

WESTERN FAIR OPENS FRIDAY EXHIBITS ARE PILING IN TODAY

Scarcely a Vacant Space Left in the Many Buildings.

BOBBY KERR
IS COMING

Champion Runner Will Be One of the Attractions of Great Exhibition.

Tomorrow is opening day at the Western Fair.

Today Superintendent Brown and his staff of assistants are as busy as a hive of bees locating exhibitors in the various buildings at Queen's Park, all of which have been thoroughly renovated, painted and otherwise placed in the best possible shape.

Tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock Secretary Hunt will begin moving his effects to the park and by 8:30 he expects to be ready for business in his office.

Entries of every description are piling in today, and the lists are averaging far heavier all around this year than last.

Many Exhibits.

Especially is this so of the cattle exhibits, which are certain to be more classy than ever before.

All the box stalls for the horses have been taken, and horsemen entering today will be compelled to take single stalls for their entries.

Extra Attractions.

Beginning on Monday a Seventh Regiment squad of thirty-five men will give daily drills on the platform in connection with the other amusements.

This is expected to prove a most popular innovation, and will give the people of London and vicinity an opportunity of seeing what the Seventh men can do in the way of executing difficult drills.

Bobby Kerr Coming.

Mr. Hunt today received a letter from Robert Kerr, world's champion amateur 220-yard sprinter, stating that the writer would appear at the Western Fair athletic meet on Monday, Sept. 14.

Kerr, since winning the world's championship in England, has been turning exhibitions at various places throughout Canada, such as Halifax, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton.

The champion will probably not appear in the open races here, but will instead give an exhibition against the local sprinters. Two local sprinters will be invited to race Kerr.

Great Games.

Monday's games taken all around, bid fair to be the best that London has been in years, and not the least interesting of the many events will be the township relay race. Entries for the races are pouring in rapidly and the lists will be well filled when the entries close.

GOES OVER NIAGARA

Hoboken Man Risks His Life To Save
Her—In Vain.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Sept. 9.—An unidentified woman, probably 20 years old, went to death over the American falls about 5 o'clock this afternoon.
Hundreds saw her, but all were powerless to aid her. She walked to Prospect Point, where she stood viewing the delightful scene for a few minutes, but presently she climbed upon the iron guard rail and once astride of it she remained motionless, as though uncertain what to do. Then turning toward the stream, she threw herself into the current, which hurled her over the falls.

Among the crowd was Harry Schaffer, of Hoboken, N. J., who heroically risked his life by leaping over the railing at that point. Placing one foot on a rock and the other on a water gauge he attempted to grab the woman as she swept by, but he failed, and he had the horrible experience of seeing her sucked down to death. The wonder is that Schaffer did not go over the falls.

The woman wore a brown dress and hat, gloves and shoes, and was of dark complexion. Her purse was black. She was 5 feet 3 inches tall. The body may be recovered.

EXTENDING T. AND N. O.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—With steel 273 miles north of North Bay, the Tena-kum and Northern Ontario Railway commission hope to reach Cochrane, the point of intersection with the Grand Trunk Pacific route, early in October. It is not expected any special demonstration will be made to mark the junction.

While the road will not be properly ballasted until next spring, it is intended to run both passenger and freight trains to the terminals this fall.

Ovation for Redmond

Demonstration for Irish Leader Upon His Departure for America.

Queenstown, Sept. 10.—John E.
Redmond, chairman of the Irish Parliamentary party, and Joseph Devlin,
M. P., on their arrival here last night to take passage on the steamer Oceanic for New York, were recipients of a remarkable ovation, at the hands of a crowd of people. There was a torchlight procession, with many bands and banners, to the town hall, where an address was presented to thanking Mr. Redmond on behalf of the people for his priceless services.

Mr. Redmond and Mr. Devlin are on their way to attend the convention of the United Irish League in America, which will be held the latter part of the month in Boston.

THE NEXT CONGRESS FOR MONTREAL

London, Sept. 10.—The Bishop of Montreal announced at one of the meetings of the Eucharistic Congress today that the next congress would be held in Montreal.

A LONDON MAN KILLED IN ILLINOIS

Joseph Robson Reported Run Down
By a Railway Train.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 9.—A dispatch received here tonight from Barrington, Ill., says that Joseph Robson, of London, Ont., was killed by a train there this afternoon.

S. S. LAKE MICHIGAN STRANDED OFF MARGATE

Broad Stairs, England, Sept. 10.—
The British steamer Lake Michigan, from Montreal for London, with passengers, has stranded near Margate. A lifeline has gone out to her assistance. The sea is smooth.

FOREMAN M'KERLIE SPEAKS OF CIVIC LABORERS' WAGES

Declares There Was Nothing Wrong in the Matter, But Condemns the Method—Men Now at Work With Him Acknowledge Having Received the Money.

The slipshod methods of paying the city workmen, as revealed in The Advertiser yesterday, occasioned not a little comment.

Mr. Charles McKelvie, the foreman who paid his own men, was interviewed by The Advertiser this morning, and stoutly maintains that there was no irregularity so far as he was concerned. But he condemned the method of paying the men.

"I read the article in The Advertiser, and also Ald. Ferguson's statement," he said. "To these I have no objection. I do not want to pay the men, nor have I ever wanted to do so.
I only paid them at the solicitation of some of the men themselves, who thought it a hardship that they should have to pay money out of their own pockets to go down town and get their money. The method is not right, and I suppose I must suffer a certain amount of publicity in order that the system might be corrected."

No Wrongdoing.

"I deny absolutely that there is any wrongdoing. I court the fullest investigation if anything of that nature is insinuated. If you go over the pay sheet for the year, you will find that there is not enough in the whole business to make it worth while for me to be crooked if I wanted to be. There are too many loop holes.

"However, I think an injustice was done me in the figures that were published. They were correct, all of them, but any person will see that the amounts paid were more than the men could earn on city work in a week. But the extra money came from overtime work done. We were building a coffee dam, and it was necessary to pump out a lot of water. We had to keep the men at work on the pumps extra hours, so that we could get the work done. I divided the overtime among the men as best I could.

"That is the whole explanation. The full week's work would give each man $10.80. There are few weeks that their wages amount to that, and very often it runs less.

They Got the Money.

The following men were at work with McKelvie this morning, and on being shown the amount of the pay-sheet of last week declared they had received the amount set opposite their names: B. Reeves, W. Evans, G.
Saunders, J. Clark, A. Kennedy, F. David, D. Stannard and G. Sageman.

"We got the money all right," said one of the men. "Some of us went down and got it ourselves. The Abel boys and some of the others did so, and the rest was brought to us by Mr. Mc-Kelvie. We object to the present way of paying our wages. Some of us will be wet on Friday night. We have to go all the way down town and get the money. It will cost us 10 cents to do that, and we will be very late and uncomfortable going home. Ten cents is not much, you might say, but it is something when you consider all the men in the city. The money should be given us by someone from the office."

It is understood that arrangements will be made by the city to have the money sent to the men, as was suggested yesterday, by sending one of the clerks out with the money.

DARING JEM THIEVES

Attempt to Carry Off Jewels of Whitelaw Reid's Daughter.

Guilford, England, Sept. 10.—A daring attempt was made last night to steal a number of valuable jewels belonging to Mrs. John Ward, who was Miss Jean Reid, daughter of Whitelaw Reid, the United States ambassador in London, and whose marriage at St.
James' Palace on June 23 of this year was one of the social events of the London season; but the attempt was only partially successful. Mrs. Ward was visiting at Worplesdon, a place near here. Upon going up to her room to retire she found her door locked on the inside, and summoning help, forced the door. Her jewels were found laid out all ready to be taken away. The only piece missing, however, was a gold bracelet valued at $500. The burglars apparently escaped through a window. No clue to them has been found.

AGED MAN'S FALL.

Chatham, Ont., Sept. 10.—J. Westmore, who is 101 years old, and who lives in Raleigh Township, met with an accident that may prove fatal. He fell down the stairs at his home, sustaining a fractured collarbone and severe contusions.

Britain Launches New Dreadnaught A Magnificent Fighting Machine

Eighth of the New Monster Class Successfully Christened.

Portsmouth, Sept. 10.—The St. Vincent, the largest and heaviest battleship ever built for the British navy, was launched successfully here today.
The weather was fine and the sea smooth, and a great crowd saw the vessel take the water. As the warship slipped from her blocks, she was christened by the Countess Beauchamp.
Counting the three cruising battleships of the Invincible class, the St.
Vincent is the eighth vessel of the Dreadnaught type to be launched in this country. The admiralty has ordered its usual reticence with regard to the details of the design, and construction of the St. Vincent, but from certain figures that were given out it is manifest that the experience gained from the construction of the Dread-naught has been utilized in this vessel.
It is believed that some of the additional weight of the St. Vincent is to be accounted for by heavier armament for protection against torpedoes, and by improvements, giving great security to those controlling the movements of the ship while in action. A number of foreign naval attaches attended the launching on the invitation of the admiralty.

The St. Vincent was laid down in December of last year. She is supposed to be of about 19,250 tons, and her cost has been given at $9,500,000.

Merchant's $200 Up in Smoke Burned in Refuse From the Store

Here's Case of Too Much Efficiency on the Part of a Drayman.

A local drygoods merchant is said to be out about $200 as the result of the clean work done by a drayman yesterday afternoon.

The merchant, according to the story, ordered the man to clean out all waste paper and other refuse from his store and to dump it at the foot of Rectory street.

The man proceeded to do his work and when he was nearly completed the merchant placed his roll of $200 on the counter. It rolled off and was blown into the rubbish barrel and carried to the dump which is on the property of Mr. Geo. Fox.

When he was leaving, Mr. Fox asked him to set fire to it as it would blow around. This the man did and returned for his second load. He was met by the merchant and told what had happened. They secured forks and together started back at a gallop.
When they reached the dump, however, there was nothing left but the ashes.

They raked the stuff over until nearly 6 o'clock, but were unable to locate the missing roll.

Miss Rowed's Relatives Sue for $5000 Nurse Was Killed at Egerton Street

Writ Has Been Issued Against the Grand Trunk Railway.

The Grand Trunk Railroad was today made defendant in a suit for $5-000 damages by Mrs. Margaret A.
Rowed, mother of Miss Sarah Rowed, who met her death at the Egerton street crossing of the G. T. R. on the night of May 15 last.

Miss Rowed was driving across the crossing along with two friends when she suddenly caught sight of a train of freight cars approaching the rig.

Miss Rowed jumped from the rig in her fright and was killed, while her companions remained in the rig and cleared the crossing safely.

The case is set down for trial at the October assizes, and in the statement of claim it is alleged that the train which killed Miss Rowed carried no lights on the rear end, that there was no brakeman on the train, that no bell was ringing, and that no warning of any kind was given of the approach of the train.

Gibbons, Harper & Gibbons, for the plaintiff; W. H. Biggar, Toronto, for defendants.

Court Supports Mayor of Galt Need Not Sign Power Contract

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Sept. 10.—Judge Anglin has decided that the Mayor of Galt need not sign the power contract with the hydro-electric commission endorsed by the council. Application for mandamus, compelling the mayor to sign, is refused. Decision is contrary to judgment of Judge Latchford in the case of Berlin and Judge Falconbridge in the case of Hamilton.

Decision is considered a hard blow at the whole cheap power movement.

Conservative Convention on Sept. 26

The convention of the local Conservatives has been postponed from Friday night next till Saturday, Sept. 26.
The Toronto Globe says:

The postponement of the convention of the local Conservatives until Sept.
26 is a sign that all is not harmony within their camp. It is a case of putting off the evil day in the hope that the rival factions who are contending for the nomination may come to terms. Notwithstanding the denials of the friends of Major Beattie, Mr.

Gray's supporters insist that there was an "understanding" at the by-election that the major would, if given the nominations, make way at the general election for Mr. Gray. The present member, however, is not disposed to yield without a fight, and there is a portentous shaking of heads among Conservatives over the prospect.

Forest Fires About Fort William

Fort William, Sept. 10.—The entire district is now a mass of forest fires, which have approached right to the city's limits. The far side of Mount McKay has been burned over, while the fires are raging at many points on the Indian reserve near the Grand Trunk Pacific property. From Hymers, up the Canadian Northern, comes word this morning that the settlers are very uneasy. One settler is already burned out. In the unsettled portions of Gil-go, 40 cents; Yosemite to Milwaukee, 40 cents. No change in the freight situation.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 9.—The first grain charter of fair size that has been made since spring was reported today. It is the steamer P.
Miller, chartered for 200,000 bushels of corn to Buffalo at one cent. The market seems to have improved since the double holiday and shippers say the outlook is better than for some time past, and they look for the improvement to continue.

Delaware Lady Injured on Talbot St.

As a result of her horse tripping yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock on Talbot street in front of the market,
Miss Bella Johnson met with a painful injury, which may lay her up for some time.

Mrs. Johnson had come in from Delaware Township with a load of produce earlier in the day, and at the time of the accident was driving out on Talbot street. The horse tripped on the sidewalk, and Mrs. Johnson, who is 52 years of age, was thrown violently forward out of the rig, alighting on her side on the sidewalk.

