How Pat Found the Address.

A clergyman was standing at the corner of a square in the city recently, about the hour of dinner, when one of his countrymen, observing the clergyman in perplexity, thus addressed him:

"O, Father O'Leary, how is your rivenerance?"

"Mighty put out, Pat," was the reply.

"Put out! Who'd put out your rivenerance?"

"Ah, you don't understand, that is just it. I am invited to dine at one of the houses in this square, and I have forgotten the name, and I never looked at the number, and it is now nearly 6 o'clock."

"Oh, is that all?" was the reply.

"Just now be easy, your rivenerance; I'll settle that for you."

"The good-natured Irishman around the square, glancing at the houses, and when he discovered the one denoted hospitably, he rang the door-bell and inquired:

"Is Father O'Leary here?"

"As might be expected, he was again and again refused. At length an angry footman exclaimed:

"No, neither of Father O'Leary—he is not here, but he was to dine here today, and the cook is in a rage, and she said the dinner will be spoiled. All is waiting for Father O'Leary."

Paddy leaped from the door as if the steps of heaven were rushing up to the astonished paragon, saying:

"All is right, your rivenerance; you dine at 2,15, and a mighty good dinner you'll get."

"Oh, Pat," said the grateful pastor, "the blessings of a hungry man be upon you!"

"Long life and happiness to your rivenerance. I have your maundy, and only wish I had your cure."

The Arkwright and Aiki.

Rosland, B. C., Jan. 13, 1897.

Mr. A. Greenlee, Secretary, L. G. M. and D. C.

Dear Sir,—According to instructions in your telegram of the 9th, I secured the two mineral claims, "Arkwright" and "Aiki," I came very near losing them, as other parties were after the claims, but coupled with their offers to Mr. Graham, the owner, the right to purchase another claim he held across the ravine, known as the "Copper Reward," at any price, neither Graham nor the other purchasers knew of the assay I got from the Arkwright, or I would not have got the claims for the assay is much higher than the Copper Reward has had. I tried very hard to tie up or get an assay from the Copper Reward last May 15 at $10,000, but could not do it. I believe I have secured one of the most valuable properties in Kootenay. It has better showing than either the Great Silver King or White Water mine had on the same range, which could have been bought at any price. I am keeping my weather-eye open to secure a few other claims near by, for I want to get a group there of from five to eight claims before commencing developing, for after that they cannot be purchased at any price, and we will have the property, I believe, we never secured another, that would make our stock worth from $5 to $10 a share.

I hold the position of managing director in the new Finance Gold Mining Company, and have considerable power to prevent any abuses by the board, and your board have the power to replace me at any moment or meeting.

Mr. Goodie, leading druggist, is to be president. Mr. Bryan, vice-president, Dr. McKenzie and others, directors.

I was out to the mine Saturday; it is showing up well. They had only got a few tons of ore yet. The quartz is very hard to sink in, but it is becoming well mineralized. I will soon be able to send you good samples; some experts to whom we showed the rock thought it would assay from $15 to $20 now.

If we get $30 ore in this mine it will be better than the Le Roi, considering the ground we cover, of 150 acres, and I think we will have a fraction of possibly 12 to 18 acres between the Big Whale and Finance. It is intended to stake the claim for the company as soon as the snow is low enough to correctly measure it.

You will hardly understand or appreciate what I really mean when I speak of some claims assaying so high on the surface, while properties like the Big Whale only showed on surface assay a trace of gold, trace of silver, and trace of copper. It simply lies in the difference of the formation, the quality and character of the rock croppings around Rosland district are low grade; base ores are found in ledges running with the formation, but almost sure strikes of great bodies of ore, the Big Whale showing possibly the largest ledge in this section, which, if it all runs into minerals, as it now indicates, we will have sufficient ore to last over 100 years. The high grade ores usually are in small, true fissure veins from 8 inches wide, to 5, or sometimes 6 feet wide.

This is where careful judgment and cautious observation is required to determine the value of the lead. Yours, most respectfully,

JOSEPH POWELL.

London hockeyists, enabled them to score after ten minutes. The puck next hammered the puck through London goal, after chasing it for about fifteen minutes. In the last half Lind, McEvoy and Macdonald were responsible for the way the rubber was thumped around the ice in front of St. Mary's goal, and when this was called the score stood: London, 5; St. Marys, 2. The teams were as follows:

The Greatest Treaty of the Age.

As showing what the best minds of the United States think of the arbitration treaty arranged between Great Britain and the neighboring republic. The Advertiser finds space for the following able declaration by the Chicago Interior—the leading independent newspaper in the west:

"The full text of the arbitration treaty is printed in this paper. It is a production of the ablest and skillful statesmanship. It will be noticed with what care the rights and the honor of both the signatory powers are guarded, and how perfectly the possibility of armed conflict is at the same time reduced. First, all the resources of diplomacy are to be exhausted. Second, how careful it is to secure an able and impartial tribunal. If the tribunal fail to agree, neither party can resort to arms until the mediation of friendly powers is sought and secured. All this will require a long period of time. Diplomacy is very deliberate and slow. An arbitration tribunal is similarly so. Then comes the slow process of mediation. From first to last years would elapse between the casual belli and the possibility of hostile action. This element of time would itself exclude nearly the last possibility of armed conflict.

"The effect of this treaty will be in the many ways beneficial to both powers. It is the first such treaty in the history of the world. It marks the highest reach of Christian civilization. It reflects unequalled glory upon both countries. All this is highly gratifying to everyone who has English blood in his veins or English speech on his lips. But it will have another effect which neither Americans nor Englishmen will be slow to appreciate. It will be a large factor in the prosperity of both countries. No two nations in the world ever needed each other so much as these two do, nor was it ever possible for two to be so helpful to each other. Great Britain is very wealthy in ready cash and vast amounts of capital can find profitable employment in the United States. On the other hand, Great Britain is a sea-walled city, and must provide herself with the necessities of life from lands beyond her borders. In such supplies the United States are very wealthy. Now the largest element in permanent trade relations is good will. In most lines of established business this element is fully equal in pecuniary value to the stock of goods on hand. A man will deal with another whom he does not like only upon dire necessity, and he will patronize those in whom he has confidence, though he might do slightly better for himself elsewhere. This affects national commerce. The French and German will not trade with each other though the refusal be a loss to both.

