Canada Law Journal.

VOL. XXX.

DECEMBER 31, 1894

No. 20

WE publish with this number the Index of contents, Tables of Cases, etc. The Sheet Almanac for 1895 will be issued as usual with the first number for the new year.

EXTENSIVE alterations are in progress in the west wing of Osgoode Hall, whereby a large addition is to be made to the library. The scheme, when carried out, will involve the destruction of the barristers' robing and consulting room in that wing. The accommodation for the Bar for robing and consultation with witnesses and clients was already sufficiently circumscribed; but we understand that an arrangement has been made to provide accommodation for such purposes upstairs, and of a more extensive and convenient character. We are glad to learn that there is no intention of interfering with the present library, and that the new room is to be reached by doorways on either side of the fireplace at the western end. The new room is to be lighted from the roof, and will afford increased facilities for storing books for many years to come. A difficulty would seem, however, to arise as to lighting the passages to the offices in the west wing, which are already dark. We trust, however, the architect will be able to overcome this.

SIR JOHN THOMPSON, P.C.

"The Right Hon. Sir John S. D. Thompson, P.C., K.C.M.G., M.P., Q.C., Premier and Minister of Justice of Canada, died at Windsor Castle, December 12th, 1894, aged 50 years. R.I.P."

The above is the inscription on the coffin of our late Premier. One deep feeling of sorrow for his death pervades Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the capital to the most remote villages in the Dominion.

Our Ottawa correspondent writes under date of 14th instant :

" How forcibly we are reminded of the shortness and uncertainty of life by such an event as the sudden and untimely death of one so prominent as Sir John Thompson, in whom Canada has lost her Premier, and the profession of which THE JOURNAL is an exponent and record its political chief ! The air of the city has been and is full of him, flags flying at half-mast, little gatherings of politicians at street corners talking about him, and newspapers full of speculations on the consequences of his decease. And now we hear that Mr. Mackenzie Bowell has been sent for by the Governor-General, and has been entrusted with the formation of a new Ministry.

It has been said that 'the evil men do lives after them: the good is oft interred with their bones'; but in all the notices of Sir John by papers of all shades of politics, there has been no charge of evil against him; all join in eulogy, and any one who seeks, to-day, testimony to his merit has only to listen and to read. He followed, and will, of course, be compared with, the other Sir John, of whom Mr. Joseph Pope has given us so excellent and justly eulogistic a memoir; and though less brilliant and sparkling, and less skilful in the management of members and of men than his predecessor, he was perhaps his superior in the power of convincing men by logical argument, while he was probably his equal in the science of government, and in a knowledge of the law in all its bearings, whether general, technical, or practical.

Sir John Thompson has given us a good code of criminal law, and, had he lived, would have been a likely man to have given effect to that provision of the Constitutional Act which contemplates the unification of the civil law in all the Provinces of the Dominion except Quebec, and might, perhaps, have removed that singular distinction of equity from law which the Quebec code ignores.

Born in 1844, he died comparatively young, but with honours which have fallen to the lot of few. Called to the Bar in 1865, he was, in 1882, appointed Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia. He left the Bench to re-enter public life, and in 1885 he entered the Cabinet, becoming Minister of Justice. On the decease of Sir John J. Abbott, in 1892, he became Premier of the Dominion, and on the 12th of December, 1894, was sworn in as a member of Her Majesty's Privy Council.

His tragic death at Windsor Castle, where he was Her Majesty's guest, after receiving this high distinction, dying probably of heart disease, intensified by the excitement of the ceremony and the strain and fatigue of the meeting of the Council, is known to all. He lay in state in the marble hall of the castle, where a wreath of flowers and laurel was laid on his coffin by our Empress-Queen in person, with expressions of profound sorrow for the loss of her faithful servant. The funeral service of his church was performed over his remains by Her Majesty's commands, and a State procession and cortege attended them to the railway station, whence they were conveyed to the port where they will be placed on board Her Majesty's steamship Blenheim, to be carried to Halifax for interment in his native Province of Nova Scotia.

We are glad to see that the indications are that ample provision will be made for Lady Thompson and the family, for whom Sir John's self-sacrificing patriotism prevented his making the provision his talents and affection would otherwise have ensured. In the meantime every attention and consolation that grateful affection could suggest have been shown to them by all; and they have the satisfaction of knowing that their husband and father died in the performance of his duty to Canada, and that he left a character unstained even by the breath of scandal, possessing the respect even of his opponents, whilst he increasingly enjoyed during his comparatively short public life the confidence of his party, and of the people of this Dominion."

