too interested in what is really not their province to pay attention to the duller problems of the home.

"We were taken to call at one house of this sort, where six bottles half full of flat, warm beer was the only refreshment available, and where our hostess wrathfully slapped the head boy for his neglect, though the fault was really her own.

"Black servants are quick to take their cue from their mistress, and if she is lax they become so likewise. Again, there are other women to be found who resent the presence of any increase among their own sex out here. They like to be the only open in a community of attentive men, even though they may be devoted and loving wives.

"In their own country, unfortunately, the feminine element predominates, and they enjoy the novel sensation of being undisputed queens—even though their kingdoms may be small. One such was known contemptuously to refer to each new arrival as 'one more dummy,' until some one asked her what the others might perchance call her. There is also the butterfly wife, who, until she finds her soul through sorrow or illness, dances the hours away as though nature were not waiting to exact the inexorable penalty. For one cannot turn the candle at both ends with impunity on the West Coast, as men and women have both learnt. These little ladies usually realize their mistakes early and settle down into the best wives and mothers.

"Which brings us once more to the problem of children. Hard though it may be in India, it is still more bitter here. No white child must be born in these regions; no wise mother brings out with her a daughter under the age of eighteen or twenty. Therefore, she must make her choice. Shall she leave her children to the care of relatives, seeing them for from four to six months yearly, or shall she herself superintend their upbringing and be content with her husband's society only during his leave at home?

"Either way there are strings pulling at her heart. Either way there is anxiety and possible tragedy. The mail steamers are both longed for and dreaded, and sometimes those women of strange might condemn as frivolous are actually plunging into gaiety to provide an anodyne against thought.

"Therefore, taking them as a whole, all honor to the women of the West Coast! One must not grudge them their small pleasures nor be too severe upon their weaknesses.

The Life Blood of the Country Paper

The funny fellows of the big city newspapers who find constant material for jests in the personal items of the country papers, overlook the fact that the two lines telling that "the Tom Smiths of Dungan Road Sunday with the William Wilsons of Fairmount" is not nearly so absurd as the metropolitan paper's half-page, with pictures, about the Vanastors' week-end with Gouldfishes at Newport.

Indeed it is not so absurd at all, but vitally good newspaper work for the country paper to chronicle in the familiar vernacular the doings of substantial people known to all in their communities. To those who do not know the life of the smaller towns these personal mentions may seem insignificant and funny, but they are the very life blood of the country paper. Most people take a local paper to get the local happenings. The paper must be true to the life of its community.

In the country weekly are no juggling with shining names that to the readers are mere names; no sensational spreads on stage divorces; there is little account of sordid crime and tawdry immorality; but there is ceaseless effort for community betterment, respect for sterling character and record of achievements and enjoyments of people worth while, whom city readers could profit to know.

The country paper in reporting the simple things of wholesome life is chronicling the real Canada; for the real Canada, where life is at its best and most fruitful, where the strength of the nation is rooted, where its wealth is created and its best and more virile ideals are born and cherished, lies outside the great cities. The character and career of the nation are built up not of great headline events, but of infinitely multiform little doings of the millions who live and strive close to the boundless resources of Mother Nature and close to their neighbors' hearth.

The funny fellows of the city press would find better subjects for ridicule nearer home.—Ex.

Cubs of Polar Bear Take Pneumonia Easily And Die in Warm Climate

THE announcement that two Polar bear cubs were born at the London Zoological Gardens last December aroused widespread interest, notwithstanding the fact that this was an event which has happened several times during the last few years, though so far no cubs have been raised. This reflects no discredit upon the parents, nor upon the management of the zoo, for the same lamentable end has overtaken almost all Polar bear cubs born south of the Arctic regions, while the young of other bears can be raised with relative ease. With each new brace of cubs born in the London Zoo a different method of treatment has been followed, in the hope of averting catastrophe. The mother has been shut up in a warm box, or allowed freedom and given a change of quarters. Hand-feeding and the use of foster mothers of different kinds have each in turn been tried, but in vain.

The cubs died. It has been suggested that this inability on the part of captive Polar bears to raise their offspring is due to the utterly different environment in which the cubs are born. In a wild state the mother makes herself a sure retreat beneath the snow, the warmth of her body melting a spout hole, or air-shaft, for breathing purposes. She has no need to leave this till the winter is past, for before going into retreat she has amassed a store of fat sufficient for her needs. Here, at an even temperature, her young pass the first few weeks of their existence, to emerge presently to feast upon seal meat.

