The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

National Library of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CON-TINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

Bibliothèque nationale du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la nettoté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une teille empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole  $\longrightarrow$  signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole  $\nabla$  signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

PREFACE.

Who among the readers of this pretace has not been invited to write a few words of sentiment in the Album of a friend? As an aid to the many thousands who have received this invitation, and have not known what to write, we offer this collection of choice verse and prose, as an aid to them and all others, with the hope that our labor shall not have been spent in vain nor be altogether unappreciated. Great care has been taken to procure as many original picces as possible. Many choice verses suitable for Birthday, Christmas and New Year celebrations, have been added; which, with the collection of articles embracing sentiment, affection, humor, and miscellany, is offered to a generous public by

SUITABLE FOR INSCRIPTION ON TITLE PAGES OF ALBUMS.

Go forth, thou little volume, Like Noah's faithful dove, And bring to darling ——— An olive leaf of love.

My Album's open ! Come and see ! What ! Won't you waste a line on me ? Write but a thought, a word or two, That Memory may revert to you.

My Album is a garden spot Where all my friends may sow, Where thorns and thistles flourish not, But flowers alone may grow. With smiles for sunshine, tears for showers, I'll water, watch and guard these flowers.

The Album Elriter's Friend.

Go forth, thou little volume, I leave thee to thy fate; To love and friendship truly Thy leaves I dedicate.

Go, Album! range the gay parterre, From gem to gem, from flower to flower, Select with taste and cull with care, And bring your offering, fresh and raro, To this sweet maiden's bower.

WHEN years elapse, It may, perhaps, Delight us to review these scraps, And live again 'mid scenes so gay, That Time's rough hand has swept away; For when the eye, bedimmed with age, Shall rest upon each treasured page,

Those pleasant hours That once were ours

Shall come again, like Autumn flowers, To bloom and smile upon us here When all things else scem sad and drear; 'Twill tune our hearts and make them sing, And turn our Autumn into Spring!

Go, little book, thy destined course pursue, Collect memorials of the just and true, And beg of every friend so near Some token of remembrance dear.

The Album Briter's friend.

As life flows on from day to day, And this, your book, soon fills, How many may be far away From treasured vales and hills ?

But there is joy, in future time To turn the pages o'er, And see within a name or rhyme From one you'll see no more.

> Liffe is a volume, From youth to old age, Each year forms a chapter, Each day is a page. May none be more charming, More womanly (manly) true, Than that, pure and noble, Sketched yearly by you.

MANY kind wishes will be written here, And none more sincere than mine. But—

Words are lighter than the cloud-foar Of the restless ocean's spray;

Vainer than the trembling shadow That the next hour steals away.

WE may write our names in Albums; We may trace them in the sand; We may chisel them in marble, With a firm and skillful hand : But the pages soon are sullied, Soon each name will fade away; Every monument will crumble, Like all earthly hopes, decay. But, dear friend, there is an Album, Full of leaves of snowy white, Where no name is ever tarnished, But forever pure and bright. In that Book of Life, God's Album, May your name be penned with care And may all who here may write, Have their names forever there

SENTIMENT AND AFFECTION.

PEACE be around thee, wherever thou rovest;
May life be for thee one sur. ... or's day;
And all that thou wish, and all that thou lovest,
Come smiling around thy summer way.
If sorrow e'er this calm should break,
May even thy tears pass off so lightly,
Like spring showers, they will only make
The smiles that follow shine more brightly.

Max the claim of friendship formed by the links which are dropped here, serve to unite you more closely in spirit with the friends who have worked it.

May each link be brought to a white heat in the fires of Love; and, forged on the anvils of Truth, may they be strong as iron, yet light as air : keeping you bravely to the duties of life. And when 'te chain of human bondage shall be broken, may they become flowers of eternal brightness in the gardens from whence cometh exceeding peace.

> Our lives are albums, written through With good or ill—with false or true— And, as the blessed angels turn The pages of our years, God grant they read the good with smiles, And blot the ill with tears.

The Album Cetriter's Milend.

THE gem cannot be polished without friction, nor man perfected without adversity.

TIME advances like the slowest tide, but retreats like the swiftest current.

WHAT's the use of always fretting At the trials we shall find Ever strewn along our pathway— Travel on, and never mind.

