DETECTIVE RING.

Died at Moncton Yesterday-Was an Active Man on St. John's Police Force.

Detective John Ring died at Moncton Wednesday morning at his home on Steadman street, after a painful illness of some nine weeks. Droupy was the direct cause of death, but a complication of ailments set in towards the last.

John Ring was a St. John boy from almost infancy, although he was born in New York, and grew up with a generation that has now pretty much passed away. He was a shoemaker by trade and worked in several St. John factories before he joined the police force in 1875. In 1882, under the late John R. Marshall, he was appointed detective, a post that he filled with terror to evil doers for a long period. In the stirring times surrounding the great fire of 1877, John Ring did noble work. Later on he made petty robberies in the city almost an impossibility. He kept the track of every sneak thief and receiver of stolen goods, and was thus able to put the machinery of the law into instant operation whenever a complaint was put in his hands. About a year ago he was appointed chief detective of the L. C. R. between St. John and Sydney, which position he held at the time of his death. John Ring had a host of friends in St. John, but like all police officers of worth, he made some enemies in the discharge of duty.

He leaves a widow and three children, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The remains arrived at St. John Thursday morning on the Maritime express. Members of branch 165, C. M. B. A., attended the funeral in a body.

THE CHATHAM PULP MILL.

Parties Looking it over Last Week.

CHATHAM, Sept. 12.—Harold Harmsworth, of London (Eng.), who is so deeply interested in the pulp mill industry in Canada, and Messrs. George Macdonald and Mason Beaton, also of London, registered at the Adams House, Chatham, Thursday night.

Friday morning, accompanied by Mayor Snowball and Messrs. Fred. Tweedie and R. A. Lawlor, they went through the Maritime pulp mill, which has been closed for the last 13 months.

They made a thorough examination of the works and surroundings, and while they made no statements, they seemed to be favorably impressed. They next went through the J. B. Snowball Company's mill, which is just across the road, with a view of seeing what provision could be made for procuring the waste, in the event of their purchasing the pulp mill.

The party came to Newcastle on Mr. Tweedie's private steam launch and took the day express for Bathurst when they looked over the proposed site for a mill there.

OBITUARY.

Died at Buhl, on September 9.—John Morrissey Quinn in the twenty third year of his age. The remains were brought to Newcastle by his brother Frank and the funeral Sunday was largely attended. The pall bearers were—Leo Harriman, William Ryan, James Murphy, Gilmore Stothart, William Power, and James Stables. The burial services were numerous and beautiful. The funeral was led by the C. M. B. A. Band of which Frank was a member.

The news of this sad accident by which a promising life was so suddenly quenched, deeply grieves the many friends of John Morrissey Quinn. Indeed, the sympathy of the whole community goes out to the fond mother and loving sister and brother and sister into whose life such sorrow has come. 'Tis true that few realize more fully than does this true Christian mother that "Accident is only another name for Providence". But that her grief is deep, intense, poignant does not make her resignation less beautiful, rather more. We feel sure that he who sanctified our sorrows by sharing them, and justified our tears for the departed by his own, will bless the grief which while he mourns, is always rosy with his Fair. Non-quantas Teas. Mrs. Quinn sorrowed not as one who cannot see the "stars shine through her Cypress tree". She knows her darling boy is in the merciful arms of One Who loves him more than a father—even as a mother.

The death of Wm Miller of Doornstown occurred in St. John on Friday last. Mr. Miller was born in Doornstown and for a number of years carried on a saildery business. The remains were brought to Doornstown on Saturday, and interred on Sunday. The burial service was conducted by Rev. D. McIntosh. The pall-bearers were: H. H. Lamont, Geo. Henderson, Robert Jessamine, L. Doyle, P. Swanson and Robt. Simpson.

DIED.

At Buhl, Minn., Sept. 9th, John Morrissey Quinn in the 23rd year of his age. Rest in Peace.

BIG GAME.

The Game Season Opened Monday.

MANY HUNTERS.

Have Proceeded to the Haunts of the Mighty Moose.

The big game season opened on Monday. Prior to that date, however, many sportsmen had arrived and proceeded up river to the haunts of the Moose and Caribou in order to be on the ground for the first day of the hunting season. This year bids fair to exceed all others in the number of big game hunters who will visit this section.

The following parties have already proceeded up river:—

THE COAL STRIKE.

Strikers Attack Workmen—No Change in Wyoming District.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 10.—Two Italians, John Divino and Antonio Dizzi, employed at the Old Forge mine of the Pennsylvania Coal Co. at Old Forge, Pa., were held up by 50 Italian strikers as they were returning from work this morning. Both were clubbed and stoned. Several shots were fired and a striker is reported to have been shot in the leg. Divino's injuries were so serious that he had to be removed to the hospital. Dizzi was able to go to his boarding house. In the Wyoming region today, contrary to reports circulated last night, the coal companies did not make any attempt to start any additional collieries. The washeries that were in operation last week are turning out the usual amount of coal today, but all the big mines are idle.

A Postmaster and a Woman.

The law has a hard hand and an unyielding eye in some of the small and remote communities, and no one is to be taken for granted. A woman, who with a little brief authority, as the town hip of Allegheny, in Pennsylvania, a poor widow, with two children, was employed by a postmaster to work side by side with him for three quarters of a day, having received a letter from the business manager of the town, she was called upon to do so. She was a widow, with two children, and was employed by a postmaster to work side by side with him for three quarters of a day, having received a letter from the business manager of the town, she was called upon to do so.

The death of Wm Miller of Doornstown occurred in St. John on Friday last. Mr. Miller was born in Doornstown and for a number of years carried on a saildery business. The remains were brought to Doornstown on Saturday, and interred on Sunday. The burial service was conducted by Rev. D. McIntosh. The pall-bearers were: H. H. Lamont, Geo. Henderson, Robert Jessamine, L. Doyle, P. Swanson and Robt. Simpson.

A fisherman noticed a lonely lady sitting on a rock at North Berwick, knitting, and remarked to his companion, "That's a lone-one looking woman. She sits on that rock a day or two, she never speaks to a living soul, an' I'd like to see her." "Oh, she's a regular old woman," said the other. "No her, I'd like to see her." "Oh, she's a regular old woman," said the other.

UNCLE SAM'S FLEET SOMEWHAT CRIPPLED.

Several Cruisers Unfit for the Winter Manoeuvres in the Caribbean.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Naval officers are much disappointed at what now promises to be the enforced absence of several of the finest warships from the great winter manoeuvres in the Caribbean Sea. It is now stated as a settled fact that the big cruiser Brooklyn will have to be placed out of commission and will not be able to take part. The Brooklyn will be docked at the New York yard and her repairs are expected to consume the greater part of this month.

The cruiser San Francisco which has been attached to the European station is also reported in bad condition. The New York, flagship of Rear Admiral Rogers, which is coming to San Francisco cannot take part unless in the improbable event of a trip around the Horn. The department expects to place a number of vessels in commission in the next months, the Detroit in September, Newark and Texas about November 3, and the Maine a little later.

THE SKELETON IDENTIFIED.

Mr. Tobin is Satisfied it is Henry Stanley's Remains.

Mr. Abel Tobin went to Mispec on Sunday and with others visited the spot where a skeleton was found last week. The bones had been left where found, awaiting Mr. Tobin's visit. He is thoroughly convinced that they are the remains of his father-in-law, Mr. Henry Stanley, who disappeared from Mispec thirteen years ago. Mr. Tobin was positive as to his identification of the bones which he had himself repaired. He also identified the bowl of the pipe as the bowl of the pipe he had given the old man. The mottled piece was different, but relatives explain that Mr. Stanley did not like the original mottled piece and traded it. A white handled knife was found beneath the bones, and this has been identified as similar to one Mr. Stanley carried. The identification is about as complete and satisfactory as is possible after so many years, and the family to day gave orders to Undertaker Chamberlain to have the remains interred. The coroner does not consider an inquest necessary.—Globe.

GOOD WINDOW DISPLAYS.

Messrs. R. Crestant & Sons have displays in each of the windows of their establishment that are attracting much attention, especially from sportsmen and hunters. Each is a display of hunting goods and arms, arranged by Mr. Jack McAdam, the firm's popular salesman and tasty window dresser. In each window is shown a mounted caribou head. That in the uptown window was shot on the Keswick by W. T. Crestant and was mounted by the Crosby concern of Bangor; and the other head was shot last season by Sidney Thomas on the Miramichi and was mounted by Enack Bros. of Gibson. Of the two heads the latter is the finest specimen and in the opinion of most judges is the better mounted.

Y. M. C. A.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the rooms on Monday night 15th inst.

Bill of Wm. McCallum and Stanley Treatwell for taking care of rooms were read and ordered to be paid. Mr. Pollan is now in charge of the rooms. Some discussion arose as to the advisability of opening smoker room, the matter was deferred to the first Tuesday in October on which date the annual meeting for election of officers and other business takes place. It was decided to open the rooms during the day between the hours of 9 and 4 o'clock, boys who are not members are not to be admitted. A box was placed in the room so that members, wanting to pay their dues when the secretary is not present can do so by placing the amount in an envelope which will be furnished for the purpose and dropping in the box. It is hoped that members who are in arrears will avail themselves of this opportunity to pay up. Some interesting developments will probably take place in the near future in connection with the association. An orchestra that will furnish music at the Sunday afternoon meetings is one of the possibilities. A Sunday morning Bible Class is also talked of and an effort will be made to bring this about.

If the young men of the town will but take hold and show an interest in the association a grand good time may be had during the winter as the room that is prepared to open can be used for a variety of purposes in the way of athletic, games, social, etc. While debates and other meetings of interest can be held once a week. Let us wake up to our responsibilities.

Wanted To Much.

The Long List of Proposals Made by the Boer Generals to Mr. Chamberlain.

Colonial Secretary Refused to Discuss Conditions that had Been Already Agreed Upon.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A parliamentary paper issued this morning gives a full account of the recent conference between Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and the Boer Generals Botha, De la Rey and Delany. Prior to agreeing to the interview which the Boer Generals requested for on Aug. 10, the Colonial Secretary refused a list of subjects which it was desired to discuss, and the Generals forwarded a list of subjects including the following:

Complete amnesty to the rebels.

A yearly grant to all widows and orphans and maimed burghers.

Equal rights for the English and Dutch languages in the schools and courts.

That equal rights with the British be conceded to burghers complying with the terms of surrender, including the right to return to South Africa.

The immediate release of all prisoners of war.

The reinstatement of the officials of the late South African Republics or compensation for their loss of office.

Compensation for all loss occasioned by the British troops by the use, removal, burning, or destruction by other means, of all private property.

