Through Rail Service—Atlantic To Pacific

Canadian National Railways Furnish Direct Connections With Famous "Continental Limited" Out of Montreal.

The finest train service to the Pacific Coast is afforded by the Canadian National Grand Trunk "Continental Limited" now leaving at 9:00 p. m. daily from Bonaventure Station, Montreal.

The route of this finely equipped all steel train to the coast is via Ottawa, North Bay, Cochrane and via the Transcontinental to Winnipeg, and by Grand Trunk Pacific to Saskatoon and Edmonton, and via Canadian Railways to Vancouver—the finest of scenic routes through the Rockies and over the smoothest roadbed.

From Maritime Province points there is connection by Ocean Limited with the Continental Limited daily, and by the Maritime Express daily except Sunday. The Maritime arriving daily in Montreal at 7:40 affords the most direct connection, but passengers by the Ocean Limited will have the advantage of a day spent in Montreal. The Maritime arriving at Levis at 1:50 p. m. affords connection with Train No. 11 leaving Quebec daily for Cochrane at 5:00 p. m. This train makes connection at Cochrane with the Continental Limited, so it will be seen there is really a choice of two distinct routes.

There is also the through service to the Pacific Coast by train leaving Toronto daily at 10:30, p. m., via Sudbury, Port Arthur, Fort William and Winnipeg. Connection for this is made by the Ocean Limited to Montreal, and the Grand Trunk International Limited to Toronto.

Particulars of these splendid rail services to the west will be explained by all C. N. R. ticket agents, and folders and illustrated matter may be obtained by application to any of the City Ticket Offices or by writing the General Passenger Department, Montreal, N. B.

Sermons On Catholic Worship

Appended will be found the eighth sermon of the series on Catholic Worship. This sermon was prepared by Rev. William P. Joyce, Pastor of the Sacred Heart Church, Butte.

THE LITURGICAL LANGUAGE.

The last sermon of the series was on the priestly vestments; the subject of today's instruction is the Liturgical Language of the Church.

The services of the Church may be classed under two heads—Liturgical and extra-Liturgical. Liturgical services include the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, the Divine Office, and all services prescribed in the Roman Missal, Breviary, Pontifical and Ritual. Such services are official acts of the Church itself. By extra-Liturgical are meant services which are not official, as the hymns and prayers found in the popular, approved manuals of devotion.

The Liturgical services of the Catholic Church are the same always and everywhere, and, at least in the western church, are conducted in the Latin language. The extra-Liturgical services are usually in the vernacular. We say that in the western rite the language is Latin, for there are at present 11 other Liturgical languages in use in the Church, prominent among which are the Greek, Syriac, Coptic and Slavonic. It should be noted here, however, that these Liturgical languages are only local, whereas the Latin is used in the Divine Service everywhere throughout the Catholic world.

HISTORICAL REASONS.

We shall consider on this occasion the historical reasons that led to the adoption of the Latin as the great Liturgical language, and also the dogmatical and practical reasons for its fitness. When the Church began to fulfil her divine mission, Latin was the official language of the civilized world. The Roman empire held undisputed sway not only over civilized Europe, but over large portions of Asia and Africa. The Latin tongue followed the Roman standards and became the language of the empire. Naturally, then, the Church adopted the language she found prevailing among the people. Furthermore, Rome was the city selected in the designs of Providence to be the center of Christianity. St. Peter, divinely appointed head of the Apostolic College, established his See in the Eternal City, and his successors to the chair of St. Peter have always been the Bishops of Rome. From Rome went forth the standard-bearers of Christianity to carry the Gospel of Christ to nations far and near. They used the Latin tongue in the celebration of the divine mysteries.

WITHSTANDS CHANGES OF TIMES.

Upon the disappearance of the Roman Empire in the fifth century, Latin gradually ceased to be a living tongue among the people, and the new nations began to use their own distinctive tongues. The Church, however, retained the Latin as her Liturgical language. It had become consecrated and sanctified by use. Her envoys and messengers, like those of the ancient empire, continued to employ it. St. Patrick

MASS IS A SACRIFICE.

The reasoning of those who insist that the Mass should be offered in the vernacular is based on a false notion of the nature and object of the Holy Mass. The Mass is not a sermon, but a sacrifice, which the priest offers to God for himself and the people. When the priest says Mass he is speaking not to the people but to God, to whom all languages are equally intelligible.

