One of the sad results of the big strike was the suffering inflicted upon the stock. Cattle, sheep and hogs, on their way to markets, were held up until they died of hunger and thirst. Horse owners who had made entries at certain points were afraid to ship their stock, and had to forfeit. Many of the meetings were thus crippled while some were abandoned. Horses forced under the hammer in the disturbed communities were literally given away.
Everywhere business was more or less paralyzed and the loss inflicted upon the breeding community is not easily calculated.

KNOWLEDGE Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adopting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.
Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most palatable, and pleasing to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectively cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation.
It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.
Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, and the name, Syrup of Figs, being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

ger than Fiction.

There has come to light a wonderful case of restoration to health, at Lakewood, Corner, N. B. The particulars were first given out Feb. 3, 1894, and are as follows: Mrs. R. Upton, of that place, had five or six months and sometimes fifteen days for five or six years. Five physicians treated her for her chief troubles, severe and chronic indigestion and inability to retain food on her stomach.
In the spring of '93 she commenced to take "Grosder's Syrup." Since then she has had no symptom of fits, her general health has wonderfully improved and she is able to do all her usual work.
She took five bottles "Grosder's" will make out the above statements if necessary. The lady who sold her this restoring medicine, Mrs. S. Taylor, says, "I have known Mrs. Upton for over fifteen years, and I know the above statements to be true in every particular." Your health may demand the use of Grosder's Syrup.

An Unpublished Chapter From Chipp
That Pass in the Night.

The Disagreeable Man was a mere shadow, yet he easily filled two seats in the electric car. His paper, which he read continually, occupied the space of another seat.

No one spoke to him; but he didn't give a hang, or a care, or a continental damn either they did or not. He was waiting.

The bell sounded two weary strokes.
Bernadine entered the car without perceiving it; it was all she had, for she was poor. Her clothes were dusty and she was hot. So was the day.

She reached the front of the car and dropped into a seat. It was the Disagreeable Man's paper's seat. He partially looked up in complete surprise. No one had ever done that before.

"Room for one more on the left, please," called the knight of the fare.
The Disagreeable Man did not move.
"Did you hear what he said?" asked Bernadine.

"I hear what you say," replied the Disagreeable Man.

"Then I say what he said," she went on.

The Disagreeable Man was lost in thought. He was thinking of her.
"Does she mean me?" he asked himself.
She was the only girl who had ever made him think.

In fact, he thought twice. His second offence was "if it were not for the promise to my mother not to stay out after dark while she is alive, I would send this girl home." And still he waited.

The conductor came to collect the fares.

GENERAL NEWS.
Football was a crime in England during the reign of Henry VIII.

There are more mules in the tail of a rat than there are in a human hand.

There are clubs of girls in Sydney, the object of which is to attend the theatre without male escort.

Bicycle riders in Scotland, Australia, are required to dismount twenty-two yards from an approaching horse and draw their wheels past.

In Chittanooga a man 70 years old kissed the hand of a young lady by way of compliment, and she has sued him for breach of promise.

In China a man who killed his father was executed, and along with him his schoolmaster for not having taught him better.

Whenever a murder is committed in Argentina it is customary to put every possible witness in prison and keep him there until the real culprit is convicted.

A notice has been posted on the doors of one of the most fashionable churches in the west-end of London to the effect that no more coppers will be accepted in taking up the collections.

While Astbury Park is suffering from a visitation of ladybugs, Mount Misery, N. J., is fighting "the bugs." The insect is a peculiar one, and is so called because its head resembles a plug that coked on one side.

Cities in Norway do not grow so rapidly as some of those in the west, Tromso, in that country, has just celebrated its 1,000th anniversary. It is that time it has grown from 60 people to 6, 000. The inhabitants are chiefly devoted to fishing.

A proposal of marriage in Siam is a very simple matter. The lover takes a light from a cigarette in the mouth of his lady fair or offers her a flower, and the declaration is made.

A Parisian shopkeeper carried a baggage baby with her during her profane excursions. The infant had a wax face and a hollow, leather body. It was used to attract customers to the shop, such as gloves, lace, etc., to the spacious baby.

Statistics show that is 1,000 marriages 329 men marry women younger than themselves, 679 marry women of their own age or near it, and 89 marry women older than themselves. The most notable difference in ages was in Camden, N. J., last year, where the bridegroom was 22 and the bride 69.