The reinstatement of the burghers in the ownership of their farms confiscated or sold under the proclamation of Aug. 7, 1902.

Compensation for loss of the properties of burghers taken by the British authorities.

Payment of the lawful obligations of the late South African Republics, including those incurred during the war.

The recession of the direction to add portion of the Transvaal to Natal.

Granting and extension of time for the payment of all debts due by the burghers of the late government of South African Republics.

Mr. Chamberlain, in replying, expressed great surprise at the number and character of the proposals, pointing out that the conditions agreed on at Vereeniging were duly accepted by the burghers and the British government, and that they could not be reopened nor could proposals rejected at that time be again discussed.

General Botha concluded with an appeal for the widows and orphans, and said he considered that the appropriation of $3,500,000 was inadequate.

Replying to this, Mr. Chamberlain compared Great Britain's treatment of the Boers with the treatment of the south by the north after the civil war in America.

"I would remind the General," said Mr. Chamberlain, "that we have undertaken already more obligations than have ever before been undertaken under similar circumstances. To take one case in my time: I recollect very well the great civil war in America, and I appeal to that because that stands out as a case in which more than ever before, or indeed ever since, the victor, the conquerer, showed a magnanimous and generous feeling to the conquered. There was good reason for this, because they were brothers of the same race, the same religion, the same in everything. It was civil war, but even in that case the northern side, that is to say the victorious side, made no provision whatever, either by way of grants or pension, of allowance to the people who had been wounded, to the side that had been conquered. They gave them their lives and their liberties, and after a period of 10 years gave them votes, but did not give them any money compensation. But we have gone a step beyond that, because we have contributed in addition to all our own enormous expenses a very large sum to relieve those who are really destitute in our colonies. We have done more than I think was expected, and we have done all that we can afford to do, and I think it would be undesirable for the generals to press us any further in this matter either now or in writing.

Proceeding, Mr. Chamberlain reciprocated in the desire expressed by General Botha that they should all live in the future in South Africa.

We want in that country, said the Colonial Secretary, to forget and forgive, because if you think as you well may that you have something to forgive, we also think we have a great deal to forgive. But we want to put all that on the side. The war is over. We each fought as well as we knew how, and there is peace. All we want is to recognize you as fellow subjects with ourselves, working as we shall work for the prosperity and liberty of South Africa. How great the liberty is and how soon complete self government would be extended to South Africa depends entirely on the rapidity with which the animosity dies out.

Mr. Chamberlain concluded with saying that the government would be glad of the co-operation of men like the generals, who had loyally coped with the new situation. As they wanted South Africa to be a happy abiding place for all he felt sure that if the burghers met the British half way they would find them quite as good friends in the future as they had been loyal enemies in the past.

AN OBSTINATE CASE OF ECZEMA

Mr. W. D. Johnston, Tilsonburg, Ont., writes that it is he who was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. His leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. The ointment was a great many remedies used and was treated by first-class doctors in permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

They were discussing suicides and the proneness of different peoples to depart in that way when one of those engaged in the conversation turned to a colored man and asked, "Why is it that so few colored people take their own lives?"

After scratching his head a moment the person addressed responded, "Well, I tell you, boss, when a nigger sits down he don't worry, but goes to sleep."

In a certain town in the eastern states, is a woman who has been married for the third time. Her maiden name was Partridge. Her first husband was a Robin, her second a Crow and her third a Quale. There are two Robins, one Crow and three little Quales in the family. Her grandmother's name was Swan and her grandfather was a Jay, but he has passed away and is now a bird of Paradise, and the man who wrote this is a Lyre bird and an interested member of the family.

Kidney Disease and Backache

Mr. John Cohen, who is in the Fish Business at Fort Hope, states:—"In my business I do a great deal of driving over bad roads and the constant jar of the rig along with exposure to all sorts of weather brought on kidney disease. I was in miserable health and suffered a great deal with sharp pains in my back. I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and decided to try them. Before I had used all of the first box I felt better and three boxes have entirely cured me. I am very glad of an opportunity to recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for I have proven their wonderful control over kidney disease."

It seems unwise to waste money and run the risk of experimenting with new fangled, untried remedies when you know that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will cure you. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A PAGE OF INTEREST TO FARMERS.

Protection Against Adulterated Woolen Demand.

Mr. F. P. Bennett of the Shepherd's Bulletin, Boston, Mass., under date April 25th, 1902, writes:—"The Pacific North West Wool Growers Association at its meeting in 1901, passed strong resolutions against the use of adulterants in woolen goods, and again this year passed resolutions against the use of shoddy." Continuing, he adds,—"It is generally conceded that the wool growing industry is suffering serious injury from adulterant practices in the manufacture and sale of woolen goods inasmuch as such goods contain 60% and even more of shoddy, or other substitutes for wool."

Peruvian cotton worth 14-3-4 c. is used very largely with wool worth 40c per pound scoured, which makes the price of the combination if mixed in equal shares 27-3-8c, being a reduction in the price of about 15-5-8c. The manner of using these adulterants has been so thoroughly manipulated that the quality of the goods until exposed to the sun or weather, is almost identical with that of goods made of pure wool; the manufacturers making wool substitute have increased very largely with in the last three years. We have seen samples of woolen goods 90% substitute or cotton; other samples 80% cotton 20% shoddy, and 20% wool, and the same, as far as mere appearance is concerned, shows up very well.

Mr. McNaughton of New York City, who has had an extensive experience in connection with wool and its uses, in a recent communication to the United States Department of Agriculture, says:—"We all know that the adulteration of wool is very extensively and successfully carried on and while none of us approve of the misrepresentation as to what the goods are yet the fact remains that it is better for some people to have an article with 50p. c. or 30p. c. of wool than not to be able to afford an article with any wool." In an editorial reference to the Shepherd's Bulletin of July 1900, the writer calls attention to the fact that notwithstanding the actual and estimated falling off in output of Australian, South African and South American wool, amounting in the aggregate to 175,000 bales of wool, there was a tremendous decline in prices in the London market, with no certainty that the end was in sight. The writer adds:—"Unquestionably a given amount of wool goes further today than ever before by reason of the growing use of substitutes particularly cotton. If some persons have discovered that the statistical proportion of wool is exceptionally strong, the fact can be largely offset by the mere assertion that the use of wool has been tremendously displaced in the last few years by cotton. We do not mean that cotton has been used in wool fabrics in small amounts, we mean that woolen fabrics are in innumerable instances now composed for the larger part of cotton, if our readers will pardon the apparent contradiction of terms."

I think I have put sufficient information before you to prove that the adulteration of woolen goods, or shall I say the manufacture of spurious goods, sold as woolen goods, is a large and growing practice and that it behoves everyone in the future of sheep husbandry and the clothing of the masses of the people with honest woolen garments, to take up the question thoroughly and endeavor to formulate and carry a legislative enactment which shall place the business on an honest basis, and ensure that goods containing admixtures of shoddy, mungo, cotton, or other foreign material shall be sold as such.

Shallow Cultivation and Rotation. For many years, farmers in Eastern Canada, were grain growers merely. Necessity forced the inception of such a system of agriculture. Habit and ignorance prolonged the practice of such farming. The wonderful strength, and seemingly inexhaustible fertility of the soil made its long continuance possible. The discovery of the possibilities of the North West and the gradual exhaustion of our fields called a halt. Hence, for some years past change has been in the hay (4) hay or pasture. 5 year rotation (1) grain with 10 lbs clover seed to plow down for fertilizers (2) corn and roots (3) grain (4) clover hay (5) hay or pasture. 6 year rotation same as 5 year but left one year longer in pasture.

The reason for surface cultivation and the use of such short rotations as given above is to increase the quantity of and place properly the chief factor making for soil fertility.

Dead vegetable matter exposed to moisture and warmth soon breaks down to a form called humus or black earth, the factors above mentioned. Our prairie and newly cleared soils contain immense quantities of this material. Exposure to heat and the intermixture of earthy matter to waste. Thus, respected grain cropping with deep plowing provide the conditions best calculated to dissipate this matter most rapidly and most effectively.

The functions of this common, yet easily lost, substance are varied and important. Being, as anyone can find out for himself, of the nature of a sponge, it retains the moisture in a dry time, but will allow all superfluous water to rapidly and harmlessly percolate to the lower soil layers.

It holds loose, porous soils together, and so otherwise loose sands become staple and provide a good root hold for plants. It renders dense, impermeable soils open and porous permitting the circulation of air and water and allowing the weak rootlets to penetrate the erstwhile impenetrable space in search of food. In brief, it is the chief requirement of good physical condition in our soils. It contains much plant food, since it is really vegetable matter, and a large percentage of this food is in available forms. It aids also in the conversion of the elements of fertility into available forms. Further, it retains near the surface the dissolved plant food which must otherwise have sunk into the sub-soil.

The most important sources of humus on the average farm are farmyard manure and crop residues. Upon the proper application or use of these materials depends the future of Canadian Agriculture.

Where the supply of humus is limited its location becomes a very important consideration. Now most of our crops draw the greatest part of their food from the surface soil, for, while some roots of most plants penetrate to a considerable depth, most roots of all plants are near the surface. Plants of nearly all descriptions thrive best where the surface soil is mellow and rich in humus. The great crops produced by nearly cleared fields and prairie lands exemplify this, as does also the rank growth of plants in our forests, where the soil is never stirred, or where the annual and smaller perennials must depend for their nourishment upon the surface soil almost exclusively. It would, therefore, seem to be clear that available plant food should be near the surface of our fields and that our surface soil should be in particularly good physical condition of till.

How to secure these two requirements of rapid, rank and desirable plant growth must, therefore, be the first consideration of every would-be successful farmer. Experiment and long practice seem to prove that shallow cultivation and some rotation, more especially the 3 year or the 4 year in dry districts and the 5 year in rainy districts, are most serviceable in increasing the humus in the surface soil, and so "improving the physical condition" which means "increasing the productivity" of our fields.

est regard to the requirements of the foreign market the Department is not sacrificing the legitimate home markets; because if the produce be equal to the necessities of the European consumers it must of necessity be all that the home consumer can desire. In this way the advocacy of perfection catches two birds in one trap.

The apple grower is anxious to get the most out of his orchards, but sometimes circumstances combine to thwart his well-intentioned efforts, and to help him out of his difficulties this article issued. The Department thus takes a hand in fighting some of his deadliest foes provided he is willing to wield the edgels provided for his succor.