LIFE giveth unto each his space,
A span of earth, an arch of sky,
And unto each a several grace—
To each a separate destiny—
And some were born to win and spend,
And some to love unto the end.

THERE is another album Filled with leaves of spotless white, Where no name is ever tarnished, But forever pure and bright. In the Book of Life—God's album—

May your name be penned with care,

And may all who here have written, Write their names forever there.

DAILY we write our autographs on the minds and hearts of those around us.

"Poor is the friendless master of a world. A world in purchase for a friend, is gain."

> So slight a favor 'tis you crave, That I can scarce refuse compliance; Nor shall I use the page you gave, To set your champions at defiance.

Dear lady, vainly awed, I praise That dimpled hand I pressed at parting; Or those dark eyes, beneath whose gaze A cupid lurks equipped for darting.

Nor can I hope to lightly touch On charms so oft the theme of lovers; To add another, while so much That beautiful about thee hovers.

I can but add one little pearl To all the gems about thee scattered; And say again, sweet, artless girl, That all thy poets have not flattered.

I HAVE tried for a week, and vainly I seek Words of wisdom to write to you are;
So, wishing you life free from sorrow and strife, Nor wanting in friends and good cheer,
With health—perhaps wealth—
Love better than self,

STRENGTH for to day, in house and home, To practice forbearance sweetly;To scatter kind words and loving deeds, Still trusting in God completely.

n

A VOLUME of this kind, it is supposable, will be more or less frequently referred to, in future years, to revive fading recollections and recall pleasant associations; and, therefore, though it is so easy to moralize, it seems eminently fitting that helpful suggestions should accompany familiar autographs.

Let me say, then, that while in your youth a favorable combination of circumstances permits so much of happiness, the conditions of its enjoyment cannot always remain as now.

As the responsibilities, at present borne for you, shall come to rest on your own shoulders, and the darker shades of life's history are unfolded, you will find the peace, which floweth like a river, only in the degree in which you resolutely perform every known duty; and, forgetting your own wants—whether fancied or renl—devote your thoughts, as well as your energies, to making the society in which you move happier for your being.

That you may indulge in no selfish case; but bestow, as well as enjoy, a full share of the pleasures of time, and afterward receive a crown of glory, is the earnest wish of your friend—

> I would that I could express my mind To you, dear friend, in scribbling some rhyme; But you know my failing as well as I, And you'd better get another to try.

Ah ! had I that power, ever Should the world look bright to thee.

I KNOW not what to write about, So many themes are pressing; All good enough in very truth,

But quite unprepossessing : Each moment of thy future life, Live holy, whether maid or wife.

And let it be thy constant care, Midst earthly joy and sorrow, By watchfulness and fervent prayer,

Each this day and to-morrow. To be prepared when Christ shall come, His heaven to make thy final home.

THESE little souvenirs possess not their greatest value when first written: but as time, with scythe in hand, passes along, and we are left standing, we are not the same, but these lines remain. Some, to cheer the saddened by awakening slumbering memories of better things; and others serving as guide-boards on the road to eternity.

And thou, too, whosoe'er thou art, That readest this brief psalm, 'As one by one thy hopes depart, Be resolute and calm.

O fear not in a world like this, And thou shalt know e're long— Know how sublime a thing it is To suffer and be strong.

PRESS on ! our life is not a dream— Though often such its mazes seem. We were not born to live at ease— Ourselves alone to aid and please. To each a daily task is given ; A labor that shall fit for heaven ; When duty calls, let love grow warm, Amid the sunshine or the storm ; With faith, life's trials boldly breast, Then come a conqueror to thy rest.

As you travel through life, scatter kind words and gentle deeds, ; in so doing, you will enrich your soul. Withold them, and it tends to poverty.

Max thy life happy be, Is my dear wish for thee.

It never pays to fret and growl When fortune seems our foe, The better bred will push ahead And strike the braver blow; For luck is work, And those who shirk Should not lancet their doom. But yield the play, And elear the way, That better men have room.

DESIRE not to live long, but well; How long we live, not years, but actions, tell.

ROUND went the autograph ; hither it came, For me to write in ; so here's my name.

PASSING through life's field of action, Lest we part before its end,
Take within your modest volume, This memento from a friend.