He is succeeded in the responsible position of Minister of Justice by Sir Charles Hibbert Tupper, K.C.M.G. We trust he may efficiently and worthily fill an office once held by such men as Sir John A. Macdonald, Hon. Edward Blake, and Sir John S. D. Thompson.

MORTGAGE ACTIONS.

There are some observations of Mr. Justice Gwynne in the recent case of Hagar v. Clark, 22 S.C.R. 510, which call for observation, as they are calculated to create, and we believe have created, an erroneous impression. The action was for foreclosure against the mortgagor (O'Neill), and Clark as the assignee of the equity of redemption. In addition to foreclosure, the plaintiff also claimed judgment for possession. The defendant Clark set up that the mortgage had been given to secure the purchase money of the mortgaged property, which had been bought by O'Neill from the plaintiff, to be used by the defendant O'Neill for a brothel, to the plaintiff's knowledge, and that the price had been enhanced by reason of the illegal purpose for which the premises were intended to be used; and he contended that the consideration for the purchase was illegal, and the plaintiff's mortgage was therefore void. Judgment having gone against Clark in the courts below he appealed, and in order to shut out the defendant Clark from this defence counsel for the plaintiff appears to have argued that as to him the action might be treated as simply an action of ejectment founded on the legal title to the land, and therefore, as the plaintiff did not claim payment of any mortgage money as against him, the question of consideration did not arise, and it was not open to him to set up the alleged illegality of the consideration as a defence to the plaintiff's right to recover possession, and it was in answer to this line of argument that the observations we refer to were made. At p. 515 Mr. Justice Gwynne says that it was argued that the action was to be regarded as three separate actions, namely, besides being an action for foreclosure of the mortgage, that it was, at the same time, an action against the mortgagor on the covenant, and as against the appellant an action in the nature of an action of ejectment for recovery simply of possession of the land mortgaged, and he goes on to say, "But neither in the Act of 1873 (The Administration of Justice Act) nor in The Ontario Judicature Act, nor in the Rules passed by the judges under the authority of that Act, can I find anything in support of the contention." And referring to Rule 341, which expressly enables a claim for possession to be joined with a claim for foreclosure, he seems to think that it bears out his view, because it winds up with the declaration that "such an action shall not be deemed an action for the recovery of land within the meaning of these Rules."

There can be no doubt that prior to The Administration of Justice Act, 1873, a mortgagee was entitled to pursue all his remedies upon his mortgage at the same time. He might bring a suit in equity to foreclose, and he might at the same time bring an action at law on the covenant, if any, for payment of the mortgage money, and another action at law in ejectment to recover possession of the mortgaged lands; and the only penalty for his so doing was that he could not in equity compel the defendant to pay as part of the price of redemption the costs of all three actions, unless it should be made to appear to the court that there was some good and sufficient reason for bringing the action at law. There is equally no doubt whatever that since The Administration of Justice Act mortgagees have been held entitled to include in suits for foreclosure claims on the covenant, and also claims for possession of the land, and this was the necessary consequence of the giving to the Court of Chancery a common law jurisdiction. This common law and equity jurisdiction is perpetuated in the High Court of Justice by The Judicature Act; and as a necessary consequence the court has ample jurisdiction to give to a mortgagee not only any equitable remedy, but also any legal remedies to which he may be entitled, in one and the same action. And though it is true that Rule 341 declares that an action of foreclosure in which a claim for possession is joined "shall not be deemed an action for the recovery of land within the meaning of these Rules," yet the meaning of that must be, that it is not to be so deemed for the purpose of necessitating leave to be obtained before the two causes of action can be joined, as required by the previous part of the Rule in the case of all other claims sought to be joined with a claim for the recovery of land. For all other purposes it is certain that an action for foreclosure in which a claim for possession is joined is an action to recover land; that a judgment for recovery of the land may be awarded therein, and enforced in the same way as any other action for the recovery of land.