The British Board of Trade has issued its report of the railroad accidents which occurred in the United Kingdom in 1893. One thousand and eleven persons were killed and 5,109 injured, during the year, a decrease of 119 and 379 respectively, as compared with the figures of 1892.

Only one marble statue of the human figure with eyelashes is known. It is the sleeping Ariadne, one of the most of the Vatican, and was found in 1505.

Until the time of Charles XII. of Sweden the artillery was not considered a part of the army; the men serving it were not soldiers, but regarded as mechanics; the officers had no army rank.

A Parisian amateur book collector, M. George Salmon, has the largest collection in existence of the smallest books in the world. In the entire list of over 700 little volumes some of them is larger than one inch wide by two inches high.

The London Missionary society celebrates this year its centenary. The society finds itself in debt about $150, 000, and needs a increase of $100,000 in its yearly income. An effort has been begun to raise a centenary fund.

It is stated that during the last decade the number of Episcopal clergymen in England has increased three times as fast as the Nonconformists.
In the two previous decades the latter increased twice as fast as the former.

Personals.
Prof. Nicholas Crouse, of Baltimore, author of "Kathleen" Mayourness" has just celebrated the eighty-sixth anniversary of his birth.

President Diaz, of Mexico, has sent out a topographical and geological expedition to the volcano Popocatepetl, owing to the attempts of an American company to buy the mountain.

Diplomat Francis, of Paraguay, once enacted a law that all males should wear some kind of hat, if only a crow-less brim, so that they could show respect to their betters by removing their head coverings.

The Empress of Austria is said to be an uttering pedestrian. She thinks nothing of a walk of twenty miles, and the rapidity of her pace makes it difficult for her attendants to keep up with her.

Senator O. H. Platt, of Connecticut, said recently: "In the history of the country the man or men who have attacked the president have usually gone down, and the president has triumphed."

Foreign papers say that the head of the Korean traitor, Kim-ok-Kium, which the government intended to exhibit in all provinces was stolen a few weeks ago while the watchman who had his charge was asleep. The king has offered a big reward for the discovery of the thief. It is said that since the theft the father, wife and daughter of the convict have been beset.

To prove that there is something in dreams, James Fyfe tells a story about a servant girl who was very busy in a lottery. She was asked how she came to hit upon the lucky number, and declared that it was revealed to her in a dream. "I dreamt about the figure 7 and dreamt about it three, times and as three times seven make twenty-three I chose that number and it won the prize."

Most of the presidents of France have been fond of tobacco, and the fact that Camille Perier does not smoke excites great interest in Paris. The president has a precedent for his dislike of the weed in M. Thiers, who did not smoke himself and would not permit his suite to do so.

Miss Lewis and Mrs. Candace Wheeler have built a handsome block of women's dwellings in New York. It will accommodate 600 women, in single rooms or suites, according to their incomes. Those who wish to keep house can have unrented apartments, with kitchens, to be leased by the year.

There is great consternation among the lovers of bull-fighting in Spain because Guerris, the only remaining fighter, has declared his unalterable decision to retire from the ring. The reason given is that he is worth over $200,000, and that his wife suffers terrible anxiety every time he fights.

A sister of the late Mr. Spurgeon preached twice recently to crowded congregations at the handsome church in Hamstead road, in connection with the services. Her manner is impressive, and she bears a personal resemblance to her eminent brother.

Issac Pasha, who is frequently heard of nowadays, is at Caribah and permitted the sultan having given him permission to go there to take the field. The excited khedive has grown very old and very weak during the last few years.

The coming minister from Japan to the United States, Mr. Kaneko, is a graduate of Harvard and of the Cambridge Law school. He is something over 40, has traveled in Europe, and is famous at home as a parliamentarian.

It is estimated that the value in increased fees of the baronetcy which was yesterday conferred on Dr. Williams, the physician to the Duchess of York, is $10,000 a year. His professional income has previously reached the enormous sum of $75,000.

Some months ago a Dublin inventor claimed for a preparation of his that it would preserve eggs in perpetual freshness. To thoroughly test the efficacy of the invention, which, if successful, would revolutionize the egg market, an experiment was carried out at the Freeman's offices. A sample of eggs immersed in the patent solution, which is a thin grayish taste of the consistency of honey, have remained there undisturbed for a period of four months, and when opened the other night in the presence of experts were found to be all perfectly fresh.