Market Clerk Maker and other witnesses of the accident carried the injured woman into Taylor's drug store, where Dr. Wadsworth was "phoned" for.
An examination proved that Mrs.
Johnson had not sustained any broken bones, but was severely bruised, and was suffering from shock.

Mrs. Johnson was later removed to the home of her sister, 332 Ridout street, in Stewart's ambulance.

SUES FOR REWARD.

Toronto, Sept. 9.—A writ has been issued by Andrew George Cardwell against the corporation of the town of Blind River, Algoma, for $500, the amount offered as reward for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the party or parties guilty of incendiary fires in that town previous to Oct.

1, 1907.

The plaintiff claims to have furnished the information leading to the conviction of the guilty party. This was the case where the fire chief was found guilty of the incendiarism, and sentenced to imprisonment for a long term.

LONDON'S WATER PRESSURE INSUFFICIENT AND A DANGER SAYS CHIEF INSPECTOR HOWE

Report on the Fire at Westman's Is To Be Made Public Within a Day or Two—A Good Word
For the Efficiency of Fire Brigade at the Fire on Tuesday, August 18th.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, Sept. 10.—The fatal fire at Westman's hardware store in London has resulted in a thorough investigation into the fire-fighting appliances of the Fire City by officials of the Canadian Underwriters' Association, and Inspector Howe, in his report to be submitted to the city authorities in a few days, will hand out some rude jolts to the citizens of London.

The Inspector, in his report, will point out that the water pressure in London is insufficient, and recommends that steps be taken at once for an increase of the supply. The report will, however, say a good word for the London fire brigade and its efficiency at the fire, which resulted in the death of Chief Clark.

EXPRESS NEAR WHITE RIVER THROUGH BURNING BRIDGE

Engineer Nice Killed and His Fireman Badly Hurt—Passengers
Were All Chinamen and Miraculously Escaped—Mail and Express Car Burned.

North Bay, Sept. 9.—At six o'clock this morning six miles west of White River, on the C. P. R., the first section of the Atlantic express, eastbound, ran into a ravine, the bridge spanning the chasm being in flames. The passengers were all Chinamen, passing through in bond from the coast, and they escaped injury.

Engineer Nice, of Schreiber, was probably fatally injured, and his fireman suffered a broken leg.
The engine turned over on its side and the mail and baggage cars were burned.

How the passengers escaped injury seems miraculous.

The bridge, which is 600 feet long,
is still burning fiercely, and no estimate can be made of the duration of the tie-up until the flames subside.

The origin of the fire gives rise to speculation, as no bush fires were raging anywhere in the vicinity.

Supt. Brady left for the scene at noon on a special train.
Toronto trains will take the Soo-Minneapolis route until the bridge is repaired, as will the Imperial Limited and Pacific express.

Two or three days will be required to replace the bridge.

Nissouri Farmer Was Badly Injured By a Fall While Working on Barn

Mr. Hamilton Reavely Is Now in Victoria Hospital—Was Operated on Yesterday.

Mr. Hamilton Reavely, one of the best-known farmers of Nissouri, was brought to Victoria Hospital yesterday suffering from very serious internal injuries.

Mr. Reavely was out in his barn and was making some repairs in the left when in some manner he missed his footing and fell.

In falling he struck several cross beams and then struck heavily on the barn floor.

Mr. Reavely was missed, and when his family went out to search for him they located him in a helpless condition.

Dr. Babb was called and found, upon examination, that Mr. Reavely had sustained injuries to the abdomen that will lay him up for many weeks.
He was brought to Victoria Hospital, and has been operated on, and at present is progressing as well as can be expected.

Historical Society Delegates Arrive Are Entertained by Local Members

Interesting Papers Were Read—a Trip Around the City and Springbank Enjoyed.

The annual meeting of the Ontario Historical Society, which is being held in this city, opened yesterday, when a number of delegates were welcomed in the rooms of the London and Midland sex Historical Society, in the Public Library building.

A number of other delegates arrived this morning, and at 11 o'clock a reception was held in the rooms.

Mrs. Compton, of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Society, had the misfortune yesterday to fall and sprain her wrist badly, and has wired that she will be unable to come. She has forwarded her annual report, however, which, together with the treasurer's report, was read at this morning's meeting.

Both reports indicate that the society is in a most flourishing condition.
Regular meetings are being held throughout the country, and a great deal of valuable historical material is being collected and preserved. The membership shows a steady increase.

Delegates Entertained.

After the reports had been received and adopted, the morning session concluded, and the delegates were entertained at luncheon at the Young Women's Christian Association rooms.

At 2 o'clock the members again gathered in the Public Library, and Ald. Armstrong, who is acting mayor,

Tom Guthrie's Death in Toronto Ex-London Policeman Took Poison

Drink Is Blamed for Suicide of One Time First Class Officer.

The Toronto Star says:

Police Constable Thos. A. Guthrie, attached to No. 1 division, was found in a dying condition at his home, 127 Langley avenue, about 11:30 yesterday morning, and although medical assistance was summoned at once, nothing could be done to save him and he died at 12:15 o'clock.

The cause of his death is said by the doctors to be poison, although when administered by his own hand or not is not yet known. It is supposed, however, to be a case of suicide.

Drove Patrol Wagon.

The unfortunate man was on duty as driver of the patrol wagon for his division last night. About 8:30 he returned home.

He did not eat any breakfast, but after changing his clothes went out without saying anything as to his intentions.

About 11:30 his wife, coming into the dining-room, found him lying on the lounge. Not having heard him come in, and wondering why he was so quiet, she spoke to him.

NO MAN, WOMAN OR CHILD NEEDS SUFFER FROM

RUPTURE

ONE MINUTE MORE
The Most Scientific, Easiest, Surest and Most Infallible Method ever Invented. No spring or parts to annoy the wearer or to get out of order. No operation.

This country is teeming with individuals who suffer from rupture and who have never been able to find a cure. Nature has done its best for them, perhaps, but the trusses they have used have done more harm than good. The customary truss does more harm than it should. It stops the circulation at the very spot where it should be free to allow new blood with fresh materials to heal up the rupture. Ordinary trusses not only stop the circulation, but press the diaphragm and bowels in so far that instead of the rupture healing it is aggravated, and when the truss is removed the intestines and diaphragm spring out of their normal condition and the protrusion starts all over again. THE WHOLE TRUSS SYSTEM IS WRONG. It is a wonder that anyone who has worn an old-fashioned truss can even live without one. The great object of truss-wearing is to CURE the rupture and to be able to THROW AWAY THE TRUSS afterward.

The new appliance—the only one in the world—that gives normal pressure, leaves the edges of the rupture with free circulation of blood, keeps the bowels in place without pushing them back too far. The new appliance is as comfortable as flesh against flesh—soft, easy, with lots of elasticity, and gives the same degree of pressure as nature itself, and leaves nature perfectly free to do the work of healing.

RICH COBALT FIND. North Bay, Sept. 9.—Mann Bros., of Killaloe, prospectors, have made one of the richest strikes in the Cobalt district. At Govanda, on the east branch of the Montreal River, they found a veritable bonanza, shovelling up eight four sacks of silver nuggets from the ground, which they brought out.

A vein of solid silver 25 feet long has been uncovered, and they were offered $300,000 for the claim as soon as they left the recorder's office. Fifty thousand dollars' worth of ore is in sight, and the find has made a great sensation.

EAST ELGIN FAIR THE FINEST YET

Exhibition at Aylmer Breaks All Previous Records.

AS TO QUALITY AND QUANTITY

Splendid Live Stock, Machinery and Dairy Exhibits—Results of the Horse Speeding Contests.

[By Our Own Reporter.]

Aylmer, Sept. 9.—The greatest county fair of them all is now in full swing, and judging from the attendance to-day, it will be the most successful ever held by the East Elgin Fair Association. The grounds were thronged with visitors, and all were more than pleased with the show. The whole machinery of the fair is working smoothly, and there are no delays or drawbacks.

A High Quality.

The fair itself, looked at from the standpoint of exhibits, is a good one. The quality is much above the average, and the quantity is greater than ever before.

This is especially true of the fruits and vegetables. The root crop in Elgin County appears to be a good one this year. Practical every variety of vegetable is shown, and there are many of each kind. Potatoes, cabbages and mangels are particularly good. The fruit exhibit is also a good one. Apples, pears and peaches are excellent, and there are many fine samples of grapes.

The Machinery Show.

The machinery and manufacturers' exhibits are just as numerous as ever, with a high grade of articles on exhibition.

The ladies' work is larger than last year, although the quality is not quite up to the standard of other years. This is due perhaps to the elimination of the professional exhibitor in the class of work, and the results are much better from every standpoint.

Fine Horse Exhibit.

There are few counties in Canada that can produce better heads on the county of Elgin. This is particularly true of horses. No finer exhibit of horses can be found anywhere than at this fair, with the possible exception of three or four of the very largest exhibitions of the country. The number of entries of horses is exceptionally large, and of splendid quality. Some fine high-steppers are shown. Mr. Alva St. Clair, and Mr. Roland Thayer showing some very good animals. There are numerous entries in the young horse classes, and some splendid animals are on exhibition. The judging in these classes will take place tomorrow.

Dairying predominates in East Elgin, and the number of dairy heads on exhibition is considerably above the average. Some very fine Holsteins are shown by Messrs. John Laidlaw & Sons, of Aylmer, and Mr. C. Van Patter, of Aylmer. Two very fine herds of Ayrshires are on exhibition, shown by Mr. Emerson Cohoon, of Caledon, and Mr. N. Dymont, of Clapton's Corners.

The exhibit of shorthorns is of splendid quality. Messrs. J. Parks, of Norwich, is showing 12 head of Cotswolds; Colin E. Minor, of Union, has some splendid Oxford Downs, including a fine imported ram; John Gilbert, of Aylmer, has some good Oxford Downs also, and Mr. John Ferguson, of North Yorkmouth, has some very fine Shropshires.

In the pigs the entry list is fair, not so large as it was expected. However, there is some quality to the exhibits. The Improved Large Yorkshires, owned by Mr. H. S. McDermid, of Fingal, is a splendid one, and contains some prize-winners. Mr. J. W. Todd, of Corinth, is showing some good Tamworths, while Mr. Dennis Leeson, of Copenhagen, has some good Berkshires.

TORN BY WILD BEASTS

HISTORY OF A GREAT DISCOVERY
The old Roman heroes who were torn by wild beasts at their fights in the now ruined Colosseum at Rome, the Greek charioteers, and the gladiators who made fighting a profession, all knew the virtues of wash (such as are contained in Zam-Buk) for skin injuries and diseases. They would apply at night their secret herbals, and in a few days would again be ready for combat. Their ideal of a balm of salve was preparation which combined power with purity; and that ideal is recognized in Zam-Buk.

Ordinary ointments, salves and emollients are generally composed of rancid animal fats and mineral poisons. Zam-Buk, on the contrary, is a healing balm, composed of highly refined saps and juices got from certain rich medicinal herbs, and everyone using Zam-Buk may rely on its healing power.

When the little one runs in from play with a smarting, dirt-filled scrape on hand or knee, simply wash the part, and smear with Zam-Buk, bandaging if necessary. Zam-Buk will do the rest.

When father returns from work with a cut hand or other injury, the handy box of Zam-Buk again meets the emergency; and the housewife or mother continually finds it a real friend in need for the burns, scalds and scrapes inflicted by general household duties. For eczema, ulcers, itch, flat ulcers, abscesses, scalp sores and all skin diseases, it acts like a charm. It eases the pain and stops the bleeding of piles, and cures this painful ailment quickly and surely. All druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box, or from Zam-Buk Company, Toronto, for price, three boxes for $1.25.

These exhibits give an idea of the excellence of the show from the agricultural standpoint.

In addition there is a programme of more than usual excellence. In fact, there are few fairs, no matter of what size, that can compare with the entertainment provided by Manager Leslie. There are several acts in front of the grand stand of much merit. The best act is that of Herzog Stallion Circus, one of the best animal acts that has shown in this part of the country for some time. There are nine fine stallions in the show, and they perform wonderful tricks. In addition a band of Indians perform.

The speed programme was good. It included two races. The first race was the 2:22 class, and was won by Honest Billy in straight heats. He had the speed of the party all the way, and won handily. Billy W. paced well but could not get up. Stonewall Jackson was out of his class, but paced strong and true and should be heard from.

In the 2:35 class there was a horse race all the time. Although it was won in straight heats, the three horses finished in a bunch every heat, and created not a little enthusiasm.

The results:

Honest Billy, Jas. Hume, Allan-dale	1	1
Billy W., John Armstrong, St. Thomas	2	2
Stonewall Jackson, W. C. Kitchen, Aylmer	3	3
Laura Balls, G. Lang, St. Thomas	4	4
Time, 2:24, 2:22, 2:23, 2:34
2:35 class	2:27, 2:26, 2:24
Della K., F. J. Paisley, Ilderton	1	1
Lou R., J. S. Hume, Allandale	2	2
Adamam, W. Hamilton, Hamilton	3	3
Time, 2:27, 2:26, 2:24

Thursday will be the big day of the fair, and a large attendance is anticipated. An excursion will be run to St. Thomas and it will be largely patronized.