The congregation could not be expected to hear all that the priest says even if he spoke in the vernacular, for his face is turned from them, and the greater part of the Mass is said in an undertone. We read in the Old Testament and in the first chap-

HEARTBURN.

This is a very common trouble, especially with those who are hearty eaters. There is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach, attended by disturbed appetite, caused by great acidity. Whenever too much food is taken it is liable to ferment and become extremely sour and vomiting often occurs, and what is thrown up is sour and sometimes bitter.

Keep your liver active by using

MILBURN'S

and you will have no liver troubles. Miss Agnes Collins, Shallow Lake, Ont., writes: "I have had heartburn or a long time. There was a gnawing and burning pain in my stomach, and when I vomited there was a sour and bitter taste. I used two vials of Milburn's Laxative Pills, and they were cleared out of my heartburn."

Price, 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ADVANTAGES OF "DEAD" LANGUAGE.

Its value as a Liturgical language was increased when Latin ceased to be a living tongue. Being a so-called "dead" language it is not subject to change, but retains all the force and significance it had in the days of Cicero. Living languages, like the English, are constantly undergoing changes; new words are being added and old words are discarded or change their meaning. The English of Chaucer, though the purest of its age, would be understood with the greatest difficulty today by any English-speaking person. Faith finds its expression in worship, and as our faith is God-given and not man-made, so the essential features of true Christian worship are fixed and determined. The more unchangeable the language of worship the better it is adapted to preserve intact and to transmit unimpaired the original deposit of faith. Happily, therefore, was Latin chosen as the Liturgical language of Holy Mother Church.

TYPIFIES UNITY.

The almost universal use of the Latin language in Liturgy is an evidence of the unity of Catholic worship. How beautiful and how consoling is that uniform celebration of Holy Mass throughout the world! Could you, dear brothers, visit today, the Catholic Churches of Europe, or Africa, or Australia, or China, or Japan, you would hear the priest use the same language, the same words as the celebrant of the Mass is using here this morning. You would feel as much at home as you do here in your own Church.

LANGUAGE OF CHRISTIAN CULTURE.

Latin is finally the language of Christian culture. The fathers of the early Church generally wrote in Latin, which thus became the depository of the treasures of sacred literature. Latin is also the language of the great theologians of the Church. A national church can adopt the national language in its Liturgy, because it is confined to people who speak the same tongue. But a Catholic, or universal church, must have a universal language.

Watch Your Stomach.

DON'T GET DYSPEPSIA.

Dyspepsia is one of the most difficult ills of the stomach there is to cure. You eat too much. Drink too much. Use too much tobacco. You make the stomach work overtime. You make it reform more than it should be called on to do. The natural result is that it is going to rebel against the amount of work put on it. It is only a matter of a short time before dyspepsia follows.

Burdock Blood Bitters

It is the remedy you require to restore the stomach to a normal, healthy condition so that the food no longer causes distress, but is thoroughly digested and assimilated, and goes on its way making rich food and bone, nerve and muscle.

Damning With Faint Praise

"Damm with faint praise, Assent with civil leer. And, without sneering, Teach the rest to sneer," about sums up the Globe's attitude towards the Prime Minister. Mr. Meighen, having won golden tributes from papers so widely separated in sympathies and outlook as the London Times and the Manchester Guardian, the Organ of the Adulterates is confronted with the mean and vexatious task of crying "Rotten Fish!" That the Prime Minister by his fearless honesty, modesty, firmness, loyalty and vision deeply impressed all classes in Great Britain is undeniable. He met every test as those who knew him felt sure he would. He not only evoked admiration by his unrivalled power of clear exposition, but won affection by the simplicity and charm of his personality. In a few short weeks he gained a reputation for statesmanship of the highest order, and this in a land where the standards are exacting and high—an unparalleled feat.