But Mr. Justice Gwynne goes on to observe that, "since The Judicature Act, all the courts, no doubt, administer legal and equitable principles in all suits joined for the purpose, but the Act countenances no such confusion of remedies and principles as the form of action in triplicate would seem to suggest." These words, taken by themselves, are calculated to mislead, and suggest to some minds that The Ontario Judicature Act does not authorize the joining in a foreclosure action all the claims spoken of. But, although this interpretation has been put upon his words, we feel, nevertheless, confident that that is not really the meaning of the learned judge. It is necessary, in order to arrive at a proper understanding of his judgment on this point, to bear in mind the nature of the argument the learned judge is controverting. The argument was that each claim was to be regarded as a separate action, so as to preclude a defendant from setting up a certain defence, which would be applicable to one cause of action, but not to another. We do not understand the learned judge to say that The Judicature Act and Rules do not authorize the joining of the several claims for foreclosure, for judgment on the covenant for payment of the mortgage money, and for recovery of possession of the mortgaged land, in one and the same action; because we cannot believe for a moment that so self-evident a proposition can be the subject of any controversy. Rules 248 and 341, and the forms of judgment Nos. 182 and 183, given in the Appendix to the Rules, appear to us to make that point too plain for argument. What the learned judge denies—and, we respectfully think, with good reason—is that, where these claims are so joined, they cannot be treated as separate actions, so as to preclude a defendant from setting up, or the court from giving due effect to, any defence, whether legal or equitable, which he is entitled to raise in regard to any branch of the case. It is only in this view that the learned judge's remarks as to "the confusion of remedies" seem applicable. Ordinarily speaking, it is not a confusion, but a combination, of remedies which the plaintiff seeks in a mortgage action: but, undoubtedly, there would be a confusion of remedies if the court were compelled to say, as to one branch of the case, "You are entitled to succeed upon your legal title," but, as to another, "You have no right to any relief whatever, because the foundation of your claim is tainted with illegality or fraud."

Although, therefore, the language of the learned judge is somewhat unguarded, and, perhaps, wider than the occasion demanded, we are inclined to think it is susceptible simply of this meaning, viz.: That though, under The Judicature Act, it is competent for a mortgagee to join, in his action for foreclosure, a claim on the covenant, and also a claim for the recovery of possession of the mortgaged land, yet, where he does so, these claims are not to be treated as if they were three separate and distinct actions, so as to prevent a defendant from setting up, or the court from giving effect to, any defence, either legal or equitable, to the plaintiff's claim taken as a whole, and that, in such actions, the court is not bound to give effect to a plaintiff's legal title as mortgagee in respect of any part of his claim, if there be any good ground disclosed by the defendant why, in law or equity, the plaintiff is not entitled to the position which he claims to hold as mortgagee. This, far from contravening the provisions of The Judicature Act, seems to us really carrying out its spirit and intention.

CURRENT ENGLISH CASES.

INJUNCTION—PARTNERSHIP—LUNATIC PARTNER—JURISDICTION

J. v. S., (1894) 3 Ch. 72; 8 R. Aug. 223, was an action for the dissolution of a partnership, and the plaintiff applied for and obtained an interim injunction restraining the defendant, who was of unsound mind, from interfering with the partnership business. On the motion to continue the injunction to the trial, it was contended that there was no jurisdiction to grant an injunction in such a case; but Stirling, J., held that there was, and continued the injunction until judgment in the action, or further order.

MARRIAGE SETTLEMENT—COVENANT TO SETTLE AFTER-ACQUIRED PROPERTY—PROPERTY ACQUIRED AFTER TERMINATION OF COVERTURE—AMBIGUITY—RECITALS.

In re Coghlan, Broughton v. Broughton, (1894) 3 Ch. 76; 8 R. Aug. 162, the question presented for decision was the proper construction of a covenant contained in a marriage settlement, whereby the wife had covenanted with the trustees that, "if at any time after the marriage and during the life" of the wife, any personal property should be given or bequeathed, or come to her or the husband in her right, the husband and wife would settle the same; the point in controversy being whether or not the covenant extended to property acquired by the wife after her husband's death. Kekewich, J., held that it applied only to property acquired "during their joint lives"; but that the covenant was ambiguous, and that the ambiguity might be aided by reference to the recitals, and that from them it could be collected that the covenant was only intended to apply to property acquired during the joint lives of the husband and wife: but even reading the covenant without the recitals he was of opinion that, on the authorities, the same conclusion must be reached as to the legal effect of the covenant.

BUILDING SOCIETY—POWER TO LOAN ON FIRST MORTGAGES ONLY—PAYMENT OF PART OF MORTGAGE MONIES—POSTPONEMENT OF SECURITY FOR BALANCE—ULTRA VIRES—SUBROGATION.

