The young lady managed to cling to the canoe until assisted into a rowboat by Elmo Drake and others who rushed to the assistance of the drowning couple. However, the warning was unheeded and the unfortunate youth paddled out about one mile directly opposite the Casino, when, according to the young jady who accompanied him, he attempted to turn abruptly, the paddle caught beneath the stern of the canoe and it upset, precipitating its occupants into the water. She seized the stern of the vessel, while Scarlett grasped it amidships, and it immediately turned over. The victim's companion declares that Scarlett did this several times, but at each grasp the canoe turned over, cassing him to go under water. However, grasping the stern of the canoe the girl was enabled to remain afloat as the vessel kept overturning.

Condition improved.

Spectators of the unfortunate occurrence rushed to the assistance of the drowning pair, but Scarlett sank when they were but twenty feet distant from him. His companion was rescued in a fainting condition, but she revived on being brought to shore, her condition last night being reported as improved, although suffering from shock.

The drowning victim was popularly known to his many friends as "Sky" and was employed as a clerk at the Home Bank here until last June, when he resigned to join his father in the insurance business. He was a member of the Orient Club, and stayed with several fellowmembers at a Port Stanley cottage on the evening prior to his death. He was an excellent swimmer, but according to his father had a weak heart, which may have accounted for his exhaustion, although he clung to the revolving canoe for several minutes before sinking.

In addition to his parents he is survived by five sisters, Miss Mabel, at home, Mrs. Rose Clarke of this city, now on a visit to Europe, Mrs. Edgar C. Edsill of Ann Arbor, Mich., Mrs. J. O'Dell of Windsor, and Mrs. C. R. Bradley of Detroit.

it was decided to instruct the architects to ask for tenders in order that an estimate of cost may be made to submit to the Municipal Chapter of the I. O. D. E., which as the introducer and original sponsor of the project, is to be consulted formally before final arrangements are made.

Contributions in hand.

Contributions in hand to the amount of $24,110.63, $19,110.63 of which is in cash, and $5,000 in Victory Bonds, were reported. The most recent contributions being $25 from the Rondeau Women's Institute, $25 from the Palmyra Women's Institute, and $57.58 from the C. G. I. T., Dundas Centre Methodist Church. A very interesting contribution is one made by the children of the St. Lawrence school, which they collected themselves, to the amount of $62.75. The Victoria Hospital Alumnae, through their secretary, Miss Nash, reported that they were going to endow a cot at a cost of $1,000, and the Nightingale Club of this city promise $500. Women's organizations everywhere are answering to his call for service in a most gratifying way.

The committee sent a message of sympathy to the family of the late A. E. Miller, and best wishes for health and recovery to the matron of Victoria Hospital, Miss Stanley, who has been so seriously ill.

All such systems are wonderful so long as they continue to pay their own way, and even to make 'surpluses," which the citizen reads about but never sees, but immediately a bit of hard luck or poor management brings such systems face to face with a deficit it is the taxpayer who has to bear the burden.

Mayor Little is not alone in believing that two telephone systems in one city would not be exactly Utopian.

"I would much rather pay $70 for one telephone than $50 each for two telephones." he remarked today. "We would pay more money and get less service. Unless some very favorable working arrangement was effected with the Bell Telephone Company, long-distance connections would be practically impossible. This alone would be a great inconvenience."

BARN WAS BURNED.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Hyde Park, Aug. 18.—Only a hard fight saved the home of Alfred Campbell, Komoka, from fire which completely destroyed the barn and its contents on his farm Tuesday afternoon. The origin of the blaze is unknown. It was beyond control when discovered, and desperate efforts were needed to prevent it reaching the house. About 500 bushels of wheat, hay and other produce was destroyed. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

As to the duties of the local boards, there was some discussion as to whether they should do any investigating or whether that should be left entirely to the commission. THOROLD'S DISGRACE.

That a lynching on Ontario soil was averted at Thorold on Monday afternoon and evening is apparently not due to any precautions taken by either the attorney-general's department or the local police officials. The stage was set for a lynching a week ahead, but not a move appears to have been made for the protection of the man charged with crime or of those who would be forced to risk danger by attending the court proceedings. Dispatches, exaggerated no doubt, say there were ten thousand people in the court. If so, nine-tenths of them were from outside Thorold. Here are the bare facts as contained in the dispatches. A man charged with a heinous crime is brought into a village court and forced to stand facing a hostile audience for several hours while details of an indecent crime are fit and be benefitted by such societies. related before excited men and women. No chair was provided for him, but he had to stand, hour after hour, himself a means of working up the mob spirit. Late in the afternoon the court house was under siege. Afte: thinking it over for a while the Thoroid offtection. The officer there said it was out of his jurisdiction, a rather peculiar answer to along lines consistent with the highest British make when human life is in the balance, not to mention the good name of the province. Next the chief of police of St. Catharines was appealed to. His answer was that he could not spare a man. We wonder what sort of a city it is that on an August afternoon cannot spare a man to stop crime nearby. Nor was there any better luck in an appeal to the authorities at Niagara Falls. With the coming on of evening attacks on the court building grew more determined, shots were fired, finally the building was set on fire. Then the prisoner was taken out by the chief of police of Thorold and seized by the mob. A rope was at hand and plenty of hands to pull it. What changed the temper of the mob at this moment no one seems to know. The accused man was given a chance to speak and with his bloody, bruised face he protested his innocence. The curtain rings down with the mob relenting and the police spiriting the prisoner off before the mob has time to change its mind. Everything that happened at Thorold on Monday is a foul stain on this province. get busy forthwith and find out how it is that with talk of violence in the air no provision was made for protecting the court proceedings at hibit. Well, we have a law against stealing, and Thorold. He should also inquire how it is that look at the profiteers! with disorder evident at the very opening of the court proceedings a hostile crowd was allowed to stay in the courtroom. Moreover, he might inquire how it is that when a situation so serious was existing in Thorold no neighboring municipality would render aid.

We are accustomed to brag that we are free from the lynching evil of the United States. Thorold shows that we are not at least entirely free from the lynching spirit. There are several states in the Union that were once notorious for lynchings where the evil is rapidly dying out. These are the states where the mob that attempts to lynch one accused of crime is met with a volley of lead. And a volley of lead is quite the proper thing, either in the United States or in Canada, with which to meet a lynching mob. The attorney-general of this province has a the leaders of the Thorold mob will not be known. DIRECT ACTION. Direct action in matters political is once more to the fore in England through the threat made by Labor to call a general strike should the Government decide on sending aid to the Poles. In this case organized labor is attempting to dictate the policy of the nation in regard to eastern Europe, but there are no before his opportunities in the markets of the world, limits to how far the thing can be carried once it gets under way, and it is probably the realization of this that has caused Premier Lloyd greater ability on the part of the Canadian George to announce that Labor will not be permitted to dictate what the Government shall do the United States as time goes on." in this unconstitutional fashion. LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Life changes as the world moves on. Through all the changes home is the most important thing in life. Fifty years ago there were in this city many literary societies in existence. Perhaps the most prominent was the London Literary Society. It had many able young men among its members. Lectures were then more common than they are now. The societies and the lectures were splendid means of education.