Charles Johnson has invented a patent hen's nest that is a very great convenience to Biddy, and it is an automatic persuader for her to do good work.
When the hen approaches the nest a wicklet door gently opens, and after she passes in it closes and the hen has private apartments all to herself. The egg of its own weight opens a trapdoor and rolls noiselessly out of sight. Then, in when the hen arises, puts her hands her pocket, and gets ready to walk out, not seeing the egg, she thinks she has made a mistake and lays another. This sort of thing is repeated until the heat of the chicken buds in the box below touches a spring and Biddy is freed out of the apartment. -Harriet (Mo.) Journal.

Shire Town of Cumberland.
PROGRESSIVE, ENTERPRISING, AND
THRIFTY AMHERST.

Amherst enjoys the distinction of having increased its population sixty-six per cent. between 1881 and 1891, and there are good reasons for believing that this ratio of increase has been kept up since, so that its population may now be put down at about 4,600 souls. As a business community it may be put down among the most active, energetic, industrious and enterprising in the maritime provinces. Several large and thriving manufacturing have been established there and these give employment to a very large portion of the population. Its situation is pleasant and surroundings indicative of great natural wealth in the extent and value of the very best agricultural lands. It may be briefly described as a peninsula of somewhat undulating and irregular upland in the midst of an ocean of marsh.
Its streets are not as a rule laid out in parallel lines and some of them display something of the eccentricities of the meandering cow track. These features add something to the picturesque qualities of the town and constitute a unique charm of their own. Amherst has many fine public and private dwellings and the indications of wealth, culture and refinement are found on every hand. It has many fine old shade trees, and the present generation has not been unmindful of their obligations in this respect, and by planting numbers of young trees have placed posterity under grateful appreciation of the labors of the present day. As those who have gone before have left their legacy of loving remembrance to the living of to-day, Amherst has good hotels where the man who travels either for business or pleasure can be assured of all the comforts and conveniences which modern civilization has provided for the physical ease and welfare of man. All of the public buildings, except some of the churches, if these may be called public buildings, and many of the private residences and stores, are built of stone or brick, and have a substantial and durable character. The court house, the custom house and post office and the new county academy are all built of stone, an excellent quality of which, a kind of red sandstone, is quarried about a mile from the town. The new Baptist church, now in course of erection, and which will be very handsome when completed, is being built of this stone.
This church will cost, when finished for the service of God, about $35,000.
Messrs. Rhodes, Curry & Co. are the contractors, and they are hustling the work with their usual energy. Amherst has churches dedicated to all the leading forms of Christian belief, and they include Church of England, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Methodist and Baptist, but which predominates this component knoweth not. It is sufficient to say that neither form has been negligent in providing handsome temples in which to worship.

The new county academy is considered one of the handsomest and best equipped in the province, its cost running up to $40,000, or will be when all the designs are completed. A handsome block of stone buildings on the principal business thoroughfare, Victoria street, is owned by T. R. Black, M. P. It is called Black's block. In this are a number of fine stores and offices of professional men in the various learned callings.
Amherst has a capital water supply and is well protected against the ravages of fire. The water supply has its source some two miles out of town. A reservoir is placed at an elevation which by the force of gravitation will throw water high enough to reach the top of the highest building in the highest part of the town. The town is lighted by electricity, and the same artificial light is used in all public buildings, all of the stores and most of the private residences.

In short Amherst is right in the breast of the times, and means to keep pace with the best of all rivals or competitors among the progressive towns of Nova Scotia. Amherst owes much of its progress and enviable record for enterprise to the pluck, judgment and skill of its business men and manufacturers.

The Courtesies of War.
The Japanese Minister, on leaving China, was insulted and mobbed by Chinese soldiers. For this outrage Li Hung Chang has sent an apology to the Minister and promised that the offending soldiers will be punished.

This charming exhibition of courtesy in the midst of a bloody war, is well remembered by the Toronto News. Only reminded by that little incident at Fon-tenay when the French and English Guards unexpectedly came face to face.

"Let the gentlemen of France fire," said the English commander, as he raised his hat and bowed politely to the enemy.

"That is impossible," responded Count D'Anterosse, who commanded the French. "We are the surprised party. You must fire first."

The desire of the Frenchman was complied with and the whole of the front rank of Louis' Guards went down before a well-aimed volley at short range.

The Pictou Standard says: Mr.
William Goldenish has a fine three fourths Jersey cow, three years old, which he tells us lately made 61 lbs. butter in four days; 9 lbs. in five days; 10 1/2 lbs. in six days; 12 1/2 lbs. in seven days; while at the same time a half gallon of milk per day was kept out for use.

