Tired Nervous Mothers

Should Profit by the Experience of These Two Women

Buffalo, N. Y.—"I am the mother of four children, and for nearly three years I suffered from a female trouble with pains in my back and side, and a general weakness. I had professional attendance most of that time but did not seem to get well. As a last resort I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which I had seen advertised in the newspapers, and in two weeks noticed a marked improvement. I continued its use and am now free from pain and able to do all my household work."—Mrs. B. B. ZIMMERMAN, 202 Weiss Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

Portland, Ind.—"I had a displacement and suffered so badly from it at times I could not be on my feet at all. I was all run down and so weak I could not do my housework, was nervous and could not lie down at night. I took treatments from a physician but they did not help me. My Aunt recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried it, and now I am strong and well again and do my own work and I give Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound the credit."—Mrs. JOSEPHINE KIMBLE, 935 West Race Street, Portland, Ind.

Happiness Secured

AT A Heavy Cost!

CHAPTER XXII.

A PROMISE OF SECRECY.

"Would to Heaven I never had!" is the passionate response. "God knows it was not with any wish or desire of mine. I struggled as desperately against the passion as ever man struggled for his life! But there are people in the world for whom it is useless to strive against fate—to try to go right—to keep in the straight and narrow path that is made so smooth and easy for others—people who, no matter how they strive, can never be anything but unfortunate—whose every hope falls them—whose love is crushed into the dust—whose whole life is a failure, as mine has been. Lesley," he adds, laying his hands on my shoulders with a fierce and sudden grip, "where is Adelaide? I must and will see her! I must speak to her at once!"

"You cannot see her!" I reply. "There is nothing to be gained by an interview. She sends you her forgiveness and best wishes for your happiness; for, cruelly as you have requited her, she loves you still! But she will not trust herself to see you any more!"

"And does she think—do you think that I am to be sent away like that—without one look into her dear face—one touch of her hand in parting—if we must part? No, Lesley, here I am, and here I remain until I have seen her!" he exclaims, throwing himself into a chair with a look of dogged desperation.

"Go to her," he adds, "and tell her what I say—that nothing on earth shall induce me to leave this house until she has granted me an interview!"

CHAPTER XXIII.

THE HEART'S BITTERNESS.

THERE is nothing for it, but to obey him, and I go slowly back to Adelaide. "Ernest Warden is here, Adelaide, and, in spite of all I can say, insists upon seeing you," I reluctantly announce, as I enter the room, where, stretched on a sofa with neither book nor work, she lies, the image of silent despair. "Do you think you can bear to meet him, dear?"

She is deadly pale! Even in those few short hours sorrow has set an indelible seal on the sweet face, that invests it with quite a new and different character. But something—a swift and sudden light that is almost joy—leaps into her eyes as I speak, and, rising to her feet, she turns to the door as if with the purpose of going downstairs.

"Come with me, Lesley," she says, as I stand hesitatingly whether or not to follow; "I dare not trust myself to meet him alone."

Together we descend to the parlor, where Ernest, with the pale, resolute face of a man who is bent upon some desperate course, strides restlessly up and down like a caged animal.

He turns as the door opens, and looks for one doubtful moment into her face; the next he rushes toward her, and, catching her in his arms, draws her, with a passionate cry, to his heart.

"My poor, little girl—my poor, little love!" he exclaims, as, with her whole frame quivering with pain, she yields for one sweet moment to his embrace. "Look up! speak to me, if it is only to curse me, for bringing this sorrow upon you—anything but that silent, accusing face that goes to my heart like a knife."

"Then it is true?" she asks, drawing back from his embrace with a shudder—"true what they tell me, of that dreadful woman at Ivy Cottage?"

With a groan he releases her. "Too true! But, oh! my love, forgive me, for as Heaven hears me, I would rather have been shot down like a dog at your feet than ever this miserable story should have reached your ears."

"Yet, knowing this, you could attempt to make me your wife?" she asks. "Oh, Ernest, how could you wrong me so deeply; how could you marry me, knowing that your wife still lived?"

"My wife!" he repeats. "Do you call that vile disgrace to the name of woman my wife? Oh, my darling, do not think so badly of me as that—I am not the villain you would make me out. That Maud Lennox, as she is called, is the woman to whom your officious friend, Mr. Smiles, married me in London, I do not deny; but I do deny that she is my wife or ever has been. She is mad, dear, and, if you were acquainted with 'Blackstone,' you would know that a marriage with a person of unsound mind is no marriage at all—that it is void in law! You are my wife, dear; you and you alone—nothing can alter that."

"Perfect Coffee—Perfectly Made"

"Don't, Ernest—pray do not try to deceive me!" she entreats, with a pitiful little gesture. "Your sophistry does not deceive me; it never can! I am not your wife, and I know it. My duty lies straight before me; I see it plainly."

"What do you mean?" he asks, looking into the poor, little quivering face with a dreadful earnestness that is almost terror. "For the love of Heaven, Addie, don't tell me that you mean to let this one wretched, long-repeated folly of my youth come between us and our happiness! In the name of mercy, try to forget what you have been told. Try to forgive me!"

"I have forgiven you, Ernest," she replies, looking up at him with eyes that are full of misery. "I have thought of everything, but think as I will, I can see but one course open to us. We must part!"

"Never!" he replies, pressing her again to his heart as if by the sheer might of love he could keep her with him. "You are my wife, and do you think that, knowing this, anything on earth shall ever induce me to give you up? Oh, my darling!" he adds, striving to look into the anguish-stricken face she is averting from his gaze, "be merciful to me! Think of all I have suffered, of the heavy penalty I have already paid for that one fatal step, of my lonely life, of my great love, and do not cast me off! What do you suppose my life would be worth to me bereft of your love—bereft of my darling?"

"Have you ever realized what you are to me, child?" he goes on, in low, impassioned tones. "Do you think that I should ever care to live one day deprived of the sight of that sweet face, the sound of that dear voice? Remember, Addie, what you are to me—my one love, my very life! How, then, can you bear to give me up?"

"And do you think that I do not suffer?" she asks, her eyes still bent on the floor, as if dreading to meet the passionate pleading in the handsome face she loves so well. "Oh, Ernest, be merciful to me! My love renders me weak, but not so weak as to blind me to the truth. I see my duty only too plainly; I cannot shut my eyes to it if I would. The one course open to us is separation—there is no other! We must part! But why, oh, why did you ever deceive me about that marriage?"

"Remember how greatly I was tempted, dear," he pleads. "I loved you so madly that I would have dared anything to call you mine, to touch your lips, to hold you for just one happy, blissful moment to my longing heart—the heart that will beat for you as long as it beats at all. Oh, my darling, be reasonable! Think how happy we might be together! You would be very happy with me, would you not, sweet?"

Her white lips move, but she does not speak; and, forgotten by both, I sit trembling in my seat near the window, wondering whether there is anything I can say or do to put an end to a scene which I feel is fast becoming too painful for either.

"Look at me, dear," he goes on.

"By all that we have been to each other through this one perfect period of happiness my sorrowful life has ever known, I implore you to acquit me of any intentional wrong toward you! I implore you to trust me still! Something shall be done! That accursed woman shall be sent away; the marriage, if you still persist in regarding it as a marriage, set aside, annulled, anything, as a concession to your scruples, you know, dear—nothing more! For myself, I will not acknowledge it; it is null and void! Nothing on earth shall make me own that woman as my wife!"

"It is worse than useless to reason with me," she replies. "However distasteful that marriage may have been to you, it was a marriage; and so long as that woman lives, we never can be anything to each other!"

"And do you think that I will ever submit to this?" he asked. "Do you think that I will ever suffer a hundred crazy hags like that to stand between us two? You never loved me, or you would not think of such a thing!"

