WORLD OF SPORT

INDOOR BASEBALL

Indoor Baseball bids fair to become popular with the Chatham young men this winter. Lieut. W. A. Coltart, of B. Company, has started the ball rolling by presenting his company with a complete set of the necessities.

BOWLING

The bowlers took advantage of yesterday's fine weather and two doubles were pulled off. A. E. Jewett and G. K. Atkinson won in the third round and are now in the semi-finals. They are the first to be advanced that far. Yesterday's games were as follows:—S. E. Smith, J. H. Mitton (Dr. Fleming) 18.
G. K. Atkinson, A. E. Jewett, 20.
C. Austin, N. H. Stevens, 13.
In the first game Dr. Fleming was unable to play and J. H. Mitton was substituted.

FOOTBALL

The Wallaceburg Herald-Record gives a very fair report of the Wallaceburg-Chatham game at Wallaceburg. It says:—
"A special L. E. & D. R. train brought over the Chatham football team and about forty rooters on Thursday afternoon last. The occasion was the first game of the Western League series between Chatham and Wallaceburg and the interest in it was keen. The game started shortly after three o'clock on the school campus and from start to finish was stubbornly contested.
An unfortunate accident occurred in the beginning of the game when Stevens, Wallaceburg's star full back, had his knee cap knocked out, which will probably put him out of the game for a few weeks, possibly the season. Doyle was substituted for Stevens.
Right after the kick-off the ball was carried toward the 'Burg goal and a shot by Anderson on a pass from Angus scored the only goal before three minutes had elapsed.
A little later on Petherly scored again but the home team made a claim that he was off side and the goal was not allowed.
In the last half Taylor for Wallaceburg put the ball between the stakes, but the off-side claim of the Chatham club was allowed and the goal was not allowed.
The Wallaceburg team take exception to this ruling of Referee Plewen of Chatham, and a protest has been entered. No further scoring was done by either team and the game ended according to the referee's decision, Chatham 1, Wallaceburg 0.
All members of the local team are requested to turn out for practice on Thursday and Friday nights on the school campus.—Wallaceburg Herald-Record.

The Herald-Record prints a schedule of this end of the League, which counts the Wallaceburg-Darrell game a san open date, and not as defaulted to Darrell.

SAFE IN HIS SEAT

St. Catharines, Ont., Oct. 24.—The protest filed against the election of Dr. Jessop, Conservative M. P. P., for Lincoln, was tried here to-day, before Judges McLellan and Moss.
Court opened at 11 o'clock. E. G. Lord, of Toronto, appeared for D. J. McKinnon the defeated candidate, and E. A. Lancaster, M. P., was present in the interests of Dr. Jessop.
Mr. Long stated that the appellants had no evidence to offer to substantiate the charges laid against Dr. Jessop.
Mr. Lancaster asked that the case be dismissed with costs, their Lordships agreeing, and the case closed.

THE ASSIZES

Three cases set down for trial have been taken off the list. The cases of Zebbs vs. Bissett, and McGarvin vs. the Chatham Binder Twine Co., have the Chatham Binder Twine Co., have been settled out of court and the case of Arnold vs. Arnold has been laid over till the non-jury sittings of the high court.
His Honor, Mr. Justice Meredith, will be the presiding judge. He will arrive at one o'clock on Monday, and court will open immediately afterwards. There are now only three cases for trial, they are:
Thibodeau vs. Baby.—A remnant from the last court. G. G. Martin for plaintiff, Jas. Reeve contra.
Ward vs. Foster, W. A. F. Campbell, for plaintiff; Walter Mills, contra.
Harris vs. Humphrey, a wage case, W. A. F. Campbell for plaintiff; L. Reynolds, contra.
There are no non-jury cases.

The young people of the First Presbyterian church held a very interesting meeting in the Sunday school room last evening. Miss Sampson led the discussion on the topic. Next Friday evening the society will give a reception to the students of the city.

COAL STRIKE COMMISSION

Organization now Effectuated and Judge Gray Elected as Chairman.

Roosevelt Asks Expedition—Instructions Cover Questions of Controversy.

Washington, Oct. 24.—The members of the strike arbitration commission appointed by President Roosevelt met at the White House shortly after 10 o'clock this morning, and went into conference with the President. E. E. Clarke, president of the Order of Railroad Conductors, was the first member of the commission to arrive. Bishop Spalding, accompanied by Dr. D. J. Stafford, of this city, was the next to put in an appearance. General Wilson, who arrived a moment later, was followed by Thomas H. Watkins and Commissioner Wright, the recorder of the commission. Then came E. W. Parker, the mining expert. Judge Gray, of the United States District Court, was the last member to reach the White House. With his arrival the commission was complete. Several of the members had never before met. The introductions were made in Secretary Cortelyou's office, and immediately thereafter the commission ascended the stairs to the President's reception room. The President greeted the members of the commission cordially. The interview was brief. The work to be done by the commission was informally discussed. The President impressed upon the commission the importance of expedition, and informed them that he had decided to appoint two assistants to the recorder to facilitate the work. He then presented to them their instructions, as follows:
"THE PRESIDENT'S INSTRUCTIONS.
"White House, Washington, D. C., Oct. 23, 1902.—To the arbitral commission:—Gentlemen:—At the request both of the operators and of the miners, I have appointed you a commission to inquire into, consider and pass upon the questions in controversy in connection with the strike in the anthracite region, and the causes out of which the controversy arose. By the action you recommended in your report, an interest have in advance consented to abide by, you will endeavor to establish the relations between the employers and the wage-workers on a permanent basis, and, as far as possible, to do away with any causes for the recurrence of such difficulties as those which you have been called upon to settle. I submit to you herewith the published statement of the operators, following which I named you as the members of the commission. Mr. Wright being named as recorder. I appoint Mr. Mosley and Mr. Neill as assistants to the recorder. (Sgd.) Theodore Roosevelt."

