at any moment. Over 300 political prisoners have been released from the penitentiary and military prisons in the capital, while from Vera Cruz...

Those familiar with the propaganda of the northern rebels express the belief that Pascual Orozco, Lpez Salazar and other leaders may not be satisfied with the selection of only one of their comrades, David de la Fuente, as a cabinet minister.

On the other hand, it is well known that the men who have been operating in the north are tired of fighting, and have repeatedly said that their main object in doing so was the removal of Francisco Madero from power.

The new administration appears not to be inclined to temporize with any of the rebels. It declares that all that is possible will be done to effect a reconciliation, but in the event of the failure of its efforts...

A Plan to Help Umpires of Baseball Games

(Courier Leased Wire) CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—President Ban Johnson of the American League has received from Albert A. Lohr, of Washington, D.C., a plan which he considers feasible for enabling umpires to more accurately judge balls and strikes.

ing over the shoulder of the catcher he has a guide for the corners of the plate, whether the ball be low or high.

The plan Mr. Lohr suggests, said President Johnson last night, "is to run two white lines down the path from the pitcher's box to the batter's box, just the right distance apart, thus when the umpire is looking over the shoulder of the catcher he has a guide for the corners of the plate, whether the ball be low or high."

The Inauguration Ceremonies For President-Elect Wilson

taken by the collegians from Princeton and the University of Virginia. When President-elect Wilson leaves his hotel to go to the White House for his ride up Pennsylvania avenue to the capitol he will pass down a line of college men, one rank being composed of Princetonians and the other consisting of members of the southern university, which gave him his degree in law.

The Arbitrators in Connection With a Threatened Strike

(Courier Leased Wire) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—W. W. Atterbury, vice-president and general manager of the Pennsylvania lines east, and Albert Phillips, third vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, went into conference here to-day to select the third man who will compromise with them the board of arbitrators to decide, under the Erdman Act the firemen's demands of the Eastern railroads for increased pay and additional firemen on large locomotives.

Willing to Submit the Outcome to the Powers

(Courier Leased Wire) LONDON, Feb. 20.—In a review of the European situation The Times says: "It is believed in St. Petersburg that both Roumania and Bulgaria are willing to submit their differences to the decision of the powers. According to the information of one St. Petersburg correspondent the actual negotiation is likely to be conducted under the auspices of Great Britain. In Sofia considerable uneasiness is caused by reports that the powers are likely to lean toward Roumania's view. In Bulgaria the impression is that this particular danger will soon cease to be acute."

"The Roumanian cabinet met today and our Bucharest correspondent reports that public opinion is in favour of arbitration. "The outlook with regard to the Austro-Russian differences on the subject of the delimitation of Albania is not so hopeful. The question has been complicated and envenomed by being made in a sense a test of diplomatic strength instead of being discussed on its merits. But there is no reason to despair of a solution. Today Sir Edward Grey and the ambassador will resume their meetings and will consider the latest Russian proposals, which have already been communicated to Vienna."

MACKENZIE AND MANN (Courier Leased Wire) TORONTO, Feb. 20.—The revival of the story that the "mystery" block recently purchased at the corner of Yonge and Carlton streets, was really the property of the McKenzie-Mann interests came with recent events in to the financial world, and these events tend to confirm the idea that the Canadian Northern are to erect huge terminals in the heart of Toronto. Similar to the Montreal program, it is said that the railroads, northeast and west, converging at Yonge street will be brought to the centre of the city by means of a subway. The fact that a million dollars was paid over lately to bind the bargain also gives the rumor greater backing.

his conception of the presidency and the necessity for the firm executive power, he alluded to the noble ambitions of the French republic and its service to justice, education, science, letters, art and finance. President Poincaré then referred to the responsibilities of the present time and noted the sad state of "peace" is not decreed by the will of one power." He said it was impossible for any nation to be effectively pacific unless it was always ready for war. A France with diminished power and exposed by her own fault to defiance or humiliations, would, he continued, be a crime against civilization to allow the nation to decrease its forces while other nations developed theirs without cessation. He eulogized the army and navy and then alluded to the diplomacy of France having labored silently during many months, "among the perils of a redoubtable crisis."