But even supposing it were possible to reproduce the conditions of the snow chamber, the chances of survival for the youngsters are not very great, as an English authority points out. And this because they appear to be very susceptible to the germs of pneumonia, which find such congenial conditions of existence in our climate, while in the far north they cannot exist. Nor do they find Antarctic a whit more habitable. This much is clear from the records of Polar explorers, who say that cubs in the head were unknown save when fresh clothing was brought.

All living things normally exposed to the attacks of these microbes have long since acquired a relative immunity thereto by the elimination of the more susceptible and the survival of the resistant.

Bermuda to Celebrate.

Bermuda, the oldest remaining British "plantation," is preparing to celebrate its tercentenary this autumn for which purpose £2,000 have been appropriated. Since the Prince of Wales announced the other day that he meant to pay a call on his loyal subjects, they hit on the scheme of combining two festive occasions and having one grand affair on October 7, when the Renown, with the heir to the throne aboard, is to cast anchor there.

It was August 1, 1620, that the Colonial Parliament held its first sitting, but as the royal engagements cannot very well be altered, it was thought wise to set back the gala date.

For nearly 300 years the business of governing this little outpost of the Empire has gone on under the same forms without material change. It is but natural that the 20,000 inhabitants of this twenty square miles of coral rock should wish to honor their aged constitution.

Originally founded by a shipwrecked company under Sir George Somers, destined for Virginia, in 1609, these isolated islands have remained continuously under British rule.

Revenues are raised chiefly from tariff duties. No land taxes are levied by the colony. There is a very light tax on realty in the parishes and the proceeds are used for maintenance of the poor.

There are no divorce laws in Bermuda and only one breach-of-promise case was ever tried there. Most of the cases on the calendar involve bicycle stealing, assault, petty theft; there is little serious crime, though in a region where everyone rides a wheel the theft of a bicycle is regarded somewhat as horse stealing was in the West a few years ago.

There are old-timers who have never set eyes on a train or a trolley car; but of late they have had the satisfaction of seeing flying-boats circling through the air.

Innovations of any kind are apt to be looked on with some suspicion. The majority is conservative and that is perhaps why so much sentiment is attached to the coming celebration of the 300-year-old constitution.

NEW RAIL SERVICE TO PACIFIC COAST

Canadian National Railways Inaugurate New Fast Daily Service Between Montreal and Vancouver—Luxurious Trains in Operation.

From all points in the Maritime Provinces there is the finest of through rail service to the Pacific Coast, via Canadian National Railways.

All that travel comfort can suggest, convey, or devise, is here for the traveller. The most modern of steel equipment—first class coaches, standard sleepers, tourist cars and luxurious compartment cars, are on the through trains between Montreal and Vancouver. The excellence of the connecting train from Eastern points, the "Ocean Limited," is known to all travellers. The new service from coast to coast is the best that any railway offers anywhere.

The Ocean Limited leaving Halifax at 8.10 a.m. daily, arrives in Montreal at 9.20 a.m. the day following. Connection is made with the splendid train operating under Canadian National and Grand Trunk management, leaving Bonaventure station at 5.00 p.m. This train, with its equipment of compartment cars, standard sleepers, standard diner, tourist and colonist cars, arrives at Ottawa at 8.00 p.m. and leaving at 8.30 p.m., is at North Bay early the following morning. Port Arthur and Fort William are reached the morning of the day following and Winnipeg that evening. Leaving Winnipeg at 8.40 p.m., the journey to the coast is continued via Saskatoon, Edmonton, Jasper, Mount Robson and New Westminster and the train arrives at Vancouver at 9.04 a.m. the third day after leaving Winnipeg.

Leaving Halifax on Monday morning for instance the traveller arrives in Vancouver on Sunday morning, just six days and a night of travelling under the finest of travelling conditions.

Particulars of this new through service can be now supplied by all Canadian National Railway ticket agents. Rates can be quoted and reservations made. It is a new era in Transcontinental travel that is but the beginning of a greater railway development under the Canadian National system.

The Management of N. B. Forests and the Lumber Waste

Sir: I am sending this letter to the Editor of the principal papers in this Province, and hope that many of them may show their independence by printing same, regardless of party politics.