"The two most resourceful and enterprising nations in the world are now bound together in effective ties of amity—or will be if our impetuous United States Senate does not defeat the alliance. Their mutual commercial relations, always intimate, will steadily become more so. The element of good-will is now fully operative.

"The diplomacy of Lord Salisbury has been the most unfortunate of any Premier for a century past. The Spectator says that England has been in measurable distance of a first-class war four times within eight months—the United States, Germany, France and Russia, each in their turn, laid their hands on their swords—and he has everywhere been outward and beaten—in China, Turkey, South Africa, Egypt, Venezuela, and the United States. The greatest diplomatic achievement of England for a century has had to be thrust upon him and pushed over him by the British people.

"What does England get by this treaty? She gets a practical military alliance with the United States—the strongest and richest military power on the globe. We are not going to war with any power that may be hostile to England, on her account; but we are going to keep open her communications with her base of unlimited military supplies. We will keep the road clear between our ports and hers for the furnishing of bread and meat, horse feed, cotton, timber, and every kind of supply for her civilians and soldiers. She will not have to spare a man nor spend a nickel for the security of her North American possessions. We would fight for her under the terms of the Monroe doctrine, if any combination of European powers should attack Canada. And yet, as we have said, these benefits, which if they had come to England on his initiative, would have given his Administration greater renown than that won by any of his predecessors, had to be forced upon him by the power of British public opinion.

"What do the United States gain by the treaty? We have mentioned the material benefits. We have placed our pet idea, the Munro doctrine, out of reach of further serious question by its power. (We do not ourselves think there is any great value in it, but then we are all proud of it as a matter of prestige.) But we have the glory of urging and securing the noblest achievement of Christian civilization. True, we do not claim it all for ourselves. We could not have won it without the cordial and gracious assistance of Queen Victoria—and right joyfully do we Americans lay this chaplet on her brow, a brighter crown and for all time a more glorious one, than that placed on her girlish temples sixty years ago.

"Queen Victoria has ever been our fast friend. She has signaled it in every appropriate way. When she sent her son to visit us near forty years ago we took advantage of the opportunity to express our appreciation of her confidence. She stood between us and a bullying ministry in the Trent affair, when we were in no condition to defend ourselves. She turned her back upon the schemes of Napoleon the Third to disrupt the Union—and she did alone what she confederated Europe could not do, she conquered us, and made us all her subjects—in a way that brave men like to be conquered. When her loving heart ceases to beat, these forty-four great states will bow their heads in grief felt as deeply as any heart in England can feel it—and a noble monument will rise to her memory in our capital city. No eulogium need be inscribed upon it. Five-lettered words, one on each of the various sides, will tell the story, "Trent," "Peace," "Truth," "Honor."

The treaty is now before the United States Senate for ratification. Is it too much to expect that common sense will prevail, and that it will be ratified and carried out in good faith by both countries?

"Petty indiscretions" is what our city contemporary calls the attic dabbler. Its names for the paid agents of the Conservative Association is "irresponsible persons." By and by, we suppose, it will deny that the gymnasium orgies ever took place.

All in One Day.

Three bye-elections for the Dominion House of Commons take place in Ontario on Thursday of next week.

East Simcoe, South Brant and North Ontario—all carried by the Conservatives at the general election by confessedly corrupt means—will be called upon to pronounce between the two parties. They will vote all on one day, too.

The late Government was in the habit of selecting the constituency in which it was strongest to vote first. It turned in its emissaries to do various kinds of questionable work, and then moved the men to another riding, and so on, keeping the bye-elections dragging along for weeks and sometimes months. This course the Liberals have always condemned, and the new Government has very properly enacted that all the vacancies now existing in the Province shall be filled in one day.

The oldest book in Mr. Gladstone's collection—the one longest in his possession—is one presented to him personally by Mrs. Hannah Moore. It was a copy of her sacred songs, and bore an inscription beginning with the words, "As you have just come into this world, and I am just going out of it," etc. The presentation was made 81 years ago.

A Commission Where Justice Is Not Done.

Our Ottawa correspondent, a few days ago, wired the statement that the Dominion Government is impressed with the necessity of investigating the numerous instances of ballots being tampered with by deputy returning officers at last general election. He further states that the appointment of a commission is contemplated to make inquiry into all sources of this nature, as well as of failures of justice in connection with the trial of election petitions, whereby the will of the people has been set aside.

Taking up this question, in one of its branches, the Regina N. W. T., Leader, the paper until recently edited by Mr. Davin, M. P., supplies some noteworthy evidence in support of such an inquiry as our Ottawa correspondent has outlined, which it considers would be justifiable. Here is what our contemporary points out is an undoubted instance of the voice of the majority being over-ruled by the deeds of the election officers: "At the Lumsden poll in West Assiniboia, among others two McGinnis voters were challenged. They took the oath. Mr. Davin's scrutineers still disputed their qualifications. The methods taken by the deputy-returning officer of noting the objections of the scrutineers, was to place their poll book numbers on the back of the ballots of these voters. In recount proceedings evidence is not admissible; the ballots must tell their own tale. The fact that numbers appeared on these ballots was rightly held by Judge Richardson to destroy them. As a point of fact the wrongful act of a deputy-returning officer deprived McGinnis of two votes, which two votes would have elected him by two majority.

