

LABOR OUTLOOK NOT ALARMING

Hon. G. D. Robertson Says, Taking Canada as Whole, General Situation Good.

Hamilton, Feb. 2.—"Canada as a whole has no cause to be alarmed at the present labor outlook," declared Hon. G. D. Robertson, minister of labor, during an address on post war problems before the Canadian Club of Hamilton in the Royal Connaught on Saturday evening.

"Apart from central Canada, the labor situation is not one to cause alarm," said the minister of labor, "but it is an important problem in southern Quebec and southern Ontario. As a result of the termination of the war, industry has not been curtailed outside of Quebec and Ontario. In British Columbia shipbuilding is absorbing all the unemployed with the exception of a few men coming out of the bush who are cutting spruce for airplanes. In the prairie provinces, conditions are normal but work in the Alberta coal fields might be hurt as a result of the mild weather."

Compares With 1914. The speaker stated that three-fourths of all the munition workers of the Dominion were in Ontario and Quebec, making the unemployed situation in these provinces most acute, but despite this, there were not as many unemployed in Ontario at the present time as in the winter of 1914.

Shipbuilding was going to be carried on extensively by the government in British Columbia and the Atlantic coast provinces. "At the present time the government is building over fifty vessels and that industry is to be greatly stimulated," he declared.

Referring to the coal and steel situation, Hon. Mr. Robertson stated that these industries were going to continue at top speed. The government was bringing back 1,000 skilled miners and as one skilled man under the surface needed one unskilled man above, employment would be provided for 2,000 miners in the coal provinces.

The government railways are giving large orders, not because it is good business, but to provide work for the unemployed. "I know that this program is extensive enough to furnish work for 40,000 men for nine months. Other big public works will also be commenced in the spring, and with the provinces taking advantage of the house building loan, the building trades will also be stimulated," he said.

Workers Not Profiteers. Hon. Mr. Robertson stated that it could never be said that the workingmen of Canada made money as a result of the war, as wages had increased in proportion to the cost of living. He did not think it possible for wages to decline until the cost of living had dropped.

SAD DEATH OF ST. PAUL'S SOLOIST

W. S. Coward and His Wife Die Within One Week.

Among musicians in the city generally there will be felt the deepest regret at the announcement of the passing of an early hour yesterday morning of W. S. Coward, for the past three years tenor soloist of St. Paul's Anglican Church on East Bloor street, at his residence, 294 Glen road. Taken ill a little over a week ago with influenza and later with pneumonia, Mr. Coward never rallied from the attack. The sad circumstances attending his death are accentuated by the death of his wife, which took place a week previously from influenza. He was a traveler for Frederick Coward, wholesale grocer, Spadina avenue.

STRIKE BECOMES DOMINION-WIDE

Orthopaedic Workers All Out G. A. C. Wires Sir James Lougheed.

H. W. Parsons, president of the Grand Army of Canada, announced to The World last evening that the workers in the government limb factories throughout Canada would today go out on a sympathetic strike with the orthopaedic strikers of Toronto, who have now been out for several days. "It is a strike for efficiency in Toronto," said Mr. Parsons. "An order came thru from the Ottawa government that production must be increased. This the strikers claim cannot be accomplished except at the cost of efficiency."

Mr. Haselden, president of the G. W. V. A. of Calgary, arrived in Toronto last Saturday afternoon, and will conduct the strike. Mr. Haselden himself has lost a limb in the fighting. The officials of the G. A. C. and a committee of strikers were in conference with Mr. Haselden late Saturday evening and yesterday afternoon.

Following further investigation by the police in the case of Capt. Fisher, the young Army Medical Corps paymaster arrested charged with theft of over $40,000 from the military, Henry P. Codd, accountant and bookkeeper in the brokerage office of Tomenson, Forwood & Co., stock brokers, of 42 West King street, was arrested Sunday morning charged with theft of $7,218.96. Two brokers, J. Tomenson and Beverley Browne, were arrested Friday in connection with the case on charges of receiving stolen money.

SOLDIERS CHARGED WITH ROBBING TILL

Captured After a Hard Tussle And Long Chase.

