CHAPTER XXXVIII. Had they found the body already? The dawn came—a cold winter dawn which struck a chill to his very soul as he saw the light from the shrouded window. If his guilt were discovered, how many, or rather, how few, such dawns would he see?

The inaction of lying there and waiting, waiting for something to happen, became well-nigh intolerable to him; but some instinct warned him to remain quiet, and after he had taken the shirt and coat-now quite dry-from under the coverlid and thrown them on a chair, he got into bed again and renewed the agony of

"indulged" overnight. "I'm sorry to disturb you, my lord," said Parkins. "I am rather earlier than usual; but-but something has happened, and-and I was half a mind to call your lordship up in the night." "Something happened? What is

The New Way Ends It

Some folks still cling to liquids, to inefficient plasters, or to merely paring corns. They wrong themselves.

Their own friends keep free from corns by using Blue-jay plasters.

They apply one in a jiffy, then forget the corn. In 48 hours, without pain or soreness, the entire corn comes out.

Ralph started and put his hand to A famous chemist found this way which makes corns out-ofdate. One can't prevent them easily, but to keep them is folly. Millions of people know that,

"There's been an accident-no, my ord; it's a murder—in the wood." repiled Parkins, standing beside the ped with the very coat in his hands which Ralph had worn.

Ralph turned and sat up. "What?" he demanded. "Murder! Vhat are you talking about? Ah! oachers, I suppose? Is it one of the rame keepers? I know there would e trouble with those d-d poach ers sooner or later"

Parkins, pale and excited, shool his head.

"It isn't a game keeper, my lord; t's-it's a woman, poor soul!"

"A woman!" echoed Ralph, sitting up and staring in front of him with plood-shot eyes and gaping mouth with the expression of a man awak ened, by awful news, from a drunken

"Yes, my lord," replied Parkins, who saw nothing extraordinary, con sidering the circumstances, in hi master's appearance. "The poor creature has been stabbed-ever so many times, Grey, the keeper, says,

"Why didn't you wake me-tell me might have been of some use," said Ralph, with a fine show of impatience

Parkins hesitated for a moment then he said, evasively:

"I knew your lordship was-tired when you went to bed last night, and thinking that you couldn't do anything at that hour, I ventured to eave your lordship undisturbed." Ralph nodded and drew an inaud

Ralph nodded. "I thought so. A little-after-ten. He paused between the words, and emphasized them on the man's men:

Parkins helped him into a dressingown, and Ralph went and had his oath. His head, every nerve, ache when he came out of the bath: but hi rain was celar enough to appreciate the points in his favour. Parkins could swear, if need be, that his mas en, and that he had awakened him from a heavy sleep in the morning. When he had dressed, Ralph went down to breakfast. He would have given a thousand pounds to have been capable of eating a hearty meal; but every morsel he put in his hot mouth seemed dry and impossible to swallow. He drank a couple of cups of strong tea, and with a nerveless hand

Ralph nodded. "The strangest, most extraordinary hing! They have arrested a man, a riend of Edward Bryan's, who came e England with him only yesterday." "Birds of a feather!" said Ralph, vith a sneer.

Lord Hatherley flushed hotly. "Why do you say that, Ralph? have never heard a word against Edvard Bryan in my life. He is an honest, honourable young fellow, the son of a neighbour." "But his intimate friend and companion commits a murder." said Ralph, with another sneer.

Turkey boasts of more spies to the square mile than any other country; nan! You know who she is, I sup- as anyone who has been to Turkey > will agree. The peculiar thing about these spies is that they themselves cannot be trusted, so that a regular chain of spies is the result. There are spies, to spy upon the spies. The Government officials have their own spies to watch other people; but even the great authorities themselves are already being spied upon.

What is more, the method of spying is quite open, for the spies will stand by wherever two or three foreigners are gathered together, and listen to the conversation. Visitors to Turkey naturally get worried over such attentions, especially when it might be their bad luck to be followed about

It is the "uninitiated" visitor who usually receives the most attention. since he or she will carry on conversation in a quiet undertone. The person who knows Turkey converses in a loud tone for all and sundry-the spies especially—to hear that he is only engaged in pleasure or legitimate business.

Politics are naturally given a back seat to avoid unnecessary trouble.

Salvia Hair Tonic Makes Hair Grow

Ladies should have radiant hair. There are thousands of women with harsh, faded, characterless hair, who do not try to improve it. In England and Paris women take pride in having beautiful hair. Every Canadian woman can nave lustrous and luxuriant hair by using SALVIA. the Great American Sage Hair Tonic SALVIA is a (beautiful, pleasant, non-sticky Hair Tonic. 50c. a bottle. Wheat Doctors."