For some months past letters have appeared in the press openly charging mismanagement of the N. B. Forests, saying that the Government is controlled by the Lumber Interests. Also that the Government are defrauding the people out of an extra yearly revenue of half a million dollars, by their neglecting a practicable plan that purposes to do this.

To these serious charges no contradiction has been made, and the plain inference is, that the Foreign Lumber Interests have no intention of allowing the Government to investigate, or contradict it.

At the late Election the Foster Government was scolded but not killed; but their hold in power is precarious to say the least, and the Voters will presently have another chance, when they will be better prepared to cast their vote.

It is rather remarkable that both old parties fought shy (in their speeches asking for Election) of the Forest management, this considering that over sixty per cent of the revenue is derived from this source. Did neither Party remember no scandal to take up, or had they both an understanding beforehand to let this subject alone?

Yours faithfully,
ST. GEO. H. GRAY

Florenceville, Oct. 21, 1920.

(Copy of letter printed in the Fredericton Gleaner).

To the Editor of The Gleaner.

Sir—The enclosed letter was published in the Montreal Star Sept. 8, and as it refers chiefly to the forests of New Brunswick I think it would interest your many readers.

I also enclose a copy of a proposition sent by registered letters (over a year ago) to the Hon. Mr. Foster, and the Hon. Minister of Forests, neither of which were answered.

The Government's silence on such an important matter to the province is difficult to understand. If it was some fantastic scheme proposed, or even if there was some grave objection to putting it in force, still it seemed to deserve the courtesy of a reply.

Is there a higher power that controls the Government in this province? Could it possibly be the Lumber Interests?

Though I have worked in the woods over twenty years for the largest companies in this province, I find that I am "blacklisted" on account of my stand on this subject, so I have some sympathy with the Government and am not completely astonished at their silence.

The interests that this scheme will hurt, if put in practice, comprises only the forest speculators in limits, millionaires, and penniless banks and trust companies, when they realize that their holdings are only worth three-fifths and that the other two-fifths belong to the province.

At the next elections will the voters uphold the speculators, make millionaires into multimillionaires, and allow banks and trusts to pay larger dividends?

And conversely, what the above favored few will lose, the majority of the people of this province will gain, namely:—The workers and contractors in the woods would in future get pay for getting out the avoidable waste. The farmers and all classes would get cheaper building materials. Newspapers here, and in the British Empire will obtain cheaper paper.

Yours faithfully,
ST. GEO. H. GRAY

Florenceville, Carleton county, Sept. 10, 1920.

(Letter to the Montreal Daily Star)
Sir—It seems an opportune time to bring to the notice of the public the avoidable waste of lumber annually taking place in the forests of New Brunswick; also perhaps the representatives of the Press from overseas may be inclined to make use of this information, to partly solve their problem of obtaining pulp in this country.

Last year a proposition was made to our Local Government to salvage any raw revenue for waste left on Crown Lands; but the correspondence was not even acknowledged; it would have added two or three hundred thousand dollars per year to the revenue of the province, but conversely the proposition would have decreased automatically the values of limits, so the Government did not take any notice of it.

The limit-holders only claim to cut and pay tariff on what is known as merchantable lumber; the term "merchantable" has, by custom and use, always been construed to mean the first three grades; this entirely leaves out the next two grades, on which no "stumpage" has ever been paid, and which at present are selling at about $30 per M wholesale.

All verbal and written contracts call for logs of the first three grades of lumber; no contractor or operator receives any pay for which will produce a lower grade.

The woods and camps are thickly planted with paper regulations to prevent waste, but the actual facts plainly reveal that no notice or heed is ever taken of them in the woods. The old penalty of $7.50 never stopped waste; why should a nominal new penalty of $10 or even $100 per M make any difference, except to gull the innocent public?

The present avoidable waste amounts to about 30 per cent, which is left to rot, and is a menace for fires; then there is a difference of another 5 per cent between stumpage returns, and what the logs actually pay out, making in all a 50 per cent loss of revenue to the province.

This waste, if taken out, could be manufactured and marketed; it would also reduce the high price of building materials, and benefit the public; but till a new system is introduced to pay workers for getting it to market it must remain a dead loss.

Yours faithfully,

ST. GEO. H. GRAY

Florenceville, Carleton county, N. B. Sept. 8, 1920.

(Copy of letter written and registered, dated Jan. 30th, 1919, to the Hon. Minister of Lands & Mines, N. B.)

