Turkey Disputes Italian Victory

Only Turkish Boats in Vicinity Were Wooden Vessels Used to Prevent Gun Running by Arabs.

LONDON, Jan. 12 .- All Bey, a promment member of the Turkish navy, in the course of an interview to-day derided the Italian claim to a great naval victory in the Red Sca.

"The only Turkish boats in the vicinity," he said, "displaced between fifty and one hundred tons. Some of them are small wooden versels, which are only kept there to prevent the Arabs frem gun-running."

Al! Bey repudiated the reports that the Turkish Government had any intention of asking for peace terms. The Italians, he declared, cannot take Tripell. They will be compelled to re-mair under the shelter of their battle-ships forever.

Cheaper Sleepers Win Out

New York American: Notwithstanding the continued assertions of radicoad officers that two-cent passenger rates would put the transportation lines out of business, earnings of five of the largest systems affected show substantial increases. For the past year the Santa Fe, the Illinois Central, the Rock Island, the Burlington and the Northtern, traversing almost exclusively two-cent states, show big jumps in their passenger returns.

In twelve months, which is certainly ample time for a test, the Santa Fe's net passenger earnings increased more than $2,000,000, the Illinois Central's $1,092,000, the Rock Island's $800,000, the Burlington's something more than $175,000 and the Northwestern's

A large part of the Santa Fe's passenger business is in Kansas, a two-cent state. The Illinois Central gets a big part of its traffic in Illinois and Iowa, both two-cent states, while the Rock Island Burlington money comes from Illinois, Iowa, Kansas and Nebraska, all twocent states. The reports also showed an increase in the number of passengers traveling one mile.

Another contradiction is in Pullman patronage. For some time after the prices of upper berths of this company were reduced it was said that there was no increase in use; that the public was apathetic on sleeping car charges. The reverse is true, as it is shown that something over 1,000,000 more berths were sold last year than the

It is not quite clear how any of these railroads would have much chance before a legislature or a court in an effort to prove two-cent passenger fares confiscatory or in any way damaging. The contention of the railroad managers is that they would have gained more under a three-cent rate. This self-evident truth could, of course, be applied to any line of business.

Two-cent fares have increased travel and increased earnings

During the federal election campaign in September, when the reciprocity is sue was the pivot around which the fight swung. Rev. At the time, and since then, exception was taken by some members of Mr. Smith's congregation to his action in this regard. It was contended in some quarters that for a clergyman he took too active a part in politics. But it is not known whether this had anything to do with the resignation.

Consideration of the resignation has been deferred until the next business meeting of the church.

Fine glass-blowing is done in every house and hut, and the majority of the inhabitants who work on these articles show great talent and dexterity in producing the delicate, fragile balls, stars, etc. The glass tubes are bought by the inhabitants from a local glass factory, being either of thick or thin glass, de-pending altogether on the article to be produced. To blow the various orna-ments these tubes are held over a gas flame, which comes out of a sort of is given into more artistic hands which Bunsen burner affixed to the edge of understand how to use a brush. the table, so arranged that air can be mixed with the gas by means of a bellows worked by the foot. Perhaps the most difficult article made is the imitation carnation or rose, where every individual petal has to be formed separately and then attached to the body. This is done by heat, the various parts being fused on, as is also the case when the bodies of animals have their legs, ears, and all other protiruding parts attached.

OTTAWA WILL RESPECT

Not Expected That Federal Government Will Disallow Act of Alberta.

OTTAWA. Jan.13 .—While nothing official has yet been announced in regard to the matter the opinion prevals in commons circles that the government will not accede to the application of the promoters of the Alberta and Great Waterways Railway and disallow the act of the Alberta Legislature canceling the agreement.

There is not a great deal of precedent for and much against the exercise of the federal prerogative of dis-cise of the federal prerogative of dis-allowance, the view usually upheld be-ing that essentially local or provincial ing that essentially local or provincial charters are within the jurisdiction of the province.

In this case, however, certain orders have been given to the banks with respect to funds in their hands and as such are federally incorporated a nice question arises. It is believed that the province, if the act is not disallowed, will see that the claims of the banks are guaranteed.

The question is of much interest in the west, especially in view of the provincial general election, which cannot be long delayed.

A DISTINGUISHED DIVINE

Rev. David Lang, the New Assistant Paster at Bloor-Street Presbyterian.

The recent ecclesiastical changes for the new year were not all confined to the Anglican Church circles, as the Presbyterians had the pleasure of welcoming one of the most promising young divines of that community, Rev. David Lang. Bloor-street Presbyterian Church is rightly looked upon as one of the centres of active Presbyterian Church work in the city, and has been famous for many years as the sphere of Dr. Weilace's work and so greatly has it grown that with the addition of the newly-erected church house and Sunday school building, it was felt that one man alone could not cope with the work, so the congregation looked around and had the good luck and judgment to secure tha services of the Rev. David Lang, who came into Toronto last week from his charge in the Maritime Provinces.

Rev. David Lang, who is a graduate M.A. of Manitoba University, and a B.D. of the Union Seminary of New York, having also put in post-graduate work at Edinburgh, has had a brief but most brilliant ministerial career. He was born at Huron, Ont., and after completing his arts course in Manitoba, went for a tour all round the world.

In 1904 he was ordained to the Church of St. Andrew's, St. John, N.B., and there for seven and a half years he was the pastor of the largest Presbyterian Church in that province. Mr. Lang, however, found the work too heavy for his shoulders, and he resigned in the latter part of last year, and has, after refusing several tempting offers, come to Turonto, where he will prove a tower of strength to the Presbyterian pulpit.

Het met with a cordial welcome last week, and at his reception, which was largely attended, with Dr. Wallace in the chair, he was greeted by G. Tower Fergusson on behalf of the trustees, J. A. Paterson, K.C., for the congression, who will preach in the chair, he was greeted by G. Tower Fergusson on behalf of the trustees, J. A. It is shown in The Railway Age that the past year of 1911 has been a particularly important one for the United States railroads. In the contribution of new lines they have fallen far below their figures of 1910, while their list of new equipment has fallen far below their figures of 1910, while their list of new equipment has fallen a little more than below that of the preceding year. Another fact is that three roads with a total capitalization of $13,000,000, went into liquidation, while the Wabash, supposed to be a wealthy road, went into the hands of the receiver."

DROMINENT among the suburban home localities in the vicinity of Toronto is The Highlands-situated on the plateau overlooking the Don Valley and the grounds of the Rosedale Golf Club.

Favored by a munificent nature in the matter of stately pine, birch and maple-among which wind gracefully curved boulevardscoupled with the magnificent view of the entire city, glimpsed through the foliage, the location of The Highlands is especially advantageous for the purpose for which it is intended—a district by itself of strictly high-class suburban homes.

THE HIGHLANDS lie just north of and adjoining the grounds of the Rosedale Golf Club, and in addition to the scenic advantages it has, it enjoys the social and athletic features of not only the Rosedale Golf Club, but also the beautiful grounds of Lawrence Park, with its magnificent walks, sequestered nooks, bowling green and tennis courts.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of Toronto's suburban subdivisions, a property is being placed on the market, where one will be enabled to acquire not a lot, but a small estate to himself, some of these tracts containing over an acre of ground, and a number of them have foo feet frontage by a depth of 400 to 600 feet.