"This statement is an undisputed fact. We do not hold Mr. Davin responsible for the condition on which he is holding his seat; but that the condition involves very apparent injustice no one can deny. The North Ontario case was more flagrant. There the fact was proven that 21 ballots, which would have given the seat to the Liberal candidate by 20 majority, had been stolen from the box, and replaced by the same number marked for the Conservative. The recount judge threw out the 21 fraudulent ballots; but the 21 original ballots were not there, and could not be counted. And the man who was known to be in a minority of 20 took the seat.

A remedy for the unjust results of such freaks of incompetency and rascality should be devised."

Canada's Climate Commended.

Score another big point for Canada. At the recent sanitary congress in London, Mr. Dines expressed the satisfaction it gave him to find that the much-abused climate of England was superior to that of any of the colonies in which troops were kept, excepting Canada. Dealing with the Registrar-General's returns, the president came to the conclusion that a temperature below 60 degrees Fahrenheit was the most suitable for human life.

Canada is one of the healthiest countries in the world, and withal a most enjoyable place in which to have residence.

Taking into consideration the population, London has fewer houses licensed to sell intoxicating liquors than any other city in Ontario, except Toronto. There is a licensed house to every 940 persons in this city; in Toronto, one for every 1,203; in Hamilton, one for every 605.

A Church "Scene."

They are supposed to be great sticklers for law and order in England, but some of the accounts given of the recent confirmation ceremony of the Archbishop of Canterbury leave a doubt as to the behavior of the upper ten upon all occasions. An eyewitness gives in the London Times a curious incident: "The proceedings were no sooner over," he writes, "than the ladies who filled the chancel swooped down upon the table, and scrambled for the cards which lay upon it to indicate the place assigned to each dignitary, as at a dinner party. An old gentleman dashed into the throng and triumphantly secured the blotting paper on which the signatures had been dried, as an interesting souvenir of an historical occasion." Concerning the orthodoxy of the archbishop, which was questioned publicly before the ceremony by a clergyman who was present, the Archbishop of York expresses a firm conviction that "whatever may be the opinion of Archbishop Temple on evolution, it does not prevent his whole-hearted acceptance as well of the records as of the doctrines of the Holy Scriptures and the creeds of the Catholic Church." A few years ago clergymen of the Church of England would hardly dare to so express themselves on the subject of evolution.

"The Princess Deceit" is the latest issue of Longman's Colonial Library. It is a lively and interesting novel by Clementina Scott, whose previous works have had many readers in Canada. Longman, Green & Co., London, issue all the latest works of first-class writers as speedily as they are ready for the press.

McClure's Magazine for February will have a paper by H. J. W. Dam, on "The Making of the Bible," giving a popular account of the principal manuscripts and their derivation, from which the Bible as we now have it is derived, and a description (with numerous illustrations) of the famous Oxford University Press, where Bibles are produced by the million, with the finest art ever achieved in book-making, and in every known tongue.

A discussion of "Tendencies in Athletics for Women" will be contributed to the February Popular Science Monthly by Sophia Richardson. The writer points out the superiority which earnestly played games have in some respects over the ordinary exercises, and shows how American college girls waste time in forcing a dulled brain through tasks that could be mastered easily and quickly with the aid of invigorating exercise.

New York's famous thoroughfares, Broadway, has been the scene of some wonderful events. But the one scene which still stands as the most remarkable, in point of enthusiasm, is Louis Kossuth's famous ride up Broadway in 1851. No man saw this great event so well and advantageously as did Parke Godwin, the veteran New York editor and Kossuth's closest friend in America. Mr. Godwin was with Kossuth, and for the first time he will now tell the story of the marvelous event in the February Ladies' Home Journal.

Justin McCarthy, Lyman Abbott, Hamilton W. Mable, Candace Wheeler, Anna Eichberg King and General James Grant Wilson are among the contributors to the January Magazine Number of The Outlook. The beginning of The Outlook's great "Life of Gladstone" (23 pictures), a study of the "New Governors," a humorous story, Dr. Abbott's "An Evolutionist's Theology," "A Day With John Burroughs"—such are some of the features in the 96 pages of reading matter with their 70 illustrations. The new shape and typography greatly improve this well-known journal, and a weekly and monthly, now in its 28th year, a year. The Outlook Company, 13 Astor Place, New York.

A particularly bright and attractive number of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly is that for February. It has a long list of good articles and capital short stories, and almost everything is illustrated. The opening paper is a sketch of "Life in Russia," by Sophie Friedland, describing a month's visit at a little Russian country house. Other good things of this number are: "A Visit to the Syracuse Salt Works," by S. Turner Willis; "Antis of the Tropics," by A. James Miller; "The Development of the Modern Hotel," by John P. Ritter; "Some Stories of Cats," showing their habits, characteristics, and affections; "The Character of Gen. R. E. Lee," by Edmund Jennings Lee; "A Railway Ride from Edinburgh to Balmoral," by M. E. Leicester Addis, etc. Frank Leslie's Publishing House, New York.

The average duration of life in towns is calculated at 33 years; in the country, 55 years.

Mining Notes.

COLORADO COMPANY.

The following clipping from the Bakersfield Californian, under the heading "Key-ville Matters," may be of interest to shareholders in the Colorado Gold Mining and Development Company: "A strike has been made on the Three Chimney mine at the 150-foot level. A cross-cutting to the east from the shaft a fine ledge of sulphurets of a high grade was struck. This ledge is parallel with the main ledge, and adds to the value of this already fine property.

"The Colorado Gold Mining and Development Company have purchased another group of four mines to add to their property. They are pushing work on the Key-ville shaft as fast as men and money can do it, and are taking out ore from both the Keyes and Keyes extension."

GREAT NORTHERN GIVING SATISFACTION.

The first monthly report of progress sent out by the Great Northern Corporation has been greeted with the liveliest satisfaction by the shareholders, and many letters showing their appreciation have been received at the office. Although most conservative in its tone it shows the thorough confidence of its future, and the energy with which they are pushing development work. Their agents in Northern Ontario are working like beavers, acquiring every little prospect possible on the development plan, ready for the boom which is expected to strike that country in earnest in the spring. The reports from the four claims they are opening up are most promising, and the withdrawal of their stock from the market by no means a remote possibility.