The commission adjourned to meet next Monday. After adjournment the announcement was made that only two conclusions had been reached—to admit the public to all formal meetings of the commission, and to notify the parties to the controversy to attend the meeting on Monday for arranging a time for hearings which will be convenient to all concerned. Notices were sent to the mine operators and to President Mitchell, asking them to be in attendance on Monday. The commission has adopted the official name of the Anthracite Coal Strike Commission.

D. G. Wilson and George A. Watson, executors of the estate of the late John G. Wilson, Howard, were in this city today attending the passing of accounts in connection with the estate. O. K. Watson, barrister, Ridgetown, was also present.

LARGE CONTRACT

W. M. Drader, Chatham's enterprising manufacturer of cooperage stock, barrels, boxes, and lumber dealer has secured the large contract of supplying the Dresden sugar factory with barrels. The sugar company will require about 30,000 this season, but will in a good year amount to about 80,000 barrels.
Mr. Drader will open a branch cooperage in Dresden and will employ a number of Dresden Coopers.
Mr. Drader is a most progressive citizen. Coming here some years ago, he purchased the Grant land roller works on Queen street, and started a cooperage. Soon after he purchased the large VanAllen mills and yards, and within the past six months has started a large box factory and entered into the lumber business.

ENTERTAINED

Model School Students Gave an Excellent Social at School Last Evening.

The halls of the Central school presented a very animated and happy appearance last evening, the event being a promenade concert given by the Model school students. About 300 young people were present and an exceedingly enjoyable time was spent by everyone.
The first part of the program opened at eight o'clock with a flute solo by W. Wilson, followed by a recitation by Miss Edna Hicklin, solo by W. Miller and a recitation by Miss Belle Baxter. After this part of the program, which was held in the kindergarten room, a number of promenade songs were given in the upstairs hall. These promenades were very beautiful and much enjoyed.
In the second part of the program a piano duet was given by Misses Rhody and McLean, followed by a reading from Chas. Leach and a solo by Miss Blanche Baxter. After these numbers, which passed off very pleasantly, dancing was indulged in in the lower hall, Miss Nellie Rhody providing the music.
The Model school students are to be congratulated upon the success of their first entertainment. The school was very beautifully decorated throughout with flags and drapings, and presented a most inviting appearance.
It is understood that the models do not intend that this shall be their last social, and those who attended last evening are looking anxiously forward to the next one.

ONE MAN HOLDS UP A TRAIN

Shoots Engineer Dead at His Post—Plunders the Mail Car.

Blows Open the Express Safe and Secures a Large Amount of Booty—Hot on His Trail.

Missoula, Mont., Oct. 24.—An east-bound passenger train on the Northern Pacific was held up last night near Drummond, Mont., 45 miles from this city, and Engineer Dan. O'Neil was killed.
The train, which included mail, baggage and express cars and nine coaches, arrived at Missoula at 10:30 p. m., and proceeded eastward after a short delay at this station. It arrived after midnight at a place two miles west of Drummond. There the train was signalled to stop and the engineer slowed up. While doing so, he saw a man creeping toward him over the treads. The man, who was armed, called to O'Neil to stop the train instantly. The engineer took in the situation at once, and pulling open the throttle, tried to start the train a full speed. The robber divined his purpose and fired at him. The shot took effect and the engineer fell dead at his post.
The robber then proceeded to rifle the express and mail cars. He plundered the mail and blew open the safe in the express car, which was wrecked. The amount of plunder which he secured is not known at present, but it is supposed to be large.
The excitement on the train was intense. Word of the attack was sent to Drummond, where it was telegraphed to Deer Lodge, about fifty out at once and a search for the robber began. It was thought at first that eight men were engaged in the hold-up, but latest advices are that one man perpetrated the murder and robbery alone.

BLIND FOR 19 YEARS

Montreal, Oct. 24.—Joseph Brunet, a familiar figure on the streets of this city in the role of a solicitor of alms, who has been blind for 19 years, has recovered his eyesight. He consulted practically all the oculists in Montreal, and was told that his optic nerve had dried up, and nothing could be done for him. Brunet says that Dr. Grandjean, of Valleyfield, Que., was successful in restoring his sight.

C. C. I. NOTES.

C. I. Star Course opens on November 5th.
A Peters target and 2,000 cartridges have arrived for the use of the Cadet Corps in its practice for the competition for Major Beck's shield. "R.A." scores are to be reported by December 1st.
The bi-monthly exams will be held in all the rooms and on all subjects on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 3rd, 4th and 5th. All the pupils must be present.
A complete set of metric system of weights and measures, with a fine illustrative map has been received at the Institute from Ottawa. It was sent upon the solicitation of A. E. Jewett, Science Master.
Thomas Martin, North Chatham baker, suggests that about twelve aldermen be elected to represent the north side next year. Then perhaps they would get the St. Clair street pavement fixed and the holes on Head street and Emma street filled.

There had been a change. Topography Didn't Look Just Fe-miliar, and He Inquired. When I got within five miles of where I thought Deep Valley, Ida., ought to be, I met a man and a mule on the trail and asked if I was going in the right direction.