A daring early morning theft was attempted at 1:45 a.m. Sunday, when two soldiers from Exhibition Camp went into a West Queen street store and walking behind the counter opened the cash register and stole $35 in cash. A woman in the store screamed when she saw the men at the cash register. Policeman Robert Annis was attracted by the outcry of the woman and rushing to the store caught one of the soldiers after a tussle. The other man got away and ran west on Queen street.

GRAVE PROBLEMS CONFRONT HOUSE

to Lloyd George and his present program. That seems to mark the time until the prime minister can return and take charge in person. Meanwhile, the problems of domestic reconstruction are not marking time and refuse to wait until the more urgent business of world reconstruction has been settled in Paris. Many people predicted that there would be labor troubles in the United Kingdom after the war, but very few if any foresaw what would be thrust upon the country so quick and so sharply.

Many Explanations. There are as many explanations for the present industrial unrest as there are points of view. Some say that the workmen are uneasy and restless and that the strikes are merely a sort of holiday effervescence and not to be taken as serious symptoms of any labor policies. Another and extreme point of view is that the British people are infected by the general world socialist ideas which are described as Bolshevism and that the foundations of society are threatened.

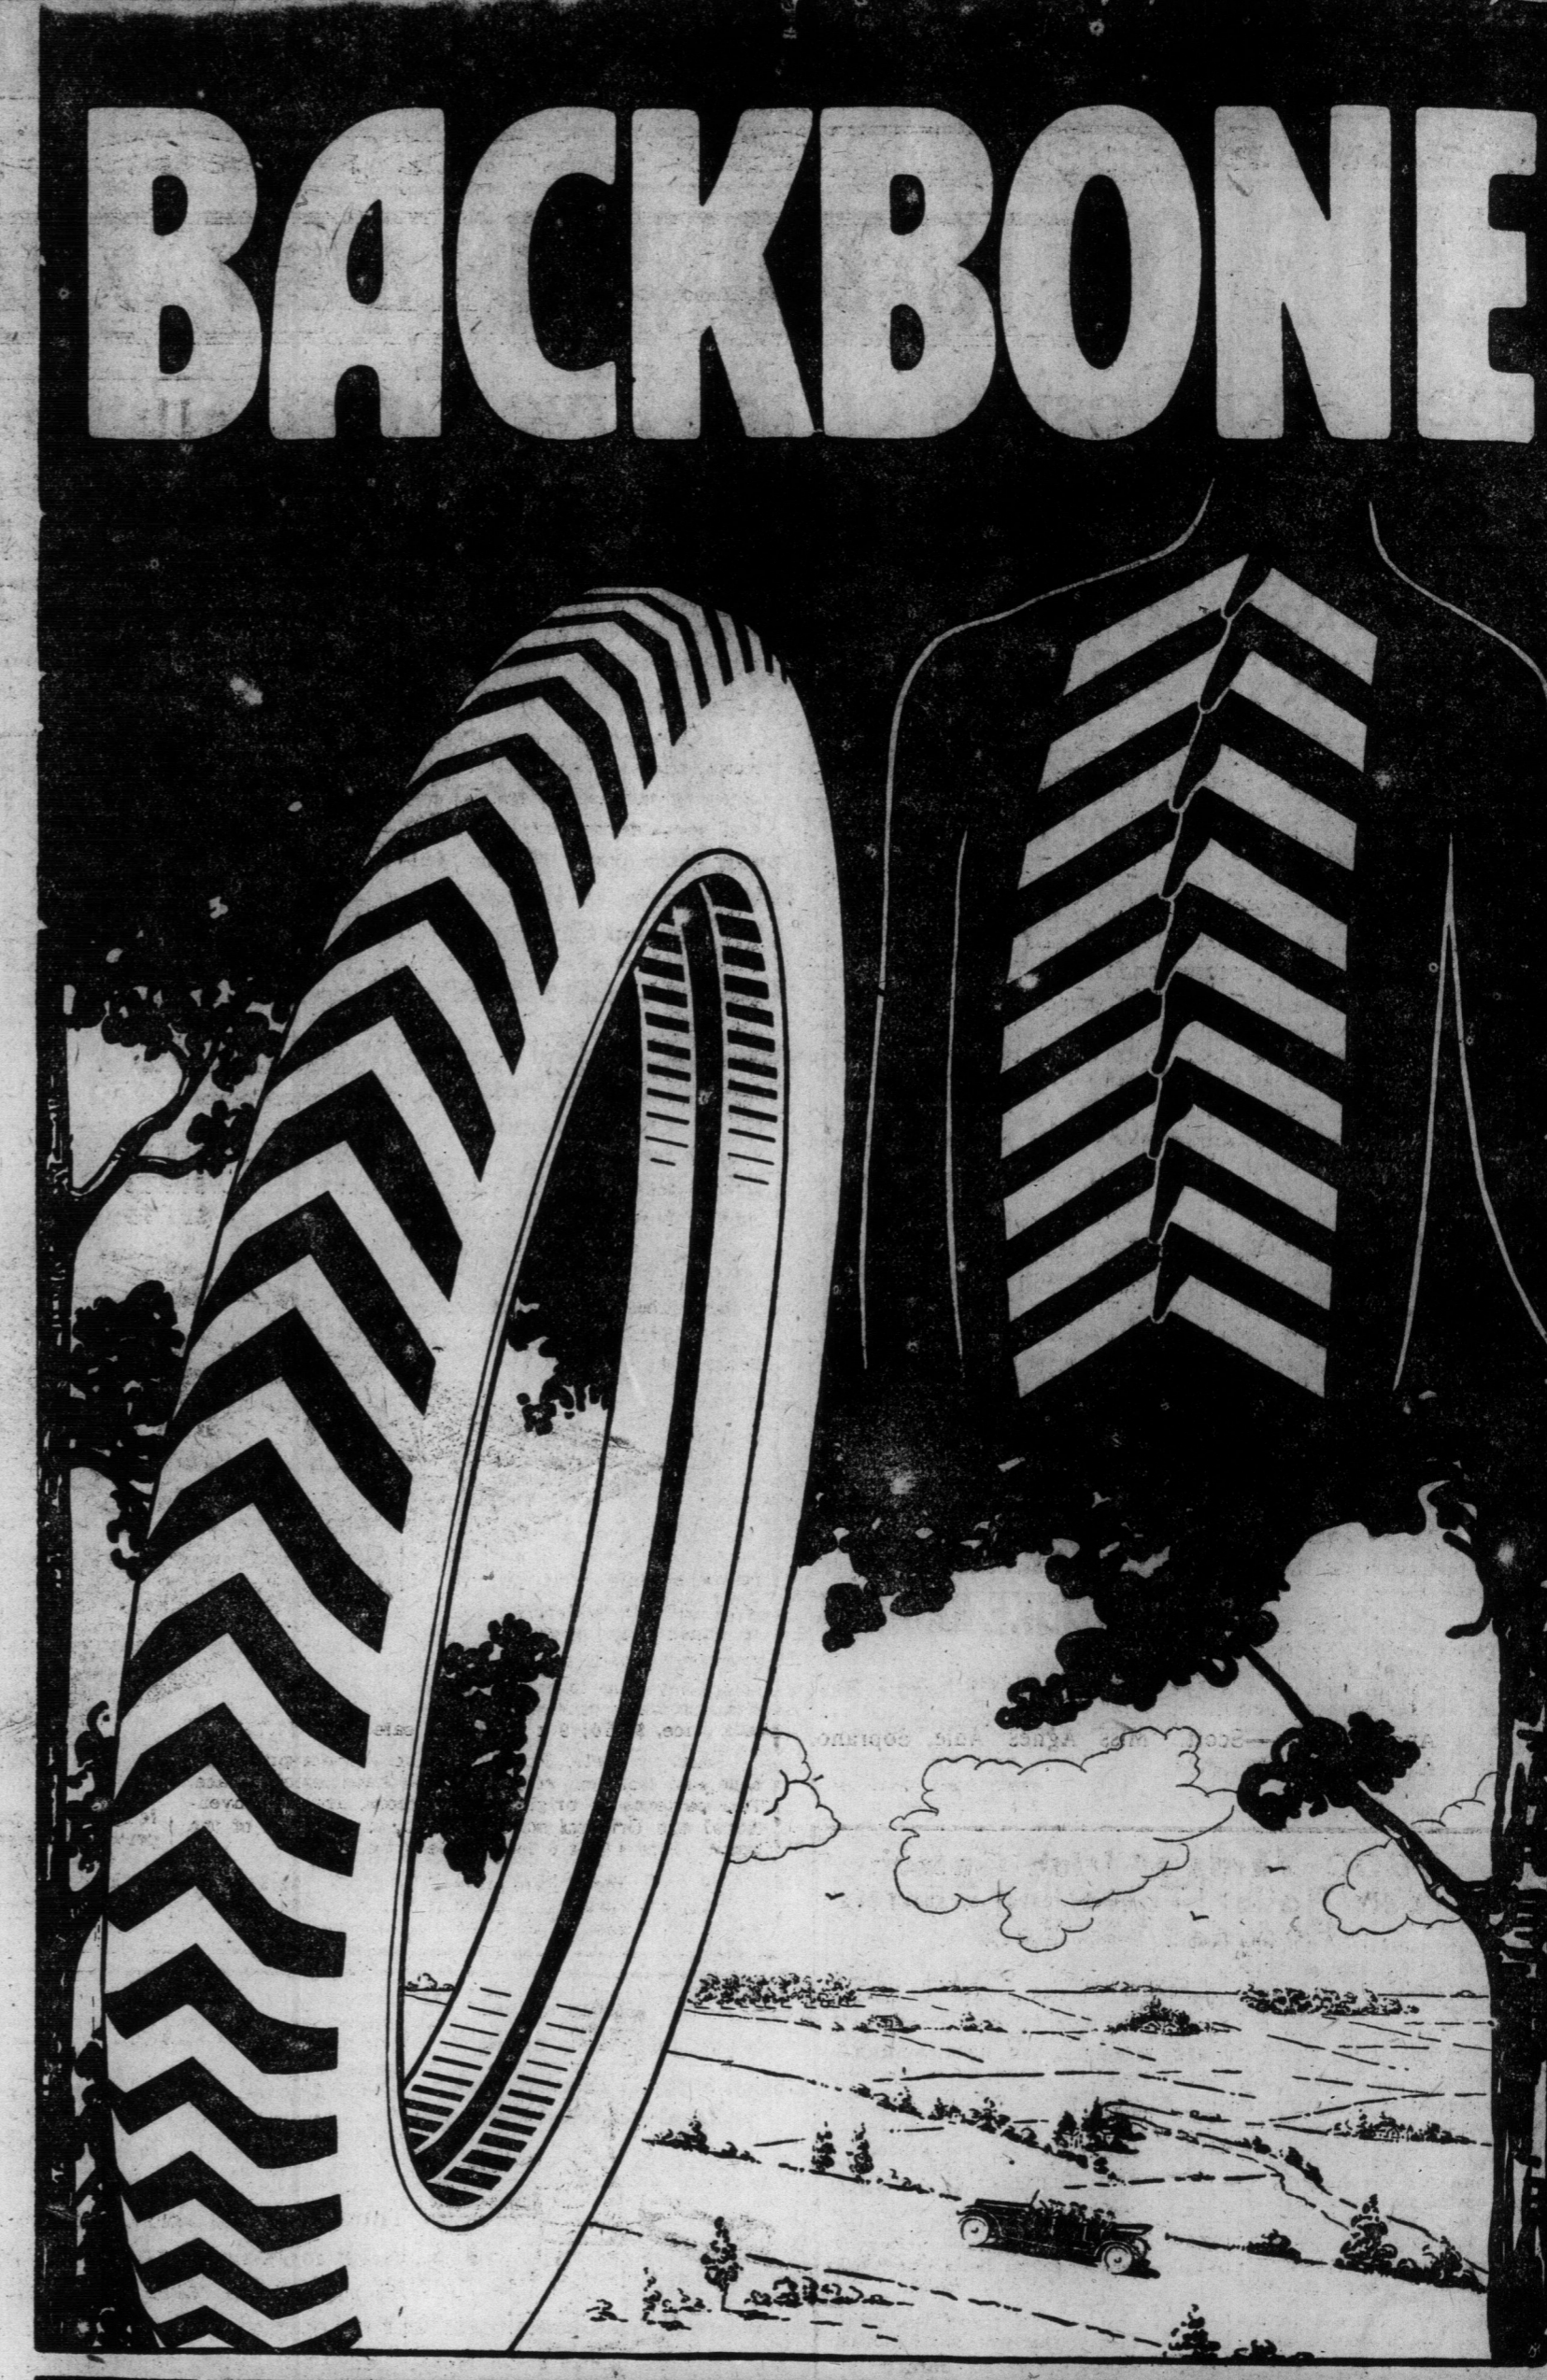

The strikes in Belfast and Glasgow have several new features. Instead of merely striking against their employers and confining the battle to the familiar campaign of men against masters, the strikers are disrupting the nerve centres of their communities. The strikes entail not only the stoppage of work in certain industries, but are paralyzing the every-day life of the cities, transportation, lighting and power for manufacturing are the vital arteries of the normal living which the citizens and their sympathizers are putting at a standstill. This makes entire communities suffer on account of disputes of a fraction of their citizens and none suffer more than the poor people and the middle classes.

DANFORTH FAMILY'S NARROW ESCAPE FROM FIRE

Shortly before 5 o'clock Saturday morning a fire broke out from the front of a house at 144 Albany avenue, owned and occupied by Herbert Lepard and family, Robinson avenue, one mile north of the city limits, was burnt to the ground. The family, consisting of Mr. Lepard, his wife and five small children, including twins aged three months, had a narrow escape from death. The choking of one of the children