The officers of the association are as follows: D. Marshall, hon. president, Aylmer; F. Leeson, president, Aylmer; Emerson Cohoon, 1st vice-president, Harrietsville; W. Collins, 2nd vice-president, Leam; A. Leslie, secretary and manager, Aylmer.

Directors—Henry Gilbert, New Sarum; Henry Parker, Aylmer; Lewis Hamilton, Grovesend; G. W. Beers, Glenolm; C. H. Skinner, Aylmer; J. W. Todd, Corinth; Martin Harris, Aylmer; S. Charlton, Springfield; Colin E. Minor, Union.

Honorary directors—W. W. Marr, Grovesend; Dennis Leeson, Copenhagen; Robert Willis, Aylmer; T. Merritt Moore, Springfield; O. McKenney, Aylmer; W. G. Saunders, St. Thomas.

The officials for the races were Mr. John Mero, Tillsonburg, starter; Geo. McCall, St. Thomas, and Dr. Augustin, Aylmer, timers, and Dr. Shum-clair and John Rockey, St. Thomas, judges.

ORVILLE WRIGHT MASTERS THE AIR

Drives His Aeroplane For Hour at High Speed and With Complete Control.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Orville Wright in three phenomenal flights at Fort Meyer today established new aeroplane records that not only assure the success of the official trials before the army board, but indicate that aerial flight is now only a matter of development. Wright, who will find in the aeroplane, it is conceded by military men, a valuable means of reconnaissance and possible carriage. Two flights of approximately one hour each and a longer flight in which two men were whirled through the air for upwards of six minutes were the achievements of the Wright brothers' aeroplane today. That these flights, record-breaking as they were, will even be unostentatiously having Wright during his trials at Fort Meyer is confidently predicted.

The first flight, made this morning, in which the machine circled the drill grounds at the fort 57 times in 57 minutes and 12 seconds, was surpassed this afternoon, when a flight of 62 minutes and 14 seconds was made. Not satisfied with breaking all distances and time records for a heavier-than-air flying machine, Wright today, in the aeroplane, it is conceded by military men, a valuable means of reconnaissance and possible carriage. Two flights of approximately one hour each and a longer flight in which two men were whirled through the air for upwards of six minutes were the achievements of the Wright brothers' aeroplane today. That these flights, record-breaking as they were, will even be unostentatiously having Wright during his trials at Fort Meyer is confidently predicted.

All this happened so quickly and so unostentatiously, that the spectators, among whom were members of the cabinet and high officers of the army and navy—could hardly realize that his history had been made, and that a new era in the progress of the civilized world was begun.

The morning flight was witnessed by only a handful of enthusiasts, but the news spread so rapidly that fully a thousand people gathered on the military reservation across the Potomac from the national capital to see the afternoon event.

At 5:16 the machine rose into space and sailed over the drill grounds. High and higher it rose, turned at a slight angle as the aviator brought it around at the far side of the field, and raced along at increasing speed. There was hardly a quiver of the aeroplane in the first few rounds of the field. Mr. Wright evidently having the steering apparatus well in hand.

Round and round the machine travelled on, cutting short turns, shooting along the stretches, and presenting somewhat the appearance of an automobile racing about an imaginary course in the air.

Before the flight was begun a watch was tied to the seat near to Mr. Wright, and when a little later he saw that he had stayed for over an hour, the time required in order for him to fulfill his contract with the Government, he made for "Mother Earth." Swooping down in a sort of "bump the bumps" fashion, the machine bore down in the direction of the crowd, which quickly scattered. Raising a cloud of dust as it slid along on the

Instantly Killed in an Odd Accident

Toronto, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Mitchell, 72 Bellevue avenue, aged 45, was instantly killed, and four people received painful but not serious injuries as a result of a somewhat unusual accident at the corner of Strachan avenue and King street at 10:30 tonight.

Mrs. Mitchell was waiting at the corner for a car, accompanied by John and Mrs. McElin, Desboro, Grey County, the latter being her sister. A four-in-hand tally-ho, the only occupant of which was Wm. Reid, the driver, attempted to cross the street in front of an eastbound car, going at a fair speed. It struck the tally-ho squarely and skidded it across the pavement. One of the wheels knocked Mrs. Mitchell down and passed over her head, death being instantaneous. Mr. and Mrs. McElin were painfully bruised, and Reid, who was thrown to the ground from the tally-ho, sustained nasty injuries to his head and eyes.

A Suicide Uses the Shark Route

San Francisco, Sept. 9.—Mental derangement caused, it is believed, by brooding over the death of her son, Ensign Newman, who was blown up in turret explosion while the battleship Georgia was at target practice several months ago, led Mrs. Eliza D. Newman, wife of Paul Newman, at one time secretary to King Kalakaua, of Hawaii, to commit suicide by jumping from the steamer City of Sydney last Tuesday night into a school of sharks, which were following in the wake of the vessel.

The vessel was but four hours out off Moztan in the lower part of the Gulf of California in waters where sharks abound. For hours a school of the monsters followed the ship, being visible from time to time as they came to the surface to a number who were watching for them from the rear of the boat. Mrs. Newman was among the number, and suddenly she climbed the railing and jumped overboard. She never rose to the surface, and it is probable that she was caught by the sharks as she struck the water.

AN INSINCERE PERFORMANCE.

Mr. Borden says he still stands on the Halifax platform.
He is to be joined in his stump tour by three provincial premiers, Roblin of Manitoba; Whitney, of Ontario, and McBride of British Columbia. In the presence of these practical politicians how can he tread, even gingerly, on the civil service reform plank?

The Whitney Government has applied the spoils system with a brutality and on a scale unexampled in this country. Roblin is the head of a tricky and unscrupulous combination which has reduced patronage to a fine art and greatly aggravated its evils. Of the McBride administration we do not presume to judge at this distance, but if Mr. Borden had searched the country he could not have found two men more fully identified with the vices of the patronage system than the Premier of Ontario and the Premier of Manitoba. Mr. Borden must be judged by the company he keeps. With such partners, who are of his own choosing, how can he conscientiously raise his voice against the abuses of which they are the foremost champions? How can he plead for civil service reform when they refuse to give effect to it, although they have the power and he has not?

A RECORD TO BE PROUD OF.

Hon. W. S. Fielding, in his speech at the Hants, N. S., Liberal nominating convention, described the Conservative party of today as a party of scandal-mongers, which has abandoned all attempt to offer the people a broad and statesmanlike constructive policy. True, a little over a year ago Mr. Borden, single-handed constructed his Halifax platform, but that is now never mentioned by orthodox Conservatives. The principal plank of that platform—that advocating public ownership of railways—has been repudiated by Mr. Borden himself in his speech in the House, in which he proposed to take out of the hands of the people the only railway they own and hand it over to a commission. Since then nothing has been heard of this plank, and the doctrine of public ownership has been forgotten. As Hon. John Haggart, minister of railways in the Conservative cabinet, stated in Parliament, "public ownership is too preposterous to advocate."

So, too, with the doctrine of "adequate protection," once a battle cry of the Conservative party—that doctrine no longer does service, for the reason that Mr. Borden and his followers realize that the sentiment of the country is with the tariff policy of the present Government. But Mr. Foster tells the people the finances are in a bad way—that they are not so well managed as in his day. The record shows that in the last twelve years of Conservative rule the finances gave an annual average deficit of $415,000. In the Liberal twelve years the finances have shown an average surplus of $3,500,000. This has not been brought about by increased taxation; on the contrary the taxation has been reduced some 14 per cent and prosperity has prevailed. People have earned higher wages and have been able to buy more durable goods. Mr. Foster claims the taxation is higher per head, forgetting, evidently, that it was he who in 1939 said: "The per capita method of computing taxation is a clumsy and misleading method."

The fact is, however, that in the eighteen years of Conservative rule the national debt of Canada was added to at the rate of $5,000,000 per year, while under the Liberal Government the addition to the debt has been about $1,500,000. Leaving out of both accounts the two great works, the construction of the C. P. R. and the Transcontinental Railway, in twelve years the Conservatives added $76,000,000 to the national debt, while in the Liberal twelve years the debt has been reduced by some $7,000,000.

The whole aim of the Liberal party's legislation has been to secure the prosperity of Canada, to bring the workingman the best possible reward for his labor and to work for the general good of the country.

LAURIER AND THE RACE CRY.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, speaking at Sorel, Quebec, said:
"The blood which flows in my veins is that which flows in yours, you people of the Province of Quebec. But I have never asked my fellow-countrymen to support me because of that. But I think I have a right to ask you not to put me aside because I am of your race."
No one, reading this extract from the Premier's address, as reported in the Liberal press, can mistake the idea that it contains.

If Sir Wilfrid were a trifle more honest he would have said:
"Vote for me, men of Quebec. Like you, I am of French blood. You surely prefer me to one of another race."
The effect is the same. It is an open appeal for support, not because his Government is pure; not because his administration has been wise; but because he is French—London Free Press.

Our contemporary has made a flagrantly dishonest use of a passage in Sir Wilfrid's speech. That passage was a reply to an attack by the Conservative organ in Quebec, L'Evenement, which complained that Sir Wilfrid's nationality was a handicap to his own race. Here is L'Evenement's statement:

"We have always said that in a country like ours, where the majority is Protestant and English, it is a misfortune for our race that the prime minister should be a Frenchman. An English prime minister, who would need the French group to keep himself in power, would always respect our rights more and defend our privileges more vigorously than a French prime minister could do, who must necessarily count upon the goodwill of the English to keep himself in power."

This shameful utterance was quoted by Sir Wilfrid and rightfully resented in language which bears a meaning wholly different from that which the Free Press reads into it by knavishly tearing it from its context. The remarks of L'Evenement and Sir Wilfrid's reply must be read together.

The Quebec paper's contemptible conduct is matched by that of the London organ. Both insidiously appeal to race prejudice. The one tries to inflame the French-Canadians against Laurier; the other, the English-Canadians.

The Montreal Herald truthfully remarks that the Independent Order of Foresters has reason to be thankful that Foster didn't finish his work.

Another poor consumptive without a home or a public institution to open its doors to him. The men who buried the project of a tuberculosis hospital have much to answer for.

The G. T. P. was a magnificent conception, which is now being realized. Scarcely anyone recalls Mr. Borden's patchwork alternative except to ridicule it.

All things come to him who waits, says the proverb; but the people of King street waited long enough to get a better pavement than somebody inflicted upon that otherwise handsome thoroughfare.

Was Mayor Stevely waiting to see whether the Government would appoint four "Tories" to the "Varsity board of governors"?—Free Press.

"Perhaps. How could he absolutely rely upon Mr. Beck in such a matter?"
Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Sorel quoted the words of the French philosopher who, when asked what he thought of himself, replied: "Very little when I judge; very much when I compare." Could anything be neater than this thrust at his opponents?

Poster is openly trying to bribe the Prince Edward Islanders by promising them a tunnel to the mainland if the Conservative party gets into office. The cost of the work would be tens of millions of dollars. It is easy to make this extravagant promise when there is no prospect of being in a position to implement it. It is as easy as Mr. Foster's ethics.

FARMERS AND THE TARIFF.

[Weekly Sun.]
The Orangeville Sun, one of the best of the local weeklies on the Conservative side, continues to warn its readers of the danger, from a party standpoint, in committing the organization to a campaign for higher tariff. In its issue of last week our namesake declares that it would be unwise to revive the demand for a higher tariff, and the further question is made that as a vote-getter the policy of granting special favors for special interests has seen its best days.
The significance of the warning given becomes more apparent when the political history and general conditions of the district in which the Orangeville Sun is published are taken into account. That district is an agricultural one, and over-whelmingly Conservative. Liberals there being almost as scarce as Conservatives were at one time in the Township of Durham, in West Durham. When the Conservative organ in such a constituency goes on warning its readers to vote for a tariff, it is fairly good evidence that a great change has taken place among the Conservative farmers of that part of the Province at least.

JEWS AS AGRICULTURISTS.

[Manchester Guardian.]
The argument that is sometimes directed against the practicability of the Zionist scheme, that Jews make poor agriculturists, is forcibly answered in the latest report of the Jewish Colonization Association. The creation of the late Baron de Hirsch. The colonists in the Argentine now amount to a population of over 13,000, and they have 64,000 hectares of land under cultivation. They have been so successful generally during the last two years, both in agriculture and cattle-raising, that the association has acquired new territory and now possesses over 400,000 hectares in the Argentine alone. Exceptional drought has handicapped the colonists in Brazil, but a cheerful report is given of the Jewish farmers in the United States, Canada and Palestine. It is interesting to find that the industrial crisis in America last year drove Jews to the tilling of the soil. The preparatory work to this colonizing activity is done in Russia, where the association has established agricultural and technical schools. So successful have its labors been that it is now seeking fresh land to cultivate, and it has sent its agricultural inspector to explore various regions in the East.

CAPITAL CRIMES.

[New York American.]
In 1770 there were 150 capital offenses in England, and before the end of the century the number had greatly increased. To steal a sheep or five shillings' worth of goods from a shop was punishable by death. A girl of 22 was hanged for receiving a place of violence from the person who had stolen it.

THE SPOILS BRIGADE.

While some philosophers are pleading that Laurier ought to be turned out because of the existence of what is known as the patronage system, Mr. Borden is trying to cheer up his followers with the sight of four premiers, whose chief glory is that they use the patronage system for the benefit of their friends. Just as in the good old days Sir John Macdonald did before them.