Doing the Right Thing. 'We had founded a new town in the west,' said the colonel, 'and of course we wanted a newspaper. We were casting about when a stranger came along one day and talked so glibly that the Boom Investment company gave him $500 and started him off for Chicago for his outfit. He did not return, and it was three years later before I saw him again. Then I happened to be in a town in Iowa, and I caught sight of my man at the door of a blacksmith shop. The recognition was mutual. He held out his hand for a shake and said: 'No harm done, colonel, I hope?'

Something Turned. 'What did de lady say when you told her you was waitin' for somethin' to turn up?' 'She turned up her nose.'

Not Really So Severe. Judge—What do you mean by saying that you have a claim upon my gratitude? Prisoner—I gave your wife her first lessons in singing. Judge—Then it is my plea—I mean painful duty—to pass the heaviest sentence which the law allows for the crime of which you have been found guilty. You will be imprisoned for the rest of your natural life.

Different. 'I am happy to tell you, madam,' said the lawyer to the wife of the railway accident's victim, 'that your husband can recover.' 'Oh, doctor, I am so thankful!—' 'Madam, I am a lawyer, not a doctor, and I have reference to damages, not health. He of course cannot live.'

A SCORE. I always dread his visits; he is what you'd call an awful bore. He talks, of course; that's why, you see, I'm sore.

He is not stupid in some ways; He's well informed, I have to own, But giving him just so much praise I grow.

He knows all sorts of things, no doubt, He really does not talk about Them much. But he will talk for hours and hours And at himself in quite a glow, About himself in a flow of flowers He'll throw.

His own opinions, his or strict, His feelings and his point of view, Remorselessly he will initiate On you. 'I will,' 'I won't,' 'I am,' 'I'm not,' 'I think,' just make my ebullient note, I hate a man who never dots His 'I's.

Monotonously from his self, By ring always the same old chimera, I like to talk about myself Sometimes.

STRICTURES CAN BE CURED WITHOUT THE KNIFE, PAIN OR LOSS OF TIME BY DR. GOLDBERG'S LATEST METHOD OF TREATMENT

According to claims made by Dr. Goldberg, Detroit's noted specialist, varicocele and strictures can be cured without pain, the use of the knife, or loss of time.

Were these claims made by an irresponsible person, we should doubt their truthfulness, but as they come from a reliable source they are worthy of consideration.

The treatment consists of a combination of drugs, which removes all traces of the stricture, while in varicocele it equalizes circulation, thereby restoring the parts to their natural condition; it cures nervousness, backache, smarting sensations, and unnatural discharges, thereby strengthening the organs, thus being a guaranteed cure for weak men.

If you are in need of treatment, we would advise you to write the doctor to-day, for if he accepts your case, make this offer: as you need pay nothing until a complete cure has been made, and unless the doctor was certain that his latest Method Treatment was a positive cure, he could not make this offer.

Address him in confidence Dr. Goldberg, 208 Woodward avenue, Detroit, Mich.

BLOOD POISON

If you ever contracted any blood disease you are never safe unless the virus or poison has been eradicated from the system. At times you see alarming symptoms, but live in hopes no serious results will follow. Have you any of the following symptoms? Swollen Throat, Clearing of the Tongue in the Mouth, Hair Falling Out, Aching Pains, Itchiness of the Skin, Sores or Blanches on the Body, Eyes Red and Smart, Dyspeptic Stomach, Sexual Weakness—indications of the second stage. Don't trust to luck. Don't ruin your system with the old fogey treatment—mercury and potash—which only suppresses the symptoms for a time, only to break out again, when happy in domestic life. Don't let quacks experiment on you. Our New Method Treatment is guaranteed to cure you. Our guarantees are backed by bank bonds, that the disease will never return. Thousands of patients have been already cured by our New Method Treatment for over twenty years. No experiment, no risk—not a "patch-up," but a positive cure. The worst cases solicited. We treat and cure Nervous Debility, Sexual Weakness, Gleet, Blood Poison, Stricture, Varicose, Kidney and Bladder Diseases, and all diseases peculiar to men and women.

On the 15th inst., the day before Thanksgiving Day, a fashionable wedding took place at the home of Mr. John Harris, Dawn, the contracting parties being Mr. Cyrus Vanasco, Zone, and Miss Mary Eleanor Harris. The bride's future home will be in Zone.—Florence Quill.

An exchange says it takes a rich man to draw a check, a pretty girl to draw attention, a horse to draw a cart, a porous plaster to draw the skin, a taper to draw the cork, a free lunch counter to draw a crowd and an advertisement in your home paper to draw trade.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Fenner, Tilbury West, celebrated the 20th anniversary of their wedding, better known as their china wedding, on Saturday evening. There was a large gathering of friends from the Townships of Rochester, Tilbury West, and Merse, being well represented, besides friends from a distance.—Comber Herald.

Mr. L. W. Baird, who left here a couple of weeks ago to accept a position with a large Toronto drug firm, has since secured a position at a higher salary, with the Bristol Drug Co., at Ansonia, Conn. He left Toronto last Saturday for Ansonia, to assume his duties at that place. We wish you success, Lou.—Blenheim Tribune.

The home of Mrs. Alfred Demard, Camden, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, when her daughter, Miss Minnie Bell, was married to Mr. Thomas Terry, Thomsesville, by the Rev. J. W. Jones, L. Th., rector of Florence, Miss Mary Boulton, of Walkersburgh, acted as bridesmaid. After the ceremony the friends and relatives partook of a dainty repast, after which the newly married couple left for their new home in Thomsesville.—Florence Quill.

A number of Essex County farmers have been duped by an agent representing the Arctic Creamery Co. The farmers bought a new style milk can which turned out to be a fake. The purchasers gave their notes for the cans and a number have been discounted at the local banks. Detectives Compau and Mahoney have been asked to locate the head quarters of the company in order that action may be taken against them.