New and powerful breeds of wheat have been created in America and Canada during the last few years, and many of these have taken the place of those to which the world has long been accustomed. In creating a new kind of wheat, expert wheat-growers open the head of growing wheat just before it flowers, and cut away the lesser embryo kernels. The remaining florets are robbed of their anthers, and every trace of pollen removed. A hood of tissue paper is then drawn over the head of wheat to prevent the entry of enemy insects. Later on, pollen taken from another wheat plant, known to be of a virile race, is gently sifted down upon the florets. In a very short time a new life begins, and a hitherto unknown variety of wheat is materialised. In Canada and the United States the "wheat doctor" is a very important individual, and it can be truthfully said that he saves scores of farmers from ruin annually. Milions of bushels of diseased wheat pass through the hands of the "doctors" every year, and are returned to their owners with a clean bill of health. The wheat doctors have to seek for slippery parasite which has the habt of taking up its abode in the ears of corn. So minute is it that it can only be seen through a powerful nagnifying-glass, to capture it a pair of tweezers made of a split human hair have to be employed. This parasite is supplied by Nature with a tiny file arrangement, which enables t to cut through the outer covering f the wheat and attack the grain. 'A Prize of $5."

The enemy bringing forward continually fresh troops, had succeeded in the evening from your camera in retaking its entrenchments, when a battalion of the Foreign Legion and a battalion of Zouayes, in a bayonet charge, carried the position in ten minutes. This brilliant assault was a decided success, and put an end yesterday to Turkish efforts to retake the ground lost. In the counteroffensive on our left this morning, the enemy was dispersed without any gain, so the day ended with success on the whole line, though a desperate fight. We made many prisoners, cluding officers. The ironclad Louis efficaciously bombarded the enemy's batteries on the Asiatic side. Death of a Religious.

The death of Mother Mary Emeria Augustine McCormack occurred at St. Bride's Academy, Littledale, at 11 o'clock yesterday morning. The de-ceased was a native of this city. She took the religious habit at the Mercy Convent, Military Road, in 1878, being then twenty years of age. Later she was sent to Burin Convent where she labored for three years, after which she spent some time at Belvidere Orphanage. In 1899 she was appointed Mother Superior at the Military Road Convent which office she held until 1902 when she went to Littledale and labored until her death. Mother Ameria endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact, and was beloved by sisters and pupils at Littledale because of her unfailing kindness and sweetness of disposition. She was a source of sympathy to those in trouble and her calm words to those in distress made the burden of their sorrows much retook footing in the enemy's second line of defence. GREATEST DRAMA BY THE KAL-

'Phone 768

There will be a complete change of programme at the Nickel Theatre today, and it is one which will please all. There will be a continuation of the thrilling railroad series "The Hazards of Helen." The Kalem Co. Hazards of Helen." The Kalem Co. will be seen in a masterpiece in three reels entitled "The Barefoot Boy." This is the greatest drama since "A Million Bid." Forbes Law Duguid will sing (1) Dio Possente from Faust in Italian, and (2) Mary of Argyle. It is his intention to sing the well known numbers from the grand operas in Italian and French as well as English.

A BURGLAR'S SACRIFICE.

Is one of the most beautifully outhing stories ever presented upon a picture screen, it is an episode in the life of a "bad man" who is up-lifted through a kind act on his own part whereby he is given a chance to redeem his lost character which he eventually does. This splendid photoplay will be shown to-night at the "British" in conjunction with the magnificent two reel Essanay production entitled: "The Chasm," a most realistic Selig offering. "Real things in Cowboys" and two exceedingly funny comedies: "The Pie Eaters" and "He Wore a Wig." Arthur Priestman Cameron will sing one of his man Cameron will sing one of his popular comedy numbers and the music will be of the entertaining quality at the British Theatre.

GRAND CONTEST AT ROSSLEY'S.

The contest to-night will be the last of the season, and will be by far the best of all. There are several very good turns, two sisters with violins and other musical instruments, singers, dancers and two sketch artists, and all local talent. Everybody is looking forward for this contest. The rest of the programme is up to the usual high standard. As the English company booked by Mr. Rossley, could not leave England before July 15th, Mr. Rossley decided that was too late, and therefore cancelled the engagement until September, as the Rossleys made up their minds to have a good rest. Be on time for the best show ever seen in the reliable show shop.

BRANDON'S LAST RIDE.

The Crescent Picture Palace have elected for its Patrons to-day a picture programme second to none: "Brandon's Last Ride"; or "The Den of Serpents" is an extraordinary special feature in two reels picturized by Doris Schroeder and released by the Vitagraph Company, with Margaret Gibson and George Holt in the leading roles. "A Mother's Atonement" is a gripping Kaleb drama featuring Irene Boyle. "The Grate mperyral Cirkus" is the best juven le comedy burlesque ever produced in pictures. "Our Homemade Army' and "Meeting Mr. Jones" are two extremely clever and funny comed add to the above good singing and classy appropriate music you cer-tainly have a big show for little money. Adm night 5 cents.