MYLL OF THE CROSS-CUT.
How Woodsmen Put Up Six Cords of Wood In Four Hours.
Ronald McKinnon has engaged the giant sawyers, Angus Bell, McMillan and Jim Ryder to cut 100 cords of wood for him in the Roly Monk bush, says the West Williams correspondent of The Parkhill (Ont.) Gazette. One day recently the three of them went to the bush in the afternoon to saw. Before starting, Ronald told the fellows where they were at in plain language. The men threw off their cardigans and one of their gulluses of the shoulder, turned the saw on its back and examined the cutting edge of their "Racey," pulled it back and forth on the back to try its weight and then started in.
The saw was newly set and filed, the drag teeth just set to finess, the thickness of a Yankee ten cent piece.
The blade sang like a bell which proved to the boys that the saw was in as good fettle as themselves. It was wonderful how she melted down through the log; even the champions McColl and Happer in their best days never cut a log as fast as Ronald raked the ribbons of sawdust out so lustily.
Ronald looked on amazed. He was astonished at the cutting power. When the first block dropped Angus turned to Ronald with that deep scowl of his "An" what are you standing there for whatever? Who's going to do the log? "All right, Angus, all right, I'll be doing that," Jim took a long breath and remarked that he was rather thick inside but would soon get his second wind.
It was noted that Angus' breast heaved and fell a little faster than usual, but only for a few seconds. In another minute the worse for the hot pace Jim led him.
In another minute the boys were hard at it with the steady swing, back and forth, in rhythmic time, feet planted firmly on the solid ground, and in and out like the unceasing swing of the pendulum of the clock.
It was noticed that Jim had got his second wind and was now ready for a long and steady pull. The boys never passed a word, nor raised a head, but as soon as one cut was off stepped to the next block.
Ronald presently woke up to the fact that there was something doing. Hard as he could split and pile logs he had barely time to trim a limb and give a helping hand to blocking up. They had Ronald on the jump for a sure thing. The boys put up six cords in four hours.
Ronald says the handling of the wheel in the worst storm on Lake Superior, and he has gone through many a storm, was nothing to the warning he got that afternoon.
Ronald intends to cut 100 cords and the boys say they will put it up for him in two weeks if he can stick to the job and keep good hours, and not be putting in so many evenings with the fair sex on the concession.

Thursday, Feb. 20th at 8 p.m.
The lecture will be illustrated by 150 stereoscopic views. All who wish to spend a delightful evening and enjoy a highly instructive lecture replete with history of our own country for the past 100 years, illustrated by fine stereoscopic views of cities of 100 years ago contrasted with the fine cities of the Dominion of today, and at the same time to enjoy splendid instrumental and vocal music under the leadership of Prof. Cornelius, the organist of Park Baptist Church, will be present on Thursday evening, Feb. 20th at 8 o'clock. No admission. Silver collection only. Under the auspices of The Progressive Bible Class, S. G. Reed, chairman.

Garden Sage Darkens Gray Hair So Naturally Nobody Can Tell

Says Sage and Sulphur Will Stop Falling Hair and Cure Dandruff

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. While it is a messy, tedious task it well repays those whose hair is turning gray, faded and streaked. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and schaggly just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold. Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle. "Wyeth's age and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair and is the best thing known to remove dandruff, stop itching scalp and falling hair. Everybody chooses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time which requires but a few moments. Do this at night and by morning the gray hair has disappeared and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. It certainly helps folks look years younger and twice as attractive, says a well-known downtown druggist.

Married Women Who Own Property May be Given the Vote in Ontario

TORONTO, Feb. 20.—During the consideration of the reconstructed Ontario Municipal Act in the Legislature Hon. W. J. Hanna made a statement that a law would likely be enacted at this session providing for the extension of the municipal franchise to married women who own property. The newly revised act was under consideration clause by clause, in committee of the whole House prior to the second reading. The amended section relating to those qualified to vote did not contain a clause that married women owning property would be given the municipal franchise. J. C. Elliott, Liberal member for West Middlesex, stated that the clause should be amended with a provision giving married women, who own property, the right to take part in elections. Mr. Hanna replied that the law as it now stands was not consistent with regard to married women property owners, as at the present time a woman could vote for school trustee in cities, but not for alderman or mayor. He said that a strong deputa-tion of women from all parts of the province had approached the government with the request that married women ought to be able to represent their own property in municipal elections the same as spin-sters or widows. "A draft bill has been prepared by the women setting forth what they want," said Mr. Hanna, "and probably it will find a father in the house." This bill provides that a married woman, owning property, must give a written report of her property holdings to the assessors before she may vote in municipal elections. Mr. Hanna said that he had been considering such an amendment for several weeks and had held conferences with City Clerk Littlejohn of Toronto, and others. They have been preparing a clause covering the question which would be consistent with the Assessment and Municipal act.

Act Is Fe Ity. Mr. Hanna replied that the law as it now stands was not consistent with regard to married women property owners, as at the present time a woman could vote for school trustee in cities, but not for alderman or mayor. He said that a strong deputa-tion of women from all parts of

It is Now Said That Roumania and Bulgaria are Willing to Submit Final Adjustment of War

(Courier Leased Wire). NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—A cable to The Tribune from Constantinople says: Diplomatic circles are keenly discussing the probable resumption of peace negotiations between Turkey and the allies, the threatening relations of Roumania and Bulgaria, with their menace, and the situation existing between Russia and Austria. The operations at Tchatalja and in Gallipoli since the reopening of the war have been indecisive. Men have died by hundreds on both sides, but the positions of the belligerents remain unaffected. After the late coup d'etat by the Young Turkey, Kaim Pasha was quoted as predicting that when Sheket Pasha came face to face with the situation he would want peace just as badly as the ousted government wanted it. This prediction has now been verified.

Property Deal. The Gibson Coal Company, through the real estate firm of F. J. Bullock & Co., purchased two parcels of land on Eagle avenue, east of the building recently erected by Dr. Robinson. The property which they purchased has about 80 feet frontage and a depth of 250 feet. It is the intention of the coal company to erect a large coal shed on the property, and also to build a trestle across the rail-trace so as to have switching connections with the T. H. & B. The Gibson Coal Company also purchased a piece of land on Dalhousie street, just east of the Templar block, known as the Hall property, the price paid for the same exceeding $200 per foot. The company intends to erect a handsome office building on this property.