There has been a great deal said about the eriod of reconstruction in Canada. We bewe believe if literary societies are organized all over the country they will have a very beneficial effect. One of our greatest inheritances is the inheritance of English literature. These societies will enlarge the knowledge of English literature, make many friends and be in fact a welcome and wholesome addition to the Canadian fireside

The London Literary Society to which we referred gave penny readings that were always enjoyed by crowded houses. Perhaps the nearest association in London to the London Literary Society is the Baconian Club, a splendid organization, but too exclusive for the purpose in view. Its members might well consider an organization along the old lines. Such an organization would bring together the best young men and women. It would stimulate the reading of the best literature, and add much to the knowledge and pleasure of life. No doubt large numbers of young men and women would bene

The London Literary Society was unde nominational and only young men were members, but several churches had similar socities open to both young men and women.

We believe such societies would help to bring the country back to normal, to the best conditions of life existing before the war. They

GERMANS IN LONDON.

[London Daily Chronicle.] The Germans are coming back to London, as may be seen and heard frequently in the West End nowadays, and in some of the suburbs, particularly at Richmond, where there was a flourishing German colony before the war. A point which strikes one about their coming is whether they ever look for signs of the enormous damage to put n London which used regularly to be announced to them by the imperial government during the war as having been inflicted by the zeppelins and gothas. If they do, they must be learning at last the actual value of many of their war communiques

EDUCATION.

[New York Evening Sun.] No matter how much it may cost to educate the children, not to educate them would cost far more. Indeed, money is no adequate measure of the values nvolved in the training of young minds. America and the rest of the world have not even yet awakened to the full meaning of the responsibilities relating to children.

MADE IN CANADA.

[Quebec Telegraph.] There can be no better illustration of that patriotism and loyalty to country of which upon we hear and read so much than the persistent practice of purchasing and using, as far as possible, articles of Canadian manufacture. A comparison of our imports and exports does no show anything like the avoidance of imported goods plain duty before him. It is impossible that that loyalty to Canada should dictate. Some signs, however, according to the Monetary Times, point to improvement in this respect, for our contemporary says in a recent issue: "The instinct of to see whether these men are apprehended and financial self-preservation in forcing Canada to do as that, let it.' And he persisted in that until we all in her power to curtail her purchases in the United States and to make within her own borders those things which her people need. Only in this way can she hope to rehabilitate her credit in the United States and to reduce the volume of her war debt. In this task of making herself self-sustaining Canada is being helped by the course of events. Canada is now an exporting nation of some importance, and done?" exclaimed Breton. "Are you any nearer—this development is making it increasingly possible that will fasten the guilt on anybody else?" for Canadian manufacturers to produce commodities in quantities and bring down their initial costs. This development of Canada's export trade has stimulated the imagination of the Canadian manufacturer; he sees more clearly than he ever did and he is fitted with a renewed ambition to make the most of these opportunities. The inevitable outcome of this development will, of course, be facturer to hold his own domestic markets against outside competition. This will mean less buying in "What are you going to do, Mrs. Gutch, when you leave here?" he asked. "You shall be driven straight back to Bayswater, if you like."

"Which I shall be obliged for, young man," said Mrs. Gutch, "and likewise for the first week of the annuity, and will call every Saturday for the same lieve Canada will come through all right and at 11 punctual, or can be posted to me on a Friday, which ever is agreeable to you gentlemen. And having my first week in my purse, and being driven to Bayswater, I shall take my boxes and go to friend of mine where I shall be hearty welcome, shaking the dust of my feet off against Jane Bayliss and where I've been living with her."

"Yes, but, Mrs. Gutch," said Spargo, with som inxiety, "if you go back there tonight, you'll be very careful not to tell Miss Bayliss that you've been here and told us all this?"

Mrs. Gutch rose, dignified and composed. Young man," she said, "you mean well, but ou ain't used to dealing with ladies. I can keep my tongue as still as anybody when I like. Bayliss my affairs-my new wouldn't tell Jane affairs, gentlemen, thanks to you-not for two annuities, paid twice a week."

So Spargo took Mother Gutch to the cashier's department and paid her her first week's and he got her a taxicab and paid for it, and saw her depart, and then he went to the editor's room strangely thoughtful. The editor and the proprietor were talking, but they stopped when Sparge entered and looked at him eagerly.

"I think we've done it," said Spargo quietly. "What, precisely, have we found out?" asked

"A great deal more than I'd anticipated," answered Spargo, "and I don't know what fields it doesn't open out. If you look back, you'll remember that the only thing found on Marbury's body was a scrap of grey paper on which was a name and address-Ronald Breton, King's Bench 'Well?'

"Breton is a young barrister. Also he write bit-I have accepted two or three articles of his for our literary page." 'Well?"

"Further, he is engaged to Miss Aylmore, the eldest daughter of Aylmore, the member of parliament who has been charged at Bow street today with the murder of Marbury."

"I know. Well, what then, Spargo?" "But the most important matter." continued Spargo, speaking very deliberately, "is this-that taking that old woman's statement to be true as I personally believe it is-that Breton, as he has told me himself (I have seen a good deal of him) was brought up by a guardian. That guardian is Mr. Septimus Elphick, the barrister."

The proprietor and the editor looked at each other. Their faces wore the expression of mel thinking on the same lines, and arriving at the same conclusion. And the proprietor suddenly turned on Spargo with a sharp interrogation: "You Spargo nodded.

"I think that Mr. Septimus Elphick is Elphick, and that Breton is the young Maitland of whom Mrs. Gutch has been talking," he answered. The editor got up, thrust his hands in his ockets, and began to pace the room. "If that's so," he said, "if that's so, the mystery

I can make a good excuse for wanting an interview with him. If you will leave it in my hands-" 'Yes, yes!" said the proprietor, waving a hand.

"Leave it entirely in Spargo's hands." "Keep me informed," said the editor. "Do what you think. It strikes me you're on the track.' Breton shook his head.

This increased muscular capability of the right side of the heart is attained through careful physical training. MRS. ELIZABETH KENT, MacDONALD COLLEGE.