In Portsea Building Society v. Barclay, (1894) 3 Ch. 86; 8 R. Aug. 167, the plaintiffs were a building society, and under their rules they were only empowered to lend money on the security of first mortgages. They had lent £17,000 to a man named House on the security of a first mortgage. It was subsequently discovered that the plaintiffs had exceeded their borrowing powers, and notwithstanding this an application was made by the plaintiffs to the Imperial Life Insurance Company for an advance, and in pursuance of that application the following arrangement was made and carried out. The insurance company lent House £6,000 on the security of the property covered by the plaintiffs' mortgage. This sum he handed over to the plaintiffs, and they applied it on account of his mortgage to them, and the plaintiffs joined in House's mortgage to the insurance company, and thereby agreed to postpone the plaintiffs' mortgage to that of the insurance company for the £6,000 so advanced by them. The plaintiff company was subsequently ordered to be wound up, and the liquidator now contended that the above transaction was ultra vires of the directors, so far as the postponement of the plaintiffs' mortgage was concerned. Romer, J., was of opinion that the transaction amounted to an attempt to loan on a second mortgage, which was contrary to the rules, and that, therefore, the company was not bound by the deed whereby they purported to postpone their mortgage to that of the insurance company; and that the latter were not entitled to rank pari passu with the plaintiffs in respect of the £6,000 as purchasers pro tanto of House's security to the plaintiffs; neither could the insurance company be treated as creditors of the plaintiffs for the £6,000 advanced by them to House; and he, therefore, gave judgment in favour of the plaintiffs, declaring them to be entitled to priority over the insurance company for the balance due on their (the plaintiffs') mortgage.

Proceedings of Law Societies.

LAW SOCIETY OF UPPER CANADA.

EASTER TERM, 1894.

Monday, May 21st, 1894.

First day of term.

Present, between 10 and 11 a.m., the Treasurer, and Messrs. Moss, Shepley, and Riddell, and, in addition, after eleven, Messrs. Osler, MacKelcan, Watson, Ritchie, and Lash.

The report of the Legal Education Committee on the examinations for call under the Law Society curriculum was read.

Ordered, that the following gentlemen do receive their certificates of fitness: Messrs. F. W. Hall, A. Nugent, E. McMartin, C. G. Powell, A. R. Walker, W. H. Cairns, John McKean, A. S. Dickson, Fred. Elliot, D. R. Tate, A. F. McMichael, F. M. Canniff, G. M. Kelley and J. Porter. Special reports were made on the cases of E. H. Bickford and P. A. Gahan.

(Proceedings after 11 a.m.) The following gentlemen were called to the Bar: Messrs. J. A. Murphy, C. Murphy, E. L. Middleton, A. Nugent, J. McKean, T. J. Murphy, W. McN. Shaw, T. A. Duff, W. F. Scott, A. S. Dickson, E. F. Burritt, W. L. Ross, R. C. Hays, T. Graham, D. A. Dunlap, C. C. Fulford, G. A. Sayer, J. A. McLean, C. G. Powell, A. F. McMichael, F. M. Canniff, and W. C. Perkins.

Mr. Osler's motion, notice of which was given on the 16th February, 1894, as to the improvements to the entrance, etc., of the eastern wing of Osgoode Hall, was then put and carried.

Mr. William Leslie Beale was then called to the Bar.

Moved by Mr. Osler, seconded by Mr. Ritchie, that it be referred to the Reporting Committee to consider and to report to Convocation for its consideration an alteration in the system of publishing Reports. Carried.

Mr. Barwick, from the Legal Education Committee, then presented the following Report:

They have had under consideration an application by the authorities of the Royal Military College at Kingston to place their cadets who have passed their entrance examination, including therein the papers taken upon what is termed the Voluntary or Further examination, upon the same footing as students of universities.

The committee have examined the subjects prescribed for the entrance examination, including the Voluntary or Further examination, and do not consider them equivalent to the course required by the Rules; but, upon an examination of the subjects prescribed for the first year course at the College, they are of opinion that the entrance examination, including the Voluntary or Further examination, and the first year's course constitute a sufficient equivalent for the course now required by the Rules.

The committee think that, having regard to the fact that the College is a national institution of learning, and that its graduates are now admitted to the Society on the same footing as graduates of universities, the same privileges may be extended to cadets who have passed through the first year's course as are accorded to undergraduates of universities.