WE meet and part—the world is wide; We journey onward side by side A little while, and then again Our paths diverge. A little pain— A silent yearning of the heart For what has grown of life a part; A shadow passing o'er the sun, Then gone, and light again has come. We meet and part, and then forget; And life holds blessings for us yct.

WHEN things don't go to suit you. And the world seems upside down,Don't waste your time in fretting, But drive away the frown.

OLD friends and true friends ! Don't talk to me of new friends ; The old are the best, Who stand the test. Who book their name: as through friends.

The world is full of fools. And he who would none view, Must shut himself in a cave, And break his mirror, too.

METHINKS long years have flown, And, sitting in her old arm-chair, — has older grown, With silver sprinkled in her hair. Her album thus she holds, And turns its many pages o'er, And wonders if it still contains The memories of yore. And o'er these pages thus she runs,

With many a sigh and kiss, Then suddenly she stops and says,

"Who could have written this?"

 And the future, though now hidden, Holds much joy for thee, I ween.
 Why, then, seek to know what's coming ? It is forming day by day ;
 But your heart, in blind out-reaching, Makes to-morrow of to-day.

" Lifo is real—life is earnest;" And the heroine in the strife Is the one who leaves the future— Living but the present life;— Lives it truly, nobly, grandly; Thus prepares for coming fate;— Strives to make her living perfect;— Learns to labor and to wait.

'Tis a terrible fate, my dear miss, To be asked to write in a book like this; For, scratch my head as hard as I may-I've such a skull-And if I try to moralize, Or vent my thoughts in sentiment. Or attempt to laud you to the skies, Or spread myself on compliment, I'm so awful dull, That my efforts would prove futility ; fmind For the sex of your kind, are of that turn of That morals, verse and flattery. Have to you been so oit defined, You are full. If rhyming I try, adorable Miss, The first I think of, is dear little Kiss, Or some such nonsence as connubial bliss, Or changing your title "Mrs." from "Miss :" But that's prosaical. To give you advice, I'd never presume ;---Incompetence may be the reason for that ;---

To wish you long life and a blest happy home Is aged and stale, exhausted and flat, And excruciatingly formal.

Now, what to do I do not know, Or how to make my paragraph; So I'll doff my hat, and make my bow and send this as my autograph.

May there be just clouds euclide o'er your life to cause a glorious sunset.

THAT every kindly wish and thought, By friends expressed within these pages, Be yours, and trials common to us all May cross your path by "easy stages."

REMEMBER me when far away, And only half awake; Remember me on your wedding-day, And send a slice of cake.

WHEN worth and beauty prompt the line, Perhaps a pen as poor as mino May be forgiven
To try and write of things divine, And think of heaven !
But pause, rash verse ! and don't abuse
A bashful maiden's ear with news Of her own heauty !
And yet no other theme I'll choose, Or think a duty !
So, then, for fear I might offend, I'll say, God bless her !- and thus end.

The earth can boast no purer tie, No brighter, richer gem,
No jewel of a lovelier dye, Than Friendship's diadem.
Then may this ray of light divine Ne'er from our bosoms fade;
But may it on our pathway shine, Till death our hearts invade.

That rings its scented violet bells through fair and stormy weather;

So may thy life be clothed with flowers, and breathe a purer air,

May it only show the stars are near, peeping out, one by one !

THESE few lines to you are tendered, By a friend sincere and true; Hoping but to be remembered When I'm far away from you.

WORK, while yet the daylight shines, With a loving heart and true, For golden years are fleeting by, And we are passing, too.

Wait not for to-morrow's sun To beam upon thy way, For all that thou can'st call thine own, Is in this one to-day.

Then learn to make the most of life-Make glad each passing day-For time will never bring thee back The chances swept away.

Leave no tender word unsaid— Do good while hife shall last;— You know the mill can never grind With the water that is past.

Let not the hours we've spent together, Go past as nothing, by; Forget me not, e'en though you must Remember with a sigh.

THANKSGIVING-DAY again is here, And turkey is the leading question; I wish, with heartiness sincere, That you may have a good digestion.

The Album Wiriter's Friend.

THOUGH many flowers have faded from my life, And clouds obscure the br glitness of the sky;
This have I learned: we can do much to make Our lives a blessing and our words a power,
If what we find to do, for Christ's dear sake, We do with faithfulness, from hour to hour.