One of the richest farmers in Kansas wheat belt is John T. Stewart, who came to the estate five years ago. He borrowed $50 from a friend, rented a quarter section of land in Sumner Co. and began work. Today he is worth $2,000,000 and had an income from wheat in 1901 of $64,000. He is known as the wheat King of Kansas. There are twenty-three millionaires in Kansas, 15 of whom are farmers living on farms and running them as an investment. Perhaps they have not all of their fortunes invested in land but a goodly portion of it is.

Fruit growers in this section have a lot of apples on their hands this season. Some buyers have called in their packers and will not complete purchases they had bargained for, claiming that they cannot get ocean vessels to accept the fruit on account of a seab or blister with which most of the apples is affected this season. The most satisfying things in life are love and sympathy; but these, like fame, must come spontaneously and indirectly, if they come at all, and not be sought as a specific end or direct aim in themselves.

Happiness falls to our share in separate detached bits; and those of us who are wise content ourselves with those broken fragments.

McKINNEY MINSTRELS.

The McKinney Bros. Minstrels put on a good show at the Grand last night. The opening chorus was especially good. Very few new jokes were fired, but a number of the specialties were much enjoyed, especially the axe juggling. During the performance N. H. Stevens announced the Kerry Gow, which Rowland and Young will stage on Monday night for the benefit of the firemen, to pay off their accident premium. Mr. Stevens spoke in the highest terms of the show and the generosity of Margaret Briscoe of the Opera House. The date is Monday night next, Oct. 27th. The firemen give their exhibition run to-night.

THE PERFECTION NEGRO ENTERTAINMENT.

The humorous side of the derby life has been presented on the stage for a number of years, their quaint dancing and odd sayings affording much amusement, not to mention those plaintive, harmonious, stirring shouts which are the features of all their entertainments. The scenes of these actions were invariably laid on a plantation or levee before the late civil war. After demonstrating their aptness for the stage in these performances, minstrelsy was tried with much success from which sprung many and noted entertainers, to re-unite the ever popular vaudeville performances. The modern life of the negro presents many amusing episodes that have been used to good advantage by playwrights for some of the most successful and amusing comedies being performed by introducing an individual character to their work. An entire comedy presented on the legitimate stage by a negro cast has been looked for and expected by advance thinkers of theatrical entertainment, Cole & Johnson presented the highly musical comedy, "A Trip to Coo-town," both these comedians starring in the piece last season. The New York Sun reviewing the piece said: "It was the most artistic farce comedy seen in New York for years." Such flattering comment on the new departure was more than was expected by its best wishers. For its second tour of the country many new features and novelties will be introduced in the comedy and everything possible done to advance its excellence. The same high class artists that were with the company last season have been engaged with additions from the pick of the colored profession. A Trip to Coo-town at Grand Opera House Wednesday night next.

AS A GOLD DIGGER.

When the Late Premier of Great Britain Was in Australia.

Lord Salisbury's retirement has once more raised the interesting question whether he did actually dig gold when he was in Australia. (in 1852). Now that he has more leisure he may satisfy curiosity by something of an autobiography. His latest biographer, F. D. How, gives the most complete account of Lord Salisbury's Australian experiences that has so far appeared in print. According to Mr. How, who apparently gathered his information at Hatfield, young Lord Robert Cecil was a member of a party that pegged out a claim on the Mount Alexander gold field, which was 23 miles on the Melbourne side of Bendigo, and now the town of Castlemeane. Mr. How cites the statement of a living miner who remembers seeing Lord Robert Cecil working the claim, and the kindness of the future Prime Minister to a six digger in a neighboring tent is also mentioned. But Lord Robert was not among the lucky ones at Mount Alexander, where fabulous fortunes were made by a few, and he afterwards proceeded to Bendigo, where his interest in auriferous operations was more scientific than personal. There is a speech of Lord Salisbury in which he made incidental and humorous reference to a time when circumstances constrained him to become his own cook and laundress.—London Chronicle.

A Big Scheme.

Engineering gives some details of the most important of all the electrical power-distribution undertakings in England—that of the Yorkshire Electric Power Company. The area of the district is 1,800 square miles, and contains a population of nearly 2,000,000. There are within the area 158 local authorities with a population varying from 400 to 400,000, and it is the policy of the promoters to confine operations to the supply in bulk to local authorities and other large consumers. The extent of business which awaits the development of the company may be gauged from the fact that there is 2,000,000 horse-power in use in this area. 20 local authorities have works in operation or in process of construction; 16 local authorities have provisional orders; but have not yet executed them; 12 local authorities have applied for power; 110 miles of tramways have been authorized, and orders have been sought for thirty more miles of tramways. A reference to the map in Engineering shows that it is proposed to serve this district from four power stations, located at Thornhill, near Dewsbury, Methey, Wath, and Bingley. It has been thought advisable to locate the first instalment of plant at Thornhill. The first instalment of plant will amount to 10,000 kilowatts, and two 2,500 kilowatts, after which the extensions will be carried out in units of 5,000 kilowatts. The district will be first served from six local sub-stations. It has been arranged, adds Engineering, that a considerable area can be supplied direct from the sub-stations without transformation. The pressure of transmission is 10,000 volts, and all the sub-stations are interconnected on the high-tension side, or else served by a duplicate set of mains.

A VERY TENDER LOVE

DIVINE SYMPATHY FOR HUMANITY BEAUTIFULLY SYMBOLIZED.

AS MOTHER'S LOVE FOR CHILD.

