Most of the Banks and Merchants Are Refusing to Accept the Money at Its Face Value.

Don't take any Chinese money! The passing of "marked down' oney in London has been a regular isiness for years, and the recent deision of most of the banks to refuse at more than 45 per cent of their face value coins from the Strait settlements and Hong Kong was the result of a discovery of wholesale importations of the silver into this city.
It was learned by The Advertiser from a reliable source that ten thousand ten-cent pieces, having a face value of $1,000, were recently shipped into London and distributed from number of places where change was handled in large quantities. The coins are actually worth 45 cents on the dol-

NEEDED AT SARNIA

At Present All Reports of Lake Traffic Are Made From American Ports.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, Feb. 5.-It is strange that a port of the size and importance of Sarnia should be without some adequate means of reporting marine news of essential value and importance to those interested in marine circles. The Sarnia Board of Trade has at various times endeavored to evolve ome plan whereby the arrival and clearances of vessels and other marine

Sale of Furniture Interests Many People

The first week of this Furniture Sale has far exceeded our greatest expectations, and has demonstrated beyond a doubt that most people who are looking for Furniture are not searching for the lower grades or cheaply-made articles, which are not to be found in any of our stocks. None but Furniture of quality is given space on our floors, and some of the best makers' lines are confined to this store exclusively for London. This applies particularly to exclusive or out-of-the-ordinary Furniture, and includes a great variety of styles not to be found elsewhere. On such Furniture, priced as all merchandise is priced at this store, at the lowest possible figure consistent with good quality, the reductions now shown on the price tickets mean more than the saving of much money. These sale prices carry with them a quality guarantee just the same as though you paid the full regular price. Today we list a few high-grade Chiffoniers, which suggest profitable investments. See these handsome pieces, even if you have no thought of buying.

Doan's Kidney Pills Are the Best Remedy In The World FOR BACKACHE.

Many people fail to understand the significance of a lame, weak, sore or aching back. You overtax the kidneys—give them more work than they can possibly dothen they cry out in protest through the pain in the back.

Backache is simply kidneyache and the best remedy in the world for backache and all kidney troubles is Doan's Kidney We have thousands of testimonials from all quarters of the globe to prove this. Here is one from a party who used | that the pair who went to their death them in England, but who is now a resident of Canada. Mr. P. R. Glanville, Wycliffe, B.C. writes:--"When living in the 'Old Country,' three years ago, I suffered severely from pains in the back, and had to give up work. The pain was so bad that when I stooped down to pick anything up, I felt my back must break. I tried all sorts of remedies and several that a brisk wind had driven doctors, but all to no purpose. One day water down over the falls until the I read of Doan's Kidney Pills, and river was several feet higher than thought I might as well try them, and to usual. This simply raised the high one box the backache had entirely disappeared, and it has not caused me any trouble since. I always keep "Doan's"

A Revolutionary Outbreak Expected in the Spring Amongst the Balkans.

Constantinople, Feb. 4 .- The situation in Albania is very serious. Telegrams from Virbagar say the Turks recently crucified 50 Albanian insurgents outside Scutari and impaled others. The Albanians are openly refusing to pay taxes unless the Albanian language is officially recognized and taught in the public schools. The Turkish Government is apprehensive of a revolutionary outbreak in the early spring, and the Turkish minister of the interior is about to go to Albania and make an effort to avert such a disturbance. ...

THE NIAGARA TRAGEDY.

The man twice put aside chances of rescue, thinking only of his wife. The boy of 17 might have made the shore had he not turned back to help the man and woman. Another man on shore risked his life in saving one of those imprisoned on the floe.

Here was a deal of heroism packed few tragic moments. The harebrained and the suicides who have drunk Niagara's stream, the fools and cowards and criminals of the race, are in some way atoned for by such courage as shone out of the dark whirlpool Humanity's star burns brighter for those victorious deaths.

Misgivings sometimes arise, whether the passing of war would not soften fibre of men. But peace, a calm world and a long peace, brings forth its own heroism. MISREPRESENTING CANADA.