from inhaling the dense smoke woke the father, who, with the aid of his wife, succeeded in rescuing the children as could be seen from the photographs. The East Toronto fire reels in charge of District Chief Frank Milligan responded to a phone call, but the building was raised to the ground.

EARLSCOURT BOY SCOUT PARADE

Earlscourt Boy Scouts paraded and marched to the Earlscourt Central Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon, where some 200 men and boys listened to an address on the Boy Scout movement by H. G. Hammond. The speaker referred to the large number of maple leaf flags displayed in the windows of Earlscourt homes, whose sons and fathers had taken part in the war, and said it was a fine example for other sections of Toronto. He complimented the boys on their work in the gardens, and the fine showing in foodstuffs, which he said, was the largest and best of any section in Toronto, Canada, he said, has 17,300 Boy Scouts lined up, and Ontario

HYDRO-RADIAL PLAN CHEERS BURLINGTON

Enthusiastic Meeting Unanimously Favors Sir Adam's Relief Scheme.

Hamilton, Feb. 2.—Sir Adam Beck and his hydrological scheme were loudly cheered at an enthusiastic meeting held by the citizens' Hydro campaign committee of Burlington in the town hall, on Saturday evening. The plans of the scheme were referred to as being necessary for the future development of Ontario, and the meeting was unanimously in favor of public ownership. There was not a dissenting voice, and one ratepayer in the audience got up and declared "that he did not believe there was a man in Burlington who was not in favor of the Hydro radicals." Reeve Hughes Cleaver presided, and among the speakers were Gordon Nelson, Hydro commissioner; Alderman Thomas O'Hair, Alderman Chas. Atchison, Controller George C. Halerow, Wiloughby Ellis, Hydro commissioner, and F. Plattman, All Population Behind.

BOYS COMMANDEERED AND DROVE STREET CAR

Eight young boys boarded a street car on the tracks at the foot of Fredrick street at 9 o'clock Sunday night and drove it over two blocks. The youthful motorman was soon spotted by a policeman. When the constable boarded the car the boys jumped and ran. It was not until the police had a merry chase around the down town streets that the boys were rounded up and their names taken.

DUNLOP TRACTION TREAD

over 5000, and there is a splendid esprit de corps existing thruout the ranks. The boy problem was not one of dirt and noise, said the speaker, as some would have it, but something better than that, and the Boy Scouts were well worth all the labor spent on them. Mr. Hammond was in favor of dancing for the boys, but under church conditions.