AT STITTSVILLE!

The town's Leading Merchant Laid Up.

Rheumatism in various forms is one of the most common diseases there is, it arises generally from impure blood and a broken-down system. In the limb it is painful; in most of the internal organs dangerous, and in the head usually fatal.

The experience of Mr. S. Mann, the well-known general merchant of Stittsville, is interesting: "Last winter I was badly afflicted with rheumatism, I decided to try Dr. Chase's Pills. To my surprise, I got immediate relief, and before I had used the box my affliction was gone. I was also troubled with biliousness or years, and at intervals of three or four weeks would be laid up with severe headache and sick stomach, since using Chase's Pills I have not had an attack of either.

"I may add that Dr. Chase's Ointment for Piles and skin diseases is just as effective as Dr. Chase's Pills for blood troubles. I have a clerk who suffers terribly from bleeding piles. He tried Chase's Ointment and in a few days was completely cured."

All dealers and Edmanston, Bates & Co., manufacturers, Toronto, 25c. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine for colds, bronchitis and consumption. Sure cure, 25c.

Mark Lane Review.

London, Jan. 25.—The Mark Lane Express today, in its crop review, estimates the shortage of the Indian wheat crop at upwards of a million quarters, and says: "The increased pressure of American flour in the British market is causing some anxiety to the millers who are not so sure of their position as they were at the time in 1893 that American competition had been collared."

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 25.—The bull enthusiasm was all gone from wheat today. At the opening prices showed a little firmer feeling, but that soon gave place to weakness, and the discouraged holders soon turned sellers. The weather since Saturday was conceded to be most beneficial to winter wheat. The snow, followed by a hard freeze, afforded the plant all the protection that is necessary. The Government report, issued this afternoon, caused hesitation, the possibility that it might be a full argument tending to restrain short sellers. Liverpool opening cables were all higher, and closing ones all lower than Saturday. Closing continental cables were higher. May wheat opened at 80c; sold between 80c to 81c, and 79c to 79c, closing at 79c to 79c to 79c under Saturday. Cash wheat was easy and lower. Corn declined 4c, and was unchanged to a shade lower. Provisions were steady.

THE COLD CONTINUES

From Pennsylvania to the Rocky Mountains—Milder in Canada.

New York, Jan. 25.—Local Weather Observer Dunn says that there is no break in the cold wave, and this morning the zero weather covers all the country from Pennsylvania westward to the Rocky Mountains.

There has been but very little change in the temperature during the past 24 hours, except that it has become colder in the Gulf States and warmer over the lower lake regions, New England, States and Canada.

Light snow is reported from the eastern section of the lakes, Canada and Galveston, Texas.

TORONTO'S DIRECTORY CENSUS.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—The Toronto City Directory for 1907 calls attention to the fact that the population is slowly increasing. There are 709 names in the directory more than there were in last year's. There are 179 less empty buildings than there were last year, the total being 3,750. Of these 3,294 are dwellings, many of which should be pulled down. There are 72,113 names on the list, without counting firm names.

The decision of the British House of Lords prohibiting the use of salt for snow melting purposes has had the effect of almost stopping the tram car service in Aberdeen, to the great inconvenience of the public.

T. C. THORNHILL'S.—Watches, Clocks and Jewellery; all sorts and all kinds neatly repaired and cleaned at lowest charges. Umbrellas, Parasols covered. Skates sharpened. 402, Talbot street.

Thousands Suffering

From the Sudden Advent of Arctic Weather.

Many Persons Lose Life or Limb by Freezing.

Chicago Experiences the Lowest Temperature in 25 Years—Growing Milder Down East.

Hamilton, Jan. 25.—The thermometer registered today at degrees below zero in this city and vicinity last night, and has hovered from 3 to 7 degrees below all day. The weather is the coldest of the season.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—E. Savarie, etideau street, and Joe Groulx, an employe in the service of Mr. Savarie, came very nearly being frozen to death on the Ottawa River. It is not yet certain how they were rescued, but whose name is said to have been Henry Litz, was found yesterday morning on the Ottawa River, but whose name is said to have been Henry Litz, was found yesterday morning on the Ottawa River, but whose name is said to have been Henry Litz, was found yesterday morning on the Ottawa River.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25.—The extreme low temperature followed sharply upon a long season of mild weather, and found thousands of people unprepared. The demand upon the associated charities for food and fuel was never greater. Twenty-two frost-bitten victims were taken to the hospital yesterday, and three amputations were necessary. Hundreds of homeless people are sheltered at the police station. Victims from points west and south were delayed by snow blockades. Special dispatches show that no section west of south of this city has escaped the sudden fury of the blizzard. The great fruit section of Southwest Missouri and Northern Arkansas has suffered severely. The wheat crop, a full of grain that would have saved the wheat fields of Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, etc., come with the cold wave, and predictions of disaster to the cereals were first made in Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Sunday was the coldest day in 25 years in Chicago, according to the records of the weather bureau. Fifty-one persons were overcome by the terrible cold, and were rescued in a partly frozen condition. Between 100 and 200 persons are said to have died as a result of frozen limbs or exposure. The people were aroused to late prompt and energetic action for the relief of the two score thousand inhabitants whose suffering is being relieved by the city and the Red Cross.

THE WEATHER TODAY: Fair and very cold.

MARVELOUS PRICE TEMPTATIONS.

Is it wrong to tempt? Well, maybe in some things. But it can't be wrong to tempt customers to buy goods by offering them at half price. January is supposed to be a dull month. It hasn't been dull with us. Business has to be lively where such money-saving chances are offered. Anything you may need in the line of Drygoods is here at a lower price than you would expect. Here are a few articles, with their prices, which will give you an idea how little you do have to pay for

NECESSARY THINGS:

HALF-PRICE RUBBERS change very little in style, but we've got a number of pairs that we don't want to carry over. Regular 50c and 55c Rubbers. A pair of either kind for 25c to reduce stock. Don't delay.