If women could realize that their harge accounts should be paid as comptly as they expect employers to pay the wages and salary to employees, the real economy of credit would not suffer, as it does now, by its abuse. With a charge account we undertake to pay, not some time in the vague future, but monthly, on receipt of the bill, and if the merchant is to conduct his business rightly. Joing justice to those of whom he buys, and to those whom he employs, obviously he must receive his money regularly. The unpaid bill of the housewife is the first link in a long chain of trouble which always eventually comes back to her, either in higher prices care with the control of th link in a long chain of trouble which always eventually comes back to her, either in higher prices, or some other less evident way.

If we looked at the facts honestly we should have to realize some not quite pleasant things about our unpaid bills. They are loans to us without interest, generally from people to whom we would never dream of being under that sort of obligation in plain terms. And that is not even the worst of it. Merchants must admit that they have to distribute the loss incurred from unpaid bills among their paying customers. Even if the bill is paid eventually, interest on it has to be paid by prompt people, who pay their bills or ay cash. It is humillating to think that we raise the cost of living to other people by our carelessness and lack of understanding.

Merchants also say that it is not the people who cannot afford to be prompt from whom they suffer most. It is the richest of their customers who most abuse their credit, and whose abuse, as their accounts are large, the condition of the people who cannot afford to be prompt from whom they suffer most. It is the richest of their customers who most abuse their credit, and whose abuse, as their accounts are large, the condition of the people who cannot afford to be prompt from whom they suffer most. Merchants also say that it is not the people who cannot afford to be prompt from whom they suffer most. It is the richest of their customers who most abuse their credit, and whose abuse, as their accounts are large, make the worst trouble in business. Poorer people, whom sickness or accident forces to tardiness, rarely have large debts. If we use credit, let us in common honesty not abuse it. (Copyright, 1920, the Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

favor of my niece who is fond of reciting. Would you be so kind as to send me all the recitations you have on hand, and if you wish I will copy and send back to you inside of a week. I would be pleased to get any more from the pageites if they would be so kind to help. I have seen lots mentioned, such as "Betty and the Bear," "Hello, Central, Give Me Heaven," "The Aspiring Dish Washer," etc. But I was not wanting any then. Hope I have success trying to please another. The last time I wrote I sent 10 cents for the S. C. H. and asked how take the black color from flour and sugar bags, but have not seen it printed. Wishing you every success, I remain, ROSETTA.

Ans.—There are never many recitations on hand in the Wall Row. Boesting.

Inclosed you will find some crechet patterns, also a stamped addressed letter for a needlecraft book.

Ans.—Thank you, Tiny Mary, for your splendid hospital gift and inclosed patterns. Mousie is still playing hide and-seek with us, and we haven't yet received her anme and address. Let us hope she will reserve a book for you of those she offered.

In Mary to like thousands of letters in a year, it is difficult to remember the appearance of any particular one. Nevertheless, I remember several letters appearing in the Mail Box telling how to remove black lettering from flour and sugar bags, so perhaps these were in reply to your inquiry. Between three and four years ago I wrote to one of the Boxites who lives about 10 miles from here, and last week she visited us. We were very much pleased to meet her, and she and my mother had a good chat, as both had come from Wales.

Do you ever hear from Tommy Atkins? I haven't heard for several years.

MAYS MAY BE BARRED

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 17.—A suggestion that players of the American League Baseball clubs "strike" against any further participation by Pitcher Carl Mays of the New York Yankees, in league contests, was made today by St. Louis players, who joined members of the Washington team in informal meetings to discuss the death of Ray Chapman, Cleveland shortstop, whose skull was fractured Monday by a ball Mays pitched. Washington players took no action, pending a decision by the league authorities as to their course. the American League Baseball clubs St. Louis players were said to have favored a general appeal to all other players of the league to refuse to play in any game where Mays was included.

Joe Jackson's hitting is a feature of the White Sox dribble toward the American League top rung. The Sox are accused of playing indifferent ball, but, nevertheless, seem to be winning games. Experts, though they would rather see Cleveland win, concede the Sox to be the best balanced team in the junior circuit.

It was Chapman's eagerness to aid in giving this city its first pennant that indirectly resulted in his death. When he married Miss Kathleen Dahl, one of Leveland's best-known society women, last October, he was asked if he would retire from the game and devote his time to a business in which he had acquired an interest.

"I'll play next year, for I want to help give Tris Speaker and the Cleveland fans the first pennant Cleveland even has had." Chapman replied. "The last october, he was asked if he would retire from the game and devote his time to a business in which he had acquired an interest.

FOLLOW GREEN LINE NOW BEING USED TO HANDLE SEA TRAFFIC

Some Principle To Guide the Ships in New York Harbor.

New York, Aug. 17.—The principle of 'follow the green line," used successfully by the management of New York's subway system in handling crowds at congested transfer points, has been adapted in a measure to insure safety to ships at sea around crowded harbors. Instead of a visible "green line," however, a device has been perfected whereby vessels seeking their way into harbor in thick weather can follow with safety a submerged and energized wire.

In the outer reaches of New York harbor, where deep water meets shoals, there begins a marine passage way known as Ambrose channel. This channel leads up through the narrows into the inner harbor and to the docks, and in this channel the guiding cable has been laid. Ships properly equipped to take advantage of its guiding rowers can follow it through any kind of weather with the same degree of assurance as can the passenger who seeks to make his way from Grand Central terminal to Times Square.

The device consists of a cable sixteen miles long laid in the centre of the channel. It is energized with an alternating current from the shore. Ships, to take advantage of it, must be equipped with audiphones or listening devices attached to the hull. Approaching the channel the sound waves emitted by the cable can be heard for some distance, and the increasing or decreasing strength of the sound enables the ship to be steered until it is right over the source. It is then a simple matter to follow its course through the dredged the source. It is then a simple matter to follow its course through the dredged channel despite storm or fog, which would make the marking buoys invisible or would tend to confuse the warning notes of automatic bell and whistle markers.

This cable is but an additional protection for shipping entering American ports. It supplements the radio compass installed and operated by the naval communications service now in successthe compass, ships can ascertain their exact position in any kind of weather. Another protection recently tried out by the navy department is a machine for determining depth of water and provided of their their tries. proximity of other ships through the readings of sounds from the propellers reflected back from the bottom or nearby bodies.

DRAFT REGULATIONS TO OPEN UP VAST POWER RESOURCES

Washington Officials Make Plans For Administration of Law.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Regulations for the administration of the federal act opening up the country's vast water power resources to private development are now being drafted. As soon as they are completed the water power commission, composed of the secretaries of war, interior and agriculture, will hold hearings on them. The commission, of which Secretary Baker has been appointed chairman by President Wilson, will hold its first meeting immediately upon Secretary Payne's return from Alaska. The hearings on the regulations will be pushed as speedily as possible, so that the water power legislation, which has been ten years in the

The tentative regulations are being drawn up by a special committee of the war, interior and agricultural departments. It is composed of Major-Gen. Enoch H. Crowder, representing the war department; O. C. Merrill, water power expert in the forestry service, who has been designated executive secretary. been designated executive secretary of the commission, and H. A. Stabler of the interior department.

