THE EVENING TIMES AND STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., WEDNESDAY, JULY 6, 1921

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THEATRES OF
ST. JOHN.

A NEW BIG BILL
AT THE IMPERIAL

British Mastercraft Production,
"Her Son," and the Wonderful Kiddies Show.

Violet Hopson and Stewart Home, England's favorite movie stars, in a story of sweet home life entitled "Her Son" and the children's operetta "Jack and the Beanstalk" made another alluring programme for the Imperial tonight and tomorrow. The British picture feature is the best of the overseas film yet to hand, showing still more improvement and raising high with the best products of the American studios.
The story is charming. The children will appear at 8:30 and 8:30. Special prices while the double performances continue.

MUSIC AND MIRTH
AT OPERA HOUSE
Musical Comedy "All at Sea"
Continues to Score Success
—New Programme Tomorrow.

At the Opera House this evening at 7 and 9 o'clock Jack Roof and his talented company will repeat their great success "All at Sea," which has made such a popular hit. It is a delightful bill, brimming with mirth, bright and tuneful Broadway melodies, dainty dancing and magnificent costuming and scenic effects. It is a real treat for young and old. Tomorrow afternoon this popular company will present an entirely new change of programme. The play is entitled "The Little Doll" and will feature "Baby Edna." New songs hits, an attractive assortment of dainty dance steps and other features will be included.

BEFORE THE LOYALISTS HAD LANDED IN ST. JOHN (Occasional in Halifax Recorder)

Leutenant-Colonel Connor, afterwards a resident of Halifax, and grandfather of Lawrence O'Connor Doyle, was, Nov. 14, 1871, the commanding officer at the Ormococt Block House, near Maugerville, New Brunswick. Messrs.
Hazen & White, merchants at Fort Howe (afterwards St. John) write to an aggressive employer of theirs in the lumber woods: "Your friends here are very sorry to hear there is still some misunderstanding between you and Mr. Connor. They be advised to do all in your power to have a good understanding between you. You will not only see the advantage yourself, but will greatly oblige your friends here.
Why need you concern about his giving bonds to provide for the other part of the garrison; therefore beg you will endeavor to have every matter settled, and be on good terms for the future."
Major Studholme commanded at Fort Howe in 1781. He was in command of the Royal Fencible Americans. Among Studholme's subordinates were Lieuts. Peter Clinch, Samuel Den-ney Street, Ambrose Sherman and Constant Connor. There was also a detachment of the 2nd Battalion Royal Highland Emigrants. Among the non-commissioned officers were Sergeants
James Innis, Patrick Daniel and Silas
Parker, of the Royal American Fencible regiment, and Thomas Blackburn of the Emigrants. At the close of the American Revolution, Lieutenant O'Connor remained here and engaged in business.
His name among the merchants of St. John. O'Connor's name among the churchwardens of St. Peter's Church.
One of Lieutenant O'Connor's daughters married Lawrence Doyle, and became the mother of the noted Lawrence O'Connor Doyle.

SPANISH BRIGAND
NOT YET EXTINCT

Wearing Provincial Uniform,
He Collects from Touring Motorists.

Not the least picturesque and interesting institution in Spanish Spain is the official, uniformed, government brigad, writes the motoring correspondent of the London Times. The motorist on the highway from north to south is held up. I should imagine, far more frequently in 1921 than was his grandfather in 1821. These are the "co-qui" who waylay him; he and his car are not seized and borne swiftly, after a useless struggle, into a mountainous fastness, whence he is invited to dispatch urgent letters to rich relatives advising them, under pain of receiving by registered post an ear or a thumb to hand 20,000 to "a man carrying a bunch of vipers."

The modern brigand is generally a most respectable person in a cocked, a very smart uniform, wearing a stiff collar, the other fellow wears any old thing.
He is turned out simply anyhow, and his only mark of distinction are a wide sombro and a heavy black cloak. Then his methods are crude and theatrical and his organization often very poor.
His stay may plan a desperate coup which may fail and, in its collapse, drag him and his entourage to jail—possibly, if he is lucky, to the cemetery.
The desperado in the shiny coat had never fails, and the only person upon whom the shadow of a prison-gate may fall is yourself. If you put up any sort of resistance or rashly decide upon flight, your fate, if not so expensive, may not be unlike that of Don Quixote's victims. You will certainly be bound and lodged free for some time to come.
Varying Extortions.

Two or more of these brigands are ambushed in a species of rustic police station on the boundary of every province, and you fall into their hands with the helplessness of any traveler.
Their official position is that of tax-collector, and their duties are to make the motorist in aid sums varying from two to five pesetas for the privilege of entering the erstwhile kingdom of Castile, Leon, Navarre, and so on.
To display an International Driving License a special permit to drive your particular car into every corner of Spain, or the receipt for the sums deposited with the Spanish Government for these things is quite useless.
"Yes, Senator," said one charming "sober" yesterday, in reply to my protests.
"I see, as you say, that you have paid for the privilege to import your car into and drive it in Spain. But I read nothing in all this about the province of Leon. It will be two pesetas, and also require to see your passport, and all your papers."
Little further on I unconsciously left the province of Leon and entered another. Out dashed a black-and-white courtesy red with an enormous red flag and standing in front of my car like a torador, with both arms stretched out to scream my right, screamed piercingly for ser male conspirators who were lunching in a cottage. This time I said one word only, "Comato?" Like a shot the largest brigand (who had on a sort of cap of Liberty made of scarlet wool) replied "Comato?" and held out his hand. O handed him the ransom, which dropped perhaps temporarily into his trouser pocket. That was the beginning and the end of the business.

