A SERIOUS CRISIS against the integrity of the elections of New Brunswick is made by the Montreal Times, which claims that their votes were purchased, against their political convictions, in the last general election.

The Globe's Election.

The St. John Globe continues to babble over its ridiculous notion that a General Assembly election is imminent. In an editorial paragraph on Tuesday it asserted that because the press favoring the government was of the opinion that there would be no election this year, it was "pretty conclusive evidence that the contest is to take place this year."

One would imagine, after reading the Globe's deliriousness on the subject, that Dogberry and Capt. Cuttle were running its editorial department, while the regular staff were away on a press excursion, or devoting themselves exclusively to preparations for welcoming St. John's expected royal visitors.

The Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company's Affairs.

The affairs of the Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company, whose property and interests have, for months—months been owned and practically controlled by the Royal Trust Company and Hugh Robertson of Montreal, bid fair to be the subject of a closer investigation than was anticipated when the inactivity of the concern was announced five or six weeks ago.

It appears that a number of the unsecured creditors are making an effort to obtain a disclosure of the true position of the Company and to learn, if possible, whether one large creditor who has managed to secure about all of the Company's property is to be alone permitted to handle it without reference to the interests of a recognition of their duty of permitting them to have a say in its disposal.

It is difficult to dissociate the Trust Company and the Bank of Montreal in the transactions, for the former appears to have acted exclusively in the interest of the latter, as against other creditors of the Sulphite Fibre Company.

The ADVANCE has, hitherto, recognized the fact that the interests involved were so large and complex, that it were best to refrain from comment or interference, lawfully, were being made to keep the mill running and its employees at work. At the same time, we could not but sympathize with business men who had not been in the secrets of the Trust Company and the Bank, but had, nevertheless, been encouraged by the latter in supplying the Sulphite Company on credit with logs and other materials essential to its operations.

A new turn, however, being given to the matter by the publication, in a local paper, on Saturday last, and in the St. John Globe of Tuesday, of statements reflecting on the motives of the unfortunate lumbermen and others who supplied the Company and are seeking to have their rights recognized, we deem it a public duty to present the situation in its true light. We think this course ought not to have been rendered necessary, and that it would have been better for the Trust Company and Bank's representatives to have refrained from inspiring any press attacks on the interests which have suffered, in order that they might profit thereby.

It was only natural that those who had been induced to part with their property to a company enjoying a notorious credit, through the personal relationship with the Bank and who were told that they would have to pay the accounts they had very long that the Trust Company was converting into pulp for the purpose of reducing the Bank's claim against the insolvent company, should take steps to ascertain whether they could not at least secure themselves against the maximum of loss which they were told awaited them. These men felt that the Trust Company—the rich corporation closely allied with the Bank of Montreal—should not be allowed to appropriate to themselves thousands of dollars worth of their logs—the honest earnings of their last season's operations—to make good losses of the Bank, which had already secured itself to the full extent of the Company's property, with out some investigation into the matter.

They found, however, that it was only by appeal to the courts that they could get any satisfaction from those who had appropriated their property.

The Trust Company turned these people's unpaid for logs into pulp, of which they now hold some 1800 tons. They claim all this and all other property of the Company, to the utter exclusion of other creditors. What wonder is it, therefore, that those who have been thus plucked should be proceeding as they are, and that the Dominion Act applicable to such cases and for the appointment of a liquidator who shall represent all parties?

After notice of the presentation of the petition for the winding up of the Bank of Montreal, apparently with the intention of defeating the unsecured creditors in their motion, made application to the Equity Judge at St. John, making the Royal Trust Company defendant in proceedings for the appointment of a Receiver, and no notice of the application having been given to the creditors or other parties. The application was granted by Judge Barker, and a Receiver appointed in the person of Mr. W. O. Winslow, solicitor here of the Bank of Montreal and agent for the Trust Company.

As soon as this was done Mr. Winslow asserted that it gave him power to operate the mill, which, of course, it did not, but in order to throw dust into the eyes of the public the World newspaper was apparently negotiating with the manager of the Crown Lumber Co. to procure a transfer of the Crown Lumber Co. to the Trust Company, which is a strong protest from the lumbermen who have claims to be satisfied. Although eight months have elapsed since the assignment of the lease, no notice thereof was given, and we understand that the government refuse to assist the Trust Company in the matter.