THOUGH THOROUGHLY PROTECTED from intrusion by its location, The Highlands is within easy reach of the centre of Toronto, and enjoys all the privileges and advantages of this progressive city-churches, stores, offices, theatres, etc., are all within easy access. The Highlands, with improved transportation in a year or less, will take its place as the "suburb beautiful" of Toronto.

ON ACCOUNT OF THE EXCLUSIVENESS of this high-class subdivision, The Highlands present in convenience, beauty, healthfulness, social life and everything that goes to make a home location attractive, a combination unsurpassed in this city of opportunities.

A FEW SHORT YEARS will see the beauty of Rosedale marred by the hum of the street car, increased traffic, and ruined from a residential standpoint by the very necessary but very ugly apartment house. The Highlands is restricted, and is the ideal location for stately homes, in a suburban community, with all city advantages.

BERLIN, Jan. 12.-Friday's German election was preceded by an exceptionnew Reichstag would be definitely ally bitter campaign and villification of opposing candidates was often resorted to. substitution of an inheritance tax, and curtailment of the political power of the Clericals or Centre.

One thing that rendered the dissatisfaction of the people with the last Reischtag more acute than ever and thereby increased immeasurably the chances of the progressive candidates in the elections, was the conduct of the Moroccan situation. If, as many believe, the Panther was despatched to Agadir last summer in the hope of diverting the attention of the people from the troubles at home and uniting them in patrictic fervor behind the government, it proved a boomerang of the worst kind. The belief thruout the empire is, that Germany got the worst of it, and the impatience with the government accordingly increased. Moreover, it caused a partial unification of all the radical parties, which differently in degree and methods, and it is declared likely that to-day's elections will signalize the birth of the two-party system that holds forth in the United States and to a certain extent in Eingland. Indications of this were seen where certain Liberal candidates withdrew from the elections in favor of the nominee of some other liberal party, thereby solidifying the radical vote.

Unequal Representation.

More fuel has been added to the fires of dissatisfaction by the "gerrymandering" of the government, and there have been foud pleas for an equitable reapportionment of the Reichstag districts. In the last election it required 3:260,000 voters to elect 43 Social Democrats, whereas 104 Clericals were returned by only 2,145,000 voters. In Berlin, where the progressive parties are strong, the number of voters per member is large, while in the country, whence come most of the Clericals, it is small.

We are preparing to make a public offering of an investment enterprise that will undoubtedly control the markets of the world in a line in which all of the present manufacturers are making enormous profits. We are going to make a superior article to any ever produced, and at a third less cost.

The United States statistics prove that the manufacturers in the States make a clear profit of 200 per cent. above the present cost of their product. In the past six years the business has increased 600 per cent., or at the rate of 100 per cent. annually, yet there is practically no competition, as the demand is greater than the supply, caused mainly by the fact that there are only a few men in the scientific world able to manufacture this particular product. Our expert is conceded to be an authority in his line.

We have a proposition that will pay larger profits than mining, without any of its risks, and we say this without any reflection on mining as a business, as we have made considerable money in legitimate mining.

Before making a public offering in this valuable enterprise, we are going to organize a Syndicate, or Pool, to raise money to make a flotation and support the market, so as to carry this enterprise through to a successful issue in a short time. Some of the leading Chambers of Commerce in the best manufacturing cities in the United States have offered us free factory sites and factory which will take care of about one-sixth of the money needed to conduct this business, if we see fit to accept their offer.

Come and see us and we will be pleased to explain this proposition in detail, and give you facts that are easily proven. We will also furnish you with the name and address of many leading scientific and financial men in the States, who will gladly tell you our expert is the greatest authority in the world in his line, and that he is absolutely reliable. The Syndicate members or Pool will be given an inside price, and any questions you see fit to ask will be cheerfully answered. We will prove to you that we have one of the cleanest and most profitable manufacturing enterprises ever brought to your notice. Remember, any manufacturer who can control the markets of the world in almost any line has a monopoly that will make enormous profits.

Respectfully yours,

The demand for seasonable lines is also very satisfactory. Retail trade is moving well for this time of the Year. The larger stores are holding special sales and are meeting with excellent business. "Listen to the bloodless verdict of the market place," cried the late Senator Dolliver once, in hurling some unpalatable Wall-street Journal statistics at a senate bidding for popularity at any price. Here is the verdict on the charge of stock market manipulation; and it is, manifestly, "not guility." These two markets moved together, month by month. Both of them slowly advanced up to midsummer. Each declined sharply during the early autumn, and showed simultaneous railies in the last months of the year. COTTON HIGHER Week-end News Favorable to Buyers

-Trend Firmer. Excess lawful reserve 29,058,250 tunderstood that payments of increase to-day. Manipulation by spot interests dearled prices up sharply at the opening, but the advance was not maintained owing to the general tendency to true profits for over Sunday, in view of the uncertainty of a settlement of the English troubles Monday. Week-end news was of a negative character. It is believed that bad weather in the south will further restrict the movement and predictions of a small ginning return for the period are being circulated. More liberal opposition to the advance is in evidence at the higher prices and we are inclined to look for little more than a trading market.

Excess lawful reserve 29,058,250 understood that payments of dinterest on loans are very satisfactory. Vancouver and Victoria reports say trade in all lines is steady in character and the volume is good for this time of the year. Two Billions.

A new high record was established in the matter of new capital issues, consisting of bonds, short term notes and stocks, floated by railroad, traction, industrial, mining and other corporations in the United States during 1911. The grand total was $1,739,487,720, against $1,518,270,579 in 1917, an increase of $221,215,141. There were notable increases in the offerings of bonds and notes, but a decrease in the sale of stocks by the railroads.

almost demoralized state, drastic liquidation being in progress, and prices responding to the continuous pressure with sharp declines. The movement was due largely to the announcement of the failure of one of the big stock exchange houses which have been specializing in the gold mining stocks, and which had overstepped its abhities.

In the first hour's trading in the stock exchange prices fell by leaps and bounds, until declines almost unparalleled in the history of the markets were recorded. Crown Chartered, the pet of the defunct firm, rdopped 21 points to 13; Dome Extension, another of its favorites, was off 11 to 32; Rea, one of the big issues, lost 34 at $1.35; and Hollinger declined 20 to $12.96.

Other losses of like extent, the less degree, were shown elsewhere in the list.

After declining perpendicularly for about an hour, the market made a special state of the time of the session; Dome Extension at 43 3-4 bid, an actual advance from last night's close, and 11 2-4 up from the bottom level for the day. Similar gains were shown elsewhere in the list.

A Caution to the Public PORCUPINES --- BEWARE!