"You know how cruelly unjust that accusation is, even while you speak it!" she replies. "Heaven knows that I do love you, and always shall! But it is useless—worse than useless—to prolong this pain! I dare not listen to you, Ernest! You may break my heart, but you cannot blind me to the truth—to my duty!"

"Which, according to your idea, is to break mine, it seems!" he exclaims, his voice changing from passionate entreaty to passionate reproach. "What a poor thing a woman's love must be after all our mad craving to win it, when, for a mere quibble—a wretched scruple of conscience—a mistaken sense of duty, or whatever you choose to term it—you can throw me over like this—rob me of my one and only hope of happiness! Adelaide," he adds, in a low, suppressed tone, "have you paused to consider what is to become of me if you desert me, now?"

"You will think of it differently by and by, when you are calmer, dear," she says, looking at him with all the agony of her bitter renunciation in her eyes. "I should despise myself if I could act differently; and the day would come when you would despise me too!"

"Cold as marble and as unimpressible!" is the bitter reply. "Oh, my darling, have you nothing but this to say to me?" he asks, throwing himself with a despairing gesture into a chair.

"Nothing—save good-by and Heaven bless and keep you, dear!" she returns, looking pitifully down at him as, for one miserable moment, he sits there, shaking from head to foot with all the agony of a strong man's grief.

Seeing that he neither moves nor speaks, she goes gently up to him, and gravely, reverently lays her lips on his forehead in such a kiss as may press on some dear, dead face on which our eyes shall never rest again; and then, before he is aware of her intention, steals away.

At the door she pauses, looking back at him with a long and lingering gaze, in which the light of her life fades out; and the next, she has gone up to her room and turned the key!

WAR REVIEW.
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—The German battle line in France is still crumbling under the impetus of the attacks of the French and British from the region of Soissons around the curve in the front to the vicinity of Lassigny the enemy has been visited with further heavy defeats, while further north between the Somme River at Bray to the south of Arras, Field Marshal Haig's men have continued their victorious thrusts. On no sector of the front have the Germans been able to stay their foes, who have captured a large number of additional towns and vantage points which in the further prosecution of the offensive are of the utmost strategic value. Nowhere is the enemy being permitted to pause for breath. The armies of Rawlinson, Byng, Mangin and Humbert are pressing their advance with a strength that brooks no denial of their efforts. Thousands of prisoners, numerous guns and machine guns, and large stores of war supplies have been added to the stocks already in Allied hands as trophies of their glorious work since the tide of battle was turned against the enemy by the commencement of General Foch's offensive on the Marne on July 18th. To the British alone in the past two days have come more than 5,000 prisoners. In a new offensive begun by Haig north of the Somme to Albert, an advance of two miles eastward already has been made over the six mile front. In this fighting the town of Albert, on the Ancre, the keystone of the German defense protecting the Germans north of the Somme, has been taken. Here the British made 1,000 German prisoners. and wooded country in this vicinity almost cleared of the enemy. The Divette River has been crossed, and both the Oise and the Allette Rivers have been crossed, and the onward thrust of the French on the eastern end of the line from Soissons north seems likely to bring about shortly the outflanking of the important town of Leon and the forced retreat of the Germans from the Vesle River northward across the Aisne. Viewed in all aspects, the Allied offensive seemingly shows that General Foch now has the initiative entirely in his own hands, and that he purposes to press his advantage for the little more than two months of good fighting weather that remain before the winter season sets in. Indeed, it is not improbable that he may elect to keep alive his quarry even when the cold descends. The Germans nowhere are standing with their usual zest. Foch has now a greatly strengthened army. The once narrow ribbon of foam, churned by the propellers of east-bound American troopships, has increased to great proportions, and sailing over this white line Foch is obtaining from across the sea the strengthening splendid manhood that will permit him to work out his strategy in his own time. Even the German newspapers now are accepting as true, although reluctantly, the statement by the American Secretary of War concerning the strength of the American forces in France. Some of them, however, are endeavoring to minimize the number actually in battle array.

ALBERT CAPTURED BY BRITISH.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—The town of Albert, 18 miles north-west of Amiens, on the Ancre River, has been captured by the British, who also obtained all their objectives in the fighting to-day between Bray, Sur Somme and Albert, according to the official communication from Field Marshal Haig to-night. Over the six-mile front the British advanced two miles. Albert is a town in the department of the Somme, 18 miles northeast of Amiens. It is situated on the Ancre River and is a railroad centre. Before the war it had a population of more than 7,000. Albert was in the scene of desperate fighting, and in the recent British drive the town was surrounded on three sides by the armies of Field Marshal Haig. The village of Aveluy on the north and Mesaulte on the south have been reached by them. It was at Albert that for more than three years the famous "Jeaneau Virgin" hung from the top of the Cathedral. The base of the statue of the Virgin, which surmounted the spire, was hit by a German shell while the town was under a heavy bombardment in August, 1914, and the image toppled over. It did not fall from the pedestal, however, but hung in a horizontal position until April of the present year, when a German shell again struck the statue and sent it crashing to the ground.

PRISONERS TAKEN YESTERDAY.

LONDON, Aug. 22. (Official.)—The hostile artillery has been very active throughout the night on the battlefield, and this morning fresh hostile counter attacks are reported to have developed opposite Miramont and Iries. Between two thousand and three thousand prisoners and a few guns were captured by us in our operations yesterday. Further progress has been made by us to the west and northeast of Merville. Our troops are on the outskirts of New Bergin. Last night we attacked and captured a hostile strong point north of Bailuel. A strong local counter attack was delivered by the enemy yesterday morning against Logrebof farm, N.W. of Drocourt. It was repulsed after sharp fighting. Further fighting took place during the night in this sector.

NOYON NEXT.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—(Havas.)—The occupation of Lassigny by the army of General Humbert newspaper commentators believe will facilitate the capture of Noyon, toward which the armies of Generals Mangin and Humbert are pressing steadily. Lassigny was one of the pivots of the German defence system between the Oise and the Somme and was defended most stubbornly. General Mangin, on Wednesday, continued to move toward the Oise. If the German front there has not been pierced, as the Germans claim the French are trying to do it and the line has been sent back a considerable distance, and it is believed may have to withdraw to the Allette, observers here see a new danger for the enemy in the British attack north of the Ancre in the direction of Bapaume. The British already are on the battle ground of 1918.

THE FALL OF LASSIGNY.

ON THE FRENCH FRONT IN FRANCE, Aug. 22. (Havas.)—The operations which resulted in the fall of Lassigny Wednesday, began with a successful thrust from the west by a battalion of Chasseurs. Divette Wood, a strongly fortified position which had delayed the French advance for two days, was taken in a sudden dash and the battalion reached the outskirts of Lassigny on the west and on the north. Meanwhile other units composed of men from Brittany and Paris took the southern outskirts of Lassigny and crossed through the town, chasing the Germans before them. By noon a company of engineers had cleared out the town and captured the last enemy occupants who were hiding in cellars.

GERMAN SITUATION SERIOUS.

PARIS, Aug. 22. (Havas.)—Never has the situation of the Germans been so serious as at present, which augurs well for the future, says L'Homme Libre, in discussing the results of Wednesday's fighting. The Germans have been deprived of their present front and the Allied offensive is costing him dearly. The Fleury says: The battle is no longer a German battle, but the battle of Marshal Foch, to whose will all events appear to be subject.

AMERICAN AVIATORS ACTIVE.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 22. (By the A.P.)—American aviators bombed Flabouville, in the department of Muerthe, yesterday afternoon, and secured many hits, some of them direct ones on the railroad tracks. The airplanes returned safely, notwithstanding the heavy anti-aircraft fire directed against them.

MADE GREAT ADVANCE.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—General Humbert's army has made a great advance between the Marne and Oise Rivers, and has reached the Allette River. The French military men say this makes the early fall of the town of Noyon inevitable.

