Wed With Each Other In Commemoration of Scotland's Patron, St. Andrew, Last Night—Was the Greatest Society Event in Dawson's History—Youth and Loveliness.

St. Andrew's ball, the social event of the year, has once more become a thing of the past—a memory to be fondly remembered and thought of in the next twelve months, when, by the past performances of society, there will be a ball that will outdo the splendor of last night's ball. The society has a well-earned reputation for lavish entertainment, and its guests have never been disappointed in the entertainment offered them, last night's having been the grandest and most successful affair that ever gladdened the hearts of Dawson dancers.

At about 9 o'clock the pipes announced that the grand march was forming, and Captain Cosby of the N. W. M. P., dressed in full uniform, stepped off at the side of the piper, and the ball was opened. This march was the most brilliant thus far seen in Dawson, and certainly there will not be another like its gorgeousness for another year, and if it is to be rivaled then it is, to say the least, somewhat difficult to foresee just how it is to be accomplished. Round and round the hall marched the brilliantly dressed concourse, the men, with few exceptions, wearing the conventional claw-hammer coat and showing the broad expanse of shirt bosom, and the ladies—but of them more anon. The march was conducted in a series of the most beautiful and graceful figures, the couples now marching singly, now two abreast, and later four, and then the music stopped and the announcement was made that the first dance would be theancers, the sets for which were thereupon formed, and while the floor was crowded the balcony was filled by eager spectators who looked down upon as beautiful a scene as was ever presented. A tossing sea of color, of life and happy animation, the part of a few numbers of the program had been danced away into the past, Beatrice Lorne appeared upon the stage and sang "The Relief of Lucknow," which, remembering the part the Scottish bag-pipes played on that remarkable occasion, was a very happy thought and was applauded to the echo. The songstress responded to the encore with "Comin' Through the Rye," which was likewise very much appreciated. Later G. H. McLeod favored the assembly with a song entitled, "I'm a Scot," and from the way it was received very little doubt would have been entertained by anyone of the fact that there were several Scotchmen in the house. Miss Katherine Kreig was the next entertainer to engage the attention of the dancers during a breathing space between the dances, and she did so with a drinking song which was vociferously encored and the lady replied by singing, by request, "The Maple Leaf Forever." Four children in the grand march, dressed in plaids and kilts attracted much attention. They were, the Misses Macdonald, daughters of Charles Macdonald, and Masters Regie Williams and Claire Wilson. Later these four children appeared in the role of entertainers, and danced the Highland fling to the music of the bag-pipes in a manner which captivated all who witnessed the performance.

The last to appear on the stage for the purpose of entertaining the merry throng was Piper Henderson who danced the dance that wins the dancer's way to the innermost depths of the Scottish heart, and did it as only a true Highland, who has practiced can. A great many very beautiful as (Continued on page 3.)

Surprise Party.

About ten married couples happily surprised Mr. and Mrs. Funkenstein at their cosy little home on King street last night and until after two o'clock this morning mirth and revelry reigned. The ladies each took refreshments from their own homes and with whist, music, feasting and dancing, the hours quickly sped. Although taken wholly by surprise Mr. and Mrs. Funkenstein soon recovered and proved themselves eminently successful in the role of host and hostess.

Kansas City Times Sold. Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 19.—Col. W. R. Nelson, proprietor of the Kansas City Star, today purchased the Kansas City Times, both papers to be issued from the Star building. The Star will continue to issue as an evening paper, and the Times as a morning publication. The Sunday edition of the Times will be merged into that of the Star. The Times will cease to be a Democratic organ and will be independent in politics, identical with that of the Star. The change of ownership takes place with tomorrow's issue. The Kansas City Times was established in 1850, and for years has been a leading exponent of Democratic principles in the Southwest.

TO OFFER A COMPROMISE

Seattle, Nov. 25, via Skagway, Nov. 30.—It is reported here that Vice-President Newell, and Traffic Manager Lee of the White Pass and Yukon Railway will leave for Ottawa immediately after attending the company's annual meeting in Chicago. They will endeavor to compromise with the Canadian government on the matter of freight tariffs. It is intimated that they will propose to the government a reduction of rates provided the government guarantees that no charters for railroads leading to the Yukon country will be granted to other companies. In the event of a refusal on the part of the government the White Pass will endeavor to maintain the present rates by increasing the charges from Skagway to the Summit so that the total charge will equal the tariff now in force.

How He Loved Her.

A negro man went into Mr. E's office for the purpose of instituting a divorce suit against his wife, says Short Stories. Mr. E proceeded to question him as to his ground for complaint. Noticing that the man's voice failed him, Mr. E looked up from his papers, and saw that big tears were running down over the cheeks of the applicant for divorce. "Why," said the lawyer, "you seem to care a great deal for your wife. Did you love her?" "Love her, sir? I just analyzed her!"

Wished Them Well.

This was more than professional dignity could withstand, and Mr. H. carried him to the hospital.