The national pride we Canadians feel at the success of our sons in the field of British politics, must be qualified in the case of Sir Max Altken by some of that young man's extraordinary utterances. He trades too much on his Canadian nationality, and poses too often as an infallible exponent of Canadian opinion. When he tells the workingman of his Lancaployment, by giving British industry opens: the run of the Canadian market, he is consciously deceiving them. No one knows better than he that the Canadian interests with which he was hand in glove in his Canadian career as merger-maker, would bitterly oppose any relaxation of the tariff restrictions on British imports into Canada. He knows, too, that these interests are now in command at Ottawa, and that this year, and that at present the refurther favors to British producers, to be available. Our inclination to ascribe to British politics a moral superiority to our own is shaken when a man so high in the councils of one of the great parties clous a bid for votes.

Sir Max recently repeated his offence in a speech to the Droylsden Conservative Club, in which he said:

"He knew the colonies in America. and particularly the Dominion of the interests of the empire at heartwere entirely opposed to any measand fears were with the Unionist party in England."

This is sheer impertinence. They have earned their welcome home. Not many men would like the task which was set the King. It required initiative, tact, and courage of high order to carry through. Especially at this time, when India was still supposed to be seething with disaffection, in spite of the sedative effect of Lord Morley's reforms, both King and Queen faced difficulty and danger in their mission. It has been well performed. The announcements of political changes were well delivered, the royalties bore themselves admirably, and the effect throughout India has been salutary.

IMPORTANCE OF EXAMPLE

Beautiful children are better molded and educated by example than by rule. They know no other comparisons than their parents and surroundings until they have grown to the age of knowledge and observation.

A witty writer said: "What was good enough for our parents is not good enough for us." That should not be true. But in many cases, I am sorry to say, it is true.

My clever mother would accuse me of "not bringing her up right" whenever I was guilty of arguing any point with her from my untrained point of view. I had the faults of youthful ignorance to overcome before I appreciated her. When I now look back upon my mother's strict rules I do so with profound gratitude. I often regret that I was headstrong at times, and I thought that I knew better than she did about some things. I thought my mother strict and fault-finding when she criticized my carriage, and obliged me to walk erectly with my shoulders back and my head up. When she interrupted me and corrected my grammar in the middle of an apparently interesting story, I resented it. When she compelled me to practice the piano, learn French and German, and read English literature, I thought they were superfluous. O! how grateful I am to her now for all that rigid discipline. As I grow in years she is nearer and dearer to me, and I have daily cause to make use of her fine example with love and reverence. Listen to your parents. They are the only people who have your interest at heart. They are never jealous of your beauty and accomplishments, and they glory in your success.

Remember: Make your example worthy of following.

CYNTHIA'S CHAUFFEUR

In any other conditions Millicent Porthcawl's sharp wits could scarcely have falled to ferret out the truth. Even if Cynthia were present it was almost a foregone conclusion that the girl would have told how Fitzroy joined her. The luncheon provided for a missing aunt, the crest on the silver and linen, the style of the Mer-cury, a chance allusion to this somewhat remarkable chauffeur's knowledge of the South Downs and of Bournemouth, would surely have put her ladyship on the right track. From sheer enjoyment of an absurd situation she would have caus-ed Fitzroy to be summoned then and there, if only to see Wiggy Devar's crest-

But the violins were singing the Valse Bleu, and Cynthia was upstairs, longing for an excuse to venture forth into the and three people, at least, in the crowded lounge were thinking of anything but the amazing oddity that had puzzled who did not con his Burke.

Cynthia's thoughts. There is a language without code or symbol known to all young men and maidens—a language that plerces stout walls and leaps wide valleys—and that unlettered tongue whis-pered the hope that the girl might saunter towards the pier. He turned forth-with into the public gardens, and quickwith into the public gardens, and quite ened his pace. Arrived at the pier, he glanced up at the hotel. At ten o'clock, when Cynthia and Mrs Devar came out, the men lounging near the porch were too interested in the girl and the car to bestow a glance on the chauffeur. Ducrot was there, bland and massive in a golf suit. He pestered Cynthia with inquiries as to the exact dates when her father would be London, and Medenham did not hesitate to cut short the banker's awkward gallantries by throwing the Mercury into her stride with

Some items showing the effect of Regina's growth on real estate values.