Humors come to the surface in the spring as in no other season. They don't run themselves all off that way, however, but mostly remain in the system, Hood's Sarsaparilla removes them, wards off danger, makes good health sure.

Asthma Is Torture. No one who hasn't gasped for breath in the power of asthma knows what such suffering is. INDUSTRIAL ACCIDENTS

(Courier Leased Wire). OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—There were 491 industrial accidents recorded by the department of labor during January, of which 100 were fatal and 391 resulted in serious injuries. Compared with the record for December, the above is an increase of three fatal and 34 non-fatal accidents. The figures for January, 1912, were 103 fatal and 531 non-fatal accidents. The greater number of fatalities were recorded under the headings of mining and railway service.

KELVIN

(From Our Own Correspondent) The weather is very pleasant at present. We hope it may continue throughout the month. Bad colds seem to be the order of the day around here these days. Dr. and Mrs. Chamberlain were recent guests of friends in Bookton. Messrs. J. Colwell and C. Wheeler, who have the contract for cutting the timber for Mr. Fred Barker of Norwich, are rushing the work these days. The sugar-making season will soon be at hand. Timothy hay is selling at the barn in this locality for $12 per ton. Mrs. Wilcox spent Wednesday with friends in Brantford. Miss Emma Robertson spent Sunday with Miss Florence Wardell. Mr. Roy Thornton, who has been very seriously ill, is making recovery. Mr. Joseph Roswell was calling on friends in this section on Friday. The roads are in first-class condition at present in this locality.

They do their work thoroughly and strength and soundness follow their use.

I have been asked to offer to investors for immediate subscription at par, $10,000.00 worth of the Capital Stock of the

Comet Oil Company, Limited

The company is engaged in Merchandising Coal Oil, a commodity which pays a gross profit of fully 100 per cent for its distribution.

The business has been established about seven years, in which term a trade of over nine thousand steady customers has been built up.

Without the advantage of this additional capital, the earnings of the business for the past year were sufficient to pay 30 per cent. upon the entire capitalization of the company.

Personally I feel satisfied that the business is an exceptionally good one, and that an investment in its shares will net a substantial revenue to those interested.

The shares are being marketed at $10.00 par, payable $5.00 per share with order, and balance at allotment.

Applications to have shares reserved may be made by letter or telegram, subject to prospectus, a copy of which will be mailed to all interested.

Subscription books will remain open for six days only, and shares will be allotted in the same order as the applications are received, and all over or late subscriptions will be returned to subscribers.

RECENT ARRIVALS OF New Spring Goods

MAGNIFICENCE is the word applicable to and descriptive of the new goods recently passed into stock here. Yesterday witnessed a great accession thereto - each day adds its quota. Everybody who has seen the advance showings emphatically agree that for supreme tastefulness, style and good value we have far excelled any previous endeavor - AND IT IS SO - CERTAINLY

Fashion

A few words on the forth-coming styles might be of interest to our lady readers. These may be taken as being absolutely correct as they have been gathered from the heart of the World's Fashions. Each Spring Season, if possible, the goods seem more beautiful than ever, and this season is no exception.

The materials and colorings for early spring wear are of the most useful and tasteful character. For early spring wear, suits and gowns, Serges in fine qualities are very strong. These are in silk as well and have a wonderful weight and wearing quality. Wide Diagonals are also very strong. Whipcords are shown very much for street wear and are of the most serviceable character, if the purchaser makes sure that the goods are all-wool, many Whipcords are shown in various stores in which there is a large proportion of cotton. These are apt to cockle or crinkle up if they get damp. Our Whipcords are all-wool. The colorings are decidedly pretty, such as deep blue, very light tan and a range of neutral shades. For Dressy Wraps, very fine Chiffon made, short cut plush is the acme of fashion. These are shown in black, navy, cadet, brown, tan and green tones. For Dressy Dresses, in a charming variety of styles of goods, Crepe effect is the new thing. This applies to all kinds of materials and is extremely popular under the name "Aeroplane" no other material has that exquisite soft draping effect to the same extent as these soft French Crepes. These are shown in all the new colors. The crepe effect is so minute as to be almost invisible, but at the same time they are of such exquisite fineness that a piece 42 inches wide can be drawn through a lady's ring. In the assortment of Wash Materials no season for many years has shown such a wide range of beautiful fabrics as the present one. In this class of goods also the fine crepe effect is a novelty and while it is shown in perfectly plain finish and color very many of this class of goods have the crepe ground with stripe effect more or less marked off ratine. Other styles being in wide widths, wide enough for the skirt with graduated stripes of ratine becoming wider towards the lower border, while others have wide embroidered designs in ratine towards the lower part of the skirt. These pretty fabrics are extremely tasteful and are shown in not more than one dress of any particular design and color.

We are well ready to supply you with the latest designs and weaves in New Curtain Nets and Chintz Draperies, also new patterns in Casement Cloths. Plenty of good watches aren't doing their best work, simply because they can't.

Many a fifty or hundred dollar watch is being slowly but surely ruined, because it needs a dollars worth of cleaning.

If this reminds you that your watch is in that shape, let it also remind you that our repair dept. can attend to your needs on short notice.