There are four kinds of insect enemies against whom the apple-grower has to fight. There are those which devour the foliage, those which bore in the wood, those which occur in the bark and those which attack the fruit. But all insects fall within two classes, which can be separated by the nature of their mouth parts. In the intelligent use of remedies a consideration of this point is of the utmost importance. In the class of biting insects, which have jaws with which they consume the substance of their food, such as caterpillars, all that is necessary is to place on the food filant some poisonous material which will be eaten with the food. For this purpose various alkaline or strong-smelling detergent washes may be used.

It cannot be too forcibly emphasized that the operation of "spraying" does not mean sprinkling or showering. Spraying means applying liquids by means of a force pump and spraying nozzle with such force as to break up the liquid so thoroughly that it falls upon the plants treated as an actual mist or spray. Unless you carefully spray and not sprinkle you cannot get an even distribution of liquids, therefore you cannot get the best results.

The remedies are numbered for easy reference, and to avoid confusion.

1. Kerosene Emulsion—Dissolve half a pound of whale-oil soap in one gallon of rainwater by boiling; take from fire and while hot turn in two gallons of kerosene and churn briskly for five minutes. Before using add nine parts of water.

2. Paris Green—One pound of Paris green and one pound of fresh lime, and add to 200 gallons of water. For dry application, take one pound of Paris green, with 50 pounds of flour, and plaster, slack, or any other dry powder.

3. Whale-oil soap—For young insects (scale) use one pound in 5 gallons of water. For Aphids—use one pound in 3 gallons of water. For San Jose Scale—in winter use 2 pounds in one gallon of water.

4. Tobacco and Soap Wash (For plant-lice or aphids)—Soak in hot water for a few hours 10 pounds of tobacco leaves (some grown will do); strain off and add two pounds of whale-oil soap. Strain until it is dissolved and dilute to 40 gallons. Apply early and two or three times at short intervals.

APPLES AND THEIR ENEMIES. The demand for Canadian apple of good quality and in good condition is an ever-increasing one, and in Great Britain the market seems to be unlimited, while the prospects for opening and continuing an extensive trade with other European countries are equally promising. Canadian fruit-growers, packers and shippers are exhorted to see that the fruit that is exported is well and honestly packed, and that it is of such a quality that the demand shall not only equal our most sanguine expectations, but more than fulfil the desires of the most hopeful growers. BOLD BANK ROBBERY.

Bank of New Brunswick's Branch at East Florenceville Broken into on Saturday Night.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Sept. 14.—News received this morning of a most serious burglary up river. It appears that last night the building in which the business of the Bank of New Brunswick is carried on at East Florenceville was broken into and $5,000 in cash and securities was stolen.

HOULDS, Me., Sept. 14.—The Florenceville National Bank was broken into and robbed by three professional burglars during last night and $2,000 was secured. Deputy Sheriff Foster of Carleton county, the officers of the bank and Deputy Sheriff Barnett of Bridgewater started after the men and traced them to Harvey station, 12 miles above here. Word was sent here and officers have gone up the Bangor and Aroostook line in the hope of intercepting them.—Sun.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Sept. 15.—The Florenceville bank burglars are now said to be surrounded. Sheriff Hayward received word to-day that the men had been traced to the barn in Bridgewater, where some evidence in the shape of negotiable paper was found. They were then followed up to a place in Maine, known as the Litchton Swamp. Here last night a posse made up of a party from this side, including Deputy Sheriff Foster and a party of officers from Aroostook county opened fire on the fugitives, who responded actively in kind. The duel was kept up quite a while and resumed again this morning. Sheriff Hayward sent at request to Lytleton this morning a posse of four men, including his son and William Johnson, of Debec, armed with rifles. Reinforcements have also gone from Houlton. The burglars are evidently well armed and desperate and there is much anxiety over the outcome. It is thought they will be trapped, but perhaps not without bloodshed.

Mr. J. Morris Robinson, vice-President of the bank, talking with the Globe today, said the amount stolen was considerably overestimated. There was little, if anything, over $1,000 in the safe, he says. The robbery, however, will put the bank to considerable trouble. Of course, every effort will be made to trace and capture the burglars.

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

Chased by a Mother Bear. On one occasion Alex Tremblay, the Perry Sound hunter and trapper, took a number of traps out to set district. Leaving his musket and ever of a small lake, in the Perry Sound them at various points on the shores everything but traps and a tomahawk in the canoe he went ashore, and was returning after setting his last trap, when he saw a bear cub running around in an open patch of ground. He went towards it, and the little animal seeing him, climbed up a tree, and snatched on a branch about twenty feet above the ground gravely regarding its pursuer. Mr. Tremblay cut a pole some eighteen or twenty inches in length, attached a slip cord to it, and dangled it in front of the cub. The latter at first sniffed suspiciously at the contrivance but unable to resist the temptation attempted to hit the dangling loop with one of its little paws. The next moment the paw was caught, and the cub was gently lowered to the ground, protesting against the indignity with faint squeakings. The loop was quickly unfastened. Mr. Tremblay took the cub in his arms and started to walk leisurely towards his canoe. Then the squeak of the little captive was suddenly answered by a deeper cry. Mr. Tremblay saw the mother of the bear coming toward him at full speed. "Then he's (I) run," says Mr. Tremblay when telling the story, "never so fast in her's life." Straight to the canoe he ran, threw the cub into the craft, seized his musket, turned and shot the mother bear, which was within ten paces of him. The cub thrived in captivity, and was afterwards sold to a Hudson Bay factor. When asked why he did not throw the cub away as soon as the chase commenced, he answered smilingly, "He's not t'ink about dat until cets all done."

BRITISH TEAM WINS.

OTTAWA, Sept. 14.—The Palma trophy was won yesterday on the Rockcliffe range by the British team by a score of 12 points over the Americans and 86 points over the Canadians.

At the 800 yards it seemed to be certain that the Americans were to capture the trophy, they being 22 points ahead of the British, but at the 900 yards the British lead by 34 points.

The highest individual score was made by Holcomb, of the American team.

General Spencer replied to the toast of the American team, and in reply to the statement that the English speaking people were brothers and would stand by each other in adversity, said that when the United States had its little parlor game on with the Spanish Britain said to other countries "Hands off," and if Britain was in the same position and President Roosevelt at the head of affairs, he would say "Hands off-by God." (Cheers).

Lord Minto said that he had received that morning a letter from President Roosevelt congratulating him on having had the privilege of reviewing recently a United States battalion along with a Canadian regiment and part of a Hong Kong regiment on Parliament Hill, which he (Roosevelt) regarded as historical.

The following are the scores at the different ranges:—

DR. McLEAN ON INDIANS.

Some interesting information about these of the West. Rev. Dr. McLean, of Carman, Man., in a recent talk on our Northwest Indians said that when he first went west he had not mastered the Indian language so to speak the Gospel he had to employ an interpreter.

Dr. McLean tells of the effect of the climate upon the Indian. Along the rugged coast of British Columbia the red man was short in stature and vigorous in action, with strong passions and a nature artistic.

The languages of the different races of the Indians were spoken of by Dr. McLean in a most interesting way.

In the mind of Dr. McLean the Cree language is just as beautiful as the Greek. The struggles of Dr. McLean in mastering the language were told in a most interesting way.

Next Dr. McLean dealt with the history of the Indian missions of the Northwest. The work was begun in 1814 at Norway house, when James Evans tramped out to that point.

It was George McBoagall who started the mission in the "Devil's Playground, close to the Old Man's River in Alberta, where previous to the eighties the buffalo roamed in great numbers.

The Indians of the west had three kinds of schools—day schools, boarding school and industrial schools.

Dr. McLean said that civilization was finding its way among the red men. He had influenced an Indian chief to bury his son. The Indian, however, would only have the body placed a foot under ground.

AT CAMP IRENE.

A sketchy talk by one of the Canadian teachers who went to South Africa to teach their children.

At last, after five nights on the train, we arrived on Saturday morning, June 1st, at Camp Irene, from which we were to be sent to our different destinations.

We were met by Mr. Barry, the head master, and some of his staff, and from that moment until the day we got our marching orders we received the utmost consideration from whom we met.

There were all sorts of merry-makings that week, partly in our honor, and partly to celebrate the peace.

Then there was an oxcart picnic, where we sat on mattresses—about twenty of us—a huge wagon that seemed to be quite without springs, and jolted joltingly over the rough road.

There was one little girl who appeared very strange to my sympathies, because she seemed to be humiliated, a thing very unusual among these sturdy, straight-shouldered dwellers in the open air.

Affairs In Europe. CHANGE AT WINDSOR.

New French League. British Cross. An Interesting Personage.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—For the first time in the history of Windsor Castle a notice has been issued that by command of the King, after Sept. 9 no one will be admitted to view the state apartments without a ticket, which will be obtainable at the inspector's office at the castle at a charge of one shilling, except in case of charitable societies, for which the charge will be half price. Money derived in this way will be devoted, by command of the King, to local charities.

Order has caused deep disquiet at Windsor, where it is thought that the thousands of visitors who visit the place expressly to view the royal castle will now stay away, and that will seriously affect the town trade.

The King's yachting trip has been confined this week to the west coast of Scotland and remote anchorages, in order to secure respite from such loyal receptions as he received on the Isle of Man. He has only visited inaccessible places, thereby securing perfect quietness. His health has greatly improved.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Count Boni de Castellane, his father and two brothers have joined the league to refuse to pay taxes, an outgrowth of the government's closing of the Catholic schools.

The members say that inasmuch as the state encroaches on public liberties, they no longer ought to pay for public services.

The defenders of the new law against the monastic orders answer, first, that liberty can never be construed as a right to disobey the law; and, second, that the notion that parents have absolute authority over a child is obsolete and barbaric, for the state owes protection to children against noxious paternal prejudices.

The fight between the government and unwilling taxpayers promises endless complications. Although the league was only started two weeks ago, its membership is said to be increasing by thousands every day.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Owing to constant heavy rains in the past six weeks the harvest in Great Britain will be the worst since 1875. The wheat, corn, hop and fruit crops in the southern sections are of almost total failure, and the farmers are facing an extremely gloomy prospect.

In Warwickshire special prayers are being offered daily for relief from rain. Destructive gales and floods have prevailed throughout the United Kingdom this week.

At Belfast, in the north of Ireland, the water rose to a height of 6 feet in the business part of the city. In many of the streets the children threw off their clothing and went swimming.

Boys with hand carts did a thriving business in wheeling women and girls about the streets.

The tents of four batteries of artillery encamped at Okehampton, Devonshire, were completely blown away and the soldiers were compelled to pass the night without shelter.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Perceval Pollard, an American playwright and novelist, was walking along a street in Nienna recently, when he was stabbed in the shoulder from behind by a young Austrian, whose sister had complained to him that an unknown American daily annoyed her on the street.