NAMES THAT FIT.

[Montreal Herald.]
T. P. O'Connor, in a valuable and sympathetic analysis of the character of Rufus Isaacs, the Jewish lawyer of London, now looming up as one of the great of his profession, begins by arguing that even Isaacs' name is in his favor. And he proceeds to quote his friend, the lamented John Boyle O'Reilly, as always arguing that he, O'Reilly, had been greatly helped in his career by the "striking and euphonious" on which "T. P." comments: "And certainly, when you see the man, and when you read his beautiful work you had the conviction that he was right, and that Boyle O'Reilly was just the identical collection of names, of words and sounds, that revivified his character and opened the way for the love he created universally."
Commenting on this, the Boston Herald points out "how perfectly" the name Sidney Lanier fitted the exquisite creature given by the South to American literature, and the fitness held with Edgar Allan Poe. But how unfortunate it would have been, as has just been pointed out, if the "poet of empire" had been christened "Bert Kipling" or "Bert Kipling" (Memorial) had been called "Jack Tennyson." The name Jack London goes admirably with the sort of man who bears it, and so does the striking and euphonious of the world's vagaries and hypercriticisms. To which the striking and euphonious of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The name and title fit the man like a glove. You can't imagine Wilfrid Laurier as the framework of a short, chunky, bearded figure with a red, stubby beard. It fits only a figure tall and graceful, a manner courteous and dignified, a personality attractive and dominating. It is impossible to conceive of the present premier as answering to the name of John Jones or Joshua Stubbs. And yet premier as he is, swarmed down with such common names.

A GREAT MAN.

[Montreal Herald.]
Those who ask that in all his attributes Sir Richard Cartwright shall be just what he was in the prime of his physical strength, might wonder what he would be out of all reason. Old men for the council, young men for the wars; and he who carried the fiery cross through Ontario from 1882 to 1886 is no longer young. He is no Canadian, whatever his party preference, who will think the country the poorer for having lost him. The services as character, attainments and experience guarantee for so long as he finds the burden not greater than he can bear.

TWELVE YEARS OF LAURIER.

[Montreal Herald.]
The key to the extraordinary record of Canadian development during the twelve years of Laurier is to be found in the following comparison of each of those twelve years with that of the year 1896:

DROPS 500 FEET—LIVES

Miraculous Escape From Instant Death of a Parachute Jumper

New York, Sept. 9.—In view of 7,000 persons at the Richmond County Fair, held on Staten Island, today, William Coby, a young balloonist, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, fell from an exploded balloon, and was seriously mortally injured. A baby lion, which Coby had taken up with him, also fell, but landed on the prostrate form of the aeronaut and escaped injury.

It was the intention of Coby to let the lion and its parachute go when the balloon was up 250 feet, and to make a parachute drop himself when he was up 500 feet. When the balloon was about 75 feet in the air, a flash of flame was seen, and the next instant the big gas bag disappeared, and a cloud of black smoke took its place. The bodies of Coby and the lion were seen to be falling close together. Coby was rendered unconscious, and did not move after he struck the ground. He was taken to a hospital, where it was found that he had been injured, and that he had a slight chance to survive.

MONTREAL SINGER MISSING

Left Church on Sunday and Has Not Been Seen Since.

Montreal, Sept. 10.—Montreal is startled over the disappearance of a well-known church singer, Miss Frances Murphy, who came here from Newfoundland seven years ago. She is a contralto in the Church of the Messiah, and about 40 years old. She went to church on Sunday morning and sang as usual, and after the service had a little chat with the pastor. Then she went apparently to her residence, but never reached there and has not been seen since.

"A Pair of Country Kids."

"A Pair of Country Kids," a rural comedy drama, is the play announced at the Grand for Friday. The play is highly spoken of as a clean, up-to-date rural comedy drama, true to nature, and with all those lovable folk "down on the farm." This company is made up of actors who can act, sing and dance, and will give an evening of genuine amusement, and you will surely laugh at the kids, for they are busy, constantly getting in and out of mischief.

The Great American Play, "Paid in Full."

Success is the hardest-earned return in the world, and particularly in the theatrical calling, but once earned it is lasting, and this fact is strongly emphasized in the triumph of "Paid in Full," a new play of contemporary life in America by Eugene Walter, which Wagenhafer and Kemper presented at the Astor Theatre, New York, and which is now in its second year in that city. A specially-organized cast and a superior production will be seen here at the Grand on Saturday, and the presentation, it is promised will be as perfect in every detail as that in New York. "Paid in Full" was nothing short of a triumph in New York and Chicago, it having a run of five months in the latter city, where every critic acclaimed it the greatest play in years. Already there has been a large demand for seats.

"Three Little Maids."

"Three Little Maids" will open a three-nights' engagement at the Grand on Monday. The musical score contains several catchy numbers of the wholesome kind. Some of them are, "Love in a Game," "Golf," "The Wagon," "The Daughter," "The Dream of You," "Algy's Awfully Good Idea," "Dorothy," and a "Real Town Lady."

"Three Little Maids" is one of the few importations from England which fortunately escaped the blight of being "adapted" out of all semblance to the original by the vandal hand of the American tinkers.

The character of the types are well defined, the lines are exceptionally clever, and the music is pleasant, unhackneyed and enlivening.

The principals are well-known exponents of musical comedy, and the chorus is a large and handsome one. A special children's matinee will be given on Wednesday at 2:30.

Rag Doll Matinee.

There will probably be a great gathering of school children at Bennett's this coming Saturday to participate in Manager Driscoll's "rag doll" matinee. This is the beginning of a series of souvenir very popular with the school children, and with the parents, as it will be very interesting to them. Special attendants will meet all children unaccompanied by their parents and give them every attention and see that they are taken care of and comfortably seated.

The attendance at Bennett's Vaudeville Theatre last night was very large, and naturally the popular manager, Mr. Driscoll, was immensely pleased. As usual, Ward and Curran took the house by storm, while the Holden's Manikins made a tremendous hit. The bill is one which can be recommended to the theatregoers of London. It's clean and wholesome and there's a laugh every second. If you want to get rid of the blues, go to Bennett's this week.

No inking as to the nature or locale of the new play which David Belasco is writing for his youngest dramatic protégé, Frances Starr, has as yet been made public, and the delightful little artist, who made a place for herself in the foremost ranks of dramatic stars in the American stage by reason of her convincing and artistic interpretation of the leading role in "The Rose of the Rancho," is as impatient as any to know the character of the role she is next to essay.

"Quincy Adams Sawyer," coming to the Grand Opera House for one night Sept. 23, is said to be wholly different from any other New England play, and advantageously so. It has been treated with special individuality of perception and judgment, and the company was reported by the critics there to be chosen with excellent regard for their ability. In this line of country character impersonation, the story of the young city man in the country is so naturally handled that everyone perceives the varied romance and humor of the different situations and laughs and sympathizes with equal spontaneity.

NORDHEIMER'S LIMITED

J. J. CALLAGHAN, General Manager, 188 DUNDAS ST., LONDON, ONT.

"The Warrens of Virginia" will tour the principal cities of the United States and Canada this season, beginning its itinerary the latter part of this month. This is the stirring drama of civil war days in which Frank Keenan (well remembered for his gambler-sheriff in "The Girl of the Golden West") and Charlotte Walker, each created a profound impression by reasons of their artistic and truthful portrayals of southern types at the Belasco Theatre in New York last season. For more than 200 performances these two players, supported by a company of actors, have been touring the country, and have been nightly won the applause, the laughter and the tears of audiences which tested the capacity of the Forty-Second street playhouse; and of the merit of their performance other theatre-loving cities will now have opportunity to judge.

Clark Brown, the New York representative of the Bennett Theatrical Enterprises, will come to London in a few days with a batch of foreign contracts to discuss with General Manager Bennett. There are many of the highest-salaried acts in vaudeville included in these contracts.

Henry W. Savage's production of "Merry Widow," which has set the world to waiting, started on its second year in New York Monday night at Klaw & Erlanger's New Amsterdam Theatre. During the summer this Viennese operetta half-packed the Aerial Gardens nightly, and its return to the theatre beautiful marked its 35th consecutive performance in New York. It was a notable event in the record-making run of the piece, the house being crowded with a cosmopolitan audience to welcome the popular Georgia Cain, who made her debut in the charming title role. Miss Cain had waited a year for this opportunity, and she danced and sang and flirted as never before. Charles Meekins, who followed Donald Brian last spring as the dashing Prince Danilo, was Miss Cain's partner in the famous "Merry Widow" waltz, and they were forced to do the dance over and over again before the joy-loving audience was satisfied.

The Wings of the Morning

BY LOUIS TRACY.

There was an intense pathos in the man's words. He made this self-sacrificing offer with an utter absence of any motive save the old tradition of duty to the colors. Here was another-sahib, of the Belgaum Battalion, in dire peril. Very well then, Corporal Mir Jan, late of the 18th Bengal Lancers, must dare all to save him.

Jenks was profoundly moved. He reflected how best to utilize the services of this willing volunteer without exposing him to certain death in the manner suggested. The native misinterpreted his silence.

"I am not a budmash, sahib," he exclaimed proudly. "I only killed a man because—"

"Listen, Mir Jan. You cannot well mend what you have said. The Dyaks, you are sure, will not come before morning?"

"They have carried the wounded to the boats and are making ladders. Such was their tally when I left them."

"Will they not miss you?"

"They will miss the musk, sahib. It was the last full one."

"Mir Jan, do as I bid, and you shall see Delhi again. Have you ever used a Lee-Metford?"

"I have seen them, sahib; but I better understand the Mahtini."

"I will give you a rifle, with plenty of ammunition. Do you go inside the cave, there, and—"

"Where the ghost is, sahib?" he said.

"Ghost! That is a tale for children. There is no ghost, only a few bones of a man murdered by these scoundrels long ago. Have you any food?"

"Some rice, sahib; sufficient for a day, or two at a pinch."

"Good! We will get water from the well. When the fighting begins at dawn, fire at every man you see from the back of the cave. On no account come out. Then they can never reach you if you keep a full magazine. Wait here!"

"I thought you were never coming," protested Mir Jan when Jenks reached the ledge. "I have been quite creepy. I am sure there is some one down there. And, please, may I have another drink?"

The sailor had left the crowbar beneath. He secured a rifle, a spare clip, and a dozen packets of cartridges, meanwhile briefly explaining to Mir Jan the turn of events so far as he knew.

She was naturally delighted, and forgot her fears in the excitement caused by the appearance of so useful an ally. She drank his health in a brimming beaker of water.

She heard her lover rejoin Mir Jan and saw the two step out into the moonlight, whilst Jenks explained the situation of the Lee-Metford Fortunate-ly Mir Jan was now much recovered from the fatigue and privation of the earlier hours. Her senses were sharpened to a pitch little dreamed of by stay-at-home young ladies of her age, and she deemed it her province to act as a squire whilst the two men conferred.

Hence, she was the first to detect, or rather to become conscious of, the stealthy crawl of several Dyaks along the bottom of the cliff from Turtle Beach. They advanced in Indian file, moving with the utmost care and crouching in the murky shadows like so many wild beasts stalking their prey.

"Robert," she screamed. "The Dyaks! On your left!"

But Mir Jan was rapidly gaining knowledge of strategy. Before she shrieked he had grasped a rifle. Holding it at the "Ready"—about the level of her waist—and depressing the muzzle sufficiently, she began firing down the side of the rock as fast as she could handle lever and trigger.

Two of the necked bullets struck a projection and splashed the leading savages with molten metal.

Unfortunately the Lee-Metford beneath was unloaded, being in Mir Jan's possession for purposes of instruction. Jenks whipped out his revolver.

"To the cave!" he roared, and Mir Jan's unwillingness to face a goblin could not withstand the combined impetus of the sahib's order and the upward rush of the enemy. He darted headlong for the entrance.

Jenks, shooting blindly as he, too, ran for the ladder, emptied the revolver just as his left hand clutched that of a Maxim. Three Dyaks were so close that he threw the weapon into the face of the foremost man, effectually stopping his onward progress, for the darkness made it impossible to dodge the missile.

The sailor turned to dive into the cave and secure the rifle from Mir Jan, when his shin caught the heavy crowbar resting against the rock. The pain of the blow lent emphasis to the swing with which the implement descended upon some portion of a Dyak's anatomy. Jenks never knew where he hit the second assailant, but the place cracked like an eggshell.

He had not time to recover the bar for another blow, so he gave the point in the gullet of a gentleman who was with a paragon. The downfall of this worthy caused his immediate successor to stumble, and Jenks saw his opportunity. With the agility of a cat he jumped up the ladder. Once started, he had to go on. He afterwards confessed to an unpleasant sensation of pins and needles along his back during that brief acrobatic display; but he reached the ledge without further injury, save an agonizing twinge when the unprotected quick of his damaged finger was smartly rapped against the rock.

These things happened with the speed of thought. Within forty seconds of Mir Jan's shrill cry the sailor was breast high with the ledge and calling to her.

"All right, old girl. Keep it up!"