"OURS" IN THE WEST END. There was a good audience last night and a real good show at the opular theatre. The two little rs were loudly applauded for their patriotic song, which they sang in great style. Don't forget the big con test to-night at Rossley's East End Theatre, the last of a most successful great surprises in store.

A Veritable "Revival."

The people of the British Isles appears to be on the eve of a veritable revival" of patriotism. Great as has en the response to the call for the the workshops to provide for those in the trenches will easily eclipse it and we have no doubt that each call will stimulate the other. The advocates of the press-gang for the trenches and the workshop seem to have gregation. The service opened with misunderstood the temper of the times and the people. A century ago the press-gang was in common use to man the navy. Nowadays nobody nears of it, and even the Conscrip ionists never mention it. The volun tary system has proved and is prov ships of the navy, from the super dreadnought down to the naval des patch boat, and to man the thousand auxiliary ships which are being used for all kinds of purpose to supple-ment the regular naval units. Nay, more than this, a perusal of the casualty lists shows that there are many battalions of naval volunteers doing land work in the Peninsula of Galli poli. In the list of June 8th, given in the Times, we find the following Battalions;—Howe, Hardy, Anson, Drake, Nelson, in addition to battalions of Royal Marine Light Infantry from Chatham, Portsmouth, Plymouth and Deal. We venture to believe that before the war is over the talk of con pulsion for the army and the munition factories will disappear as com-pletely as it has in recruiting for the navy. So far as we can gather volunteers have responded faster than they have been able to be equipped with all the necessary accourrements of war and especially with machine and other guns and ammunition, such as the experience of the war is proving essential. There has been apparently transept to a position over the Cam-no shortage in volunteering for the ons' stalls, at each side of the Chanarmy, the shortage has been in equiparent, the shortage has been in equiparent and ammunition. This is not advantage last night under the skilsurprising when we consider that the full manipulation of the organist Mr. British army has been increased ten- A. H. Allen. RECRUITING FOR MUNITION VOL-UNTEERS OPENED.

LONDON, To-day. The enrolment of war munition tion for the time being than the enlistment of recruits for the army. It is a striking proof of how Lloyd George, Minister of Munitions, succeeded in awakening the country by the paramount necessity of concentrating on the production of shells other war material. At six Clock last evening Munitions Work Bureaus were opened at nearly two nundred town halls in various parts of the country, of which fifty-three are in London alone. A large number of other buildings give British workmen the opportunity to get into the factory line and supply the firing line. According to a page advertise-ment in big type, printed in all news-papers, these bureaus opened in the vening in order that men might enst for the munitions work withou sing time in their present situa-Every skilled worker who is ready to go will be put into his new job with the least possible delay, said Morgan, a well known business man whom Lloyd George impressed to help mobilize the new army of skilled workmen. LONDON, To-day. A despatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Petrograd says: Although the buildings at Lemberg were left intact, the engineers effectively destroyed the roads behind the retiring Russians. The rear guard corps brilliantly handled and gained invaluable time by delaying the Austro-Germans, four miles northwest of Lemberg and also west and south of the city. The new Russian front which was referred to in Wednesday's official communication as the point on which the Russians are retiring is on Galician territory. Retch says thinks the Russian army accomplished everything possible with its available resources.

LONDON, To-day In the course of debate in the Comons last night on the Munitions Bill. Capt. Frederick G. Guest, athe had obtained 72 hours leave of absence to come to London and tell the House his belief in the peril confront ing the nation. He said that the nation still failed to grasp the mean ing, size and significance of the war. a sigh of relief to the trenches was The country has got to set its only tinkering with the main proposition of the summer offensive. He spoke of the neormous difficulties under which the Allies were labouring and asked where would they have lantry of French troops in the past six weeks. Capt. Guest said that the nation ought to be organised to the utmost. He said that he had strongly opposed national service before the front convinced him that before the war was over men would be wanted in such numbers and munitions in could overcome the difficulties. was true, he said, that more men had present. Bowring coaster Prospero reached Griquet, the terminus of her route, on Wednesday evening, having made every port enroute and landed all freight. The arrival of provisions and supplies generally was bad-ly needed north, particularly in the region of Griguet. The steamer is now coming south and should arrive back, under ordinary conditions, about Monday next.

Workman Was Temporarily Insane.

Yesterday a city workman was noticed to be acting strangely and thinking he was mentally unbalanced. Constable O'Keefe took him in charge and escorted him to the police station where he was examined by Dr. Campbell, who found the patient's machinery to be in fairly good running order, though it had been temporarily upset, owing to something he had been brooding over. The man was then released from custody.

Methodist Conference.

THURSDAY, June 24. Afternoon Session, was taken up with routine work and committees.