From the absurd to the ridiculous the downward stampede in the market of some of the most substantial stocks is deplorable. A wild helter-skelter, in no ways warranted—a stupid sacrifice—an immediate panic. What for? Because the mines show improvements, and continue so to improve. I appeal to judgment and common sense. Do not be intimiated into throwing stocks on the market. Whilst such madness prevails buy Crown Chartered, Dome Extension, Pearl Lake, Vipond and Rea without hesitation. These are proved gold propositions of value, and the depression idiotical and prices too insignificantly low for values in sight. Go right into market indiscriminately Monday morning and buy these shares. Don't again hesitate.

Puts Thirty-two To

Nineteen - Year - Old Pacific New British Phenem Coast Boy Making a Name for Himself - Graduated From Feather Ranks-Can Make 130 Easily.

By W. W. Naughton-SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 18 .- The Los Angeles sports expect great things of Young Joe Rivers, and it can truthfully be said that he is as promising a light. weight as there is in the west. As he has been battling among the feathers during the year or so he has been in the business, it savors of railroading him into a higher class to speak of him as a lightweight, but, truth to tell, Master Joe has attained lightweight dimensions already.

He had to pinch like everything to make 125 at 10 o'clock on New Year's morning for Frenkie Conley, and it is reasonable to suppose that he added at least a couple of pounds to his avoirtupois by 3 o'clock, the time he enterded the ring.

The chances are Rivers could fight at 130 right now without carrying any overtime pay nor violate any of the rules of the Amalgamated Order of Facial Destroyers.

These thirty-two gentlemen who discovered numerous constellations unconnected with astronomy, were all knocked out in a single day during a tour of a boxing show thru the English provinces. Ward himself is a modest chap, not given to touting the verbal horn to a discordant blast, and he said that the feat was nothing, for the men who was then a boy of 17.

"When his frame fills out a bit he will make us all hustle," said the Dane.

Born in Gloucester.

Ward's history, too, is an interesting nice judgment, both as to distance and direction.

In his contest with Conley, Rivers' scoring with the right was a revelation. Arguments are still in progress as to whether it is that Joe is just a wee bit shy on the knockout force, or that Conley is more of a glutton than the average man of his poundage.

After thinking it over, I incline to the belief that Conley takes to pundament almost as kindly as Battling Nelson did, and that were it not for abnormal powers of resistance he would have gone down from Rivers' smashes sooner.

Rivers is beyond question a great finisher. Whenever a right-hander somewhat harder than the rest staggered Conley, Master Joe followed up his advantage with showers of stinging blows. When he finally had his man going in such a way that there was no doubt in regard to Conley being dazed, the end came very quickly.

Ad Wolgast was to have been at the ringside to take mental notes of the way Rivers handled himself, but a severe cold kept the champion at home. Wolgast is not overlooking the fact that he may be called upon some day to defend his title against the young Mexican. He says he considers Rivers one of the most formidable, of American lightweights.

"There are several things in Rivers of the rest wolfare."

can lightweights.

"There are several things in Rivers' favor," said Wolgast. "He is young, ne is gaining weight all the time, and he shows improvement every time he fights. I am keeping my eye on him all right. I would be foolish if I tried to overlook him, for he will have to be reckoned with."

Manager Tom Flanagan and Secretary Sleep in One Day

Those purveyors of fistic entertainments who rap a couple of boobs on the jaw and then proudly wear the tifle of "knockout" clamped on their surname, ought to back up when compared with Jack Ward, the English lightweight, who seeks a match with Packey McFarland. For the Briton has clapped the K. O. on thirty-two men in a single day, and that is no fairy tale either, writes Gordon Mackay in The Philadelphia Times.

Ward, whom Bob Deady, as square a sport as ever tied a glove on the hand of a puglilist, says is the "classiest fighter in the world at his weight" has performed this feat. He did it in twelve hours, working constantly, shoving over the sleep producer from 10 a.m. till 10 p.m. and did not receive any overtime pay nor violate any of the rules of the Amalgamated Order of Facial Destroyers.

Last week the civic reception committee voted a grant of $250 towards the big affair, which will help some. The committee have made complete arrangements for a large score board system that will be a great improvement, while the Orr Bros. have started work on a grand stand that will accommodate at least 300 spectators that will be able to keep tab on every bowler playing on each of the six alleys. Over 30 teams are already assured from Toronto, and there are good prospects of the total from this city reaching 40, while the first entry from outside was received yesterday from the National Bowling Club of London. All particulars and information regarding the tournament miy be obtained from the C.B.A. secretary, J. Chestnut, at the Athenseum Bowling Club, 12 Shuter street, Toronto. In this competition to-day one of the most outstanding results is the victory of Clyde over Rangers, and it it just possible that after all the light blues may lose the championship. Another result of note is the victory of Hearts by St. Mirren at Edinburgh. Dundee had a most decisive victory over Aberdeen, as had also Hamilton Acas over Klimarnock. The other results are as expected. The following is the complete list: Dundee 4, Aberdeen 6, Airdrieonians 1, Hibernians 6, Falkirk 9, Queen's Park 1. Hamilton A. 4, Klimarnock 6, Hearts 1. Veterans of the Diamond Will Be Missed This Season - Brown Retires For Good, While Clarke Will Lead the Pirates From the

By Monty. NEW YORK, Jan. 13.-Voluntary retirement while yet at the zenith of their careers, will cause two of the greatest figures that ever graced a diamond to be missing from the playing lists when the beginning of the 1912 season rolls around. Those who know him have more faith in Fred Clarke's love for the game than in his ability to stick to his announcement of retiring, and accordingly have wagered suits of clothes with him that he will play in at least one game during the coming season. It is well-known that Clarke delights in nothing more than getting out in the "hay" under a bright sun and chasing flies, but just the same he is "coppering" all these bets that are offered, so it can be ac-

Brown was sent in to pitch. He won that game, and the Terre Haute team immediately signed him up to become a regular member of its twirling staff. He knocked around the country, playing on minor teams for two years and in 1903 he was grabbed by the St. Louis Cardinals. A year later he was traded to Chicago and immediately jumped into prominence as one of the most effective flingers of them all. In 1906, 1907 and 1908 he was one of the chief factors in the winning of the National League pennants and, in two of those years, he pitched the team to victory in the world's series.

In every one of his seasons, since 1906, he finished with a record of winning more than sixty per cent.

1906, he finished with a record of winning more than sixty per cent. of his games, his best mark being .813 in 1906. Last year he hung up a percentage of .656. During all this time Brown was one of the best fielding pitchers in the game. In 1908, he didn't make a single error and last year he had only one miscue chalked up against him.