Hearing Pollard speak English and noticing that he was partly bald, as his sister described the Austrian attacked him and was about to stab him the second time, when Pollard shrieked and turned around. Then the offended girl saw that her brother had attacked the wrong person and warded off the blow.

Mr. Pollard bled profusely, but the wound proved to be slight. He accepted the apologies offered, and begged the officers who rushed up to deal leniently with his assailant. He regards the experience as of great value to him from a literary point of view.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Harry Panure Gordon, who died this week at Naheim, was one of the most interesting personalities on the London stock exchange.

In the course of his extensive travels he visited the United States and afterward wrote a book on his impressions of that country, which had a large circulation here.

He was called the "grand seigneur of the city."

He had a princely way of surrounding himself with luxuries. He is credited with having spent $10,000 a month on himself, but his taste was so good that there was no vulgar ostentation.

Two thousand pounds a month pays for the necessities of life for a gentleman—clothes, horses, carriages, yacht, grocer, moor, country place and all that. You know, of course, if you want luxuries, it costs more."

He had an extraordinary mania for clothes. It is estimated that in a fire at his country place three years ago he lost 1,100 neckties. At one time he is said to have had more than 600 pairs of trousers, while new boots stood in rows and rows in cupboards.

He had thirteen new overcoats all at once, the story goes which he never even looked at, and 50 new suits and umbrellas.

While he lived in Brighton he drove from his house to the railroad station in correct riding costume entered a private saloon, where during the fifty mile run to London a servant in waiting helped him change his clothes to city attire, drove to his office in a brougham, and if it was a wet day donned another pair of new trousers after lunch.

His greatest hobby of all was collecting every conceivable kind of carriage in a magnificent coach house on his country place. His passion for novelties in this direction took him all over the world.

In the lot was a complete kitchen on wheels. Every article in it was made of polished copper, and a travelling chef could cook all the courses for an elaborate repast. Attached to it was a beautifully appointed dining car. This caravan—which Mr. Gordon frequently used on his fishing and shooting tours in Scotland—could be drawn either by horses or a motor car.

Mr. Gordon was a remarkably shrewd business man. At the time of the bursting of Lipton's bubble, he originated the plan of

FERROZONE WILL GIVE YOU AN APPETITE, AND WITH APPETITE AND GOOD DIGESTION COMES HEALTH & STRENGTH

Ferrozone will in one week give you a splendid appetite, and will so improve digestion and assimilation, that full benefit will be derived from everything eaten.

There is nothing like Ferrozone to create a keen healthy relish for food for the blood, and a tone for the nerves and brain. To those leading a sedentary life it is a perfect tonic.

The revered Dennis O'Brien, D. D., the well known Evangelist says of Ferrozone: "I have pleasure in saying that I have found Ferrozone a remarkably good preparation. It keeps up one's appetite, cures nervousness and sleeplessness, and perhaps is the very best tonic I have used. Being in the form of chocolate coated tablet, it is both pleasant and convenient to take and is well worthy of my highest recommendation."

This is an example of the way people speak of Ferrozone who have used it, and should be convincing evidence of its unusual merit. It is warranted to cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Catarrh, and all other diseases arising from impurities of blood or nerve tone. Refuse to accept a substitute for Ferrozone. Every druggist sells it 50c. per box, or three for $1.25. Prepared by N. C. Polson & Co., Hartford, Conn., and Kingston, Ont.

charging the shareholders five shillings a share premium. This is said to have resulted in a net personal gain for Lipton of a quarter of a million sterling.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The pardon just granted to Lieut. Mattiasch Keglevich, who eloped with Princess Louise of Coburg, the eldest daughter of the King of the Belgians, was brought about, it is thought here, by the ceaseless agitation of Frenchmen in his behalf.

The Emperor of Austria, it was understood, always thought the lovers somewhat excusable, in view of the ill-treatment of the Princess by her husband, but the exemplary King Leopold sternly insisted on their punishment. Hence the long incarceration of both—Louise under the pretext of insanity; the lieutenant after a farcical trial on the preposterous charge of forgery.

Keglevich was interviewed in Vienna as soon as he was liberated, and told the correspondent of the Paris Journal that he had been tortured in his fortress prison under the personal supervision of the Princess's husband, until a Hungarian deputy, M. Daseynski, voicing the humane sentiments of international sympathizers, openly demanded in the diet an investigation into what he styled "low, disgraceful, barbaric processes of revenge."

The lieutenant declares that he still loves Princess Louise; that he has constantly refused to promise not to see her if set at liberty, as he considers it his duty to devote his life to atoning for the sufferings of the woman who sacrificed everything for her love of him, and that he will seek legal redress for his unjust military degradation and imprisonment for alleged forgery. He calls himself the Hungarian Dreyfus.

Princess Louise is free now, too, and is living closely guarded in Hamburg.

It is believed that the lieutenant who left Vienna yesterday, will find it impossible to approach the Princess.

Intestinal Indigestion

There are forms of indigestion and dyspepsia which can never be reached by ordinary stomach medicines and so-called digestants. The kidneys and liver are involved, and though the stomach may be all right, it is the part of digestion which takes place in the intestines that is imperfect.

All over the country are people who are suffering from just this kind of indigestion. They don't get well, because they don't use the right medicine. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are admirably suited for this very trouble. They act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, remove the cause, and make a permanent cure of intestinal indigestion, backache, and diseases of the filtering and excretory organs. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are vegetable in composition, and remarkably prompt and effective in action. They are kept in thousands of homes as a standard medicine, and have proven by years of trial to be without a rival. One pill a day, 25 cents a box. At all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

ANOTHER TESTIMONY. To the merits of GATES' MEDICINES. Black River, July 4, 1902. MESSRS. C. GATES, SON & CO., Middleton, N. S.

Dear Sirs:—Not long ago I had a severe sore on my leg, which became so troublesome that I was obliged to go to the hospital at St. John. After remaining some time, however, I left no better, notwithstanding the careful treatment there received, your agent here, Mr. R. Power, then asked me to try Gates' Medicines.

I began a course of your Bitters and Syrup to purify my blood and make external applications of your Nerve Ointment and Canadian Liniment to the sore. When I had used 6 bottles of Syrup, 6 boxes of Ointment and 2 bottles of Liniment the sore had entirely disappeared from my leg which was completely healed except a very small spot. I feel very grateful for the wonderful cure this effected and I certainly think your medicines 'can't be beat.

PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

Is the Medicine That Has Made Thousands of Country Tillers Well and Strong.

There are thousands of farmers in our land who are rich in broad acres and gold yet lack that true wealth known as good health. It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from cool bubbling fountains and limpid springs, are liable to the same diseases and ailments that come thick and fast to city people.

Well Authenticated Opinion That It will be Swallowed up.

FRUITS OF FREEDOM.

Canada to Play a Great Part in the Future of the Empire—A Gracious to Feed the Masses.

The Colonial Premiers and their Ministers were dined by the Canadian Club of London at the Trocadero restaurant. Lord Strathcona presided. It is astonishing the amount of vitality in the High Commissioner. He moves about and talks like a man at fifty. The Lord Mayor was there, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Edmund Barton, Sir Robert Bond, Sir William Mulock, Hon. W. Patterson, Hon. S. Fielding, Lord Derby, Lord Ashbourne, Sir John Anderson, Mr. C. M. Hays, Hon. Dr. Montague, General Haly, Hon. H. T. Dunlop, Hon. H. Peters, Hon. F. Haultain, Mr. J. S. Colmer, C.M.G., and quite a distinguished company.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was loudly cheered, after expressing his appreciation of the overwhelming amount of English hospitality, and of the kind terms in which the Lord Mayor had referred to him, went on to say that his Lordship had spoken of Canada in language of great enthusiasm, but great as his encomium was, Canada deserved it all.

The Lord Mayor had said that the free institutions with which they were blessed in 1867 had maintained the loyalty of Canada. They had done more—they had enhanced the loyalty of Canada. (Cheers.) This was a free country, and a man was always welcome to speak his mind so that 6,000 people were turned away last year through lack of hotel accommodations.

It is a common remark among Americans who visit the Muskoka region that it is not fully appreciated by Canadians themselves. Its beautiful lakes and picturesque scenery are not to be equaled anywhere on the continent. The result is a greater rush of Americans there every summer—so much so that 6,000 people were turned away last year through lack of hotel accommodations.

There are at present something like 125 hotels in Muskoka with a total accommodation for 7,000 people. That ought to be doubled and tripled very quickly with good management, and those who cater especially to the wants and wishes of American guests will have little cause to complain. There is no good reason why millions of dollars should not be spent in Canada every summer by American tourists, but that means something different from ordinary slipshod methods and something better than the average hotel accommodations.

There are 717 co-operative cheese and butter factories in Canada, where the farmers erect and equip the factories, and the Government undertakes to manufacture a good article at a cost of 21 cents a pound to cover all expenses in building, painting, they export $25,000,000 worth to Great Britain annually from these factories.

A teaspoonful of lemon juice in a small cupful of black coffee will almost certainly relieve a bilious headache.

THE HERO OF KARS.

Brief Sketch of the Career of Sir William Fenwick Williams.

The career of a brilliant Canadian ended on July 26th, 1883, by the death of Sir William Fenwick Williams. He was born at Halifax, N.S., and is known familiarly as the hero of Kars. When a Colonel of engineers he was engaged in defining the Russo-Persian boundary, and was appointed British Military Commissioner with the Turkish army in Asia in 1854. He reached Kars, a town in Asiatic Turkey, in September, and found the Turks wholly disorganized, but with indefatigable energy he corrected abuses, got rid of corrupt officials and endeavored himself to the Turkish army.

In June, 1855, the Russian General Mouraviev, with 40,000 infantry and 10,000 cavalry, besieged Kars. The garrison of which General Williams numbered 15,000 men, with three months' provisions and three days' ammunition. The siege lasted until the end of November, of the same year, when after one of the most heroic defenses on record, in which his men suffered greatly from disease and lack of food, he was forced to capitulate. A grand assault of the Russians two months before resulted in a loss to them of 6,000 men, and it was only through famine that the gallant garrison was overcome. Even General Mouraviev, the commander of the besieging army, generously expressed his appreciation of his opponent's defence by saying: "General Williams, you have made yourself a name in history; nobility will stand amazed at the endurance, the courage and the discipline which this siege has called forth in the remains of the army. Let us arrange a capitulation that will satisfy the demands of war without disgracing humanity." General Williams was detained in Russia as a prisoner until peace was declared when he was given a Baronetcy and an annuity of £7,000.

