

FRENCH AND AMERICAN FORCES RESUME THE OFFENSIVE Advance on Front Between Veully-La Poterie and Torcy

HAVE REACHED OUTER EDGES OF THE TOWNS OF BOUSSAIRES AND TORCY; LINE ADVANCED ON WEST ALSO

Belleau Wood Cleared of Enemy - American Marines Aid in Allied Advance, Attacking German Position Near Chateau Thierry With Success - Situation Along Entire Front Is Developing Very Favorably Toward Allies

By Courier Leased Wire. With the French Army on the Marne, Thursday, June 6, 7.30 p.m.—(By Associated Press).—Up to this hour the American and French Troops/advancing between Veully-la-Poterie and Torcy have reached the outer edges of the towns of Bussaires and Torcy.

On the West, the Allied Line has been carried to Granges Farm, South of Gandelu, West of Veully. Belleau Wood, East of Torcy, has been cleared of the enemy. Further details are not available at this hour.

The Americans comprise the detachments on the left of the advancing line. After capturing a small wood, shaped like the letter S, the Americans reached the cemetery at Veully and continued to press forward slowly under a heavy fire from German machine guns.

ATTACK A T DAWN. During the attack this morning, at dawn the German artillery fire against the Allies was feeble, but the enemy front line was well studded with machine guns. In the action this morning the Americans and French advanced one kilometre into the German line and captured 270 prisoners, including ten officers.

Forty-five minutes after the fighting started, one French Regiment had attained the border of Mars Wood, on the edge of a triangular wood, 500 yards southeast of Bussaires, notwithstanding sharp resistance. This Regiment alone took more than 100 prisoners.

SEVERE AT TACK MADE. With the American Forces on the Marne, Thursday, June 6.—Bulletin.—(By the Associated Press).—The second attack made today by American marines on German positions northwest of Chateau Thierry, gave early promise of being as successful as this morning's assault. The marines reached all their objectives set for the first hour within that time limit, and pushed beyond them. The early reports indicated the Germans on the run for the time being, and surrendering right and left.

ENEMY IS BEING HELD. The French still hold that part of Chateau Thierry on the left bank of the Marne. With the American Forces on the Marne, Thursday, June 6.—(By the Associated Press).—The American marines who began a second attack on the German lines late yesterday, captured the village of Torcy and were pushing back the Germans into Boursches, northwest of Chateau Thierry. This morning they were holding Torcy in the face of repeated counter-attacks and were pushing back the Germans through the streets of Boursches. Virtually all their objectives in this attack were reached.

NO FURTHER ATTEMPT. London, June 7.—The Germans do not intend to attempt any further or immediate progress around Chateau Thierry, says Reuters' correspondent with the American army in France who spent Thursday northwest of that town. The enemy, he adds, shows lassitude which might well seem an intentional effort at deception.

SITUATION IN REVIEW. Advance Thursday evening, full details of which have not yet been received. Since the marines entered the Allied line northwest of Chateau Thierry, they have participated in bitter fighting. Having withstood successfully strong German efforts to outflank the Metz forest, they have now aided their French comrades in improving considerably the Allied positions between Veully and Torcy.

WEATHER BULLETIN. Toronto, June 7.—This disturbing weather which was experienced yesterday, has moved eastward toward the lower St. Lawrence Valley with increasing intensity, causing showers in Ontario and Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. Fine weather and moderate temperatures prevail in the West. Fresh northwest winds, fine, Saturday—Moderate winds and a little warmer.

KING TO ATTEND U. S. CELEBRATION Will Take Part in American Ceremonies at Chelsea on July 4th

By Courier Leased Wire. London, June 7.—This year for the first time in Anglo-American history, the King of England is going to take part in an American Fourth of July celebration. On July 4 King George has promised to witness a baseball game at Chelsea between teams representing the United States army and navy. Great enthusiasm has been aroused in American circles in London over this special mark of the King's favor and his interest in the welfare of the men of the American forces in this country. The King, it is declared, could have conceived of no simpler way of availing his sympathy with the young men in arms from across the Atlantic.

COMMITTEE OF DEFENSE FOR PARIS Measures for Arming and Provisioning Entrenched Camp Will be Taken

By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, June 7.—President Poincaré last night signed the decree creating the Paris committee of defense, whose functions will consist in the carrying out of all measures of a military nature relative to the organization, arming and provisioning of the city. The committee is composed of the minister of war, the mayor of Paris, the prefect of the Seine, the president of the city council and the presidents of the army committees in the Seine and Chamber of Deputies.

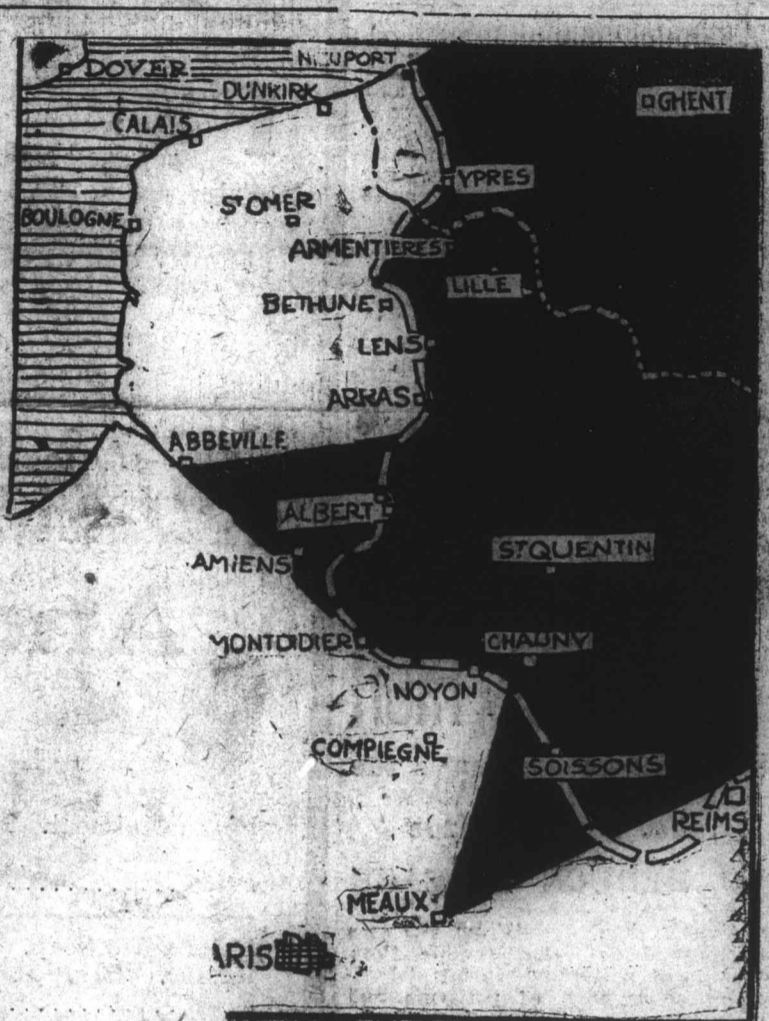

Naval Operations. London, June 7.—A review covering naval operations during the period from June 3 to June 5, was published last night by the Admiralty. "Eight bombing raids," it says, "have been made on the following main objectives: Zeebrugge, Ostend, Bruges and the Theux canal junction. Large quantities of heavy bombs were dropped. In the course of aerial fighting, two enemy machines were destroyed and three driven down out of control. One of our machines is missing."

U. S. AIRMEN WIN FAME. By Courier Leased Wire. Paris, June 7.—(Havas agency).—The fifth aerial victory of Second Lieutenant Frank Bayless, of New Bedford, Mass., and the sixth of Sergeant David Putnam of Brookfield, Mass., are announced by the newspapers. Both are attached to French flying squadrons. It is reported also that Lieut. Madon has gained his 32nd victory. Captain Bonard his 18th, and Second Lieutenant Boyau his 14th.

At Kingston, a Tuesday, 30, a laborer, was found dead in his wife's arms, who was found dead in his arms. The cause of death was due to drinking wine alcohol. Sydney Brown, driver, was also found dead in a barn.

A resolution for the grant of $30,000 to the Y.M.C.A. was carried by the Middlesex County Council. At Cobourg death occurred of David Hicks Minaker, eighty-five years old.

A campaign has been started in London to raise a Woman's Battalion for overseas service, like the British W.A.A.C.

MACKENSEN'S PINNACLES. This map illustrates more graphically than the usual battle line maps, what the Germans are trying to do in their present offensive. The white line running through the black dot on the map of France is the battle front. From this Hindenburg is trying to throw two wedges into the French and British lines, one aiming at the channel along the Somme, the other at Paris, along the Marne. This Mackensen's famous "pincers strategy" compares these two wedges to a great pair of pincers he hopes to shut their jaws down, catching the French and British armies between them and destroying them. To this purpose the capture of Paris and the channel ports is only secondary importance.