All this is gall and bitterness to the organ which now can only claim to represent those embittered and die-hard Liberals who opposed conscription and who sustain their malevolence by feeding on the memories of the past. The splendid triumph of Canada's youngest Prime Minister on the old battle-ground of astute European diplomacy; his matchless Oration in France; his wise, sane utterance before the Benchers; his noble and eloquent Oration in the Guild Hall; his clear and inspiring address before Edinburgh University instead of evoking generous praise draw forth only cheap sneers of depreciation. In the consulship of Laurier the note was different. Then eulogy mounted to the skies. Then the phrase was "A great Imperial Statesman." Then the slightest whisper of the radiant god "was megaphoned to the four winds. But now we are informed "The Prime Minister will be back soon and will bring with him a certain 'kudos' from participation in the Imperial Conference which always ends in profuse compliments to all and sundry on the part of the British Press. Note the words "always ends." It was not this in the days of servile flattery. The sheer pity of it!

But this is not all, and certainly, not the worst. The Imperial Conference itself is deprecated. There probably never was a more monstrous falsehood put in print than is contained in the words:—"The glory, however, is rather neutralized by the absolute indifference displayed at home as to what the Conference did or what was said. (With domestic problems pressing as they are for solution, the London deliberations and the Anglo-Japanese Alliance have attracted little attention. Surely small-mindedness and envy never went further than this attempt to belittle the sincere efforts of a statesman to bring about world-peace by casting aspersions upon a gathering which represented the very cream of the Empire's elite! No doubt it exactly represents the mind of the editor of Globe who, we all know, is at present more concerned with wresting the control of Canada from the men who saved it and passing it over to a wild mob of "Come-Outers" headed by MacKenzie King than in combating the forces of disruption. But why does it not endorse King, Lapointe, Crerar, Wood, Drury, J. J. Morrison and James Simpson editorially? And why does it not come out boldly for unadulterated Free Trade? The Empire we may be sure will survive even the sneers of the Globe. It is firmly rooted in the heart of loyalty. Nearly seven hundred thousand of our citizens sprang to its defence and if need be, will spring again. It is Canada that stands in danger of annihilation. And all the Globe has to offer in this momentous crisis is the advocacy of courses that can only lead to political anarchy and financial bankruptcy for all classes including itself.

The Naked Issue

It is entirely reasonable to infer that those Conservative farmers who have joined up with the U. F. O. and kindred associations are still stout protectionists by conviction, and will return to the old party loyalists the moment the danger threatening the entire country is clearly seen. On the other hand, the real strength of the Free Trade movement in politics has always had its centre in the Liberal farmer group. They were never satisfied with Laurier's policy. The Liberal voters in the cities and towns have never been ardent Free Traders. At least, they have but paid it insincere lip service. The moment it is realized that the prosperity of the towns and cities of the Dominion are in danger, they will rally to the standard of Protection as one man. The big guns have not yet started to belch. So far we have had but sniping and ambuscades. But Medicine Hat brought home to the average dweller in the East, as nothing else could, the sinister fact that the approaching fight is not to be between the two historic groups, as in the old days, but between those who are persuaded that, with its unbounded natural resources and unrivalled water-powers, to say nothing of its happy geographical position, the future of Canada is necessarily involved in industrialism; and those who care for none of those things, but would be well content to see the country a mere dumping-ground for foreign manufacturers, and Canadians a race of peasants and unskilled laborers.

If the programme of Wood, Drury and Crerar should triumph, the whole financial and industrial fabric would be rent in twain, and national insolvency would result in six months. The tendency throughout the world is in the direction of protection against the cheap labor of Germany. Even England at the present moment is a tariff nation. What madness it would be for us to stand alone. To attempt to do so would be to invite destruction. Yet this is precisely what Wood, Crerar and Drury are after. They must be fought to the last ditch by any and every legitimate weapon on which we can lay our hands. Liberals and Conservatives must sink all differences and rally around the one man who uses no equivocal phrases but stands four-square in favor of reasonable and moderate protection to all our industries, agricultural as well as manufacturing.

Garping Criticism

We despair of Mr. Mackenzie King ever attaining the stature of a statesman. He seems to have a fatal facility for saying and doing the wrong thing at the wrong time. We refer particularly to a recent speech in which he declared that of the Premier assembled in London, the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen was the only one without authority from the people of his Country. This is tantamount to telling the British people that they should pay no attention to him. Whatever political differences we may have at home, it is surely the worst of bad form to try to weaken the influence of the constitutional head of our Country in representing us in Empire relations and negotiations. Mr. King's criticism will have no effect upon British public men; their political vision is too large to accept such twaddle other than at its face value, but, nevertheless, the deliberate attempt to wound and to weaken the Country's stand as exemplified by the attitude of Mr. Meighen is manifest, and it is not at all to Mr. King's credit.