Members of the committee say the regulations will be extensive, and that they probably will be announced in series, with open hearings on each group before they are made final. Those relating to form and condition of application for survey, permit or licenses, will be the first announced. The most difficult problem involved in drawing up the regulations, members of the comthe regulations, members of the committee say, is that of establishing a uniform system of accounting for licenses as required by the act.

Under the water power bill the committee in the committee of the commi mission is empowered to issue licenses for a period not exceeding 50 years. The licensees will pay to the government reasonable annual charges in an amount to be fixed by the commission. Upon the expiration of any license the government, if two years notice in writing has been given by the commission, will have the right to take over and operate any water power development after payment of the net investment of the licensee in the project or projects taken, not to exceed the fair value of the property, plus such reasonable damages, if any, to the property of the licensee as may be caused by the severance therefrom of property taken. been given, the government also will have the right to take over upon mutual agreement with the licensee any property under the terms of the bill, subject to the payment of the net investment. INCREASED PROSPERITY

BUENOS AYRES, Aug 17 .- Increase BUENOS AYRES, Aug 17.—Increased prosperity this year, in comparison with 1919, is indicated by banking and railroad statistics of Argentina, which have just been published. Official banking reports show that between May 21, 1919, and the same date this year deposits increased 21 per cent, loans and discounts 12 per cent, and balances on hand 40 per cent. per cent.

Of the 22,141 miles of railroad in the country, only one group of 1,188 miles has failed to show increased aggregate receipts, according to a table compiled by the Review of the River Plate, showing conditions for the present year. The remaining lines have all had substantial increases. All railroads in Uruguay and Paraguay and all tram lines in Argentina have also shown increases.

FACTS FOR FARMERS

Heaviest Day in History of WINTERING BEES IN THE CELLAR VS. OUTSIDE.

(Experimental Farms Note.) Whether to winter in the cellar or outside is a question that every beekeeper has to settle. Where the winter is long and steadily cold, the cellar is usually more satisfactory, but outside wintering succeeds in some moderately cold places if proper precautions are taken. At the Central Experimental taken. At the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, the two methods have been compared during the last five years. Wintering outside has been done in an apiary protected from wind by a board fence 8 feet high, the hives placed in cases made to hold four colonies each, with packing material around the sides, beneath and above the hives. The cellar was a low dry one under the Administration Building, which was heated all winter. The results have been very close, but outside wintering has brought the colonies forward slightly earlier in the spring.

ward slightly earlier in the spring.

Dry Cellar Needed.

In the wide belt where both cellar and outside wintering are about equally satisfactory, the deciding factor appears to be convenience. If the beekeeper has a well insulated and dry cellar, by using it, he will save the expense of constructing wintering cases, and also a wind-break, if this is not present. For a few colonies in a cold region, a boarded-in part of the dwellinghouse basement makes a good cellar for the bees, and it is an advantage if the basement contains a furnace. Such a cellar should have a steady temperaward slightly earlier in the spring. basement contains a furnace. Such a cellar should have a steady temperature somewhere between 40 and 50 degrees Fahrenheit. In outside wintering it is very important to protect the apiary from wind. Outside wintering apiary from wind. Outside wintering has the advantage that the bees may be left without attention throughout the winter, whereas in many cellars in the winter, whereas in many cenars in the milder parts of Canada the ventilation has to be watched and controlled. Outside wintering has been very successful at the Experimental Farm at Kentville, N. S., but at the Experimental Farm at Brandon, Man., the winter has been found too severe for the best results.

For successful wintering, more important than the method is early and careful preparation for winter. For excareful preparation for winter. For example, one cannot expect cellar wintering to be successful if the bees are left outside until zero weather, or if they are brought out very early in the spring. Nor can one expect good results in outside wintering if packing is delayed until cold weather. Neither method will succeed if the colonies do not contain plenty of bees, especially young bees, and above all, abundance of wholesome stores, preferably clover honey, or syrup made from white granulated sugar, stored in the combs before cold weather. Mice, if they get into the hives during the winter, will ruin the colonies in a very short while.

O'Connor Case Over.
The O'Connor case was disposed of today by County Magistrate Hunt who decided that where two families residents. decided that where two families reside in a summer cottage, it is not a private dwelling. The charge of having a quantity of whiskey in a place that was not a private dwelling was preferred a week ago against William O'Connor of Hamilton, who had in his possession more liquor than was allowed by law. His brother-in-law, a Mr. Palmer, wife and children, also occupied the cottage. Mr. Palmer, too, had some whiskey consigned to him. All the liquor was seized by Inspector Ross and confiscated. But before it had reached the department it was stolen from the L. and P. S. station. The liquor, so 'tis said, is still in cold terment and the legacide W. Maradith

The liquor, so 'tis said, is still in cold storage at the lakeside. W. Meredith of London defended O'Connor, and disagreed with the findings of the Magistrate. He will appeal. If the judgment holds good, Mr. O'Connor's notice to License Inspector Ross and the department, that he will sue for the return of the whiskey or its value in cash will apparently not avail.

Dump Nuisance Debated.

The property owners on William street are again suggesting to the chairman of No. 4 committee that it find a place for the objectionable material dumped on the square of the west end market. On an assurance given some months ago by the chairman of No. 4 committee that the brick, stone and refuse would be removed, action was delayed in having the market officially closed and the property reach a couple of trustees who would place the square under private supervision and regulations. The Horticultural Society is willing to assist in having the property made into a small park and an attractive playgrounds for children. The M. C. R., too, will clean up the portion adjoining. No improvement can be made in the present condition of the square. The chairman of No. 4 committee will be asked once more to move the dump. Failing, the property owners interested say they will move to have the objectionable collection removed.

According to the company's representatives there is an abundance of necessary material for print paper manufacture in Parana and other states.

GALT COUNCILLOR RESIGNS AFTER STORMY SESSION

Ald. Clark Added Name To Street Paving Petition-Trouble Followed.

GALT, Aug. 17 .- After three weeks' vacation the Galt City Council got back to work tonight and the session was marked by another fireworks display as an aftermath of the Beverly street paving question. At the last regular meeting Ald. S. L. Clark, in a written statement, admitted he had signed the name of Graul to the petition, believing he had the right to do so, and announcing his intention of resigning at the next regular meeting.

When his resignation was not forthcoming tonight, Ald. McLane inquired if it was in his hand, and when informed not, was surprised. Ald. Clark in reply stated that since the last meeting there had been developments which had made him change his mind and he still had it under consideration. He stated that he had reluctantly inserted the cause consenting to resign.