The Botanist of the Dominion Experimental Farms at Ottawa, has received from one of his correspondents an undoubted specimen of the dreaded Russian thistle which was found growing at Glen-brook, Manitoba. This weed has proved a terrible pest in the Dakotas and other western states. Mr. Fletcher the government botanist has been on the lookout for this plant for two years past and has been kept posted by his many correspondents on its gradual advance from its original starting point on this continent, South Dakota, where it was introduced, probably in fax-seed from Russia in 1880. It is now spread over six or more counties in Dakota, and in many cases has actually driven settlers from their farms. The plant grows to a large size and is highly branched with sharp spines so that animals and men cannot work amongst it. In winter it separates from the soil and blows across the prairie dropping its seeds wherever it rolls.
The great danger attending the spread of this weed has been recognized in the United States. The northern states have spent nearly $1,000,000 in fighting it, and Congress has just appropriated another million dollars, in a lump sum, to try and secure its eradication. By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Fletcher has prepared for immediate issue an illustrated circular for distribution among western farmers, urging them to use every effort to stamp out the weed before it becomes firmly established.

Is Witchcraft Reviving?
A recent occurrence in Henlock Hollow, Pa., threatens to revive in the nineteenth century the trial for Witchcraft, a crime commonly regarded as having existed only in the superstitious imaginations of our forefathers. The Pennsylvania case arose out of the peculiar death of Mrs. Paul, who committed suicide a few days ago leaving behind her a note addressed to the Rev. J. W. Harrison who had long exercised incomprehensible power over her. Some time ago this clergyman took up his residence in Hen-lock Hollow, where he was placed in charge of the Methodist church. Mrs. Paul was unmarried and wanting a housekeeper engaged for that purpose Mrs.
Paul, a woman of fifty who had a good house and grown up children. In a short time the woman fell under his influence to such an extent that she seemed spellbound and could think and talk of nothing else. She made over her property to him, and on complaint of her children he was dismissed from the ministry. He sent Mrs. Paul from his house, but meeting her on the road one day they entered into conversation and had a quarrel.
Half an hour afterwards she was dying from the effects of a dose of laudanum.

The jury returned the following verdict: "We the jurors empanelled by the Coroner of Wayne county to investigate and the cause of the death of Mrs. Caroline Paul, find that she came to her death by the use of a poisonous drug known by the name of morphine, administered contrary to her will by the influence or threats of one John W. Harrison." Harrison has been arrested but what his crime is Evidently, if the grand jury finds a true bill it must be on the grounds that Harrison bewitched Mrs. Paul. But there is no such crime in the calendar with witchcraft. It may, of course, be said that Harrison's power over the woman was due to hypnotism, but what the difference between hypnotism and the evil eye? We no longer believe in supernatural agencies, but hypnotism gives one person a real power over the will of another none the less effective because we have eliminated the devil from the equation. Now, if this power is used to compel the person whose will is controlled to commit a crime, why should there not be punishment for it?

CHIGNECTO POST AND BORDERER

SACKVILLE, N. B., AUG. 16, 1894 SEVENTY DAYS.

The Transcript accuses us of gloating over the 70 days imprisonment of Mr. Hawk for defaming the present Lieut. Governor of the Province. No such thing. On the contrary we considered the sentence unnecessarily long. For all the damage done the sentence could have been made ten minutes. The court treated the matter much too seriously.

How could we gloat over a martyr to a sacred principle? An infamous law relating to libel, we were given to understand, existed in our legal code. This disgrace had to be removed. The country had to be "redeemed, regenerated and disenthralled," with such side advantages as would arise from the free advertising of the Transcript, a public press, a place for suppers, flowers, and, last, though not least, the daily recorded "Prison Thoughts," which have enriched the treasures of English Literature. Thus, the crusade against an iniquitous law enforced by a tyrannous bench was launched and started on its voyage of conquest!

Now comes the sad part of it all! It has never been heard of since. There was no dry dock to float it and we surmise it was cast ashore in the fogs and mists of a dangerous reef called "Government Printing Jobs."

This occurred years ago. Hon. Mr. Blair has all these years been leading the government and the legislature of the province. He has taken no steps to redeem the country from the infamy of this iniquitous law. He has never referred to it in the legislature.