The Trust Company's application to have the assignment thus made eight months ago placed since the assignment of the lease, no notice thereof was given, and we understand that the government refuse to assist the Trust Company in the matter.

A nephew landed exploded on the Hudson river, near Albany, on Sunday, killing Mrs. Alexander and her little daughter and terribly burning Wilbur Alexander and his son Wilbur Alexander, Jr. The ignition of the naphtha gas was caused by young Alexander inauspiciously going close to the tank with a lighted lantern.

A Montreal despatch of 30th says:—D. McLeod, general manager of the C. P. R., this afternoon confirmed the report that the strike of the trackmen had been called off, an understanding having been reached with the committee of trackmen. The understanding is practically the same as that reached in the different conciliation committees. Re-statement of strikers not guilty of violence, consistent with promises made new hands, and the possible granting of a schedule to a certain portion of its permanent staff, as a feature of the settlement, but no further advance.

A Calcutta, M., despatch of Aug. 30th says:—"Everything looks favorable for the satisfactory outcome of the negotiations now pending for the purchase by United States capitalists of the valuable lands and water privileges owned by H. F. Todd & Sons of St. John, and it is reasonable to expect that the pulp and paper mill which the world-purchasers of the privileges intend establishing will materialize at no distant day. Expectant men sent here by the interested parties have ordered the special lands owned by H. F. Todd & Sons and have reported that there is an abundant supply of wood obtainable for pulp. The same parties will send competent engineers here in a few days, to inspect and report upon the water power. It is found to be satisfactory, and there can be little doubt on that score, a company will be organized, in which H. F. Todd & Sons will hold some of the stock. The present plans include a pulp mill of 100 tons daily capacity to be erected at Sprague's Falls, and a paper mill, probably at Union Mills, both to be protected in the Calcutta side of the river. If the project is consummated the Messrs. Todd will curtail their sawing operations to hemlock and pine, concentrating probably the closing of one mill. But the new industries will more than make up the employment of labor."

The Intercolonial

There are indications that Mr. Russell, the new manager of the Intercolonial Railway, has a free hand in regard to the management of the road, and that he is using it. The position of manager of a government railway must be a very different one, but as soon as people understand that business principles and not political interests are to be served by the management the position will then be no longer a matter of controversy. The large expenditure which the country has made upon the Intercolonial, and made with considerable willingness, will justify the Minister of Railways in applying business principles to the management of the road; and in giving the manager the authority to manage.

Someone Hounded

On Saturday morning last at an early hour—3 o'clock—a calamity similar to the Victoria-Camperdown collision in the English Channel was barely averted off Halifax harbor. In the usual manoeuvres which were taking place on the time, the vessel was approaching the harbor to repel an imaginary attack by the torpedo boats. The lights were out on all of the ships and they were steaming their way in, the guns being all manned and the crews prepared for action. When two miles off P. Russell Cove (Camperdown) signal station, the cruiser indefatigable and Psyche almost crashed together, owing to the misunderstanding of an order issued from the flagship. The cruisers swung inwards on the same circle.

The ship's courses were at once altered and a serious accident was averted. It had been a dark night nothing would have prevented a serious collision. It was an incident not repeated at once, but being so serious a character it could not be forgotten as long as it lasted. The Canadian, Eastern special bringing them from Freder-

The Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company Case

Defn. Judge McLeod on Thursday last, at St. John, an application made on behalf of several creditors, lumbermen of Northumberland county and others for a winding up order in the case of the Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company, (Ltd.) Hon. Wm. Pugsley, C. J., represented the petitioners; A. H. Hanington, K. C., of the Dominion Coal Company; H. H. McLeod, K. C., of the Bank of Montreal, and Hon. L. J. Tweedie, K. C., of the company. Judge McLeod made an order for winding up of the Company and appointed Hon. L. J. Tweedie provisional liquidator.

Last Thursday's "Tid-graph" says:—Yesterday morning in the matter of the Maritime Sulphite Fibre Company, an application was made to His Honor Judge Barker by the Bank of Montreal, setting for itself and other bondholders, for the appointment of a receiver. This company is the business of Montreal and the Royal Trust Company of Montreal and Hugh Robertson, who were appointed trustees of the property for its protection. In Ontario, where the company has its principal office, an application is pending for the appointment of a receiver. A similar application has also been made to Judge McLeod in this province. In the afternoon Judge Barker granted the application and appointed Warren C. Winslow, K. C., receiver and ordered that he should have his office at St. John, and two sureties of $5,000 each. Hugh H. McLeod, K. C., appeared for the plaintiffs and H. F. Pugsley for the defendants.