FISHING CREWS LAND.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 22.—The crew of the fishing schr. Passadena, of Mahone Bay, N.S., arrived here at nine o'clock this morning, and reported that their schooner had been sunk about midnight last Tuesday on the middle ground fishing banks, by the trawler Triumph.

RAIDER OFF QUERO.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 22.—The crew of the American schooner Sylvania, Capt. Jeff Thomas, arrived here yesterday, reporting that their vessel was sunk by a trawler, presumably the Triumph, off Quero, yesterday.

DRIVING THE ENEMY BACK.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—French troops, under command of General Mangin, according to information received in London to-day, from the battlefield, along the Oise River, are continuing to press back the Germans. Several important German positions already have been gained by the French. The Germans are offering stubborn resistance, and very heavy fighting is taking place, and it is reported to be favorable to the French. General Mangin's army has taken numerous prisoners.

POSITIONS MAINTAINED.

LONDON, Aug. 22. (Official.)—At 4.45 o'clock this morning our troops attacked the positions of the enemy between the Somme and the Ancre Rivers. By nightfall yesterday our patrols had made progress on the left bank of the Ancre River to the south and southeast of Beaucourt. North of the Ancre River our positions gained yesterday were maintained against strong hostile counter attacks, delivered during the afternoon and evening on the Miramont and Achiet de Grand front.

ANCRE CROSSED.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 22.—The British success in the north enabled the tanks to pass beyond the railroad. Some were reported this morning to be working as far eastward as the Arras road. In their new attack the British early this morning apparently had taken their main objectives on the right, and were well inside the enemy lines. South of Albert the British crossed the Ancre.

KEEPING UP HER NAME.

MONTREAL, Aug. 22.—Practically the entire fleet of the Maritime Fishing Corporation has been destroyed by the trawler Triumph, which was captured by a German submarine and armed, according to reports to the company's office here to-day. The fleet was operating off the Grand Banks of Nfld. It was composed of boats of both Canadian and American registry.

A WORD FROM HINDENBURG.

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 22.—Field Marshal Hindenburg, addressing the third regiment of Guards, is quoted by the Tages Zeitung of Berlin, as saying: "Let us look into the future. Our position is favorable, although we may frankly admit that we lately have happened to be set back, but this is the fortune of war, with which we must reckon."

ATTACKED BY SUBMARINE.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 22.—(By the A.P.)—A British freight steamship, which arrived here to-day from European waters, was attacked by a submarine yesterday morning when near Nantucket. One torpedo was fired by the U-boat which missed the freighter by about twenty yards, members of the crew said. The submarine then began shelling the ship, and the fire was returned by the Britishers. A running fight, lasting more than an hour, followed. The freighter finally outdistanced the submarine. Some of the shots fired by the U-boat took effect.

PRISONERS NUMBER 100,000.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—The Allied armies have taken more than 100,000 prisoners since July 18 says Marcel Hutin in the Echo de Paris.

FORCED BACK.

PARIS, Aug. 22.—German troops have been forced back over a 20 mile front to a depth of from one to two miles, from Lassigny to the Allette River during the night, according to the official statement issued by the war office.

GERMANS RETREATING.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Aug. 22. (By the A.P.)—On the ground between the two points where the British armies are hammering them and where they are threatened with being left in a pocket, the Germans seem to have started retreating.

FLYING THE DANISH FLAG.

AN ATLANTIC PORT, Aug. 22.—All the members of the Gloucester fishing schooner Sylvania are reported safe, according to United States Com-and Freeman here. The crew stated they were given but ten minutes to leave the ship and after getting away saw the raider Triumph going eastwards toward a Lunenburg trawler. The Germans said they had sunk a French trawler and one other ship. The Triumph was flying the Danish flag. The Sylvania's crew was not given any time in which to get food.

BITTER FIGHTING.

LONDON, Aug. 22.—In the Flanders battle area the British last night attacked and captured a German position south of Bailuel, according to advices from the front to-day. It is reported that a strong local counter attack made yesterday morning against the Loere Hospice was repulsed after heavy fighting and that sharp combats took place during the night in this sector.

CANADIANS KILLED.

OTTAWA, Aug. 22.—One hundred and twenty Canadians are listed as killed in action and 66 are reported died of wounds in the casualty list issued this morning; in all, 238 names are contained.

Thoughts Upon the Times

(By PATRIOT.)

Woodmen report beavers very plentiful in the interior of the country. They are becoming a nuisance by damming off the rivers and streams and ruining the young birch timber. It is no longer necessary to protect them by law. They have become quite tame and do not seem to mind the presence of men near their haunts. Not long ago the writer and a friend went for an auto drive on that fine road leading from Grand Falls to Rushy Pond Farm. On the way we saw several beavers in a pond close by the road sporting like playful children. We stopped our car and watched them for some time. They did not appear to mind us in the least. It is a great pity the laws relating to caribou have not been enforced as strictly as have those protecting the beaver. It will only be a matter of a few years when the caribou will be as extinct as the great auk if the laws are not strictly enforced.

The people all over the country seem interested in the new company which has recently been formed to exploit the coal areas in St. George's District. The company will find little difficulty in raising the capital mentioned in the prospectus. The public in general will wish success to the St. George's Coal Fields, Ltd., and hope before long to see our native coal used in the homes of the people.

During this week several new vessels will be launched from the various shipyards in the country. Among them will be included the four-masted auxiliary vessel which has been built by Messrs. Tulk and Platt at St. George's. This is a magnificent vessel and is by far the largest yet built in the country. Another vessel nearing completion is the one being built by the famous builder, Mr. Josiah Frampton, at Munroe, in Trinity Bay. She is expected to measure about 325 tons and will be one of the finest of her class ever built in the country.

The fishermen all around the coast are very much exercised over the unsettled prices given for fish, and their former champion, Hon. W. F. Coaker, is coming in for a fair share of criticism. They cannot understand his present attitude towards the question which appears to be in favor of the merchant and not the fisherman. The old time "union fire" which once flared up so brightly seems to be dying out, and if one were to judge by the present temper of the fishermen there will be "something doing" when their next convention meets.

The silence of the Advocate too is bitterly commented upon by the fishermen. They contend that the Advocate was established for the main purpose of keeping the fishermen informed of the current prices of fishery products and other matters relating to the trade of the country in which the fishermen are interested, but it has become the most conservative paper now published. If the fishermen will but refer to Mr. Coaker's Circular of date March 18th last they will be able to account in some measure for the present neutral attitude of their own newspaper. It is too busy making money for the "grab-balls" to bother much about the price of fish and other mundane affairs.

So the pompous Minister of Shipping can meddle with other departments beside that of his own. The whole country is waiting to see what steps the Minister of Marine and Fisheries intends taking towards setting right the outrageous treatment accorded to a popular and well known employee of his department recently. The officious Minister of Shipping seems to have a craze for meddling.

FRIDAY, August 23, 1918.

Let Justice Be Done.

A few days ago in a Western outpost a fisherman was brought before the Magistrate and fined the sum of one hundred and seventy-five dollars. One hundred for a violation of the Prohibition Act, his offence being the possession of a very small quantity of wine, and seventy-five dollars for a contravention of the Customs Regulations, for failure to report, a few pounds of tobacco, the same together with the wine having been purchased at St. Pierre or Miquelon. An interesting legal point with regard to the tobacco incident might be raised by ascertaining whether or not the master of the boat had been given an opportunity to make a Report inwards at the Custom House. The right of search for suspected smuggled goods, is, we think, made only after the manifest of contents has been accepted by the proper official, not before as some searching officers seem to believe and to act upon.