Girl Makes Good

Montreal, Aug. 3.—Both song and story have always depicted the young man as leaving home and mother to build a "little grey home in the west" for the girl he loves, but Miss V. Hazlett, an English lady, has reserved the order of things. For four years she has lived alone on a farm, homesteaded by her brother in the Big Touchwood Hills, Saskatchewan, has worked the land herself, made money at it, and now in Montreal on her way to England to get married. After three months there she will return with her husband to settle on her Saskatchewan farm. Miss Hazlett, who is staying at the Queen's Hotel, said that in her opinion the Government should offer facilities for its unmarried women to homestead. "I believe that they could do so as well as men."

An Empire Statesman

A lot of disappointed people hoped that Premier Meighen's political fortunes would meet shipwreck at the Imperial Conference. They hoped he would offend the British born in Canada by showing a lack of sympathy with Empire problems and Imperial aspirations. At the same time they hoped he would give grounds for offense to the people of Quebec by slighting Canadian autonomy. They were sure he would involve the country in vast commitments for military and naval expenditures. Never were people so badly disappointed. Mr. Meighen had not long been in London before he was recognized as a great Empire statesman. He is today a trusted adviser of the British Government. He did not involve Canada in great military and naval expenditures but pointed the way to a permanent world peace. There is little doubt but that he will be as big a figure at the Washington Peace Conference as he was in London at the Imperial Conference. As to the people of Quebec they will find the leading American news papers saying: "Not even Premier Laurier, the great Liberal and strong advocate of Canada for the Canadians, ever advanced the innovations or assumed the independent role marking the Meighen course in the Imperial Conference now in progress."

Divert Liners To Canada

New York, Aug. 3.—Shipping circles here have been informed that the Navigazione Generale Italiana Line has directed part of its ships into a new Italian-Canadian service. This is said to be the first Italian line that has been operated between Italy and Canada. The reason attributed for the move is that Italian navigation lines between the United States and Italy are having great difficulty in finding business for their liners at present, due to the enactment of the new United States immigration law. According to information here, other steamship companies also are occupied on the problem of finding other fields for the surplus Italian population, and it is expected that one or more Italian companies will commence sailings to Canada, diverting their present New York service.

Ship Breaks In Two

Victoria, B. C., August 2.—Founded incessantly by the relentless breakers, smashing in front from the open Pacific, the Canadian Government Merchant Marine freight steamer Canadian Exporter this morning broke her back on Willapa Spit and has been abandoned as a total wreck. The entire crew of the steamship is safe, all having been taken aboard the salvage steamer Algerine. A C. Burdick manager of the Pacific Salvage Company, at noon today received the following message from Capt. H. W. Logan of the London Salvage Association, who is aboard the Algerine: "Ship broke in two. Further effort useless. Endeavoring to remove gear. Crew all safe on Algerine." A message received just before this message at the offices of the salvage company here stated that the ship was badly logged, the shell after-deck plating badly buckled, the tanks full of sand, and the boilers started. Captain Bradley and the entire ship's complement were safely taken off, although there were many exciting scenes as the ship's boats were piloted through the breakers. The Algerine is still standing by, attempting to recover her gear. Several keel anchors had been placed in a position for another effort to haul the vessel off the sand bar. The Canadian Exporter was of 3,381 tons and was launched in December, 1919, from Coughlin Yards, Vancouver. She was delivered to the Canadian Government, March 6, 1920. To complete a cargo for the Orient she was bound from Vancouver to Portland when she went ashore last Sunday night.

Erico Caruso, the world's greatest tenor singer, died at Naples, his native place, early on Tuesday morning of last week. He and his wife arrived in Naples but a few days before from New York. On Sunday, July 31st, he experienced some evidence of illness. He immediately consulted the best physicians available, who diagnosed his case as acute peritonitis. An operation was at once performed, but the great singer never recovered. The whole world was in mourning for the greatest of singers, whose voice was stilled in death, and his funeral at the Royal Church of San Francesco Di Paola, on Thursday, August 4th, was the most memorable ever seen in the City of Naples. The whole city seemed to be in attendance. His demise, as far as singing is concerned, is regarded not only as a national but a world-wide loss.