The secretary of the board of trade wired George E. A reply was received from Sir George this morning in which he said "No truth in the report that the royal mail steamers were to be taken off the West India route."

He Was Hypnotized.
"Remember, my good man," said the visitor kindly, "that stone walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage." "Well, they've got me hypnotized then, that's all, ma'am!" said the old convict, rudely.

GERMAN INTERESTS ARE AFTER NORWEGIAN BUSINESS

Christiania, Norway, June 16.—(Associated Press by mail)—Hugo Stinnes, the German industrial magnate, is attempting to acquire a controlling interest in various Norwegian industrial undertakings, the Tidens Tegn reports. ### THE CHRISTIAN MINISTRY.

At yesterday's meeting of the Presbytery of St. John the need of candidates for the ministry was urged. In this connection the New York Evening Post has a striking editorial under the heading "To a Certain Young Man." It points out that the call to the ministry must come irresistibly to a man's own soul. It is not a question of reputation, distinction or income, but of service with all that pertains to the welfare of the young are guaranteed that he will favor a broad and advanced policy in connection with the educational affairs of this city. He enters upon his duties at an important time in the history of our schools. As chairman of the vocational committee he will have to do with the placing of vocational training upon a satisfactory basis, and nothing else in the conduct of our school affairs is so greatly to be desired. Dr. Emory rendered valuable service in this connection, but there is much to be done before next winter's classes begin, and the new chairman comes at a time when there is much real work ahead, that is worthy of the best efforts of the board. Incidentally it may be hoped that the board will definitely and finally set the seal of its disapproval on any attempt to close the Centennial playground to the little children of that area, who have no other place to play.

THE NEW CHAIRMAN

The appointment of Hon. H. A. McKeown as chairman of the board of school trustees to succeed Dr. Emory, with universal approval. It is greatly to the credit of the chief justice that he consents to devote some of his time to this form of public service. His education and experience in public life, his progressive views, and his sympathy with all that pertains to the welfare of the young are guaranteed that he will favor a broad and advanced policy in connection with the educational affairs of this city. He enters upon his duties at an important time in the history of our schools. As chairman of the vocational committee he will have to do with the placing of vocational training upon a satisfactory basis, and nothing else in the conduct of our school affairs is so greatly to be desired. Dr. Emory rendered valuable service in this connection, but there is much to be done before next winter's classes begin, and the new chairman comes at a time when there is much real work ahead, that is worthy of the best efforts of the board. ### THE FIELD BY THE SEA.

(Bliss Carman.)
On a gray day by the sea,
I looked down from the window and saw
The beautiful companions of the daisies
And loss in the gusty flow.
For the wind was in from the sea:
The heavy scuds ran low,
And all the makers of holiday were Abashed
Caught in the easterly blow.
My heart, too, is a field,
Peopled with shining forms,
Beautiful as the companions of the grass,
And herded by swift gray storms.
A thousand shapes of joy,
Sunlit and fair and wild—
All the bright dreams that make the Heart of a man
As the heart of a little child.
They dance to the tune of the world,
The star-trodden ages run, Glad as the wind-blown multitudes of White as the daisies in June.
But over them, ah, what storms—
In from the unknown sea,
The uncharted and ever-sounding deeps
Late main
We have called Eternity!
They shudder and quake and are torn,
And then in the teeth of remorse, the Tempestuous fall,
Once more the hardy cry:
"Fear, not, little flock of my heart,
Being children of light, ye are made as
The flowers of the grass,
To endure and survive and prevail."

LIGHTER VEIN.

She knew the reason.
It is a solid fact that a man should never apologise to a woman. Apologies, instead of softening women, harden them in their selfishness. She is an old woman lay dying. Her husband, kneeling at the bedside, said brokenly:
"My love, all the harsh and unkind words I have ever used to you I now take back."
At this the old woman's brow darkened, and in her weak voice she said:
"No, you don't. I know you. You said to them all over again in case
I get well."—Answers.

A Success.

Wife—"Yes, dear. I thought I'd buy you something you'd never think of buying for yourself." Husband (as he gazes with horror at the canary-colored socks).—"Yes, dear, and you have succeeded."—Tit Bits.

Fishy Record.

First Stenog (reading).—"Think of those Spaniards going 3,000 miles on a galloon!"
Second Stenog.—"Aw, forget it. Yah can't believe all you hear about them foreign cars."

Necessary.

Flatbush—"Why do they have those glass cases with the axes, crowbars, and other implements in 'em in the railroad passenger-cars to 'rot suppose?" Bensonhurst—"Oh, they are put there to use in case some one wants to open a window."

A Previous Engagement.

On the Friday evening when the great strike had been planned to take place an old lady got into an omnibus. She handed the conductor her fare and said,
"Are you coming out this evening?"
The conductor shook his head and said, "I'm afraid I can't, mum. I've got to go to my old woman."—Tit Bits.

EMPIRE MATTERS

Cheaper Communication Being Studied by Committee of Imperial Conference.
London, July 6.—(Reparation payments by Germany and plans formulated by the Allies in connection with indemnities were discussed by the Imperial Conference today. Sir Robert Home, chairman of the exchequer, was prepared to give details of the situation regarding reparation payments.)
A committee composed of Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, and one representative from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and India, began today a study of cheaper communication between distant parts of the empire.
Naval affairs, particularly the fixing of the Dominion's part in the sea defenses of the empire, have been deferred for a time, pending exchange of views by the United States, Great Britain and Japan relative to a conference dealing with limitations of armaments.

CHIEF JUSTICE TAFT.