The Transcript has become silent also. It has never faltered in its support of Mr. Blair. It supports him faithfully in his silent contempt for the sacred principles for which its editor suffered martyrdom!

It shouts for him while he kicks the dirt at the old Transcript has written about Libel laws. Still the Transcript has consolation. It has Government Printing Jobs.

The Liverpool Eng. Timber news says: The greater quantity of spruce deals from the New Brunswick and Nova Scotia ports have so far gone straight into consumption, very few having been yarded.

IT WOULD appear that Sir Oliver Mowat is hardly secure yet. The seats of twenty-four members of the Ontario Legislature have been attacked and if the ordinary proportion of the petitioners succeed the verdict given by Ontario at the recent elections may be reversed.

The wheat area in the Argentine Republic is reported to be 20 per cent in excess of that of last year and the average price received by Argentine farmers in 1893 was 37 cents a bushel. This looks as if dollar wheat is not an event of the near future.

TARIFF reduction has sustained a decided reverse at Washington. Seeing that it was a case of the amended Senate bill or nothing, and fearing that further delay and opposition might result in failure to get even that much the House was compelled to accept the Senate bill. It is true that the separate bills were also passed by the House planning coal, sugar, iron ore and barbed wire on the free list but it is altogether probable that the Senate will reject these.

ENGLAND alone has previously remained neutral in the war against the anarchists but it looks as if even England will not be an asylum much longer for three very troublesome subjects. Two London anarchists have been sent to prison for six months for alluding to the Queen and her family as vermin and using language calculated to incite to murder. The action of the Italian government in banishing anarchist already prevalent is undoubtedly governed by the same anxiety they wish without troubling other and differently constituted people who desire good honest government.

THE WAR in the East is not likely to interfere to any extent with Canadian commerce. The trade of Canada with China and Japan, which consists almost wholly in tea, rice, silk, spices, drugs, and novelties of various descriptions from the East and of cottons from Canada has not yet reached great dimensions and is comparatively stable. For nearly the entire trade of China is carried on through the treaty ports which have been declared neutral by the European powers and as Japan commands the sea her commerce is not likely to be interfered with. Beyond possibly raising the price of tea and silk then the war is likely to be of consequence only to the Japanese, the Chinese, and especially to the Koreans.

Some microbes under the name of men while passing through Westmorland Point a few evenings ago assumed themselves by breaking windows in the school house. Two large panes and 4 sashes were destroyed in the unoccupied house at the top of Fowler Hill belonging to Thos. Carter 3 panes of glass were smashed and the plaster knocked off the walls by the force of the concussion. Such miserable cattle as these are deserving of cells at Dorchester with hard labor. It is generally supposed that they were Sackville as Amherstians were not so low. Many of the trees in the Amherst Cemetery are being destroyed by the caterpillar. - Amherst News.

We presume that these caterpillars were also from Sackville as Amherst caterpillars would not climb so high, for lack of enterprise, and neither would they be attracted to the most populous and progressive quarter of Amherst, and above all they would not have been found at work. From the savage mood of the News man some Sackville villain has been trading horses with him or giving him bogus items of news.

Tariff Bill Passed.

THE HOUSE OF CONGRESS AGREES TO THE SENATE AMENDMENTS BUT DECLINES FOR FREE COAL, SUGAR AND IRON.

The long struggle over the tariff bill came to a close on Monday, when the house by a vote of 182 to 104 decided to discharge the house conference from further consideration of the bill, in accordance with its opposition to the 634 amendments, and agree to the same. It was a complete victory for the senate. The result grew directly out of the senatorial course of events at the senate and of the capital presided at by Senator Hill on Friday. Up to that time the house conference had stood firm against the senate amendments, especially on coal, iron ore and sugar, and the temper and voice of the house was for a war to the end. But the indications that the Democrats of the senate might be unable to longer hold a majority of the votes in line on every item of the bill and that the bill was in desperate jeopardy forced the house Democrats to immediate action. The Democratic conference of the house at last admitted that they were beaten, and that another vote would not be risked in the senate, that it must be either the senate bill or no bill. The whole question was precipitated at a caucus held just before the house convened Monday, at which, after a thorough review of the situation and in favor of receding by Speaker Crisp, Chairman Wilson and others, it was decided to take the senate bill, and immediately afterwards passed separate bills placing coal, iron ore, sugar and barbed wire on the free list. The programs arranged in the caucus was carried out to the letter in the house under the iron-clad, special order. The scenes in the chamber throughout the day and evening and in the night were exciting, and at times sensational. The galleries were packed, and the members applauded their respective leaders to the echo.