After some pressure by Ald. McKay for the name of the member of the council who had been responsible for him inserting the clause, Ald. Clark said that Mayor Mercer had come to him and said that he had better resign, as there would be trouble in the council.

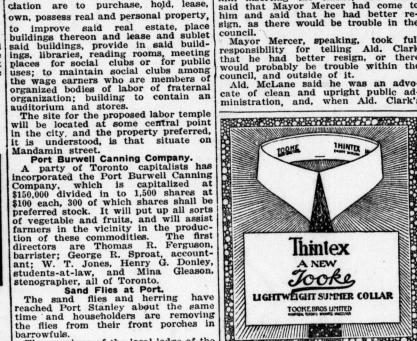

Mayor Mercer, speaking, took full to work tonight and the session was Mayor Mercer, speaking, took full responsibility for telling Ald. Clark that he had better resign, or there would probably be trouble within the council, and outside of it.

Ald. McLane said he was an advocate of clean and upright public administration, and, when Ald. Clark's resignation was not forthcoming felt he was justified in bringing it up. Other aldermen took a different view, but Ald. Clark tendered his resignation, which was unanimously accepted. He will contest the seat.

Sandwich Police Issue Information Against Spracklin's Chauffeur.

EXCEEDING SPEED LIMIT

Councillor Wright Loses a Horse Stung To Death by Bees.

WINDSOR, Aug. 17.-Vindicated of law violators," as the result of the report filed last night by the special committee of the Sandwich Town Council, which recently investigated charges made by the Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin into the liquor traffic on the Essex border, the police department today is-sued an information against Clayton Pastores, taxi driver for the "fighting parson," who some weeks ago stirred up the province by his sensational ar-spracklin, who has since been appointed a special officer under the Ontario temperance act, tonight assumed full responsibility for the action of his driver, who is charged with exceeding speed regulations while driving the inspector-minister around on his calls. Councillor Wright of the Sandwich Town Council is tonight mourning the loss of a valuable horse, stung to death this morning by a swarm of bees that settled on the animal on the Wright property and inflicted hundreds of wounds.

Wright property and inflicted hundreds of wounds.

Horse Stung to Death.

The bees swarming, became angered when the horse in some way, as yet unexplained, interfered with them, and in a body, thousands of the bees attacked it. The crazed beast, maddened by the innumerable and painful stings, threshed its way to freedom through the barn in which it was quartered, and raced blindly around the yard, causing considerable damage to property. Finally, exhausted and with its head, body and legs swollen away beyond their normal size, it succumbed.

C. A. Ripley, well-known border business man, was today fined $2,000 and costs by Magistrate Miers on a charge of illegally selling 150 cases of whiskey.

A short time ago the police of Sandwich were called upon to investigate what Ripley described as an attack on his residence by liquor thieves, who forcibly took a quantity of liquor from his home.

Hold-Up Story Framed.

Inquiring into the case, officers became suspicious, and a few days later preferred charges under the Ontario temperance act against Ripley in which they declared he had used the hold-up story as an explanation for the disappearance of the fiery fluid.

Mayor Winter today issued a warning to all Windsorites to lay in supplies of fuel immediately if possible for use next winter, as the supplies in the municipal coal pile will not be tapped until the heart of the cold weather has been reached, and the situation becomes so acute through inability of dealers to meet demands that outside relief will be necessary.

Since the adoption of new parking regulation by the Windsor city council two months ago, already over 260 motorists have been penalized for infringements of the bylaw. Fines collected total over $800.

Between 125 and 150 delegates of the chamber of commerce of the British Empire will visit the border on September 28, following a conference to be held in Toronto earlier in the month, according to notification received by Industrial Commissioner F. Maclure Sclanders of the Border Chamber of Commerce today. Arrangements were immediately started by Gordon Wickett, chairman of the house committee for the entertain-

Trustee Howe Resigns.

Edward T. Howe, for ten years a member of the Windsor Board of Education, today filed his resignation with Secretary George Courtenay of that board Mr. Howe, who at the time of his retirement was chairman of the advisory, industrial, household science and manual training committees, gave as his reason his entrance into business of a private nature that rendered as his reason his entrance into business of a private nature that rendered it impossible for him to continue a member of the board.

"We are receiving a service that is 50 per cent inferior to that of prewar days and why should we pay more for it? I am sure Windsor will oppose the move," declared Mayor Winter tonight, discussing the attitude this city would adopt toward the application of the Bell Telephone Company to the Dominion Railway Board for an increased schedule.

TRAVELER BRINGS WHISKEY ALONG TO BOOST HIS SALES

Harry Baker, Montreal Drummer, Fined $1,000, Plus Jail Term.

WINDSOR, Aug. 17 .- Nine convictions for breaches of the Ontario temperance act were registered in Windson ants of charges concerned risiding to Windsor.

Harry Baker, commercial traveler, of Montreal, arrested in the Crawford House with five quarts of whiskey brought from Quebec, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to one month in Sandwich jail. He declared he had brought up the liquor to assist him in closing sales.

George Gouin, motor truck driver of Tecumseh, who was recently questioned by special license officers in that town and who admitted on that occasion accepting delivery of a huge shipment of liquor consigned to 23 different men and delivering it all to seven rumrunners along the river front, walked into the headquarters of License Inspector Mousseau here today and was immediately placed under arrest. He had previously promised to come in immediately after the first hearing and explain his participation in the transaction. Adolphe Cecile of Sandwich East, accused of selling 29 cases of liquor, was not prepared to proceed with his case, which was adjourned.

The convictions registered, with the exception of that of the Montreal man, involved minor amounts of whiskey.

CITCHENER-WATERLOO IS BEING RELIEVED

KITCHENER, Aug. 17.-Rising al-50 dwellings, which are being erected by the Dominion Rubber System in this city and Waterloo, are rapidly nearing completion.

In Waterloo the eleven houses planned are all under roof and five of the Kitchener houses, with 28 foundations completed. It is expected the houses will be ready for occupancy by winter. They will considerably lessen the housing stress here.

GUELPH ROBBERIES COMMON: CITIZENS NERVES ON EDGE

Striking Molders Get Increases and Go Back To Work.

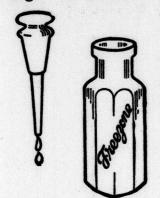

GUELPH, Aug. 17.-Since the robbin of Savage's grocery store and repeated attempts to break into several private residences this city is greatly excited and a number of men are co-operating with the police in search of a mysterious auto, which is declared to be the means of locomotion of the would-be thieves. The situation is such that it is hardly safe for a resident to go along charges of "negugence in its duty that certain streets at a late hour without amounted virtually to protection of being held up at the point of a pisto or shotgun, and a demand made as to what they are doing or where they are

Because every introduction leads to lasting friendship. It is a case of "love at first smoking."