Hon. C. W. Robinson, Moncton, has received a letter from Mr. Warren Campbell announcing the death of Mrs. J. W. Oulton at Los Angeles on the first inst. The letter states that Mrs. Oulton had been failing for some time, and sank very rapidly the last few days. Last Monday, as Mr. David Blakely, of Napan, was riding home on a sloven, he fell off a bag of oats on which he was sitting, and his head caught between the wheel and the side of the sloven. His neck was found to be dislocated when the doctors made an examination. He was paralyzed below the seat of the injury, and could take no food of any kind. On Wednesday, Dr. McDonald rigged up a tackle for the purpose and hauled the dislocated parts back into position. After this was done the sufferer swallowed some milk, but was still devoid of all feeling below the injured place. Mr. Blakely is married and has three children. He was injured, three years ago, by falling in exactly the same way and lost an ear on that occasion.—World.

DETECTIVE RING.

Died at Moncton Yesterday—Was an Active Man on St. John's Police Force.

Detective John Ring died at Moncton Wednesday morning at his home on Steadman street, after a painful illness of some nine weeks. Drury was the direct cause of death, but a complication of ailments set in towards the last.

John Ring was a St. John boy from almost infancy, although he was born in New York, and grew up with a generation that has now pretty much passed away. He was a shoemaker by trade and worked in several St. John factories before he joined the police force in 1875. In 1882, under the late John R. Marshall, he was appointed detective, a post that he filled with terror to evil-doers for a long period. In the stirring times surrounding the great fire of 1877, John Ring did noble work. Later on he made petty robberies in the city almost an impossibility. He kept the track of every sneak thief and receiver of stolen goods, and was thus able to put the machinery of the law into instant operation whenever a complaint was put in his hands.

About a year ago he was appointed chief detective of the L. C. R. between St. John and Sydney, which position he held at the time of his death. John Ring had a host of friends in St. John, but like all police officers of worth, he made some enemies in the discharge of duty.

He leaves a widow and three children. He leaves a widow and three children, who have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement. The remains arrived at St. John Thursday morning on the Maritime express. Members of branch 165, C. M. B. A., attended the funeral in a body.

THE CHATHAM PULP MILL.

Parties Looking it over Last Week.

CHATHAM, Sept. 12.—Harold Harnsworth, of London (Eng.), who is so deeply interested in the pulp mill industry in Canada, and Messrs. George Mawson and Mason Beeton, also of London, registered at the Adams House, Chatham, Thursday night.

Friday morning, accompanied by Mayor Snowball and Messrs. Fred. Tweedie and R. A. Lawlor, they went through the Maritime pulp mill, which has been closed for the last 13-months.

They made a thorough examination of the works and surroundings, and while they made no statement, they seemed to be favorably impressed.

They next went through the J. B. Snowball Company's mill, which is just across the road, with a view of seeing what provision could be made for procuring the waste, in the event of their purchasing the pulp mill.

The party came to Newcastle on Mr. Tweedie's private steam launch and took the day express for Bathurst when they looked over the proposed site for a mill there.

OBITUARY.

Died at Bath, on September 9—John Morrissey Quinn in the twenty-third year of his age. The remains were brought to Newcastle by his brother Frank and the funeral Sunday was largely attended. The pall bearers were—Leo Harriman, William Ryan, James Murphy, Gilmore Stewart, William Power, and James Stables. The floral offerings were numerous and beautiful. The funeral was led by the C. M. B. A. Band of which Frank was a member.

The news of this sad accident by which a promising life was so suddenly quenched, deeply grieves the many friends of John Morrissey Quinn. Indeed, the sympathy of the whole community goes out to the fond mother and loving sister and brother and sister into whose life such sorrow has come. To trace that few realize more fully than does this truly Christian mother that "Accident is only another name for Providence." But that her grief is deep, intense, poignant does not make her resignation less beautiful, rather so. We feel sure that he who sanctified our sorrows by sharing them, and justified our tears for the departed by his own, will bless the grief which while it mourns, is always ready with its Fiat. Vonantus Deus. Mrs. Quinn serves not as one who cannot see the "stars shine through her Cypress tree." She knows her darling boy is in the merciful arms of One Who loves him more than a father—even as a mother.

The death of Wm Miller of Douglstown occurred in St. John on Friday last. Mr. Miller was born in Douglstown and for a number of years carried on a saddlery business. The remains were brought to Douglstown on Saturday, and interred on Sunday. The burial service was conducted by Rev. D. McLintosh. The pall-bearers were: H. H. Lamont, Geo. Henderson, Robert Jessiman, L. Doyle, P. Swanson and Robt. Simpson.

DIED.
At Bath, Minn., Sept. 9th, John Morrissey Quinn in the 23rd year of his age. Rest in Peace.

Prior to that date, however, many sportsmen had arrived and proceeded up river to the haunts of the Moose and Caribou in order to be on the ground for the first day of the hunting season. THE COAL STRIKE.

Strikers Attack Workmen—No Change in Wyoming District.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 10.—Two Italians, John Divino and Antonio Dizzi, employed at the Old Forge mine of the Pennsylvania Coal Co. at Old Forge, Pa., were held up by 50 Italian strikers as they were returning from work this morning. Both were clubbed and stoned. Several shots were fired and a striker is reported to have been shot in the leg. Divino's injuries were so serious that he had to be removed to the hospital. Dizzi was able to go to his boarding house.

In the Wyoming region today, contrary to reports circulated last night, the coal companies did not make any attempt to start any additional colliers. The washeries that were in operation last week are turning out the usual amount of coal today, but all the big mines are idle.

A Pathmaster and a Woman.

The law has a hard hand and a heavy heart in some of its spheres and remote communities, and no man is so exacting as the one who sits with a little hard authority. In the town of Altamont, in this county, a poor widow, with three children, was compelled by a highway contractor to work eight days a week for three quarters, to a distance of 15 miles, in a place where the only road was a narrow path, and the contractor was to have the right to use the path for his own purposes. The contractor was to have the right to use the path for his own purposes. The contractor was to have the right to use the path for his own purposes.

Wife's Death.

A fisherman noticed a lonely lady sitting on a rock at North Berwick, looking and remarking to his companion, "That's a homely looking woman. She sits on that rock a day and night, she never speaks to a living soul, and she's much to be pitied." "And what's she doing there?" "No one has seen her but she's a gander!"—Dunfermline.

UNCLE SAM'S FLEET SOMEWHAT CRIPPLED.

Several Cruisers Unfit for the Winter Manoeuvres in the Caribbean.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—Naval officers are much disappointed at what now promises to be the enforced absence of several of the finest warships from the great winter manoeuvres in the Caribbean Sea. It is now stated as a settled fact that the cruiser Brooklyn will have to be placed in the commission yard, and will not be able to take part. The Brooklyn will be docked at the New York yard and her repairs are expected to consume the greater part of this month.

The cruiser San Francisco which has been attached to the European station is also reported in bad condition.

The New York, flagship of Rear Admiral Rogers, which is coming to San Francisco cannot take part unless in the improbable event of a trip around the Horn. The department expects to place a number of vessels in commission in the next few months, the Detroit in September, the Newark and Texas about November 3, and the Maine a little later.

THE SKELETON IDENTIFIED

Mr. Tobin is Satisfied it is Henry Stanley's Remains.

Mr. Abel Tobin went to Mispic on Sunday and with others visited the spot where a skeleton was found last week. The bones had been left where found, awaiting Mr. Tobin's visit. He is thoroughly convinced that they are the remains of his father-in-law, Mr. Henry Stanley, who disappeared from Mispic thirteen years ago. Mr. Tobin was positive as to his identification of the bones which he had himself repaired. He also identified the bowl of the pipe as the bowl of the pipe he had given the old man. The mouthpiece was different, but relatives explain that Mr. Stanley did not like the original mouthpiece and traded it. A white handled knife was found beneath the bones, and this has been identified as similar to one Mr. Stanley carried. The identification is about as complete and satisfactory as is possible after so many years, and the family to day gave orders to Undertaker Chamberlain to have the remains interred. The coroner does not consider an inquest necessary.—Globe.

GOOD WINDOW DISPLAYS.

Messrs. R. Chestnut & Sons have displays in each of the windows of their establishment that are attracting much attention, especially from sportsmen and hunters. Each is a display of hunting goods and arms, arranged by Mr. Jack McAdam, the firm's popular salesman and tawny window dresser. In each window is shown a mounted osprey head. That in the upper window was shot on the Keswick by W. L. Chestnut and was mounted by the Crosby concern of Bangor; and the other head was shot last season by Sidney Thomas on the Miramichi and was mounted by Enock Bros. of Gibson. Of the two heads the latter is the finest specimen and in the opinion of most judges in the letter mentioned.

Y. M. C. A.

A meeting of the Executive Committee was held in the rooms on Monday night 15th inst.

Bill of Wm. McCullam and Stanley Broadwell for taking care of rooms were read and ordered to be paid. Mr. Follansbee is now in charge of the rooms. Some discussion arose as to the advisability of opening another room; the matter was deferred to the first Tuesday in October on which date the annual meeting for election of officers and other business takes place.

It was decided to open the rooms during the day between the hours of 9 and 4 o'clock, days when no members are not to be admitted. A notice was placed in the rooms that members wishing to pay their dues when the secretary is not present can do so by placing the amount in an envelope which will be furnished for the purpose and dropping in the box. It is hoped that members who are in arrears will avail themselves of this opportunity to pay up. Some interesting developments will probably take place in the near future in connection with the association. An orchestra that will furnish music at the Sunday afternoon meetings is one of the possibilities. A Sunday morning Bible Class is also talked of and an effort will be made to bring this about.

If the young men of the town will but take hold and show an interest in the association a grand good time may be had during the winter as the room that is prepared to open can be used for a variety of purposes in the way of athletics, games, social, etc. Will's debates and other meetings of interest can be held every week. But we wake up to our responsibilities.

Wanted To Much.

The Long List of Proposals Made by the Boer Generals to Mr. Chamberlain.

Colonial Secretary Refused to Discuss Conditions that had Been Already Agreed Upon.

LONDON, Sept. 10.—A parliamentary paper issued this morning gives a full account of the recent conference between Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and the Boer Generals Botha, De Wet and Delany. Prior to agreeing to the interview which the Boers asked for on Aug. 10, the Colonial Secretary refused a list of subjects which it was desired to discuss, and the Generals forwarded a list of subjects including the following:

Complete amnesty to the rebels.

A yearly grant to all widows and orphans and maimed burghers.

Equal rights for the English and Dutch languages in the schools and courts.