CONSCRIPTION FOR IRELAND STILL COMING New Recruiting Proclamation Made by Lieut-Gov. Does Not Mean Withdrawal of Compulsory Service Plan - Warning is Given

By Courier Leased Wire. Dublin, June 7.—A warning to Ireland that Lord French's recruiting proclamation does not mean the withdrawal of conscription was made in a statement issued last night by the late-conscription conference at Marlborough House. The lord mayor of Dublin presided at the meeting, and John Dillon, Joseph Devlin and other nationalist leaders, as well as representatives of labor and the Sinn Fein were present. The lord mayor of Dublin, it was announced, will proceed to the United States when the attempt to conscript Ireland is renewed. The imprisonment of the Sinn Fein without trial, is condemned, and the Irish military administration denounced. "This statement says nothing of the attitude of the conference towards the recruiting program. Its references to the proclamation of Lord French was: "The conference takes note of the latest proclamation from Field Marshal French. In view, however, of its terms, we warn our countrymen against false confidence that conscription is at an end. In the future, as hitherto, Irishmen must trust above all else their own unbroken unity and unshakable purpose for safety against a renewal of the danger of conscription which the proclamation has only provisionally prepared."

GAVE PLEDGE OF AMERICAN GRATITUDE TOWARD CANADA John McF. Howie, of Buffalo, Gave Stirring Address Before Rotary Club Last Night - Told America's Part in the War as Seen by a Scotchman

The manhood of America, while true manhood prevails, will never forget what Canada has done for us in this war. You held the line at Ypres, even as the ancient Spartans held the pass at Thermopylae, you stood with but and bayonet, opposing the Hun with your bare bodies when you were outnumbered, you saved civilization, and in so doing saved the United States, as surely as there is a God above us. These words, John McF. Howie, of Buffalo, pledged the gratitude of the United States to Canada and the British Empire, speaking to the members of the Rotary club and their friends at the golf club last night. Mr. Howie, a man of Scottish birth but a resident of the United States since early manhood, spoke upon America's part in the War as Viewed by a Scotchman, and delivered one of the most forcible addresses Brandfordites have been privileged to hear in a long time. Hope, and a firm belief, that out of the present struggle will eventuate a broader closer friendship between Britain and the United States, was the keynote not alone of Mr. Howie's address, but of the remarks of the other speakers of the evening. New President Takes Chair. The chair was occupied by J. M. Young, past president of the club until the close of the meal, when Mr. A. B. Towers called upon Mr. Young to give place to the newly elected president, Mr. W. S. Brewster. In assuming the chair, Mr. Brewster pointed out the fields of the Rotary club service for fellows and for country and explained that it was in this spirit that he had accepted the office, rendered him. He was received with loud applause. An intimate and personal few moments followed, the while the club members introduced first themselves and then their guests amid general hilarity. Mr. E. H. Reville then introduced Mr. Howie to the gathering, declaring men of his calibre Scotland's greatest gift to the American continent Mr. Reville also paid the Rotary club high tribute for its work. The singing of the Recitation of Anthem together with loud applause, greeted Continued on Page Three

HUN RULE UNPOPULAR Lethal and Estonian People Object to Union With Germany

By Courier Leased Wire. London, June 7.—A bitter struggle is being waged in the Caucasus between the new Caucasian Government and the Turks, says an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Moscow. The Turks are reported to have massacred more than ten thousand Armenians within a fortnight. The Caucasian Government has ordered the mobilization of all men between the ages of 18 and 42 and newly formed Caucasian detachments are concentrating in the Tiflis district.

OPPOSE UNION. Amsterdam, June 7.—A great majority of the Lethal and Estonian populations do not desire a union with Germany, says the German author, Hans Vorst, writing in The Berliner Tageblatt. Antagonism to the Baltic Germans in ingrained deeply in the Estonian and Lethal peoples, he says, and this antagonism is deepened greatly by the social gulf.

Permanent German occupation, Herr Vorst concludes, can only keep in force such annexations.

WANT PEACE. London, June 7.—The Russian-Soviet Government is meeting with difficulties in its efforts to conclude peace with the Ukrainian Government and prevent further encroachment upon Russian territory by German and Ukrainian troops. The peace conference at Riga is being delayed and in the meantime, German and Ukrainian troops have occupied new districts of Russia. The German command has declared it is impossible to conclude peace before the occupation of all important Ukrainian districts is effected, according to an Exchange Telegraph despatch from Moscow.

OPPOSED SOVIETS. London, June 7.—Captain Stebbins, commander of the Russian Baltic fleet, has been imprisoned on a charge of inciting the sailors against the authority of the Soviet Government, says a Reuter despatch from Moscow.

Hostility Increasing. Amsterdam, June 7.—We cannot close our eyes to the fact that an increasingly hostile feeling towards Germany is becoming widespread in Russia, and also that the Ukrainian population does not everywhere regard the Germans with friendly eyes. The Volksrechtung of Dnepropetrovsk in the course of an editorial which voices the anxiety felt in Germany relative to potential developments in the east. The entire situation offers no pleasant picture," the newspaper continues. Attention is called to the fact that Germany's enemies on the western front "are fishing in troubled waters." "One may see that the entire orient, not excluding Japan, is following in President Wilson's footsteps. President Wilson's declaration of May 18, urging help for Russia as well as France, is recalled. In order to remedy this "subterranean" (Continued on page eight.)

NEWS FROM NORFOLK COUNTY

NORFOLK COUNTY TRESURER NAMED

Townsend Man, Graduate of Local Collegiate, Receives Appointment

OTHER SIMCOE NEWS

(From our own Correspondent)
 Simcoe, June 7.—Mr. John Porter of Simcoe, member of the legal firm of Kelly and Porter, was yesterday appointed county treasurer to succeed the late Roger Cryzier, who held the position for exactly twenty-three years. Mr. Porter was born in Townsend township, attended Brantford Collegiate Institute, and after teaching school five years in his native township, returned to Brantford to study law. He is married with Messrs. Hardy, Wilkes & Jones, and with Hon. W. H. Bennett, of Midland. He was called to the Bar in 1893, and joined his present partnership with W. E. Kelly, K. C., in August, 1894. He is to-day an out and out Norfolk man and a Simconian. The choice among eight applicants was finally unanimous.

The brigade was called out at 10:30 last evening to a fire in a small dwelling on Metcalf street north, occupied by an aged man, Mr. Parker. The building was pretty well scorched and drenched with water before the fire was got under control.

James Hill, Peter Southworth and one of the Hammond boys are reported landed at Halifax. There were two members of the 133rd named James Hill; Hammond's initials did not correspond with those; any of the four sons of Harry Hammond but the youngest son is expected.

The town was pretty well closed as to business yesterday afternoon, and the picture show had a good patronage in the evening.

The canning factories and growers of berries and cherries should be able to secure plenty of help on Thursdays during the busy season.

The Great War Veterans have it said, decided to complain to the council that returned soldiers are not being considered. A returned soldier, however, got the government fish business, and likely to go to a considerable time if a capable applicant is recommended. It should be remembered that the town has not a score of men in the public service, and that it is quite as practicable and desirable that private employers of help remember the veterans' claims.

With very few exceptions, however, our returned men have found employment.

Troops trains still hurry eastward through Simcoe. Many negro units have been going through.

Reports come in that there is likely to be a great many grass hoppers. The hatch is already out, and is apparently prolific in some localities.

COUNTY ROADS MILEAGE HIGH

Maintenance Consumes the Greater Part of Allowance Which is Made

TO REDUCE MILEAGE

Simcoe, June 7.—(From our own Correspondent.)—Considerable time was spent yesterday hearing delegations in support of petitions and counter-petitions regarding alterations in the county roads system. The storm centres were about Walsh and in the township of Houghton.

Reeve McPherson, of Delhi, wants to include in the system a short piece of road in the centre of which lies the boundary between the village and Delhi.

Another Proposition.

The whole question had been referred to committee of the whole and would have been dealt with yesterday, but that Chairman Cridland in a report recommending the cutting off of 80 to 1000 miles from the system. It was thought best to deal with this proposition first, as it might result in the entire elimination of some of the other problems. The reeves of the minor municipalities were given the task of doing the paring down.

County System Cost taken from Mr. Cridland's report shows the following disbursements:
 January $2,077.47
 February 1,027.53
 March 1,409.66
 April 1,302.56
 Graders (3) $1,050 less 5 per cent June 1.

Mr. Marston Advises.
 Almost $3,000 was expended on the snow roads, said Mr. Marston, and it took weeks to get through Middlesex county, with much more road got through in five hours with the whole system. Wire fences, the superintendent declared, are essential. They have them in Middlesex.

Lack of allowance, lack of teams and men, and the big cost of labor will make it impossible to do much construction work. The condition of some expensive bridges and some roads that were never built above the creek bed level, would alone require $50,000 to put certain sections in a safe condition.

Mr. Marston reported on four claims for damages, attributing three

It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and is said to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.

LETTER FROM THE MAYOR

To Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance

Rev. D. W. Snider, Secretary Lord's Day Alliance, Toronto, Ont.

Dear Sir,—I have been advised of your communication to Chief Slemin wherein you take exception to my having issued a permit to the Motor Trucks Ltd. for the purpose of working on Sunday on the construction of their new plant. You have even questioned my "right" to issue such a permit. Might I remind you that we are at present living under such extraordinary conditions that it is sometimes necessary to exercise what is known as "common sense" in matters of this kind.

Your attitude seems to me to be on a par with that of a few others in this country who do not even yet seem to realize that we are engaged in a struggle for the preservation of "all our rights."

While I am just as anxious to prevent the desecration of the Sabbath as you could possibly be, I realize also that we are extremely liable to "repent of our shortcomings" should we for a moment falter in our efforts to bring every atom of assistance to the men on the firing line. That "first line of defence" is at present on the banks of the River Marne, but it is just as real a menace to "our rights" here in Canada as if it were on our own River St. Lawrence.