Dear Sir—I am instructed to place before the Hon. Minister of Woods and Forests of New Brunswick and to ask for his approval and sanction for a new company to be incorporated under the name of "The N. B. Salvage Lumber Waste Co.," and to be promoted with the following objects, and benefits:—

(1) To reduce the amount of waste lumber yearly being left by operators in the woods, and to obtain, manufacture, and sell same.

(2) As licensees of limits only pay tariff for merchantable logs, their rights and interests would not be interfered with.

(3) All contractors and operators would be paid for getting all lumber to market; for which by present methods they receive nothing.

(4) The lumber companies will be relieved from taking this waste, as every foreman and operator is at present instructed to leave all logs in woods, and all written and verbal contracts call for delivery of only good merchantable logs.

(5) The Government would receive an extra tariff over and above what is now paid.

The following privileges would, amongst others, be asked from the Government, namely:

(1) Each and every operator (contractor or foreman) to cut, haul, and drive all lumber at the same time as the merchantable.

(2) The Government to define what the percentage of a faulty log (say from 70 to 90 per cent) will constitute a merchantable log.

(3) All cuts to be marked on landings by a distinguishing registered mark.

(4) Men employed by the company to be boarded at camps while taking charge, and account of this lumber. I have the honor to be

Your obedient servant,

ST. GEO. H. GRAY

Florenceville, N. B., Jan. 30, 1919.

Kavanagh-Rideout

A very pretty wedding took place at the Church of the Assumption at Grand Falls on Oct. 19, when Miss Monica Elizabeth Rideout became the wife of Francis Roy Kavanagh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kavanagh, all of Grand Falls Portage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Joyner. The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. The bride looked very pretty in a dress of white satin draped with georgette and with pearl trimmings. She wore a veil and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses, white carnations and maiden hair fern. She was attended by Miss Mary A. Dooly, who wore Oriental blue satin with picture hat and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. Little Margaret Kavanagh was flower girl. Mr. Thomas J. McLaughlin supported the groom. After the ceremony the bridal party motored to the home of the bride's parents, where dinner was served to more than one hundred guests. The rooms were tastefully decorated with roses and moss, and music was furnished to entertain the guests. The presents were numerous and valuable, including a substantial cheque from the bride's father. The groom's present to the bride was a cheque and to the bridesmaid a pendant. Mr. and Mrs. Kavanagh will reside at the home of the groom's parents for a time.

Reception at Grand Falls

Mrs. A. J. Patstone held her first reception at the Rectory at Grand Falls on Oct. 19, when a large number called to welcome her to the town. Mrs. Patstone was very becomingly gowned in gray silk with corsage bouquet of roses. She was assisted in receiving by Mrs. J. L. White. Miss Marion White and Miss Muriel Patstone attended the door. In the dining-room the table was adorned with a handsome linen and lace cloth and was centred with a large bunch of crimson roses. The same beautiful flowers adorned the drawing-room. Mrs. R. T. Mooney invited the callers to the dining-room where Mrs. R. A. Puddington poured tea and was assisted in serving by Miss Beatie Fraser. Miss Annie Fraser replenished.

Taylor-Ratcliffe

A marriage of interest to many took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ratcliffe of Blue Bell, on Monday morning, when their daughter, Lillian, was united in marriage to Walter Harold Taylor, youngest son of H. W. Taylor, of Grand Falls. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. J. Patstone, rector of this parish, in the presence of a few immediate relatives and friends. The bride looked pretty in white silk. They were unattended. After the ceremony lunch was served, after which the happy pair drove to Ortonville, where they took the G. P. R. express for a honeymoon trip. They will reside at Blue Bell, where the groom is employed. The groom is one of four sons of H. W. Taylor, all of whom enlisted for overseas service in France, returning home after the armistice. He has a host of friends here, who extend to him and Mrs. Taylor all good wishes for a happy and prosperous future.

MORE OR LESS A MYSTERY

Few seem to know the Real Facts Concerning the So-Called Monkey of Mons.

Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?

An army officer brought home from Belgium a replica—a tiny silver figure with one clawed hand posed reflectively against its chin and with a look of introspection in its deep-set eyes. In showing it to a friend he mentioned that like a number of officers who had been to Mons, he carried the thing as a mascot. The friend told a woman about it, and she, being unacquainted with the monkey of Mons, asked a soldier who had been there.

"Never heard of it, but you can't judge by me, as I was only in Mons a couple of days—got great coal mines there, though."