The Conservatives of the Biding of Leeds and Brockville, have chosen W. C. Johnson, a well-known merchant of Lyndhurst, as their standard-bearer in the by-election necessitated by the retirement of Sir Thomas White. Omer Proulx and his manager Armand Vincent left Montreal last Saturday morning on board the Steamer Cornishman for England where he will attempt to swim the English Channel. He is only twenty-one years of age. Intelligence from Montreal indicates that there may be a riot on the Railway freight rates before very long. It is said that an intimation to this effect has been transmitted to the Board of Trade by the Hon. F. B. Carroll, Chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners.

Word has been received of the death in England on July 6th of Major-General Sir George Arthur French, H. C. N. G., first Commissioner and organizer of the R. N. W. M. P. He was decorated for his work in leading a party of Mounted Police across the Rocky Mountains in 1874.

The Ontario Government has awarded a contract for the manufacture of 166,000 sets of Motor Car Markers for the year 1922. The contractors are McDonald Manufacturing Company of Toronto and the price is fourteen cents per set. This year's revenue from Auto Licenses brought the Ontario Government about $3,000,000.

A Reuters Cable from Melbourne to Montreal says that the entire State of Victoria Australia has been experiencing very heavy weather recently with considerable snow-fall followed by a great deal of rain. Even at Melbourne such conditions are unusual. Several Ocean vessels are overdue. There is some anxiety on account of Coastal traffic.

In the vicinity of Suffield, Conn., more than 1000 acres of standing tobacco was ruined by a terrible hail and wind storm on July 28. The property loss is estimated between $800,000 and $400,000. Trees were uprooted in many places blocking the highways and the hail fell to a depth of six to eight inches in spots.

The one hundred and fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Sir Walter Scott occurs within a few weeks, according to London advices, and is to be made, the occasion of a series of notable celebrations in memory of the Author of "Waverley." Among other things a special edition of Scott's works is to be brought out in commemoration of the centenary.

Information regarding the Census of Canada, which has been made public by the Dominion Statistician, shows that of sixteen Cities named all have increased in population with the exception of Brockville, Ont., whose population has decreased within the last ten years slightly over 300. Charlottetown's population has increased from 11,203 to 12,329, that is a little over an average increase of 100 per year for the ten years. The population of Ottawa is 107,137, an increase of 23.1 per cent. since 1911. The population of Hull across the Ottawa River is given as 23,867, an increase of 31 per cent.

Between Forest and Sea

Sydney, N.S., July 28.—Sweeping down on the coast under the impetus of a fresh southwesterly breeze, a gigantic forest fire this evening wiped out Newhaven, a hamlet of 500 people, and for several hours menaced with destruction the village of Neil's Harbor, about sixty miles north of Sydney.

Latest information indicates that New Haven is a solid mass of flames, but that the fire is dying down, and Neil's Harbor is believed to be no longer in danger. Some four hundred people reported in early advices to have been trapped between the burning forest and the sea, and to be suffering intensely from smoke, have all escaped in motor boats or aboard the revenue cutter Gribb, which with other vessels started to their rescue immediately upon receipt of the news of the fire.

Oxford, N. S., July 28.—Forest fires, cutting a swath six miles in length and one mile wide, threatened the town of Oxford today. Thunder showers this afternoon helped to check the sweep of the conflagration and gave some relief to scores of men who were fighting for the preservation of the town by cutting timber along railway sidings. At Oxford and Oxford Junction tonight men are on guard over seven million feet of lumber piled for shipment.

Fredrickton, N. B., July 28.—A forest fire today destroyed several houses at Nelson, on the Miramichi River, and $1,000,000 worth of sawn lumber at the Fraser Company's, Limited, mill. For a time the whole plant was threatened.

Prime Minister Returns

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 7.—I will give you one thought—that the experience of the past few weeks has impressed upon my mind the real value of the undoubted necessity of these conferences and is not a mere platitude, much less an empty patriotic boast to say that Great Britain is the greatest factor in the world today for preserving peace. It is a practical and solemn vital truth. In the very nature of things she is the daysman among the nations of Europe, and you cannot in these days have peace anywhere unless you have at least substantial peace in Europe. The influence of the British statesman in the councils of the world is greater because the Dominions and India are within the Empire and because she reflects or wants to reflect their views as well as her own.

