The story of her adventure, as told by the crew, follows:

Leaving New York on Dec. 7th for this port, laden with Xmas goods, she struck a storm when four days out. This storm developed into a raging blizzard, lasting five days. During the blizzard one of the crew-a Norwegian donkeyman—was washed overboard and drowned. This was a new hand taken on a few days before the ship left port. Coal ran short and at the conclusion of the five-day storm there was not sufficient fuel to carry her to this port and she continued to the Azores, the nearest port. All the woodwork on the ship was used for firewood and two derricks also were cut up. Half speed only could be made. The weather was still very stormy and great difficulty was experienced in making the Azores. The deck house was burned and in fact everything available but the boats was used up. The deck cargo was washed away. At the Asores—which is not a orphanage, very gratefully, and coaling station—she had to wait for any thanks acknowledges the some days for coal from ships. Hope for the rest of the passengers and crew faded during the past night as hour after hour passed waiting for tidings, and seventy two hours after the vessel foundered many feared one of the greatest marine tragedies of modern times was enacted off the coast pefore dawn Sunday morning. Sailors and French Colonial soldiers are the only persons from the ship known to have reached the land safely.

Bay de Verde Protests.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,-It has been some time hurry. since the people of this district here have been treated in such a way as they have been since the middle of last December, and never were the people treated so scurvily since we had Responsible Government. I want to tell the North that fust as sure as Kalser Coaker is running the affairs of this country, so sure this little island will be where she was thirty sure as Kaiser Coaker is running the tle island will be where she was thirty years ago, and later on we will hear

But to get back to where I left off. I ask those in authority what are they doing to relieve the situation in this district? Do you intend to let us suffer? There are lots of men in the burgh, on Tuesday. Viscount Hal- District of Bay de Verde with not one quintal of fish sold, and no way to get politician, asserted he did not be- it to Carbonear or St. John's. But lieve either Laborites, Liberals or any still these men must suffer and no other party was likely to come into attempt made to open the line. There power in the near future, and that a are also St. John's merchants with change in the Government could not thousands of quintals of fish bought and in the stores with snow and rain drifting on it, losing thousands of dollars, but still nobody seems to care who suffers.

We now ask Premier Squires to wake up. He is yet only a young man taking charge of the affairs of this country, but still he should get the country, but still he should get the dressing the Young Men's Canadian Bay de Verde line opened. It can be Club here last night, said that the opened in three days by employing enough men, and the situation soon towards the Peace Treaty would be would be improved. If this is not much modified by the presure of pub- done we guarantee Mr. Squires and pel the adoption by the Senate of the district will fight the administration Peace Treaty, and that the United to the bitter end. I now ask the whole of the district to wake up, and if we don't get our rights, let us as men go and fight for them. It's time now for us to wake up and not be putting up with present conditions any longer. Let the Company or the Government employ men and the line will soon be opened for traffic.

Why is the train taken of this line to clear the Carbonear line, and it is reported even sent to clear the Heart's Content line? Why is not the train kept running on the track to keep it open? Every year fust as soon as one foot of snow falls the train is held un for some time. Who is responsible for this? We now appeal to the Government of the country to make some effort to open the line and keep it open; and the quicker it's done the better it will be for all concerned.

The situation in the district is very serious, as the whole district is de pending on the trains and not on sailing vessels. If we didn't have any trains the people would be provided. but since the trains came in the district everybody depended on them to get their supplies.

So now it's up to the Government to see that we get our rights. The line can be opened in three days and give us a daily service. If this is not done right away then we will put up a fight and show the Government that it will be done, and that in a Yours truly,

War Words From France

The war has added many French words to current English use, and the number of them continues a proc that goes back to the Norman French. straight and narrow path The word "war," itself, is of Norman-French origin, and so also did a long list of martial terms originate with the French, came over into England, and became anglicized, among them, "battle," "assault," "siege," "standard," "banner," "armor," "lance," "bayonet," "fortress," and "tower," From France came originally the terminology that identifies the separate parts of a British army, the "com-"brigade," "division" and pany." 'corps," as well as the officers, "general," "colonel," "major," "captain," and "lieutenant." France developed the art, or as we might now say, the machinery of war earlier than the English, but it is rather surprising to realize how many centuries the terninology has been in use.

Dear Sir,-Please publish the enclosed letter which we sent to Hon. W. F. Coaker yesterday, and oblige Very truly yours, JOSEPH H. GRIDLEY.

Jan. 14, 1920. [COPY.]

The Hon. W. F. Coaker. St. John's.

Sir.-I read your article in your paper last evening, regarding the Fish Export Regulations My first one who would not fight fairly, and with whom I did not care to enter into argument. However, as the direct representative in St. John's for J. garding certain statements which you

I do not intend to indulge in perconalities as you have done in your letter. I consider the statements which you made regarding the firm I represent, as cowardly and unfair, and I leave the judgments in regard to that matter to the people of Newfoundland themselves

J. Aron & Co. made no pretenses regarding their position here. They are here solely for the purpose of doing business, and as you know. they have a world-wide selling force, and are prepared to market all brands of Newfoundland fish in every for eign market. Moreover, all the fish they buy in Newfoundland they pay cash for in St. John's. I believe the marchants in Newfoundland are keen enough business men to welcome competition and will not object to our doing business here, simply because we are foreigners.

You, Mr. Coaker, are vitally interested in this situation, not because you want to protect the interest of lively youngsters in the front divisthe country, but because your pocket ion, the St. Bon's will make a big bid

Just at present you are considerably worried regarding your interest in certain cargoes of fish which you have in Spain, and en route there, which you cannot sell. It is because of this that you refuse to release the fish that J. Aron & Co. own to-day in St John's

You are choking the fish industry in Newfoundland to death. Nothing could be clearer, and once you let the people understand this, you are done. You are hoping in the meantime ome wealthy, and are praying that

You admit that the Spanish firms are bitterly opposed to your actions, and that Holmwood & Holmwood of England are lined up against you. You know that Portugal, Greece and Brazil are all strongly opposed to the present regulations. You know that Mr. Hickman Mr Earle and Mr Munn have come out and openly opposed you. You know there are other mer-