In Financial Post, Toronto, Jan. 27, R. J. Burdett, secretary of the Board of Trade, Regina, says: "It is the unanimous opinion of prominent financiers that Regina City values are yet far below their actual value, and it is believed that within two years these values will be doubled. During the past year many properties have doubled and even trebled in value; numerous instances can be quoted to confirm this statement, but probably one example might be given. The property known as the Gratton School, consisting of a 75-foot frontage on the east side of Cornwall street, between Eleventh and Twelfth avenues, was purchased last March by Messrs. J. B. Hawkes & Co., for $20,000.00, and was resold by this firm in November last to Matthius Snow, of Winnipeg, at $40,000.00, just double the amount realized last March. We understand that this property is again in the market at a price of $60,-

A year ago $1,000.00 per foot frontage for any property in Regina would have been considered a pretty stiff figure, but with the opening of last spring quite a few sales were recorded at this price, and became more numerous as the summer advanced. The autumn brought yet higher values, $1,200.00, and even $1,500.00 per foot being asked, and sales negotiated at this figure. At the present time $2,-000.00 per foot is being asked for

MAKING GOOD

From, the Financial Post of Jan. 20 we quote: "Among the more recent events of note which have had a strong influence is the changed attitude of the C. P. R. towards Regina, and the establishing of divisional headquarters here controlling some 600 miles of lines. radiating from this point. This makes Regina divisional point for the three great railway systems of Canada. Their lines now radiate in every direction, and give the city direct shipping facilities with every line and district of the province without the necessity of any back-hands.

As a result of the excellent shipping facilities now existing in Regina, and the city's strategic position from a wholesale and distributing point of view, wholesale trade is developing very rapidly. The track sites offered by the city are being rapidly taken up by eastern houses under covenant to build. A part of the wholesale trade in merchandise and the agricultura! implement houses report that in 1911 their business exceeded the $25,000,000 mark. They say, further, that Regina is now the greatest distributing point for farm implements not only in America, but in the entire world. This seems a broad statement, but coming from such a source, it is doubtless to be re-

For 1912 much work is in prospect. In addition to that already mentioned, there will be a large amount of money expended by private capital, in new buildings, and from present prospects the permits of the current year will far exceed those of 1911. The .C. N. R., G. T. P., and C. P. R. will finish the work of their present station building and hotel.

To return to the real estate market, it may be inferred from the foregoing that no cessation of the present activity need be looked for. In fact, everything points to 1912 being the bumper year, although no unnatural boom is looked for, and it is the purpose of those in a position to do so, to discourage anything of this nature.

A feature of the situation has been the absence of what is commonly called "wild-catting," in far-out subdivisions. At present all subdivisions are well situated, and have sufficient merit to commend them for investment pur-has Stratford had a senior team that was teams. outclassed in its own group, but that is what happened this season. The Classic City spetette is perhaps the weakest team in the senior series, either group. Eatonias beat them in Stratford and again on Saturday night at the Excelsior the Big Store ran away from the Red and White in ridiculous fashion. The score was 12 to 4.

For the first few minutes it appeared as though Stratford would give the Eatonias something to worry about. Even at half time the champions were only two goals to the good, with the score 4 to 2.

From the interval to the end of the piece, however, there was no chance for the Classic City boys. Eatonias beat them on attack and defence, in speed and stick-handling, and, in fact, in whatever other departments of the game might be men-tioned. Stratford has a team of pluggers who kept everlastingly at their task, but they did not have sufficient class to cope with the senior cup-holders.