It was the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, premier of Canada who after several weeks sojourn in London in consultation with the Prime Minister of various sections of the British Empire, expressed this sentiment to a crowd of Canadians gathered at the pier head on Saturday evening to welcome him home.

Browned by the Atlantic sun and with an eye sparkling with pleasure as he stepped from the gangplank of the steamer Carmania. The premier replied to the address presented to him on behalf of the city of Halifax by Major John H. Parker. He was reticent however in touching on the proceedings of the Imperial Conference with regard to Canadian affairs. Mr. Meighen was optimistic.

I know there is much to be done, and I have been impatient to get back to take a hand in the work, he told the crowd on the pier, but those who lament about Canada have not seen much of other countries in these times. We have our troubles here in Canada—the disturbance of trade, the restlessness and disorder that seems epidemic in these times have not left us unmolested. But as we are in a sound position and a comparatively strong position, let us take courage and confidence and let every class be reasonable, and there will soon be work for all who are ready to work, and ten years from now this country will be the envy of the world.

General Summary

We are very slightly changed From the semi-apes that ranged India's prehistoric clay Whose drew the longest bow Ran his brother down, you know As we run men down today "Doubt," the first of all his race, Met the Mammoth face to face On the lake or in the cave Stole the steadiest canoe, Ate the quarry others slow, Died—and took the finest grace.

When they scratched the front deer-bone, Some one made the sketch his own, Filled it from the sketch then, Even in those early days, Was a simple Viceroy's praise Through the toil of other men. Ere they heaved the Spring's viasge, Favoritism governed kissage, Even as it does in this age.

Who shall doubt the secret hid Under Cheops' pyramid Was that the contractor did— Cloops out of several millions? Or that Joseph's sudden rise To Controller of Supplies Was a fraud of monstrous size On King Pharaoh's swart Civiilians?

Thus the artless songs I sing Do not deal with any thing, New or never said before, As it was in the beginning, Is today official singing, And shall be forever more. Radium Kipling

The Best Policy

(Concluded)

Barbara lingered on her way and father and son were drinking the tea that the elder man loved, when Barbara was shown in by a maid. Miss Burnham looked rather surprised at Barbara's entrance, and she spilled some tea over the tray, ere she rose with words of greeting. John found a comfortable seat for the flushed girl, and waited on her with tea and cake. When her cup was laid aside, Barbara said:

"I should like to talk with you, Mr. Osborne, please. And with you, John."

Miss Burnham took her departure, and Barbara told her story briefly.

"I should have told you yesterday, John," she said rather pitiously, "but I forgot."

"My dear it doesn't matter a bit, not the tiniest bit. Don't look so woe-begone, Barbara, dearest," John said gently.

Mr. Osborne was smiling radiantly.

"I am delighted, delighted, beyond measure! I can't find words to say how glad I am. And, Barbara, you are a fine girl, a good girl. John is a lucky man."

Barbara began to cry softly, she was receiving unexpected treatment.

"Not every woman would have had the honesty and courage to tell your story. Be my dear, I knew it."

"Knew it?" John and Barbara exclaimed in unison.

"For some hours only. Now, Barbara, to be candid, I did not like the idea of your marriage to John. Your so-called father and mother both died of consumption, and I have a hobby concerning healthy parents. I much prefer to know that your father was a well, swindler, than to know he was a consumptive. I have a mania for sound minds in sound bodies. Perhaps I'm too morbid, but there it is. I shall much prefer Barbara Yorke to Barbara Caxton for a daughter-in-law."

"But who told you about Barbara's real parents?" John inquired.

"Miss Burnham. She has the makings of a detective in her. Long since she knew Mrs. Yorke's maid, who had some ideas of her mistress's affairs. Then, Barbara isn't the least like any of the Caxtons. I often thought so, and wondered. Neither does she show any signs of young Mrs. Caxton's fair beauty and fragility. I at once believed Miss Burnham's tale. And I must congratulate you, John, on not caring whose daughter Barbara was, and Barbara, on her honesty."

Aching Joints

In the fingers, toes, arms, and other parts of the body, are joints that are inflamed and swollen by rheumatism—acid condition of the blood which affects the muscles also.