Brown, among other things, revolutionized the method of fielding bunts. After stopping to pick up the ball, he would not draw back his hand before pegging the ball to the base, but would make a complete revolution, thereby doing with one rapid motion what was

LONDON STREET SINGER'S

A bit of that rare good fortune that sometimes happens to people outside sometimes happens to people outside of story books, made a happy Christmas for Stella Carol, a London child of fourteen years of age, who gives promise of a bright future as a vocalist. It was indeed the magic of her song that was to rescue Stella from tragic poverty into a world of light and joy and richest hope. A year ago the Christmas Eve just past Stella and a sister went out into London's wealthy west-end to cozen coppers from the well-to-do because they wanted to buy a Christmas box for their mother. Good fortune led them to the home of Mme. Amy Sherwin, the well-known London opera singer and vocal teacher, who, hearing the girl's tones as a servant opened the door to send the little carollers away, had he brought in, heard her sing, and got from her her pitiful story. A handsome sum was raised for the sisters by the delighted guests of Mme. Sherwin and Stella Carol, so-called because she sang carols beneath the stars, was adopted by the great singer.

ing Club Saturday night, when the last scheduled game was rolled. Kent's Jewelry, Limited, who are returned the winners, have been leading almost continually since the beginning of the season, Eatonias alone being the only team that looked dangerous at any time, and in the final clash last Tuesday night between these two as to who would win out, the Big Store five never had a look in rolling their worst of the season, while the jewelers were on their toes from the first ball tolled, and found little trouble in rolling up a couple of big games when most desired. However, it was a good finish for the opening serios, with the runners-up all finishing strong, and, judging by their form at the present time, will make it interesting for the first and second-place holders in the next series, which opens to morrow evening.

The second series of the Printers' League started last Monday night, and with the outcome of The World and Toronto Typesetting game to be known. Molean Publishing Company, tall-enders of the first series, are in the lead, with also the Carswell Company, who were well down in the opening series, showing improved strength, and with The Star showing a little more fighting spirit in their next games these second division holders should not only more than hold their own but be fighting it out for the top of the heap from now on.

In the Public Utility League, with two more weeks to roll before the finish of the first series, Hydro-Electric No. 2 look to have a safe lead for the top, but the first for second and third positions, which also figures in the prize list, is one that is almost the toss of a copper between the next six teams. Therefore this should be an incentive to these teams to put their best foot forward in going after every pin and trying te land in one of these covered positions. The standing of all the above leagues to date will be found on this page.

Manager T. F. Ryan has organized a five-pin league, composed of ten teams, and will start rolling some time this week or the beginning of next. The game, which has taken on rapid strides this season, seems to be a favorite with all and the league should be a winner from the dist ball rolled.

Packey McFarland Is Soon To Quit Willie Ritchie a Good Lightweight As Sound as Ever

Of What League Are

Hustlers Champions?

What President Chapin of the Rochester Baseball Club seems interested in at present is whether his Hustlers will begin next season as champions of the Eastern or International League, and which name will be on the pennant, says The Rochester Post-Express.

The mere stating of the problem is found as productive of argument as the old problem of "Howold is Ann?" The numerals 1912 will be en the pennant, in accordance with custom, the many argue that the club is champion of the year in which it wins its honors, and not for the next season.

How a club can be champions of the International League when the International League when the International League now out of existence, has been found perplexing. Mr. Chapin has not solved the problem to his satisfaction, and seeks light. President Barrow has taken the matter up with him.

Local Fans to See the White Hope in Action-Calling Off McFarland-Alberts Bout Disappointed Many-Fight News and Gab.

The local boxing fans were disap-pointed on Thursday night when the Packey McFarland-Kid Alberta mill had to be called off. Referee Sam Lewis stopped the bout. Because of this action Lewis, in a written complaint to the Boxing Commission, says the Fordon Brothers discharged him as a referee. He also made a charge to the commissioners that this action was due to their chagrin ever the loss of a bet which they had made on Brown to stay the limit. The commissioners took the view that the managers of the club may hire or discharge any employe. But they took up the charge made by Lewis that the Fordon Brothers had made a bet on the result of the bout, which is contrary to the boxing law and the regulations of the commission. ### YOUNG THIRD BASEMEN HAVE CHANCE TO SHINE

Athletics' Star Flinger Fully Recovered From Operation and is Ready for Good Season.

Jack Coombs will be his old self when the Athletics take the field for another campaign this spring. The club physician has pronounced Coombs completely recovered from the injury he received in the last world's aeries, and declares the great pitcher will be as good as ever physically.

Coombs gave his left leg a peculiar twist in the third game of the well's series with New York and injured his intestines. He continued to pitch, against the whates of his tearmants, and was forced to retire at the end of the minth inning, when the scare was tied. Eddte Plank finished the game, which New York won.

It was feared that the indury might permanently handicap the great pitcher, but he is again as sound as the apples that grow on his Kennebunk (Malne) farm, and will go south with the team essured by the surgeons that he is physically as good as ever.

Hockey Players' Sticks It is important to Hookey Players to have a really reliable serviceable and accurate Hockey Stick,

such as the MIC-MAC

They are made of the best wood to be had, being of selected, hard, second-growth birch. The grain of the wood runs, with the curve of the blade, and they are thereby far superior to the old-fashioned, steam-bent sticks.

They are strong, stiff, right in weight, do not fray at the bottom, and always retain their correct shape, which is so necessary. Specially made for Forwards, Defence and Gonl.

The latest pattern "REEX" is fluted on the handle, ensuring flurn grip and preventing slipping; has double grooved blade, the lower one being serrated, enabling accurate shooting of puck for goal and strengthening the hockey

There was a practical illustration of the value of thorobred blood at the recent National Horse Show in New York, when the Hon. Adam Beck, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electic Representation of the Ontario Hydro-Elec tric Power Commission, won two classes with a brown gelding named Hydro. The competitions were for heavyweight hunters and the classes contained some strong material.

This gelding Hydro is by Rillette, a thorobred son of Riley, by Longfellow, a horse that Edward Corrigan raced all over the country more than twenty a horse that Edward Corrigan raced all over the country more than twenty years ago. His mother was a small mare, not 15.2 hands high and of uncertain breeding. She looked as tho she might have been by a trotting horse. Her son Hydro by the thorobred Rillettte is 17 hands high or very near it, has the splendid conformation essential in a hunter, sloping shoulders, strong, short back and tremendous quarters to propel him safely over his fences. His bone is enormous, more than nine inches below the knee, while his length of rein is most unusual.

his length of rein is most unusual.

A well poised, shapely head saves him from even the suspicion of coarse ness. Where did he get it? He got it from the same source as his stable companions Sir Thomas and Sir Edcompanions Sir Thomas and Sir Edward, both good winners at the same exhibition, from an unbroken line of thorobred ancestors. On the sire's side Sir Edward is by the American bred Tupelo, a son of the English sire Esher, imported to Kentucky many years ago. Sir Edward won the championship in his class at the great international Olympic Show in London ternational Olympic Show in London and was again adjudged the champion at the recent show in the Madison Square Garden.

Sir Thomas is a son of Philosophy, by Longfellow, and is second in quantity only to Sir Edward, the latter being up to 190 pounds. The sucess of Hydro n the heavyweight completely vindicates the judgment of his owner, who a year ago showed him in the rough to The Sun representative, at that time predicting that he would win a heavyweight championship some day at Madison Square Garden. > > A Canadian Starter.

If there is one principle that I have always fought for it is the appointment of Canadian officials. Therefore it is with the greatest sincerity that I congratulate the managers of the winter harness meetings at Ottawa and Montreal on the selection of Edward Barker as starter. That he will perform the duties he is called upon to undertake with as much satisdo is as certain as the sun is to the dial. At the same time starting is no easy task, requiring as it does a keen eye and a high standard of judgment. Canada now shares with Kentucky the Canada now shares with Kentucky the honor of being the foremost centre of thorobred racing, and the various rac-ing associations cannot get too busy in formulating their own laws and ap-pointing residential officials. Harness men could also with credit to them selves form their own central governing body. The time has gone by both for foreign officials and foreign laws. Reciprocity is all that is needed.