Another soldier who had been to Mons long enough to go sightseeing was impressed mainly by the cathedral of St. Waltrude—"Built in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries; Gothic architecture, and—the monkey must have been there, of course, but—"

Then the woman extended her inquiry to a private who had hobbled around Mons for two hours while waiting to get away.

"Sure I saw it! Bronze statue in a street—or maybe it was one of those gargoyles things on the church wall, but anyhow, I saw it—at least it looked like a monkey, though I wouldn't be willing to swear to it."

Which is the why of this cry: "Are you acquainted with the monkey of Mons?"—Washington Star

TO PRESERVE OLD LANDMARK

Creation of National Monument Area Assures Security to Posterity of Famous Mullan Tree.

The Mullan tree, landmark of the old Mullan trail, the first highway connecting Montana and Idaho with the coast, will be preserved to posterity through the creation of a national monument area by the president.

On July 4, 1861, Capt. John Mullan, leader of the party having charge of the survey and construction of the Mullan trail from Walla Walla, Wash., to Fort Benton, Mont., closed his work at the connecting point of the roads from the east and west, at the head of the Fourth of July canal, between Wallace, Idaho, and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. There he marked appropriately a huge white-pine tree, which since that time has been known as the Mullan tree. Tourists seeking souvenirs of their jaunt along the Yellowstone trail have damaged the ancient tree so much that forest service officers have found it necessary to take steps to protect it, and, to accomplish this, have submitted a petition proposing that a national monument area be created, which has been approved.

When Paint Causes Wood to Warp. Coatings of equal moisture resistance should be applied to all surfaces of a wood product which would give dissatisfaction if it were to warp in service. Tests at the forest products laboratory, Madison, have shown that even when wood is properly kiln dried, no coating entirely prevents it from picking up or giving off moisture and, consequently, from swelling and shrinking under the influence of varying atmospheric conditions. Varnish, shellac and other moisture-resistant finishes merely decrease the rate at which the moisture changes in wood occur. The higher the grade and the more coats applied, the slower will be the moisture changes.

Unequal sealings on opposite surfaces of a wooden article cause unequal rates of change in moisture content and hence unequal shrinkage on the two sides of the piece. The result is that the wood tends to cup or twist out of shape.

Don't Save Felina Chum.

Deuce, an Irish terrier, proved at a fire in the pet shop at 270 Livingston street, Brooklyn, that the term "cat and dog life" sometimes means the opposite of hate, combat and commotion. Deuce had been living in amity with seven blooded cats in the shop for several weeks. When the fire started he saved himself, and then watched the firemen rescue the cats. Apparently he counted them, for when the men stopped rescue work after bringing out the sixth he dashed into the burning shop and came out carrying the seventh by the scruff of its neck. Deuce had to open a cage to do it. When he released the cat on the sidewalk, the latter purred and rubbed against his legs, until the shop owner gathered up both animals and took them away.

Depressing Personality. "There comes Bithersby." "I see him. Let's avoid him." "Why?" "He's the worst crows hanger I know. Every time he hears me start to talk about buying a new motor car or taking a little trip to Florida or Cuba he wants to tell me how many babies die every day in Europe."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

EAST FLORENCEVILLE NOTES

The Harvest Supper given by the ladies of the United Baptist church on Thursday last was a decided success financially and otherwise, although the evening was unfavorable.
Over one hundred dollars was realized.

The Halloween Carnival held on Tuesday evening in Smith's hall was also a financial success. The members of the Women's Institute had the hall very nicely decorated carrying out the Halloween idea in trimmings of pumpkins and Jack. The stage looked very nice with a background of greenery and banded with sheaves and pumpkins while two stunts occupied prominent places in the background. Some $75 was cleared.

An electric light plant is being installed in the United Baptist church.
The electricians are Messrs. Rice and Folkner.

The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church will have a chicken supper on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, in the basement of their church.

Death at Bristol

The death occurred on Oct. 7 of Mrs. Andrew Elkins at Bristol, after a lingering illness. Services were held at Bristol Primitive Baptist church conducted by Rev. H. V. Brag-don. Mrs. Elkins was a woman of fine Christian character, leaving the evidence behind. She has gone to be with Christ, which is far better. She leaves to mourn, a sorrowing husband and one son at Plaster Rock who is employed by Fraser's Ltd. as engineer.
Besides many relatives and friends.
Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.