> Ir may occur in after life That you, I trust, a happy wife, Will former happy hours retrace, Recall each well-remembered face, At such a moment I but ask— I hope 'twill be a pleasant task— That yon'll remember as a friend One who'll prove true e'en to the end.

I saw two clouds at morning, Tinged by the morning sun, And in the dawn they floated on And mingled into one; I thought that morning cloud was blest, It moved so sweetly to the west. Such be your gentle motion, Till life's last pulse shall beat, And you float on in joy to meet A calmer sea, where storms shall cease— A purer sky, where all is peace.

WHEN on this page you chance to look, Just think of me and close the book. 25 :•

BE a good girl, and you will be a true woman.

MAX thy darkest hours in life be well lighted with the sunshine of contentment.

Yours sincerely-although merely-

WHEN the golden sun is setting, And your heart from care is free, When o'er a thousand things you're thinking, Will you sometimes think of me?

How long we live, not years, but actions tell; That man lives twice who lives the first lifo well. Make then, while yet ye may, your God your friend, Whom Christians worship, yet not comprehend. The trust that's given, guard; and to yourself be just, For, live we how we can, yet die we must.

LIVE well; how long or short, permit to heaven; They who forgive most, shall be most forgiven.

SOAR not too high to fall, but stoop to rise; We masters grow of all that we despise.

Your fate is but the common fate of all; Unmingled joys here to no man befall.

26 .:- ----- MISCELLANEOUS,----:-

MAY e'en thy failings lean to virtue's side.

Hours are golden links—God's token— Reaching heaven, but one by one ; Take them, lest the chain be broken Ere thy pilgrimage be done.

House beautiful—your book, from end to end, And every page a room to lodge a friend; Fain would I enter with a seemly grace, Attired and mannered as befits the place; But best endeavor falls below the aim, And rests at last, content to leave a name.

LEAF green on ground of white, My name, I fain would write That you remember still In June or in December chill, We two are friends.

On, wayward mortal who these books invented, Why was't thou not by some kind hand prevented? And thereby kept from many a luckless swain, The direful knowledge that ho lacked a brain— Lacked it, at least, where poetry was needed, Like the poor wight who here has not succeeded.

> THROUGH days of doubt and darkness, In fear and trembling breath,
> Through mists of sin and sorrow, In tears and grief and death ;
> Through days of light and gladness. Through days of love and life,
> Through smiles and joy and sunshine Through days with beauty rife ;
> The Lord of life and glory,
> The King of earth and sea,
> The Lord who guarded Israel, Keep watch, sweet friend, o'er thee.

TRUTH—Freedom—Virtue—these have power; If rightly cherished, to uphold, sustain, And bless thy spirit, in its darlest hour.

Thy own trim, modest form, Isalways neatly clad.

Thou surely will make the tidiest wife That ever husband had.

Амохо the many friends who claim A kind remembrance in thy heart, I, too, would add my simple name, Among the rest.

Max God's mercy ever guide thee, Safe o'er all thy thorny road ; And His grace, whate'er betide thee, Lead thee home to His abode.

The large are not the sweetest flowers; The long are not the happiest hours; Much talk doth not much friendship tell; Few words are best—I wish you well.

LET your life be like a snowflake, which leaves a mark but not a stain.

> BEGINT with roses of the royal June, A resurrected day swings highest morn In every year : and so through life I pray May never failing changes bring their day, And flames of love in swinging censers riss While all thy thoughts lead on toward the skies.

SMALL service is true service while it last;
Of friends, however humble, scorn not one;
The daisies, by the shadow that they cast,
Protect the lingering dew-drops from the sun.

 $M_{AKE}$  good use of time, if theu lovest eternity; yesterday eannot be recalled—to-morrow cannot be secured—to-day only is thine, which, if once lost, is lost forever.

In time we transact business for eternity; whatever, therefore, we do now, should be done well.

MAY each thought be pure, and sincerc, Addressed upon these spotless pages; Reflections fond, they'll always prove, Youthful friend, through many ages.

THEY who have light in themselves, will not revolve as satellites.

THROUGH time we'll change, and then,
This little book will somehow bind us;
You'll take it up, and think of me
And all the joys we've left behind us.

As the shadow of the sun is largest when his beams are lowest, so we are always least when we make ourselves if greatest.

Acnoss the page of spotless white Friends trail the pen, and in our sight Grow precious all the lines they write.