That equal rights with the British be conceded to burghers complying with the terms of surrender, including the right to return to South Africa.

The immediate release of all prisoners of war.

The reinstatement of the officials of the late South African Republics or compensation for their loss of office.

Compensation for all loss occasioned by the British troops by the use, removal, burning, or destruction by other means, of all private property.

The reinstatement of the burghers in the ownership of their farms confiscated or sold under the proclamation of Aug. 7, 1902.

Compensation for loss of the properties of burghers taken by the British authorities.

Payment of the lawful obligations of the late South African Republics, including those incurred during the war.

The recession of the Transvaal to add a portion of the Drakensberg to Natal.

Granting and extension of time for the payment of all debts due by the burghers of the late government of South African Republics.

Mr. Chamberlain, in reply, expressed great surprise at the number and character of the proposals, pointing out that the conditions agreed on at Vereeniging were duly accepted by the burghers and the British government, and that they could not be reopened nor could proposals rejected at that time be again discussed.

General Botha concluded with an appeal for the widows and orphans, and said he considered that the appropriation of $3,500,000 was inadequate.

Replying to this, Mr. Chamberlain compared Great Britain's treatment of the Boers with the treatment of the south by the north after the civil war in America.

"I would remind the General," said Mr. Chamberlain, "that we have undertaken already more obligations than have ever before been undertaken under similar circumstances. To take one case in my time: I recollect very well the great civil war in America, and I appeal to that because that stands out as a case in which more than ever before, or indeed ever since, the victor, the conqueror, showed a magnanimous and generous feeling to the conquered. There was good reason for this, because they were brothers of the same race, the same religion, the same in everything. It was civil war, but even in that case the northern side, that is to say the victorious side, made no provision whatever, either by way of grants or pension, of allowance to the people who have been wounded, to the side that had been conquered. They gave them their lives and their liberties, and after a period of 10 years gave them votes, but did not give them any money compensation. But we have gone a step beyond that, because we have contributed in addition to all our own enormous expenses a very large sum to relieve those who are really destitute in our colonies. We have done more than I think was expected; and we have done all that we can afford to do, and I think it would be undesirable for the generals to press us any further in this matter either now or in writing.

Proceeding, Mr. Chamberlain reciprocated in the desire expressed by General Botha that they should all live in the future in South Africa.

We want in that country, said the Colonial Secretary, to forget and forgive, because if you think as you will may that you have something to forgive, we also think we have a great deal to forgive. But we want to put all that on the side. The war is over. We each fought as well as we knew how, and there is peace. All we want is to recognize you as fellow subjects with ourselves, working as we shall work for the prosperity and liberty of South Africa. How great the liberty is and how soon complete self government would be extended to South Africa depends entirely on the rapidity with which the animosity dies out.

Mr. Chamberlain concluded with saying that the government would be glad of the co-operation of men like the generals, who had loyally cooped with the new situation. As they wanted South Africa to be a happy abiding place for all he felt sure that if the burghers met the British half way they would find them quite as good friends in the future as they had been loyal enemies in the past.

AN OBSTINATE CASE OF ECZEMA

Mr. W. D. Johnston, Toronto, Ont., writes that he is her was entirely cured of a long standing and obstinate case of Eczema by the use of Dr. Chase's Ointment. He had a leg and foot were a mass of sores that refused to heal and he suffered terribly from the itching and stinging. The ointment he used a great many remedies and was treated by the best doctors in permanent relief was obtained until he used Dr. Chase's Ointment.

They were discussing suicides and the proneness of different peoples to depart in that way when one of those engaged in the conversation turned to a colored man and asked, Why is it that so few colored people take their own lives?

After scratching his head a moment the person addressed responded, Well, I tell you, boss; when a nigger sits down he don't want to, but goes to sleep.

In a certain town in the eastern states, is a woman who has been married for the third time. Her maiden name was Partridge. Her first husband was a Robin, her second a Crow and her third a Quale. There are two Robins, one Crow and three little Quales in the family. Her grandmother's name was Swan and her grandfather was a Jay, but he has passed away and is now a bird of Paradise, and the man who wrote this is a Lyre bird and an interested member of the family.

It seems unwise to waste money and run the risk of experimenting with new fangled, untried remedies when you know that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills will cure you. One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Against Adulterated Wool Demand. Bennett of the Shepherd's Association at its meeting passed strong resolutions against the use of adulterants in wool goods, and again this year resolutions against the use of adulterants in wool goods inasmuch as wool goods contain 60% and even 70% of shoddy, or other substitute wool.

Live stock farming, the system making the smallest demands on soil fertility, is rapidly supplanting the growing. Parts of nearly every farm are now much better in condition than they were a few years ago, and, further, such is nature's wonderful recuperative power, since the partial cessation of the tremendous drain of grain exportation the average crop return for Eastern Canada have gone up very considerably. But, as every farmer knows, even live stock farming long continued means a gradual loss of fertility unless considerable food other than that produced on the farm is fed to stock and the manure properly cared for and utilized.

This fact has led to a study of the methods for cheaply restoring lost fertility and profitably cultivating soils so that "improved rather than impoverished" may be the annual verdict. It is impossible to discuss the subject exhaustively in such an article as this, but one plan of cultivation found to give good results is where the meadow or pasture is plowed in August, the soil being turned to a depth of 3 1/2 or 4 inches only. Immediately after plowing, if in a dry time the land is rolled, then harrowed with a light harrow. It is then left untouched until grass and weeds start to grow when it is again harrowed, care being exercised to prevent the soil being disturbed. The harrowing or cultivating process is continued (as the weed seeds germinate) until October, when by means of a (3 plow gang) double mould-board plow the surface soil to a depth of about 22 inches apart and 8 to 10 inches high. This is found to be a most satisfactory preparation of the soil for corn, roots or grain. Where grain is sown, the soil is ready for seeding at a considerably earlier date than where late fall plowing is practiced.

If allow with this system of shallow cultivation a proper rotation is adopted, most excellent results are sure to follow. As clover is the only crop which, while giving a profitable harvest still serves to enrich rather than to impoverish the soil, it is evident that clover should take a prominent place in August rotations in this country. With this fact in mind, a few rotations suitable for the improving of our lands may be offered, as follows: 3 year rotation: (1) grain, (2) clover hay, (3) pasture. 3 year rotation (1) corn and roots (2) grain (3) clover hay. 4 year rotation (1) corn and roots or peas (2) grain (3) clover hay (4) hay or pasture. 5 year rotation (1) grain with 10 lbs clover seed to plow down for fertilizers (2) corn and roots (3) grain (4) clover hay (5) hay or pasture. 6 year rotation same as 5 year but left one year longer in pasture.

The reason for surface cultivation and the use of such short rotations as given above is to increase the quantity of and place properly the chief factor making for soil fertility. Dead vegetable matter exposed to moisture and warm sun breaks down to a form called humus or black earth, the factors above mentioned. Our prairie and newly cleared soils contain immense quantities of this material. Exposure to heat and the intermixture of earthy matter to waste. Thus, respected grain cropping with deep plowing provide the conditions best calculated to dissipate this matter most rapidly and most effectively.

The functions of this common, yet easily lost, substance are varied and important. Being, as anyone can find out for himself, of the nature of a sponge, it retains the moisture in a dry time, but will allow all superfluous water to rapidly and harmlessly percolate to the lower soil layers. It holds loose, porous soils together and so otherwise loose sands become staple and provide a good root hold for plants. It renders dense, impermeable soils open and porous permitting the circulation of air and water and allowing the weak rootlets to penetrate the erstwhile impenetrable space in search of food. In brief, it is the chief requirement of good physical condition in our soils. It contains such plant food, since it is really vegetable matter, and a large percentage of this food is in available forms. It aids also in the conversion of the non-available forms of the elements of fertility into available forms. Further, it retains near the surface the dissolved plant food which must otherwise have sunk into the sub-soil.

The most important sources of humus on the average farm are farmyard manure and crop residues. Upon the proper application or use of these materials depends the future of Canadian Agriculture. Where the supply of humus is limited its location becomes a very important consideration. Now, most of our crops draw the greatest part of their food from the surface soil, for, while some roots of most plants penetrate to a considerable depth, most roots of all plants are near the surface. Plants of nearly all descriptions thrive best where the surface soil is mellow and rich in humus. The great crops produced by nearly cleared fields and prairie lands exemplify this, as does also the rank growth of plants in our forests, where the subsoil is never stirred, or where the annual, and smaller perennials must depend for their nourishment upon the surface soil almost exclusively. It would, therefore, seem to be clear that available plant food should be near the surface of our fields and that our surface soil should be in particularly good physical condition of till.

How to secure these two requirements of rapid, rank and desirable plant growth must, therefore, be the first consideration of every would be successful farmer. Experiment and long practice seem to prove that shallow cultivation and some rotation, more especially the 3 year or the 4 year in dry districts and the 5 year in rainy districts, are most serviceable in increasing the humus in the surface soil, and so "improving the physical condition" which means "increasing the productivity" of our fields.

est regard to the requirements of the foreign market the Department is not sacrificing the best native home markets, because if the produce be equal to the necessities of the European consumers it must of necessity be all that the home consumer can desire. In this way the advocacy of perfection catches two birds in one trap.

The apple grower is anxious to get the most out of his orchards, but sometimes circumstances combine to thwart his well-intentioned efforts, and to help him out of his difficulties this article issued. The Department thus takes a hand in fighting some of his deadliest foes provided he is willing to wield the cudgels provided for his success.

There are four kinds of insect enemies against whom the apple-grower has to fight. These are those which devour the foliage, those which bore in the wood, those which occur in the bark and those which attack the fruit. But all insects fall within two classes, which can be separated by the nature of their mouth parts. In the intelligent use of remedies a consideration of this point is of the utmost importance. In the class of biting insects, which have jaws with which they consume the substance of their food, such as caterpillars, all that is necessary is to place on the food plant some poisonous material which will be eaten with the food. For sucking insects, which instead of jaws have a beak or hollow tube with which they suck up their food in a liquid form, such as the plant louse, something must be used which will kill by mere contact with their bodies. For borers in the wood, which cannot be reached by these remedies, preventive measures may be taken by which the plants are rendered distasteful to the mature insects which seek a suitable place in which to lay their eggs. For this purpose various alkaline or strong-smelling deterrent washes may be used. It cannot be too forcibly emphasized that the operation of "spraying" does not mean sprinkling or showering. Spraying means applying liquids by means of a force pump and spraying nozzle with such force as to break up the liquid so thoroughly that it falls upon the plants treated as an actual mist or spray. Unless you carefully spray and not sprinkle you cannot get an even distribution of liquids, therefore you cannot get the best results.