Scoutmaster B. Lindo gave a short address, and Rev. E. C. Hunter presided.

Calvary Church (Anglican), Silverthorn, was well filled on Sunday evening, when a memorial service was held in honor of Silverthorn's heroes who have "gone west" in the war. The Rev. branch of the G.W.V.A., just organized, presided at 8:45, and headed by the Salvation Army Band, marched to the church, where the rector, Rev. E. J. McKittrick, preached an impressive sermon. Members of the executive branch of the Earlscourt G.W.V.A. were also present.

Silverthorn sent about 200 men to the front, and every one of them volunteered, a fact that is much appreciated by veterans of all ranks.

Ensign Lawrie of the local branch of the Salvation Army in Earlscourt, has been appointed traveling concert representative for the army in Toronto. His chief work is to visit the hospitals throughout the city and give concerts to the wounded men and other patients. Mr. Lawrie is accompanied by his wife. Both their work is greatly appreciated by the returned soldiers, and also by the military authorities.

The Dominion Bank has opened a branch office at Fairbank, at the corner of Vaughan road, next to the public school, and expect to get started in a day or two. There are many stores, besides private residences, in this part of the city, and the bank branch will offer facilities to both the merchants and residents to do their banking business.

Alderman Donald G. MacGregor will preside at the concert to be held on Wednesday at the Johnston family, Robinson avenue, in the Oakwood High School building, which is being taken care of by residents of the section.

STERILIZED WIPING CLOTHS 760 E. PULLAN, TORONTO

FAIRBANK TWO BANKS SECURE SITES.

A branch of the Dominion Bank, it is stated, will be opened shortly in the Fairbank district. The bank owners secured a site for this purpose some years ago on the northwest corner of Eglinton avenue and Dufferin street. The Bank of Commerce will open their branch in the district within the next few days.

The Bank of Nova Scotia has also secured a site in this rapidly-growing section, and have purchased the southeast corner of West St. Clair avenue and Oakwood, 50 feet frontage, at $200 a foot, for a branch establishment. They will open temporary offices in the Orange block, near St. Clair avenue, as soon as necessary alterations are completed.

Several parcels of land for building purposes have changed hands within the last few weeks, and permits have been issued for ten houses on the Cedarvale property.

Eight houses are now being erected on Atlas avenue, and many have been sold. In the Earlscourt district, west of Dufferin street, great activity is reported.

anyone could do so," replied Mrs. Hamilton. "What I did say was that this was an ideal condition which alone would solve the many great problems of the day, touching these problems from the standpoint of co-operation, which is always the main-spring of every happy, well-ordered home."

there was a long-drawn battle always waged between labor and capitalism, and Robert Cook, a returned soldier, stated that the address of Mrs. Hamilton had not been informative to any degree, but that she had admitted that the women held the balance of power in voting, and the interests of labor were apparently menaced by that factor.

In England the old law by which every man without visible means of support was returned to his own parish sometimes worked a great hardship on those who had anchored themselves more or less firmly elsewhere than in their native places.

As far as possible men out of employment should resort to their own locality and rely on the community they know to tide them over the transition period.

BRITISH AIR LOSSES DURING ENTIRE WAR

London, Feb. 2.—The total of British casualties in the air service for the entire period of the war was 16,929.

That men in the house who have voted with the Unionists are ready to smash it with criticism that was manufactured in the head offices of the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific.

A LITTLE PLAIN SPEAKING ON THE RAILWAY SITUATION

The time has come for a little plain speaking on the railway situation. The Dominion Government and its National Railways system are at a crisis that must be faced and dealt with immediately.

While the proposition that the government made the Grand Trunk is not yet disclosed, it is known that it was a better proposition for the shareholders of the Grand Trunk than what has been their experience since the road started.

And when the Canadian Pacific saw that the National Railways from one ocean to the other and clear across the continent, was to come into effect and that the Grand Trunk was an essential part thereof, they, too, began to conspire to prevent the inclusion of the Grand Trunk.

