The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Metropolitan Toronto Library
General Reference Department

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▽ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Metropolitan Toronto Library

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole → signifie "À SUIVRE", le symbole ▽ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

PREFACE.

The Citizens' Free Library of Halifax owes its origin to the beneficence of the late Chief Justice of Nova Scotia, the Hon. Sir William Young, Knt.

The nucleus of a popular library, known as the Halifax Mechanics' Library, had been formed in October, 1831. It was supported by a number of shareholders, each of whom paid a subscription so small that it placed the books within the reach of almost any industrious person. This library, which at last amounted to about three thousand volumes, continued in existence until the year 1864, when unfortunately it fell into debt. Thereupon it became necessary to disperse the whole collection. It was purchased by Sir William, and presented as a gift to the city of Halifax, which was thenceforth to maintain it as a free institution.* A small, inconvenient room in the old City Court House, which recently stood near the Market Square, was appropriated for its use, and early in 1866, Mr. Samuel Creed was appointed to succeed to the late librarian, Mr. John C. Craigen. For several years it did good service, and no doubt yielded a large amount of instruction and enjoyment.

In 1873, its founder evinced his continued interest in the institution by presenting it with the library of his late brother, George R. Young, Esq., which he had purchased for that purpose. The united collections, now numbering about five thousand volumes, were immediately removed to No. 263 Barrington Street, where they were roughly catalogued, and on the 18th August, 1873, the library was once more opened to the public. An annual grant of one thousand dollars was secured to pay rent, salary, and other expenses. About fifteen hundred persons of all classes of society had enrolled their names as borrowers, but of these not more than two hundred were regular readers—an extremely small proportion of a population of thirty thousand. In order to purchase modern publications, Sir William further gave one hundred dollars annually for three years, on condition that the city would grant a like sum.

In August, 1824,—forty years previous to Sir William's gift,—the Halifax Library had been founded by a society of gentlemen belonging to the town. It was an exclusive institution, supported by shareholders, limited in number to one hundred and twenty, who paid an annual fee. At length, however, the funds became limited, and finally this excellent collection of well-bound books was sold to the Citizens' Free Library, with which it was incorporated. The library, thus augmented, was re-opened about the first of August, 1876. It then, as we have seen, consisted of three amalgamated collections: the Mechanics' Library, which in the city's hands had grown to about four thousand volumes, the George R. Young Library of about one thousand volumes, and the Halifax Library consisting of over six thousand. A rough list of a portion of the collection was published, and was followed in 1878 by another of the remaining part. In a few years the library was removed to Argyle Hall, Argyle Street, where it was opened on 7th October, 1878. There it remained, with hardly a new book upon its shelves, until the summer of 1890, when it was placed in its present quarters in the new City Hall.

Sir William Young had died in 1887, leaving the sum of four thousand dollars, to be used within four years for the erection of a library building. As the conditions of the bequest were not fulfilled, the money returned to his estate.

Recently it had become almost impossible to ascertain what the library contained, so few were the books remaining which had been included in the now useless catalogues of 1876 and 1878. A number of new ones had also been purchased with that proportion of the grant which had formerly been reserved for the payment of rent. All this made it necessary that a catalogue of the entire collection should immediately be provided, and in 1893 I was instructed to prepare such a work upon modern principles, the present volume being the result.

Work was begun on 11th December, but owing to the confusion in which

es, the present

ision in which the shelves were found, it progressed with less rapidity than I had hoped. Books at the same time were being issued to readers. For these and other reasons, it was finally deemed necessary to close the institution for a time, beginning with Christmas Day. On 27th February, of the present year, the work of writing the entries upon the cards was completed, and one month later the copy was ready for the printer.

The volume has been kept within as small a compass as possible. My instructions have forced me to place all second and subsequent lines of an entry in brevier type, which has affected to a large extent the typographical appearance of the work. With more details in the book, the usefulness of the library would have been much enhanced; for it is now universally acknowledged that the practical value of such an institution is largely proportionate to the completeness of its catalogue. It was not part of my duty to arrange the volumes upon the shelves, but I strove to better to some extent the existing conditions. The utmost and constant attention to system is necessary to prevent a large accumulation of books from becoming chaotic.

As alphabetical order is maintained throughout, those who consult this catalogue should look for authors or subjects in the same manner in which words are sought for in a dictionary. Readers are cautioned that French surnames are entered under the prefix when it is or contains an article, Le, La, L', Du, Des; but under the word following, when the prefix is a preposition, de, d'. English names are entered under the prefix. In other languages the record is made under the word following. Noblemen appear under their titles, with occasional references from the family name when such would be useful. Oriental authors are alphabetized according to their forename. Writers' christian names appear in full in author-entries, but abbreviated to initials under subjects. The names of anonymous and pseudonymous writers have been searched for, and when ascertained the entries have been made under the real names, with references from all noms de plume. In a few instances this may bring unaccustomed names before us, particularly in Fiction, but it is the only system which can be adopted to gain consistency, and the knowledge thus conveyed is often most interesting. Cross-references never leave the reader at a loss. Works of fiction appear only in the class-list Fiction, but references are always made from the author-entry in the general alphabet, and it is there that readers should look for full names of writers whose productions appear under the former heading.