Under the Prohibition Act the possession of spirits is prima facie evidence of an offence, and as the official who prosecuted in the case referred to under this Act, was also doing special duty for the Customs, it is open to accept the theory that search was entered upon before the master had reported. There is no evidence at hand to prove this yet, but whether correct or not, the judgment in both the causes was extraordinarily severe. A nominal fine would have served the purpose of justice, and satisfied the most scrupulous. It is rather a striking commentary on the way in which things are done in this dominion at the present day, that for a trivial offence a poor unfortunate fisherman is fined a large sum for the illegal possession of a little contraband tobacco, while thousands of dollars may be raked from the revenue collections in St. John's and no punishment meted out to the guilty parties, but on the contrary they are being shielded from prosecution. Their crime is infinitely greater than that of the fishing boat master who paid dearly for his infraction of the law, and being so their punishment should be commensurate. "Let justice be done though the Heavens fall."

The Port aux Basques Strike.

It has been suggested that by the present strike of the Reid Company's laborers and freight handlers at Port aux Basques, public interests have been disregarded, inasmuch as goods, long expected and needed, are being held up in consequence of existing conditions and cannot be shipped from the terminal port. In a case of this sort, neither the Company or its employees should hold up either shippers or consignees. It is true that a deadlock exists, but we are constrained to ask if the differences at issue warrant it. It is purely a matter for compromise on both sides, and such a compromise would, we feel sure in the end best serve the interests of the Company, the men and the public. It is now no little time since the strike was called and so far as can be seen no hope of a settlement appears to be visible. The public sympathies with both sides, but its good will must not be trodden upon too far. It has goodnaturedly waited for a settlement to be effected, and there are signs that a reasonable ground for meeting the issues involved will soon be reached. It is obvious that such equitable settlement can only be arrived at by arbitration or compromise. Which ever is the best way out should be accepted, and the deadlock, which is embarrassing and inconveniencing the whole country, broken. The right of both Company and employees to guard their own interests is acknowledged, but at the same time there is a responsibility owed the public, whose money and patronage make possible the operation of the service. In the present instance moderate counsels should prevail and no arbitrary or hasty action should be introduced. An early adjustment of all the difficulties under discussion will be the best evidence of the sincerity of both parties to end a dispute which should never have occurred.

SOLDIER WOUNDED.—The parents of Lieut. Godden, Bell Island, recently received word from the Ottawa Military Headquarters, that the young soldier had entered the 3th General Hospital, Rouen, Aug. 11th, gunshot wound in the left leg. Since then the parents have been advised that he has been admitted to a London Hospital.

At the City Hall.

The Municipal Council held its regular weekly session last evening. The Mayor presided and Councillors Brownrigg, Morris, Tait, Mullally and Watson attended.

After reading minutes, etc., the following matters were disposed of:—

The Sanitary Inspectors were called to the meeting to discuss the reasons why the watering carts were not doing their duty, and orders were given that carts were to be out regularly, and the man in charge were to go out before breakfast if necessary.

Jonas Bartor on behalf of residents of Golf Avenue and Sandy Pond Road asked that drains in that vicinity be attended to.

The Colonial Secretary wrote that he would lay Council's application for a loan before the Executive Council at the first opportunity.

J. P. Blackwood wrote he was not the agent of the property east of Custom House, and therefore was not liable for the upkeep of the fence there.

Herbert Knight asked for removal of some stone piled against Pitt's fence, Sheehan Street. Referred to Road Inspector.

M. J. O'Brien requested permission to install a small motor in shop on New Gower Street. Referred to Engineer.

Application to repair the house by Mrs. Symond's King's Bridge Road, passed.

Plans of buildings to be erected on Hamilton Street by the Horwood Lumber Co., were approved provided ground plan is submitted showing exact layout.

The Health Inspector reported on condition of stable Lyon's Square, and also on sanitary measures in the city during the past week.

The City Engineer reported on the condition of the Harvey Road wall, and also on the work of Patrick and Leslie Streets, and general work through the city.

The Lumbering Inspector reported the number of services held during the week.

The Inspector appointed to look into the question of leaky tenements reported that he had inspected a bad state. The owners will be written to have these houses put in a habitable condition.

Plan of garage for Geo. E. Kearney passed.

Plan of two houses for A. Faulkner, LeMarchant Street, passed.

The question of disorderly conduct in Bannerman Park will be reported on by the Park Committee.

Minutes of some routine business and passing pay rolls and bills, etc., the meeting adjourned.

Ethie's Report.

The ss Ethie reached Curling Saturday night from the Straits of Belle Isle, and in an interview Captain English gave the Western Star the following report of fishery conditions along the Straits Coast of Labrador:

August 14.—At Bonne Esperance and Salmon Bay boats get from 6 to 8 quintals cod per day. There is also good trawl and hook fishing.

At Blanc Sablon there is good cod fishing when bait is to be had, catches being from 4 to 5 qtrs. per boat.

At Forteau there is plenty of cod, fishermen getting all they can handle. Salt is scarce at Lance au Loup, and cod plentiful.

At West St. Modest there are lots of cod to trap, but the fishermen have no salt and are unable to obtain any on the coast.

At Red Bay both cod and herring are plentiful but there is no use catching them, for there has not been a bit of salt there the past week. This scarcity of salt is a serious matter to the fishing industry.

At Chateau there is good cod fishing.

Thousands of cod have struck in at Pleasure Hr. Since the 12th inst. Alton's landed 150 qtrs. Traps average 25 qtrs. daily, and there is also good fishing by hook.

At Battle Hr. there is not a cod to eat.

August 15.—At Cape Charles there is little cod; some traps to-day got boat load.

At Chimney Tickle there is just a sign of cod, but not much yet.

At Henley Hr. there is good cod fishing.

The fishery is now over at Blanc Sablon.

Cod continues plentiful at Red Bay, West St. Modest, Lance au Loup and Forteau, but no salt has yet arrived at the first three named places.

Weather all through the Straits has been bad for drying cod, there being fog and rain continually.

Yesterday's Fire.

Yesterday afternoon, at 3.35, an alarm called the Central and West End Fire Companies to Sudbury St. (Poor House Lane), where the barn at the rear of W. E. Horwood's was ablaze. The Central firemen were soon there and got a couple of streams playing on the burning barn, the flames of which very nearly fired the residence. The high wind made things worse, but a plentiful supply of water soon got the fire under control. The origin of the blaze unknown, but may have been caused by the sweating of the hay. The all-out signal was rung in at 4.30.

Bannerman Park.

We are pleased to note that in last evening's meeting of the Municipal Council, the matter of Bannerman Park has at last occupied their attention, and the Park Committee will report on conditions there. Before they do so, we would advise them to pay a few nightly visits to that resort, disguised as young bloods.

Salvation Army Annual Congress.

The above yearly event is dated for August 21st, September 1st, 2nd and 3rd, and again the officers from all parts of Newfoundland will be finding their way to the Metropolis, to participate in the various special events.

This yearly assembly is as a pilgrimage and as of old the people of Israel journeyed to Jerusalem for their festivals and solemn assemblies and then returned refreshed and comforted, so to-day, in the Salvation Army, young officers come up for a spiritual feast, while the veterans come together also for fellowship and councils.

This year will bring with it a few changes. We shall miss the fiery Welsh orator, Commissioner W. J. Richards. He will be detained in Toronto for similar gatherings. We shall, however, in his place, have Commissioner Henry Mapp, who visited St. John's about five years back, and gave a thrilling lecture on "India."

The Commissioner has seen service in India, Ceylon, England, Canada, South America and in his present appointment he is the pioneer of S. A. work in Russia.

On Sunday afternoon, at 3 p.m. in the College Hall he will give an account of that sad but interesting country, from the standpoint of an eye witness, speaking of the Revolution, the Red Guards, the future of the Country, and the work of the Salvation Army.

The Congress party are due to arrive on Saturday, August 21st, and in addition to the Newfoundland delegates, there will be also Brigadier Morris, an old leader of Newfoundland, returning after absence of nine years, also Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Adby, who have been appointed to succeed Colonel and Mrs. Otway, who leaves for Toronto on Thursday next, August 29th.