The committee recommend that cadets of the Royal Military College, Kingston, who produce satisfactory proofs of their having passed the entrance examination, including the Voluntary or Further examination as part of such entrance examination, and of having further attended for one year at the College and taken the course for such year, and passed the examination prescribed at the termination of the year, within four years from their application for admission on the books of the Society, be admitted as students at law of the matriculant class without further examination, and that a Rule be passed in accordance with this recommendation, such Rule to remain in force during the continuance of the present curriculum of subjects for entrance examination and the first year course at the College.

The Report was adopted, and leave given Mr. Barwick to introduce a Rule embodying the recommendation of the committee.

The petition of Mr. F. W. Casey, praying for the remission of certain fines was read, and not granted.

The complaint of N. Ford and J. Ford against Mr. H. H. R., a solicitor, was read. The Secretary was directed to request that the complaint be verified by a statutory declaration. The complaint of Mrs. Savinia Adair against Mr. J. W. W. was referred to the Discipline Committee to report. The complaint of Mrs. Crain against Mr. N. D. M. was read, and the Secretary was directed to request that the complaint be supported by a statutory declaration. The complaint of Mr. Porter against Mr. A. C. F. B. was referred to the Discipline Committee to report. Dalton against Mr. T. G. M., a solicitor, was read. The Secretary was directed to request the petitioner to verify his statements by declaration.

The Secretary then reported the correspondence respecting the order of the House of Legislative Assembly made during the last session, as follows :

The work of reporting is in a forward state. In the Court of Appeal there are 14 unreported cases, 8 of April and 6 of May. In the Queen's Bench there are 17—14 of March and 3 of April. In the Chancery Division Mr. Lefroy has 3—1 of March, 1 of April, and 1 of May. Mr. Boomer has 6—1 of February (Reg. v. Connolly, a long and troublesome case, now ready for revision), 3 of March, 1 of April, and 1 of May. In the Common Pleas there are 3—all of March. Of Practice cases there are 8, of which 5 are of March, 1 of April, and 2 of May.

Moved by Mr. Barwick, seconded by Mr. Martin, that the salary paid to the late Principal of the Law School be continued and paid to his widow up to the fifteenth day of September next. Carried.

The following Report of the acting Principal of the Law School was read, and was ordered to be printed and distributed as usual :

SIR,—I have the honour to report to your committee as follows, respecting the term of the School which closed on the 3rd day of May last, under the melancholy circumstances occasioned by the sudden death of our late Principal.

The number of students entered in the books of the School is as follows :

|------------------|-----|
| First year..... | 44 |
| Second year..... | 63 |
| Third year..... | 127 |

Total..... 234

The number of lectures delivered was as follows :

|-----------------------|-----|
| By the Principal..... | 268 |
| Mr. Armour..... | 126 |
| Mr. Marsh..... | 132 |
| Mr. King..... | 131 |
| Mr. Young..... | 128 |

I have not given the average attendance in each year, as it involves a long computation, for which, unfortunately, I cannot afford the time at present. I am able to state, however, that the attendance in the first year was excellent, and quite as high as could be expected ; the attendance in the second year did not reach as high a standard, but was very good ; the attendance in the third year was decidedly below what it should have been.

Last year, however, was perhaps an exceptional one. A good deal of illness prevailed, as we all know ; the term was an unusually long one ; and, as a general rule, students in the third year have more engagements in their offices than students of a lower grade. And, as the third year was a very large one, all three causes produced an effect which was strikingly apparent on that account.

On the whole, I think the attendance is exceedingly good, and the attention given the lectures is all that could be desired.

In two cases, students who had obtained scholarships from the Society were not permitted to attend the lectures at the opening of the School until they had paid their fees. They were depending upon payment by the Law Society of their scholarships to enable them to pay their Law School fees ; but the late Principal felt himself bound by the Rules, notwithstanding this, to refuse to enter them without payment.

If the Rule is as strict as this, I would recommend that in such cases the student should be entered on his producing to the Principal a certificate, or upon the Principal being otherwise assured that he is entitled to a scholarship, payment of which is deferred. I understand that the object of the Rule is to secure payment, and where the Society holds a student's scholarship payment is amply secured.