As for some white-sailed ship at sea, So, little book, my watch for thee; Return with freight of love to me.

Eveny hour comes to us charged with duty, and the moment it is past, returns to heaven to register itself how spent.

THERE'S a Divinity that shapes our ends, Rough-hew them how we will.

OUR eyes see all around in gloom or glow, Hues of their own, fresh borrowed from the heart.

WRITE your name by kindness, love and mercy upon the hearts of those you come in contact with, and you will never be forgotten.

LET Fate do her worst; there are relics of joy, Bright dreams of the past she cannot destroy; They come in the night-time of sorrow and care, And bring back the features that joy used to wear. Like the vase, in which roses have once been distilled, You may break—you may shatter the vase, if you will; But the scent of the roses will hang round it still.

And were I in poetic mood, I'd surely with thee more.

Our greatest glory consists not in never failing, but in rising every time we fall.

HERE's a sigh for those who love me, And a smile for those who hate, And, whatever sky's above me, Here's a heart for every fate.

In all thy humors, whether grave or mellow, Thou art such a touchy, testy, pleasant fellow, Hast so much wit, and mirth, and splcen, about thee, There is no living with thee, nor without thee.

THERE is a small and simple flower That twines around the humblest cot. And in the sad and lonley hours It whispers low: "Forget me not."

WHEN asked in an album to write, I feel quite inclined to refuse; For what should I dare to indite That would a young lady amuse? Not wit, for I have none of that, Nor romance—my fancy is tame; And compliments sound so flat, I'm forced to write merely my name.

MAX you always be happy, And live at your case Get a kind husband, And do as you please.

True friends, like ivy and the wall, Both stand together or together fall.

BEAUTY is but a vain, a fleeting good,
A shining gloss that fadeth suddenly,
A flower that dies whon almost in the bud,
A bright glass that breaketh suddenly;
A fleeting good, a glass, a gloss, a flower,
Lost, faded, broken, dead within the hour.

Max happiness ever be thy lot, Wherever thou shalt be; And joy and pleasure light the spot That may be home to thee.

How sweet to have a faithful friend, In whom we can confide: To bless us if we act right And if we err to chide.

HOPE the best, get ready for the worst, and take what God sends.

BE content with the lot God has marked out for you. Love, honor and obey Him in all things, and your last days will be peaceful and happy.

MAX the morn of thy life be bright and joyous, the noontide peaceful and happy, and the sunset gloriously hopeful, is the wish of your friend.

My wishes and my hopes for you, Find glad expression here; Although, indeed, it's very true, There is no room for all that's due To one we hold so dear.

Good health—first wish of all— Of all God's gifts the best; A happy heart, that loves to call On Him who notes the sparrow's fall And promises sweet rest.

Although beset by worldly care, Fix all your hopes on Heaven, And view by faith the glories fair, Which, in that world beyond the air, To faithful ones are given.

ALTHOUGH I am advised not to write fast, I hope the thought I would express may last.

THE truest happiness is found in making others happy.

ACCEPT, my friend, these lines from me, They show that I remember thee, And hope some thought they will retain Till you and I shall meet again.

For thee, my fair and gentle friend, I ask not wealth or fame, I only ask thy path may be Free from life's toil and care.

Among the many friends that claim
A kind remembrance in thy breast,
I too would add my simple name
Among the rest.

NEVER grow weary doing good.

I WANT a warm and faithful friend, To cheer the adverse hour;
Who ne'er to flatter will descend, Nor bend the knee to power;
A friend to chide me when I'm wrong; My inmost soul to see;
And that my friendship prove as strong For him as his for me.

ESTEEM AND CONFIDENCE.

Some little token of regard, You wish from me to claim; But as time is pressing hard, I will but write my name.

EVERY joy that heaven can send; Wealth and every kind of treasure;— Health and wealth to thee, my friend, And happiness without measure.

In future years, should trusted friends Depart like summer birds;
And all the conifort memory lends, Is false and honeyed words,
Turn then to me who fain would prove, However thy lot be cast,
That naught his heart can ever move From friendship of the past.

Joy and plenty in the cottage, Peace and feasting in the hall; And the voices of the children Ring out clear above it all: A merry Christmas!