One smoker offers "MILLBANKS" to a friend. The friend is delighted with these mild, fragrant Virginia Cigarettes and buys a package for himself. This is happening many times a day in every section of Canada. The reason is easy to find.

THE WORLD'S FAILURES.
[London Daily Express.]

Few men are successful unless first they have falled. History has shown this time and again. Clive, the founder of our Indian Empire, once despaired on account of his failure. But on his failure he built up a long and glorious career. Rome did not destroy Carthage until she had profited by the many mistakes she had made and the defeats she had sustained.

SQUARE PEGS IN ROUND HOLES.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The manner in which the placing of a worker in the wrong job affects society as a whole in the consequent dissatisfaction with his condition. There are no statistics at hand, and it might not be possible to secure them with any accuracy, to show how many workers are discontented with their present employment who might be more contented and happy, more useful and helpful members of society, if employed at some other task, something, in fact, which would be more of an occupation and less of a task, but they must be legion in numbers. This is one of the great reservoirs of discontent whose ill effects are apparent everywhere. All the leaders of disturbances and disruption count upon this discontent to supply the human material which they use. They try to give it direction and purpose.

GRA TRADE UNIONS IN CANADA.

[Christian Guardian.]

Opposition to trade unions often takes it for granted that the main purpose of these bodies is to organize strikes or other industrial conflicts. The annual statistics reveal some interesting features to the contrary. Reviewing cenly the 99 organizations affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, we find that the total expenditure for the year was $15,500,000. Ten and a half millions of this went to death benefits, while the other main items were: Oldage pensions. $1,186,300: sick and accident benefits, $1,828,218: unemployed and traveling benefits, $298,902; strike benefits, $1,783,961. and traveling benefi benefits, $1,783,961.

DUBLIN, Aug. 17.—Sinn Fein is orcanizing, under the name of the Irish Republican Government, a supreme GLOBE TROTTERS TO court of appeal, which, when set up, will complete the system of tribunals so successful in handling minor disputes for the past months. The highest court of the British Government in Ireland has virtually ceased to function, because appeals have been withdrawn and many litigants decline to recognize that it has any authority whatever.

Arthur Griffith, the leader of Sinn Fein in Ireland, told the Associated Press that it had not been decided whether to have three or five judges on the supreme bench, nor had any of the judges been selected.

"Our lower courts have been success-"Our lower courts have been successful in checking the wave of crime that was sweeping over Ireland a few months ago," said Mr. Griffith. "Whatever may be said about the republican government by our enemies, it must be and is admitted that petty crime has been on the wane all over the country since our courts began to function since our courts began to function. Naturally many cases, both criminal and civil, have been appealed, but we have no court higher than a district court to which we may take them. Appeal cases are piling up, and the need of a supreme court is increasing every

The plan for forestalling British judges and courts is very simple, but quite effective. When court is called men summoned for jury service fail to appear. Fines up to $500 have been imposed on absentees. If the officers arrest them and imprison them they go Impossible!

August is generally accepted as the month for furniture sales. There is no particular reason for it other than to create business in what would logically seem to be a dull month.

People expect August Furniture Sales. It was decided at the first of the month to learn really what was in an August sale, and we entered it whole-heartedly, by giving a discount of 20 per cent off regular prices on everything, with 30 per cent off Walnut Dining Suites. Regular tickets were left untouched, leaving the customers to actually see the discount.

Now Comes Dollar Day!

Really, folks, it's impossible to do any better in the way of values for Dollar Day than the prices prevailing all the month. To put it bluntly, every day in August, in point of values, is a Dollar Day. Furniture runs into quite a sum of money, and we are giving our usual good service-just the same as if purchases were made at regular prices. You'll appreciate the August values and the saving they effect. Even Club Plan purchases have the advantage of a 10 per cent discount on everything.

However!

To exert extra effort for Dollar Day, a number of Odd Tapestry Rockers have been placed in the east window at 20 per cent off. The west one holds a walnut dining suite of ten pieces. Regular $629. Sale price, $441.

Contrast Carnation methods of delivering milk with any others you know.

The spotiess Carnation condenseries are located in Canada's dairy centres.

The pure "whole" milk comes in from the dairy farms every day.

Immediately part of the water is taken away by evapgration. The rich milk then goes into clean, new containers and is sealed.

Then sterilized to insure absolute purity.

In this safe form Carnation Milk is delivered by grocers in every community.

It is protected against contamination.

It is not exposed to taint.

You can keep it safely on your pantry shelves—ready to use whenever you need fresh, sweet, pure milk.

Carnation Milk is the only milk supply your home needs.

It is really more, for it serves as both cream and milk.

Fresh from the can, it has a creamy consistency (due to the evaporation process). It is used as cream for coffee and tea, for cereals, for fruit,

By adding an equal part of water to Carnation Milk you restore its natural consistency. You get "whole" milknot separated or skimmed milk-but rich, wholesome milk, like they use on the farm.

Not a particle of preservative, sugar or other substance is added to Carnation Milk.

It is simply milk, for table use, for children to drink, for cooking, for Baby's bottle.

Phone your grocer for a supply. He is the Carnation Milkman.

MURDERERS FACE DEATH IN VARIOUS WAYS; SIGHT OF THE DEATH CHAMBER CAUSES MOST

Young Hyatt's Calmness Recalls Others Whose Executions Stirred Great Interest- How Dr. Waite, Becker, Hamby and Harris Faced Ordeal.

New York, Aug. 16.—There does not seem to be any way of determining how a murderer is going to act when the time comes for him to pay with his life the penalty which the law exacts as punishment for his crime. It would be sound logic for a murderer to face execution with the same calmness and disregard of consequences that he showed in plotting the death of his victim. But the electric chair is no respecter of sound logic.

Dr. Arthur Warren Waite was one of the most remarkable criminals the detectives of the New York police department have ever brought to justice. He was a college man, a graduate dentist with sufficient knowledge of medicine to have practiced as, a physician had he so desired, and an athlete of no mean order who had distinguished himself as a ternils plaver.

Yet Dr. Waite was a murderer, double murderer. He killed his father in-law and his mother-in-law, both of them old and with only a few years more to live anyway, for no other reason than to obtain quickly the small amount of money which they had accumulated and which would soon have passed largely to his wife in any event. The New York detectives believe that waite plotted the murder of his wife's parents for several years. He studied bacteriology until he became well acquainted with the zerms of varlous diseases which are almost always fatal. His mother-in-law, Mrs. John E. Peck. came from Grand Rapids, Mich., to visit the Waites in their New York apartiment late in 1915. A month later she became ill with pneumonia, and a few days after that she contracted typhoid fever also. She died after two or three weeks illness. On the advice of Dr. Waite the body was cremated, after reputable and competent physicians who had attended her had certified that she died from natural causes.