Experience has shown, I think, conclusively, that sufficient time is not allowed in the examinations for a proper treatment of the papers. Under the Law Society curriculum the time allowed was ample. But under the Law School curriculum the students, with the aid of the lectures, are able to treat the papers more intelligently, and I think it necessary, in fairness to them, to give them the opportunity of so doing. The short time allowed not only prevents the best men from sufficiently explaining themselves, but also affords to others the excuse that they were not able to compass the work in the space of the time allotted them.

I would also call attention to the fact, which was acutely felt this year, that an interrupted term from September to May, with but a short vacation at Christmas, is exceedingly tedious and irksome for both students and lecturers. The work is incessant, and attention must be unremitting in order to fill the time allotted. No time is afforded the students for private reading and reflection, unless they abandon all other pursuits and devote themselves exclusively to reading. In my opinion, the reading ought to keep pace with the lecturing. It is impossible for this to be done in the third year; while in the first year it is very difficult for the lecturer to supply a sufficient number of lectures to intelligently fill up the time. In each case the result is unsatisfactory.

In the first the lecturer has to go too largely into detail, simply in order to fill up the time; while in the second he has to treat his subjects more superficially in order to cover them all.

The remedy, I think, is partly to rearrange the curriculum so as to make it more gently progressive, and partly to permit a break in the lectures for breathing time, so to speak.

The first-year work could easily be done in less time with quite as good effect, while more time ought to be devoted to the third year. This is a matter which would naturally fall to the lot of the Principal to regulate, and must necessarily depend, to a great extent, upon his own ideas of what would be the most effective and advantageous arrangement.

With regard to establishing one or more vacations, that, I apprehend, would necessarily come more properly before Convocation. I submit them as the results of some experience as matters to which I think some attention ought to be given.

* Yours, etc.,

EDWARD DOUGLAS ARMOUR.

The following gentlemen were then called to the Bar: A. Fasken, R. M. Thompson, G. A. M. Young, F. G. Kirkpatrick, A. Mearns, M. H. East, J. M. Godfrey, H. E. Rose, J. M. Scott, G. B. Burson, G. A. Ball, F. Langmuir, A. E. Haines, W. B. Nicol, J. P. Telford, R. Paterson, J. Porter, J. A. Stevenson.

The petitions of Messrs. G. H. Draper, D. T. Smith, J. T. Loftus, J. S. Mackay, and W. F. W. Lent were read and referred to the Legal Education Committee, with a request that the committee recommend Rules to govern such cases in future, and that, in the matter of the cases now referred, the committee have power to direct the examiners to re-examine the papers of the respective petitioners and alter the petitioners' standing, if the committee think proper, upon such re-examination of the papers.

The proposed Rule to amend Rule No. 53 was postponed until next term.

The petition of Mr. John Macdonald against Mr. H. O'L. was presented, and at the same time a letter from Messrs. Ritchie & Davis, solicitors for the complainant, requesting that Convocation defer consideration thereof.

Chattel mortgage—Validity of renewal—Right of assignee for creditors to question—R.S.O., c. 125, ss. 4, 11—53 Vict., c. 26, s. 2 (O.)—"Void as against creditors"—"Cease to be valid."

Section 2 of 53 Vict., c. 26 (O.), does not enable an assignee for the general benefit of creditors to question the validity of the renewal of a chattel mortgage

It provides that the words "void as against creditors" in R.S.O., c. 125, shall extend to such an assignee, but these words are not found in s. 11 of that Act, the section dealing with renewals; and the words "cease to be valid" there used cannot be read as equivalent to "void as against creditors."

FITZGERALD v. CITY OF OTTAWA.

Municipal corporations—Drainage—Added territory—Old drain—Liability for overflow.

When the plaintiff's land was part of a township, he and his neighbours had, with the permission of the township authorities, constructed a box drain in the highway to carry surface water therefrom. After the locality had become part of the defendants' territory, this drain collapsed, and the earth covering it acted as a dam, which penned back the water upon the plaintiff's land. The defendants' engineer then made a cut which carried away the water for a time. This, however, became filled up, and the water again came on the plaintiff's land. He notified the defendants, but they did not remedy the matter until after substantial injury was done.

Held, that they were liable.

REGINA v. MADDEN AND BOWERMAN.

Criminal law—Evidence—Statement of prisoner in previous proceeding—Privilege—56 Vict., c. 31, s. 5 (D).

Crown case reserved.