The Late "Johnny" Dyment. Another familiar figure will be missed from the racecourses of Canada. This time it is a man who, altho barely of middle age, had by his courtbarely of middle age, had by his courtesy and equability made himself a general favorite. "Johnny" Dyment was pre-eminently a man of modest address. When spoken to, he had always a cheery reply and a smile. He was not a man of words, but was possessed of a fund of knowledge that was anybody's for the asking. A civil question always received a polite answer. He conveyed confidence, and yet one always felt that to the rear of those dark eyes there was the busy and well-informed brain of a man who could at once be courteous in speech and yet keep his own counsel. He was a man whom everybody liked and a man whom everybody liked and everybody felt could be trusted. He was the steadlest of the steady, and took good and bad-luck with the same ever-ready smile. As every race-horse owner and manager has to, he had to steer his way thru many vicissitudes and many temptations, but Johnny quietly and unostentatiously was always equal to the occasion. At all race meetings there are evidences of the head ways of the steer are evidences of the handiwork of the grim reaper, and now there will be one more of the statues of space to be remarked. Of no man there will be none who knew him able to more fervently pray for peace to his ashes, rest to his spirit, and solace to those dear and precious ones left behind.

she method of computing it was not abolished, an exception was created in the case of every 100th year which was not to be so reckoned. This exception, however, only applies to three centuries in succession, the fourth still retaining its February of 29 days. The 19th century, for instance, contained twenty-four leap years in virtue of the rule. Nineteen hundred was not a leap year by reason of the exception, which also applied to the years 1700 and 1800, neither of which was a leap year. But by the operation of the counter exception referred to, the year 2000 will be a leap year. It seems, indeed, impossible to discuss any aspect of leap year without some reference to figures. Even in the amusing little comedy originally enacted by St. Bridget and St. Patrick in Ireland, St. Bridget makes some play upon figures in her argument with the patron saint of the Emerald Isle, nor could Patrick escape from their appeal. Far be it from me to suggest that St. Bridget was popping the question or even hinting at anything so indelicate; suffice it that the comedy of other days would not bear revival in these times of the problem play and decadent novel, when we would dismiss broad humor as "coarse" while hugging to our aesthetic souls much rottenness clothed in the guise of art—and under that poor abused title "artistic."

But we have little concern with that far era, the year 2000, when leap year will catch an elusive century in its grip, and when, no doubt, women will grip, and when, no doubt, women will do both the proposing and the voting, unless, indeed, we are of the persuasion which assures for each of us rebirth into this world. I should like to return if only to see how far Canada has progressed. Also, probably with a liking to enjoy the privileges which will undoubtedly accrue to the women of that time. It might be one's unfortunate metier to play a man's role in a re-incarnation just when women are enjoying all the power, and one would have to go thru hours of patient waiting at the church, or the terrible task of refusing some dear girl or other.

Pope will get thru another year anyway, and the kaiser, whose death was predicted in 1911 will hold his own. Ottawa had better look out. She will be visited by sickness, blindness—let us hope not political, and hysteria (likewise let us pray not political), Canada on the whole will do well (saving a financial panic towards the end of the year). Members of parliament are liable to catch severe colds, but with care the poor things may recover. Heavy birth mortality is predicted. I have the predictions for 1911 by me. Not one of the seers predicted the failure of reciprocity or the fall of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Not one of the seers gives out the faintest tip on the U.S. presidential elections. Old Moore predicts the deaths of a merchant king and a noble philanthropist, but as these pro-phecies refer to Britishers and their affairs, the great donator of libraries for the working man may consider himself safe for another year. (Copyrighted)
One would have thought that everybody knew the old fashioned rule for inding Leap Year, yet three or four readers write asking for information on this point. Divide the Annus Domini by 4, and when there is no remainder it is leap year. There is also the exception which proves the rule since the year 1900, for instance, was thus divisible yet it was not leap year. The explanation would entail certain the explanation would entail certain an olive for the British or their institutions. Like all the semi-independent Indian princes he is a difficult man has no love for the British or their institutions. Like all the semi-independent Indian princes he is a difficult man to manage. He avers, and professes to believe that the unsympathetic attitude of England in her dealings with India is the cause of the strained relations between the two—that is, allowing that they are strained. He was more contented under the rule of the late viceroy, Lord Minto (who came rearer to understanding the Indian situation than any English minister)—than under any other, and his fellow countrymen, it is claimed, understand very well that the public apology means little or nothing. One of the Gaekwar's greatest grievances is said to be this: That the Indian cannot travel freely in the English colonies under the English flag, that flag which as Mrs. Annie Besant says in her recent book of lectures, "that he is asked to be proud of, and to shed his blood to defend." In plain words, any other Oriental save the Indian may journey freely in Canada. "A Japanese," I quote Mrs. Beasant, "can go into British Columbia if he has fifty dollars in his pocket, but if one of the citizens of this great empire, an Indian, goes there, 200 dollars he must produce before he is allowed to come in."

produce before he is anowed to come in."

This may be news to some of us. It opens up the question of how much the colonies can do to weld the empire more solidly together, for the Indian gives but little thought to the fact of self-government in the colonies. He looks across the seas to England. What comes in actually from the colonies, or what they withhold, he recognizes as coming from or being withhold by England. A very great and serious question of the hour might be: Is self-government in the British colonies undermining the empire in India? To a proud prince such as the Maharaja Gaekwar of Baroda, a man who has traveled everywhere, who is highly educated and intelligent, and who has so far absorbed western ways as to be cited as co-respondent the other day in a London divorce case, it must be galling to remember that he must produce—Like the Japanese who seeks employment in our country—a certain sum of money before he can travel thru a land over which waves the flag he had

As it is the usual custom to display the whole of its limited stock-in-trade of knowledge of the greater outside world in the dimutive front windows of its daily publication, it is safe to assume that The Globe did not know, for instance, that the correct name of what it calls the "Chinese queue," is the "tauchang." Probably also it knew nothing of the manner in which the tauchang came to be worn by Chinamen. Let me tell it. Many years ago, dear Globe, in those happy days, long before you were born, the Manchus over-ran China—very much in the same way as the Picts and Scots overran England, and, these Manchus, establishing themselves as conquerors over a horde of Mongolians, too huge to be conveniently controlled, after the conquest, decreed that the conquered race should let their hair grow long, partly as the outward and visible sign of subjection, and, incidentally, as a useful thing to grab at in times of unfriendly dispute. The Chinaman, having once been caught by his tauchang is practically useless as a fighter, so that those who perforce wore it, carried around, firmly attached to themselves, that weapon with which, in the days before firearms became popular, and when hand-to-hand fighting was, so to speak, de rigueur, they were easily put out of business. Even nowadays, in China, if the police have occasion to arrest a native, always the constable takes a couple of hand-turns in the tauchang, close up to the scalp, and he can lead the most violent prisoner quietly to the nearest lock-up. With that grip once made, a very small policeman can tackle a very large and powerful Mongolian and