TWEEDS A grand lot of seasonal Dress Tweeds. All stylish, and worth at regular prices 75c a yard. We are making room for new goods soon to arrive, and to sell in a few days that which would take a week or more, we will sell at 38c yard. Big value.

JACKETS Every Jacket in our superb stock has been reduced to half price. Ours are always the most stylish brought to London. Remember, you can select any Jacket in the store. No reserve. $3 38 buys a $6 75 Jacket now.

BIG BARGAINS IN WHITEWEAR.

SOILED BLANKETS A number of extra quality Blankets, just a trifle soiled—scarcely notice it. We will sell them at greatly reduced prices—$1 75 Blanket at $1 25; $2 25 at $1 50; $2 75 at $2 25; $3 75 at $2 50; $4 50 at $3 65.

WARM QUILTS Our $8 50 sateen-covered Eiderdown Quilts we are selling at $6 50; our $11 satin-covered line going at $7 75. These are seasonal goods, and should be bought early if you want to be sure to get one. Our competitors are selling at prices to clear a counter worth $1 75 for $1 35; worth $2 for $1 50; worth $2 50 for $1 85; worth $3 for $2 40. Now's the time. Tomorrow may be too late.

Hockey at Petrolea.

The Local Team Loses the Game with London.

There was a Large Attendance, Good Ice and Brilliant Play on Both Sides—Other Sporting Notes.

About 400 people assembled at Petrolea rink last night to witness the hockey match between London and Petrolea. The game was a brilliant one, and resulted in a defeat of the latter by 6 goals to 1.

The game was advertised to start at 8 o'clock, but it was five minutes later when Referee Gordon, of London, blew his whistle for the commencement of play.

Although the checking was hard, and men were sent flying off the ice with regularity, the referee had no occasion to rule anyone off, and his warnings were very few. The London players proved themselves the better team, although during the first half the play was close and exciting, and towards the end of both sides made many brilliant rushes.

The play after the opening ten minutes of the second half was fast and very interesting. London scored two goals. Petrolea's goal-keeper made some phenomenal stops and was liberally applauded by the spectators.

For the Londoners, Capt. Jack Brown played his usual fine game, while in the forward line, Skies and Ewing shared the net. Both goals were scored by Skies, and one of his errors was very costly, resulting in Petrolea scoring their only goal. Gover in goal was not called on very often, but he showed the opportunity of making two beautiful stops.

After the opening face the play was evenly divided. Both goals were attacked frequently. Finally, Ewing broke through the Petrolea forwards and scored the first goal for London in 29 minutes. This finished the score in the first half.

Shortly before time was up, George Ewing broke his skate, but resumed play in a short time.

At the opening of the second half the Londoners were placed on the defensive, but Skies, Ewing and Hobbs kept the Petrolea forwards from getting a shot at the net. After a fast run, scored for London in three minutes, MacDonald, of Petrolea, relative to the rest of the team, made a very nice crack in the eye. The teams were a toss.

Referee, Gordon, Bank of Commerce, London; umpires, Staff, Noble, of Petrolea, and George Macbeth, of London.

NOTES. Hugh Simpson is a model president. The Londoners were entertained to an supper after the game, a hall. The members of the Petrolea Hockey Club are gentlemen, every one of them. The London team play at the Princess Rink with Inverness on Monday night.

Petrolea's fair daughters turned out in large numbers to see the game, and were greatly disappointed that the home team lost.

The London boys speak in the highest terms of the manner in which they were entertained, and hope shortly to play a return match, when they will reciprocate the usage received at Petrolea.

President Dr. Davis and a number of friends of the London team accompanied them to Petrolea. After supper, Dr. Davis made one of his characteristic speeches. He never spoke to better advantage, and seemed to be in splendid trim. As one of our Petrolea friends remarked, "Dr. Davis speaks as well as the London Hockey Club players."

The president of the London team nearly got in trouble through a misapprehension on the part of some Petrolea men that he was A Lover's Triumph.

Only a few days after Geoffrey's return, Mr. Huntress beamed upon his wife...

No one was surprised that the European trip was postponed until warmer weather...

The change in Geoffrey's name, together with the discovery of his parentage...

When she was presented to Gladys, she folded her closely in her arms...

It had been agreed by all parties that Gladys should never be told the secret of her parentage...

She could but acknowledge, however, that it would be for her daughter's happiness...

She had been greatly shocked upon learning of Everett's wretched plot...

It was almost like her old, bright self when Geoffrey arrived...

"For our two mothers," she said to Geoffrey, with a fond smile.

Colonel Mapleson was very proud of his Annie's boy, but his happiness would never be quite complete...

But it was not until Geoffrey was called to the deathbed of his father...

The making of Colonel Mapleson's will brought it about that Geoffrey would be named in it...

"I do not wish it, believe me," Geoffrey answered, "I have enough as it is."

Everett stood, thoughtful and silent, for several moments. Then, with evident effort...

"Not only my friend," Everett, but my brother, in name and in truth...

Will Friends Recognize Each Other in the Next World?

Rev. Dr. Talmage Answers the Question in the Affirmative.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 24.-Dr. Talmage has been for a few days preaching and lecturing in Chicago, Minneapolis and St. Paul.

There is a very sick child in the abode of David the King. Disease, which stalks up the dark lane of the poor...

Alas for David the King. He can neither sleep nor rest, and he weeps until the palace rings with the wailing of his children.

When the child is dead, two little angels, two little feet, two little hands, two little eyes, two little mouths...

Was David right or wrong? If we part on earth will we meet again in the next world?

One more reason why I am disposed to accept this doctrine of future recognition is that so many in their hearts have a dim, but certain, knowledge of this theory.