So is God's Love for the Erring Sons of Men—"As One Whom His Mother Comforteth, so Will I Comfort You," Says the Divine Father—Dr. Talmage's Sermon.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The tender affection of a mother for her child is used by Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage as a symbol of the divine love for the erring sons of men in the text Isaiah lxxv, 13, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you."

Washington, Irving has aptly been called the father of American literature. In all the writings of the ward of Sunnyside there is not a chapter more trenchantly powerful than that on "The Art of Bookmaking." In it the author pictures himself asleep, and dreaming in the library of the British museum. His head is pillowed upon a pile of musty tomes. While he dreams he sees the different authors of the present day pouring over the manuscripts of the ancient libraries and making ample notes and verbatim copies of the same and, indeed, going so far as to cut entire leaves from the books of a Beaumont, a Fletcher, a Pollock, and a Ben Jonson.

Then the dreamer sees these modern authors pasting together the verbatim excerpts and the stolen leaves into new volumes and printing their own names upon the "title pages." These literary practices continue until at last the cry of "Thieves! Thieves!" is raised. Then there is a great hubbub and scurrying among the modern authors because the ancient writers, whose faces and bodies are preserved within the quaint old-fashioned frames hanging upon the walls of the British museum are changed into flesh and blood, ready to snatch the new papers, and to claim them as the offspring of their own brain, some of them born centuries upon centuries ago.

The obvious moral of the imaginative tale is that there is nothing new under the sun. No man, woman or child, no matter how intelligent, can ever lay claim to true originality. We are all, physically and mentally, as well as spiritually, reproductions of other lives. We are all combinations of other people's thoughts and desires and actions; even as the walls of an ancient palace are often huge mosaics of many different stones cut from many different quarries. While many have contributed to make us what we are, the largest contribution is the maternal one. How much of all that is good and pure in our nature do we owe to our mothers! How rich of all the peace and comfort we have enjoyed do we owe to their wise and loving ministry! It is this fact which we all recognize, that the prophet uses to impress on us the love and kindness of God. No simile could be more effective as that in my text, "As one whom his mother comforteth."

The words of my text have for many of us a very tender and reverent application. The greatest lessons of a mother's life are those which have been learned by most of us from the now silent lips of our Christian mothers. Though your mother may have been dead for ten or twenty years you yet remember as though it were yesterday how tenderly she cared for you when you were a little child. You remember how she nursed you through that long fit of sickness when you were about fifteen, and every time she left the room you would call: "Mother, mother! Where is mother?" And, alas, you will remember the dark day when you carried her out to gently let her body down to the open grave among the spring flowers or when you covered her up under the soft quilt of spotless snow, the purest, gentlest, noblest, most forgiving and helpful of human companions was forever taken from your side. Remembering all this love and devotion we realize the force of the metaphor which Isaiah, the prophet, uses when, seeking to show how tender is God's love and care for his children, he takes the gentle, maternal instinct which has done so much to develop our physical and mental and spiritual life and says, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you."

The Divine Being shows the love of a mother in wanting to be the comforter of all the young folks who are preparing for the great struggle of life. The mother wants to be the inspiring friend of her boys and girls during the long years of immaturity, when the world at large is sneering at them and laughing at their ambitions, as though they were the visionary brain. She wants to be the friend of the young men and the young women during those school days when they have no earning capacity and when they are entirely dependent upon others for financial support. The struggle of life even under the best conditions is a hard one, but that struggle does not commence, as some people suppose, when the young man stands with a diploma in hand on the graduating day from school or college. It commences away back in the "early teens." It commences with the young girl's failure who is trying for the prize in the schoolroom. It commences with the disappointments of the playground. It commences with those little youthful sorrows and trials which the boy and girl can tell to no one but mother. Yes, the mother's comfort which is given to the young folks is an all important comfort. It is such a necessary comfort that many of us, when we were young, often could not go to sleep because of our weeping, until we heard her foot moving across our bedroom floor and felt her hand upon our forehead and her voice saying: "Never mind, my boy! It will come out all right. I will speak to your papa about the matter, and I know he will let us do what we want." God pity the name who have lost the gentle influence of a comforting mother during the days of childhood or of young manhood! God pity the boy who never knew the holy joy of having his tears wiped away by a mother's hand and who had been hurt upon the ball ground. God, as the divine mother, to-day wants to be the comforter and the comforting friend and saviour of the boys and girls and the young folks. As Christ once turned and rebuked his disciples, who tried to crowd away the young people from his side, and said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and I will bless them, for so it is the will of my Father in heaven," so to-day he bids the children come to him, and "clamber up into his lap, and nestle their little heads against the weeping heart of the Good Shepherd, who is the Father of the fatherless and the friend of the fatherless, who is the friend of the girl dressing the doll, as well as the friend of the young men and women in the school and college. For so it is the will of God that he loves your children with a love more intense than that which fills your heart? If you have not made your children in Christ, this, if you have never sought to know him, is the only way to know him and the only joy which can find their hearts to him, you have not really in your duty, you have not really consecrated them to Christ's service. Teach them how tenderly God loves them, and they will learn to love, honor and trust him as they love, honor and trust you.

The Divine Being is like a mother, too, in wanting to be the forgiving comforter of all who have gone astray. When a man does wrong and persists in doing wrong, nearly all the world will turn against him. But though nearly all the human race will turn against a sinner, as the Bible tells us, "if he is alive, who will never cease to reach after the prodigal." That person, as you all know before I speak her name, is the sinner's mother. The young man may be a sinner, but he may be so worthless in the eyes of the world that all his old friends may come to his father and say: "Your son is not worth being saved, he may be so useless that it is better that he may order his son out of the house and disown and disinherite him, but the mother will cling and continue to cling to her boy. If she thought that thereby she could give her son one more chance, she would sell her clothes out of her wardrobe, if necessary, she would move out of her home and go to work, she would sell her jewelry and even her hair, if she could give up her life if she could only save her boy.