Lieut.-Colonel Adby is an officer of wide experience, an Englishman. He has had thirty-five years of leadership and will beyond doubt capture the hearts of the Salvationists and others. He is a splendid singer and in England had great fame in this direction.

On Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Citadel, New Gower Street, the installation and induction of the new leaders, will take place. A public gathering to excited welcome and confidence for the press welcomes and confidence for the press of successful service.

On Sunday the meetings will be in the College Hall: 11 a.m. Holiness meeting; 3 p.m. Lecture on Russia; 7 p.m. Salvation meeting. The afternoon meeting is in the nature of a "City Rally." His Excellency the Governor is expected to be upon the platform, accompanied by Miss Harris. A large number of gentlemen, members of the Government and others have also promised attendance.

On Monday, September 2nd at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. private conferences, and at night the Commissioner will lecture on "Japan" our Eastern Ally." On Tuesday private councils, also Wednesday, and at 8 p.m. in the new

BRIDGET BOLAND.

At the ripe old age of 36 years, Bridget Boland died at Holyrood, on Lady Day, August 15th. The deceased had been blessed with good health until recently when she received a stroke of paralysis, which reduced her to a semi-delirious state. Rev. W. P. Flinn visited the sick woman often and he is a splendid singer and in England had great fame in this direction.

On Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Citadel, New Gower Street, the installation and induction of the new leaders, will take place. A public gathering to excited welcome and confidence for the press welcomes and confidence for the press of successful service.

Wedding Bells

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church, Whites Bay, on Aug. 14th, when Mr. Geo. Murphy of Mobile, led to the altar Miss Bride Norris, of Whites Bay. The bride looked very pretty in a costume of blue silk and a hat of Georgette crepe, with a bouquet of white carnations and maiden hair ferns. She was attended by her sister Miss Monica Norris, who wore a capote of champagne silk. The groom was supported by Mr. Fitzgerald. After the ceremony the wedding party drove to the home of the bride's mother where a wedding supper was served and the health of the newly wedded pair proposed. A large number of guests were present, including a number of friends from the city. The bride and groom were the recipients of many useful and valuable presents, testifying to the popularity of both. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Murphy many years of wedded happiness.

Comparative Values in Footwear!

With the majority of people, price is the chief consideration in purchasing footwear. That's why there are so many uncomfortable feet in Newfoundland to-day and so many dissatisfied shoe purchasers.

For low-priced shoes cannot be good shoes—the high cost of good materials and skilled labour won't permit. Then why experiment—at the expense of your comfort—with low-priced shoes? Why not wear

Expensive Economy.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

"Why don't you ask your husband to take you home when he is in town, and find out what the prices and qualities are?" I asked my neighbor when she told me she was going to order a hammock by mail. "I think if you say about such and such a price they are sure to give you a little more expensive," I know that," said my neighbor, "but Philip is so busy that I don't like to ask him to remember it and fuss over it just to save two or three dollars."

If I Have Masculine Readers.

I can just imagine the men who read that (if masculine readers ever do come into my corner) saying to themselves, "A Daniel come to judgment" (or words to that effect). And I rather suspect they are right. Any woman who can overcome the peculiarly feminine tendency to limit the money going out, even if by so doing she limits the money coming in, deserves the supreme honor of being likened to a man.

This woman's husband is a lawyer, and he needs every ounce of his mental energy just now for some important work. True, it would take him but a few minutes to telephone two or three shops; but, as every one who has had to concentrate intensely can understand, the nagging necessity for attending to that alien matter might detract quite disproportionately from six days' accomplishment.

This Does Not Excuse the Man Who Hates Errands.

All of which is not to be seized upon as justification by the husband whose work does not require such intense concentration but who just dislikes errands. It is simply brought forward to illustrate woman's attitude toward money.

Another illustration came to my attention recently. A friend of ours has just bought one of those combination hook and step ladders that are so useful in the kitchen. "I think it keeps me off my feet an hour a day," she says. "I do all my vegetables sitting down and I find I can wash my dishes very comfortably that way."

I've wanted one for eight years and I have never enjoyed anything more." Just fancy waiting eight years for an article that would conserve strength to that extent, and that only cost one dollar!

At the Other Extreme.

Of course there is another extreme, and at it you will find the person (almost invariably a man) who says of any saving his wife tries to make, "That doesn't pay because it takes too much time and energy." I heard a woman make a good retort to that. She had gone to eight shops to get some yarn for a sweater, a dollar cheaper. Her husband had made the conventional comment. "But suppose you've got the time and energy and haven't got the money?" she retorted with spirit. (But don't forget to be sure the thing is worth the time and energy.)

Prison Vendetta.

Grim Drama Inside Jail. At dead of night, in the silence of a prison-cell at Glasgow a while back, two men fought a battle to the death.

One, a Swedish stoker, was named Carl Johansson; the other, John Brown, was a British sailor.

Repairs were in progress in the jail, so the two men were temporarily placed in the same cell. They were sworn enemies. But the prison authorities did not know this. The two appear to have bided their time until the jail was locked up and the warders withdrawn. Then they fell upon one another—silently, savagely, fighting with fists and feet, teeth and nails.

A Dramatic Reveng.

No sound of the grim tragedy reached the ears of the prisoners in adjoining cells. Yet when the one in which Johansson and Brown had been confined was unlocked in the morning the latter was lying dead on the floor.

THE BATTLE OF BELLEAU WOOD. It was thick with Prussian troops. It was foul with German guns. Every tree that cast a shadow was a sheltering place for Hunns. Death was guarding every roadway. Death was watching every field. And behind each rise of terrain was a rapid-fire concussion. But the doughboys had their orders: "Drive the Boche from where he's hid; For the honor of Old Glory, take those woods!" and so they did. I fancy none will tell it as the story should be told— None will ever do full justice to these Yankee troopers' bold. How they crawled upon their stomachs through the fields of golden wheat. With the bullets spitting at them in that awful battle heat. It is a tale too big for writing; it's beyond the voice of pen. But it glows among the splendor of the bravest deeds of men.

It's recorded as a battle, but I fancy it will live. As the brightest gem of courage human struggles have to give. Inch by inch, they crawled to victory towards the flaming mouths of guns. Inch by inch, they crawled to grapple with the barbed wire Hunns. On through fields that death was sweeping with a murderous fire they went. Till the Tenth line was vanquished and the German strength was spent.

Elbowed and fowed the tides of battle as they seldom done before. Slowly, surely, moved the Yankees against all the odds of war. For the honor of the fallen, for the glory of the dead.

The living line of courage kept the faith and moved ahead. They've been ordered not to falter, and when their guns came on their stand With Old Glory proudly flying o'er the trees of Belleau Wood.

COLD AND HOT WATER BATHS.

Some medical facts concerning the use of cold and hot baths give this interesting information: The hot bath facilitates and stimulates the natural combustion processes of the body, the cold bath to produce the same results lavishes just four times the amount of the energy. The cold bath is not predisposition to skin troubles the chilly water tends to increase them.

The process, called plunges is thought too, the worst thing in the world for any but the most vigorous constitutions.

It would be wrong to prescribe hot water baths, also, for all the world of women, for there are undoubtedly conditions when they would be harmful. But daily tubbing in water of some temperature or other is required for looks and health, and if the heart is in good condition, the benefits of the hot water bath are undeniable. So the long dead beauties of ancient Greece and Rome kept themselves fair, and so the beauty of to-day builds up her looks when she finds they are beginning to wane with time if a fevered life.

Every weak woman, anxious for her looks, crowd the Turkish bath, rolling and steaming away complexion burs, rejuvenating muscles, lightening their bodies of superfluous flesh, and soothing their nerves. And if they are used to such baths, or to some other preferred kind, they feel as fat as race horses for a week afterwards.

The "Nobbies."