(Bradstreet's)
President Harding's nomination of William H. Taft to the vacant post of Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States has met general expectation. The name of the ex-President has been the general prominently mentioned in connection with the office since the death of Chief Justice White, who, it may be recalled, owed his appointment to his successor in the post, when the latter was President. The new Chief Justice, who is in his sixty-fourth year, was a judge of the Ohio

HON. W. H. TAFT.

Superior Court thirty-four years ago and later Solicitor-General of the United States and Federal Circuit Court Judge. In the intervals of legal and judicial work he was Dean of the Law School of the University of Cincinnati, President of the Philippine Commission and Civil Governor of the island. He served as Secretary of War under President Roosevelt, whom he succeeded as Chief Executive, and after leaving the presidency became a professor of law at Yale and was chosen president of the American Bar Association. During the war he was co-chairman of the National War Labor Board, on leave of absence from Yale, returning to his professorship after the board was dissolved. Because of his well known judicial habit and temper, he has been chosen as arbitrator in many important controversies; indeed, he was serving in such a capacity in Canada when news of his appointment and confirmation reached him. His legal training and experience, broadened by his service in many public capacities, including the highest office in the country, give promise of a faithful career as head of the country's greatest tribunal.

HAVE FEARS FOR NEXT WINTER

Domion G. W. V. A. Executive Discusses the Unemployment Situation.
Port Arthur, Ont., July 5.—C. G. McNeil, secretary of the Dominion command of the G. W. V. A., the executive of which is in session here, said last night that dates for the Dominion convention were set between September 19 and October 22. Invitations to Lord Byng and Marshal Foch will be dispatched. General Pershing and General Currier will also be invited.
Yesterday's session was devoted to a discussion of the unemployment situation in Canada and the re-establishment of business. Dominion officers said the executive had reached the conclusion that the unemployment situation was a continuous matter and the outlook for next winter very grave. There are no existing provisions made to cope with the situation, it was said, and a national effort is necessary.

SISTER-IN-LAW MARRIAGES.

(Montreal Herald.)
A very old question was raised again in England by Lord Hugh Cecil in the debate upon the bill legalizing marriage with a deceased brother's widow. Lord Hugh's friends to give the bishops the right to refuse to celebrate such marriages and to exclude the parties from Holy Communion. The battle was fought and is claimed was lost for all time upon the Deceased Wife's Sister's bill. The disabilities of a state church is that it is and must be subject to regulation by parliament. They cannot have one authority in a country declaring a marriage to be legal and proper, and another affirming it an offence to solemnize and good conduct. An independent church may teach what it pleases, but when it is part of the organizations of the state it must accept what the state has decided to be right and proper. Some of the clergy have strong feelings in regard to these marriages, and provision is made for the individual conscience, but a general regulation by the bishops is refused.
It seems only yesterday when this was a very live question in Canada, and when the forces led in the press and in the lobby of parliament by "Gunnilda" (Mrs. E. Stone Wiggins) carried the day so that in Canada a child's aunt might legally become his mother. It was some years after before such marriages became legal in England, owing to the continued opposition of the House of Lords. A bill similar to that passed in Canada in 1882 was made law in all the self-governing British colonies and Jersey, but was not passed by the British parliament until 1907. Probably no statistics of such marriages are available, and they are probably rare in this country, but we never hear anything about them now.

MARSHAL FAYOLLE AT WHITE HOUSE YESTERDAY

Washington, July 6.—Marshal Fayolle of the French mission, who have been in Canada to express the French government's gratitude to the Canadian armies for their aid in the war, made a call of courtesy yesterday to President Harding. They were presented by the French ambassador.

THE SPANISH CABINET.

Madrid, July 6.—After a lengthy cabinet conference, last night Premier Salazar announced that his colleagues had reiterated their confidence in him and requested that he fill the two vacant posts in the ministers.
Consequently the premier is making efforts to find substitutes for Manuel Arzules and Vincente Pinies as minister of finance and minister of Justice.

Use The WANT AD. WAY

It will be noted that the Post writer places the emphasis not upon personal salvation, but upon a personal condition which calls for service. We quote further:

"Men no longer have the old awe toward 'the cloth,' especially if 'the cloth' covers nothing more than the person of a titled official. The time is past when live and thinking people can be drawn and held by any kind of compulsion to sit through disquisitions upon the minutiae of theological theory and speculation, or very much or very long absorbed by appeals to mere self-interest in minatory allusions to the saving of their individual souls from imputed sin. No longer can the pulpit as such speak with substantial authority apart from the character and moral conviction of its occupant, to a humanly bested by a chaos of personal, national and world problems."

Applying the whole matter directly to the young men who may be thinking deeply on these things, the Post concludes with this further impressive statement and query:

"If there were any way to get at the facts, you would find, actually, that the men who have turned their backs upon the ministry are those who have been urged by the standards of mere professionalism, and have failed to find it 'profitable' as compared with other occupations. Remain, doubtless, that under-stratum of those narrow, inadequate persons seeking a 'nice, clean, easy job'—though they will not find it so—and those who know they could not succeed in any work calling for anything more difficult or more exacting than talk. Remain, also, and always will remain, those who, without measure, cost or reward, must render service; who, though they starve, can count no price too great to pay for the opportunity, the privilege of spiritual leadership. To which of these classes do you belong?"

Of industrial and trade conditions in the United States a writer in Forbes' Magazine says there is a gradual improvement in conditions. We quote "We are warranted in concluding that the manufacturing revival is a fact, and not merely a hope or a dream. It is slow, and it is neither uniform nor universal. Some industries have not yet joined the march toward better times, but in due course they will. If one's own business is still on the downward trend the best policy should be to take courage and begin calculating when the inevitable revival will reach it, and how best to take advantage of the revival. Faith and hope are not necessary, because all that is required to be convinced of the slow but steady recovery is open-eyed observation. Producers and traders in goods for home consumption may expect almost immediate further improvement, and business in expansion materials promises faithfully to revive as soon as consumption grows enough to pretty full utilize our existing capacity."