When China comes to God will it not know Dr. Abel? When India comes will it not know John Scudder?

New York, Jan. 26.-"Rank revelry and riot broke their bacchanalian places" these days among the West Side boys...

For a community that wrestles with the long summer months and subsists mostly on reminiscences during the winter...

While the wreckers were still reveling in the treasure of a bounteous sea, the beach combers were busy...

Evans, the Scotch minister, was seated in his study, his wife came in and said to him "My dear, do you think we shall know each other in heaven?"

Again, I accept this doctrine of future recognition because the world's expectancy affirms it. In all lands and ages this theory is received.

Again, I adopt this theory because there are features of moral temperament and features of the soul that will distinguish us from each other in this world?

In the church at Somerville, New Jersey, John Vredenburg preached for a great many years. He felt that the world was a failure, although he was a faithful minister...

The Outward Sign of Endured HEALTH.

It is a woman's duty to take care of herself. An English doctor said to me, "If you tell an English woman that she is ill and must go to bed, she will do it; if you give the same order to an American, she goes to a bath."

Perhaps, with the overheated houses in America, it is healthy and convenient to wear low dresses for the evening; but I am of the opinion myself that unless it is done with great regularity every evening, there is always more or less danger of taking cold.

Even at court presentations the Queen permits a heart-shaped or a semi-low neck, with long sleeves.

Ayer's Hair Vigor is certainly a remarkable preparation, and nothing like it has ever been produced. No matter how wiry and unmanageable the hair may be, under the influence of this incomparable dressing, it becomes soft, silky and pliable to the comb and brush.

AN INGERSOLL MAN KNEW WHAT HE WANTED.

Ingersoll, Jan. 26.—The many friends of John T. McCleary here will be interested in the following article from the New York World of Monday last, referring to the selection of a secretary of the Treasury in the McKinley Administration: "It is quite probable that a western man will be selected."

He entered the store hurriedly with the air of a man whose mind was filled by a weighty commission. Those whom he passed at the door heard him coming under his breath a formula which he seemed to fear might slip away and be lost.

He departed on a run. "I wonder," said the salesgirl, thoughtfully, an hour or so afterward, "if he could have meant some red baby ribbon?"—New York Press.

THE GYPSIES' HORSES

May Be Wandering About in the Vicinity of Thamesford. A correspondent in Ingersoll says: "People from the neighborhood of the Thamesford gravel road complain to the police that the band of gypsies, who were lately encamped near the town, have left three of their old horses on the roadside to perish of hunger and cold."

These are probably three of the four horses which the French gypsies encamped near the Meadow Lily Mills complain of having been stolen. They have evidently wandered back along the road on which they came to London.

The Keswick Idea.

A Famous Movement Sketched by Its Literature.

Results Which the Brethren Here Endeavored to Achieve.

The Independent contains an article giving information touching the literature of "The Keswick Idea":

Its literature, in addition to the ephemeral newspaper reports of the annual conferences, is found chiefly in such devotional works as those of E. H. Hopkins on "The Holy Life"; "The Victorious Life," by Webb-People; "The Secret of Guidance," by F. B. Meyer; and almost any of the publications by Andrew Murray, but especially, perhaps, his "Abide in Christ" and "The Master's Indwelling." In this connection it is pertinent to add that Mr. Meyer, personally the best known to us on this side of the Atlantic of any of the exponents of the movement, acknowledges his greatest indebtedness, outside of the Bible, to Prof. Upham's "The Interior Life," an American work of more than 50 years' standing, but always admired for its perspicuous treatment of the doctrine of "Perfect Love."

If we are not mistaken, the Keswick movement grew out of an earlier one whose proceedings were published by the Willard Tract Society, under the title of "An Account of a Union Meeting for the Promotion of Scriptural Holiness, held at Oxford, England, August 29th to September 7th, 1841." This meeting, which owed its origin chiefly to Mrs. Hannah Whitall Smith and her husband, was attended by some of the most prominent pastors, not only of Great Britain, but also of France, Germany, and Switzerland, including, for example, Theodore Monod. It was succeeded by another, in the following year, at Brighton, and the two meetings together form the most remarkable religious feature in the history of England since the days of the "Holy Club" of the Wesleys. The religious press of that period, notably The Christian, labored to express the spiritual power manifested, and the remarkable results which followed, especially in the lives of hundreds of ministers who attended.

But there is a worm in every flower, and the trouble with this movement was that some of its representatives advocated the doctrine of sinless perfection in the flesh. The "Prince of this world," they said, had nothing in the world that he could temptations could lay hold of; the root of evil was eradicated. On this they divided, and the root party, as it came to be called, i. e., those who believed that the root of sin still remained, and needed to be guarded against, went off by themselves, and, if we are correctly informed, under the lead of Canon Battersby, incumbent at Keswick, located at that beautiful spot, where they have met periodically for 20 years, more or less.

As indicated previously, the whole movement originated in the desire of earnest Christians to shorten the gap between their divinely revealed standing in Jesus Christ, and their actual experience of it in their daily walk. Sanctification in their view, and as expounded by one of their writers—James Elder Cumming, D.D., in his work on the Eternal Spirit—is not something which is to be taken as a matter of course, or to be regarded as that which will come of itself as the inevitable result of conversion, neither is it a matter of gradual growth, nor the result of personal effort, nor something which is to be shared between God and man. Sanctification, as they hold it, is being made free from the law of sin and death by the Spirit of Life, i. e., the Holy Spirit. He does this by making Christ himself our sanctification. (1 Cor. 1, 30). But he begins the process by convicting us of the poor life we have been leading as Christians, and of our own helplessness to make it any better. Then he creates within us a hunger after righteousness, which we examine with Paul, "O wretched man that I am, who shall deliver me from this body of death?" He then leads us to the answer, "I thank God, through Jesus Christ our Lord." Self is thus renounced, and the soul is cast on God to do the work which he does it. The assurance that he does it comes in the new and definite yielding of the soul to him thus made holy. After this there is progress, perpetual progress, because the new life is unnumbered, and is free to act according to its own laws, the precise language of Dr. Cumming: "We are no longer driven to say, 'I cannot.' Now we say, 'God can; Christ can do it in me; I trust him; I look to him for this.' And it comes; it is done; yet it is no more a task to do it, but Christ that dwells in us does it."