"This is no time for quibbling over petty infractions of law," but a time when every energy and thought should be directed to the one paramount object of preventing the Hun from inflicting his "brave Kultur" upon the Christian nations of the world.

I am not quite sure whether it was on a Sabbath day that David put the stone in his sling and smote the giant, boasting Goliath, but I venture to predict that even you will concede that the particular day of the week did not have any great significance. The act was what counted and it must be well within your knowledge that the fight on the Western front goes on incessantly, Sunday after Sunday. While we at home quibble over small matters, "the boys out there" are called upon to be on the "qui vive" every day and night in the week. What kind of a hearing would you get from those boys if you suggested that they should cease their work on Sundays. The Huns might applaud (it would be one more chance for them to practise some form of righteousness), and would undoubtedly be the means of still further prolonging the war.

The Motor Trucks Limited of Brantford are no more desirous of working on Sundays than either you or I, but the conditions under which they have undertaken to supply shells make it imperative that the construction of their factory should be completed in the very shortest possible time. The gentlemen connected with the firm are the most active in all matters connected with the prosecution of the war. Like all other Brantford factories they have adopted the national slogan "carry on" with a whole-heartedness that is most commendable, and so far as I am concerned I believe I am well within my "rights" in giving them every possible assistance. It is just possible that if we had developed more of this spirit in the early stages of the war, we might have today been much nearer a conclusion of this titanic struggle and our soldiers would have been saved many, many Sundays in the trenches. If it is necessary for our soldiers to carry on Sunday, is it not also necessary for us at home should work in order that they may be supplied with the munitions of war?

You may possibly have the advantage of me in knowing some language that the Germans can understand if you are at liberty to suggest a truce on Sundays, but for my part I am convinced that the German part I am convinced that they seem to have respect for "shells and more shells," and it is my earnest wish that not only the Motor Trucks, but every other factory in the Empire engaged in the production of war munitions should continue to hasten production.

For your information, I may also state that as far as the employees are concerned, they are doing this Sunday work, entirely voluntarily. Of course they are being paid good wages, but "is not the laborer worthy of his hire?"

Yours truly, M. MACBRIDE, Mayor.

GAVE PLEDGE

Mr. Howie as he took his seat.

His opening remarks Mr. Howie devoted to an appreciation of two Brantfordites well known to himself, Mr. E. H. Reville and Mr. W. H. Webber. Passing to his subject proper, the speaker outlined first the spirit of absolute neutrality which had been America's at the commencement of the war. The average American did not know the causes underlying the war, he thought it purely a European quarrel, millions of Americans had in fact a positive dislike for anything British, and little or no interest in France. The speaker felt, as the Celt feels, through his emotions, the danger hanging over the United States. His wife was a German, he himself had lived in Germany, he admired Germany's strides in industrial development. Yet when the leading men of Germany sought to justify the rape of Belgium through their doctrine of a superior Deutsche Kultur, "they proved themselves gentlemen," declared Mr. Howie, "they committed pack of Huns the world has never known. They had nothing to offer the world, except what they had stolen from the world in the fields of intellectual and scientific achievement alike they were a veritable Sahara."

The speaker recounted the manner in which he had addressed American citizens of known pro-German sympathies in a far cry to the great document signed at Runnymede was written in the language of the United States to-day. Herein lay the great biological fact "which is properly put to-day. In the part of the world were the duties of citizenship better understood than under the British flag, nowhere were they in a broader conception of the word than under the Union Jack.

"I like to think," declared the speaker, "that when this war is over we shall be able to find some romantic of good in that deed, and accused land, Germany." To-day, liberty had been forgotten, along with the finer things Germany had helped to give the world; the modern German was a murderer in heart, brought up in such a spirit.

Real Germany Revealed To-day. Before the war, declared Mr. Howie, "you couldn't make us believe that Germany could be capable of such conduct as has been here since; not one of us ever thought that Kaiser could be so venomous, so vicious, so horrible, so damnable, as to train men, made in God's image to murder, that it might sink its poisonous fangs into us."

Before the war, declared Mr. Howie, "you couldn't make us believe that Germany could be capable of such conduct as has been here since; not one of us ever thought that Kaiser could be so venomous, so vicious, so horrible, so damnable, as to train men, made in God's image to murder, that it might sink its poisonous fangs into us."

Americans to-day must think in terms of war, not in terms of peace. They must be actuated by the spirit of "What can I do to help kill Germans?" The pro-German whisper that when the Germans were driven back across the Rhine, they would be ready to make peace. "But it is in his mental processes," affirmed Mr. Howie, "he is not going to be asked about the terms on which he lays down arms." He was a dog who ought to be hung, the speaker, who had sworn that he would never regard the war as over until the women of Germany had suffered something of what had been the lot of the women of France and Belgium.

"That is not a nice spirit, it is not a peaceful spirit, it is not a courtly spirit," admitted the speaker. "But it is the natural spirit. Why in blazes wants to be courteous to the devil's own children? There is no temporizing with that crew, the teachings of Jesus Christ, the Fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man are nothing to that military crew of damned Potsdamers."

Scores Pro-Germans. Passing to an exposition of the pro-German within the boundaries of the United States, Mr. Howie was as outspoken as elsewhere, denouncing Mayor Thompson of Chicago as "a dog who ought to be hung," whereas he was now running for the American Senate, seeking to hide behind the flag he had desecrated. Mr. Howie more regard for Sinn Feiners.

"To hell with Sinn Fein," he declared, "and with you, if you are a Sinn Feiner." Yet he himself was in favor of Home Rule, not for Ireland alone, but for Scotland, and for England. The English race he declared over modest, a race who in this war had acted as sublimely as any nation in history, and as themselves. The intelligent American was realizing to-day, as never before, the debt he owed to the patient, plodding, sometimes stupid, but death-defying Englishman. "You live, instead, under a monarchy, but a monarchy which is a great, all-embracing democracy."

PREMIER BORDEN AND PARTY ARRIVE

Premier of New Zealand and Three Provinces Join Federal Ministers

Ottawa, June 6.—It is announced officially through the office of the Chief Press Censor that the Right Hon. Sir Robert Borden and his party have arrived safely in the United Kingdom.

Sir Robert Borden, accompanied by Hon. Messrs. Rowell, Calder and McKeown, left Ottawa for New York by the evening steamer, and on the following morning for England.

The Board of Education held a brief routine session last night at which plans for increasing accommodation at the Collegiate Institute were considered. Chairman Miller of the buildings and grounds committee reported against the erection of a temporary building, as it would not be substantial enough to permit the installation of the machinery for the technical classes.

After August 1st, the record made by the United States to date in the war. Two billion was asked for the Liberty Loan, and three billion was subscribed. The Red Cross total had been passed by fifty million. An army of a million men was now in England or France.

"We are with you now," declared the speaker, "and we are going to keep with you, and to stand with you to the end. We have given billions of dollars, yet only seven per cent. of our annual income has been touched. We have a long way yet to go, but we will reach Britain's record. But where would we be to-day, were it not for the British navy?"

W. B. Race. Hope for a firmer Anglo-American entente was held out by W. B. Race, that of the O. R. Curtis, in proposing a vote of thanks to Mr. Howie. Mr. Race pointed out the manner in which old prejudices were being overcome, and that Americans were coming to realize that even the American revolution had been caused, not by England, but by a half-mad Prussian placed by inheritance on the throne of England.

His Honor Judge Hardy seconded the vote of thanks, paying a tribute to Mr. Howie's forceful eloquence, and declaring the American revolution, far from a calamity, one of the greatest fortunes of history, as it had permitted the development of the North American continent in a manner otherwise impossible.

Mr. Brewster, in conveying the vote of thanks to Mr. Howie, made reference to the fact that one Brantford firm is now engaged in manufacturing gun mounts for five hundred American warships, while another has a $7,000,000 contract for American shells.

Later conferences will be held with all parties interested, both in and outside the city limits.

AS TO AMERICANS.
Americans travelling in Canada will not be required to carry passports. The new regulations will go into effect June 15 and continue until further orders. Before citizens of the United States cross into the Dominion, however, they are advised to secure non-resident cards from immigration officers at the ferry docks. This will prevent trouble when they wish to return. The new regulations do not apply to men of military age, who must furnish evidence, from some competent military authority in the United States that their entry into Canada is not being made with the intention of evading military service.

MISSION CIRCLE MET
An enthusiastic meeting of the Brant Ave. Mission Circle was held on Thursday evening at the home of the president, Miss Rothwell, when a comprehensive and inspiring report of the recent M. M. Increase of duties and higher cost of living were the reasons given for the granting of the increase. PASTEURIZATION OF MILK FAVORED
Public Meeting Held in Victoria Hall—Municipal Control Advocated

Speakers from many walks of life gave their opinion on the milk pasteurization question at an open meeting held in Victoria Hall last night. The audience was small but everyone was sincerely interested. Dr. Pearson, Medical Health Officer, spoke first and was heartily in favor of pasteurization. It was the only way in which tubercular germs could be killed. It insured cleanliness if handled in a clean manner after leaving the plant fully consumed. And it "tasted" no different, in fact, it was better. In all respects it would greatly improve the milk. This he was able to verify from reports of noted investigators, men who "knew" all the points of the question.