When the heat is driving Toronto people to midnight bathing, and Ontario generally is a furnace, the citizens of St. John are enjoying a delightful temperature. The climate of this city in July and August is an asset that should be exploited. Persons arriving from the New England States tell of oppressive heat and refuse to breathe the cool air of this city. Our climate in midsummer would attract great numbers of tourists if they knew.

The second enquiry into the extraordinary Yarmouth murder case has ended and the mystery of the death of Capt. Perry remains unsolved. Every possible avenue of evidence appears to have been explored in the two enquiries without fixing responsibility for the crime in such a way as to satisfy a jury.

Montreal Herald: "The Vancouver Sun, in a position to see something of the possibilities of the near future, drops a timely hint to a people standing at the beginning of an age that may see a large transference of commerce from the Atlantic to the Pacific, of leadership in art, scholarship, industry and all the sciences of civilization from Europe to the Western world. 'We must be very careful,' it says, 'that we do not see a transference of Europe's ancient national grudges and political prejudices along with other things that are moving in our direction. The Oriental nations are awakening. They are realizing their full power and force. The problem of their adjustment to world relations must be met on the Pacific. They are opening up vast new markets; produce to and from Japan and China must be moved over the Pacific.'"

Those Presbyterian clergymen who declared yesterday that they would resign rather than accept an increased stipend that would be a burden on their parishioners, displayed a true Christian spirit; but the parishioners, if they have the same spirit, will hardly assume that any minister would become notoriously rich on the minimum salary offered, in view of the constant calls upon him throughout the year. A spiritual leader should as far as possible be relieved from financial worries, since he has to share the burden of the worries of his flock.

Any suggestion that the press is moved by a desire for sensationalism in connection with the present labor dispute is so unfounded as to be positively ridiculous. A really sensational press would pursue a policy entirely different from that which has been pursued in this city. The press is too often charged with an eagerness to get anything at all to fill its columns. If those who entertain this view sat a news editor's desk for a few days they would change their minds—or perhaps they would be the kind of news editor they describe.

Toronto Globe: "There is no important public or business building in course of erection in Toronto except an addition to a hotel and the Exhibition Park Arena, the construction of which could no longer be deferred. The men engaged in the building trades, employers and employes alike, should ask themselves why, year after year, big building programmes are laid aside."

The Allied forces may have serious trouble with the Turkish Nationalists, according to one of U. S. cables, as the Nationalists are threatening Constantinople. Their ambitions must be frustrated as a preliminary to peace in the near east.

Baltimore Sun: "The remarkable thing about the English system is that the politician stands for office. The remarkable thing about the American system is that the public stands for the politicians."

The tenth of October is the probable date of the referendum on the importation of liquor into New Brunswick. There is ample time for the organization of the dry forces, and the task should be thoroughly done.

MAY BECOME A NEW NATION

Honduras, Guatemala and Salvador are Already Committed to Federation. With Costa Rica and Nicaragua Favorably Disposed.

(Marian Storm in N. Y. Evening Post)

"It is only a hope, but a hope well founded," said Dr. Policarpo Bonilla, President of Honduras from 1894 to 1909, who leaves New York tomorrow for his own country, "that when we celebrate the centenary of the independence of Central America on September 15 we may celebrate also the formation of a new republic of Central America. Honduras, Guatemala, and El Salvador are already members of the federation. Costa Rica joined them in signing the pact last January, and two-thirds of the Costa Rican Senate voted in favor of ratification. Popular sentiment in both Costa Rica and Nicaragua supports it, but the tendency of the conservative political parties in power is still to hold aloof. Until a little while ago, Nicaragua, too, felt bound not to join because of the Bryan-Chamorro treaty obligations to the United States, but at a luncheon given in honor of the Minister of Foreign Relations of Nicaragua, early in June, Secretary Hughes declared that this country would look with nothing but approval upon a Central American Federation."

"So a new nation, one new to our time, counting 5,000,000 people, may soon be marked upon the map of the American continent. Central America, then, will no longer be a group of small republics, weakened by jealousies, dissensions, and unstable governments, but a country under firm, centralized control, able to dispense with the police aid of our marines, and boasting rich and undeveloped lands and numerous fine seaports. It will possess two interoceanic railroads. El Salvador has prosperous iron mines, and it was only in May that the discovery of oil and of natural gas in Costa Rica was recorded. Coffee and banana plantations are vast and profitable. Honduras's Rich Forests.

"It is indeed the Rich Coast," said Dr. Bonilla. "There is hardly a kind of fruit that you can raise in Central America. The forests of my own country, especially, are full of precious woods—mahogany, cedar, and such pines as you never saw."

"But we do not wish to be simply one of the major sources of the world's supply of food, lumber, and minerals. We intend to have our share in its enlightenment as well. Our universities have made good progress in educating the great population of illiterate natives—that, of course, is our baffling problem—but we have not made the mistake of considering them entirely ignorant because they are illiterate. When I was President of Honduras I travelled—on multi-hood, by canoe, or afoot—over almost all of my country, but there are still great tracts where no white man has ever set foot. Strangely enough, the natives along the coast are less civilized than those in the interior, where perfect Spanish is spoken, instead of dialects, and where some of the old pre-Conquest culture is preserved. I find that most people in the United States suppose that the 'Mosquito Coast,' which has figured in so many of our inter-public disagreements, is named from the number of mosquitoes that reside there. The mosquito is the product of a mixture of negro and Indian blood. He is much darker skinned than the negro, and he got his nickname in Spanish times. It is a sort of contemptuous diminutive for mosquito, the Spanish word for 'fellow.'