Even at the risk of perplexity it is essential to repeat that the method by which the Keswick brethren seek to indicate their teaching is almost as important as the teaching itself. It is orderly and progressive. They proceed no further and no faster than their hearers are able to follow them in experience. When Webb People and Andrew Murray were at Northfield, two years ago, their addresses each morning not only fitted into one another

To the Shareholders of the Colorado Gold Mining & Development Co.

The foregoing advertisement is self-explanatory and shows the faith the managing director has in the future of this Company.

The present dividend of 1 per cent. a month on the shares of this Company is guaranteed for a period of five years by Messrs. Lownsbrough & Co., Bankers, and the Managing Director, J. Grant Lyman. The same shares offered by the Company, carrying the same dividend, but not guaranteed by Messrs. Lownsbrough & Co., or J. Grant Lyman, we are offering for 75c.

It goes without saying that the Company, in order to pay dividends on part of its stock, must pay dividends on all, as there is no such thing as "preferred stock," but in personally and jointly guaranteeing these dividends we make assurance a positive fact, and, of course, such stock is worth more money.

The writer of this letter now holds over 250,000 shares of this stock, and the proposed improvements should result in a material increase in my dividends as well as enhance the value of my stock, consequently I feel that I can well afford to guarantee dividends on such an amount of stock as it will be necessary for the Company to sell in order that they may make the improvements outlined.

The benefits that will accrue to the Managing Director every shareholder will participate in in direct proportion to his interest in the Company without incurring the liability that the Managing Director assumes.

In order that there can be no question as to whether my guarantee is good or not, I have arranged for a further guarantee by Messrs. Lownsbrough & Co., Bankers, thus insuring the payment of the dividends without the shadow of a doubt.

Trusting you will appreciate the efforts we are putting forth for the benefit of this Company,

I remain, dear sirs,
Very truly yours,
J. GRANT LYMAN,

with notable exactness, but there was an onward movement of thought from day to day that carried their receptive hearers with them in an ascent of spiritual truth to the rapturous summit of the rest of faith in Christ. Mr. Meyer draws the parallel of the evangelist who goes out to move a town for God, and who would not think of treating of the deeper things of the Gospel at the outset, but leads his hearers gradually through the experiences of repentance and heart-searching, and afterwards opens up the greater fullness that is in the Saviour. So, if we are to lead Christians to receive the filling with the Holy Ghost, there must be a preliminary work. You must create, by your preaching, the feeling of need for these things before men will begin to be hungry for them. "When I, or any of the Keswick teachers, conduct a mission in England," he goes on to say, "we allow nothing else to intrude during the four or five days of conference, and we concentrate the people's attention upon this question for the whole time, coming to a climax on the last night." The parallel, indeed, might be carried further, for the Keswick brethren believe in after-meetings for inquirers; they often ask the question, "Do you accept this?" They call for the uplifted hand, and the audible expression of assent, and do everything that is possible to be done to bring the people to the point and compel them to act.

If these conferences could only be repeated in this country, and carried all through the land, and at all seasons of the year, what a quickening would follow! The names of William Arthur and William Haslam, of London; of Hopkins, of Richmond; of Morgan, of Roxbury; of Monroe, of Tunbridge Wells; of Trulove Cox, of Harrow; of Compton, of Hanford, and scores and hundreds of others indicate what it might do for our ministers. And do not our ministers require something to be done for them? How many of us find our pleasures in the world, and in worldly things? How many of us are slaves to an irritable temper, or an unguarded tongue, or a covetous heart, or a jealous spirit? A kindly disposed Christian gentleman, not given to detraction and evil-speaking, said of a certain pastor, prominent in his locality, that he was the most selfish man he had ever met. To think that it should be possible to lay such a charge at the door of an ambassador of Him who "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister!" Is it any wonder that such as these have no spiritual power, and that the churches over which they preside are in a like state? "Turn ye at my reproof," saith the Lord; "and, behold, I will pour out my spirit unto you."

A citizen of Westbrook, Me., regarded as intelligent by his townsmen, says that whenever he has a severe attack of rheumatism he confines himself to a diet of fried salt pork, and soon regains his normal health.

Whatever their habits may be, young men think too much of their characters to be seen on the street with women even slightly intoxicated. A girl ought not to tolerate a young man what young men would not tolerate in a girl.

A fragment of a letter written in Charlotte Brontë's own hand, shows her character as well as anything that she ever wrote. It is the ending of a letter to Miss Nussey, and these are the lines: "Submission, courage, exertion when practicable—these seem to be the weapons with which we must fight life's long battle. Yours faithfully, C. Brontë."

The New York Tribune reports that Senator George F. Hoar, of Massachusetts, has presented an interesting relic to the First Church of Plymouth, Mass. It is a considerable portion of the original threshold of the church in Droff, Haven, Holland, in which the Pilgrims held their last service before departing for America. When Mr. Hoar was in Holland last summer he found it, and bought it.

Dr. Conan Doyle's new historical romance is to be known as "Uncle Bernac." It deals with a stirring period in French history. In his last letter Mr. Harold Frederic says that, in response to an invitation from Stevenson to visit him in Samoa, Dr. Doyle asked the great romancer how one got there. "Oh," said Stevenson, "you go to America, cross the continent to San Francisco, and then it's the second turning to the left."