The subject entries include all works dealing with a particular subject. These will be found of much use to the student. A net-work of cross-references referring to related subjects, binds these entries together.

The names of authors are printed in heavy-faced type, and subjects in small capitals. When a name appears both as an author and a subject, preference is given to the former, and the heading is printed in the heavy-faced author-type.

Wherever possible, dates embracing the period treated, are affixed to works of history and travel. Information of a similar nature is also given with subjects of biography. This, I trust, will prove of great assistance. Lists of contents are also occasionally given. Such indications of what a volume holds, are of the very greatest use. Notes which may be helpful are sometimes inserted. Superfluous words are omitted from the titles, but every altered or added word is without exception inclosed within parenthesis. Italics are sometimes similarly used.

I earnestly hope that the catalogue will be found to assist those who consult the library, and that it may lead to a greater interest being taken in the only free library which the citizens of Halifax possess.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF THE CITIZENS' FREE LIBRARY.

1. The Library shall be open every week day, from 1 a. m. to 7 p. m., except Saturdays, Christmas Day, New Year's Day, Good Friday, and any day appointed by the Local or Dominion Governments or by Civic proclamation as a public holiday. On Saturdays, the Library shall be open from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m.

2. The Library shall be free for the use of the Citizens of Halifax, under the following regulations:—All inhabitants of the City over the age of twenty-one, known to the Librarian as proper persons to enjoy its privileges, or so duly certified in writing by some responsible citizen.

3. Any minors over the age of sixteen depositing with the Librarian a written guarantee from their parents or guardians, being themselves entitled to the privileges of the Library, as above.

4. No person who is intoxicated, disorderly, or in any unclean condition shall be admitted.

5. No person shall be allowed to smoke in the Library or to ramble about the room.

6. No person shall be allowed to pass within the enclosure, except employees of the Library and members of the Committee.

7. Books must be asked for according to their designation in the Catalogue, which will be supplied by the Librarian at 25 cents each.

8. Persons entitled to the privileges of the Library may receive books for consultation while the room is open, and the Librarian shall enter all books thus withdrawn, and erase the entry when they are returned. If any person neglects to return any book, thus taken, to the Librarian, he shall pay the same fine that would be charged for a week's detention over the time detained by the regulations.

9. Books of reference, and those deemed by the Commissioners unsuitable for general circulation, shall not be loaned, except by an order signed by at least two of the Commissioners; and in no case shall a book so loaned be retained from the Library more than seven days, except by special order of the Board. All books must be returned to the Library whenever required for inspection or otherwise, under a penalty of one dollar for each volume detained. Reasonable notice will always be given in such cases.

10. No person shall take books from the shelves who is not employed in the service of the Library.

11. All borrowers of books shall give notice to the Librarian of any change in their places of residence.

12. No person having a book from the Library, shall lend it to any person not a member of the family.

13. No person owing a fine or any other charge, shall receive books from the Library until the same is paid.

14. The Librarian shall carefully examine each book returned, and if the same be found to have sustained any injury, or to have been rendered of any less value by being soiled or written in, the person to whom the same was delivered shall pay the amount of damage done, or shall procure a new copy, equal in value, and such person shall be entitled to the damaged copy on depositing the new one.

15. If any person to whom a book has been delivered, injures or does not return the same to the Librarian within 15 days, or refuses or neglects to pay on demand the amount of any loss or injury, or to procure another copy as before mentioned, legal proceedings shall immediately be taken to recover the same with all fines and charges.

16. Writing in books is prohibited, and all injuries to books, and all losses must be promptly adjusted to the satisfaction of the Librarian.

17. N. B.—Any talking or conversation which would interfere with the business of the Library, or be unpleasant to others in waiting, is not allowed.

18. As the Saturday evening is especially intended for the convenience of those who cannot well come during the remainder of the week, it is requested that, to prevent overcrowding, all who can supply themselves during the other days will do so.

19. Any person abusing the privilege of the Library or violating these regulations shall be temporarily suspended from the use of the Library, and the case be reported to the Library Committee for proper action thereon.

20. The Committee may impose penalties on employees of the Library, for breaches of the bye-laws or rules, by a fine not exceeding $10, or by suspending said employees for a period not exceeding twenty days, and it shall immediately report the same to the City Council for its concurrence.

21. All books, unless renewed, must be returned to the Library within the time specified, or else the attendant fines shall be strictly enforced.