How Storekeeper and Seaman Cleaned Up on Ship's Rats at New York Pier—Police Given Scare.

(New York Evening Post)

Thomas McGoldrick, the husky guard of Pier 23, North River, twirled his stick carelessly and cast a contented glance along the hull of the Italian steamer Dante Alighieri that lay warped to the pier. All was silent and serene, nor did the rattle of a single which disturb the peace of Thomas McGoldrick's soul, expansive beneath of pour of warm June sunlight.

"Rats," said Thomas to himself, "but it's quiet today."

Bang! Thomas whirled around. Bang! bang! bang! With prodigious velocity the astonished pier guard spun down the wharf, dived over the gangway, and raced down an alleyway to the after starboard side of the ship, whence came a fusillade of shots mingled with blood-thirsty cries.

McGoldrick stopped suddenly, faced by a heavy iron door that led into the ship's after storeroom. The shouts and popping of shots were going on behind the door, and that was enough for McGoldrick. He found Charles Harms, a traffic policeman in West street. Harms warbled his whistle, and two more patrolmen came on the run, and the four men raced for the scene of massacre aboard the vessel.

The bombardment continued as lively as ever, but the iron door was deaf to the heavy persuasions of the guard and the three police. At last there issued forth Dombello Corigliano, a seaman, known to his shipmates as "Piccolo," and Antonio Passano, ship's storekeeper. Piccolo carried a rifle and Passano bore a flute. The store room inside was a scene of carnage and bloodshed. One port bottle was broken and glass was strewn about. Bottles of rare liquor lay shattered. Fine old Italian cheeses were so riddled with bullets that they were Swiss in everything but the smell. And in the centre of the deck lay three corpses.

"Rats," exclaimed Thomas McGoldrick for the second time, as he pointed in bewilderment at the three bodies.

"Rats," said Harms. "Rats," said the two policemen. And Piccolo, looking again to make sure, echoed softly, "Rats."

"Yes, mister," said Passano. "I have try for free voyage to kill him, but they will never be kill. They bite my be-sautiful cheeses. Piccolo read story by Signor Browning how Pi-eyed Piper of Hamelin draw rats with pipe. Passano play his flute. Piccolo shoot with gun. We have kill the rats."

Small Boy (at dock)—"Papa, those are not real sailors, are they?"

Papa (a theatrical manager)—"Why, yes, my son. They have just sailed that big ship across the ocean and in about a week they will sail back."

"Well I suppose they must know something about sailing, but they ain't really and truly sailors, are they?"

"Indeed they are. Why do you think they are not?"

"Why, I've been watching them 'most an hour, an' I haven't seen one of them hitch his trousers an' stand on one leg and say 'Yo-ho, my hearties' once."

On To Calgary and The Women's Council

Think of only one dissenting vote when the resolution favoring the appointment of women to the senate of Canada was brought up in the National Council on Thursday. This resolution was moved by Mrs. McIvor of Toronto, and in speaking to the motion Mrs. Arthur Murphy (Janie Canuck) of Edmonton strongly advocated the measure, while Dr. Stove Gulien pointed out that it was of far greater importance to have women in the senate instead of the house, as that body has been chiefly concerned with vetting requests of the National Council of Women.

The committee report on equal moral standard was read by Mrs. R. E. Jamieson, judge of the Calgary juvenile court, who urged that one standard of morality be insisted upon, and that the committee was not only working for the elimination of undesirable amusements, but for the provision of recreation that will uplift.

Other reports presented on Thursday were those on objectionable private matter and moving pictures, peace and arbitration, likewise national recreation, all of which brought forth much heightened discussion, which the press has dealt with most carefully.

The committee on peace and arbitration, in accordance with suggestions made at the meeting in St. John last year, was on recommendation changed to that of the League of Nations committee, and Mrs. Clement of Brandon, as a result of election, was made the national convenor.

Luncheon served at the Hudson Bay was made a very memorable occasion, on Thursday, as Mrs. Murphy was a brilliant speaker, closing with the words of the Bishop of Worcester copied from an old book—

"I beseech God that all that is amiss may be amended, that we may hear His word and keep it and that we may beseech God to bring both you and me to His eternal life, to which I am a bright little tea to which a few of the delegates state away was welcomed as a change from the crowded hall, and as the necessity of being in time for the banquet at the Palliser 120 presented quite a problem for dress consideration, we calmly attired ourselves in the dinner costumes, and enjoyed without alloy the atmosphere of a delightful home, and the tea and accompaniments, which women find so soothing and refreshing to mind and body.

The banquet was a very large affair, and the attendance representative of Dominion women. "Mere men," as one of the toasts called for, was in the minority, but those who were fearless enough to attend would find it had been noteworthy and memorable evening. The large banquet hall of the Palliser presented a very festive appearance, tables for four and six, with variegated creel Iceland poppies one never sees in New Brunswick, and yet in Alberta gardens they grow luxuriantly, their slender stems nodding gaily in the soft winds, or bending low to mother earth in a tremor of fear when the dust-storm brings its whirling, enveloping clouds.

The large table placed against the east wall, with sufficient room to seat the guests comfortably, was occupied by Mrs. Sanford, Lady Gibson, Mrs. Woodhall, the president of the Calgary Council; Dr. Stove Gulien, and others who were the appointed movers and seconders of toasts, with a few men who assisted materially during the evening in providing much merriment in their brilliant addresses overflowing with humor, and yet which sometimes registered paths for their own position as "mere men," which provoked real laughter and a feeling of good fellowship all around. At one table the guests, changed their places with one another, and a fund of gay anecdotes brought friendship and friendship, in which St. John women also found new Calgary friends.