It Builds up the System

It is not only disagreeable, but positively alarming to be getting thinner and weaker from day to day. This indicates that the digestive system is failing to supply the nourishment required to maintain health and strength.

You must resort to other means of restoring strength, and in this connection there is nothing like Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to form new, rich blood, revitalize the wasted nerves and restore to the digestive system its natural functions.

Mr. Fred Carstens, Farmer, Laird, Sask., writes: "I was very thin and nervous, and as I was continually growing worse, decided to give Dr. Chase's Nerve Food a trial. I would suffer from headaches and indigestion, was easily worried and excited and felt generally run down. The benefit obtained from this food cure has been very marked, and I recommend it with the greatest confidence to persons who are thin, weak and nervous."

Sores Heal Quickly-Have you a persistent sore that refuses to heal? Then, try Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in the dressing. It will stop sloughing, carry away the proud flesh, eradicate the pus and prepare a clean way for the new skin. It is the recognized healer among oils and myriads of people can testify that it healed where other oils failed.

HIS GOSPEL OF WORK.

Shaughnessy's Ideal Aristocracy is One of Real Ability.

There may not be any truth in the printed report that Sir Thomas Shaughnessy is likely to be elevated to the rank of a peer of the realm. But the persistence of the rumor may indicate that there will one day be an aristocracy in the docket of C. Lintner Sibley in Toronto Star Weekly.

Proceeding to discuss aristocracy as opposed to plutocracy, the writer said: Honesty upon hard and honest work and sterling integrity is characteristic of Sir Thomas. He abhors idleness and the speculations that border on gambling.

When the time for the speeches arrived the toastmaster spoke of the pleasure the Englishman's visit had given all present and the regret that all felt at his departure.

EMBARRASSED.

A Story on an Englishman That Has a False Ring to It.

One time an English Journalist was visiting in Washington. He had the proverbial British obtuseness when it came to getting the point of a joke, and the newspaper man at the capital had a good deal of fun at his expense.

When the time for the speeches arrived the toastmaster spoke of the pleasure the Englishman's visit had given all present and the regret that all felt at his departure.

We have received many letters from the big film manufacturers, such as VITAGRAPH, EDISON, ESSANAY, LUBIN, SOLAX, IMP. REX, RELIANCE, CHAMPION, COMET, MELIES, ETC., urging us to send photoplays to them.

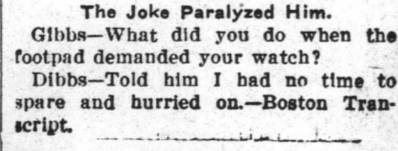

We are selling photoplays written by people who "never before wrote a line for publication."

Captain Bert Newman, who has been confined to his home owing to an injury to his ankle while playing indoor baseball at the armories, is able to be out again.

On Tuesday evening about twenty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thompson, 52 Brighton Row, and gave their daughter, Mrs. Cecil McFarland (nee Isabel Thompson), a very pleasant surprise prior to her leaving for her new home in Toronto. The affair took the form of a miscellaneous shower. Mrs. McFarland received many pretty and useful presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held by her friends. In a few words Mr. Thompson, on behalf of his daughter, thanked them all. A very pleasant evening was spent in music and singing, after which a dainty luncheon was served, and the gathering broke up at an early hour, all wishing Mrs. McFarland much success in her new home.

The following item taken from the Hamilton Herald of February 19th refers to a guest who but recently was in Brantford, and will doubtless be of interest to many:

Mrs. R. W. Bartmann, formerly Miss Hattie Hagey, received her post-nuptial calls yesterday afternoon at her new home, 3 South Emerald street. She was assisted in receiving by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Bartmann, and Miss Reta Bartmann. Mrs. Frank Bradwin and Mrs. Hanes were matrons of honor. Mrs. (Dr.) Walter Thompson and Mrs. George Forsythe presided over the tea room, assisted by Misses Morwick, Gladys Newberry, Spence (Brantford) and Nellie Morton.

The decorations in the reception room were daffodils and narcissus. The table in the tea room had a large vase of daffodils and narcissus resting on a round mirror circled with smiles. Four gold-shaded candles gave the finishing touch to this prettily table.

Mrs. Bartmann received in her handsome wedding gown of white messaline satin with garniture of rose point lace.

Mrs. Bartmann, sr., black and grey striped satin, violets in corsage.
Miss Bartmann, pale pink accordion-pleated satin with tunic of white chiffon over pink satin, lily of the valley and pink roses in corsage.

PALM BEACH, Fla., Feb. 20.—Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. McLean of Washington, parents of Vinson McLean, the "$100,000,000 baby" have surprised Palm Beach with the very latest thing in automobiles, an electric board walk wheel chair. It looks exactly like its predecessor, the old-fashioned wheel chair, except that it is propelled by electricity.

Can't Break Monte Carlo.
Among the classic system players who gained great sums at Monte Carlo was Charles Wells, adventurer and inventor, who came to Monte Carlo with the money of other people "to win or lose it all," in testing his great idea. He played also on the simple chances, a modification of the famous method of D'Alembert, the great mathematician. Wells began with a stake of 10 units, decreasing to nine if he won, but increasing to 11 if he lost. His game was a kind of swinging pendulum, going up one way to 20 units and other down to one. For a time he contrived to prosper so sensationally as to stop for a few minutes until more money was brought. This was "breaking the bank," and gained Wells the honor of becoming the hero of a popular music hall song.