The cheerful confidence of his words had a wonderful effect on her. Mir Jan's instinct strong within her—the instinct that inspires alike the mild-eyed Sister of Charity and the tigress fighting for her cubs. When Jenks was down below there, in imminent danger of being cut to pieces, the gentle, lovable girl, who would not willingly hurt the humblest of God's creatures, became terrible, majestic in her frenzied purpose. Robert must be saved. If a Maxim were planted on the rock she would unhesitatingly have turned the lever and sprayed the Dyaks with bullets.

But here he was close to her, unharmed and calmly jubilant, as was his way when a stiff fight went well. He was by her side now, firing and aiming too, for the Dyaks broke cover recklessly in running for shelter, and one may do fair work by moonlight as many a hunter of wild duck can testify by the rheumatism in his bones.

She had strength enough left to place the rifle out of harm's way before she broke down and sobbed, not tearfully, but in a paroxysm of reaction. Soon all was quiet beneath, save for the labored efforts of some wounded man to get far away from that accursed rock. Jenks was able to turn to Mir Jan. He endeavored to allay her agitation, and succeeded somewhat, for tears came, and she clung to him. It was useless to reproach him. The whole incident was unforeseen; she was herself a party to it. But what an escape!

He lifted her in his arms and carried her to a set where the tarpaulin rested on a broken water cask.

"You have been a very good little girl and have earned your supper," he said.

"Oh, how can you talk so calmly after such an awful experience?" she expostulated brokenly.

The Jesuit, say their opponents, teach that at times a "white lie" is permissible. Surely this was an instance.

"It is a small thing to trouble about, sweetheart," he explained. "You spotted the enemy so promptly, and blazed away with such ferocity, that they never got within yards of me."

"Are you sure?"

"I vow and declare that after we have eaten something, and sampled our remaining bottle of wine, I will tell you exactly what happened."

"Why not now?"

"Because I must first see Mir Jan. I bundled him neck and crop into the cave. I hope I did not hurt him."

"You are not going down there again?"

"No need, I trust."

He went to the side of the ledge, recovered the ladder which he had hastily heaved out of the Dyaks' reach after his climb, and cried—

"Mir Jan."

"Ah, sahib! Pleased be the name of the Most High, you are alive. I was searching among the slain with a sorrowful heart."

The Mohammedan's voice came from some little distance on the left.

"The slain, you say. How many?"

"Five, sahib."

"Impossible! I fired blindly with the revolver, and only hit one man hard with the iron bar. One other dropped near the wood after I obtained a rifle."

"Then there be six sahib, not reckoning the wounded. I have accounted for one, so the miss-sahib must have—"

"What is he saying about me?" inquired Mir Jan, who had risen and joined her lover.

"He says you absolutely staggered the Dyaks by opening fire the moment they appeared."

"How did you come to slay one, Mir Jan?" he continued.

"A son of a black pig followed me into the cave. I waited for him in the darkness. I have just thrown his body outside."

"Shabash! Is Taming S'Allah dead, by any lucky chance?"

"No, sahib, if he be not the sixth. I will go and see."

"You may be attacked?"

"I have found a sword, sahib. You left me no cartridges."

Jenks told him that the clip and the twelve packets were lying at the foot of the rock, where Mir Jan speedily discovered them. The Mohammedan gave satisfactory assurance that he understood the mechanism of the rifle by filling and adjusting the magazine.

Then he went to examine the corpse of the man who lay in the open near the quarry path.

SHEATH TROUSERS ARRIVE

If You Are Modest You May Have Plaits Put in 'Em.

New York, Sept. 9.—The Fall and winter seasons are likely to see a good many innovations in the dress for men. If the designs of the tailors, haberdashers, and hatters are carried out, for one thing, there is going to be a lot of color.

Perhaps the most striking novelty of all are the sheath trousers. In these the leg seams on the outside, instead of running down to the bottom, will stop at the knee, and be laced from the point on. For those who are of a retiring nature the seam will not be open to expose the calf of the leg, but will be covered by a plait.

Pearl Buttons on Pajamas.

Then there are new pajamas with mother of pearl buttons and beading; with any delicate shade of baby blue—pink being preferred by the ultra-exclusive ones.

Green—full, rich hunter's green—will lead in the colors of the garments, but it may be relieved with white. To go with a green suit one must have a green hat. Soft hats, preferably made of plush, are being carried by the leaders of fashion. They are known as Yodels (the hats, not the hatters) and evidently are of Swiss origin.

Following close in the wake of the yodel hat is the Marathon tie, whose chief point of excellence seems to be that its colors are fast. The Marathon tie is among the "also rans" when it comes to the automobile scarf. This is in gold, purple, and green diagonal stripes. The man who wears one must run the risk of being arrested for speeding.

But with it all the tailors preach "harmony." You get a too—in the spats. There is a shirt that is a veritable rhapsody of color. Fortunately the shirt is among the "also rans" when it comes to the automobile scarf. This is in gold, purple, and green diagonal stripes. The man who wears one must run the risk of being arrested for speeding.

BERTHA CLAICHE FREED

Home Has Been Found For White Slave Who Killed Her Master.

Auburn, New York, Sept. 9.—Bertha Claiche, chief figure in one of New York City's recent notable murder cases, a convict in Auburn prison, had her application for parole favorably acted on by the prison parole board today.

Bertha Claiche was tried for the shooting of Emilie Gendron in New York City on June 6, 1906. She was convicted and sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the state prison in Albany. Much sympathy was manifested for the young French woman at the time of her trial, although the evidence showed the murder to have been a deliberate one. Her story then had been forced her to go on the street and support him secured for her a large amount of consideration. Since she has been in Auburn she has been a model prisoner.

Where she will go when she is released the prison officials refuse to reveal, but they say it will not be New York, as the girl has expressed a desire to live amid totally different surroundings than those of her old life.

A good home has been found for her.

FRUIT JUICES CLEAR THE SKIN.

The skin mirrors faithfully the state of the blood, and the blood shows how well—or how badly—the liver, bowels, kidneys, and the millions of tiny glands in the skin are doing their work. If these organs are not properly kept out the waste matter the blood will be poisoned and the skin sallow, "muddy," and sprinkled with pimples.

Plenty of ripe fruit helps more than any other food to cure this condition, but even more effective, as well as less expensive, are "Fruit-a-tives." These are little tablets of concentrated fruit juices, combined in such a way as to many times increase their action on those organs that eliminate impurities.

One or two "Fruit-a-tives" a day will keep the blood pure and give the skin the clear glow of health. Twenty-five cents for trial size—50 cents for regular size—six for $2.50. Dealers everywhere should have both sizes. If you are unable to obtain "Fruit-a-tives" in your neighborhood they will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

EMPEROR IN AUTO WHIZZES TO WAR

William, of Germany, Speeds to Bloodless Battle in a Motor Car.

St. Johann-on-the-Saar, Sept. 8.—The expected encounter between the two armies engaged in the German autumn maneuvers did not take place today, owing to the cautious tactics observed by the respective commanding generals.

By 9 o'clock this morning the "red" cavalry had occupied a strong position in a valley, while the "blue" were massed behind a wood a few miles away. Although both sides had succeeded in local attacks, other, they were afraid of losing their advantageous positions and did not clash. The labor of the day fell to the artillery, which, posted on heights, blazed away merrily. The "red" infantry extends in a column nine miles long.

Emperor William came on the field early in a motor car and spent the day on a hillside in the vicinity of the "red" cavalry.

As usual, the Emperor threw himself with the greatest zest into the spirit of the maneuvers. He did not take lunch until after 2 o'clock, and then sat down to a light meal on a plain wooden table in a kitchen chair before one of the small portable army cookhouses.

Maj.-Gen. Leonard Wood, U. S. A., Wieser, the military attaché at Berlin, and Capt. Halstead, Doerrey, of the Fourth Infantry, at 6 o'clock this morning proceeded on a special train to the center of the maneuvers and spent the day on horseback. He was taken by Capt. Von Lienenau, the German military attaché at Washington, to all points of interest.

"PRINCE" SAVINE IN JAIL

Noted Adventurer Held in Antwerp on Charge of Swindling.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Nicholas Savine, who styled himself "Prince Savine" and "Count de Toulouse-Lautrec," one of the world's most picturesque adventurers, is in the hands of the police again, this time at Antwerp, where he is charged with cashing stolen coupons.

He was arrested under the name of Count de Toulouse-Lautrec; and it was his protests, his claim that he was an American citizen, who he backed by displaying naturalization papers granted in Chicago, that established identity.

Investigation showed that he had escaped recently from St. Paul, where he was sent after his extradition from Bremen by the Russian police in 1905. At that time he appealed to Emperor Nicholas to free his family name from the cloud that had been cast upon it and to permit him to return to his native land, of which he once was an officer. The dramatic appeal was denied and nothing was heard from him after he left Siberia until his capture in Antwerp.

Cab Driver in Chicago.

He became known in Chicago in 1895, when he came from San Francisco, apparently on his way from China and still further back from the Siberian mines, where he had been a prisoner. He worked as a cab driver, landed in jail when his criminal distinction became known.

Savine took out his citizenship papers in 1898, and when the Spanish war broke out he enlisted and served in the Porto Rican campaign. After peace was declared he went to Canada, but again appeared in Chicago in 1900 after disposing of some forged bonds in Montreal.

When he was arrested at the instance of the Canadian police, blank bonds of different kinds were found in his possession, and after a hard fight the Montreal authorities obtained extradition papers and sent him to jail for one year.

Adventures in the Old World.

Savine is said to have been born about 1858 of an aristocratic Russian family, and to have inherited 100,000 acres of land and an invested capital of $5,000,000 when he was 22 years old.

He squandered the entire fortune and went to Paris, where he lived by his wits until he contrived to find employment as a secret agent of several different countries, whose secrets he sold back and forth.

In 1892 he plotted to secure the throne of Bulgaria and succeeded in fooling Stambouloff into favoring him for the succession. He went to Constantinople to obtain the assistance of the Sultan and there was recognized by Russian secret agents and dragged off to serve a life sentence in Siberia.

He made his escape to Tiumsk, tried swindling again, and was rearrested, and sent back to the mines, but once more he escaped and made his way to America.

During his lifetime there have been a score of other reports of his arrest at New York, Lisbon, Hamburg, and sent back to the mines, but he has escaped punishment for the crimes with which he was charged.

SQUIRRELS HAD RUBONIC.

Los Angeles, Sept. 9.—A case of bubonic plague has been discovered. The patient is a boy named Mulholland, and is convalescent. Three weeks ago the boy found a sick squirrel in the park, and picked it up. The squirrel bit the boy on the hand. Sickness followed, and the attending physician declared it to be bubonic plague. Other physicians were called into consultation, and discovered that squirrels in the park are afflicted with the disease. No other cases have developed, and it is believed by the authorities that there will be no spread of the plague.

Only 6 per cent of amputation cases result fatally at present, owing to the improvement in antiseptic surgery.

This woman says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her after everything else had failed.

Mrs. W. Barrett, 602 Moreau St., Montreal, writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse instead of better. I was fast falling in health, and I was completely discouraged."

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it cured the female weakness, making me strong and well."

"Every woman who suffers from female troubles should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Barnard's Annual WATCH SALE!

The whole of our immense stock of Watches, suitable for every class of wearer, is now being offered at special prices. The following are a few of the many genuine bargains:

A Week in Old Country Life

London, Sept. 6.—The usual "silly" times for the English newspapers have now arrived, and the discussions on the largest gooseberries and the inevitable sea serpent are due, but this year a question, which has a really useful bearing, is occupying one of the columns of the daily press, and the Rev. C. G. Gull, now the vicar of Hounslow, formerly a well-known London schoolmaster, has propounded a query which has been eagerly taken up by many who are interested or thought to be qualified to judge on the subject. The question is, "Can a healthy person be wholly bad?" and the cause of the discussion was the unusual reason given by Mr. Gull at the Brentford police court for his interest in a would-be suicide. The vicar stated that as the man had recovered in a remarkable way from his self-inflicted wounds it proved that he had a splendid constitution, and therefore he could not be wholly bad. If the man had been a drunkard, or had been leading a dissipated life, he would never have come out of the hospital alive.

Hospital Experience.

Mr. Gull continues: "The mere fact that he recovered from the severe wounds shows that he had previously led a steady life. There is no doubt whatever that constitution and morals are very closely connected." Dr. Joseph Oldfield, a well-known authority on hygienic matters, was equally emphatic on the subject—"After many years' experience among both rich and poor, I am sure that no man who has reached middle age is wholly bad, for if he had been, he would have ruined his constitution years before this, and would thus never have reached middle age."

Sandow's Opinion.

Eugene Sandow, the great athlete, gave it as his opinion that Mr. Gull's theory was based on sound deduction. Said he: "A person's constitution is regulated to a great extent by the life he leads, and I have found over and over again, that if every criminal were compelled to undergo a strict course of physical exercise during the period he is in jail, it would go a long way towards the ultimate stamping out of crime."

Oldest Field Marshal.

Sir Frederick Paul Marshall, the oldest field marshal in the British army, has entered his ninetieth year. In addition to serving in the Suleim, Crimean and Afghan wars, he has held the positions of military secretary to the commander-in-chief in India, commander-in-chief of the Madras army, and finally commander-in-chief of the Indian army. A familiar figure in Pall Mall, where he resides, Sir Frederick spends most of his time in the United Service Club, whose members during the annual cleaning have just migrated to the Athenaeum across the way.