FIRE AT THE MUNGER MILL

Spark Ignites Roof and Threatened to Become Serious. The Munger stamp mill had a narrow escape from destruction by fire yesterday morning and it was only due to the timely action of Captain Spencer, local representative of the syndicate, that the blaze did not prove more serious. At about 10 o'clock in the morning a spark falling on the board roof of the mill building ignited it and when discovered the flames were rapidly securing headway. A few moments quick work extinguished the fire and to prevent further similar accidents the building is being covered with an iron roof. The damage caused was nominal.

IS BOUND OVER FOR TRIAL

Mart Tomerlin, Accused of Holding Up the Dominion Saloon Two Weeks Ago, Has His Preliminary Hearing—Will Be Tried at Next Criminal Court Assizes.

In the police court this morning before Magistrate Macaulay, Mart Tomerlin was bound over for trial before the territorial court upon the charge of highway robbery, the same alleged to having been committed at the Dominion saloon on the morning of Nov. 15. If convicted as charged he may be imprisoned for life and also suffer three floggings, that being the maximum penalty provided by the statutes.

When court convened at 11 o'clock there was the usual crowd of curiously inclined in attendance which nearly filled the room. Edwin Harris was the first witness called for the crown, who stated that he had been in Dawson off and on for over three years, first came here in '98, arrived October 29, 1901, last time, has seen the accused numbers of times, met him once in '98 and frequently since his last arrival in the city; the first time about the first of the month at Brophy's cabin; witness was interested in astrology and conversation with prisoner was principally in relation to such subject; Tomerlin has spoken of casting a horoscope for witness; he first went to prisoner's room with Brophy, who, however, remained but a short time; saw a rifle there standing against the wall on the left hand side of the room as one enters from the hall; was at Tomerlin's room several times subsequent to first visit mentioned; at such times there was no one else present; prisoner told witness he had a number of clients who came to see him for professional advice regarding the buying and selling of mining claims, saying directly afterward, "if you can see anything we can get hold of, we'll get it;" witness had replied that such was too strong for him and that he did not want any of that kind of money; prisoner had further said "if you see anything worth going after, we will get it and you will get your bit;" witness was employed Wednesday from noon till next prisoner on the street day following the morning of the robbery; in speaking of the robbery prisoner had remarked that it was a "clean job" or something like that; saw him in his office later and the robbery was again spoken of; prisoner asked witness whether or not it was reported that the notes taken were numbered and who if anyone was suspected, never knew prisoner by any other name except Tomerlin.

Frank Stanley testified that he was employed at the Comet barber shop as porter, on the morning of the robbery while emptying the ashes in a barrel at the rear he saw prisoner come down the back steps from his room and go up the alley; he was dressed in yellow canvas coat, high collar, and fur cap with ear flaps, that was between 5:30 and 6 in the morning of the robbery.

Robt. Forrest swore to having seen the prisoner on King street near Gandolfo's the morning of the robbery between 12 and 1 o'clock.

Phillip Maguire, detective swore to having visited the prisoner's room about 3 p. m. of the day of the robbery; went there for the purpose of searching for evidence; man came in while search was being made and was addressed by prisoner as Mr. Williams; learned later the man was Brophy; found nothing in the search and then went to Brophy's cabin for same purpose; Brophy accompanying the officers; found nothing there; returned to prisoner's room and questioned him as to what had become of his rifle and concerning his whereabouts the night previous; he had replied he had no rifle and the evening before he had gone to his room at 10 o'clock and not gone out again until the following noon; prisoner when placed under arrest had remarked he had no money and his rent was ten days overdue.

Corporal Piper, sworn, was present when prisoner's room was searched; when asked if he had a rifle he had said no; prisoner when asked where he was on night of 15th Nov. had stated he was in his room until 8 or 9 the following morning when he went out to get something to eat; also said he had no money and his room rent was in arrears.

Constable Jackson testified that he was present when prisoner was searched after his arrest; found some money in his pockets and in a belt concealed under his trousers was over $600 in currency.

This concluded the case for the crown. The prosecutor presented no argument, considering the case strong enough to render it unnecessary.

Counsel for defense announced that he would call no witnesses at this time and the magistrate upon consideration remanded the prisoner for trial.

PROPHY ON TRIAL

Charged With Being Loco and Disorderly Individual

WITHOUT VISIBLE MEANS OF SUPPORT

New Technicalities Res Black Jack

THE GAY AND FESTIVE

Connections of Little Evident Much Time--No Verdict 418 This Evening.

William Brophy who was arrested a week ago on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery and against whom the charge of "loose, idle and disorderly" was later substituted before Magistrate's Court on Monday at which time a remand was taken until 2 o'clock when Crown Prosecutor and Attorney Hall appeared for the defence, would be called.

The first witness called was one of the proprietors of the Dominion club rooms. He had known Brophy for some time and had got some days' work at his home as a player at the table. He said that the player was to make the game and was paid $8 per day, amount being that he had been paid with stacks of chips and them with instructions to play on every hand dealt.

Presumably it may be assumed the duties of a bookmaker are to give the names of the winners; but this is not the duties of a bookmaker, as the witness testified.

The witness had never seen Brophy work at anything but a bookmaking table. Nothing came out in the testimony of the majority of the witnesses, and that is that.