They hailed from the most remote parts of the British Isles, and visitors to seaports four years ago spent many an interesting hour watching the "nobbies" leaving for the herring fishing, or returning later with their spoils. They were to be numbered in their thousands, all generally of the same shape and size.

"Nobbies" are only small vessels, the biggest sometimes being only forty tons, but they have great speed. In shape they are squat and double-bowed, and while in some cases a deck-house is seen, more often they are steered by tillers. One huge lateen sail is the propelling power, and the mast, which is also short and thick, slants backward to the stern, and can be dropped at will by means of a swivel base. In front is a handy little winch for hauling in the herring nets.

To-day most "nobbies" are provided with useful little oil-engines, and hundreds of them have been commandeered by the Navy. The largest boast a grim-looking gun in the stern, and not a few have their depth-charges. They still retain their number and port letters, but you are safe in betting that though they bear approach on their bows their home is somewhere else.

Naval men talk of them as the "scavengers." They are not minesweepers, but are mostly engaged in salvage-work. When a vessel is sunk you will see any number of "nobbies" buzzing round the place like wasps round a honey-pot.

Their engines give them a good turn of speed, and so, in company with their bigger sisters the drifters, they are often engaged in patrol work. Sometimes you will see as many as forty "nobbies" bearing along in line, bows dipping in the chop, and water sweeping from stem to stern. When they are under naval control they no longer use sails, but their engines are for ever humming, and from their sterns comes a cloud of dust-like smoke.

They are "auxiliaries" in the truest sense of the word, and their crews are simple fishermen turned into fighters.

Every Saturday evening after 7 o'clock, Choice Ends of Beef, Mutton, Lamb, Pork will be sold at cost. ELLIS & CO., LTD., 283 Water Street.—no 225.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 22. (C. P. Despatch from Reuter's.)—The position of the line Wednesday when the battle subsided between Moyenville and Beaumont was that we had established ourselves along nearly the whole of the railway between these places, except along the Miramont sector which was strongly garrisoned. Our lines along the eastern slope of the contour between which and the Ancre the town was situated. We had fallen back in the vicinity of Achiet le Grand to the west of the railway, and were maintaining a heavy machine gun barrage upon the railway which had concentrated our headquarters at Burgard, between Miramont and Puisseux. After much sharp fighting, the place, having changed hands successively, finally came into our possession. Thence the line bent out of Achiet le Petit, to the railway which follows northwards. During the night the enemy had not only bombarded new positions, but their work was child's play compared to the performances of our gunners and airmen. This morning the situation was quiet. Shortly after sunrise a counter attack developed towards the two flanks of our advanced lines, similar to the attack against the Guards Division, by a battalion of the 42nd German Division, which was successfully repelled that the enemy force was wiped out. None of these counter attacks was pushed home with great strength or determination, nor have they anywhere been the direct cause of our giving up ground. An operation launched on the ground between Albert and Bray was eminently successful, over 1,000 prisoners being taken, making a total with General Byng's capture of 4,000 in all. There is an unconfirmed report that Albert is now completely in our hands. In Flanders we are still holding. Our casualties have been very light.

RAPID ADVANCE.

FRENCH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, Aug. 22. (Reuter's.)—General Mangin's army has advanced with great rapidity. At noon it had advanced ten kilometres from yesterday's line in certain places. The Germans have been harassed in their retreat and confusion reigns among their ranks. The French line is now a continuous line of swift movements in this open warfare. The cavalry is advancing in the open field continuously at a gallop, exploring woods and farms. Tanks are following everywhere, reducing machine gun nests, and batteries of artillery are coming up full trot and taking up new positions.

SUCCESSIVE GAINS.

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN THE FIELD, Aug. 22. (C. P. Despatch from Reuter's.)—The position of the British Army on the night of the 22nd was such that it had established a line along nearly the whole of the railway between these places, except along the Mirançon sector which was strongly garrisoned. Our line was along the eastern slope of the mountain between which and the Anard valley the town was situated. We had advanced in the vicinity of Achiet le Grand to the west of the railway striking it and were maintaining a heavy machine gun barrage upon the enemy, who had concentrated hereabouts at Burgard, between Mirançon and Painsieux. After much sharp fighting, the place, having changed hands successively, finally came into our possession. Hence the best out of Achiet le Petit, to the valley which follows northwards. During the night the enemy-bombed and bombarded new positions, but the work was child's play compared with the performances of our gunners and airmen. This morning the situation was quiet. Shortly after sunrise a counter attack developed. The Allies in fact succeeded in driving a formidable wedge between the Crown Prince and Von Boehm's group of armies. The total of prisoners captured between the Oise and the Aisne from Sunday to Tuesday exceed ten thousand. This number is likely to be considerably exceeded when the captures of yesterday and to-day are added. The French made the most successful use of the element of surprise, and their losses have been small. Northward of the Ancre General Byng has practically reached the line of the Albert-Arras railway. General Byng's attack is a threat to the German positions on the important Thiepval Ridge, as well as the right flank of the enemy's line on the Ancre. These positions have a melancholy interest for both the British and French, as they were the scene of several costly failures in 1916 and 1918. A further retirement of the Germans from the Somme salient is reported. They have also evacuated some trenches on either bank of the Scarpe River. In the Lys salient the German withdrawal has been continued, accompanied by successful hustling tactics by the British who have captured nearly 1,000 prisoners.

WEEKLY SUMMARY.

LONDON, Aug. 22. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—The intensely interesting battle situation continues the one great topic. Events are moving so fast that it is difficult to keep pace with them. But a summary of the week's happenings may be useful. Chaulnes and Roye are as yet uncaptured, but they are closely invested by the combined operations of General Rawlinson's Fourth Army, General Debeney's First French Army, and General Humbert's Third French Army. Between Thursday and Friday of last week these French and British forces advanced astride the Amiens-Roye road, to the western outskirts of Roye, when the important key position of Lassigny Masif was captured by General Humbert after a strenuous struggle. The second battle position between Mais and the Arve, developed when the Germans stubbornly resisted the French offensive of Sunday and Monday of this week, and prevented the French from making much progress. This was exactly what Marshal Foch aimed at. It fixed the enemy's attention on this part of the field while a new development materialized elsewhere. This new development was the hammer blow by General Mangin's Tenth French Army, which began on Sunday of this week on a front of about ten miles and has swept forward irresistibly as far as Ailette. The third battle position had developed by Wednesday evening, when General Mangin's battle front had broadened to 16 miles from the Aisne to Bally, with the maximum penetration of from 15 to 18 miles. Meanwhile General Humbert's Third Army advancing on General Mangin's left progressed more than 5 miles at the furthest point, and streamed down the slopes of Lassigny and beyond. In regard to the fourth battle position it is too early yet to predict the effect of this advance, but evidently it constitutes a serious threat to the enemy's positions northward of the Aisne, and if it can be continued further will outflank the whole German lines on the Aisne-Vesle Rivers. The German lines westward of the Oise are also threatened. The Allies have in fact succeeded in driving a formidable wedge between the Crown Prince and Von Boehm's group of armies. The total of prisoners captured between the Oise and the Aisne from Sunday to Tuesday exceed ten thousand. This number is likely to be considerably exceeded when the captures of yesterday and to-day are added. The French made the most successful use of the element of surprise, and their losses have been small. Northward of the Ancre General Byng has practically reached the line of the Albert-Arras railway. In hot weather, those who wisely use Cream of Lilies are amply repaid by the cool comfortable feeling its application leaves upon face, hands and neck. Sunburn and Cream of Lilies cannot co-exist. Price 30c. a pot.

Soldiers' Dance.

The returned soldiers' dance, held in the C. O. Hall last evening, was considered the best dance held here for some years. The doors opened at 8 o'clock and dancing began at 8:30. The hall was very prettily decorated. Some 200 couples attended, all the males being returned soldiers. A very enjoyable feature of the evening was a sumptuous spread. Towards the end of the event Pte. M. Smythe, a "Blue Puttee" boy, proposed a vote of thanks to the ladies of the "Thursday Wanderers" Club to whose hospitality and generosity the dance was due. The dancing ended at 2 o'clock this morning. All the returned soldiers are loud in their praise of the function and say they would like to have it repeated.