Sufferers dread to move, especially their sitting or lying long, and their condition is commonly worse in wet weather.

"I suffered dreadfully from rheumatism, as has been completely cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla, for which I am deeply grateful." Miss Frances James, Prescott, Ont.

"I had an attack of the grip which left me weak and helpless and suffering from rheumatism. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and this medicine has entirely cured me. I have no hesitation in saying it saved my life." M. J. McDonald, Toronto, Ont.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Removes the cause of rheumatism—no outward application can. Take it.

"Poor Miss Burnham!" said Barbara.

Mr. Osborne nodded.

"She got no chance," he said. "Her mother was a flighty sort of creature. No, Amy Burnham got no chance. Oh, I'll see that she has a moderate income when she leaves Osborne Hall. She will be all right."

Little Sign of Culture in Speech

Americans are known the world around for their short and nasal a's and many have been misled into broadening all their a's to prove their culture. But the original sound was as in "far" and "palm"; it is the first sound uttered by infants and still the most general sound of the letter on the continent of Europe. The "ah" sound was the most frequent for the letter in the earliest English or Anglo-Saxon, still considered the model and best usage of our language. The a in "ask" may be pronounced like the a in "bare" or "at," but, according to the Encyclopedia Americana, "with the majority of good speakers" it should be akin to the "ah" sound.

Best authorities hold that the excessive use of the short a is most common in America, outside the greater part of New England. It is thus a provincialism, whereas the broadened a may be indicative of travel, familiarity with the language of Europe, and association with cultured people.

The Business Woman's Saint

Business women should love St. Lydia. She was the first Gentile convert baptized in Europe and is one of the few business women mentioned in the Bible. She was a saleswoman; hence she can sympathize with the troubles met by female clerks.

We are told of her in Acts XVI, where it is said that she was a "seller of purple." She was from the city of Thyatira, a Macedonian town, probably as an agent for great dyeing works located at Thyatira. The text indicates that she was a Gentile proselyte to Judaism, and "the Lord opened her heart to attend to those things" that St. Paul preached. She was baptized, together with her household, and St. Paul, St. Titus, St. Timothy and St. Silas made her home their headquarters during their stay in Philippi, at her humble invitation. Perhaps she was not very well off financially; for II Corinthians II seems to indicate that there was a good deal of poverty among the Macedonian converts. But she certainly showed herself willing to do her share, and the Scriptures use the word "constrained" in telling of her invitation to the saints to make her home their missionary headquarters. This meant far more in those days of persecution than it would now, and even today it would be no little thing for a working woman to turn her house over to a group of missionaries to stay as long as they wished.

Special Privileges Granted

The nucleus of the Society of St. Peter Claver is a religious order of women that has received its final approbation from the Holy See. Closely associated with the Religious are the Extern Members who, though not called to the religious life, desire to be affiliated with the Society and to work under its direction for the African Missions.

The Extern Members are indispensable to the Society and for this reason the Foundress and Directress General at the Central House in Rome is very anxious that more Americans become Externs. Their duties are not onerous while they enjoy all the spiritual favors granted the Religious proper and share in the merits of the latter.

In January of this year, 1921, Our Holy Father, Benedict XV, received in private audience the venerable Foundress of the Sodality of St. Peter Claver and conferred upon her Society a new proof of his interest and benevolence; all the members of the Society of St. Peter Claver, Religious and Externs, are aggregated to the Third Order of St. Francis of Assisi, and therefore enjoy all the privileges and numerous indulgences accorded to this order without the obligations attached to the same. This favor alone considering the increasing attraction to the Third Order of the seraphic St. Francis, should induce many to become Extern Members of the Society of St. Peter Claver.

For further particulars, write to or call at: American Headquarters of the Sodality of St. Peter Claver for the African Missions, 1219 Fullerton Bldg., St. Louis, Mo.

The publisher of the best Farmers' paper in the Maritime Provinces in writing to us states:

"I would say that I do not know of a medicine that has stood the test of time like MINARD'S LINIMENT. It has been an unfailing remedy in our household ever since I can remember, and has outlived dozens of would-be competitors and imitators."

I was almost on a nervous breakdown when a neighbor told me to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. This I did, and before I had the second box used I was better."