Ald. J. J. Hurley.
Ald. Hurley considered the question the most important in the city at present. He had been the cause, he said, of the first agitation for the municipal ownership of the city supply with result that there should be better milk, better service and milk at a lower cost. At first he had no intention of a municipal pasteurization plant. Later, however, the latter question appeared for his consideration. He had, he said, solely proposed the thing to give the city milk at cost. The milk dealers had believed that the monopoly of the supply would go to one firm and that to the one pasteurization plant now in the city. This was grossly wrong, said the speaker. The milk dealers now vend milk in the city with a serious overlapping in their routes. Should the city go into the milk business the city would get milk at cost and that distributors and savings of this would be responsible for this. A bacteriologist should be engaged by the city. He should be brought up on a farm with proper college education. Examinations could thus properly be made each day and the producer given good advice. A high salary was not necessary. The present proposal should startle the city. Last November 29 cases of typhoid fever had been traced to one source of milk supply.

Skeptics believe the municipal ownership of milk permits dishonesty. Such dishonesty is defunct, said the speaker. A commission, Mr. Hurley had suggested to the Board of Trade should be appointed to manage affairs. Speaking on pasteurization, Ald. Hurley stated the Council could not grant a monopoly of the milk supply. However, should the pasteurization by-law come in force, the smaller dealers would be forced out of business. This dangerous state of affairs would only be averted by a civic co-operation association against which no dealer could compete.

Ald. Hurley had gotten considerable evidence favorable to milk pasteurization. In Toronto, certified milk is pasteurized and used solely for the inmates of the Sick Children's Hospital. Ninety-nine per cent of New York's supply of milk was pasteurized and since the adoption of the movement, the disease could be traced to the milk supply. Ald. Hurley then read the "certified" clause of the Ontario Act. Even this milk is not safe according to Dr. Hastings, noted Toronto authority.

Tuberculosis was as serious and more so as typhoid and both could be traced to raw milk. Many authorities were strong in their testimonials that pasteurization killed disease germs. The flavor of pasteurized milk is said to be unpleasant.

The chairman stated that the Board of Health had no intention of going in the business itself. The Council of Women strongly endorsed the by-law moved by Board of Health. Wm. Britton, representing the milk dealers testified in favor of pure milk only. Cleanly conditions alone were sufficient to the good health of Brantford citizens he believed. There are sanitary points as important as the milk question. The sanitation of the homes is important as any. None of the physicians advocating milk pasteurization were advocates of the "pure air for the home" movement. He named numerous cases here in Brantford where infants and infants had come from pasteurized back to raw milk, and for the better. The civic ownership would not be plain selling. Everyone should be served alike and fairly.

ANNUAL MEETING OF PARIS Y.M.C.A.

Successful Year of Work Was Reported by the Various Departments

(From our own Correspondent)

Paris, June 7.—The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the auditorium last evening. The president, Mr. J. R. Inksater, presided, and Rev. H. J. Selton-Adamson opened the meeting with prayer. The following compose the board for the ensuing year: Messrs. J. R. Inksater, C. E. Windus, H. A. Crooks, T. C. Munn, Henry Rehder, C. M. Wells, and the new directors are Messrs. Robert Gorrie, E. V. Kinsey and G. Miller.

The treasurer's report showed the Y. M. C. A. to be in a good state financially. The total receipts were $2,433.97, with a disbursement of $2,385.93, leaving a balance on hand of $48.04. There are a number of subscriptions promised that have not been available during the year, while collectible subscriptions outstanding amount to $115. Against this is an invoice passed by the board for $26.54, making a net surplus April 30th of $36.36. When this is added to the cash surplus, the total to the good of the association is $136.40.

The report of the Ladies' Auxiliary for the year showed that as usual the ladies had been very busy, and at the same time very successful. Among some of the principal items, the janitor's rooms had been redecorated; supper had also been provided for the teams working in the British Red Cross campaign. When the boys' work conference was held in March, the ladies also catered for the banquet in connection with the same, and after paying all expenses, had paid over $30 to the committee in charge. Generous contributions had also been made during the year to the Canadian Patriotic Fund, Red Cross Society, Belgium Relief and the Overseas Y. M. C. A. In April the Auxiliary, together with the W. C. T. U., put on a "present of Famous Women" from which $175.90 was sent to provide hot coffee, cocoa and soup to the soldiers overseas. By request, this was repeated, when some $43 was handed to the Red Triangle Fund campaign. At Christmas the "Y" boys overseas were remembered, when 54 boxes were sent to France. During the past year, two of the "Y" boys have made the supreme sacrifice, Corporal Earl Barker and J. B. Findlay. A tribute was also paid to the late Mrs. Mitchell who recently moved to Brantford. In her successor, Mrs. Dr. Duntton, they feel they have a capable officer.

The general secretary's report was very encouraging. There were three C. S. E. T. classes meeting in the "Y" two Methodist and one Anglican, with an average attendance of 14. The "4-U-and-1" class met every Sunday morning up to April 30th of

CHILD'S ONE PIECE PAJAMAS

A very sensible style for a night garment suitable for a small girl is shown in No. 8783. It is in kimono style, with sleeves shirred at the elbow. The neck is drawn in on a ribbon, and through creases. The Empire waist line is formed by running a ribbon through a wide casing with a pretty bow tied at the front. The long pagelaettes are also shirred on elastic at the ankles, forming a narrow ruff. Cotton crepe, batiste, long cloth or nainsook may be used for making the pajamas.

The child's one piece pajamas No. 8783 are cut in three sizes—small, medium and large. The medium size requires 2 yards 27 inch or 36 yard 30 or 40 inch material, with 1 1/4 yards narrow ribbon and 2 3/4 yards wide ribbon.

NOEL PEMBERTON-BILLING

Sensational Trial in Old Land Ends, M. P. Being Found Not Guilty of Libel on Maude Allan, Dancer—The Defendant Charged Judge on Bench With Vice

London, June 7.—Noel Pemberton-Billing, who has been on trial on a charge of libel preferred by Miss Maude Allan, the dancer, and J. T. Grein, manager of the Independent Theatre, was found not guilty yesterday, and a case which has stirred all Europe and America is ended. In the course of the prosecuting attorney's summing up Pemberton-Billing withdrew the allegation that Maude Allan was addicted to certain vices, interrupting the counsel to say:

"I do not accuse Maude Allan of practising these vices. I merely allege she practiced them."

Judge Darling, surprised at this statement, pinned Pemberton-Billing down to a definite withdrawal of the allegation. The prosecuting attorney then rejoined:

"He now withdraws the allegation which he only introduced to enable him to put forth the remarkable story of the forty-seven thousand."

Called Judge a Liar.
"It's not fair. It's not true," shouted Billing frequently, when Justice Darling was summing up the evidence. His outburst was repeatedly interrupted by Captain Harold Sherwin Spencer and Lord Alfred Douglas, witnesses until he ordered them removed from the court. The former shouted at the judge many times.

"You lie. You lie, and you know you lie."

Reprimands from the bench, only met with hisses from the gallery.

Series of Retaliations.

The acquittal of Noel Pemberton-

Billing, M.P., and publisher of the newspaper "Vigilante" followed a trial which was marked by a series of revelations relative to the power alleged to have been exercised over influential Englishmen and women by the German Government, whose agents had collected what purported to be data of immorality in England and had placed it in a book which was said to be in possession of a certain German prince.

Miss Maude Allan, the dancer, figured in the case because she had played a prominent part in the presentation of Oscar Wilde's "Salome." The play was given at the Independent Theatre which has been under the management of J. T. Grein.

The Vigilante, which printed the story of the secret book, said to be held by the Germans, asserted in its next edition that if Scotland Yard were to seize the list of the men subscribing to the Independent Theatre there was no doubt they would secure the names of several thousand of the 47,000, which was the number of names said to be contained in the book, the contents of which were alleged to have been supplied by German secret agents.

Sensational Incidents.

The trial was replete with sensational incidents. At one moment Billing conducted the examination of his own witnesses and violated the precedents of the usually dignified proceedings of English courts, by yelling at the top of his voice his questions at Mrs. Villiers Stuart, wife of an army officer, who was on the stand.

He was examining her as to certain names in the book it is alleged was compiled by German secret agents concerning the 47,000.

Levity and Sarcasm.

Justice Darling, against whose presiding at the trial Billing protested because of the atmosphere of levity and sarcasm which he claimed the justice frequently introduced into the cases which came before him, was for the moment unable to still the tumult.

Mrs. Stuart had testified she had been shown the book in 1915 by Neil Primrose, son of Lord Rosebery, and Major Evelyn Rothschild, both now dead. Billing referred to his allegation that Germans had compiled the list of men and women in social, political, financial and other circles.

He demanded of the witness, "Is Justice Darling's name in that book?"

Asquith and Haldane.

Mrs. Stuart shouted "Yes." It can be produced. It has been produced in Germany, and it shall be produced here. Mr. Justice Darling, we have to win this war. While you sit there we never shall."

Billing yelled at the top of his voice: "Is Mrs. Asquith's name in that book?"

"Is Asquith's? Is Haldane's?" demanded Billing.

"It is." It is," shrieked the witness.

At this moment Justice Darling recovered control of the situation, ordered the witness out of the box, and insisted that Billing cease asking such questions.

They cannot be answered," Justice Darling said. "I have not the least objection to myself, but I am determined to protect other people who are absolutely defenceless."

Wrote the Article.