Nowadays, however, no successful player can have the thrilling joy of breaking the bank. As soon as it is seen that one gambler or more may reduce the funds of a table to a low ebb, more money is ostentatiously brought by one of the footmen and play never stops an instant. Charles Wells has recently figured in the criminal courts of Paris, where he hoisted him had won $400,000 from the Casino—McClure's Magazine.

LAUGHTER LINES
A lady of advanced age required the services of a page boy and advertised "Youth wanted."

One of her dearest friends sent her by the next post a bottle of blank's celebrated wrinkle filler and skin tightener, a pot of fairy bloom, a set of false teeth and a flaxen wig—London Opinion.

Man (sitting)—Pardon me, madam, but you're standing on my feet.
Woman (standing)—If you were anything of a man you'd be standing on them yourself—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Henry Augustus was learning to dress himself. He was not as big as the name sounds.

Mother, looking on, said, "Why, my son, you have your shoes on the wrong feet."

"Well," screamed Henry Augustus, "they're the only feet I have to put 'em on."—Judge.

A lady was looking for her husband, and inquired anxiously of the housemaid, "Do you happen to know anything of your master's whereabouts?"

"I am not sure, mum," replied the careful domestic, "but I think they are in the wash."—

SOME GOOD RECIPES.
"Bouillon, that choicest of luncheon soups, should be prepared from fresh materials exactly as if making plain soup stock. Any good cook-book gives directions for this so clearly that the most inexperienced housewife can make it successfully.

For the perfect making of soups, the housewife must learn the art of seasoning. Her pantry should hold a supply of bay leaves, thyme and celery seed. Five cents worth of each will season soups for a year.

SPLIT PEA SOUP.
The food value of dried peas, lentils and beans is so high that the use of these soups should be more universal than it is. To make soups from any water, soak them overnight in cold water. In the morning drain measure and add four times as much cold water as peas. Add one half of an onion to each quart of water. Simmer until soft and rub through a sieve. Return to the fire and season. To each quart of soup allow one teaspoon each of butter and flour cooked together for thickening. Boil after thickening for five minutes, and serve at once. Croutons are delicious served with soups of this kind. Milk may be added if desired.

MAKES YOUR BACKACHE QUICKLY DISAPPEAR

A Few Doses Relieves All Such Miseries, Bladder Weakness, Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism Promptly Vanish.

It is no longer necessary for any one to suffer with backache, kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders to contend with, or be tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, for the new discovery, Croxone, quickly and surely relieves all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It is not like anything else ever used for the purpose. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, like water in a sponge, neutralizes, dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away, all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

If you suffer with pains in your back and sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder troubles, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery. You can secure an original package of Croxone at trifling cost from any first class druggist.

All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails in a single case.

CAREFUL AUTHORS.

Campbell Was a Stickler on the Most Trifling Points.

It is surprising how punctilious some authors have been with respect even to the smallest detail of their manuscripts.

Victor Hugo was equally difficult to please and satisfy. Of one of his famous works he made the printers supply no fewer than eleven successive revised proofs.

But an equally careful and fastidious literary workman owed a great improvement in the opening line of his most famous poem to a printer.

The thoughtful composer did not understand the word "colls" as an intransitive verb, so dropped the comma, thinking the poet had put it in by mistake.

Probably the most fastidious living writer is the poet, William Watson. His work bears the impress of extreme care, and like Tennyson, his revision seems never to be done.

Woolwich Arsenal.

Britishers owe the present arsenal at Woolwich to an accident. The Government had a gun foundry in Moorfields, where, upon one occasion, in the year 1716, a distinguished party were gathered together to witness the operation of casting a large cannon.

A young foreigner, named Schiach, who seems to have been almost an entire stranger, but who was well acquainted with the mode of casting, noticed that one of the moulds had been insufficiently dried, and warned the moulders against using it.

It is said that search was made for the man whose predictions had been so painfully verified, and that the Government employed him to advise about the best mode of preventing such accidents in future.

His Herbert's Bargains. Sir Herbert Maxwell tells two stories of valuable books which were sold cheaply. After the death of Mr. Alexander Oswald several thousand volumes belonging to him were sold by his brother, George, for a shilling each.

"Oh, I knew you at once. But the shock!" "Precisely. It was a shock to me to find you with them."

"Let me turn your chair around so we can talk," Marston suggested, and a moment later they sat side by side, facing the river bank, their backs to Miss Emily's employer, who sniffed in baffled curiosity and gazed their way through a jeweled lorgnon.

"Oh, the story is short enough," said Emily bitterly. "Selling doubts and teaching youngsters in a Colorado town and making good with your brush in New York city are entirely different propositions. I saw it was starvation or real work and so—"

"Being companion to a woman of her caliber is real work, eh?" "She is really very kind at heart, and Mr. Maguire is just lovely to me."

At this juncture Mr. Maguire was shaken with a violent coughing spell. "Emily," exclaimed Mrs. Maguire sharply, "where's the cough medicine?"

ON BOARD THE FLIER

The Little Story That Was Going on Right Under Their Noses.

By MARION BENTON.