The Eatenia forwards worked through the Stratford defence individually, and with two and three-man combinations gave "Tobe" Rankin every opportunity to show that he is a good goalkeeper. Bricker also shone in the nets at the opposite end. but he did not have a very great deal of work to do. Teams:

IRON POLISHERS WIN

Two Teams From McClary's Play Fast Game for Cup Donated by

George Powell. A fast game of hockey was played or Saturday night in Simcoe rink between the iron polishers and the brass polishers. The score was two nothing in favor of the iron polishers. Both teams played good, clean hockey. The iron polishers are a fast team. The forwards played good combination, and the defence was like a stone wall, especially Maudsley in goal. The losers made a great rally in the last ten minutes, but could not score. They were playing for a cup donated by George Powell for the best two games out of three. The line-up was as follows: Brass polishers—Mobay, goal; Eldridge, point; Saunders, coverpoint; F. Maudsley,

The Real Explanation

The alleged mistake in the overtime at the Knox-St. James' game at the Westminster rink on Tuesday night last has been further explained by Timekeeper J. W. McLeish. Mr. McLeish states that the understanding between the teams and himself was that ten minutes of actual playing time was to be played and that time was to be taken off for any delays that might occur. This is the proper method of keeping time, it has not been usual at the Westminster rink, owing to the short time alloted to each team when on the its. However, on Tuesday night the St. Andrew's-First Church players were not ready to come on the ice when the Knox-St. James' game ended in a tie, so that ten minutes overtime was decided upon. A slight delay was occasioned by the fact that one of the St. James' players went into the dressing-room thinking that the game was over, and it was nearly two minutes before play began. At the end of the first five minutes, a halfminute rest was allowed each team, and this also was not minute rest was allowed each team, and this also was not counted in the overtime, according to the understanding. Thus there was only ten minutes of actual playing, while nearly thirteen minutes of time elapsed from the time when the overtime was first decided upon. This led to the charge that more than ten minutes had been played, but Time-keeper McLeish was in no way to blame as he was acting accordblame as he was acting according to the understanding made between the two teams.

Silver Mugs forLeapYear Babies

To each baby born in Middlesex County on Feb. 29th next we will give a silver mug as a memento.

Those who are likely to be interested should make a note of this, and if baby hits the date, should advise us, and we will gladly send him or her a mug engraved with his or her name and date of birth.

The mugs will be supplied by A. H. Trebilcock, jeweler, of this city, and parents may choose from a large assortment.

There are no strings attached to this offer-you don't have to buy a dollar's worth of goods-nor save up coupons or any of the other time-worn ways of getting something for nothing. All you have to do is send us the glad news-we'll do the rest.

But we would impress on you that we are The Live Men's and Boys' Store of this section.

The King inspected the guard honor, and then boarded a special train in which he, with the Queen and the royal children, travelled to London through country covered thickly with snow. All the stations along the route were decked with flags.

A large assemblage of notables was waiting at Victoria Station, when the train pulled in soon after midday. An archway bearing the words: "Welcome in gold lettering on a blue ground, was erected across the platorm where their majesties alighted. Premier Asquith, with other mem pers of the cabinet, were the first to greet the King and the Queen. Then came a group of members of the diplomatic corps and prominent officers of the army and navy in brilliant uniforms. The lord mayor and the sheriffs of London and the lord mayors of the principal cities of the British Isles, all wearing their regalia, were also present to welcome their majesties. When the greetings were over a procession of five royal carriages was formed. The King and Queen, with the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary occupied the first carriage, which was drawn by four horses. With its escort of Life Guards in their brilliant uniforms, with shining breatplates and helmets and floating plumes, the pro-shop gave the name of Gooderham.

A Serious Position.

Police Magistrate Judd explained to the prisoner in passing sentence that he had placed himself in a very serious position, particularly in the forgery case. This offence is punishable with life imprisonment, while if the crown cared to force the matter he could be charged with stealing from the mails, a crime for which he could be sentenced to fourteen years.

Bloomfield was only released from the Central Prison in June last, when he completed a six months' term, which he served for stealing from the cash register at the City Hotel. He entered a plea for leniency this morning, and promised that he would mend his ways when he again obtained his liberty.

On the charge of theft he was sentenced to six months in the Central Prison, but this will run concurrently with the fourteen months' sentence on the forgery charge. Magistrate Judd informed Bloomfield that he had intended to sentence him to two years, less one day, but as this would bring him out in the winter time, the court decided to reduce the term in order to have the prisoner released in the summer when it will be possible for him to obtain employment. He is now in his 26th year.

