THE IRISH AGITATORS

A London correspondent sa Mr. Parnell on Thursday ni felt that it was comparativ safe for him to annoy the G ernment by obstructing emigration clauses. He succe ed in delaying the progress the Bill, and in filling Mr. Gl stone with rage, that found v in a speech of great po and vehemence. Otherwise week's work resulted in a d loss to the Parnellites. Capt Nolan, the Home Rule whip, along protested against the less obstruction of a meas that, with all its shortcomin will benefit the Irish farmer considerably, and when Parnell began his old tac again, Major Nolan threw up position in disgust, and jo Mitchell, Henry, Shaw other seceders. There are three factions among the Ho Rulers. Parnell, Healy, O'C nell, T. P. O'Connor, O'Ke and Sexton are extremists. N of them, Parnell excepted, anything to lose by anarchy.a and anarchy is their object. '. second division consists of brothers Sullivan, John O'Co nor Power, Daley Commine a other moderate men, who not think Ireland can be ber fited by rowdyism in Parl ment. The third faction corprises Mitchell, Henry, Sha the two Blennerhassetts. T O'Donoghue, McKenna, O'Bri and other men of substance, w are anxious to secure amplest tenant right by constitutional methods adopted Isaac Butt. Bigger is the four faction all by himself. Nobo outside the peasant class, whi is easily led captive by any st burnt adventurer, has any co fidence in Parnell's body gua Parnell himself is above s picion, but O'Donnell, He and the rest of the extremi are familar figures on the Ir stage. The speech of the Du of Argyle on the Bessborou Commission has led to a gene discussion of the whole qu tion of land tenure in Irela Baron Dowse, oue of the witti and ablest of the Irish Judg