Night Office Hours.

As will be seen by a perusal of our advertising columns, the new St. George's Coal Fields, Co. have decided to open their offices on Friday and Saturday nights. This course is being taken so as to give workmen and others who cannot do so in the day time an opportunity to purchase shares in the evenings. This move speaks well of the business ability of Manager Freeman, and shows that he is thoroughly alive to up-to-date methods.

CUBS DEFEAT RED LIONS.

The final game in our regular series was played last evening. The Cubs and the Red Lions were the contestants and the former won by the score of 10 to 1. While the score would indicate a complete walk-over it was far from being one-sided. O'Leary, the Red Lions new pitcher did splendidly in the box, having ten strike-outs to his credit. He did not have the full support of his team-mates, their fielding at times being very erratic. Claude made a record in last evening's game that will probably stand for some time. He pitched a NO-HIT game. The one run scored against him being on a free throw to first and a passed ball. He had thirteen strike-outs, and allowed two base-on-balls. The fielding and throwing of the Cubs team were well high perfect, very few errors being made. The fans thoroughly enjoyed the game which was a good one right through, although the high wind prevailing made hitting very difficult, the hits being short and scattered. What won for the Cubs was Hall's pitching together with their own good fielding and their opponents many errors.

The umpires were Messrs. Cheeman and Montgomery and the scorers Messrs. Channing and Merner.

The score by innings was:
Cubs . . . . . 0 2 0 0 3 5 1—10

NO MORE BASEBALL.

Outside of the Canadians-Americans vs. Natives game on next Tuesday evening, and any inter-town game which may be played here, the fans have nothing to look forward to now that the regular series is finished. This seems a pity as it looks as if the fine weather were just starting. Might we not suggest that the first and second City teams play an arranged game on the regular nights, Tuesday and Thursday. This will give the fans and the managers of the City team an opportunity to weed out the best material. We would suggest that the regular City Battery, Hall and Braith, be played with the second City team so as to even matters up a bit. We give this suggestion for what it is worth.

RECORDS.

And now the "Iron Man" has added another laurel to his already overcrowded wreath. Last evening's pitching exhibition was without doubt the finest ever seen here. In a former Column we predicted that we might yet see a no-hit game, but we really did not think it would come so soon. It will be some little time we think before such a record will be rivalled. Hats off to the "Iron Man."

O'LEARY.

The Red Lions, now that the season is finished, seem to have discovered a first class pitcher in Stan O'Leary. His exhibition last evening was splendid, and with "Art" as trainer he ought to develop into quite an important factor to be reckoned with in next season's game.

Fighting Figures.

WHICH COUNTRY IS SPENDING THE MOST MONEY?

Which country of France, Great Britain, and Germany, is spending the most money? This is one of the questions answered in "German War Profits," where a table is given, based upon the expenditure during the first three years of warfare.

Assuming Germany's financial burden to be 100, France has to bear 138, and Great Britain 174.

An American statistician, writing in the "Century Magazine," carries these figures a step or two further. He estimates that, if the countries could devote every cent of their income to the National Debt, it would take France the longest time to pay it off.

It is impossible to calculate a nation's income with any degree of exactness, but the following may be taken as approximately correct: United States' income, $3,000,000,000; Great Britain's income, $2,500,000,000; Germany's income, $2,200,000,000; and France's income, $1,200,000,000.

When we consider the cost of the war in the bulk, and compare it with the above incomes, we enter truly bewildering realms. During the first three years of the war, the Central Empires spent roughly $7,600,000,000 or an average of $2,533,000,000 odd a year.

The belligerents have a credit as well as a debit account, and Germany has temporarily gained a great deal of potential wealth.

Besides "movable booty," of which there is a vast quantity, she has secured possession of 212,000 square miles of territory in France, Belgium, Italy, Russia, Rumania, Serbia and Montenegro.

Against this, the Allies have little more than the German colonies in Africa. These undoubtedly contain much potential wealth, but they do not compare with the gains of the enemy.

Uncle Sam's "Magic" Fleet.

Uncle Sam's war-hustling has made the world's eyes open wide. But he has eclipsed even his own records in his amazing effort to build a fleet of wooden ships, in the shortest possible time, to carry food to the empty larders of his European allies.

When, a year ago, he set his face to this stupendous task, there were only two shipyards on all the Atlantic coast equipped for the work, and they were turning out small craft only. Now, and as if by magic, his coasts are fringed with yards complete to the last detail, there being forty-three between Maine and Texas, and twenty-one on the Pacific coast.

Every day 2,000,000 cubic feet of timber are transported from the forests to one or other of these sixty-eight yards. 375,000,000 cubic feet will be required for the 250 ships that are now being built on the eastern coast alone; and 125 more ships are being built on the Pacific coast—all of which, it is expected, will be crossing the Atlantic with their cargoes of precious food this summer.

And each of these vessels is a ship that would have made our great-grandfathers marvel. It is 281 feet long, 45 feet broad, and has a capacity of 3,500 tons. And it is stoutly built of yellow pine, that it can defy even the fiercest of Atlantic gales.

A Serious Matter

There is a delicacy about mentioning piles. And yet so many suffer needlessly who could be readily relieved and cured if they only knew about Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Men tell one another about this remarkably successful treatment. But many women pine away their health and vitality, dreading a surgical operation and not knowing how easily they can be cured at home by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

Hun Desecration.

Father John J. O'Leary of Scranton, Pa., chaplain of a regiment engaged on the Marne and Vesle fronts, has brought to Paris a silver ciborium and a gold chalice, such as are found in every Catholic church in France, the former containing cigarettes and the latter some drops of ill-smelling beer.

When you want Sausages, why get ELLIS'; they're the best.

Ideal Place for Solitude

Bird Island, in Gulf of St. Lawrence. One of World's Most Desolate Spots.

Bird Island, most northerly of the Magdalen islands, holds the world's record for frocks. The whole group, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is exceedingly dangerous, but Bird Island stands first. More like a huge rock than an island its walls rise grim and gray in the path of the mariner. The island has no beach or coast, only a steep irregular cliff rising abruptly from the water. The top is a barren plateau of above five acres.

The principal inhabitants are birds. Gulls, gannets and murres come in thousands to nest and rear their young. The roar of their thousands of wings drowns the noise of the water. The Indians say that they are the souls of the shipwrecked sailors.

The human tenants of the plateau are the lighthouse keeper and his wife, doomed to solitary existence except about once or twice a year when a ship brings provisions. Sometimes, perhaps in about every three or four years, an enterprising naturalist comes to study the bird life on the island.

Ships can approach Bird Island only in the calmest weather. The slightest ripple and the craft keeps a respectful distance. The lighthouse is reached by a rope and windlass. The hardest before attempting to scale its rough granite cliffs would hesitate gray walls.

The keepers of the light have been singularly unfortunate. The first went insane and had to be kept confined by his wife and assistant until the provision boat arrived. The second was borne away by a floating piece of ice when seal hunting in the early spring. His wife maintained the lighthouse alone until help came from a neighboring island.

The Coliseum.

A picture in one of the magazines showing the ancient Flavian Amphitheatre, or Coliseum, at Rome, packed with people, and crowned with the flags of an Allied demonstration for the anniversary of America's entry into the war, suggests some strange thoughts and associations. On the solid stone tiers the crowds are massed in the same way as when the Roman populace watched the gladiatorial combats, and turned their thumbs down for the dispatch of the vanquished. Here, too, in the body, or pit, of the immense amphitheatre, now packed with modern Italians and Romans, the devoted Christian martyrs were huddled awaiting the cruel onset of the hungry Numidian lion.