The orchestra (and the songs which also gave their charms to that evening) was a bright, melodious accompaniment to the sounds of eager women's voices and the deeper notes of the men, and when the national anthem filled the room with echoes and re-echoes of a war-delivered Canada, enthusiasm had reached its culmination.

We were so proud of our Halifax man who sat at the table of honor, whose clever speech was heard with much pleasure and appreciation by wartime women. One of the guests who sat at the opposite end of the table proved to be a former Haligonian, new a resident of Calgary, whose claim to the Bluenose family being heretofore along the table, after Mrs. Murray had resumed her seat, brought forth interested guests to their feet, upon which there ensued the most elaborate bowing and courtesying with hands upon the banquet room resounded with clapping and merriment.

Miss Lucy Doyle, the honorary president of the Women's Press Club of Canada, also sat at the distinguished table, and brightly acknowledged the tribute bership of 4,000,000. Every state in the United States and every province in Canada was represented.

A spectacular feature of the convention will be a parade on Fifth Avenue on Saturday in which many thousands will sing militant hymns as they march. A series of floats will depict important epochs in religious history. After the parade, a mass meeting will be held in Central Park and William Jennings Bryan will deliver the principal address.

More than 200 speakers of prominence in the religious world will address afternoon and evening sessions in the 7th Regiment Armory. The Rev. Francis E. Clark, founder and president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, will preside at the opening exercises to-night. A choir of one thousand voices, led by Homer Rodeheaver will render a musical programme and addresses will be made by representatives of the city and delegates from other lands.

He (five years after)—"All this gush about love is extremely silly. Wherever did this stupid book come from? I must say the person who selected it showed a very insipid taste."

She (quietly)—"It's the book you gave me during our honeymoon, John; we read it eleven times the first week we had it." (Prolonged silence.)—Pearson.

to the press, paid in the sprightly words of Mrs. Kerby of Calgary, who had prefaced her remarks with a clever fanciful weaving of the story of Adam and Eve, and "no morning paper to give them the news of Eden."

Alderman J. W. Huggill, representing the mayor, proposed the toast to "Sovereign Woman." He spoke of the coming of the National Council of Women to Calgary, and their complete platform of reform, and of their decisions with regard to all matters from senate to moving pictures. "On the cultivation of the mind of women depends the wisdom of men," Sheridan had said. "Women govern us, let us render them perfect." Carlyle had declared, "Democracy was born at Bunker Hill," but he, the speaker, knew that democracy was born at Bethlehem. Mr. Huggill, turning to Mrs. Sanford, said: "I have been much impressed with your words of pride as a mother to her family, and then, receding in a slow, impressive tone, Mr. Huggill gave these beautiful words, which in their beauty and deference touched deeply the hearts of all the National Council women—"

If I were you, I should feel proud
Of all the talents I possess,
And by no comments of the crowd
Could be distressed.

If I were you I would not heed
The paltry praise of meaner men,
For I should be too strong to need Such solace then.

If I were you I should be dead
To critics whether great or small,
For I should know I stood a head Above them all.

If I were you my heart would be Held a kingdom ever new,
But I'd make room in it for me—
If I were you.

Before Mrs. Sanford could express in her own charming way this tribute to the Council leader, whose harmony of spirit and sweet dignity of person brings an admiration and love from the Canadian Parliament of Women, Mrs. Huggill presented the audience again with the ranchers' and cowboys' toast—

"I look towards you all, and I also bow—and hope I catch your eye"— Mrs. Jamieson was on the toast list for "Mere Men," but declared her inability to use the word "man."

Her position, which had brought her daily into association with the men of Calgary and elsewhere, had given her too great a respect for man to speak slightly of him, and she preferred to eliminate the "man."

C. P. Ford declared he had sought the dictionary for the correct definition of "man," and then had looked for "man," and the combination of the two words had signified a "simple man"—(laughter)—but he had gone still further in his research work and been comforted and enlightened. He felt that woman by demanding the best in men by looking for their best qualities and expressing the belief in them that had been voiced by Mrs. Jamieson, they could make of men whatever they wanted him to be.

Mrs. Sanford, whose words were spoken from the heart, as she stood in the midst of that appreciative assemblage of women and men, women who had travelled across the prairies to learn from her wisdom and guidance, how to be national in their lives, and help to make Canada a better place for all to live in.

"It is good to be president of this great organization. I have learned that the real way of life is absolute truth and peace in Christ, and I am going to Italy, Belgium and every European country that I can possibly visit this year and tell them what I have learned, to give them my message," that she felt like a mother with a big family of which she was very proud—Calgary had added another gem to her gallery of beautiful pictures of memory, and she thanked them all heartily for their love and cooperation.

A fitting close to a week of mutual endeavor and close comradeship among women of all Canada, from Atlantic to Pacific, wherein new links of friendship had been forged, old friendships more tightly cemented, where the personal little had been shut up in an attic room; and the bigger, nobler woman had gone out in to the arena of national life, and daily in life's daily lessons how to eschew pugnacious localisms and become a little more reasonable in her platform of work.

Let me diverge and give the "L'Envol" of verses "The Rowboat of Blue," contained in the booklet of St. John Council greetings sent to the National Council of Women, and distributed among the delegates—

It is only a bowknit of blue
To wear in the glow of the morn,
When smiles take the place of scorn
And crosses are rare.