Capt. Harold Spencer, of the British Air Force, who wrote the article on which the libel is based, testified that he had been a captain in the International Gendarmerie of Albania, and also an aide-de-camp to the King of Albania, William of Wied, a German prince.

the witness said there was a note near which the person could best be approached. The witness added he had reported on what he had seen in the book to Admiral Troubridge, and the information was passed on to the Admiralty Intelligence Department.

Justice Darling asked: "Did the Prince know this?"

Duty to Get Information.

To this the witness replied: "No. He was a German Prince and I knew Germany was planning to declare war. Every one knew it in the army and navy. I thought it my duty to get all the information home that I could."

When further examined, Spencer said that he was born in America and had not been naturalized in England. Spencer testified he had made notes from the book, but had left them at the American Embassy in London for safe custody, and that they would be produced if necessary.

When asked by Billing, "Do you stand by what you wrote in the article on the 47,000 as to cabinet Ministers, bankers, etc.," the witness replied, "I do, on oath."

Spencer further said he did not remember having seen Mr. Asquith's name in the book.

Marie Corelli's Letter.

Billing introduced in evidence a letter written by Marie Corelli on Feb. 10, 1918, which read as follows:

"Dear Mr. Billing,—I think it would be well to secure a list of subscribers to this new upholding of Wilde's story. I am sure you will refer to the book 'Forty-seven Thousand.'"

Billing in outlining his defence at the opening session said his case was that of Maude Allan, in appearing in "Salome" was presenting a performance calculated to appeal to such persons as he had described in referring to the book "Forty-seven Thousand."

He declared he would submit that Miss Allan was a vulgar, immoral, and perverted. Among the names he said he would call he named Lord Alfred Douglas, Arnold White, Sir Alfred Cripps, Bennett-Burleigh and a number of dramatic critics.

Refuting Statements.

At another part of the trial Justice Darling ruled that it was impossible to allow an individual to come forward to refute statements made by the witnesses which really were not relevant to the issue before the court.

Mrs. George Keppel, who was present on oath that she had been in Holland since the outbreak of the war or had seen Dr. Richard von Kuhlmann, the German Foreign Minister, and other German statesmen, therefore left the court.

An attorney on behalf of the war office asked permission to submit the military history and medical records of Captain Harold Sherwin Spencer, who gave startling testimony when examined before the court. He said that these records would show the true character of that witness. The judge also disallowed this, as the doctors who signed the certificate are out of the country.

Edward Alfred Douglas, who said that he regretted having been associated with Oscar Wilde when the latter wrote "Salome," was the next witness. He said he considered the stage direction of Wilde's "Salome" as objectionable and disgusting. His said that the fact that such a play was produced and special prominence had been given to it, and the author was likely to appeal strongly to the immoral.

Asked whether he regretted having met Wilde, Mr. Douglas replied: "I do to my utmost to honor Wilde had a diabolical influence on people. He was the greatest force for evil that has appeared in Europe in the last three hundred years."

Well Dressed Witness.

A large proportion of the people who tried to get into the court during the trial were well dressed women. All the newspapers had given great space to the trial, notwithstanding the important war news.

Mr. Pemberton-Billing's closing argument was largely based on the plea that he was fighting German influence in England as a matter of public duty. He first came into the public eye two years ago, when the popular newspapers supported him as an independent candidate for the House of Commons on a platform of denouncing the government for alleged apathy toward the air service in the war.

He previously had had an adventurous career, as a soldier in the Boer war, actor, airplane builder, company promoter and editor.

His career as a free-lance member of the House of Commons has been as breezy as his libel trial, involving many tiffs with the speaker at Westminster, and the usual clashes with Judge Darling throughout the trial.

ean agitation," the newspaper proposes a friendly discussion with Russia with a view to making friendly relations with the Soviet government possible to remove as far as possible the military character of the administration in border states, and that a new imperial commissioner may introduce civil administration as well as to solve the question of popular administration and ascertain whether the landing really voices the opinion of the Russian people.

Turk Ambitions Attacked.

Amsterdam, June 7.—Turkish ambitions in the Black Sea littoral and in the Caucasus are attacked by the Kreuzzeitung, the German newspaper of Berlin. The newspaper points out that a union of Crimea with Turkey is quite impossible because it would injure the strong rampart between the province of Taurlida, of which Crimea is a part, belongs nationally and geographically to Ukraine, which also claims Sebastopol, it is said.

"Turkey's idea seems to be to gain a dominating position in the Black Sea, making the pan-Turkish idea paramount there," says the Kreuzzeitung, "and to make the Caucasus a strong rampart between Turkey and Russia." Hence, German policy is confronted with difficult tasks. A certain antagonism between trans-Caucasia and Turkey already exists.

When Germany entered the war, she in nowise recognized Turkish aspirations in Persia. She guaranteed Turkey's present frontiers, and will continue to fight for them. Russia is, therefore, entitled to oppose Turkish desires in the northeast and east, which go far beyond any possibilities at the beginning of the war. The war must not leave antagonisms between Turkey and Russia. The supreme war aim must see that the new coalition which will be formed shall not be anti-German.

SERIOUS ATTEMPT TO CROSS MARNE FAILED

French headquarters, June 6.—The attempt of the Germans to cross the Marne River at Jaulgonne was more serious than appeared from 22 ladder foot bridges across the river. MURDER ON HIGH SEAS

Vivid Pictures of Murders on Submarine Warfare.

Vivid pictures of the murderous war waged by the submarine pirates in their invisible craft on our merchant service are contained in a series of depositions and statements which the writer of this article has been permitted to examine at the Admiralty. These statements are made by officers and men of torpedoed ships. For obvious reasons the names are "camouflaged."

Here is one deposition:

"At 3 a.m. got message Owl torpedoed. Began to zigzag by order at the helm a-port. Almost immediately sighted a submarine right ahead coming from starboard past. It was a very big one, and there were four or five men around the conning-tower. I put the helm hard-a-starboard and tried to ram her, but missed her by feet, as I heard the men shouting aboard of her. As soon as I saw I had missed her I swung out to the gun's crew, 'Look out close on port side,' and I put the helm hard-a-port to bring the enemy astern.

"Almost immediately afterwards I heard the report of a statement which turning round saw a big bright flare-up in the water on the port quarter, like a big explosion. About ten minutes afterwards I noticed what appeared to be the wake of a torpedo passing along the port side. Observed the bow and stern wake of a submarine on the port quarter steering parallel to us and coming on at a good speed. Fired at her but made no hit. Order 'Cease fire,' as I hoped to escape in the darkness. At 6.20 torpedoed and sunk" (with heavy loss of life).

In this instance two submarines must have been acting in support of one another. No. 1, the vessel hit, was large, 300 feet long, with a big conning tower, two high masts and one large gun. No. 2, which fired the fatal torpedo, was 150 feet long, with raised centre, dark green conning-tower only 7 feet high, no masts, and officers of Austrian appearance.

In another case, after the ship had been torpedoed, about midnight the boats were lowered. The narrator says: "Swam to upturned boat. After we had been on the upturned boat for some minutes a submarine appeared, which came up close to the port boat and hailed us to come on board, but was told that it was impossible as the boats were capsized. "The submarine came to the starboard boat after we had been in the boat about ten minutes, and came so close that we were touching the side of the submarine. We asked him to upright the boat for us, but no answer was given. The submarine then went ahead and put his helm hard a-port, with the result that the whole of the men on the upturned boat were thrown into the water, and the boat sent under. The submarine then steamed away. Those in the submarine must have heard that there was a man under the upturned boat, as they could easily hear him knocking. In one case we find a submarine using a searchlight, the only such instance in these depositions. Six men from a torpedoed ship had struggled to an overturned boat. One of them states: "The submarine came close to us and flashed her searchlight on the boat and on those in the water, and after jeering at them made off towards the west. The submarine was signalling with her Morse lamp and was answered by flashes some distance away to the west."

Robbery of the British is common. After one vessel had been torpedoed at 2 a.m., "the master was searched and $22 5s., with clothes, watch, and matches were taken from him. An officer stated that no food was left in the submarine, which had been six weeks out from Heligoland. The commanding officer and No. 1 (his first officer) spoke very good English and mentioned that food in Germany was very short. The (British) master asked how Bremen and Hamburg were looking. No. 2 answered, "Very depressed," and that "We should not have been at war with England."

Here and there we find that colored crews or seamen showed signs of panic, so that some Filipinos preferred to jump into the water and perish rather than face the horrors of an open boat in winter weather. There is one recurrent note in these wonderful memorials of the merchant service: "All the crew behaved well and smartly." All hands showed courage. It is a great and glorious service, though it is still without the medals and the uniforms which it has so abundantly earned the right to wear.

HELD OUT AGAINST ODDS.

By Courier Leased Wire
Washington, June 6.—The story of how an American patrol of 40 men outnumbered by two to one, held its ground in Lorraine on the night of June 2 for three-quarters of an hour, and then only retired when its ammunition became exhausted, is told in a continuation of General Pershing's communique of yesterday, received here to-day. The patrol inflicted heavy losses on the enemy.

HARMONY OUTCOME OF CONFERENCE

Entente and U. S. in Agreement on the Polish and Slavic Problems

By Courier Leased Wire
London, June 6.—(Via Reuter's Limited)—Premier Lloyd George returned from the Supreme War Council in France full of confidence regarding the issue, Reuter's Parliamentary correspondent says it is reported in the lobbies of Parliament. While in France the Premier saw General Foch, Premier Clemenceau and Baron Sonnino, the Italian foreign minister.