It is in Belgium that am European Conference is being held with the object of lessening the liquor evil in Africa. This is curious—in view of the fact that practically the whole of the liquor trade, at least on the West Coast, is in the hands of the Belgians. I was on the Gold Coast for nearly two years trading, and the exchange of Belgian made potato spirit—"rot gut" it is called by the unfortunate Europeans located there—for good gutta and other Native Produce is a very extensive and—for the Belgians—

In this respect it has taken the strongest section of the public in the biggest and best of the Powers a long time to drag the pioneers away from the line of least resistance in the matter of trade exchange which has resulted in the eventual ownership of Colonies. There is no nation which can get away from the charge of initially cheating the aborigines in newby discovered lands and all of them, thru their traders called in alcohol to aid them. Britain, Holland, Germany, America, France, thru their nationals, all initially employed "fire-water." Now, of course, we all deprecate its use—especially by other and newer nations endeavoring to chip in at the same game, with the same ante.

There is an amusingly silly insolence in the Globe's attempt to dissect, classify and criticise the motives that inspire the real leaders of British legislation in their relation to purely domestic affairs. This attitude of the Globe would be quite praiseworthy if it were kept within the limits of its knowledge, but it is, at least, unseemly for that paper—and would be for any, but none other does—to write such stuff as "the Tory leaders will rally the forces of bigotry and reaction, prepared to betray their unthinking followers, as they have betrayed them in the past"—and so forth, ad nauseam. Even I The Globe did not adventure its crud opinions on anything beyond which i might conceivably have something it the way of intelligent guidance to proffer, it would find still mor work than it usually show capacity to handle.

I went this week to see The Bit found it a perfectly idyllic little (altho', if you understand me, it was, in every way, a big) show. I do not propose however to enlarge on the performance here as that matter is being attended to by a colleague, but I came upon a reprint, in La Patrie, the Montreal French paper, of an interview with Madame Maeterlinck—known professionally as Madame Georgette LeBlanc—in which she makes herself responsible for some rules for the guidance of wives. These give one to think—but pleasantly. Some of them have, perhaps, lost the first blush, as for instance "the true wife never forgets that she is the inseparable molety of a human whole formed of two imperfect individualities, each made perfect by the other." That's all right—but "Your function, gentlemen, is discernment, divination, enthusiasm, encouragement and strength." You, gentlefinen, get let off fairly easily—what?—but you see how Madame comes down on the wife. She must "never try to reform the physical tastes of her husband—she must remember often to give him his favorite dishes," That was put more tersely by the Englishwoman who advised her daughter on the eve of her marriage, "Feed the brute!" Madame amplifies this advice. "See to it that each day his clothing is appropriate, complete and in accord with the season." That is sound advice. A wife who will allow her husband to go out mornings incompletely clothed, deserves to have him locked up. Then wife is advised to work up a little transformation scene. She is told to "be the infallible barometer, foreseeing and preparing for the electric storms inevitable in the household." Probably only girls of what novelists call "a mercurial temperament" will be able to do this, but any Griselda can be "the antidote to the bad humors of your husband and" (especially) "the true sharer in his hours of gayety."

Then, little wifie, you must "be careful—almost miserly—with your caress—men had a good time, as I understand these gentlemen generally do, when two or three of them are gath when two or three of them are gath the first together. The club has what is described as a unique motto. It is Here we stand Bagmen in a band;

Knights of the grip are we;

We greet our King

With a three-cheer ring, For loyal Princes are we. I do not think that last line quite exactly describes the status of many of them, and, anyway, the lines seem a little loosely strung, I submit, with Then, little wifle, you must "be caresome more such, as "if you would con-vince your husband that you are a bet-ter actress than Bernhardt, or a better dancer than Pavlowa, commence by proving to him that you are a better cook than Escoffier."

And, whiles, we stay to sing, Our Country of the Maple Leaf—Our Empire, Flag and King.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS It is notthe case, altho there are quite a number of old-fashioned folk who accept it as being so, that the words "Car" and "Carnage" are derived from the same root—and the French proverb referred to is "pour encourager les autres"—NOT "pour encourager les motors."

There is little, I believe to add to the condensed, translated excerpt I have given you, my lady readers, from your expereinced sister Georgette's advice. Ere we part, however, for another long, lingering week, I would like to proffer this sort of spare advice to be acted upon only mind you, if the "feed the brute" maxim begins to show signs of wear—if, that is, he gets fractious, and starts coming home late o' nights. NOT OTHERWISE!!!

He received his theological training at the Bishop's Palace, Montreal, and was ordained in the palace chapel on July 31, 1849. The following morning he left Lachine for Buffalo, and from there went to Dubuque, Iowa, where Bishop Loras resided. The mission of Pembina on the Red River, whither he was bound was in the diocese of Bishop Loras. Up the Mississippi to St. Paul —which, until a short time before, had which, until a short time before, had rejoiced in the euphonious name of Pig's Eye—he halted and came in touch with the rough and ready conditions of the primitive west. His biographer tells of the following incident:—

"Father Ravoux brought the Canadian into this bare little dwelling (chapel and residence combined), and asked him to consider himself master there while he waited for the Red River brigade to come. Returning with Bishop Tache to St. Boniface, Father Lacombe found that Father Thibault has returned, worn out, from the Edmonton mission. Father Lacombe was assigned to the Edmonton mission. The journey to Fort Edmonton was made in company with Chief Factor Rowand, who ruled as governor over a district that ran from Cumberland House to the Rockies. Here, now, we have Father Lacombe, "fully embarked upon his life work, master of his own actions, thrown on his own resources and initiative as he desired to be." The winter of 1852-53 was spent chiefly in Fort Edmonton ministerings to the inhabitants of the fort, and pursuing his studies in the Cree language, with Governor Simp-Cree language, or set inside the fort before the battle to get inside the fort before the battle to get inside the fort before the battle to that rank they withdrew. Stery of the Pioneer of Western Missions Among the Indians Told Romantically by Katharine Hughes—Inspiring Life of Energetic Endeavor in Interests of Others.

How difficult it is to see the heroism of every day life. Once in a while some daring deed of sacrifice arrests our attention, but the life full of sacrifice and service often runs its way to the end without being noticed beyond the immediate circle of its efforts, and even without being duly appreciated within that circle. Heroes in plenty we can find in the Unknown—Past and Future are full of that mystery which is the essence of Romance.

In writing the biography of Father Lacombe, Miss Katharine Hughes has the advantage of working in the atmosphere of the romantic, for the career of the "Black Robe Voyager" began when the West was a land of mystery

Man of Great Energy.