Defection From Unionists.

The Liberal press are expressing much pleasure just now over the turn-over from the Unionist ranks of Mr. A. Cameron Corbett, M. P., who has sat for the Tradeston division of Glasgow since the redistribution of 1885. On every question but one, more especially in relation to the union with Ireland, Mr. Corbett is a keen Unionist, but on the temperance policy he refuses to follow his leaders, and has openly expressed his intention to vote for the licensing bill of the present Asquith Government. The Government party are naturally jubilant, but keen observers think that if there ever come another severe fight on the home rule question, Mr. Cameron Corbett will be found with his brother Orangemen, bitterly attacking the so-called Liberal party.

Coming to Canada.

The Rev. R. D. Stamer, who recently resigned the important vicarage of Leek, Staffs, in order to offer himself for service abroad, has sailed for Quebec en route for Calgary, whence he will proceed to Claresholm to take charge of the mission entrusted to him by the Bishop of Calgary.

The Rev. R. M. Rindolf, secretary and founder of the Church of England, Walf and Strays' Society, has left London for Canada, with a view to visiting the homes at Niagara-on-the-Lake and Sherbrooke, Que., in connection with the emigration work of the society. He hopes to return to England in the early part of October.

The Bishop of Yukon leaves England this week for Kincardine, Ont., where he will be there for a month, and then leaves for Dawson in the Yukon. Dr. Stringer, the present holder of the See of Yukon, is well known in Toronto, as a Wycliffe and university graduate.

Brief Cricket Results.

The cricket season, which is now some rare scoring this week, but agencies of space prevent more than a bare mention. Yorkshire vs. Worcester at Sheffield, drawn. Score: Yorkshire 378, Worcester 24 for one wicket. Rhodes scored 146 for Yorkshire.

Middlesex made mincemeat of Notts at Nottingham, winning by an innings and 93 runs. Tarrant, who is certainly the best all-round provincial this season, scored 144, not out, for the winners. Score: Middlesex 534, for eight wickets, innings declared. Notts, 133, 308.

Hampshire had a glorious win over Gloucester at Cheltenham, by nine wickets, and they certainly a greatly improved team this year. Score: Hants, 322, 35 for one wicket. Gloucester, 165, 193.

by saying that it was customary in cases where two prisoners were charged with the same crime to keep them separate. He said that at first he had not thought separation necessary in the case of the Haines, but that recent occurrences had changed his view. He did not say what these recent occurrences were.

Keepers at the prison say that T. Jenkins Hains has spent much of his time in the jail consoling the captain, who, in his present predicament at least, appears to be dependent on his brother for courage. These keepers are frank in stating their belief that the separation will have a bad effect on Capt. Hains already weakened nervous condition. For all their talking while in adjoining cells, the keepers say that they never heard the prisoners discuss the crime of Mrs. Hains' alleged infidelity, but most of the time talked entirely outside subjects.

The change of distant cells aroused the ire of the lawyers for the defence. John F. McIntyre, the brothers' chief counsel, said yesterday that he would take the matter into the courts, and if necessary would carry the question up to the court of appeals. The warden, under the orders of the sheriff, was responsible for the keeping of the prisoners. Mr. McIntyre said, and the district attorney overstepped his authority when he interfered. Mr. McIntyre laid great stress on the possible effect of the change on the captain's mind.

Again from Boston comes the report that Mrs. Hains has completed her statement of the events leading up to the shooting, and it is said that this statement will be made public within a few days. Mrs. Hains, it is declared, will come to New York this week, possibly to the request of District Attorney Darrin, who already has expressed a desire to hear from her what she has to say about the tragedy.

JEROME DOES NOT CARE

Not interested in Whether Thaw Goes Outside State.

New York, Sept. 9.—District Attorney Jerome said today that he is not interested enough in the Thaw matter to care whether they take Harry K. Thaw to Pittsburg or not, and added that he knows of no law which his removal to another state might be accomplished.

"A writ of habeas corpus obtained in a federal court might be directed to the sheriff under whose jurisdiction Thaw now is, but I doubt if such a procedure will be resorted to," said Mr. Jerome. "The paper served upon Thaw is simply a technical summons, and if he is by any chance removed to another state, I might then have something to say, but at present I am not interested in the matter. I have no authority to oppose his being taken to jail. He was removed from my jurisdiction when he was committed to the asylum."

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION

Constantinople, Sept. 9. — A man named Silvio Ricci was taken into custody here today accused of being responsible for the attempt to assassinate the Sultan of Turkey, July 31, 1905, when a bomb was exploded in the courtyard of the mosque near Yildiz Kiosk, timed to meet his majesty as he emerged to get into his carriage. The Sultan was not injured, but several others were killed and wounded. The perpetrators were never found.

THE EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS OPENS

A Notable Gathering of Roman Catholic Prelates Now on Old London.

London, Sept. 9.—With all the splendour of the Roman Catholic Church, Cardinal Vincenzo Vannuttelli, the Pope's legate, was today formally received by the prelates who have gathered here for the Eucharistic congress, over which he will preside.

The reception took place this evening in Westminster Cathedral. Long before the arrival of the legate every seat in the cathedral, which is capable of accommodating 8,000 persons, was occupied.

Cardinal Vannuttelli, with the attending priests, walked from the archbishop's house, a block from the cathedral, through lines of cheering people, including hundreds of priests who came from almost every country in the world to attend the congress. The service opened with the singing of the versicle, "Protectore, Nostra," which was followed by the recitation of a collect by Archbishop Bourne, head of the Westminster diocese.

Cardinal Vannuttelli, having likewise said a collect, took his seat before the altar, while the chaplain read the apostolic letters appointing Cardinal Vannuttelli legate of the Pope.

Vannuttelli's Address.

The legate then addressed the prelates, of whom there was a greater number present than have gathered in one place in England in centuries. The cardinal spoke in Latin.

After giving expression to the honor he felt at the mission confided to him by the Pope, Cardinal Vannuttelli said that what touched the delegates most deeply was the fact that they were receiving this hospitable welcome in England, a country upon which centuries God had bestowed His benedictions. If in the passage of time painful divergence had arisen, they gradually had been changed into a desire for a peace, and so, after centuries, for the first time the doors of "Free England" had been opened to a pontifical cardinal legate, the princes of the church, the bishops and a select group of ecclesiastics. In a few eloquent words the legate thanked England for the reception given the delegates, and continuing, he said:

"Our respectful homage rises to Him who wisely guides thy destinies; we extend our gratitude to those who protect the social interests, and may our presence with the help of God in some way contribute to that true Christian peace which is the object of thy aspirations."

Honor the Eucharist.

Speaking of the unity of the church, Cardinal Vannuttelli said that notwithstanding the variety and numbers of the delegates to the congress, we are all united in anima una (the same faith and the same objects unite us). Going on the speaker said that the purpose of the congress was to honor the eucharist, and exalt its worship. It gave the Pope great pleasure to have the congress held in London, not only because of the salutary effects for which he hoped, but because he was thus able to give a high public testimonial of his deference to and esteem for the whole British nation. It was to give proof of this affection for his English children that the Pope recently issued a decree removing them from the regime of the mission countries, to which they hitherto had been subjected.

"Oh, that this congress," said the legate, "might revive that other eucharist which was the especial chorister, honor and glory of the island of Saints, banishing all doubt and divergences, and causing the eyes of all to be fixed on the same star of faith, which was the dearest treasure of the bishops, kings and people of England. Nothing is more adapted to reinforce that union than this august sacrament."

Cardinal Vannuttelli spoke at some length on the Roman Catholic ancestry of England, and concluded with these words:

"It is an act of it now known that the English people, at their universities and public offices in the law courts, never begin moments of grave import without first imploring the assistance of the Most Holy, to whom was offered the blood of the sacrifice, and was it not in England that with a generosity really regal were built and adorned temples to the God of the eucharist and was it not in England that even before the celebrated bull of Urban IV, public homage was rendered the Divine Word?"

Archbishop Bourne replied in English. He welcomed the papal legate in the name of the clergy and the laity of England. Speaking of the congress, he said:

"It is an act of worship, an act of faith, and at the same time an act of reparation intended to atone for all those words uttered in the English language, that some sent forth in knowing and bitter malice and many more spoken in ignorance, which surely will be pleaded in mitigation of their guilt, have done outrage to the blessed sacrament."

"If, profiting by the grateful fact that the native sense of justice in our countrymen overcome the prejudice which once did them so great dishonor, or, on this occasion, make the fullest use of that right of free speech and public demonstration which they applied so readily to advance the cause they have at heart, let no man imagine that we do these things in any spirit of hostile feelings to those who do not think as we do, and still less that there is any thought of empty boasting in our minds."

The solemn benediction of holy sacrament brought the impressive service to a close. The congregation included the members of the leading Catholic families of England and Ireland, and a great many foreigners, some of whom have traveled thousands of miles to attend. Other services will be held during the course of the week.

The grand jury comprises 24 names, including one broker, several businessmen, active and retired; an architect, three farmers, three grocers, a real estate man and a couple of contractors. Justice Garretton will charge the grand jury at an extraordinary term of the supreme court to be held in Flushing on Sept. 21. In addition to the Annis murder half a dozen homicides of lesser interest will be presented to this special grand jury, as well as some 70 other indictable offences committed in Queens County during the summer.

In accordance with a request made to the authorities of the county just by District Attorney Darrin, Capt. Hains and his brother no longer occupy adjoining cells, but now are in cells so far removed from each other that they cannot hold communication of any kind. Mr. Darrin explained this course

THE TWO INVINCIBLES

COD LIVER OIL AND IRON.

Cod liver oil and iron in some form or other are prescribed by physicians the world over, more than any other two remedies the world has ever known, for anaemia or poor blood, weakness, convalescence, and all wasting and pulmonary diseases.

Iron, because it is the basis of the blood, and without a sufficient amount the blood is impoverished, watery, pale and impure.

Cod Liver Oil, because it contains curative and reconstructive qualities greater than that possessed by any other one medicinal agent.

In Vinol, modern science has given to the world a combination of these two world-famed tonics—Cod Liver Oil and Iron, but short of all useless oil or disagreeable features.

Vinol is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process, from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate of iron, all the medicinal, healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil.

As a body-builder and strength-creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

Interesting Practice at Tecumseh"Duff" Wood, Harrison, Baker, Wilson, and Other Fast Boys Turn Out—Management Drills Team in Passing and Punting—Practice.

The Londons had a good rugby practice last evening at Tecumseh Park, where players turned out on the opening night.

In addition to punting, the players were put through several formations, and much ginger was displayed by the numerous candidates for places on the team.

"Duff" Wood, who, despite his lightness, put up such a brilliant game against the Toronto Argos, was on hand, as were many other likely-looking boys.

Passing, running, and tackling was indulged in, and it is safe to say that there are some stiff shoulders around town today.

"Nibs" Harrison, the clever ex-Hamiltonian, was out with the boys, and assisted materially in keeping things moving.

This evening and every evening from now until the opening of the season, practice will be held, and everybody is welcome to turn out with the team.

Hamilton Herald: The Tigers had their first practice of the season yesterday afternoon at the cricket grounds, where about a dozen of the players were out and indulged in about an hour's light work in the form of running and kicking the ball. The long drive has made the ground a little too hard for a real good practice, and the players are praying for rain before they get down to real business, which will likely be on Saturday afternoon.

The players out yesterday were George Ballard, Dave Tope, "Rajah" Wigle, Don Lyon, Bill Burkholder and some of the intermediates. It is likely that "Barley" will play senior this year, as he will be needed on the scrimmage to assist Denny McCarthy. Bill dropped back to the intermediates last year, as he did not turn out in time to make the seniors, but he was on the deck yesterday with a new suit and a determination to make good, and his only regret was that he did not get a chance to show just how well he can handle himself and, incidentally, the ball.

Frank Harvey, who played with the senior Tigers before he went to London, is back in Hamilton, and may turn out this season.

Hamilton is not in favor of Toronto having two teams in the senior inter-provincial series, and at the same time, the locals will not throw the Argonauts down after the manner in which the oarsmen stood by the new union last season.

Dundas rugby team is practicing hard three times a week and expects to turn the trick on the Intermediate Tigers this year. The Valleyites expected the same thing last year, but they failed to connect.

It is likely that the West End Pleasure Club, of Hamilton, will make application for a franchise in the intermediate series of the Interprovincial. Some of the officers of the club have been discussing the question for some days, and no decision has been arrived at yet—Hamilton Times.

Hamilton Spectator: There is still some doubt in regard to Gordon Southam turning out. The great halfback still claims that he has done his suit for the last time, but as soon as the cricket season is over, Gordon will begin to scrape the mud off last year's uniform and get busy. He is in good shape just at present, and will need but little work to harden him up.

There is a feeling around town that the Big Four officials are a little slow with that annual. As it is now, there is a bare two weeks to drum up the Junior and Intermediate teams. It will take some tall hustling to get the two series in shape.

The Senior Intercollegiate rugby football schedule for the coming season is as follows:

Oct. 10—Queen's at Ottawa, McGill at Toronto.