The declaration agreed to at Versailles by the British, French and Italian premiers, says "The Daily Chronicle," "brings the defined policy of the western Powers in Parliament into harmony with that of the United States on two very important points, namely, concerning Poland and Czechoslovak and Jugoslavo-Slav peoples."

Both declarations are extremely welcome and valuable as showing that the Allied Governments have come to recognize no less than does President Wilson the crucial importance of central and eastern European among the material issues for which the war is being fought.

Sporting Comment

Ty Cobb a Grand Old Man?
"Tis true.

The dashing Georgian is now the Grand Old Man of the American League. Ty is the oldest regular in point of service in that circuit—since the passing of Sam Crawford, and the relegation of Terry Turner to the role of substitute. This is Cobb's 14th season with Detroit. It seems unusual that anyone as young as Cobb should enjoy such distinction. Ty is 31, and while there are others in the league older in years, there is none who has served as many years in major league harness as the great southerner.

Terry Turner, Cleveland's white-haired boy, joined the league one year earlier than Ty, but Terry ceased to be a regular a few years ago, though he may play regularly this year, as the Cleveland club has been depleted by the draft.

Frank Schubeck, the famous old Cub, played 14 years in the National league, and is now working his 15th season as a coach by the Browns, although he is listed a member of the team.

Cobb went from Augusta to Detroit in 1905. He was not yet 19 years of age, which accounts for the fact that he is the veteran of an organization numbering close to 200 players.

Judging from his batting record of .333 and his base-stealing mark of over 50 in 1917, it would seem that this great athlete is good for many more years as a top-notch player. He is cured to play ball that long there is little doubt that he could excel the long service records of Wagner and Lajoie.

Sherwood Magee is the real veteran of big league baseball, however. "Sherry" is entering his 15th season as a regular, and has without question played more big league games than any one in either league.

George Paskett is the oldest player in either league—admitting to 37 years. Jimmy Austin and Terry Turner are 36 years old, and Magee is 34. Here are some other players who are as old or older than Cobb: Cravath, Archer, Ames, Dabbert, Oldring, Moeller, Wilson, Salje, Herzog, Stange, Shotton, Gardner, Doyle, Fletcher, Luderus and Killifer.

BOSTON FANS ARE SIMPLY WILD OVER THEIR BABE RUTH

That's Chief Reason Why Ed. Barrow Likes to Use Him as Often as Possible

There has been some criticism from certain quarters about Ed. Barrow's frequent use of his captain, Babe Ruth, the presumption being that the career of the colossus on the mound will be spoiled by his daily romping in left field or at first base when he is not called on to hurl at the opposition.

Boston fans regard Ruth as the biggest man in baseball, and they have not his physical proportions in mind in so thinking. He is applauded every time he steps on the plate, and the simple snare of a spent fly out there in left also draws the plaudits of the enthusiasts. They are all wild about the big fellow; they want him in every game. The Barrow has felt the pulse of the fans and is giving them just what they desire.

For spoiling the big fellow, why daily work just serves to keep the colossus in condition. It is his daily appetizer, and best of all, he wants to be out there every day and this has influenced Barrow greatly in keeping the big fellow active.

An excellent idea of Ruth's viewpoint on baseball was glimpsed in one of the games with the Browns. He had a quiet afternoon out there in the shadow of Duffy's cliff and in the eighth inning as he trotted to the bench he said to Barrow: "My, but it's lonesome out there. I wish I had more to do." That's why Babe prefers to play first base or pitch, because he has more changes to fondle the ball.

So Boston fans fairly worship him.

Count Von Bernstorff Fostered German Dream Of Conquering Canada

As evidence accumulates with regard to the propaganda formerly carried on by Germany with the view of winning over to its side, in a war for world domination, the sentiment, sympathy, and active support of the United States, it is impossible to avoid the conclusion that, while the Deutschem campaign of intrigue and conspiracy was often ably and loyally served by Count von Bernstorff, the Wilhelmstrasse was, on the whole, made a victim of imposition, and fraud on a tremendous scale. There is no doubt that the imperial treasury spent money like water, during three years of the war, in the hope and belief that a break could be forced between the United States and Great Britain. To this Germany's Ambassador in Washington, its consuls, its commercial agents, its entire staff of emissaries, including college professors, medical directors, editors, lecturers, representatives in the public schools, in the industries, in business houses, in banks, in labor organizations, in every department of activity, were plentifully supplied with secret instructions and cash by Berlin. It was expected of the official and non-official agents of Germany in the United States, that the republic, thoroughly educated and prepared for the event would at an appointed time, join in the "Deutschland Ueber Alles" chorus, and those who were receiving generous remittances from the imperial treasury made it their business, of course, to serve to the Wilhelmstrasse how easily this could be, and how well it was being done. The German-American Alliance, an organization conceived in pro-Germanism, financed by pro-Germans, of fered by pro-Germans, and posed and promoted under the false pretence that its aim and object were purely educational and cultural, was employed to cloak the entire plot. Thanks to the work carried on for the Fatherland by the German-American Alliance and other organizations operating to the same end, 650,000 German reservists could, and would, when necessary, according to German writers, be thrown across the northern border of the United States for the conquest of Canada. The United States, these writers held, would back this invasion with all its strength. This, and much more to the same general effect which might easily be cited, illustrates the kind of pabulum upon which not only the remarkably intelligent German public, but the super-intelligent German Government, were fed up to the moment of disillusionment. The awakening to the facts led, no doubt, to the even greater folly of assuming, with encouragement from Count von Bernstorff and his train of helpers, in and out of the German-American Alliance, that the United States could be punished by Mexico and Japan. The propagandists and plotters, who were drawing upon the imperial treasury, very likely felt that they had to do something to make amends for the failure of the promised German uprising in the United States and the consequent loss of Canada. The impressive phase of the whole matter is its absurdity. Only the densest ignorance, among the classes in Germany, concerning this continent, could have led the German people to accept the fairy tales which, before and long after the initial outrage upon Belgium, were conveyed to them by mail, cable, and radio apparatus. It is not credible that in their wildest speculations the pro-German leaders in the United States of the period between August, 1914, and April, 1917, could have honestly believed in the possibility of carrying through successfully the proposed invasion of Canada and similarly ridiculous enterprises. What they believed, apparently, or professed to believe, was what they were paid for believing.

Easy. The story is told of two travelling salesmen, detained in a little village hotel in the West. They were introduced to a crazy little billiard table and a set of balls which were of a uniform dirty-gray color. "But how do you tell the red from the white?" asked one of the drummers. "That's easy," said the landlord. "You soon get to know 'em by their shape". Great banks of hot sulphur in process of formation are to be found in Hawaii.

CANADIANS ON SOUCHEZ FRONT NOW

Hold Portion of Battle Line Extending to the Scarpe River MORALE IS SPLENDID

With the Canadian army in France, June 4th.—From north of Hill Seventy to the Souchez, Canada has moved its forces until some of the Corps holds part of the line between the Souchez and the Scarpe. The move was made in less than twenty-four hours. With the infantry came the engineers and men of all units and all formations that complete the divisional strength. Roads and routes that had known only occasional traffic were jammed with marching men, their bands leading them with guns and munition limbers; with field ambulances; with motor ambulances; with transport lorries; and G. S. wagons until the roadways were white with dust and the countryside alive with the shouts of men, infantry, artillery and mechanical transport breaching the way through both while staff cars wound in some miraculous way through the turmoil which was order, only outwardly cloaked in seeming confusion. And with all this on the roads there were busses crammed with infantry. Other troops went by light railways and tramways. The area about Vimy was alive as it had not been for months. Battalion headquarters moved in the morning to find itself in strange and unutilized quarters at night. Brigade headquarters followed them. Divisional staff reached its permanent destination in the morning and by night the G.O.C. and his staff were far away in battle headquarters.