"We'll take those three seats. I suppose it's the best you can do. Lawrence, you sit there. No, not on this side. There's a draft on that side."

"But I want to see the river," said the elderly man querulously and with a gesture akin to throwing aside a detaining hand, though his stolid and over-dressed wife had not laid so much as a finger tip on his arm.

"I tell you there's a draft on that side," she said sharply. "Well, you don't want to sit in a draft either," persisted her husband. "No; Emily can sit there. She is in degree, which fact probably accounts for the small quantity and perfect quality of his literary output. It is said that he once walked six miles to his printers, and six miles back, in order to have a comma changed into a semicolon!"

By this time David Marston was not the only passenger interested in the domestic drama. Every man and woman in the car had laid aside paper or book, roused to attention by the piercing tones and dominating bearing of the woman. The shrill speech might have been forgiven on the plea that the husband was evidently very tired.

"Where is Emily?" asked the husband, now settled unwillingly in the chair selected for him. "She's making sure that there's a nice man in the baggage car to look after the dogs. She'll be along in a minute."

The piercing tones ran the length of the car, and there was smothered laughter up and down the lines. With crimson cheeks, Emily touched the button, but when the waiter arrived it was Marston who took the matter in hand and ordered a dainty luncheon. Mrs. Maguire admitted that for a man "in pork" he knew how to order. "It annoyed her that she could not communicate this discovery to her husband. Later she said something of the sort to Emily, who had brought him an evening paper picked up at Poughkeepsie."

Emily did not seem to hear the patronizing remark of her employer. Her mind had leaped forward to that moment when the train should pull into the Grand Central depot. Then she and the Maguires would enter the carriage held in waiting by liveried servants, and Marston would go of his self independent way. When she returned to her chair the dull, foggy dusk was settling down on the river. Pretty soon on the broad six track way trains loaded with suburbanites would be shooting past them, suburbanites going home, where women who had never dreamed of artistic careers waited for them.

The porter received Mrs. Maguire's curt comment on poor gas with abject apologies. "Sullivan's sure wrong, but we can't help it. He simply sat starting at the tower," he said and hurried on. He knew the Maguire type.

Emily started. Marston's hand was on her arm, not gently or as a reminder that he deserved her attention, but in a mastery, determined clasp. "I am, do you think, for one minute, Emily, all abroad and leave you with that sort of a woman? I've got to sail in the morning. There is not much time, but you can get frills and frocks in Paris, and when we come home, if visiting art centers abroad has roused your ambitions once more, I'll have you study with the best."

"I don't want to study; I have no ambitions; I just want"— Marston bent very close to catch the last word—"you."

"Emily, get a rug for Mr. Maguire," exclaimed Mrs. Maguire so sharply that the dining parlor waiter for one minute, when as the girl leaped over to pick up the fallen rug Mrs. Maguire whispered harshly:

"I guess you forget where you are!" "No," replied Emily happily. "I've only just found out where I belong. Mr. Marston and I are going to be married tonight and sail for London in the morning."

Mrs. Maguire gave vent to an exclamation that roused her husband to frightened wonder and made several men in the car laugh aloud. "The little bride in chair 11 leaned over and touched her husband's hand. "Billey, dear, I believe there's a little story going on right under our noses."

Her husband patted her hand tenderly under cover of the friendly dusk. "Wouldn't be surprised, sweetheart, and all I've got to say is I hope that the young man is the sort who will not condescend Emily to a drabby set."

"I hope he is just as dear and good as you are."

And down in the front of the car Marston and Emily Hunt sat gazing into the night, too happy for words.

Generous. Weedon Grossmith, who is known as an artist as well as an actor, was once assailed by a fair autograph hunter in London, who thrust her album under his nose. "Please give me your name, Mr. Grossmith," she gushed. "If you will leave the book at my address with your address and telephone for the Actor's Benevolent fund," replied the actor, "I shall do so tomorrow with pleasure."

The girl objected. An actress, she declared, "who was far better known than she, had signed her book for sixpence." She persisted at Mr. Grossmith's obduracy. But suddenly she brightened. "I know," she exclaimed. "You shall have the privilege if you'll do me a picture as well."—New York Sun.

"I can explain."

"Let me turn your chair around so we can talk," Marston suggested, and a moment later they sat side by side, facing the river bank, their backs to Miss Emily's employer, who sniffed in baffled curiosity and gazed their way through a jeweled lorgnon.

"Oh, the story is short enough," said Emily bitterly. "Selling doubts and teaching youngsters in a Colorado town and making good with your brush in New York city are entirely different propositions. I saw it was starvation or real work and so—"

"Being companion to a woman of her caliber is real work, eh?" "She is really very kind at heart, and Mr. Maguire is just lovely to me."

At this juncture Mr. Maguire was shaken with a violent coughing spell. "Emily," exclaimed Mrs. Maguire sharply, "where's the cough medicine?"

But Emily Hunt was already digging into her employer's bag. Deftly she poured the medicine and turned to bring a glass of water. Marston

LAC LA NONNE, Alta., Feb. 17. (Special)—If you have Kidney trouble of any kind, from Backache to Bright's Disease, and don't know how to cure it, ask your neighbors. They'll tell you to use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Such is the experience of Magnus Johnson, a well known farmer residing near here.