As Christmas offerings meet your eyes, Still closer be sweet friendship's ties

Ring out, ye bells, o'er all the earth, To tell with brazen voice, The tidings of the Saviour's birth And bid mankind rejoice.

TRUE love shall live thro' sorrow's wintry storm, And bloom afresh on this glad Christmas morn. Oн joyons be your Christmas-tide And bright your New Year too; To you may love ne'er be denied; May all your friends be true.

Our Saviour Christ was born That we might have the Rose without the thorn.

All through His desert life

He felt the thorns of human sin and strife. His blessed feet were bare

To every hurting brier. He did not spare One bleeding footstep on the way He came to trace for us, until the day The cruel crown was pressed upon the Brow That smiles upon us from His glory now.

And so He won for us

Sweet, thornless, everlasting flowers thus.

He bids our desert way

Rejoice and blossom as the Rose to-day There is no hidden thorn

In His good gifts of grace. He would adorn The lives that now are His alone.

With brightness and beauty all his own. Then praise the Lord who came on Christmas day To give the Rose and take the thorns away.

AGAIN the festive season's here, With all that can delight and cheer; Oh! may you nothing lack each day, But find fresh blessings strew your way.

When the earth will be sweet with flowers And the breath of new mown hay."

Oh bird so softly singing
Your song of pleasant days,

The Album Mriter's friend.

Now Christmas comes with hearty cheer, May kindly thoughts go round, And bring to you a glad New Year, With peace and plenty crowned.

CHRISTMAS is coming, and what will it bring? Many a pleasant and gladdening thing! Meetings and greetings, and innocent mirth: All that is brightest and best on the earth.

CHRISTMAS comes, let every heart In Christmas customs bear its part: The "old" be "young," the sad be gay, And smiles chase every care away.

SURE, Christmas is a happy time, In spite of wintry weather, For laugh, and song, and jest go round

When dear friends meet together: And hearts are warm, and eyes beam bright In the ruddy glow of Christmas night!

For friends we strive to pierce The future, dense and dark,
But not a ray of light We see, nor faintest spark :
But yet while we have faith to cheer,
We trusting wish "A bright New Year." HARE, the pearly air is trembling, Liquid music floats along; Angels in sweet joy assembling,

Thrill the skies with heavenly song. "Peace on Earth," is their refrain, Oh, be it yours this peace to gain.

MAY piety with wishes placed above, And steady loyalty and faithful love, Be thy blessings this Christmas-tide.

O LIFE is but a river. And in our childhood we, But a fair and running streamlet Adorned with flowers, see.

But as we grow more earnest, The river grows more deep, And where we laughed in childhood, We, older, pause and weep.

Each Christmas as it passes, Some change to us doth bring, Yet to our friends the closer, As time creeps on, we cling.

MAY health and joy and peace be thine, Upon this Christmas day; And happy faces round thee shine As plentcous as the flowers in May.

LET the New Year be to you As a childish playmate new, Stealing suddenly among Apple-boughs that overhung.

Greet him half in confidence, Half as ready for defence! Is he come to tease or play? Will he give or take away?

Let him come as friend or foe ! No New Year can overthrow This our friendship that has grown From the years that now are flown.

O CHILDHOOD is a golden time, When all the world is bright, When sunshine comes with every morn, Sweet dreams with every night. Were I a fairy, I would give To thee a magic kiss, That should ensure for the New Year. As fair a time as this.

TAKE, my friend, this heartfelt greeting, Happy be thy Christmas day, Faith, and hope, and love here meeting, Speed thee on thy New Year's way!

I CANNOT tell what thou wilt leing to me, O strange New Year, But the' thick darkness shrouds thy days and months, I will not fear. Why should I fret my heart to know before What may befall? With this one thought content—I ask no more— God knows it all.

> HEALTH and prosperity Your life to cheer, With every blessing For the bright New Year.

On this New Year's morning My wishes take their flight. And wing to thee a greeting That would make all things bright.

GLADLY now it is my pleasure, Joys to wish you without measure, Happiness and peace attending, With pure and heavenly blessings blending. The Album Writer's friend.

May the blessings of the old year follow in the new.

We cannot look into the future, We cannot tell if the New Year, Will bring us fresh sorrows to mourn o'er, Or bring us new blessings to cheer.

But an all-seeing God is above us, Who knows what for each one is best, Who in this world will care for and love us. And bring us at last to our rest.