Like the divine mother, God wants to be the comforter of all those who have made temporal failure of life—of those whose early ambitions have been as completely shattered and wrecked as were the ships in Apia harbor when the Samoan tornado drove them upon the rocks. He wants to be the comforter of those who have had to face a bankruptcy court, or who have had the dearest desires of their hearts annihilated. He wants to be the comforter of practically a whole human race, for temporal troubles that may last for a time, but shall not last forever.

Thus all the troubled and sorely disappointed of earth should take comfort out of the thought that God's love for you is as tender as the divine mother. They should be able to look at all worldly things, whether good or ill, as did the Maori chief, who, though torn in a New Zealand net, felt that he was being held in the arms of the most beautiful palaces of the world and say, "This palace is not as beautiful as the mansion which my heavenly Father has builded for me." Though the mother of Christians may be clothed in rags, yet they should feel that they are rich, because God, as a heavenly mother, has prepared for them the wedding garments which they shall be robed in the heavenly banquet hall at the King's marriage. Though they may be poor, yet they should feel, like the invalid son going home to his earthly parent, that all the treasures of heaven shall be forever theirs.

God, like a divine mother, wants to be the comforter of his children in their last earthly sickness as well as when he is bending over them in their cradles. He wants to be the comforter of the dying invalid when he utters the agonizing moan, "I cannot stand this pain any longer," as well as the comforter of the little child who is sitting for the first time in her Sunday class. He wants to be the comforter of all those who have been disappointed in life and who when they come to die may be gladdened by seeing him, feeling like the old statesman, Henry Clay, who in his last moments looked up with a sweet smile and cried, "Mother, mother! Ah, in that hour we shall need a mother's love as much as does the schoolboy who romps into the hallway calling to the cook, "Mary, where is mother?" And this simile is true because of all times when a mother chiefly longs to be by the side of her child it is when that child is dying.

When the eldest son of Queen Alexandra was sick unto death, the then Princess of Wales had hundreds of trained and most skillful nurses who would gladly have answered to her call. But day and night, for three long weeks, the mother of the Duke of Clarence never left his side. It was her royal hand that smoothed the sheets. It was her arm that lifted the fevered head. It was her lips that gave the last kiss, as the immortal spirit sped from the pain-racked form. Yes, the mother, the true earthly mother, wants to be the last comforter by the side of her dying child. It was in order to satisfy this maternal desire that Princess Alice, the daughter of Queen Victoria, disobeyed the orders of the physicians, and branding over the bed the young man, who was suffering from the diphtheria germs, kissed her baby girl face and at the same time pressed her own lips against the hot lips of death. Princess Alice laid down her life on account of her child. God, like the divine mother, specially loves to hover around the deathbed of his children, because he can there prove to us that "it is not all of death to die, nor all of life to live," and that death can be swallowed up in victory. He can prove it to those who have accepted his love and his sacrifice for their sins, as John Simcox proved it to his children when he himself was dying. In his departing saintly rapture, raised himself and looking back, cried out: "Who are you?" "Sorrow!" "Who are you?" "Sighing!" Then stretching his hands upward, the dying saint cried again: "And who are you?" "Joy!" "And who are you?" "Gladness!" Then, with a serene smile, the dying Christian again cried out: "Farewell, Sorrow, Farewell, Sighing, Farewell, Mortal Life. Welcome, Joy, Welcome, Gladness, Welcome, Eternal Heaven." If an earthly mother would long to be the comforter of her dying boy, surely Jesus longs to be beside his beloved and trusting children at their departure, to tell them of the hope and the joy and the transcendent triumph which await their heavenly translation.

Yes, perhaps you are one of those unfortunates who never knew a mother's love, though her affections were so intense that your going was her meat and drink, her hope by day and her prayer by night, yet hardly to have come into the world, and to have had your mother's love for you, once in awhile, with a longing to find out something about the height and depth of a mother's love, you may go to some gray-haired old lady and say, "Tell me something about my mother. You knew her well and were her bridesmaid when she was married." Then that gray-haired lady will go over all the past, she will tell you what a gentle, loving face your mother had. She will tell you how her eyes lighted up when you were first placed in her arms and she looked at you and said: "My baby, my baby, my little baby! God bless my baby!" Then that gray-haired lady will tell you how your mother's strength never came back again after you were born. They took her south, hoping that the sunny skies would make her strong again, but only the warm sunshine of that eternal city to which she went ever worked her cure. As the old lady tells you look at your mother's picture again and again and try to imagine her love for you. But, young man, you cannot do that any more than a blind bat or a ground mole can fully appreciate the colors of a butterfly's wings or the reflection of a dewdrop. So in order to symbolize God's love to you, a sinful man, who never knew what it was to have a mother's love, I would tell you that it is a greater love than the combined love of a father, a wife, children, brothers and sisters and friends. It is a love so deep that no line can fathom it, so high that no mathematician can circumscribe it. And all this love of our earthly mother is only an infinitesimal part of the love which to-day God gives a divine mother, is ready to pour out of his forgiving heart for you. Can you not grasp even a little of the infinite sweep of my text, "As one whom his mother comforteth, so will I comfort you." But perhaps I can better illustrate what your dear mother's love was to you by telling you of an incident which happened in the life of a very dear friend of mine. I know it is the story of the Rev. Ival Young Graham, D. D., of Philadelphia. When Dr. Graham, as a young man, was being ordained for the Christian ministry, Rev. Dr. Young, one of the most eminent ministers of western Pennsylvania in his day, was preaching the ordination sermon. There he told this story for the first time. "Many years ago," said he, "a beautiful young woman of the congregation I was at the time serving lay dying. When I made my last call upon her, she bade every one else leave the room. Then she lifted her little baby boy up and placed him in my arms as she said: 'Dr. Young, I am going to die. I want you to kneel and offer a consecration prayer. I want you to consecrate this boy to the ministry of the Lord Jesus and to the service of my Master. I am giving up my life for my baby. Now, sir, I want to give my baby to the service of my Christ. This is a dying mother's wish. I do not want until the day my little baby has grown into a strong man and is being ordained to the Christian ministry. I am here to-night,' said Dr. Young, 'to fulfill my pledge. That baby who was consecrated to the Divine Master's service is the young man who are ordaining to-night. Loyall Young Graham is that boy. May his mother in heaven, who gave her life for her child, be witness of this holy scene.'