"In the year 1907 I took a pain in my back, due to a strain and hard work. I kept getting worse. In the fall of 1908 I was unable to do any hard work and began to suffer a great deal. I did not know what to do, and told one of my neighbors. He handed me a Dodd's Almanac. After reading it I concluded to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and after using five boxes I feel fine and able to do any kind of hard work. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my Kidneys, and I cannot praise them too much."

SPORT

HOCKEY

Last evening the B. C. I. hockey team played the Gaelic C. I. team at the local arena. The Gaelic team, however, were a little too fast for the locals, defeating them by a score of 3-0. The ice was very heavy, and the B.C.I. boys are a little on the light side thus placing them at a disadvantage. The Collegiate boys have the material for a good team, and with a little practice will give a better account of themselves.
The basketball team will go to Hamilton Friday night to play the H.C.I. They beat the Hamiltonians here and hope to be able to do the same in Hamilton.

BASEBALL

GUELPH, Feb. 20.—Manager Louis Cook has signed a young pitcher in Walter McEwan of Raub, Indiana. He is after one more pitcher, and then his line up will be complete. About twenty men will be asked to report and from these will be picked the fourteen men who are to play for Guelph.

OFF for Portland.
LONDON, Feb. 20.—Word has been received from Matt Hynes, who is spending his last few days in Canada at Walkerton, before reporting to the Portland Club, Matt writes that he will make a short stop over to see his London friends before heading for the Pacific coast.
He intends to leave for the coast next week and that he though he would meet Lou Courtney, the Brantford player, also drafted by the Portland team in Chicago, and make the trip together across the mountains.

LONDON Baseball News.
LONDON, Feb. 20.—The mail this morning brought some important information to President Stevely of the London Baseball Club, from the manner in which former Londoners are taking interest in the welfare of their home town baseball team. This city should not run short of highly recommended young baseballers. Three players have been recommended so far.
A big catcher, J. Mullins, recommended by a former Londoner in Randolph, Mass. This backstop is said to be one of the best that has been developed in New England state. The tip is given to the local club and there is little doubt as to the player making a success this season.
R. Reddon is the young all-round ball player recommended some time ago by a fan in Leray, N.Y. This player is very highly recommended and has attracted the attention of several class B leagues. Reddon would prefer to locate with the London club in the Canadian League to get his first professional experience.
A big Chicago semi-pro pitcher has been recommended also to the manager of the local club. W. Anderson is the twirler's name, who has done wonderful work in the Chicago City League, having pitched against Bradshaw, the young wonder of the Berlin club last season. Anderson is a big fellow and has at the present time several offers from Canadian League as well as Three-I League teams.

Canton Wants Gilhooly.
Manager Ed. Greminger, of the Canton, Ohio, Central League Club, has offered to take Gilhooly of the London Club's hands and are willing to trade another second baseman or shortstop for him. The London Baseball club paid the Canton club $300 for Gilhooly last season and it looks now as though they paid very dearly for him. The Canton club wants him back in a way that it will not cost them very much. A straight out and out trade man for man, is all they offer for Gilhooly.

IF CONSTIPATED OR BILIOUS—"CASCARETS."

NO BILIOUSNESS, HEADACHE, SICK, SOUR, STOMACH, COATED TONGUE OR CONSTIPATION.
Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours, and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery, indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret to-night will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you up by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing too.

ODDITIES ON THE ROAD

ENGLISH TRAMP TELLS OF SOME QUAINT CHARACTERS.

Forty Years on the Broad Highways of England Have Not Undermined the Health of Veteran Wanderers, Says Harry Payne—Mending of All Sorts Is the Most Common Form of Work Done.
Of all the people I meet on the road there are none who interest me so much as the veterans and old stagers. Even as a lad, when I first came on the "toe-be" (road) I always found my greatest pleasure in the company of such men, says Harry Payne in London Ideas.

A thing which has always amazed me in connection with these old veterans is their wonderful hardihood. Twenty, thirty, and even forty years of life on the road have not undermined their constitution, or rendered them incapable of competing with the younger men on the road. I remember meeting an old stager some years ago while on tramp in the north of Scotland, at a place called Bervie, between Montrose and Stonehaven, on the north coast. Whilst tramping along the dust-laden road the old man confided to me something of his life story.

He was born on the road, of tramp parents, and had lived on the road all his life. He was then seventy years of age, and he looked as hardy and as fit as a man of half his years. In the course of his seventy years of life he had been in turn scabrot in a traveling circus, racing "spike" (tipster), tinker, wireworker, fern gatherer, watercress gatherer, "tub thumper" (cooper), "fatter" (rag gatherer), odd man on the land, "mush-faker" (umbrella mender), and many more things besides.

During the last fifteen years of his life he had practically lived in the open air. His bundle contained his "skipping tackle," or, in other words, his equipment for "dosing" out. This consisted of several old horse rugs, a couple of long sacks, a small pillow stuffed with straw, and several pots and pans. The old man's knowledge of Scotland was both "extensive and peculiar." He had tramped it by day and by night, summer and winter for nearly a quarter of a century, and as we say on the "toe-be," he knew every house for miles which was "good for a cold potatoe."

Like all old stagers he vehemently deplored the passing of the "good old times." "The country and the people ain't a little bit like what they used to be," he said to me in plaintive tones, as we trudged along the broad, white highway in the golden sunshine of that glorious summer afternoon.