A French specialist in nerve diseases, writing of the number of American women who are afflicted with nervous prostration, and go to Europe as a rest-cure, says: "They break down, many of them, not from too much brain work, but from brain work in too many directions. The Frenchwoman is satisfied to be either a good mother, a savant, or a leader of society. But the American tries to be all of these at once."

Twelve Per Cent.

Guaranteed

For the purpose of putting in an electrical plant to generate power sufficient to operate a twenty-stamp mill, hoists, electrical drills and light the mines, The Colorado Gold Mining & Development Company offer 100,000 shares of treasury stock at 85c per share, on which a dividend at the rate of 1 per cent. per month is guaranteed for five years.

In the Keyes, Keyes Extension and Three Chimneys the Company have three splendid properties from which it is now taking pay ore, and negotiations have just been concluded for the fourth, which gives it four great properties in the Keyesville District, Kern County, California, a county which has produced gold to the value of more than a hundred millions of dollars since its discovery.

This group of mines presents a combination of seven full mining claims, making an aggregate extent of two miles with a full width throughout of 600 feet. The body of ore is enormous in quantity and of high grade. It is free milling, and more than ninety per cent. can be saved.

The Kern River, the second largest river in the State, is about one mile from the mines, and it is the intention of the Company to introduce a system of under-shot wheels in the river, thereby generating sufficient power to operate the dynamo for the electrical plant as above outlined.

When the proposed improvements are completed, the cost of mining and milling will not exceed $2.50 per ton, and as the average value of the ore is $40 per ton, it is believed our net earnings will average one thousand dollars a day, which will insure dividends of at least three per cent. a month on the par value of the shares, and those most intimately connected with the Company are sufficiently assured of its earning power to guarantee dividends on such an amount of stock as it may be necessary to sell in order to provide for the machinery necessary to enhance the Company's earning power to what is believed will prove thirty-six per cent. per annum.

At the price the shares are now offered, with the present rate of dividend, they net the investor at the rate of fourteen per cent. per annum, and we are justified in saying that shares in THE COLORADO GOLD MINING & DEVELOPMENT COMPANY are by far the best investment offered in the Dominion to-day, combining as they do, perfect safety with a high rate of interest.

In order to assure investors of the absolute stability of the investment offered, Messrs. Lownsbrough & Co., Bankers, together with the managing director, J. Grant Lyman, personally and jointly guarantee dividends at the rate of one per cent. a month on the par value of the shares for five years.

Every guaranteed certificate will have the guarantee stamped across the face of it and be signed by Messrs. Lownsbrough & Co., and J. Grant Lyman. Only one hundred thousand shares of guaranteed stock will be offered and no guaranteed certificate for less than one hundred shares will be issued, and the Company reserves the right to withdraw it from sale without notice. The price of the shares will be advanced to one dollar on February 1st, 1897. Intending purchasers of mining shares will please note the following features of this enterprise:—

First—The Company is not in the experimental stage, but an established enterprise with an assured earning capacity, extending its operations.

Second—Out proposition is purely a business one, as we buy only such properties as show a profit over our investment and do not buy "prospects."

Third—Every shareholder stands on the same basis, no shares being given away or set aside for an officer or director, except as they are paid for the same as by other shareholders.

Fourth—The payment of the dividends is assured beyond all question.

Subscription books are now open at the office of LOWNSBROUGH & CO., Bankers and Brokers, 22 King Street, East, Toronto, Ont., where J. Grant Lyman, Managing Director, will be pleased to receive your subscription for such number of shares of the above Company as will be agreeable to you; price 85 cents per share, par value $1.00, full-paid and non-assessable, and subject to no further call. Correspondence invited.

THE NEWSPAPER IN RELIGIOUS WORK.

At one of the recent meetings in Cooper Union, in this city, Mr. Moody gave an illustration of how even a sensational newspaper might unwittingly help along the cause of religion. He said that at one time he was afraid of the press, for he thought that the reporters attended the meetings just to get hold of grammatical mistakes and items for sensational head lines, but he has changed his views on this subject. When he went to St. Louis to hold a series of meetings, one of the papers announced that it would publish every word which Mr. Moody uttered during the week. "It was like a Turkish bath to preach that week; every word I said was taken down by two stenographers. If one left out a word the other put it in. Everything went in, blunders and all. And then the head lines were the most sensational possible. I preached one night on the text, 'What must I do to be saved?' and the next morning the paper appeared with a full report of the sermon, headed, 'How the Jailer of Philippi Was Caught.' "A copy of the paper about the Philippian jailer was lying on the floor of a St. Louis prison, and one of the most hardened criminals saw the head line, 'How the Jailer of Philippi Was Caught.' That's good; I'm glad to know that one jailer got his deserts." He thought Philippi was a town in Illinois across the river, and he began to read the story to find out what the jailer had been doing, and how he happened to be arrested. In a moment his eye fell on the text, "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." He couldn't imagine what that had to do with the arrest of the jailer, but as he read the sermon he was convicted of sin, and cried to God for mercy. At his trial, by a technicality Burke was set free. "Six months after his conversion the sheriff sent for Burke, and he supposed that some old charge had been trumped up against him, for he had been an honest man for the last six months. To his great surprise the sheriff said that he had had him shadowed every day since he had left the prison. He knew of his journey to New York, and of his straight life, and now he wanted to appoint him deputy sheriff. In a little while he became treasurer of the sheriff's office. "In Texas I told about the great change which had been wrought in this man, and a minister who was present rose to say that he had been invited to hold a ten days' mission in St. Louis, and when he was unable to remain the last few days, and looked around for someone to take charge of the meetings, everyone said, 'Send for Valentine Burke.' He sent to the sheriff to see if Burke could be excused for a few days, but the sheriff said that just then Burke was in charge of a store containing a large number of diamonds, and he had no one else to whom he could intrust this very important mission. Burke had won his way into the confidence of every sheriff from 1850 until his death in 1855. Thank God for the duty press which led to the conversion of this man!"—Christian Work.