In previous days other divisions had moved out of the area hurrying south where Sir Julian Byng's great army was fighting the fiercest and one of the most desperate battles of all history. On strange roads and in strange places, troops marched or were hurried forward in scores and scores of busses or crawled by train over-burdened railways to constantly changing destinations. French fighting had given place for the moment to unutilized open warfare. Men billeted where they could in farmhouses and out-buildings, in camps or in the open. One division changed its headquarters three times in three days. Brigades changed as often. Bewildered battalions with tired officers and tired men seemed to be thrown from place to place at the whim of higher commands. But the character of the battle was changing every hour and part of the Canadian corps was moving to where the Third Army needed it most urgently. The Canadian command. All were eager for the battle. It is a strange expression, perhaps, to say that men were eager for anything, but the subject of conversation it was the enemy and what would happen to him if he came on. Never for a moment did these men question their ability vened. And Amiens was feeling that war as it had not felt it since the beginning. By day it was shelled; by night it was bombed. For months before it had been alive with British troops. Within the first compact of the battle, these troops had been rushed up to meet the brunt of enemy attack. Amiens was almost entirely French for a moment. It was so when I saw it—a place of quiet streets and routine with open shops and cafes—with sun and life and happiness—troubled, but not gravely, alarmed. Only here and there one met some survivor of the gigantic struggle going on forward. He tells his story in a few words and went on to find remnants of his regiment or to report at some headquarters. The story was always the same. I heard it from a Canadian belonging to an imperial unit. He was a machine gunner. As he spoke the tragedy of the war overcame the brightness of the sun. The quiet streets seemed unreal and the open shops a fantasy. Then he passed on and the life of the continued as before. During these days, the inhabitants of all forward towns and villages were moving to the base. Trains were jammed with women and children—some of the wounded. The roads were crowded with troops and transports and through the military congestion moved slow plodding animals that dragged heavy peasants' carts. The carts were loaded with home effects, by their sides trudged man and wife and child. Sorrowful but courageous; homesick but defiant; France was suffering another tragedy. Humble homes lay in ruins from bombs and shells. Tired women and children, with tears on their faces and courage in their eyes were leaving their little places in the sun. All around there was war. Here a new battalion swung along the highway. Here a stricken regiment trudged slowly back to rest and reinforce. Their faces and their clothes were caked in dust. Their eyes were tired. They looked old. Some among them limped as they walked. Others had legs and arms bandaged. But they cheered those who passed to the battle and those who passed cheered them giving such due as men give to those who have fought gloriously. So much for the cities and the villages; the roads and the base. In the meantime, as I have told, a Canadian division has moved in a day from Hill 70 to near the Scarpe. On the night of that move, while men of lesser commands were undergoing much the same experience, a Divisional Commander had started off with selected members of his staff for his battle headquarters. So the divisions move and the front wakes up after months of routine warfare. A week ago you could have stood upon the ridge with little danger. To-day the battery that you visited a week ago is under heavy fire and the day and the night are noisy with the shriek and burst of shells. There is gas around and shrapnel and H.E. overhead, and a hole in the ground is a gift from a beneficent providence. Also, if you park your car—where you did a week ago you may return to find that your driver has departed and that a shell hole marks the place where the motor stood. It is a wise man who leaves in time. Yesterday they played. To-day they wait. To-morrow many of them will die. Some of them have died already in the waiting. I saw their bodies—shrouded in their blankets as I went up the line this morning. God rest their souls. Can you realize, Canada, how great is your gift set in your sons, and how mighty they are serving you that your name may be high amongst the nations. France loves your sons. So does England and the Empire. They are very gallant gentlemen. And great-ly cheerful. Long after midnight last night, I was in a battery position on the ridge. The enemy had halted that battery with shell for hours in the afternoon. I could hear some of the men talking in a dugout beside me. There was only one subject of conversation it was the enemy and what would happen to him if he came on. Never for a moment did these men question their ability and with grenades and machine guns and snipers and bombs in addition to shell. But men sang as they worked in the gloom. Never forget what you owe your soldiers, Canada. Your obligation is greater than you can ever repay. They have never failed you. Do not fall them in the after years—when the war is a memory. It is the period before the battle the guns are grumbling and scolding on the ridge. For all we have and are, our men go forward. The graves of their great-dead on the ridge behind them.

Why Potatoes are $1.90 a Bag in Ontario while they are Rotting in Prince Edward Island

(An Actual Conversation Between Neighbors)

Said a citizen recently, "I don't see why potatoes are $1.90 a bag in Ontario while they are rotting in Prince Edward Island."

His neighbor replied: "The reason is simple. There are no freight cars available to bring potatoes from that market to this. The only way to beat the price, is to grow your own, the same as my wife and I did."

"I don't want to rub it in," he continued, "or say I told you so, but you and I could have equal sized gardens (50 ft. deep by 40 ft. wide). They are right next to each other, so it is fair to assume the soil is equally workable."

"We both have a fair amount of spare time, yet I well recall that last spring you had a lot of quiet fun with me when I was plugging away in the garden getting the ground ready to put in vegetables."

"What has been the result?"

"By a little study, and a little work, and a disposition to laugh at our mistakes and forget our disappointments, the wife and I took off that patch all the salad vegetables we needed during the summer, and we were able to put into the cellar enough potatoes, carrots, beets, onions and parsnips to last us until the end of March. Besides which, the wife made pickles and canned tomatoes and corn to last us even longer."

"We made mistakes of course, and we didn't get all we expected out of the ground, but we learned a whole lot, and we feel certain that this year we shall get better results."

By Courier Leased Wire
London, June 6.—(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—Hon. H. Burton, minister of railways and harbors, who will represent South Africa at the imperial conference, has arrived in England. Interviewed by Reuter, he said that Republicanism was really unpopular even among the Dutch-speaking South Africans. These people had lived a generation under the British system of government and valued its advantages and liberties which they were not prepared to exchange for the problem-atical advantages of republicanism, regarding which they were skeptical.

The plaintiffs who charged the minister with attacking the deity and saying that Christ was not a perfect man were William McIntosh, J. M. NEW SIOUX CHIEF IS WHITE MAN

Capt. A. B. Welch, Only "Paleface" Ever Adopted Into This Indian Tribe

Mandan, N.D., June 7.—(Associated Press)—With the passing of Chief John Grass, of the Sioux tribe of Indians, who recently died at Fort Yates, the headquarters of the Standing Rock agency, his mantle falls upon the shoulders of the only white man ever adopted into the tribe. Thus Captain A. B. Welch, of Mandan, adopted son of the old chief, becomes, according to ancient customs of the Sioux, the chief of the tribe.

The new Sioux chief, whose Indian name is Mato-Watape, is with the United States infantry in France and is the aide of Major General Hunter Liggett. A grandson of John Grass, Albert Grass, is serving with the same division.

Although there were formerly four chiefs of the Sioux, only one line remains, and the old chief's sons all being dead, Captain Welch, by reason of being an adopted son takes precedence over a grandson in the direct line.

The name Mato-Watape is the Sioux war name of the old chief and means "Charging Bear." When he was adopted Captain Welch chose this name as the one by which he would be known among the Indians. Although the chief of to-day has not the same powers of the chief of years gone by, the title still gives him the respect of the Indians and they recognize him as their leader. A chief still represents his tribe in all the disputes or conferences with the government.

Captain Welch for many years has been a student of the Indians customs and formed many friendships with members of the Sioux tribe. In 1913, because of a mutual regard that had grown up between the captain and the Chief, John Grass, the latter asked the captain if he would be willing to be adopted as his son. The captain consented and, conforming to the ancient ceremonies of the Sioux, was taken into the tribe by a service held at Fort Yates, the old trading centre. The service began at dawn and lasted until sundown.

The Sioux now look for the return of their "pale face chief" from the great war to assume control of their affairs and act as their spokesman in all matters in which the tribe is involved.

Salmon represented 93 per cent. of the year's total catch, amounting to $47,778,081, as compared with $1,120,226 for halibut, $767,729 for herring, and $744,976 for cod. Whaling operations returned products worth $553,852.

BLOODLESS WOMEN

Feel Weak, Depressed and Worn Out All the Time—Do Not Eat Well or Sleep Well.

It is an unfortunate fact that nine women out of ten are victims of bloodlessness in one form or another. The girl in her teens, the wife and mother, the matron of middle age, all know its miseries. To be breathless after any slight exertion—you feel depressed and worn out all day. You turn against food and cannot digest what little you do eat. At night you do not sleep well and in the morning you wake up tired and feeling unfit for the day's duties. Perhaps there are splitting headaches, or pains in the back or side. Often a feeling of dizziness and dependency. These are the signs of anaemia, or bloodlessness. There may be only one or two of these signs noticeable, but the more there are the greater are the ravages of the trouble. There is only one way to cure anaemia, and that is by increasing and enriching the blood supply, and there is only one medicine that does this speedily and effectively—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These pills purify the blood. It is in this way that thousands and thousands of weak, ailing girls and women have been restored to the joy of energy and good health through their use. Give these pills a fair trial and you will enjoy that health and strength that is the birthright of every woman. Mrs. W. H. Neff, Hughes avenue, Toronto, says: "For several years I suffered from a weak and watery condition of the blood. At times I would be so bad that when I walked up stairs I would have to sit on the top step and rest. Sometimes my face would swell to about twice its natural size, and at other times my feet would swell so that I could not put my shoes on. Frequently I would take fainting spells and was wholly unfit for any work. I was under a doctor's care most of the time, and if I felt better for a time it was only to have the trouble worse than before. While in this condition I was visiting a friend, who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and she got me three boxes. By the time I had taken these I felt so much better that I got six more boxes, and before I had taken them all I was again enjoying the best of health; had increased in weight, my appetite improved, and I have not had a symptom of a relapse to the old pitiable condition."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicines, or by mail at 50¢ a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"BLUE BOOK" BEST SELLER.
London, June 7.—(Asso. Press)—All the big book stores in London report that the "War Cabinet Report for 1917," issued as an official Blue Book and sold to the public at 25 cents a copy, has had a better sale from the day of issue than any other book on the market. Six editions or printings were exhausted within a month.

"Winged Warfare"

By MAJOR W. A. BISHOP, V.C., D.S.O., M.C.

First they gave him the M.C.—Military Cross. As he continued to down Germans they added the D.S.O.—Distinguished Service Order. Still his record grew; so they awarded him the V.C.—Victoria Cross. Again was added a bar to his D.S.O.

This is not the story of a conqueror vauntingly told—it is the simple narrative of one of the world's greatest heroes—its very simplicity and inherent veracity but add to the marvel of Major Bishop's achievement.

A book of thrills which leaves the reader breathless after the swerve and dip of battle.