All of which is very well in its line. But what about the railway question, which is right at our doors, and which Sir Robert set out to solve for us by making a real national railway from one ocean to the other, and especially serving the manufacturing centres of Ontario?

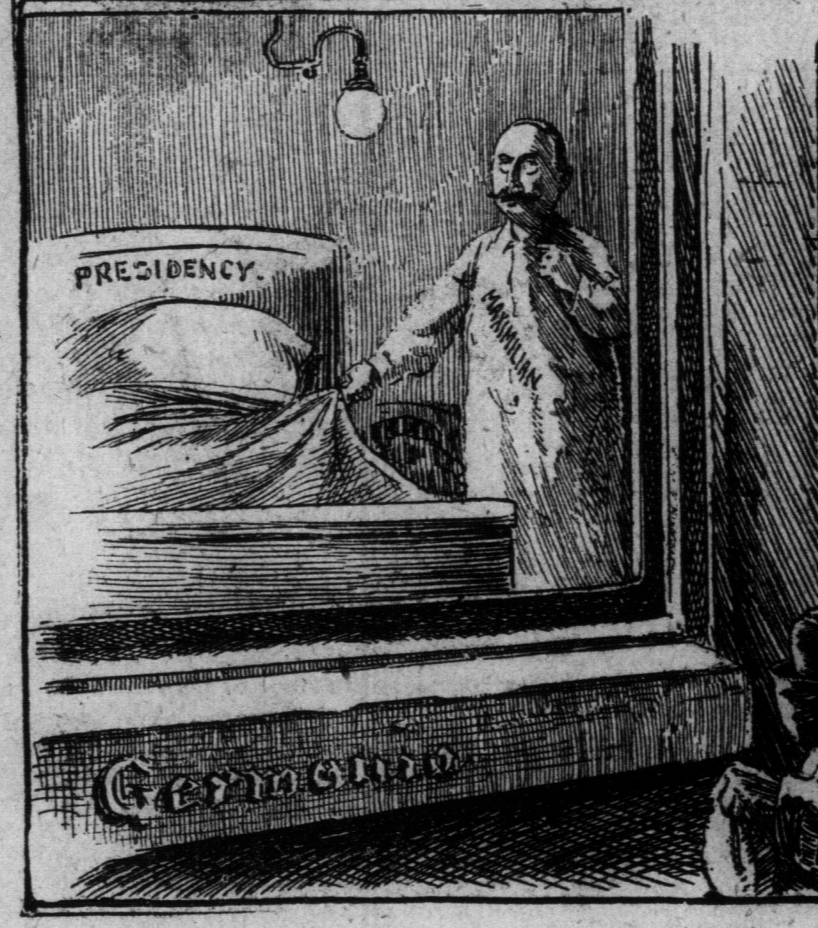

Now, to every sane man the entire dismissal of the aliens, whom in preference to our own citizens, we have taken into our arms, must seem ridiculous. Is this justice, the kind of justice the world and our laids overseas have been fighting for? Are these beings not human? Have they no families to support? Or can anyone claim that they earn their daily bread with ease and in freedom?

We think, therefore, that inasmuch as Sir Thomas White is at the helm at the present moment and Sir Robert Borden is very busy in Europe at the peace conference, and assisted by two or three of his colleagues, and may be there for some weeks yet, that Sir Thomas should make a declaration even before parliament meets two weeks hence and tell the people whether we are to have real nationalization and the inclusion of the Grand Trunk?

Really, Sir Thomas, you must explain right away what you intend to do. The winter is over; the spring is coming; the birds will soon be singing; how much longer must the people wait to hear from you and Sir Robert Borden as to your intentions, or your plan of a complete national system from one ocean to the other?

When parliament meets it may be too late. They're going to get you if they can.

OTHER PEOPLE'S OPINIONS

The World will gladly print under this heading letters from its readers, dealing with current topics. As space is limited they must not be longer than 200 words and written on one side of the paper only.

Employing Aliens.

Editor World: Several days ago I learned thru the medium of your excellent paper that the board of control had unanimously resolved to request "all manufacturers and other employers of labor to disperse with the services of aliens, and to employ in their places returned soldiers or persons of British birth."

