The First Sign

Of falling health, whether in the form of Night Sweats and Nervousness, or in a sense of General Weakness and Loss of Appetite, should suggest the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This preparation is most effective for giving tone and strength to the debilitated system, promoting the digestion and assimilation of food, restoring the nervous forces to their normal condition, and for purifying, enriching, and vitalizing the blood.

Failing Health.
Two years ago my health began to fail. I was troubled with a distressing Cough, Night Sweats, Weakness, and Nervousness. I tried various remedies prescribed by different physicians, but because so many men, young and middle-aged, are afflicted with this disease, I was induced to stop to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, which I did, and in a few days my health began to improve. I have since used it as a preventive, and my health is now as good as ever.—Mrs. E. L. Williams, Alameda, Minn.

I have been greatly benefited by the prompt use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has cured my chronic Rheumatism, and my stomach performed its duties more perfectly. Today my health is completely restored.—Mary Halsey, Springfield, Mass.

Dyspepsia Cured.
It would be impossible for me to describe what a distressing illness I was afflicted with up to the time I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. The food I ate was not digested, and I was obliged to eat very little. I was also troubled with a distressing Cough, and my health was rapidly declining. I tried various remedies, but without success. I then began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and in a few days my health began to improve. I have since used it as a preventive, and my health is now as good as ever.—W. F. Fowler, D. D. St. M. D., Greenville, Tenn.

JUSTIN MCCARTHY.

ON THE CAUSE OF IRELAND.

Lecture delivered in the Lyceum Nov. 2, 1886.
(From the Examiner.)

On Tuesday evening a large audience greeted Mr. McCarthy—

the Hon. W. W. Sullivan presiding, Mr. McCarthy began his lecture by saying that it was a great satisfaction to him to know that he had not in Prince Edward Island to plead the cause of Ireland. Speak- ing to an Island audience about the cause of the Irish people is like preaching to the converted. It was not necessary in Prince Edward Island to enlarge on the value of the efforts of some men to preserve the principle of Home Rule, for here the people demand that they be invested with the power to manage their own affairs according to the judgment of the majority of themselves. All that Ireland asks for is that measure of self-government which is now regarded as the birth-right of every one of the Province of the Dominion and the States of the adjoining Republic. And the demand was not unreasonable. It was a recognition of that principle which was found to exist together and in one common nationality of people of different thoughts, creeds, and races. (Applause.) Ireland demands the right to govern herself in her own affairs, not over her own soil, without any interference from Westminster whatever. That, in brief, was the essence of Ireland's demand. And any one in Canada denying that justice and right, must also deny the basis and essence of Canadian nationality and development. It ought to be remembered that at the beginning of the present century Ireland had a Parliament of her own. Last of all it had Grattan's Parliament, which, though it was not independent of the control of the English Crown, had a great measure of independence and self-control. And it should not be forgotten that the English Crown as the fact that Irishmen are not content with it; that the people of Ireland are determined, so long as they have a voice in parliament at all, to make the English listen to the Irish demand. They find disagreeable names in the English parliament for anything they do not quite like, and so they call the Irish a sorry lot, but really they want to see that Irish business not neglected. (Applause.) Consequently, we always take upon ourselves the duty of forcing Irish business to the front. We insist that, if Englishmen, Scotchmen and Welshmen wish the old system in parliament, they must recognize the fact that Irishmen are not content with it; that the people of Ireland are determined, so long as they have a voice in parliament at all, to make the English listen to the Irish demand. They find disagreeable names in the English parliament for anything they do not quite like, and so they call the Irish a sorry lot, but really they want to see that Irish business not neglected. (Applause.) Consequently, we always take upon ourselves the duty of forcing Irish business to the front. We insist that, if Englishmen, Scotchmen and Welshmen wish the old system in parliament, they must recognize the fact that Irishmen are not content with it; that the people of Ireland are determined, so long as they have a voice in parliament at all, to make the English listen to the Irish demand. They find disagreeable names in the English parliament for anything they do not quite like, and so they call the Irish a sorry lot, but really they want to see that Irish business not neglected. LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS.

Mr. Alexander's daughter... The deaths in thickly during October numbered eleven...

Mr. Robert Moore, of Ham Green, has been appointed a Justice of the Peace for King's County.

We regret to learn that Mr. Keim has resigned his position as assessor at this post for the United States.

Mr. J. P. Williams, late vice-principal of the High School, Summerside, has been appointed principal of Queen Square School in this city.

The steamer Maud sailed from here last week for New York with 1,000 cases canned meats, 1,000 bags starch, 800 lbs potatoes and other cargo.

John Hayes was recently fined $10 at Bangor, Me., for disturbing the Salvation Army, and the crew of that city asks us to believe he is an islander.

The schooner Edith A. on her way from Summerside to Bangor wharf, was overhauled in the harbor last Thursday. The crew was rescued by the ferry steamer.