A COAL SHURIAGE NOT LIKELY NOW

There Is a Shortage of Cars, But the Dealers Are Not Alarmed.

Despite the unusual length and severity of the cold spell, the threatened shortage of coal is not likely to materialize, locally at least. The dealers in London state that they have a night's lodging. An information had sufficient supply on hand to last out there is no danger of any coal shortcars to transport the coal. The railroads have been unable to supply enough cars to keep up with the denand, and as a result coal shipments are delayed. Some of the smaller dealers have been forced to buy from some of the larger dealers, but there is no likelihood of a shortage for a few months at least, and then a shortage can only be caused if the miners go out on strike.

The ten-year agreement between the pure and undefiled word of Gord. niners and the mine owners, which settled the great strike of 1902, expires on March 1, and whether there will be another strike is at present hard to determine.

DRUNKS IN COURT

Usual Batch Appeared Before the Police Magistrate. A batch of drunks took up the greater part of the time of the police magistrate at the Carling street court this morning couple of first-timers being allowed to after spending the night in the cells. Frank Wilson was released on Saturlay morning after he explained to the court that he had never been in trouble efore. He was back again inside of our or five hours with another cargo of pirits, so the magistrate decided to put im away for 21 days. The option was a $20 fine. Another drunk who is on the Indian list was fixed $10 with the option of a month at Castle Carter. At the close of the court he asked for two weeks to pay up, declaring that he did not want to his job for the sake of saving the

He was told that he should have looked at that phase of the question when he was drinking, but as this is good symptom his re-

EJECTS PROWLER FROM THE CITY

George W. Chapman Followed Tramp Who Made Threat at His House.

WANTED TO BE TAKEN IN

Became Curly When Refused Admittance and Said He Would "Come Back Later."-Changed Mind.

"Every man his own policeman," was the principle which operated successfully for Mr. George W. Chapman, of 43 Stanley street, Saturday evening, when he succeeded in ejecting a tough-looking character from the city The "ejectee" was about the rough est looking "box" that ever slipped off the brake rods. Thick-set and slouchy the man left the freight that evidently brought him near the Wortley road bridge, and proceeded to ask for as sistance at a number of Stanley street houses. Those who gazed upon him were not disposed to offer him the guest room, and when he arrived at B. Clarke, Rev. Mr. Harrison, Rev. the home of Mr. Chapman and made his plea, he was closely questioned. Mr. Chapman was asked to take the ness of character of Mrs. Hague, which man in for the night. He said that had won for her so many friends, not he had hurt his foot. When he was only in the congregation of Cronyn asked about his injury he became surly Memorial Church, but outside the and retreating into a dark corner of the porch, mumbled that he would come back again if he were not taken Gets on His Trail.

As Mr. Chapman was about to leave the house on business, the prospect of that he was called to a new field in leaving his family alone with the Toronto. He thanked the member of prowler in the neighborhood did not clease him, and he decided to find out what and become of the tramp. When Mr. Chapman reached the street he could not see the man, but on Richmond street, near York street, he came upon him making for the Grand Trunk station. Mr. Chapman overtook and passed him. Mr. Chapman is a former ailread man, and entering the office he old the officias there, whom he knew, that he wa sgoing to impersonate the man in charge for a moment. the tough customer entered, he was a good deal of discussion from the asked where he came from and where ne was going. He denied that he had been on Stanley street, although positively identified. He stated that he was going to Stratford and produced a ticket. When Mr. Chapman decided that he was the right man, and that he was a dangerous character to have hanging around houses where there were unprotected women, he took it upon nimself to order the man out of the town, offering him a trip to the police station as an alternative. The tramp did not hesitate long before choosing the ties that lead to the east ,and he was soon "beating it" over the tracks as hard as he could go. Didn't Talk Back Then.

"I'm going to send a man after you to se that you get outside the city inside of an hour," shouted Mr. Chapman after him. The wanderer did not turn around to give an answer.