Evening Session. —Conference assembled at 8 p.m. to consider the question of Young People's Societies. This is a most important and vital question and merits the fullest consideration of the church of to-day. After the usual devotional exercise the order of the day was called for. Dr. Curtis Spoke Concerning the Methodist Day Schools.

Dr. Curtis said the Conference had shown its deep interest in our edu cational work by placing its discus-sion early in the programme of the Conference. Much criticism has been heaped upon the denominational school system, but it has not suffered so much caustic criticism as the sys tem of some other countries. number of Methodist schools last year was 364 with an attendance of 15.739. FOG EXTRAORDINARY.

From the time the ship left Nev York Harbor on Saturday at 11 a.m. last until she docked this morning very thick fog prevailed, said Capt Smith, the worst in his experience Going from New York to Halifa there was an occasional let up for short period, but from the Nova Sec tian port here dense fog was continuous. The ship came along ver slowly and when in the vicinity of Cape Race, last night, two icebergs were sighted by the look-out a short ped for a while.

FOG HORN DID NOT BLOW.

Capt. Smith complains about the og alarm at Fort Amherst not blowng this morning when he wanted it The Stephano was just entering port about 5 o'clock but had to beat a rereat in the fog owing to not héaring the Amherst horn. After waiting off replied her mother. Narrows over an hour the ship nade another attempt to come in and was well inside the "heads" when the ship could see the sides plainly.

Emil Nerlich, the German merchant in Toronto, who has been on trial for treason, was pronounced not giulty by a jury on June 11th after six hours' deliberation.

The Congregational Union of Canada, at its recent meeting in Ottawa, expressed gratification at the progress of Church Union negotiations, and the hope that there be no unnecessary delay.

The Presbyterian General Assembly at its recent session at Kingston, expressed itself decidedly for Church union by a vote of 368 to 74, and sending the question on to the congregations and Presbyteries.

Edwin Coulthurst, deputy returning officer at Bridgeburg in the Canada Temperance Act, election in Welland county, Ont., on January 29th, 1914, has been found guilty of tampering with ballots, and fined $1,000 by Judge Livingstone at Welland County Court.

A German Red Cross mission on its way to Constantinople has been detained at Sofia as the result of the discovery that several German officers were concealed in the cars. These cars had double sides and a quantity of dynamite was found concealed in

The Anglican Synod of Toronto has decided to start a propaganda for temperance along the lines of a 'Follow the King Club,' by abstinence. The Synod has also by a majority of one decided to give a voice to women in vestry meetings.

The miners in the Coal Creek mines of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company went on strike on June 9th because the company would not accede to their demand that all Austrians and Germans be discharged immediately. All unnaturalized aliens there have been interned by the provincial police.

New York, June 14.-Pat Ryan, the giant weight thrower of the Irish-American Athletic Club, made a remarkable throw with the 16-pound hammer this afternoon at the Irish-American A. C. games at Celtic Park. He hurled the weight 191 feet 41/2 in., but overstepped the circle by about half an inch and thereby lost the mark. The circle was a poor one, and it was the opinion of the officials and experts present that with a proper ring he would not have fouled. He won the event with a throw of 178 ft. 4 in.

A remarkable side incident of the war in England is the petition of the congregation of her church in Birmingham to the Government to grant prompt naturalization to the Rev. Gertrude von Pettsold, who was born in Germany and is still a German subject. She is noted as a pulpit orator throughout the kingdom and came to England eighteen years ago. She is a graduate of Edinburgh University. She has visited the United States. Her sympathies are entirely with Great Britain in the war.

According to New York newspapers agents of Germany are now in the United States doing their utmost to prevent the export from the United States of arms and ammunitions for the Allies. They sought at first to buy stock control of the big factories which are now working day and night on war contracts. That attempt was a failure. Their next move, now under way, was to ferment strikes in these factories. A widespread plan for influencing labor leaders has been discovered, according to authorative information obtained in New York.

Out of one hundred Noble, or Pontifical, guards more than sixty are now serving at the front with the Italian army, many of them having enlisted as volunteers without being summoned to the colors. When the Pope was indirectly informed that both the Noble Guards and the Genwarmes had been exempted from service he replied that he did not need them at the Vatican, the Swiss Guards being sufficient for his protection. He added that the first duty of every Italian was to his country.

In the western region of the war incessant artillery and trench fighting have characterized the week's operations, in which on the whole the Allies have gained ground. In the capture of the village of Neuville St. Vaast by the French after most desperate resistance by the Germans enormous quantities of war material fell into French hands, among the booty being heavy guns and mine throwers, rifles, explosives and ammunition in gigantic quantities discovered by the victorious troops in the houses and in the trenches surrounding the village. Cases of food. provisions and equipment were also found. The losses in men were probably among the heaviest of any single engagement, for the ground was littered with dead and the French ambulances removed many German wounded. The latest official report says the situation is satisfactory.