Let us wear our bowknit of blue
Let us give a right fit for a wrong,
When the trail seems so weary,
And the outlook quite dreary,
Help us to help us grow strong.

NAPOLEON WAS HIS GRANDUNCLE

Life Story of Chas. J. Bonaparte, Attorney General Under Roosevelt.

Charles Joseph Bonaparte, who died at his county home, near Baltimore, a few days ago, was born in Baltimore on June 5, 1851. His father was Jerome Bonaparte, who was a brother of Napoleon, and one time King of Westphalia.

Jerome Bonaparte married Elizabeth Patterson, daughter of a wealthy Baltimore merchant. Jerome met Miss Patterson during a visit to the United States, and married her in 1803 without the consent of his brother Napoleon. The marriage gave great offense to Napoleon, and was annulled by his order in 1805. Jerome was crowned King of Westphalia in 1804, and in the same year married a daughter of the King of Wurttemberg. His first wife died in Baltimore in 1879, at the age of 94.

Mr. Bonaparte's mother was Susan May Williams, daughter of Benjamin Williams and Sarah Copeland. He received the rudiments of his education in private schools and under the care of private tutors, and entered Harvard in 1869 as a junior. He was graduated two years later, and remained at the university one year as a resident graduate.

In 1872 he took up the study of law in the Harvard Law School, finishing the course in 1874. After his admission that year to the Maryland bar he practiced his profession principally in the Federal and State courts, and he had a wide clientele.

Mr. Bonaparte was a Roman Catholic, Church of Baltimore, and a warm friend of Cardinal Gibbons. He was president of the Civil Service Reform Association of Maryland and of the National Municipal League, and was connected with many other reform and charity organizations.

He was an overseer of Harvard University from 1890 to 1892, and crossed much criticism by opposing the plan to confer the degree of LL.D. on President McKinley.

He had large wealth and town and country estates. He married Ellen Channing Day of Hartford, Conn., of Boston ancestry, Sept. 1, 1875.

Before entering the Cabinet of President Roosevelt the only salaried public office he ever occupied was that of supervisor of elections of Baltimore city, which he held for three weeks in the summer of 1888. He had been elected to only one public office, that of Presidential elector in 1903. He was the only successful Republican candidate on the Maryland ticket and ran far ahead of his Democratic colleagues.

Mr. Bonaparte defined his political status by saying, "I am both a Republican and an Independent; the former primarily and the latter secondarily." He voted for Grover Cleveland in 1884, and supported the Democratic candidate in the Baltimore municipal campaign of 189.

At various times in the life of the Baltimore Reform League charges were made against certain individuals which some of the members refused to sign because they considered them libelous.

On such occasions Mr. Bonaparte wasted no time in argument. He invariably published the charges over his own name in the newspapers.

"There," he would say—"If they are libels, I am responsible. Let them sue." The degree of LL.D. was given him by St. Mary's College and the Catholic University of America.

He was a member of the United States Board of Indian Commissioners from 1902-04, Secretary of the Navy 1904-06, and Attorney-General 1906-09, both in Roosevelt's cabinet. He was a member of the council of National Civic Service Reform, Municipal League; trustee of the Catholic University of America, and president of Enoch Pratt Free Library.

"LITTLE CHURCH AROUND THE CORNER" ACTORS OWN (Portland Express.)

The story goes that when George Holland, a well-known actor in his day, died, Joseph Jefferson went to the minister of a large church in Madison avenue, New York, and asked the rector to officiate. Much to Jefferson's surprise, the rector declined, declaring that it would not be good policy for him to permit an actor to be buried from his church.

"It really would never do, my dear sir," he said, "but there is a little church around the corner where you can probably get the desired permission."

Mr. Jefferson bowed politely, thanked the rector, and went at once to Dr. Houghton, whose church was near by. The name was the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The actor met an entirely different kind of reception there and almost from the date of the funeral, as the story spread, the church has been called "The Little Church Around the Corner."

Dr. Houghton's kindness was not forgotten by theatrical folk, who to this day regard the place of worship as peculiarly their own. It has never lacked for financial support, and indeed is largely supported by players who comprise the largest part of its membership. Players-folk are married in that church, and are buried from there, and in every way the venerable rector ministers to them spiritually.

DOMINION Tires

The King of the Road

ALL DOMINION TIRES are GOOD Tires. All Dominion Tires are popular because of their serviceable treads, their superior quality and workmanship.

But—if there can be one tire in all Canada that is the national favorite, this tire is "NOBBY TREAD."

Everybody likes "NOBBY TREAD"—the proud possessor of a lordly limousine as well as the happy owner of a Ford, Chevrolet, Overland, Gray-Dort or McLaughlin.

The big, tough, long-wearing, springy nobbs are proof against punctures, blow-outs and road-cutting. They simply wear and wear and wear. And when your speedometer gets up in the thousands of miles, you begin to appreciate the sound economy as well as the easy comfort of these famous DOMINION TIRES.

The big nobbs, however, do not account for all this popularity. It is the workmanship—the perfect materials—the faultless construction throughout—that make "NOBBY TREADS" the KING of the road.

When you consider their greater mileage, their wonderful durability, their freedom from ordinary tire troubles and their greater ease and comfort in driving, "NOBBY TREADS" are sound economy, no matter what size or make of car you use.

There are DOMINION TIRES for every car, for every purpose, business and pleasure. The Dominion Tire DEALER will show you the different treads and explain the special features of each. He also carries DOMINION INNER TUBES and DOMINION TIRE ACCESSORIES. Have a tire talk with him—he knows.

MARCH FORTH IN RECONSTRUCTED PYJAMA SUITS

Constantinople, June 15—(Associated Press by Mail)—American Red Cross and army pajamas are being converted into jaunty street clothes here by ingenious Russian refugee soldiers and civilians.