An Historic Town.

Chateau Thierry is a name that has become as familiar in the war as that of Ypres itself. The village is situated on a hill near the Marne, the surrounding country being normally of great beauty. The fortunes of war have caused it to change hands frequently in the struggle, and it was here that the Americans showed that remarkable dash and spirit which have caused the Hun to sit up and think. The great Chateau, or castle, from which it received its name, was built by Charles Martel, the victor in the great battle against the Arabs which saved Western Christendom. This formidable warrior was then Mayor of the Palace and had the Castle built for the Puppet King Thierry. The building is of course now in ruins, although the foundation is there. It changed hands many times in the centuries succeeding its founding. An English army took it in 1421. In the war between the Emperor Charles Fifth and Francis First, a German army captured the village. During the Catholic-Huguenot wars it was taken and destroyed by a force of Spaniards. Near the village, Napoleon, with 20,000 young conscripts, defeated an army of fifty thousand composed of soldiers from almost every nation in Europe. La Fontaine, the poetic Fabulist, was a native of the village, and when the massacres of the Revolution occurred, one aged woman was spared in the general murder because she was a grand-daughter of the poet. The present war has left the village such a ruin that scarcely one stone remains upon another. — Acadian Recorder.

The Hr. Grace Park.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Several times during the past year or so I have seen reference made in the papers to the fact that no statement could be got from the Trustees of Shannon Park, and indeed it was with much difficulty I could find out that at the present time there were any Trustees at all. But yesterday I was very much relieved by seeing on the walls a poster advertising the sale by auction of the grass on the Park. The poster was issued by order of the Board of Management, and signed P. J. Fitzgerald, Hon. Secretary. This gave me assurance that there must be a Board of Management, and I immediately set to work to see who they are and how they are managing affairs of the recreation ground owned by the citizens of Harbor Grace.

Now, Mr. Hon. Secretary, let me tell you that the Park is not going to be a hay field any longer. You must give us a statement! We are determined to have it now, and I would also ask the Trustees to do the rising generation of this growing town the justice of telling them what money has been realized for hay during all

As P. J. Fitzgerald signs himself Hon. Secretary, will he not be honorable enough to give the public all the information he has about the financial and other affairs of the said Park. We have had no statement for years, and the Trustees, the Hon. Secretary included, seems to ignore all demands for a statement.

Now, Mr. Hon. Secretary, let me tell you that the Park is not going to be a hay field any longer. You must give us a statement! We are determined to have it now, and I would also ask the Trustees to do the rising generation of this growing town the justice of telling them what money has been realized for hay during all Magistrate's Court.

Timothy Dunn vs. Munroe Bishep. This is a prosecution for a breach of Section 3 of the Regulations made under the provisions of the War Measures Act, 1914. The defendant on Wednesday last at 8:30 p.m., while driving a motor car on LeMarchant Road was stopped by the complainant and charged with having glaring headlights. Section 3 of the Regulations sets forth "Head lights used on any Motor Cars or Motor Cycles in or near the city of St. John's, or in or near any settlement in the District of St. John's East or West, or on any road approaching St. John's or any of the said settlements, upon which 'lights' may be visible at sea, shall be so obscured that the glare or upward reflection upon the heavens shall be reduced to fifty per cent of the normal." The defendant states that after the publication of the Regulations, July 3rd, last, he procured a set of "Legalite Lens" so as to comply with the law and he was using them on Wednesday night when stopped by complainant. It is contended when using a "Legalite Lens" there is positively no glare; the light beams are never more than forty-two inches above the ground at any distance. Mr. Joseph Cocker, an expert with twenty years experience as a motorist, in his evidence, says: "The object of the Legalite Lens is to take away the blinding glare; the light is curtailed considerably from the sky, approximately the curtailment would be about thirty or forty per cent." On cross examination by Mr. Warren, K.C., the witness would not swear what percentage the glare or reflection was reduced. It may be more than thirty or forty per cent. It was merely an approximate opinion he was giving. There is a great variety of motor cars in St. John's with different systems of lighting. The greatest number would be lit by Electric light, which vary from two to twenty candle power. The Regulations do not define what normal lighting is, or should be, therefore, I have no standard to guide me. The defendant by changing his plain glass lens and using Legalite lens, made a bona fide effort to comply with the Regulations, and there is no evidence before me that the lights he was using on his motor car on Wednesday night were not reduced to fifty per cent of the normal. I therefore dismiss the complaint. The Inspector General conducted the prosecution. Mr. Warren, K.C., for the defendant. Dated this 21st day of Aug. 1918. (Sgd.) F. J. MORRIS, Judge.

Will the Kaiser Bootless Be.

London Daily Express: The citizens of Berlin have been officially warned that they must prepare to do without boots. The summer has passed its zenith. The chill autumn days will soon be with us, winter itself is not far off, and Berlin in winter is a bleak and chilly city. To wander along Unter den Linden bootless on a real North German cold day, will be more than an uncomfortable experience. The open confession that the Kaiser has no leather and no leather substitutes is proof sufficient of the effective result of the blockade, and, too, of the fact that, unless she can secure overseas supplies, Germany will be industrially helpless after the war. There never was a time when England was so well shod as she is to-day. Here is a dramatic demonstration of the meaning of sea-power.

Electric Lighting For Outports!

For a number of years there has been a growing demand for a satisfactory electric lighting system for use in the outports. There are dozens of so-called "farm lighting systems" on the market. Almost without exception they are unable to produce a steady flickerless current, without first charging storage batteries and then taking the lighting current from the batteries. In using this system they are up against many difficulties:— batteries of fair capacity are expensive; they require constant attention. When they are new, about 15 per cent. of the current is lost when passed through batteries; after one or two years this proportion rapidly increases; this means that a large portion of the current is wasted; batteries that will produce 110 volt current are very expensive, therefore the manufacturers of most battery systems use what is known as low-voltage. A low-voltage current will only give a satisfactory light when used close to the battery. If the current is carried by wires to other buildings a short distance away, a great deal of energy is lost and it gives a poor light.

Low-voltage systems cannot use standard lighting equipment such as lamps, electric fans, electric irons, electric toasters, etc., but require special low-voltage apparatus from the factory. After comparing the various lighting systems on the market, we found one that overcomes all these difficulties. It is known as the Unielectric Lighting Machine, which is the only machine for electric lighting purposes, directly attached to a special dynamo and electric governor. This outfit will produce a steady flickerless 110 volt current without having to depend on batteries; it will use all standard equipment in common use. Wires can be run from the engine in any direction up to two thousand feet without change.

Three of these lighting machines have been in use in Newfoundland. Messrs. Reardon, Piacentia, lights Church and Presbytery; Rev. Father Maher, St. Lawrence, lights Church, Presbytery, Convent and School; G. C. Fearn & Son, Piacentia, light their shop, office, fish stores, saw mill, blacksmith's shop and ship yard. We have also ordered for them an electric boring machine to be run by current from Unielectric machine and to be used in shipbuilding.

We are now installing the Unielectric Lighting System for Mr. Fred Ayre in his country residence. The Unielectric Corporation of Detroit are doing their best to supply the demand for these machines, but do not expect to be able to furnish them at present prices except for a very short time. They have promised us three more machines at present prices if orders are sent in promptly.

Anyone interested in the best country lighting system ever made will receive one of our catalogues and full information by writing us.

The Unielectric Engine is built for continuous service. The engine is equipped with the sliding sleeve valve and is guaranteed for five years.

A small inexpensive battery can be attached to wires to allow the use of a few lights when machine is not in operation.

Since buying and pricing most of the Hosiery mentioned above, costs of same have advanced 30 per cent. to 50 per cent. In many cases we are to-day, therefore, selling Hosiery at far less than it will cost to replace to-morrow. It may therefore cost you much more to replace your Hosiery next day than it does to-day. Better stock up now.