Energy and intiative are stricken with a smallpox epidemic, and some of them who had met Father Lacombe at Fort Edmonton begged him to come to them. The Croes urged him not to go, but with his faithful servant Alexis he set out for the Blackfoot camp. For twenty days he ministered to the suffering and was then himself stricken with a smallpox epidemic, and some of them who had met Father Lacombe at Fort Edmonton begged him to come to them. The Croes urged him not to go, but with his faithful servant Alexis he set out for the Blackfoot camp. For twenty days he ministered to the suffering and was then himself stricken with the disease. He redovered speedily and his kindness to the Indians in their great trouble resulted in the Blackfeet sending one of their chiefs to the bishop at Lac Ste. Anne to ask for a priest to be sent among his bishop choosing the site, or as his biographer puts it, revealing "a characteristic trait of the man." Friends of Father Lacombe and his timple plainsman's exterior—will gather from this incident, as on numerous other occasions with Indians and whites, that Father Lacombe had him to do. And. all the while the bishop feit that he was the prime mover in it al Man of Great Energy.

Energy and initiative are probably the two most striking traits of Father Lacombe's character. This is shown Fort. First he had built a small scow to act as a ferry, swimming his pony across. "But I grew so tired of this," says the reverend father, "I say to myself one day—'I'll make a bridge?' Next Sunday after mass I went outside and called aloud: 'My friends, I'm finished to cross that way in the water walking in the mud on the bank and pushing the scow. I'll build me a bridge, and if any of you do not help me—that man will not cross on the bridge: he will go thru the water.'" So they built the bridge: they built also the first school west of Red River and they built a gristmill. Father Lacombe could pretty mear "make bricks without straw" if he set his mind to it.

The Chief Factor took the order and repeated it. But Governor Dallas did not stay to see his order carried out. The bridge remained.

Inrush of Civilization. But it is difficult even to outline the career of so energetic a spirit in the space of a short article. His work was extended from tribe to tribe. Then several years as chaplain to construction camps. He returned to his mission work to find civilization gradually encroaching. His work of found-ing missions was followed up by the establishment of schools. Politics, up-risings, and other matters of civilization give way to the life of camp and the plain. In 1904 he returned to the "Hermitage" to rest and write his memoirs, but he was soon afoot again to gather funds for a new un-dertaking, the Lacombe Home, at

Added to his energy, the utter fearssness of the man was remarkable Here are some instances:

Arnold Bennett and the U-Sisis.
Arnold Bennett did not prolons his visit to the great American republic to any extent. It would appear that the importunate questioning of our inquistive and compliment-seeking neighbors was too much for him. Says The Pittsburg Gazette:—
Why are we as a people so anxious to know what strangers think of us? Is the American nation abnormally self-conscious because it is young? The individual who is hailed as "England's leading novelist" has just returned home after a brief visit to our shores, and he tells interviewers that practically everybody he met over here opened the conversation with the brompidic inquiry: "How do you like American soli, reporters panted to learn his opinion of New York. Comparatively few of his hosts took advantage of the opportunity to inform the visitor what they thought of his works; they wanted to know what he thought of them and their country. Now he says he is going to be frank enough to tell Americans, in response to their frequent interrogations, just what he does think of them, and he is afraid they may not be entirely pleased.

An Englishman never asks strangers be entirely pleased.

An Englishman never asks strangers

An Engishman never asks strangers their opinion of his country or its institutions and people, because he doesn't care a rap what they think. It is a peculiar thing that books about England rarely have a large sale in that country. English readers are not interested in matters so near at home. If ested in matters so near at home. If the book praises their country they are satisfied to hear about it thru some resatisfied to hear about it thru some reviewer. If it is critically hostile, then that is just the kind of a book they don't care about. In this country the opposite is true. Publishers and authors rely upon the national sensitiveness of Americans. A clever Frenchman made a fortune by producing a book in which American characteristics were cleverly caricatured. We all bought it so as to be able to abuse it. Thus it will doubtless be with the next book that holds us up to ridicule. It never seems to occur to our reading public seems to occur to our reading public to teach a lesson to our severst critics by simply ignoring them. That is why they continue to reap a golden harvest at the expense of the nation in the world.

There is such a thing as taking ourselves and the world too seriously, or at any rate too anxiously. ### National Chorus "In Exitu Israel"

200 Voices Supplemented by Boys Choir Under Dr. Ham Bonci, Famous Tenor, Will Assist.

At its annual Massey Hall engagement on Thursday night, the National Chorus will present for the first time in Teronto "In Exitu Israei," the great motett by Samuel Weeld in The number of the great Mcthocked upon the contrapunal writing extant. While its stechnical difficulties are such that it puts the efficiency of the largest choirs to a severe test, it is full of melodious interest for both performers and listeners. In this number the full ensemble of 200 voices will be supplemented by the boys' choir of 35 voices, which Dr. Albert Ham has trained specially for the concert. Another number of great significance is the Motett "Why Rage Floreely the Heather" (Mendelssohn), in which make superb tonal qualifies of the Margart of Mendelssohn), in which make to be the "find" of the season, the chorus will sing the "Come E Gentil," from Don Pasquale, in addition, Bond is to be heard in select groups of songs and his accompanist Signor Francini will play several plano selections. The choral program is also to include lighter numbers such as Bantock's clever setting of the old favorite "Scotland Yet," which is a novel-to see and McEwer's Links O' Love a dainty part song. "The Ballade of Spring," by Theo. Wend, is another interesting selection. The Ballade of virtuosom quality. The plan for the senson the concert opened at Massey Hall to Saturday. A Visit to The King Edward School Domestic Science Class. -By MARGARET BELL-

They are springing up all around us, the little hostesses and housekeepers, too, for every bit of work is done according to rule and schedule. They look so cuming and domestic in their petite caps and aprons. One almost hestiates to we have a specific to a schedule. They look so cuming and domestic in their petite caps and aprons. The work among the personal to the control of the bills would be swelled three-fold, and that they would be obliged to subsist on angel food and pimento salad. That shows just how obsolete are men's Undoubtedly they never dreampt about the difference in the appearance of a kitchen piled high with tinware, in a crude pyramid on the cabinet, and the vision of a culinary establishment with shining aluminum all in a row. Hurrah for the wives of the future! Most of them have taken a careful course in domestic science, and will be excellently equipped for whatever prize they may chance to draw in the Leap Year Lottery. For this Domestic Science course embodies ali the science of foodstuffs, the relation of one to the other, the value of each article of food. Thru the kind courtesy of Miss Hunter, the Superintendent of Domestic Science in the Toronto Public Schools, I visited the King Edward School one day, and luckily, it happened to be the reception day of the little hostesses, or

I should like every housewife to see how neatly they are arranged. And every cynical Adamite, too, who calls all such forms of education rot and baiderdash. In one compartment were the larger utensis, saucepans, of two or three sizes, platters and large cups. In another were spoons and lades and all the smaller paraphernalia necessary to a successful cook. The dish towels were hung carefully across a rod at one end of the room, so systematic it made one blush for shame at the thought of the similar articles at home, and the trusual tawdriness. The larger est of all the utensils were in a large drawer, the dishpans and large saucepans. And the smaller ones, egg beaters, and all the manifold et ceteras which go to make up a perfectly appointed kitchen.

There are seven or eight centres in Toronto for domestic science. A Costume Designer's idea.