Oct. 17—Toronto at Queen's, Ottawa at McGill.

Oct. 24—Queen's at McGill, Ottawa at Toronto.

Oct. 31—Toronto at Ottawa, McGill at Queen's.

Nov. 7—Ottawa at Queen's, Toronto at McGill.

Nov. 14—McGill at Ottawa, Queen's at Toronto.

A meeting of the executive of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union will be held at the clubhouse of the M. A. A. on Saturday, the 12th of September. The meeting will be held at 2:30 p.m. or 8 p.m., according to the convenience of the members of the executive. The principal business to come before the meeting is as follows:

Application of Toronto Amateur Athletic Club to admission to senior series.

Formation of intermediate and junior series.

Drawing up of schedule.

Board of referees.—Toronto Star.

The Hamilton club's representative in the Interprovincial Rugby Union meeting on Saturday will be George Ballard. W. H. Seymour, of Hamilton, is vice-president of the union. Tom Clancy, of Ottawa, has been appointed secretary by President Percy Molson, of Montreal.

BRANTFORD LOSES JUNIOR CHAMPIONSHIP
Toronto, Sept. 9.—By a score of 9 to 6 Brantbridge defeated Brantford in a hotly-contested game at the Island today, thus winning the junior championship of the Canadian Lacrosse Association. E. Doyle, the referee, had all he could do in his endeavor to keep the game clean, but the youngsters used their sticks on each other quite freely, and the procession to the penalty bench was continuous.

BATTLING NELSON
KNOCKS OUT GANSChampion Dane Puts Away Baltimore Ethiopian in the 21st Round.

Colma Arena, San Francisco, Sept. 9.—Joe Gans was today placed in the has-been class by Battling Nelson, who for the second time proved his claim to the lightweight title. The battle lasted 21 rounds, when Gans was unable to respond within the fatal ten seconds.

Gans Punished.
The veteran colored fighter was severely punished, but the champion, too, bore the marks of battle. From the first clang of the gong to the last moment Nelson forced the fighting, never giving ground, and gradually battered down his older and less vigorous opponent.

Gans succumbed in the 21st round after being unmercifully trounced. Nelson in this round raised right and left to the jaw and body and Gans sank to the floor. Mechanically the now defeated fighter watched Referee Eddie Smith wave his hands, apparently too far gone to hear him count. Not until the count of ten was finished did Gans, his face terribly cut, and his eyes glassy, attempt to rise. He realized, however, that it was too late and feebly declared: "I have positively fought my last battle."

Gans Never Had a Chance.
The fight was spectacular, and at no time did it appear that Gans had a chance to win. Time and again he would shoot wicked punches to Nelson's face and body, but the latter never for an instant wavered. Failing to arrest the rushing champion at any stage, Gans seemed to lose heart, and gradually weakened, though he often rallied and fought back fiercely.

Referee Smith, after the fight, gave out the following statement: "Gans was all in after the ninth round. In the 21st both the timekeeper and my counted ten, therefore making Nelson the winner. Gans, I believe, did not know he was counted out, but it is just as well that he was, for Nelson had him completely at his mercy, and it was useless for the game colored man to take a further beating."

When Gans was seen in his dressing-room his face presented a terrible picture. His right eye was closed, the left partially so; his lips and nose were badly lacerated, and his face was puffed out like an inflated balloon. He gave the following statement:

His Last Fight.
"I made one fight too many. Nelson is a tough boy and beat me fairly. I will never fight again. This is my last farewell, but in dead earnest."

Willie Keefe, one of Gans' principal seconds, said after the fight:

"Gans was all in after the ninth round. In the eleventh round he allowed me to toss the sponge into the ring. This he would not do, saying he preferred to be knocked out, and would fight as long as he had the strength to stand up. For rounds Gans fought on his courage alone, and he could not land a damaging punch."

Nelson said:

"Gans was tougher than before. He was in good shape and he fought me a different kind of a fight. From now on I will never fight a colored man again. I shook hands with Billy Papke today and we both made the compact. 'I hurt my right hand in the second round, but kept it going regardless of the pain.'"

EASTERNERS OBJECT TO FIVE-TEAM UNION
From what can be learned from excellent authority it seems almost certain that neither Ottawa nor Montreal will agree to a five-club league, and the chances are that Argonauts may be dropped and Toronto taken in.

But there is some trouble in store. Dr. Thompson and R. T. Steele will represent Hamilton at the Interprovincial meeting, September 12. They are opposed to the federation as the supreme court in football matters. They will likewise oppose any attempt should it be made, to permit Small and Russell to play, on account of their connection with hockey in Montreal last winter—Montreal Star.

CORNWALL BELIEVE NATIONALS ARE EASY
Cornwall, Sept. 9.—Having beaten the Shamrocks, the Cornwalls now think that if they can beat the Nationals on Saturday the championship struggle of the season is ahead of them on the National grounds. The local team arrived home last night badly cut up and bruised and it will take all week to rest up into shape. There was no organized demonstration, but several hundred citizens with a band met the team at the station and congratulated them.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP

HAVING RECEIVED "HIS'N," Mistah Gans will hereafter devote his spare time to shootin' craps and playin' poker.

The moke, in his day, was the best that ever stepped into a 24-foot ring, but Daddy Time and the irrepressible Dane has decreed that he step down and out.

IT IS BECOMING real fashionable in pugilistic circles to get bumped, and Tommy Burns may ramble around the lemon patch just long enough to get one on the point of his talk machine, and John Young Corbett, Stanley Ketchell and Joe Gans at the "used-to-was" club.

NELSON is the one fighter in the public eye who has drawn the color line without making himself unpopular. The Dane whipped the best color in the business before he drew the line, and if certain other alleged champions would do likewise, they would have more right to be labelled champions.

REPORTS FROM the firing line would indicate that Dundas won't be quite so big on the gridiron this season as in other years, while the Hamilton Cubs may also have some trouble getting together a team worth while.

LONDON GIVES every promise of being able this year to place a team that will be second to none in its class. The boys must work to make the team a success, for who intends to make the team should remember that absence at practice sets a bad example for others.

SO FAR the work of the team has been all that could reasonably be expected, and although the turnouts have not been any too large, it is hoped that by the time the fair is over, the team will have been whipped into something like real form.

OWING TO BUSINESS Dick Whetter, the fast London halfback, will not be able to get into the game this season. Dick will join in some of the practices, however, and should be able to help out a whole lot.

OWING TO THE ABSENCE of the Ma Linda baseball team's players the aforesaid team will not receive

Detroit Tigers Trim White Sox
In a Twelve Inning BattleSummers Relieves Willett and Twirls Champs to Victory—Wild Throws by Sox and Reckless Base-Running Tie
the Score in the Seventh.

Detroit, Sept. 10.—Twelve innings of baseball, good, bad and indifferent, were played at Bennett Park yesterday afternoon by the Tigers and White Sox. The sun had set and darkness was fast settling over the field when Cobb ended it with a three-base smash down the third base line, followed by Jerry Downs' single to center. The whole contest was one weird mess of brilliant plays and wretched plays—spectacular stops and throws and silly bores and wild heaves.

Bad Start.
The Champions started off by practically handing the game to the enemy. Willett opened for the locals and had nothing. Eddie Summers was sent to the rescue, but the Sox made five runs. Then followed an uphill fight against Altrick until that handsome gentleman weakened. Frank Smith took his place after Schaefer had tripled and Crawford and Cobb had singled. There followed some of the most weird, wild and wonderful ball playing the Tigers' fans have ever seen. It was contrary to all the laws and logic of the game, but the score was tied. Rossman grounded to Smith, who threw wild to third to get Crawford. Hahn, in turn, threw wild to the plate. Even Billy Sullivan, recovering the ball, threw high to Smith, and the score was again even, as the Tigers had managed to glean two runs off Altrick earlier in the fray.

Summers' Great Work.
Eddie Summers was the hero of the afternoon. The lean giant went in when all hope of ever winning seemed gone and for 11 innings pitched the grandest of ball. For 10 innings not a man reached the plate. He was given splendid support, Schaefer, especially, pulling off some well defensive plays.

Opening like sandlotters and throwing the game away, the Tigers gradually steadied down and at the twelfth inning were going at top speed with every man awake and playing championship ball.

Cobb's Triple Smash.
With both clubs even in the seventh some pretty baseball followed. Summers was still working like a piece of well-oiled machinery. In the ninth the Sox got two men on through bases on balls, but some fast fielding by Schaefer retired the side. In the tenth Tannehill doubled to right and Smith sacrificed. Hahn lined straight to Crawford and he held Tannehill at third. Schaefer made a great catch of Fielder Jones' low fly, robbing the Sox of a run. In the twelfth they got another man to third, but with two out Smith grounded to short.

It was then that the Tigers opened up. Cobb started it when he cut the ball past third for a three-base smash straight down the foul line. Rossman bounded the ball into Smith's glove but Sullivan coached him to hold it for fear Cobb would dash home. Schaefer grounded to third, Jennings had taken Coughlin out and sent in Perry earlier in the day. It was the third-sacker's turn to bat, but Hughie took him out, sending in Mullin. Big George was walked by the worried pitcher, filling the bases. Downs was up. Jennings was going to send in Thomas, but changed his mind and was glad he did. For Jerry was on to his job, sending the ball over second for a single that brought home the Georgian.

The Maple Leafs defeated the River- sides on the Riversides diamond by a score of 10 to 9. Trace started to pitch for the Leafs, but it was his off-day, and he was relieved by Willis, after the score stood 5 to 9. Willis pitched splendid ball, striking out 14 men and allowing but 4 hits. HAPPENINGS OF A DAY IN BUSY EAST LONDON

AN INTERESTING FRATERNAL EVENT

Members of the Canadian Home Circles Met Last Night.

An interesting fraternal event took place last night at Society Hall, East London, when the members of the Canadian Home Circles and their friends assembled to enjoy a social evening, and to listen to an address from the supreme secretary, Mr. J. M. Foster, B. A., of Toronto.

An excellent vocal and instrumental programme was given, in which the following ladies and gentlemen took part: Miss May Little, Miss Cora Nuttall, Messrs. Robert Lindsay and J. E. Patterson. This was followed by the supreme secretary's address, who, by his genial manner, encouraging remarks and clear explanation of the order's leading features, won all hearts.

Mr. C. F. George, district organizer, also made a short address, after which light refreshments were enjoyed, and a very successful meeting brought to a close.

Mr. George Angus was the chairman of the evening.

TOOK WATCH AND CHAIN FROM GIRL

A Mean Trick Reported in the East End.

While standing in front of her home, 126 Hamilton road, the other afternoon, the 2-year-old daughter of Mr. Wm. Ward, the contractor, was spoken to by a young woman, who removed a valuable gold locket and chain from the child's neck.

Mrs. Ward stated to The Advertiser that she had placed her gold watch chain and a locket on her little girl's neck that afternoon.

She went outside a few minutes later and saw the woman running down the street.

Mrs. Ward was unable to regain the jewelry, but will report the matter to the police immediately.

EAST END FIREMEN DENY THE STORY

No Drinking, They Claim, Is Going On in East End Station.

The firemen stationed at the east end hall are very indignant. Some persons whom they claim know nothing about the hall having reported to Ald. Saunders that they are intoxicated frequently since the death of Chief Clark.

The men deny the story absolutely, and state that if they learn the person's name who made the statements they will prosecute him.

Firemen Scruby and Handysides disclaim all knowledge of any drinking, and state that such statements are an injustice to them.

"Should I desire to leave the service such allegations might be very harmful to me in securing another position," said Mr. Handysides this morning.

LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS AT WESTERN FAIR

Big Show of Western Ontario Will Soon Be On.

The exhibition buildings at Queen's Park are assuming a very businesslike appearance. The fair opens tomorrow and the exhibits are pouring in rapidly.

Huge numbers of the exhibitors have arranged their booths and there will be but few empty spaces when the gates open tomorrow.

The stove and machinery exhibits are nearly all in and the transportation building is being rapidly filled up.

When the fair is in full swing there will not be an empty space in any building.

A SURPRISE PARTY

Pleasant Evening at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Dockstad, Quebec Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Dockstad, of Quebec street, were agreeably surprised on Wednesday evening by about 25 of their friends.

The evening was spent in games and music, after which supper was served, when the happy gathering at an early hour bade good-night to their host and hostess, and departed, singing "Auld Lang Syne."

DR. JARVIS HAS RETURNED FROM TORONTO

Where He Attended the Convention of Homoeopathic Physicians.

Dr. Jarvis, who has just returned from the Canadian Institute of Homoeopathy, which was held at Grace Hospital, Toronto, reports that it was a very successful convention.

It was the general opinion at the convention, the doctor says, that were homoeopathy more fully understood, the use of mortality would be materially reduced. A propaganda of medical reform was thought to be as necessary as the crusade against consumption.

Grace Hospital is having much difficulty in securing physicians for the wards, as all medical men state that they are "too busy."

A GENERAL MEETING OF ALL CLERKS

Will Be Held in East End Hall Within a Few Days.

Mr. Nelson Miles, who is endeavoring to launch a clerk's association in this city, has succeeded in securing the use of the east end hall for a general meeting of clerks to be held there immediately.