When the senate amendments had been accepted Mr. Wilson offered the first of the separate free list bills in accordance with the resolution adopted by the house on Friday. It provided for the free admission of bituminous coal, shale, slack and coke. The bill was passed—yeas, 160; nays, 104. Mr. Wilson then stated that he was directed by the Democratic caucus to present the bill placing iron ore on the free list. The bill was passed 183 to 102.

Mr. Wilson next presented the bill for free barbed wire. The vote was taken—Yeas, 187; nays, 84. The Free Sugar Bill was discussed at some length the vote was taken and the bill passed by 270 to 111. This was the largest affirmative yeas and nays ever cast in the House of Representatives. The House adjourned.

U. S. Tariff.

In the Senate bill which the House has just passed, the following duties are fixed on the following staple articles which have been the bone of contention between the two branches of congress: All raw sugars, forty per cent. ad valorem. Sugars about No. 15, (refined) one eighth per cent. additional. Cigars and cigarettes, 84 per cent. and 25 per cent. ad valorem. Coal, bituminous and large slack, 15 cents per ton. Precious stones cut and unset, 25 per cent. ad valorem, set 30 per cent. ad valorem. Iron ore, 40 cents per ton. Pig, $4 per ton. Iron or steel rails, 7.20 of one cent per pound. Lead ore and dross, 3 of one cent per pound. Silver lead bearing ore, the same duty on the lead contained therein. Tobacco for strappers, $1.50 per pound unstemmed, $2.25 stemmed. Cigars and cigarettes, 84 per cent. and 25 per cent. ad valorem. Coal, bituminous and large slack, 15 cents per ton. Precious stones cut and unset, 25 per cent. ad valorem, set 30 per cent. ad valorem. Glaziers' and miners' diamonds, free. Logs and sawed lumber and timber (except tropical woods) and wood are free. Tin plate 1.15 cents per pound after October first. Marble, rough, 50 cents; undressed, 80 cents per cubic foot. White and red lead, 1 1/2c per pound. Under the internal revenue sections of the bill playing cards are taxed 2c per pack. An income tax of 2 per cent. on incomes above $1,000 is provided for; also a tax on corporations of two per cent. Whiskey or taxed $1.10 per gallon; and the bonded period is fixed at eight years. It is possible that President Cleveland may not assent to the bill.

Corea's Relations.

As the war in Corea progresses, it begins to be seen that Russian influence is at the bottom of the troubles. Next to India, Russia would like to include this fine peninsula in her Asiatic domain. It would certainly give her the strategic and commercial position on the Pacific which Vladivostok, ice-bound for half the year, does not afford. But she knows Great Britain would have something to say in a deal of this kind, and, moreover, would probably support China in keeping Russia to her pledge made eight years ago that she would not occupy Corea.

The only authentic record of a previous invasion of Corea by the Japanese, involving a war with China, is that of 1592, when Hideyoshi, a Japanese of ignoble birth, but of good military prowess, tried to gain supreme power for Japan. He went with an army of 150,000 to Corea and at the first was successful over the Chinese forces, but in the end the "heathen" marched army after army into Corea and the Japanese, seeing their cause hopeless, made peace and retired. For centuries China has been the scene of innumerable bloody battles with Tartars and other tribes bordering on the north and northwest of China proper. The present dynasty is only of two hundred years, and is of a later origin, and the Chinese garrisons in the country are mainly of the Manchurian race, brave, patient and hardy, when properly commanded and led by able officers. While China in her many wars against eastern nations has generally come out the winner, because of her numerous population and vast resources, she has failed every time she has ventured to carry on war with Great Britain or France. The opening of the China trade to all British subjects by the abolition of the East India Company's monopoly in opium in 1833 gave rise to a series of disputes with the native rulers of the several provinces, which at length led to hostilities. The traffic in opium was so great and a loss to the pockets of the few Englishmen who ruled, that in 1839 Commissioner Lin determined on its forcible suppression, and thereupon seized the persons of all the British merchants at Canton and of Captain Elliot, the consul. He also seized over £2,000,000 sterling of opium and destroyed it without ceremony. An apology and compensation was demanded by the British cabinet, but all to no purpose and war was declared in 1840. The British expedition was placed in fine fighting trim. Lord Gough as commander-in-chief, assisted by the late Sir Colin Campbell as second in command. The war was vigorously prosecuted, and Hong Kong, Woosung, Canton, Chinshai, Amoy, You-You, Nankin, and Shanghai, in fact, the whole of the fortified cities were captured by the British. In 1842 an advance was about being made on the capital at Peking, when China became frightened and agreed to pay $21,000,000 indemnity, to open up to the year of the Indian mutiny, 1857, when China, taking advantage of Great Britain's position, insulted the late Earl of Elgin, formerly Governor-General of Canada, British Ambassador to China, fired on the British fleet at the Peking forts, and committed other outrages on British and French missionaries and merchants. British troops were sent on the scene and seized Canton, making prisoner Commissioner Yeh. As soon as the mutiny was quelled a large British army was dispatched under General Sir Hope Grant to Northern China to capture Peking. They were joined by a French army under General Montebello, and on the 1st of August 1860, landed in the face of the enemy at Peking. Tungkuo, Seabo and Tien Tsin were soon captured after a brief struggle. The cause of the accident was that some person or persons unknown during the preceding night had withdrawn the cables which were used in the same manner to complete the obstruction; that no blame for the accident was placed on the railway company or any of its officers or employees.