"The unfortunate thing about the average woman,' explained a costume designer, "is that when the average woman goes in for physical culture she loses sight of the object of the training and overtrains herself. By associating with men in business she gradually assumes their tricks and habits. The old type of beauty was the result of careful study of every line of the figure and not the careless one-sided development in vogue to-day. In designing human figures I have often been struck with the similarity to-day between men and women, so that it is between men and women, so that it is impossible to be true to models. The result is that artists and sculptors now have to rely more on their creative faculty, for no athletic girl could pose as Venus or Psyche. The models employed by artists in England, and especially in London, are not in any sense athletic. They are of a particular type, and as they depart from that so does their chance of employment diminish."

The city council is to be commended for standing by Messrs. Rust and It'ellowes. ### Paving and Its History

How the Value of Good Roads Has Been Recognized Since Time Immemorial-Rome and Cordova Set the Way-Charles Dickens' View of Things-The Great Work Done by One Macadam

Before the eleventh century none of tinue to wallow in the mire, provided the great cities of the present day were they had each a little bell round their necks! It appears that cleansing the paved, except Rome and Cordova. Paris did not enjoy this advantage, accordng to Rigord, physician and historian to Philippe-Auguste, who reletes that the king, being at the window of his palace which commanded a view of the Seine, perceived that the carriages passing in the mire diffued a most offensive odor, which induced him to issue an order for the paving of the streets, notwithstanding the expense of it; the dread of incurring which, he was aware, had hitherto deterred his predecessors. Since that period the city took the name of Paris, instead of Lutetia, which originated in the number of sloughs. Even London was not paved at that time; many of its principal streets were not thus improved till the fifteenth century. Holborn was done in 1417.

It may be that the coming race of women will be a happy combination of the athletic and the drawing-room type, for it is questionable if the present type will endure. Exposure For Hardiness. Whipping and exposure without clothes as a training in endurance of clothes as a training in endurance of cold for the North Canadian native boys has curious points of resemblance to the training of the boys of ancient Sparta, remarked The Morning Chronicle. They also were inured to cold by being made to go barefoot and to wear the same clothes summer and winter; and they also underwent whipping. Only, cold seems to have had nothing to do with the latter. They clearly do not come under that designation, for the participants are hired to give exhibitions at so much per man, and no decisions are given. In addition gloves are worn of regulation weight. The Globe terms Toronto the "favorite home of the roped arena." The designation is absurd and untrue. There are more boxing matches in other cities than Toronto has any notion of. London and all the principal business centres have hundreds of such affairs nightly. They are not prize-fights, they are but akhibitions of boxing skill. So, too, are the affairs in Toronto despite the sometimes exaggerated language of the press agent quoted by The Globe. The mere announcement that the proposed

If it is desirable that this should be done the same police that check disorder could surely prevent the use of the slides altogether. To argue otherwise is to entirely destroy the reputation of Toronto as a law-abiding city. A few prosecutions would bring about reform if it were needed. The question however arises, can tobogganning be regarded as a "noisy" game? It is any more deserving of prohibition than rowing, cycling or driving. THE VENTRILOQUIST DOG.

One day a dog and his master arrived at a country inn, the latter, who was a ventriloquist, with only a shilling in his pocket. He went in and sat down at a table and prepared to order a meal, "Well, what will you have?" asked the landlord. The ventriloquist gave his order, and what will you have?" asked the landlord. The ventriloquist gave his order, and then, turning to the dog, he asked, "What will you have?"

"I'll take a ham sandwich," was the dog's immediate reply.

The innkeeper was breathless for a moment with astonishment. "What did you say?" he asked. "I said a ham sandwich," the dog seemed to say.

The innkeeper was so impressed by the talking dog that he offered a good sum for it. This was declined, the owner holding out for a still larger price, which the landlord eventually paid. As the ventriloquist was leaving the place the dog turned to him and apparently said: "You wretch, to sell me for ten pounds! I will never speak another word!" And he never did.

STRENGTH OF THE BEETLE.

A man is considered strong if he can drag a mass weighing three or four times as much as himself, but the beetle will walk with five hundred times his own weight. If a man were placed under a box with five times his weight on top to hold it down, he would remain there indefinitely, but to retain a stag beetle prisoner in the same way one must pile on top of the box at least eighteen hundred times its weight.—Harper's Weekly.

JAMES F. GALLAGHER AND HIS DAUGHTER, HELEN FOSTER GALLAGHER.

Mr. Gallagher has recently moved his family from Joplin. Mo., the metropolitan city in the mining district of the southwest, to Toronto. Mr. Gallagher is very emphatic in his statement that Toronto is the best city of its size on the North American continent and he says he is much better qualified to make this statement that Elbert Hubbard was in writing a testimonials for the proprietor of the Hollenden House Barber Shop of Cleveland.

Ohio, to the effect that his is the best Barber Shop in the world.

Mr. Gallagher is the senior member of the firm of James F.
Gallagher & Co., Engineers and Brokers of 24 King St. West and Kansas City and Joplin, Mo. He comes to Toronto with one of his partners, David McEwin Bell, a native of Paris, Ont., but for many years a resident of the States and a very able Broker. They are bringing a very able staff of assistants all of whom will make their home in Toronto.

Many of our men in financial circles will remember Mr. Gallagher as an able financial writer, he having written for the highest class of financial papers in the United States, his special articles published in such papers as the Wall St. Journal, the New York Commercial and the Boston News Bureau and the United States Investor commanding important space, while his daily market letters published in the two leading papers in Joplin, Mo., were placed beside the Associated Press letters and although far distant from the fountain head of financial information, his articles were equally as important and interesting.

Mr. Gallagher filled the position of Sec. and Manager of The Kansas Oil Exchange of Kansas City, Mo., and The Joplin Stock Exchange of Joplin, Mo., with credit and resigned the latter position to become President of The Joplin Trust Co., one of the leading Penks of Joplin Mo.

His knowledge of financial affairs has been acquired by years of study and close application to business and although Mrs. Gallagher and he are well qualified to grace any society, they prefer a quiet home life, yet Mrs. Gallagher manages to keep in close touch with financial affairs and takes as much interest in them as her husband, and although a typical Southern girl, she is much at home here, but she says that is because her Father is an English gentleman of the old school.

We predict a bright future for them in Toronto and a prosperous business for the firm of James F. Gallagher & Co. Mr. Gallagher was asked if his firm intended to become members of either of the Stock Exchanges in Toronto. He said, "While I think the Exchange Brokers here are a splendid body of men I do not think we will make application to become members unless your three Exchanges are consolidated into one strong Exchange, with rules and regulations to protect the investors and speculators and members of the Exchange."

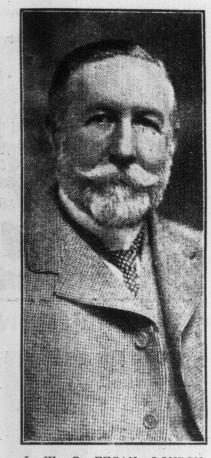

members of the Exchange."

We are advised that on Monday last Mr. and Mrs. Gallagher assisted in increasing the population of Toronto by the birth of a new Canadian daughter, Frances Virginia Gallagher.