The remedies are numbered for easy reference, and to avoid confusion. 1. Kerosene Emulsion—Dissolve half a pound of white-oil soap in one gallon of rainwater by boiling; take from fire and while hot turn in two gallons of kerosene and churn briskly for five minutes. Before using add nine parts of water. 2. Paris Green—One pound of paris green and one pound of fresh lime, and add to 200 gallons of water. For dry application, take one pound of paris green, with 50 pounds of flour, mix plaster, stucked lime, or any other dry powder. 3. Whale-oil soap—For young insects (such as) use one pound in 5 gallons of water. For adults use one pound in 8 gallons of water. For San Jose Scale—in winter use 2 pounds in one gallon of water. 4. Tobacco and Soap Wash (For plant-lice or aphids)—Soak in 200 water for a few hours 10 pounds of tobacco leaves (some grown will do); strain off and add two pounds of whale-oil soap. Stir until all is dissolved and dilute to 40 gallons. Apply early and two or three times at short intervals.

APPLES AND THEIR ENEMIES. The demand for Canadian apples of good quality and in good condition is an ever-increasing one, and in Great Britain the market seems to be unlimited, while the prospects for opening and continuing an extensive trade with other European countries are equally promising. Canadian fruit growers, packers and shippers are exhorted to see that the fruit that is exported is well and honestly packed, and that it is of such a quality that the demand shall not only equal our most sanguine expectations, but more than fulfill the desires of the most hopeful growers. DR. McLEAN ON INDIANS.

Some interesting information about these... Rev. Dr. McLean, of Carman, Man., in a recent talk on our Northwest Indians said that when he first went west he had not mastered the Indian language so to speak the Gospel he had to employ an interpreter.

Next Dr. McLean dealt with the history of the Indian missions of the Northwest. The work was begun in 1840 at Norway House, when James Evans, a Baptist minister, first came to the Northwest.

There was one little girl who appeared very strongly to my sympathies, because she seemed to be unimpaired, a thing very unusual among these sturdy, straight-jointed dwellers in the open air.

Dr. McLean said that civilization was finding its way among the Indians. He had influenced an Indian chief to bury his son. The Indian, however, would only have the body placed a foot under ground.

AT CAMP IRENE.

A Talk by One of the Canadian Teachers Who Went to South Africa to teach their children. I arrived on Saturday morning June 1st, at Camp Irene, from which point we were to be sent to our different destinations.

There were all sorts of merry-making that week, partly in our honor, and partly to celebrate the peace. A dinner on Monday evening, at which the dignitaries of the Education Department from Pretoria were present, and which was really a very enjoyable affair.

Then there was an ox-cart picnic, where we sat on mattresses—about twenty of us—in a large wagon that seemed to be quite without springs, and jolted jollied over the rough veldt, the driver cracking his whip, shouting at his oxen, and taking the utmost pains to drive over every stone and hillock he could get in the way of the usual picnic.

The other day, just as a train was about to go out of station, a boy ran up to the ticket inspector and whispered, "Sir, there's two men traveling in the train and neither one of them has got any tickets."

CHANGE AT WINDSOR.

New French League. British Cross. An Interesting Personage.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—For the first time in the history of Windsor Castle a notice has been issued that by command of the King, after Sept. 9 no one will be admitted to view the state apartments without a ticket, which will be obtainable at the inspector's office at the castle at a charge of one shilling, except in case of charitable societies, for which the charge will be half price. The money derived in this way will be devoted, by command of the King, to local charities.

This order has caused deep disgust at Windsor, where it is thought that the thousands of visitors who visit the place expressly to view the royal castle will now stay away, and that will seriously affect the town trade.

The King's yachting trip has been confined this week to the west coast of Scotland and remote anchorages, in order to secure respite from such local receptions as he received on the Isle of Man. He has only visited inaccessible places, thereby securing perfect quietness. His health has greatly improved.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Count Boni de Castellane, his father and two brothers have joined the league to refuse to pay taxes, an outgrowth of the government's closing of the Catholic schools.

The members say that inasmuch as the league is to encroach on public liberties, they no longer ought to pay for public services.

The defenders of the new law against the monastic order answer, first, that liberty can never be construed as a right to disobey the law, and second, that the notion that parents have absolute authority over a child is obsolete and barbaric, for the state owes protection to children against noxious parental prejudices.

The fight between the government and unwilling taxpayers promises endless complications. At present the league was only started two weeks ago, its membership is said to be increasing by thousands every day.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Owing to constant heavy rains in the past six weeks the harvest in Great Britain will be the worst since 1875. The wheat, corn, hop and fruit crops in the southern sections are almost total failures, and the farmers are facing an extremely gloomy prospect.

In Warwickshire special prayers are being offered daily for relief from rain. Destructive gales and floods have prevailed throughout the United Kingdom this week.

At Belfast, in the north of Ireland, the water rose to a height of 6 feet in the business part of the city. In many of the streets the children threw off their clothing and went swimming. Boys with hand carts did a thriving business in wheeling women and girls about the streets.

The tents of four batteries of artillery encamped at Okehampton, Devonshire, were completely blown away and the soldiers were compelled to pass the night without shelter.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—Perceval Pollard, an American playwright and novelist, was walking along a street in Nienna recently, when he was stabbed in the shoulder from behind by a young Austrian, whose sister had complained to him that an unknown American daily annoyed her on the street.

Hearing Pollard speak English and noticing that he was partly bald, as his sister described the Austrian stabbed him and was about to attack him the second time, when Pollard shrieked and turned around. Then the offending girl saw that her brother had attacked the wrong person and warded off the blow.

Mr. Pollard bled profusely, but the wound proved to be slight. He accepted the apologies offered, and begged the officers who rushed up to deal leniently with his assailant. He regards the experience as of great value to him from a literary point of view.

LONDON, Sept. 6.—Harry Panmure Gordon, who died this week at Naubem, was one of the most interesting personalities on the London stock exchange.

In the course of his extensive travels he visited the United States and afterward wrote a book on his impressions of that country, which had a large circulation here.

He was called the "grand seigneur of the city."

He had a princely way of surrounding himself with luxuries. He is credited with having spent $10,000 a month on himself, but his taste was so good that there was no vulgar ostentation.

Two thousand pounds a month pays for the necessities of life for a gentleman—clothes, horses, carriages, yacht, grouse, moor, country, and all that. You know, of course, if you want luxuries, it costs more."

He had an extraordinary mania for clothes. It is estimated that in a fire at his country place three years ago he lost 100 needles.

At one time he is said to have had more than 600 pairs of trousers, while new boots stood in rows and rows in cupboards.

He had thirteen new overcoats all at once, the story goes, which he never even looked at, and 50 new socks and umbrellas.

While he lived in Brighton he drove from his house to the railroad station in correct riding costume every day. The vehicles were sorted in a magnificent coach house on his country place. His passion for novelties in this direction took him all over the world.

In the lot was a complete kitchen on wheels. Every article in it was made of polished copper, and a travelling chef could cook all the courses for an elaborate repast. Attached to it was a beautifully appointed dining car. This caravan which Mr. Gordon frequently used on his fishing and shooting tours in Scotland—could be drawn either by horses or a motor car.

Mr. Gordon was a remarkably shrewd business man. At the time of the Boating of Lipton, he originated the idea of

Ferrozone will in one week give you a splendid appetite, and will so improve digestion and assimilation, that full benefit will be derived from everything eaten.

There is nothing like Ferrozone to create a keen healthy relish for food for the blood, and a tonic for the nerves and brain. To those leading a sedentary life it is a perfect boon.

The revered Dennis O'Brien, D. D., the well known Evangelist says of Ferrozone: "I have pleasure in saying that I have found Ferrozone a remarkably good preparation. It keeps up one's appetite, cures nervousness and sleeplessness, and perhaps the very best tonic I have used. Being in the form of a soluble and palatable tablet, it is both pleasant and convenient to take and is well worthy of my highest recommendation."

This is an example of the way people speak of Ferrozone who have used it, and should be convincing evidence of its unusual merit. It is warranted to cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Troubles, Catarrh, and all other diseases arising from impurities of blood or nerve tone.

PARIS, Sept. 6.—The pardon just granted to Lieut. Matias Keglevich, who eloped with Princess Louise of Coburg, the eldest daughter of the King of the Belgians, was brought about, it is thought here, by the ceaseless agitation of Frenchmen in his behalf.

The Emperor of Austria, it was understood, always thought the lovers somewhat excusable in view of the ill-treatment of the Princess by her husband, but the exemplary King Leopold sternly insisted on their punishment.

Hence the long incarceration of both—Louise under the pretext of insanity, the lieutenant after a farcical trial on the preposterous charge of forgery.

Keglevich was interviewed in Vienna as soon as he was liberated, and told the correspondent of the Paris Journal that he had been tortured in his fortress prison under the personal supervision of the Princess's husband, until a Hungarian deputy, M. Daseyaski, voicing the humane sentiments of international sympathizers, openly demanded in the diet an investigation into what he styled "low, disgraceful, barbaric processes of revenge."

The lieutenant declares that he still loves Princess Louise; that he has constantly refused to promise not to see her if set at liberty, as he considers it his duty to devote his life to atoning for the sufferings of the woman who sacrificed everything for her love of him, and that he will seek legal redress for his unjust military degradation and imprisonment for alleged forgery. He calls himself the Hungarian Dreyfus.

Princess Louise is free now, too, and is living closely guarded in Hamburg.

It is believed that the lieutenant who left Vienna yesterday, will find it impossible to approach the Princess.

Intestinal Indigestion

There are forms of indigestion and dyspepsia which can never be reached by ordinary stomach medicines and so-called dietetics. The kidneys and liver are involved, and the stomach may be all right, it is the part of digestion which takes place in the intestines that is imperfect.

All over the country are people who are suffering from just this kind of indigestion. They don't get well, because they don't use the right medicine. Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are admirably adapted for this very trouble. They act directly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, remove the cause, and make a permanent cure of intestinal indigestion, backache, and diseases of the filtering and excretory organs.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are vegetable in composition, and remarkably prompt and effective in action. They are kept in thousands of homes as a standard medicine, and have proved by a long trial to be without a rival. One pill a day, 25 cents a box. At all druggists, or Edmunds, Bates & Co., Toronto.

are thousands of farmers in our country who are rich in broad acres and gold
but who are poor in health and vigor.

It is a melancholy fact that men and women in the country districts, breathing the purest air and drinking from the fountains of the earth, are liable to the same diseases and ailments as those who live in the city. We find rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, kidney and liver troubles and blood diseases almost as common in the farmers' family as they are in the city houses.