Hugh S. Bird, treasurer of the Red Cross, when here on a visit of inspection to dispose of a large quantity of supplies laid up in the warehouses, saw a spick-and-span, mooned Russian officer, flourishing a cane and fanning himself with a straw hat, at the local Red Cross offices asking for some mail. The officer looked so well put up that Mr. Bird stopped feeling sorry for the Russians for a moment, until he took a second look at his clothes. He then saw that the man had taken a suit of pajamas, sewed some shoulder strap braid on them, strapped his officer's belt about them and rolled up the bottoms to give a trouser effect. By taking off his hat, shoes, and belt the man was ready to go to bed.

Mr. Bird thought so well of the ingenuity of the man, who had defeated the hot weather that he gave orders for several thousand more pajamas to be distributed so no Russian need wear his heavy, shabby winter clothes.

LETTER FROM J. WILLIAMSON.

To the Editor of the Times:
Sir—I would like to add a few remarks in answer to an editorial published in this morning's Standard in regard to that paper being impartial regarding capital and labor. I would call the attention of the public to the articles published in the Standard this spring.

Secondly, the responsibility of the present situation between the N. B. Power Company and its employees, whereas the Standard states there is nothing to dispute, that the company makes its offer and it is up to the employees to accept or look for something else. Now, Sir, I would ask is it justice to any as a good citizen who, after from twenty to thirty years service, calling in a great many instances for three hundred and sixty-five days in all weather, debarring himself the rights of divine service, giving the best part of his life-time, regardless that many times the labor market value soared far above the wage he was receiving, now in a time of perhaps the greatest industrial depression of all history, because such employes does not think he can accept less than a living wage, he very properly submits his case before the law of the land. Such case is put before a most competent tribunal of men of high standing. Both sides have the right to submit evidence. The man who honestly invests his capital and asks a fair return, and the man who has served and given the best part of his life and asks a living wage. Now, Sir, this tribunal renders its decision, the men willingly accept the same, but our employers refuse. We again are willing to receive in wages below his decision, and in so doing, I consider we showed a good spirit, and in return look to the public whom we have served to ask themselves if we are at least entitled to justice of a wage fit to live on.

Yours respectfully,
J. WILLIAMSON.

GOVERNMENT IN SESSION HERE

Several Delegations Were Heard at Meeting This Morning.

Several delegates were heard by the provincial government at this morning's session of their meeting here. The New members were presented. The New Brunswick Electric Power Commission also met here this morning and this afternoon will appear before the government. A meeting of the board of education is also slated for this afternoon.

A delegation of local shipping men, consisting of F. C. Beattie, G. S. Cushing, R. H. Cushing, R. E. Wilson, Alexander Wilson and Captain Kinney, presented arguments in an endeavor to show the government that it had the authority to stop the C. P. R. putting a bridge across the St. John river at the reversing falls, which they claimed interfered with commerce.

A committee representing the residents of the Gondola point road conferred with Hon. P. A. Veniot of public works, asking that the road be treated with oil. They argued that silting would improve the surface and prevent it being thrown off by the large number of cars that pass over it.

A representative of the newly formed Canadian Chamber of Commerce in London explained that the objects of the organization were to increase the trade within the empire and that he was in Canada to solicit the aid of all the provinces. He said that he had already presented his case before the provincial governments in Upper Canada.

The board of directors of the Valley Railway Co. were before the government regarding the arrangements for the transfer of the trusteeship from the Quebec Trust Co to trustees composed of members of the provincial government, who will act temporarily and be replaced by the next meeting of the board of directors. The intention is that this corporation will act only as trustees for the debenture holders of the company.

No decision was arrived at regarding any of the matters brought up by the delegation.

The electric power commission at its meeting opened tenders for the construction of a transmission line from the Nereidgait Falls to Newcastle, but still have the matter under consideration.

McCarthy, for the last twenty years. She was aged ninety-four years. Mrs. Smith was a native of St. John, and for the greater part of her life lived in the north end of this city. Her husband, who died many years ago, was a prominent citizen of St. John and was well known as a member of the old Debatting Society, which had its headquarters at the Mechanics' Institute. Sir Leonard Tilley and George Lawrence were members.

The Leonard, Knight, Smith and Hilliard families are all related to Mrs. Smith. Her daughters are one now survive. They are: Mrs. H. G. Farnham of Lethbridge, Alta.; Mrs. J. J. ### JULY BRIDES

Turner-Kinsman.

The marriage of Florence Walker Kinsman, eldest daughter of Frederick C. G. and the late Mrs. Kinsman, 2 South park street, to William Arthur Turner, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Turner, St. John, took place at 9 o'clock this morning in Knox Presbyterian church, Rev. R. Moorehead Legate officiated. The bride wore a navy blue embroidered traveling suit with hat of navy blue silk and silver trimmings and carried a bouquet of Chabellia roses. She was attended. Miss Wilson, organist, played softly throughout the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Turner left for a yachting trip on the St. John river. Among the many beautiful gifts was a silver scallop dish from the choir of Knox church, of which the bride was a valued member. Among the out-of-town guests were Miss Hazel M. Kinsman and Mrs. Dwight Baldwin of Boston.

HERE'S A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of the Times:
Sir,—I am a fan. I like a game of baseball. I have attended many games where only a collection was taken, and contribute nothing. Should baseball teams be expected to buy an outfit, furnish to delight a crowd? Look alive, ladies and gentlemen! You have to pay when you go to the City League games—why discriminate against the others? They ought at least to get enough to pay for the balls used.

Yours,
OLD SPORT.