There is a great amount of talk at Beulah about the recent fire and its origin, and the opinion of many is fully expressed. It has been determined in this instance to lift the matter to the bottom, so that it may be Mr. Cormier's loss will be quite heavy. The hotel was owned by Mr. Irving and there was about $10,000 insurance on the furniture.

Baseball. The ADVANCE is fortunate in not having a base ball expert on its staff, so it has endeavored to get gentlemen having a knowledge of the diamond and who follow the game, to report the contents between Chatham's players and their outside opponents. In every case a report is promised and with equal regularity it does not fail.

We were promised one of Monday's game between the Montreal Starlings and the Chatham Stars, but up to the time of going to press it has not come to hand. We fear that, like Artemus Ward's base ball players, as reporters of the game are "unreliable cases." The Chatham boys beat their opponents on Monday by a score of 8 to 6. They are, we understand, to play a return match at Monton and the ADVANCE hopes to hear of them doing up the railway ball players again.

An Old-Timer's Visit. Of all the men who did business in Chatham during the first half of the past century there is hardly one of their descendants now to be found in the town. Among the number was William Hamilton, who conducted a store in the west end in the building afterwards occupied by the late Donald MacLachlan as a tobacco manufactory. He closed his business about the year 1840 and removed, with his family, to Quebec, where he died a ship chandler business until his death. One day last week his oldest son, James, accompanied by his wife, paid Chatham a visit and saw some of his old friends. He said it was over forty years since he had been in Chatham and he saw great and wonderful improvements in every direction. One of the houses that he visited was the residence of Mrs. Russell, which was his father's old home. During the time Mr. Hamilton, senior, did business in Chatham, the late John Stewart MacLachlan was one of his clerks.

South Africa. STARBURTON, Aug. 21.—A tragic affair occurred recently at a farm north of Volkestrand, in the occupation of a number of Boers who had surrendered to the British, and had been allowed to retain their rifles to protect their stock. Watching their opportunity during the absence of the British patrol in the neighborhood, a body of the enemy under the command of Christian Botha, surrounded the farm house and called upon the occupants to surrender. On being refused Botha's men opened fire, and for some time shots were exchanged on both sides. Botha, the power of the farm, and his son and several other burghers were killed and a number wounded.

When his ammunition was exhausted the remainder surrendered, Christian Botha immediately formed a court-martial to try his former captives. Five were ordered to be shot and are said to have been executed without delay. Four were severely flogged and sent to Valerian, while another was taken prisoner to Amersfort. All the property of the captured men was ordered to be confiscated to the so-called Boer Government.

Shamrock II. Trials. Among the guests who watched the Shamrock from the bridge of the Erin were Captains McKinstry, of the Toronto, Niagara, of the Portland, and Alford, of the Scotia. Speaking to a Herald reporter after the yacht reached her anchorage, Captain McKinstry, representing the party of deep sea sailors, said: "If that boat cannot win you Americans have the greatest wonder ever built. The Shamrock is the fastest thing that travels under sail that we have ever seen."

During the trial that the Shamrock had in these waters every sail has been tried except that of the Flying Dutchman, and on every point except dead before the wind, when a spinaker would be useful. That she can carry canvas in a good blow has been demonstrated, but, while admitting her speed, few are found who will admit that the cup is looked for a passage across the ocean.

Many yachting experts who saw her admit that she is a wonderful boat. All agree that she is the most dangerous craft that has ever crossed in quest of the cup. She gathers way with remarkable rapidity, and is noticeably stiff in the breeze. At no time during the trial did the great rail under even when wearing spinnaker and taking a twelve knot breeze abeam.

She points up a little better than the old Shamrock, and will work within eight degrees of the wind, in fact she did her inside tacks and kept her top fall for a short time. Her sails fly splendidly—in fact taken all in all, they are the best fitting set of sails that ever worked the fluke breeze off of any boat. Today, weather permitting, she will start for the cup and a spinaker will be used for the first time. She is scheduled to leave for her anchorage at ten o'clock.—New York World, Aug. 28.