Paine's Celery Compound, Heaven's blessing to the farming community has done more for the banishment of dread disease and the building up of health than all other combined medicines. Mr. G. J.
Dunlop, a well known farmer of Sheffield,
Ont., says:

"It is with great pleasure that I testify
to the value of your great medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. For several years I suffered from indigestion, kidney and liver troubles. After trying several medicines that did not effect a cure, I decided to try your Compound. Before using it I was so low in health that I could not eat or sleep. I could not lie in bed owing to pain in my back; it was only by resting on elbows and knees I was enabled to obtain a slight degree of ease.
Before I had fully taken one bottle of your medicine I began to improve. I have now taken in all fourteen bottles with grand results. I am a farmer and am now working every day. Anyone may refer to me in regard to these statements, or to any of my neighbors around Sheffield, where I am well known. I am a living witness to the worth of Paine's Celery Compound."

There is just one cure and that is plenty proved nutrition. The blood grows rich system, and the store of Nerve Force and energy increases daily. A remodeling of the constitution, new spirit, health and strength, all come from the use of Ferrozine.

MARTINIQUE IS DOOMED.

Well Authenticated Opinion That It will be Swallowed Up.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—It is generally believed that the island of Martinique is doomed to total destruction, and the fear is that when the catastrophe comes, Gadeloupe, will be visited by an all destroying tidal wave, unless the Point a Pitre, Gadeloupe, correspondents of the N. Y. Herald.
Business is absolutely a standstill. Few shops are open a 4 if it were not for the efforts of a small number of more valiant souls, hundreds would be starved to death
here because of their fear of a more terrible death.

Details that have been received during the last two days have proved that the eruption of Mont Pelee of August 30 was far more violent than was that of the earlier explosions. As the eruption continues the mouth of Mount Pelee grows in size. It is now of enormous proportions. Mont Carreux, one of the peaks that reared sky-ward from the side of the Pelee, has fallen loosely into the crater, and it has been completely swallowed. There seems to be a side pressure in the crater, and the burning cham widens perceptibly every day.
Clouds no more hang above the great Pelee. The terrific heat seems to drive everything away. The column of smoke rises directly into the heavens, so that it is lost to sight. In the darkness of the night it has the appearance of a column of molten iron, standing fixed between heaven and earth.

From Mont Capot the relief troops were compelled to make a quick retreat, although they succeeded in taking a few wounded.
The entire country nearly to Fort De France is buried under a deep cover of ashes. This has made it almost impossible to find the bodies of those who have perished while fleeing to the sea coast. At Grande Anse the tide swept 300 yards ashore, destroying many houses and drowning scores of inhabitants.

Even at Fort de France the most stout of hearts have lost courage. Col. Lecore has reported to his government that it is his opinion that Martinique will have to be abandoned. He asks for assistance in transporting the inhabitants to the other islands of the West Indies.

FRUITS OF FREEDOM.
Canada to Play a Great Part in the Future of the Empire—A Necessary Step to Feed the World.

The Colonial Premiers and their Ministers were dined by the Canadian Club of London at the Grosvenor restaurant, Lord Strathcona presided. It is astonishing the amount of vitality in the High Commissioner, moves about and talks like a man at fifty. The Lord Mayor was there, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir
Edmund Barton, Sir Robert Bond,
Sir William Muteck, Hon. W. Paterson,
Hon. W. S. Fielding, Lord Derby, Lord Ashbourne, Sir John Anson, Mr. C. M. Hayes, Hon. De Montague, General Haly, Hon. H. T.
Duffy, Hon. H. Peters, Hon. F. Hau-tain, Mr. J. S. Colmer, C.M.G., and quite a distinguished company.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who was loudly cheered, after expressing his appreciation of the overwhelming warmth of English hospitality and of the kind terms in which the Lord Mayor had referred to him, went on to say that his Lordship had spoken of Canada in language of great encomium, but, great as his encomium was, Canada deserved it all.
(Cheers.) The Lord Mayor had said that the free institutions with which they were blessed in 1867 had maintained the loyalty of Canada. They had done more—they had enhanced the loyalty of Canada. (Cheers.)
This was a free country, and a man was always welcome to speak his mind to a British audience. Let him say this, then, that if it had not been for the charter of liberty which Canada has received, the condition of things would perhaps have been different. In 1837, the first year of her Majesty's reign, Canada was a turmoil of excitement.
There was rebellion in the French provinces of Quebec; there were rebels in the English province of Ontario. The rebellion was, in his opinion, quite justified by the unworthy system which then obtained, by the attempt to rule what ought to have been a free people by methods which did not suit them.
That ought to be doubted and treated
to which the Government of the day were responsible, when they had only with a good system of government in the same measure in which the people of England enjoyed them—at that time, when the authority of Her Majesty was threatened in distant parts of her dominions, the very sons of the rebels of 1837
were the first to go to the rescue and take their coats off to maintain the dominion of the Queen in South Africa. (Cheers.) That was the result of the wise policy which had been followed in regard to Canada and the other colonies of Great Britain. The 19th century had been in Great Britain, a century prolific in reforms; but in all the reforms which had been effected in that memorable period, there was none which had been so prolific in great and useful results as the concession to the colonies of the power to govern themselves in accordance with their own will and with what they believed to be their own interests.
(Cheers.) Canada was blessed not only with a good system of government, but she was also blessed with a good climate—cold in winter, very warm in summer, very warm,
but always dry, clearing and invigorating, and full of exhilaration. After describing the great strides which Canada had made during the last 100 years Sir Wilfrid Laurier went on to say that there was absolute certainty that Canada would be the granary of Great Britain. At the present time there was in Canada an ocean of ripening grain of a quality unsurpassed in the world,
and as for quantity, in a few years there would be enough to feed the whole of Great Britain, say the whole of Europe. (Cheers.) The one thing only which they wanted in Canada at the present time was population. They had a population of six million and a little more; they had room and land to give homes and shelter to a hundred millions at least, and he would, as he hoped in a not very distant future, they would have within the bounds of Canada a population of a hundred millions.
(Cheers.) They were going to repeat the history of the United States, and he thought that in so doing, he was not over-confident.
But when he came to England and saw the distressed condition of many of our people it was always to him
a matter of some surprise that no greater efforts were made by the people of this country to send over their surplus population to that vast land of Western Canada.
The Canadian Government was doing its share. It had emigration agents in all parts of Europe, but it preferred the people of those northern races to which we all belonged, because, after all, they were the best of all men in a new country.
But no matter where they came from —Great Britain, or Ireland, or Norway, or France, or Germany, or Hungary, or the United States also they treated them all in the same way and turned them out good Canadians one and all. (Cheers.) The Canadian Government gave 160 acres of land to every boy of eighteen years of age, who would make it a home, and the price they asked was that he should take a good wife and bring up his children upon the land. Not one dollar did they require from him.
They offered further advantages, and these conditions they opened their domain to all the destitute of Europe. If the poor of Great Britain who were longing for work, and who would be the best of settlers, would go to Canada, they would be in a few years, prosperous men with houses for themselves and families.

If he had a request to make of the Canadian Club it was that they would second the efforts of the Canadian Government, and send emigrants to Canada. The more we sent population to Canada, the more we would bind her to our heart, and the more we should have that condition which we all hoped for the British Empire, of which he, a British subject not of British origin, was just as proud as any one to-day.

The Canadian Venice.
Muskoeka the ideal—Muskoeka the enchanted land, in whose waters one bathes and forgets the world without and its life inconstant. They call it the Canadian Venice, so much a thing of water is it and so beautiful,
like the famous "City of the Sea,"
only more satisfying because the habitations of man are less numerous there, and nature is as God intended it to be.

It is a common remark among Americans who visit the Muskoeka region that it is not fully appreciated by Canadians themselves. Its beautiful lakes and picturesque scenery are not to be equaled anywhere on the continent. The result is a greater rush of Americans there every summer—so much so that 5,000 people were turned away last year through lack of hotel accommodations. The universal opinion is that Muskoeka is an unrivaled holiday ground, with its agreeable combination of waters and islands and woods and shores, with their incidental fishing and bathing and boating, the sparkling days and the cool, hushed nights that conduce to restful, refreshing sleep.

From a business standpoint the Muskoeka region is one of Canada's most valuable assets. It is easily reached from the most densely populated portions of the United States and everything possible ought to be done to encourage American tourists.
There are at present something like 125 hotels in Muskoeka with a total accommodation for 7,000 people.
That ought to be doubted and treated
very quickly with good management, and those who cater especially to the wants and wishes of American guests will have little cause to complain. There is no good reason why millions of dollars should not be spent in Canada every summer by American tourists, but that means something different from ordinary slipshod methods and something better than the average hotel accommodations.

Co-operation in Canada.
There are 747 co-operative cheese
and butter factories in Canada,
where the farmers erect and equip
the factories, and the Government undertakes to manufacture a good article at a cost of 24 cents a pound to cover all expenses including marketing. They export $25,000,000 worth to Great Britain annually
from these factories.

THE HERO OF KARS.
Brief Sketch of the Career of Sir William Fenwick Williams.

The career of a brilliant Canadian ended on July 28th, 1883, by the death of Sir William Fenwick Williams of Kars. He was born at Haliifax, N.S., and is known familiarly as the hero of Kars. When a Colonel of engineers he was engaged in defining the Russo-Persian boundary, and was appointed British Military Commissioner with the Turkish army in Asia in 1854. He reached Kars, a town in Asiatic Territory, in September, and found the Turks wholly disorganized, but with indefinite energy he corrected abuses, got rid of corrupt officials and endured himself to the Turkish army.
In June, 1855, the Russian General Nouravieff, with 40,000 infantry and 10,000 cavalry, besieged Kars, the garrison of which under General Williams numbered 15,000 men, with three months' provisions and three days' ammunition. The siege lasted until the end of November of the same year, when after one of the most heroic defenses on record, in which his men suffered greatly from disease and lack of food, he was forced to capitulate. A grand assault of the Russians two months before resulted in a loss to them of 6,000 men, and it was only through famine that the gallant garrison was overcome. Even General Mouravieff, the commander of the besieging army, generously expressed his admiration of his opponent's defence by saying: "General Williams, you have made conquest a name in history, and posterity will stand amazed at the courage and the discipline which this siege has called forth in the ranks of the army.
Let us arrange a capitulation that will satisfy the demands of war without disgracing humanity." General Williams was detained in Russia as a prisoner until peace was declared when he was given a Baro-netcy and an annuity of £1,000.