But in reality Mrs. Peck was murdered But in reality Mrs. Peck was murdered by Dr. Waite. Her first illness, a slight.

Hamby's Strange Conduct.

Waite wept this nerve throughed in the leave-taking of the men who were soon also to die, through all the solewal in th her had certified that she died from natural causes.

But in reality Mrs. Peck was murdered by Dr. Waite. Her first illness, a slight cold, was a result of exposure when Waite took her automobile riding one chilly January afternoon. The next morning, under pretence of giving her medicine to relieve the congested condition of her lungs, Waite inoculated her with pneumonia germs. He immediately called a physician, who began treating the patient, but as rapidly as the doctor gained headway against the disease, Waite inoculated Mrs. Peck with more germs, and when she was almost dead from pneumonia he inoculated her with germs of typhoid fever. The end then came quickly.

By having the body cremated Waite from pneumonia he inoculated her with germs of typhoid fever. The end then came quickly.

By having the body cremated Waite destroyed whatever evidence of his crime might have remained, and it is probable that the murder of Mrs. Peck never would have become known had not the dentist confessed to it later.

Two months after the death of Mrs. Peck her husband came to New York to visit his daughter and son-in-law. He, too, became ill, and finally died of natural causes—so the death certificate said. Dr. Waite advised that the body be cremated, but the dead man's son objected, and the body was then embalmed and sent to Michigan for burial. Waite continued to urge cremation, and his plans probably would have been carried out had not a mysterious telegram come to Percy Peck, a son of the murdered man. This message said:

"St. picions aroused. Demand autopsy. Do not reveal telegram.—K. Adams."

This telegram was one of the great mysteries of the Waite murder case, and to this day the police have not been able to find the person who sent it. It remains an unsolved mystery. But Percy Peck became suspicious also, especially so in view of the fact that both his father and his mother had died in Waite's apartment within two months. He caused an autopsy to be performed by Dr. Perry Schultz, who found large quantities of arsenic in Mr. Peck's stomach. Detectives immediately were set to watch Waite, and when the evidence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and self-confessed murdence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and self-confessed murdence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and self-confessed murdence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and self-confessed murdence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and self-confessed murdence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and his between the self-confessed murdence against him began to accumulate the collaboration and the chair with a price of the mains and unsolved mystery. ar as has been received.

The condemned man seemed to be the teast concerned person in the prison as the hour of his death approached. He the hour of his death approached. He often boasted that the chair would find him as steady and fearless as he had been through the long days when he waited for death. Only a few hours before death he asked the warden, william H. Moyer, if he might make a statement after he was seated in the electric chair.

"I will have time," he remarked, "That's all."

He sat calmly in the chair and motioned to the guards.

"Go ahead, boys!"

The guards busied themselves adjusting the electrodes and the straps and the prison physician came nearer to see that everything was done properly. Hamby noticed him and smiled.

"While the guards are adjusting the "Where is the red handkerchief, Doc?"

statement after he was seated in the statement after he was seated in the electric chair.

"I will have time," he remarked, "while the guards are adjusting the straps and the electrodes."

Warden Moyer gave Waite permission to say whatever he felt he had to say.

At exactly 11 o'clock Principal Keeper Dorner and Chaplain Petersen walked swiftly down the corridor of the death house to Waite's cell. Waite sat on the couch with his head clasped in his hands and his body leaning forward. As the keeper unlocked the door, the keys ratted in his trembling hand. The noise aroused the doomed man. He looked up, smiled, rose lightly to his feet, and asked:

"Are you ready for me now?"

up, smiled, rose lightly to his feet, and asked:

"Are you ready for me now?"

The instant the lock clicked he pushed the cell door open and stepped lightly into the corridor. He almost skipped along, and as he came to the cells of the other nine men who were awaiting execution he stopped before several of them, raised the black curtains which are always lowered when a man goes out to die, and spoke some word to the men who had been his enly companions for months. To several of them, he gave pencils and fountain pens and other small belongings.

The death procession continued on down the corridor, and as they drew near to the death chamber the cleryman stepped forward, took his place in Waite had died without making the statement he boasted he was going to make, and at the last moment he had lost his nerve.

Hamby's Strange Conduct.

Oute different from the behavior of Quite different from the behavior of Waite was that of Gordon Fawcett Hamby. Hamby was a two-gun burglar and bandit, and after he had been convicted of killing two officials of the East Brooklyn Savings Bank while holding up that institution and stealing $13,000 he confessed that under the names of Hamby, Boyd Browning and Jay B. Allen he had committed thirteen bank robberies, two train holdups and several murders.

Hamby was of unusual interest to criminologists. He fought against being extradited when he was captured in the west. But when he finally was brought back to New York and identified as the back replay he took refuge in fatalism.

Last Hour Spent With Ouija Board. The bandt and self-confessed murderer spent his last hour playing with the ouija board, and when the keepers came to lead him to his execution he jumped up, saluted them with a flourish and said:

he was arrested, eventually confessed to both murders, and was convicted and sentenced to death. He was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison shortly before midnight on May 24, 1917.

After his conviction Waite displayed an amazing disregard of what was going to happen to him. He was absolutely unafraid. He actually seemed to be waiting eagerly for the end.

Waite made no apparent spiritual preparations or confession of faith such as men usually make in like circumstances. For days prior to his execution he was in communication with a woman spiritualist and he promised her that after he was dead he would return and give her some message to prove the permen and the other official witnesses who sat silently on the wooden benches facing the electric chair. Hamby stopped before the chair, pinched the fire from his cigarette, and spoke to the warden: "May I say a word?" "Certainly." replied the warden, "anything you like." "Thank you," said Hamby. He turned to the witnesses. "I just want to say, gentlemen, that any man who stood in front of Jay B. Allen's gun had a chance. That's all."

WILL TAKE ACTION TO PUNISH LEADERS OF THOROLD RIOT

Are Said To Be Known.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 17.—It stated today that proceedings would be taken against the instigators of the riot at Thoroid last night, when David McNeal, charged with the murder of four-year-old Margaret Boucock. was nearly lynched. The ringleaders, it is said, all were well known. All through the trying time yesterday afternoon these men could be seen by the besieged party from the windows and the police named several. There was not the slightest attempt at secrecy or disguise. The men who rushed into the town hall with armfuls of hay and cans of gasoline and set the building on fire were plain to the view of the watching crowds and the police upstairs.

Saved By Luck.

It was stated today by a man who was in the confidence of the plotters that McNeal's life, after all, was saved the prevailing unrest is seen in the erection of barbed wire defenses at be taken against the instigators of the watching crowds and the police upstairs.

Saved By Luck.