All clerks are asked to attend the meeting and make known their ideas on the proposition. The plan now being discussed by a number of young men who are interested in the proposed association is to have a club-room, where social evenings could be held by the members during the summer months.

EAST LONDON NOTES.

Mr. A. E. McDiarmid, of 668 Dundas street, has left for Portland, Ore., where he will establish a photo studio.

Mr. George Fawkes, of Dundas street east, has returned from a trip to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fawkes, of Dundas street east, are attending the exhibition in Toronto.

The many friends of Mr. Chester Evans, of 407 Queen's avenue, wish him a very pleasant trip to California, where he will be the guest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Evans.

Misses Mina Taylor and Winifred Short, both of the east end, took part in a concert at Thamesford on Monday in a very capable manner.

An Old Landmark Being Demolished

This morning the contractors, who are demolishing the store formerly occupied by Messrs. Smallman & Ingram, took down the old stone at the top of the building, bearing the date 1854.

The structure was one of the oldest in the city, and was known as the Commercial Block.

It was built by Dr. C. G. Moore, father of Dr. C. S. Moore, and a partner named Rolph.

The building was a speculation and at the time it was erected was the largest store building in Western Ontario.

Dr. C. S. Moore stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that the building was too large for the London of those days, and as an investment was a decided failure.

Mr. J. B. Smallman informed a reporter this afternoon that the building will be level with the street next week, and that work on the new steel and concrete structure that is to replace it will be begun at once.

The steel for the new building is practically all in the city now, having been coming in carloads for many days.

The walls and roof of the new building will be built as soon as possible, and it is expected that all will be finished before snow falls, that the work of finishing the interior may be proceeded with during the winter months.

A New York firm is doing the work.

Septic Tanks Are Not Yet in Use

The septic tanks which have been constructed for about three or four months have not yet been used.

At present all the city sewage is dumped into the river after having passed through the old sewage beds at the city farm.

This does not make for better sanitary conditions in the city. The septic tanks were constructed for the purpose of purifying the sewage that would be dumped into the river, by removing all the animal impurities.

"The septic tanks have not been inspected by the board of works," said City Engineer Graydon, "when they are inspected they will be put in operation. I do not know when that will be."

The tanks cost about $12,000.

Maud Mule Resented Attentions

As a result of coming in contact with the hind portion of a male's hoof, Whitney Buller, an employee of the London Electric Power house, is now nursing a badly damaged right arm which, although badly bruised and swollen, is not broken so far as can yet be determined.

Mr. Buller resides in West London with a family named Letich, and yesterday went out to feed a mule, which, by the way, is named Maud. "I saw Mr. Buller coming and welcomed him with a loud 'Hee haw!'" Mr. Buller was so pleased with his welcome that he entered the stall and slapped Maud on the side. Maud apparently did not relish such familiarity and responded by kicking her hind legs in the air. In consequence, the London Electric will pay a mule employee for some time.

Robert Egerton Dead.

The death occurred this morning of Mr. Robert Egerton, of 524 Hill street, one of London's best-known painters.

Mr. Egerton was 64 years old and had only been ill a short time. He came to this city from England many years ago. The funeral will be held Saturday afternoon at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

The Australian Government will erect five wireless stations along its coast.

Local Man Viciously Assaulted Pool Room Employee Found Guilty

Joseph Wilson's Head Smashed by Mr. P.—Oh, Name Is Too Long.

In the police court this morning, Theodore Pappinacaleu, the only man, as far as is known, who ever appeared in a London court that has all the vowels in his name, was found guilty of assaulting and wounding Joseph Wilson.

Wilson was in a local pool room yesterday when he was ordered to get off a pool table by the gentleman with the lengthy name, who is a collector in the pool room.

Wilson got off, and Mr. P. threatened to kill him, it is alleged, and came at him and hit him three times, the last blow striking Wilson on the head and causing such injury that medical attention was required.

After hearing the evidence, Pappinacaleu was hauled in the sum of $100 to appear for sentence in a week.

Nip Fountain Nipped.

Ed. Fountain, the colored man, who was with Frank Harris when he broke away from P. C. Fysh on Tuesday evening, was captured at his home last night. Fountain was fined $5 and $2 costs for his share in the business and not being able to pay was sent down for 21 days.

The case of James Hartford, charged with injuring several persons while driving furiously, was again adjourned for a week, as Mr. Patrick, one of the injured men, is unable to leave the hospital.

Hartford's bail was renewed in the sum of $200.

George Donnelly was fined $10 for being drunk and was warned by the court that if he ever appears again he will be sent down for a long term in the Central.

May Be Brother of Joseph Robson

A dispatch to The Advertiser states that Joseph Robson, of London, was killed at Barrington, Illinois, yesterday by being run over by a train.

Mr. William Robson, the well-known produce dealer in the Market Lane, stated to The Advertiser this afternoon that he had a brother, Joseph Robson, who was a sailor, and who was in the United States.

It is some time since Mr. Robson has heard from his brother, and he is inclined to think that the man who is killed may be him.

There was a decidedly interesting dispute after the case between Mr. Judd and Mr. C. H. Downes, in which Mr. Judd called Mr. Downes some choice names, and intimated that he had made false statements.

The street car company paid Mrs. Bugler $100, besides assuming responsibility for legal and medical fees.

Mrs. Bugler suffered considerably from shock of the accident, and at the time was in a delicate condition. Mr. E. W. Scattergood acted for Mrs. Bugler.

LATE MISS SARE LAID TO REST

Funeral Was Held to Mount Pleasant Cemetery on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. David Sare and family desire to thank the many friends who sympathized with them in their recent bereavement, in the death of their youngest daughter, Miss Maud Mary Sare.

The loss is more keenly felt, as her illness was of such short duration, being only from the 30th of August to the 6th of September.

Her attending physician, Dr. H. A. Kingston, gives the cause of death as gastritis, which developed an acute stage.

The late Miss Sare was a lovable girl, and will be very much missed by all who knew her.

The funeral services were conducted at Rose Villa, Evergreen avenue, and at Mount Pleasant Cemetery by the Rev. W. M. Walker, pastor of the Wesleyan Road Baptist Church, and were of a very impressive and instructive nature.

The pallbearers were brothers of the deceased: John C. David T., and Frederick A. Sare; M. H. Lee, cousin; W. J. Wright, brother-in-law, and Willie J. Wernick, nephew.

Interment took place in the family plot in Mount Pleasant Cemetery at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 8.

LONDON'S WATER PRESSURE

More Pressure Needed.

The report of Chief Inspector Howe substantiates the position taken by The Advertiser on the water question. He plainly says that more pressure and more water are needed and that high-pressure is the only system that will meet the needs of the city.

The question of increasing the water supply has been up before the citizens on three occasions and no decision was arrived at.

It is quite probable that it will again come before the citizens in January next. It is not known what scheme will be submitted to the people, but it will probably be a high-pressure system.

The report is a decided rebuff to many ardent critics, who criticized Chief Clark's methods of fighting the fire. He declares the fire was handled excellently, and that Chief Clark and his men did decidedly good work.

Rugby Game Saturday.

The London Rugby team will play a practice game against a picked team Saturday at 4 p.m. at Tecumseh Park. No admission fee will be charged to the game. The teams will be made up from the following players: Wood, Harrison, Grafton, Moore, Baker, Jerry, McColl, Rau, Brown, Sage, McEwen, Routledge, Blackwell, Watson, Smith, Wilson, Nichols, Gillies Campbell Ball, McQueen, Banghart, Lee, Whetter, Hayward, Wilson, Hueston and Bernhardt. The management of the team has secured a new player, Grafton, and although he has not yet been tried out he is touted as a good half-back. Grafton formerly played on the Dundas team, and is strongly recommended by Harrison, the ex-Hamilton player, now with London.

—Mr. W. J. Graham, of this city, who for the last year has been with the Bank of Nova Scotia in Woodstock, has accepted a position in the Home Bank and will make his headquarters in London.

LATEST STOCK MARKET REPORTS

[Special from Harris, Wintrop & Co., 10 N. C. Beecher.]

New York, Sept. 10. — Noon. — The market has shown a somewhat yielding tendency today, and it looks as if there would be less resistance to profit-taking. Most stocks, though, have been well taken care of, and while there has been no specially big buying, a fairly firm undertone exists in most of the standard issues. Word was passed round this morning that the recent active issues would be firm, a well-earned rest, while some of the inactive ones would be taken in hand. At the moment this seems to be working out. The commodity clause of the Hepburn act having been declared unconstitutional should help Reading. Sales to noon.

Benefit Band Concert.

The ideal weather last night drew a large crowd to Victoria Park, where the benefit band concert in aid of Bandsman T. Olsen was given. Mr. Olsen lost most of his household goods in the fire which destroyed the Canada Packing Company's plant. The sum of $48.38 was collected last night and turned over to Mr. Olsen. The musical programme rendered was an excellent one, and was greatly enjoyed by everyone. The Twenty-sixth Regiment Band, under Bandmaster Pococke, is now one of the finest organizations in Canada, and Londoners are very proud of it.

Officers at Waterloo.

Toronto Telegram: "Old Soldier," who states that he is the son of a Waterloo man, and writes from London, Ont., inquires, "Who was the last officer to serve regimentally in the British army who was present at Waterloo?" It is not quite clear what "Old Soldier" wishes to know, but the last regimental officer who wore the Waterloo medal was Honorary Major Francis Feneran, paymaster of the Fifth Depot Battalion, Parkhurst, I. W. He was still serving in 1865. At the same time there were, though, many general officers who had been present at many of the engagements during the peninsula war, and also at Waterloo who were at the same time colonels of regiments. The last of these, who died about sixteen years ago, was General the Earl of Albemarle, who as a boy of 16 years of age, fought at Waterloo as subaltern in the Fourteenth Regiment.

After all, it is the praise of the users and purchasers of a piano that counts, and judged by this standard the Goulay piano is pre-eminent in Canada. The unsolicited praise which has come from the thousands of satisfied users throughout Canada is the sincerest and most convincing form of appreciation.

Visit of the Sheffield Choir to London

The Sheffield choir, one of the most noted musical organizations of England, will appear in the city for one performance on the evening of Wednesday, Nov. 11.

Some time ago it was thought the choir would appear here for two concerts, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, but it was found impossible for the city to entertain the party, owing to the lack of funds for such a purpose.

An effort was made to raise a subscription to entertain the distinguished visitors when they came here, but that plan did not appear feasible, and it was thought the tour would have to be called off.

However, Berlin was anxious for one of the entertainments, and arrangements have been made whereby the choir will appear in Berlin during the afternoon of November 11, coming here for the evening performance by special train.

They will leave immediately after the performance for the east.

AMERICAN CLUB FORMED IN LONDON

First of Its Kind To Be Launched in the Dominion of Canada.

Sixty-three of the American residents of London met last night and organized the first American Club that has ever been formed in Canada.

The meeting was an enthusiastic one, and a number of names of Americans living here were obtained, and they will be visited by members of the newly-formed club and will shortly be enrolled among its members.

The officers elected last night were as follows:

President—Thomas J. Hutchinson; treasurer, R. D. Cody; secretary, Barker Wheeler; board of directors, Robert Burns, J. A. McCoubrey, George H. Bentson, W. E. Davis and C. B. King; membership committee, F. C. Buzzell, C. J. Carter, F. J. Coleman, E. F. Lyon, D. C. Mahomey, W. E. Davis and E. Cody.

Old Boys Did It.

The formation of the club is a direct result of the meetings of the American residents that were held to make arrangements for the American float in the Old Boys' procession. There had been a feeling among many of the Americans living here for some time that they ought to get together and form an American association, and realizing that the meetings in connection with the homecoming of the Old Boys was a splendid chance to get started, those who took part followed up the idea, and the formation of the club last night resulted.

It is just at a place where American visitors to the city may be entertained.

The clubrooms at present are on Carling street, and all Americans who are not members are requested to send in their names to Barker Wheeler, 134 Carling street.

TOM GUTHRIE'S DEATH

ed further, only to find him completely unconscious.

Medical assistance was called at once, but, despite all that could be done, he died at 12:15 without regaining consciousness.

No Bottle Found.

Not bottle or vessel of any kind was found near the lounge or in the room, to indicate the presence of poison. But it is the opinion of the doctor that this was undoubtedly the cause of the constable's death.

Constable Guthrie had been a member of the Toronto force for a number of years. He came to the city, after serving on the London force for four years, joining the local force Dec. 2, 1885. He served as a constable for some years, having gained the grade of first-class. It is only recently that he had been driving the patrol wagon.

Tuesday night Inspector Davis told Guthrie to resume regular street duty at 1 o'clock today. Guthrie did not seem hurt, and said, "Thank you." Street duty is harder on a man than ambulance work.

No Reason Known.

No reason could be given at the police station or at his home for the unfortunate man's act, if such it proves to have been. He was considered as a very good man by the department, and was commended.

He is said, however, to have been drinking rather heavily during the last year, and was reduced, from a first-class officer to the third-class grade last spring.

Died of Strychnine.

Dr. Reynolds, who was called, stated at 2 o'clock today that the constable Guthrie died of strychnine poisoning. When he reached the house the man was already dead.

He leaves a family consisting of a wife and two small children. The former is heart-broken over the affair.