The present generation have no hearts," he continued. "When I was a youngster a man on the road could get a feed and a night's shelter at almost every house in this country-side. People used to think it shameful in anyone who turned a poor man away from their door hungry and empty-handed. But those times are past and gone. And the old man heaved a sigh. A couple of years ago, while tramping in the north of England, I made the acquaintance of another old veteran. I fell in with him at a "kip" (lodging-house). Halt-whistle, in Northumberland, and he became quite "obunmy," and were in the habit of willing away the long winter evenings with a few games of dominoes. "Old Durham," as he was called, was seventy-four years of age, and had been forty years on the road. Prior to that he had been in the army, though I what branch of the service I cannot say. No matter where he was staying in Northumberland, Durham, or Cumberland (to which three counties his wanderings were confined) he would rise at 4 a.m., summer and winter, and after a wash and a cup of tea, start off on the road. He had a lamp for lighting him on his way during the dark mornings and nights of winter.

He was a survivor of the olden time pedlar, and always carried a pack well stocked with lace, ribbons, and the sort of gimcracks which are dear to the heart of the country maid. During each summer time "Old Durham" used to live entirely out of doors, and for this purpose would always carry his "skipping tackle." I have heard this grizzled old veteran declare over and over again that he would not die in a bed.

Another old veteran whom I can recall was, in tramps' parlance, a "spike ringer," that is, a regular habitue of casual wards, or "spikes." Fifty years he had been on the "toe-be," and more than half that time he had spent in the "spikes" of England and Wales. At seventy years of age he could break his ten to fifteen hundred-weight of stones, or pick his four pounds of oakum with the best among his fellows. How this man contrived to preserve his iron constitution and retain his cheerful optimism while leading his worst of all existences is more than I can say. But retain them he did, down to the time he died, in a casual ward in South Wales.
Another hardy old veteran of my acquaintance is still on the road, and doing his six "stages" a week. We will call him "Old Cough-drop," a nickname which owes its origin to the peculiar nature of his calling. He is a tipster, and during the fine racing season sells "tips" at a penny a time. The "tips" are enclosed in envelopes, and each envelope contains about half-a-dozen cough lozenges, of the sort you can get at four ounces a penny. "I don't sell the tip, gentles; I give you that in free, gratis, and for nothing, along with the cough lozenges, which I'll guarantee to cure in two days the worst cold or cough that ever threatened a man with six feet of ever-dread estate!" Thus the way old man in the "horse" suit, who, in spite of his sixty-eight years, is still "padding the hoof" on the dear old "toe-be."

A WOMAN'S WISDOM.

The worried mother wakes up to hear her baby's heavy breathing—a little cough—perhaps the croup or whooping cough. She does not wait to send for the doctor when perhaps the trouble does not amount to much. Finally she thinks of that medical book her father gave her, The Common Sense Medical Adviser, by R. V. Pierce, M. D. She says "Just the thing to find out what is the matter with the little dear." Two million households in this country own one—and it's to be had for only 31c. in stamps—1,000 pages in splendid cloth binding. A good family adviser in any emergency. It is for older sets. This is what many women write Dr. Pierce—in respect to his "Favorite Prescription," a remedy which has made thousands of melancholy and miserable women cheerful and happy, by curing the painful womanly diseases which undermine a woman's health and strength.

"My desire is to write a few lines to let you know what your valuable medicine has done for me," writes Mrs. MARGARET ZUEBLER, of 223 S. Beantown Street, Baltimore, Md. "Before the storm came to our house I was a very sick woman. I wrote you for advice which was kindly given and which made me a different woman in a short time. After taking the first bottle of 'Favorite Prescription' I began improving so that I hardly knew I was in such a condition. I did my own housework—washing and ironing, cooking, sewing, and the worst of all nursed three children who had before—so easy was it. The baby is as fat as a butter-ball. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best medicine for any woman to take when in this condition. I recommend it to all my friends."

The Fate of Miller a Straight Seek to

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.—First state prisoner, was the Speaker of the Parliament to the common law, his term of imprisonment was to be until prorogation of the House.

After a debate which 11 o'clock, which was a proressive speeches by the Speaker, the Speaker put the motion to the House, which was carried without dissent. The prisoner was then at the bar and the speaker's sentence as contained in Miller bowed low and the custody of the sergeant-at-law, A. E. Harvey, K.C., stated to your representative that the verdict was not a surprise to him, he would today institute proceedings to secure the release of the prisoner. The speaker's statement, whether the House will have force over the Parliament, the highest land, is an interesting one.

Blocked by the remnants of a "blockers' brigade" of the House, the position yesterday morning, appeared at the House yesterday, and refused to answer the question with regard to it, which was perhaps not quite as surprising as it appeared. The situation in Montreal courts would be affected by any statement to him, he should not answer. A motion to the Carleton County Jail, mediated.

This second and de placed Parliament at the admission of a witness, his own whim as to any action put to him. As Mr. Miller made the motion, put it: "If a man were the public access and block all business to answer would hurt affairs we might as well commit."

The Miller case, which such wide interest and cents for future Canada history, has to-day passed out of the comic opera, come a serious matter, dignity and traditions were involved.