Sinful man sitting before me to-day, are you the son of a Christian mother? Whether she is alive now or dead, her love for you, Young Graham's mother was for him. Are you, to-day letting her prayers find a fulfillment in your life? Are you to-day letting the love of God manifested in the sacrifice of the Lord Jesus Christ find a response in your life? Will you, here and now, realizing that your mother's love was a symbol of God's love for you, surrender your life to the service of him who, like a divine mother, cares over you, your repentance more than you can ever long to be cleansed through the blood of Christ and to be forgiven for your past sins. It is to the mother you love in God that I point you. It is to one who will cling to you long after even an earthly mother's affections shall have ceased and when they have forever faded away.

KITCHEN HELPS.

Kettles should never be allowed to boil dry and then be filled with cold water, thus cracking the enamel.

To remove fruit stains from knives cut a raw potato in two parts and run each knife repeatedly between the pieces.

When washing greasy dishes, if a little soda is placed in the water it will assist materially in cleaning the china-ware.

To clean japanned trays rub with a cloth on which a few drops of oil have been sprinkled and then polish with a soft, clean piece of flannel.

To prevent your steel knives from rusting dip them after washing into a solution of thin paste of baking soda and water, then wipe clean and dry.

Cut glass should have the greatest care in handling. A wooden tub should be used for washing, and the water in which it is cleaned should never be too warm for the hands.

When polishing knives, it is a good plan to preface the work by holding the board to the fire for a few minutes, for knives will polish better and quicker on a warm than on a cold board.

Clothes Make the Woman.

The woman who does not care for clothes, whose heart does not beat the quicker or eyes sparkle at the sight of the daintiness, the prettiness, of fine linen, the deep softness of silks, the thousand and one trifles that go to make up the blissful sensation of being right "all through" so dear to the feminine heart, must have something radically wrong with her and can never be an ornament to her own sex or a torment and delight to the other.

The slovenly woman who trusts to the power of her intellect and warmth of her heart to make her attractive to men will too often find herself left to her own reflections when some well-gowned and neat looking young woman appears on the scene. It is the duty of every woman to make herself as prepossessing as possible for the benefit of the casual observer as well as those to whom she would be near and dear, for whoever contributes something to the pleasure of the passerby has directly increased the store of beauty in the world and made somebody better and happier for that passing glance—Pittsburg Dispatch.

SACHEL OF THE SATELLITE

Tarte's resignation furnishes food for reflection. Tarte has been hounded, but everyone is waiting for the rebound.

Canada has lost one of the best ministers of public works she ever had.

If Ald. Waddell only sticks to it he will get that circus-by-law passed yet.

After all, there will be no particular use for shade trees for six or seven months to come.

I think the best way to stock the city wood yard would be to fell some of the city shade trees.

Curious as it may seem, some of the city shade trees are in the road and yet they are not in the road.

The lawyers have now got their hands out of the Binder Twine Co.'s affairs. Look out for prosperity.

The people of Chatham won't wait for wood so long as there are trees to trim. You might say they won't.

I would like to know where the Maple City Liberals who backed up what Tarte said when he was here, are now at.

Could the money paid by the chief of police of Ridgetown for riding on the sidewalk be called a grant to the town's finances.

The Liberals who paid some $12,000 or so for the stock and good will of a hotel, are evidently not much alarmed at the referendum.

I wonder why so many citizens have been taken with the laudable purpose of trimming their trees. I would like to get at the root of this matter.

Who says that the miners are not generous, or that they have not money? Haven't they just given a marked check to the coal dealers who were willing to become millionaires?

Loos—A bunch of warm weather; answers to the name of Summer; was lost somewhere between the 15th of June and the 18th of October. When last seen was doing nicely. A liberal reward will be paid for its return.

Dear Satellite—What am I going to do about coal this winter? ALRIGHT YES.

Burn it, I suppose. STANLEY SATELLITE.

I really don't think that one should be blamed for not being able to distinguish between the sidewalks and the road in Ridgetown, when the chief of police couldn't. He accidentally rode his wheel on the sidewalk by mistake, but he shouldn't have been blamed for that.

The chief of police of Ridgetown should have been fined for riding on the sidewalks, seeing that the roads are so much better. Anyone who would ride on Ridgetown sidewalks ought to be fined. The chief alleges as an excuse that he was trying to settle his dinner. He settled all right, but it wasn't his dinner.

THREE FEET, ONE YARD. Citizen, at corporation wood yard—This cord wood isn't four feet. Caretaker—I know it. It's three feet, but what do you expect for a wood yard.