The wrecked Nicosia. The bark Nicosia, Capt. Cole, of St. John, was lost on Sackville Island on July 30th. She ran ashore in a fog. The bark was owned by John H. and Robert Thompson, was of 1,048 tons register, and was built at St. John in 1878. She was subsequently caught and totally destroyed. The government steamer Newbell brought the news to Halifax on Sunday. Some shells and fuses were saved but landing was difficult and dangerous and two children of the captain's came near being drowned by being carried out by the under-deck.

An investigation into the circumstances connected with the wreck is now being held before Deputy minister of marine Smith at Halifax. Capt. Cole and mate Hansen have been examined and their evidence shows that the boat was in the habit of taking charge of the ship and a watch like any officer; that contrary to law there was no second mate on board; and that when the bark struck Sackville Island it was supposed she was twenty-five miles off.

Opinion of a gentleman that Russia would never consent to such a proposition; she prefers to let events take their course while her interests are not menaced. The Vancouver correspondent of the London Daily News says: "England France and Russia have agreed not to tolerate an attack on Peking. Their respective squadrons were instructed to interfere if the Japanese attack Taku."

The British dailies continue to publish vehement denunciations of Japanese Every respite of the Japanese in Corea or Korean waters is welcomed editorially, as a would-be triumph of British arms, and every Japanese success is eyed with distrust and disapproval and apperly to international law.

The opinions of the press are not reflected by the British public. The great British works in the press are in favour of the present struggle and hope that Japan will humble China in the present war. Among diplomats and others who speak with authority on Oriental affairs, however, there is a feeling of hostility and apprehension toward Japan.

With few exceptions, the men who have lived at Eastern courts have traveled much in Asiatic countries, while imbued with no love for China, expressed belief that Japan's success in the present struggle would be bound to lead to trouble between England and Russia. The government's views are similar.

SANTO'S LETTER.

The mother of Santo, the assassin of President Carnot, has written to Mme. Carnot, the widow of the late chief magistrate of France, asking her to intercede with President Casimir-Perier in order that the life of the condemned man may be saved. The assassin's mother has received a letter from Santo, in which he says:

"DEAR MOTHER.—I write a few lines in order to inform you that I have been condemned to death. What must you think of me! You cannot think that I am an assassin and a malefactor. You know my good heart—and my tenderness was always shown to you! Well, my heart is the same to-day! If I have committed this act, it was simply because I was tired of looking on such an infamous world. I thank the priest for coming to me, but I do not desire to confess. I salute you, my brothers, sisters and others, with a thousand kisses."

This was the first act of general cannibalism since 1876.

The Arawa touched at Suva, Fiji, July 26, and brings word of the suppression of a native revolution on Vanua Levu. The Arawa was sent over the delimitation of the province by the Eiji government, which includes the district of Sequa in that of Manuaqva, against the people's wishes, incited by one of the chiefs natives returned to the old-time devil worship, or "Lava, No Wa," as a way out of the difficulty, the present saying he had received revelations from the old gods of Fiji. His followers then revolted from the constituted authorities, Sir J. B. Thurston finally putting down the trouble with the constabulary force after the natives had raided several towns, massacred people, mutilating and eating the dead after the style of years ago. This was the first act of general cannibalism since 1876.