It was stated today by a man who was in the confidence of the plotters that McNeal's life, after all, was saved by the lucky incident of Reuben Boucock, the father of Margaret, attacking him in the courtroom.

It had been arranged that there would be no disturbance, but that when McNeal was led down the stairs after the commitment he would be quietly taken from the two or three officers and hanged. Boucock had agreed not to make any move, but he says when McNeal called him a coward he lost control of himself. George F. Peterson, counsel for McNeal, declares McNeal did not. All he said to Boucock was: "Let the law settle this thing, Reuben."

Sentiment Changes.

Sentiment in Thorold with reference to McNeal's guilt is changed. Many were so impressed by his words last night, when he addressed the crowd fully convinced he was on the point of certain death, that they believe he told the truth.

The suggestion was made today the truth.

The suggestion was made today that the same fiend who killed the Goldberg boy in Toronto and horribly mutilated him, might have killed Margaret Boucock.

STATES PROVINCIAL POLICE LENT HELP

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 17.—Superintendent Joseph R. Rogers of the provincial police pointed out today that it was men under his charge who helped to prevent the threatened lynching at Thorold last night of David McNeal, charged with the murder of four-year-old Margaret Boucock in May. He was not notified until 11 o'clock last night, and he then tried to get in touch with provincial police at Niagara Falls, only to find that they had already gone to Thorold.

Superintendent Rogers admitted that towing to the small number of the provincial force they could do little in any emergency.

It is stated here on good authority that there will be an investigation soon to find out the guilty parties in connection with the burning of the Thorold town hall. EXPECT BIG HARVEST

Friends of the imprisoned men here believe that there is every prospect of an early release for the men.

MONTREAL STOCK EXCHANGE.

Montreal, Aug. 18.—There was comparatively little trading during the first half hour on the local stock exchange this morning. Dut on the whole the tone was strong. The most important feature was Spanish River, preferred which opened at yesterday's closing level of 119, and almost immediately rose 4 points to 123. Abitibl was steady at 76½, while Atlantic Sugar and Laurentide both registered a quarter-point gain to 145 and 112 respectively. Spanish River, common, gained a point and a half to 116. Other issues were steady around yesterday's closing levels.

During the morning session the amount of business transacted was possibly the smallest for several weeks past. This was however, offset by the fact that several of the more prominent issues showed appgeciable gains over Tuesday's prices. This was particularly noticeable in the securities. There was a better feeling all around.

GOOD YIELD OF HONEY IN WINGHAM DISTRICT

Bees Are Making Up Now for the Time Lost During Rainy July.

Lost During Rainy July.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Wingham, Aug. 18.—Beekeepers predict that the honey yield will be most satisfactory this season. Owing to the extremely wet weather in July it was feared in many sections that the yield would be light. The second crop of clover is one of the best in years, and the bees have been more than making up for the time they lost last month. Some beekeepers had laid iff a stock of sugar expecting that they would have to feed the bees but this will not be necessary now.

to feed the bees but this will not be necessary now.

Threshing is under way in some sections, and the wheat is running from 35 to 40 bushels per acre and is a good sample. Oats will soon be ready for harvesting, and promise to be one of the best crops in years.

Fruit promises to be unusually abundant and of fine quality, especially plums and apples. The splendid results obtained by those who sprayed their trees are causing considerable comment.

C., Aug. 3.—Another little advertised but highly successful Vancouver industry is located in Stanley Park in the shape of the kangaroo colony there. So successful have the parks authorities been in raising these SLATE, GRAVEL AND CEMENT

Word has been received that Mr

TENDERS FOR SCHOOL

ADDITION ACCEPTED

Wortley Road Building To

Cost $66,500—Slightly Above Estimate.

Although the meeting had been called for another purpose, the board of education Tuesday accepted the tender of John Hayman & Sons for building the addition to the Wortley road school. The amount of the contract was $66,500, which was only about $1,500 in excess of the estimate. Former tenders were about $8,000 higher, but through changes in the plans a reduction was effected.

By a two-thirds vote the board agreed to consider the matter of tenders, and after the acceptance of that of John Hayman & Sons had been moved by Trustee Edwin Smith and A. A. Langford approval was given.

The meeting was called to reallot the debenture issue for Ealing and Knollwood schools. Knollwood was reduced to $15,000, and excess debentures were transferred to Ealing, making its debenture issue $91,000.

COME" AT THE GRAND TOMORROW NIGHT.

At the Grand tomorrow night, Friday and Saturday with special Saturday matinee at 2:30, the latest play of Sidney Toler, "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," an adaptation of the famous novel of the same name by John Fox Jun., will have first local presentation. This play coming here with the acclaim of several of the largest eastern cities, was recently given in Philadelphia, where cast and production won the heartiest commendation. The story is of Kentucky—of the feuds and the primitive loves and quarrels of the true hearts but rough mannered mountaineers. The period is during the five years from 1860 to 1865, and the tale is devoted to the happenings that mean so much in the life of Chad, a wandering mountain lad and to the petite and lovely Melissy. George Simpson is said to be ideal for the role of Chad, the leading male role. Dorothy Dunn, who was the Wendy with Maude Adams' company in "Peter Pan," is the Melissy.

The settings give a splendid idea of Kentucky mountain scenery, and the third act interior is a perfect reproduction of the living-room of an old southern family. Seats now on sale for all performances.

AT LOEW'S.

"Mimic World" is delighting capacity audiences at every performance, and to those who have not yet paid a visit to the popular Loew's should do so at once. A musical comedy company of dainty feminine stars, and Alice Morley, billed America's foremost character comedienne, and she lives up to the billing, combine to dish up one of the classiest menus of enjoyment that has been the pleasure of Manager Lake to offer London patrons since the opening tuneful melodies, all the popular song hits, pretty dances and clever lines, all combine in making this snappy little production one of the most pleasurable to be presented in London. Miss Ethel Clayton in "A Lady in Love," a story that snuggles close to your heart is seen in support of a most excellent bill. The added features bring a newsy Loew Pictorial of world topics and a fun feature. Charming Billie Burke will hold the screen for the last three days, commencing tomorrow in "Away Goes Prudence," while the classy tcompany of feminine stars will remain for the balance of the week.

"SCRATCH MY BACK" AT ALLEN.

Do you enjoy a good laugh, and don't you often feel the need of one? Well, you will have a few hundred of them if you see "Scratch My Back," the most unusual and different of comedy features, which is playing at the Allen today. There's the hero, who does whatever he wants to do, and and not a little fun. There is the heroine, who goes and gets married before the hero appears and nearly spoils the whole picture. There is the husband, who looks like an old grouch, but who turns out to be the best joker of the bunch, and there is the villain, who is vanquished by having his funnybone tickled with the hard end of a walking stick.