"He was the roughest-looking man have sen in a long time," said Mr. Chapman, "I did not rest until knew he was out of the city. I did not want to have him arrested, but, I

PEOPLE'S SERVICE

Held in the King Stret Presbyterian

A special young people's service was held this evening in the Dundas Street | held in King Street Presbyterian Christian Church, Miss Hall, Christ- Church on Sunday evening, Sunday an Endeavor secretary for Ontario, being Young People's Day throughout mented for the occasion, and Mrs. Wyatt, soloist of the Colborne Street The Boy Scouts of the First Metn- Methodist Church, assisted. The Scripture readings, consisting of five passages from different chapters in the Bible, were read by five of the young people of the church. Rev. Mr. McIntosh gave a brief address, in which he dealt with the great work being undertaken by the Presbyterian churches this year in the evangelizing of Korea. He explained how Korea had been a hermit ountry for hundreds of years, practically having no intercourse with the outside world, and how in the last 25 years it has just been opened up, and efforts made to Christianize it. In this great work, the Presbyterians were playing an important part, and many missionaries were being sent out each year. The young people should be especially interested in the work, and should do all in their power to assist in raising money for these missions.

Miss E. Hall, secretary of the Chris tian Endeavor Society of Ontario and Quebec, also addressed the congregation. She made an urgent appeal to the young people to help in the splendid fight that was being waged in Korea for Christ, and impressed upon them the necessity of being missionaries themselves and doing good in Canada. The young people of Canada are cold toward missions and missionary enterprises, and they are apparently satisfied with doing only a little to further this great work. This was not the proper missionary spirit, and Miss Hall appealed to the young people, and all those who are interested in church work, to get into closer touch with the work. Special anthems were rendered

CHICKEN STEALING

Matter Is Likely To Be Aired in the Police Court. A case of chicken stealing which will ikely be aired in the police court took place in the vicinity of Nelson and Maitland streets on Saturday evening. It seems a Hebrew lady, who resides in that vicinity, has a large number of hens. On Saturday evening a raid was made on the hen coop, and seven of the who took the hens were apparently out after a meal, for they adjourned to a house in the vicinity and made preparations to cook the stolen hens. In the meantime, the theft was discovered. and the owner of the pullets, together with several friends, went to the house where the feast was being prepared, and demanded the poultry. When they were not forthcoming, the police were notified, and a couple of constables were soon on the scene. The hens had been devoured in the meantime, and the only thing the police could do was to take the names of those who presided at the banquet. The owner of the hens was advised to make a complaint, but she went home to think it over. It was thought that the case would be up in the police court this morning, but the lady has not lodged the complaint as yet. The police have the names of the guilty parties, and it is likely they will be haled into court tomorrow

Of the new reservations, the first two consist of islands in the Tongrass National Forest, in the extreme southern part of Alaska, and are inhabited by colonies of sea birds. Forrester Island (formerly known as Egg Island), in particular contains one of the most extensive bird colonies in Southeastern Alaska, and provides a breeding ground for the rhinoceros auklet, one of the few places where this odd-looking bird is known to breed and its northernmost home. The opposite extreme of its breeding range is found in one of the bird reservations off the coast of Washing-The islands of both the new Alaska reservations are non-agricultural in character and are admirably adapted for the purpose to which they

Men and Women Try to Look Alike in London's Latest Freak Club. London, Feb. 4. — The latest freak club in London is called the Ethna, It has rooms on a street just off Piccadilly, and here its men and women members meet for intellectual con-

The rule of the club demands that there shall be as little distinction in the dress and appearance of the members as possible, and both men and women don long flowing white garments of a sacklike shape and sandals before they enter the dimly-lighted rooms of the club. Most of the men are clean-shaven, and a few of the women have short hair, while those who have long hair twist their locks about their heads as tightly as pos-

No introductions are ever made. Any member is permitted to talk to any other and to talk freely and openly on any subject. The object of the club is to foster free discussion between men and women. Visitors are occasionally allowed, but they must of this fast-disappearing game bird. The course wear the flowing robes and

The membership is very limited, and a positive requisite is intellectual work of some sort. Most of the members are writers, others are intine, Neb., and will in time doubtterested in social problems and work on committees, while still others are members of the great band of men and women in London who seem always on the lookout for the very latest thing in fads and fancies.