MARRIAGE TIES NOT BINDING IN RUSS SOVIET LAW

Women of Land Made Subject to Beck and Call of Any Man WORLD IS ASTOUNDED

San Francisco, June 5.—Russian women are no longer their own mistresses in the matter of their relations with men, according to a proposed decree. They are the communal property of the men of the Russia, and unless a woman is the mother of at least five children she is subject to the beck and call of any man.

Nothing describes in the Old Testament as the cause of the annihilation of cities and people is worse than the demands in this startling proclamation set forth by a body of Russian anarchists. Men and women representing every shade of thought and line of endeavor throughout the United States will be horror stricken by the degradation of thought evinced in the decree.

Almed at Bourgeois. "The private possession of women is hereby abolished," are the first startling words of the document. The right of man to possess a woman between the ages of 17 and 32 is abolished, the decree declares, and then tells why in these words: "Since the most beautiful specimens of the fair sex have in the past been limited by marriage to the possession of the bourgeois men, the correct continuation of the human race has been greatly impeded and great inequalities have resulted."

Popular Propagation Fund. Every workman is required to pay from his earnings two per cent. in order that a fund called the popular propagation fund, may be raised. Male citizens not belonging to the workingman's class will be allowed the same privileges as others have by paying 100 rubles per month to the fund.

All babies one month old are to be given over to an asylum, or poplar crib, where they shall be trained and educated until 17 years of age, the expense of their training to be borne by the propagation fund.

BANK CLEARINGS. By Courier Leased Wire London, Ont., June 6.—The bank clearings for the week amount to $2,848,500.

WANT INCREASES REVISED. By Courier Leased Wire. Washington, June 5.—Postponement of the new freight and passenger rates, or modification to remove injustices and discriminations, which threaten many shippers and industries, with "commercial annihilation" was urged upon Director General McAuliffe today by a delegation of the National Association of Railway and Utilities Commissioners.

To put the new rates into effect without revisions would imperil and endanger the national economic solidarity and bring additional hazards in the conduct of the war, said a petition presented by the delegation.

TROOPS LAND SAFELY. By Courier Leased Wire. Ottawa, June 6.—It is officially announced through the chief press censor's office that the following Canadian troops have arrived in England:—

Engineer training depot draft, St. Johns, Que. Infantry: First battalion, second Quebec regiment, draft No. 88, Montreal. Second battalion, second Quebec regiment, draft No. 39, Montreal. Second battalion, Eastern Ontario regiment, draft No. 5, Ottawa. Army Service Corps. Army Medical Corps. Details. Total, 1,352.

U. S. TROOPS REVIEWED. By Courier Leased Wire Windsor, Ont., June 6.—Seven hundred sturdy sons of Uncle Sam, on route from Kansas to the front, were reviewed by the Governor-General here this afternoon. Special arrangements were made with the men to detain at the Grand Trunk depot and march to a selected spot, where the review was held.

Following the inspection the Duke complimented the commander in a few words, wishing him the best of luck and praising the physique of the men, many of whom stood well over six feet.

UNFIT MEAT SOLD ARMY.

Washington, June 6.—Further evidence of the sale or offering for sale unfit meat for the army, has been discovered by the federal trade commission, W. T. Chantland, chief examiner, declared to-day when representatives of Wilson and Company, Chicago packers, appeared to deny charges that they have sold unfit meats.

Representatives of Wilson and Company asked for an early hearing on the charges made in a complaint the commission had filed against them.

"We cannot proceed to a hearing immediately," said Mr. Chantland, "because other substantial instances are under investigation. I think I am justified in saying that they are in violation and should be considered in this case. They go to the very root of the indicated defence of Wilson and Company, that the instances recited in the complaint were sporadic and occurred through oversight."

It was decided to begin the hearing asked for June 18.

READY FOR STRIKE.

Chicago, June 6.—S. J. Konenka, head of the Telegraphers Union, said today he was preparing instructions to govern the men when the proposed strike is called.

"I have the date set in my own mind, but the men will not know it until the strike is called," he said. "We need a little time for certain conferences as, for instance, one with the grievance committee of the railway telegraphers to-morrow and other preliminaries."

At the offices of the telegraph company it was said that a strike order would have little or no effect on business as practically none of the employees were members of the union.

MESSAGE RUNNER JOB DANGEROUS

Work is Vitaly Necessary in Military Operations in France

(By Reginald Wynne, M. C.) In trench warfare, where flag-waving is impossible and the telephone wires may be broken at any moment by shell fire, runners are used to maintain communication between commanders of units and the directors of operations. Every officer in a regiment has one or more runners attached to him, the number increasing with the higher ranks. The trench work of a runner is not by any means arduous as long as telephone communication is unimpaired. It is in an advance that he is put to the greatest test; for in addition to taking his chance in the charge which captures the trench he is almost certain to have to carry messages across the open under heavy fire.

These are times when it is of vital importance that messages should be got through from a captured trench to the officer commanding operations and in the probable event of a breakage of the telephone wire this dangerous duty devolves on the runners.

The British infantry have victoriously occupied the shell-mangled trenches from which they have evicted the Boche. The work of consolidating the captured position is proceeding feverishly. The air is filled with the swish of bullets from the German machine guns, which play ceaselessly on the cover of their adversaries as with difficulty creeping.

These machine guns, at present, make a further advance impossible, and officers are carefully locating their positions. As soon as the various emplacements they occupy have been detected, information will be sent back to the gunners, enabling them to knock them out.

The officer in command of a certain section of the captured trench has completed his observations and writes a short dispatch—in triplicate, for good reasons. "Runner," "Runner," he exclaims, "Take this to the O. C. You'll find it a 'farm. You'll have a tough job I'm afraid."

"Very good sir," returns the runner. The moment he starts for the rear he knows that the enemy snipers and machine guns will concentrate on him. Even if he escapes these he will still have a terrific barrage to traverse.

Often two or three runners are killed before the message is delivered.

FOOD IN GERMANY.

The Problem is Growing Steadily More Acute.

A gloomy view of the food situation in Germany was outlined by Dr. von Breiterich, the Bavarian Minister of the Interior, in a forecast which has appeared in the Berlin newspapers. The public was told that "not only is there no chance of the potato ration being increased, but we must think ourselves lucky if it is maintained at its present level. The Bavarian Minister said he hoped the bread ration might not have to be reduced and that the meat ration may be kept at its present height, but there was little confidence in the tone of this assertion.

Special preparation of cereals, on which many hopes were based a few weeks ago were not on the market in any considerable quantities, and the public must wait for a daily ration of half a teacupful.

Wholesale complaints of the quantity of food being supplied at the public kitchens throughout Germany appear in the newspapers. The director of public kitchens, in reply to these attacks, issued the following statement: "With the continuance of the war, the quality of the materials we receive becomes ever poorer, and the choice more limited. We are compelled to take what is offered us or go without, complaints of defective quality are simply ignored, and if we insist upon receiving a regular supply we run the risk of being entirely cut off. The fat quantities allotted to us grows ever smaller, spices are now scarcely obtainable, and the substitute spices have a bad flavor. The vegetable supply is now limited to Kohlrabi and asparagus."

A pessimistic article on the potato situation by a member of the Prussian House of Deputies says that the acreage under potatoes has decreased by one-fifth as compared with the peace-time figure. "Not only is the acreage less," he says, "but the demand is greater, and a crop double that of peace-time would not fully suffice."

Rippling Rhymes

CONSERVATION That I may save the price of rations I've shaken all my poor relations. In olden times my aunts and cousins would come to see me, scores and dozens, and stay as long as I would feed 'em, but now I'm standing up for freedom; I've taken Hoover as my mentor, and so my uncles cannot enter the dining room when dinner's ready—I must conserve, so help me Teddy, I have old splinter hints aplenty, I reckon there are ten or twenty, and they have come from distant places, at my expense to feed their faces. They'd come in spring and stay till autumn, and some times longer yet, did rot 'em. They'd bring their cats and pet canaries, and eat my string beans and my berries, and in the pantry and the cupboard for pies and cakes they laid rubbered. But yesterday my Aunt Deborah came to me, smiling like Aurora; she hoped to stay three months or nearly—she's pulled off stunts of that kind yearly. But now I met her at the portal, and handed her no smile or chortle. "I cannot feed you," said I, "auntie; I cannot head you in this shanty. I hope to save this threatened nation by flossy curves in conservation, and so no uncles, aunts or nieces, can visit me until their values. You cannot use a Leadster chair, no brushes of mine shall till your tummy; so take your birdcage and your knitting, and do some ground and lofty flitting. And thus, with fortitude unswerving, I'm spending all my time conserving."

The Heat of the Sun

Why is the air generally much colder a mile above the earth than near the ground? The heat of the atmosphere comes from the sun, but it is somewhat indirect process. The incoming sunbeams are only slightly absorbed by the dry air at high levels, and so have little effect on its temperature. In the lower regions of the atmosphere there is always a considerable amount of water vapor (water in the form of gas), and this substance has a relatively large capacity for absorbing heat from sunshine. Lastly, the earth absorbs all the heat that falls upon it, and then gives it back, by radiation or conduction, to the air above it. Thus the atmosphere is mainly heated from below and not from above. Air heated near the ground tends to rise, but it cools rapidly in rising. As it reaches higher levels the pressure upon it is less, it expands, pushing away the air surrounding it, and it uses up in this work some of the energy that it originally possessed in the form of heat. This process is referred to by scientists as adiabatic cooling.