Major Francis Isherby, of Charlotte-Royal, has been gazetted Lieutenant-Colonel of the 82nd Battalion of Volunteer Militia in the rank of the late Lieutenant-Colonel.

Mr. James Fitzsimmons, Killarney, over one hundred years of age, is still active, having during the past summer wedded half an acre of turnips. Judging by his appearance he is good for some time yet.

St. Andrew's Day—This annual festival will be celebrated under the auspices of the Calceolaria Club by a dinner at the Devon House on Tuesday evening, the 20th instant. Tickets one dollar each.

At St. Joseph's Bazaar, to-morrow night, an election will be held to decide the most popular leader. St. John Macdonald and Mr. Blake. We trust our friends will roll up a big vote for the "Merry Old Gentleman."

Mr. Brecken has recently been engaged in making an inspection of the County Post Offices; we hope his visit will result in an improvement in some of them. We had a long list of grievances to bring under his notice the first spare week he has.

John Coyle, Judge Jones's coachman, is a man that requires no certificate of character in Charlotte-Royal. He completed forty-four years of continuous service with the Judge, and it is probable that when John leaves his present situation he will be too old to look for another.

This body of John McVish, a Gloucester, an orphan who had been missing since Friday, was found in the dock at the New England wharf on Tuesday forenoon. Medical Examiner Stevens was called, but did not deem an inquest necessary. McVish was about 36 years of age, and leaves a family in Prince Edward Island—Cape Ann Advertiser.

Mr. Messias Davy, the celebrated Irish Nationalist, who is present on a lecturing tour in the United States, was requested to visit the Island, but in a letter recently received from him, which we have had the pleasure of reading, he regrets that, as he is unable to do so, he is unable to accept the invitation.

The steamer Maud arrived from Boston last week, with a general cargo and the following passengers—H. Anderson, B. A. Byers, Catherine O'Brien, Maggie Bolten, Lizzie McLean, Rosa McKinnon, Jane Nicholson, Geo. Campbell, D. McInnis, Miss Jones. RUGH CURRIE, Peake's Station, Nov. 3, 1886—3t

Free Excursion TICKETS ON ALL TRAINS FROM Summerside, Georgetown, - Souris - AND ALL INTERMEDIATE STATIONS. FOR EVERYBODY. For Thirty Days Only.

REID BROS. will pay all Rail-road fares to any person or persons wishing to come to Charlottetown to purchase their Fall supplies from them on the following terms, viz: Purchasers coming from Summerside, Souris and Georgetown will require to pay a bill of Goods amounting to not less than $18.00, at the regular market prices (which are considered to be cheap enough to satisfy any reasonable person).

Persons coming from the intermediate stations would have to buy a proportionately smaller amount than $18.00 in order to get their car fares paid, which could be regulated according to the number of miles travelled, on presentation of their railway tickets to us.

Purchasers coming on the Heather Belle will be treated in the same liberal manner. We intend this as a bona fide offer, which will be carried out to the letter, and ask intending purchasers to deal squarely with us in the matter.

On their arrival at our Store we want them to present their tickets, and no overcharges will be made; neither do we want any jowling on the other hand from them.

We will give a genuine discount of 20 per cent. to persons living in this city, and not leaving any steamboat or car fare to pay.

Purchasers will find our stock of CLOTHING, GENTS' FURNISHINGS, TRYON TWEED, BLANKETS, FLANNELS, YARNS, HATS AND CAPS, LADIES' KID GLOVES, COLLARS, HOOP SKIRTS, GOSAMERS, LADIES' MANTLES & MANTLE CLOTHES.

Honora Nugent's Last Flirtation

BY ANNA SHIELDS

I was but a girl, not quite sixteen when I was invited by my mother's old friend, Mrs. Nugent, to make a visit to Somerset, the grand house and estate that had been the heritage of the Nugents for more than a hundred years...

the whole, or the story the proximity told me. 'Since you have seen the picture, dear,' she said, leading me to her own sitting-room, and motioning me to a seat upon the sofa beside her...

But the dear old lady was not strong, and she had many aches and pains, and she was so nervous, so that I was often left alone, and with permission to wander over the house and grounds as I wished...

Herbert Nugent had sent to Paris for her dress, a fine lace, over glancing white satin. From a wreath of orange blossoms fell a veil of costly lace that covered her entirely, and through its folds the fair face was half revealed, smiling, winsome, and lovely...

On one of the telephone circuits in the western part of the city, where four subscribers use the same line, one of them was called by the name of a second on a matter of business...

On the evening of the second full moon day, my brother was walking slowly along the street, when he felt a hand upon his shoulder, and a voice said cheerily in his ear: 'Hello! Seth! Seth, is this you?'

It was in the early summer of 1776, Seth Tingleton, from somewhere up in the Lake Champlain region, came down to New York with a lot of wooden ware. He had been at work all winter, and all the spring, and his father, and his brothers—making bowls and plates and ladles of various sizes and shapes, from good, sweet birch wood...