BOY CLIMBED A STALK AND IS NOW OUT OF SIGHT. Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 15.—(Communicated).—A report from Lee's Summit, Mo., tells of a frightful occurrence in the corn belt near that place. The story is told by a Lees Summit paper and illustrates the terrible dangers that menace Kansas by reason of the tremendous corn crop.

The hero of this tale is "Willie" M. C. Keighan, a small boy, who climbed a cornstalk to see how his father's crop was getting on. The stalk grew so fast that the faster the boy slid down, the higher up he was carried. At the last report, "Willie" was out of sight, and still ascending.

Men are at work trying to chop down the stalk, but the effort is useless, because the plant grows so fast that it is impossible for the axe to hit twice in the same place. The boy is living on raw corn, and has already thrown down four bushels of cobs.

The stalk is now so high that the cobs take fire in the air like meteors. Farmers in the vicinity are arranging to send up balloons for the relief of the poor victim of the corn crop.

An easier way would be to show that cornstalk a copy of the Wallaceburg News and the cornstalk would fall down in disgust.

Perfect Cure for Bronchitis. This disease can be treated only by a remedy carried to the affected parts along with the air breathed, for nature intended these organs for the passage of air alone, and sprays, atomizers and internal medicines utterly fail. But Catarrhoxone doesn't fail, for it goes wherever the air breathed goes, and its healing antiseptic vapor is sure to reach every affected part. Catarrhoxone is inhaled at the mouth and after passing through every air cell of the breathing organs is slowly exhaled through the nostrils. Catarrhoxone protects and heals the inflamed surfaces, relieves congestion, allays inflammation, and perfectly cures all bronchial affections. Price $1. Small size 25c. THE TRUE STORY OF DOROTHY DODD

Dorothy Dodd was clever and original—a girl of ideas with a good head for business, yet withal charmingly feminine. She had a pretty, stylish figure, and was always dressed in such faultless taste that her friends thought whatever Dorothy wore must be right. Not only were her hats and gowns always perfect, but she showed the characteristics of a true Parisienne in her fastidiousness about her gloves and shoes, the latter always being the most up-to-date.

Dorothy possessed too strong an individuality, too positive a character to continue to be satisfied with the commonplace existence of the average girl in her sphere.

For some time she had been trying to decide what work she would most enjoy doing, and how she could best utilize her talents. She had a strong desire to do something which would benefit her own sex. The result of her deliberation was the conclusion that she would like to be a business woman.

Now Dorothy for a long time had designed her own shoes, and had had them made for her by a prominent shoe manufacturer, because it had been her experience in purchasing shoes that whenever she had a pair that satisfied her in appearance, they invariably wrinkled or pinched some, where. The frequent misfits finally resulted in the purchase of her own possession of a corn. To insure comfort and at the same time please her critical eye and exquisite taste, she had become the designer of her own shoes in every detail.

Thinking over her wonderful success in designing her shoes, she felt she could do much for other women who were troubled with corns. She decided, therefore, to choose a business that she felt she could do better than all other shoes; shoes that are stylish and beautiful; shoes like no other shoes in the world, and shoes it was.

When Dorothy had come to a decision, people who knew her well knew that something was sure to come of it.

In this particular instance she lost no time in seeking her father's assistance in carrying out her ideas. At her request, he sought the shoe manufacturer who made her shoes, and who had one of the best equipped factories in America. This manufacturer had been greatly impressed with Dorothy's ability in designing her own shoes, and had often secretly wished that her original ideas about shoes could be used in his business, so when Dorothy's father told him of his daughter's desires, he quickly saw the advantage of utilizing her unusual ability, and, after some thought, concluded to form a company, and this is how it came about that the Dorothy Dodd Shoe Company was formed.

The most expert makers of patterns and lasts were called into service, the most skilled workmen were employed, and when these helpers had applied themselves enthusiastically to carrying out Miss Dorothy's original ideas, the result was the "faultless fitting" Dorothy Dodd Shoe.

Although Dorothy is a reality, this is not her real name, but her name in the letters which form "Dorothy Dodd."

The best ideas sometimes come from the most unexpected sources. Arkwright, who invented the spinning "jenny," was not a spinner. Dorothy Dodd, who has perfected the "faultless fitting" shoe for women, was not a shoemaker; but success needs no apology—it is only lack of it.

Peace & Co. have been fortunate in securing the agency for the above shoe, and samples may be seen in their west window. They invite all who are interested in the purchasing of ladies' shoes to call in and give the Dorothy Dodd Shoe a close inspection. The price is $3.75, with specials at $4.00.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow—Joshua and Caleb. Jos. 14; 5, 15. Golden Text—"It wholly followed the Lord."

After a campaign of six years, these two old comrades, Caleb and Joshua, aged 85 and 90, met to arrange Caleb's inheritance. They were two of the secret of the will of God in the desert, who crossed the red sea, and the most honored men of God, and his soldiers in all Israel. Their strength and their faith had not failed and they were full of physical and spiritual vigor. Caleb was a sort of Jack the giant killer toward the fierce and mighty Anakim giants of Mount Hebron. Complete consecration and abandonment to the will of God is the secret of that faith that makes a strong heart and life. You say, "Oh, if I had only more faith." If we give ourselves up fully to God we will soon have all the faith we need as it is done in heaven. In obeying God like Caleb we are putting our foot down on what becomes to us a spiritual experience a possession, while disobedience and unbelief, which do not obey loses, the inheritance and blessing. Israel fought the enemies of God and man in Canaan with carnal weapons. The church overcomes the enemies of God and man by the spiritual, by the sword of the spirit and in the whole armor of God we are insured victory, just as much as Caleb and Joshua.