Unemployment and Revolution.

Editor World: Now that we have so many unemployed and starving heads of families with us of British birth (and there is no use saying that there is not, investigation will prove that it is right) it behooves our government to do something, and that immediately, as an idle and starving people means uprising and rioting.

Farmers and Fun.

Dear Sir: I noticed in The Toronto World, Jan. 29, 1919, a letter signed Citizen, headed, "No Fun for Young Farmers." In it he tells of a young farmer who returned to Toronto from France, and he says he will not return to the farm for various reasons.

Publicity and Wages.

Re unemployment, shorter hours will not materially help the situation; it is hopeless to expect a minimum wage bill; politicians must have their fill first, and at all times, while the government's "silent" representative only opens his mouth to put his foot in it.

This, the third of a series of interviews, which we will run every Monday morning, is one that was what you might call "self-requested." The young lady came into the office and asked us to please interview her, because she was a daughter, and she was a daughter.

DAUGHTER'S INTERVIEW

"I'm not a daughter of a rich man," she said, "but I'm a daughter of a poor man." She said she was a daughter of a poor man, and she was a daughter of a poor man.

THE WIFE By JANE PHELPS

Brian Realizes the Joy of Helping Others.

CHAPTER CLIV. Ruth had not neglected her "war babies" nor their mothers since Brian's return. Now that he was nearly recovered from his wounds he visited some of them with her.

Mrs. Clayborne still remained in the south, but she sent Ruth all the money she could spare for her pet children. One little woman whose baby was delicate and the mother heart almost broken because of the loss of her husband, added to the fear she would not keep her child, she told Ruth to send south, and on the old plantation where Ruth had spent her own childhood days the baby grew strong and the young mother more resigned.

"Yes, and Ruth, had it not been for you I never should have known much about the kind of helplessness, which I have been very self-centred all my life. I am afraid. I have looked at things only in the light of affecting Brian's father, who had come home so terribly maimed."

"I'm not a daughter of a rich man," she said, "but I'm a daughter of a poor man." She said she was a daughter of a poor man, and she was a daughter of a poor man.

Kenyon Roberts was much interested in Brian's change of location. They had grown very intimate since Brian's return, Kenyon never tired of listening to Brian's talks of what had been done, of how the Boches had been driven out, and of the splendid work done by the American and Canadian soldiers who had played in the result. His inability to go himself because of his lame leg had been a very real and bitter trial. And he often told Brian that it was like being to fight himself to listen to his (Brian's) graphic description.

"In our house we have what is known as a parlor. It is the one room in the house which I am rather proud of. There are the enlarged photographs of four of my relatives hanging on the wall, and also because mother insists on keeping one of those awful "whatnots" in the corner. It is loaded with souvenirs of every description. Those things make the room look and feel like a morgue, but mother would rather die than dispose of them. With the result that I would not sit in the room myself and I would not ask any of my friends to do so."

"Then we have the dining-room. That is never used unless we have very special company, but every night my two brothers get there with their school books and father takes off his collar and sits at the table with the paper. Also in his shirt sleeves, I might mention, mother never fails to be on the couch, which is on one side of the room, reading a book."

"These are the only two available rooms, and because I will not ask my friends to my home to be entertained, I have talked this over with my people, but they cannot see it my way, so I think that perhaps with the help of The World, they may get a different view of it."

And there you have the whole story. A girl charged by the family with being "a non home lover," and after all it is really and truly the fault of those who are doing the accusing. Why on earth will people persist in hanging onto old-fashioned ideas when the world is in the 20th century? Mothers and fathers must not blame their children if they advance. It is the law of the universe.

Today we are in the age of progress, therefore, mother, do not expect your daughter to see with your eyes. It cannot be done, in fact you might just as well expect the sun to stand still. Go ahead, my children, but never ask them to stay behind with you. Your religion is not necessarily theirs. Your friends and their ideas are not the ones which your children will find interesting. If by keeping on his collar, father can make himself a friend of his children's friends, then for the love of heaven why take it off?