The prisoners were indicted under s. 394 of the Criminal Code for a conspiracy to defraud. Upon their trial, evidence was offered by the Crown, and received, of a statement made by one of the defendants upon oath, in a prosecution before a magistrate in which this defendant was the complainant and gave evidence on his own behalf. The statement was made upon cross-examination of this defendant in the proceedings before the magistrate.

The question submitted for the opinion of the court was whether evidence of the statement was properly received, having regard to s. 5 of 56 Vict., c. 31 (D.), an Act respecting witnesses and evidence, which provides: "No person shall be excused from answering any question upon the ground that the answer to such question may tend to criminate him, or may tend to establish his liability to a civil proceeding at the instance of the Crown or of any other person; provided, however, that no evidence so given shall be used or receivable in evidence against such person in any criminal proceeding thereafter instituted against him other than a prosecution for perjury in giving such evidence."

Held, that, as the defendant did not, so far as the case showed, assert his privilege before the magistrate, the evidence was receivable.

Held, that the testator had himself excluded his daughter from being treated as one of his heirs, and by the expression "my lawful heirs" must be held to have meant the persons who at the time of the death of the last survivor of his wife and daughter should then be his heirs at law.

MACDONALD v. WORLD NEWSPAPER COMPANY OF TORONTO.

Security for costs—Libel—Newspaper—R.S.O., c. 57, s. 9—Criminal charge—“Blackmail”—Criminal Code, s. 406—Trivial or frivolous.

Upon an application under R.S.O., c. 57, s. 9, for security for costs in an action for libel, in which the words complained of, published in the defendants' newspaper, accused the plaintiff of attempted "blackmail";

Held, that the words might bear such a meaning as to charge the indictable offence defined by s. 406 of the Criminal Code, and the question whether they did so, when read with the context, was for the jury, and one which should not be determined upon this application; and the Master in Chambers having held that they "involved a criminal charge," his decision should not be interfered with.

An action cannot be considered "trivial or frivolous," within the meaning of s. 9, merely because the existence of a good defence on the merits is shown by the defendant's affidavit, and not contravened by an affidavit of the plaintiff. The latter may properly consider that, upon an application for security for costs, a denial on oath of the truth of the charges against him is unnecessary.

FRASER v. SUTHERLAND.

Setting aside Crown patent for land—Title of plaintiff derived from former conveyance by defendant—Estoppel by deed—Covenants for title—Covenant for further assurance.

This was a suit in equity in which the plaintiff sought to have the defendant declared to be a trustee for him, and ordered to convey to him a certain piece of land, part of lot 35 of the Dominion Government survey of the parish of St. John, better known as Point Douglas common, in the city of Winnipeg. The learned judge found, on the evidence, that the land in question was part of lot H, according to Duncan Sinclair's plan, which had, about the year 1874, been conveyed by the defendant to one Clarke, the plaintiff's predecessor in title, under the following circumstances:

The defendant and several others having claimed that some right of common over lot 35 had been conferred upon them by Lord Selkirk conveyed it, in 1872, to certain trustees, of whom the defendant was one, for the purpose of having it divided into town lots and sold for their benefit. The trustees then employed a surveyor, who made a subdivision plan of a portion of the common, after which the trustees made what they considered to be an equitable distribution of the lots on the plan to which the interested parties agreed. The trustees then executed deeds in favour of some of those parties, said lot H, together with the adjoining lot A, being, with other property, conveyed to the defendant. He admitted the conveyance by him to Clarke of lot H, but denied that the purchase money had been paid in full.

Subsequently, McPhillips, another surveyor, made a subdivision plan covering the same territory, in which, as the learned judge found, lot A was given a wider frontage, overlapping about 43 feet of lot H, according to Sinclair's survey. After this the defendant made an application personally at Ottawa for a patent for lot A, according to McPhillips' survey, basing his claim on the trustees' conveyance to himself. The arrangement entered into by the trustees was recognized by the Department of the Interior, and a patent was issued in 1883 accordingly.

The plaintiff had no notice or knowledge of the application for it. It recited that the lands therein described were Dominion lands, that the defendant had applied for a grant thereof, that his claim had been duly investigated, and he had been found duly entitled thereto. It granted lot A, as shown on McPhillips' plan, without further defining its boundaries and size.

The defendant disputed the plaintiff's right to any relief in equity, and, in addition, set up that he had been in possession of the 43 feet in dispute for over ten years, but this was found against him on the evidence.

The defendant's deed to Clarke was made before May 14th, 1875, when the first statute of Manitoba relating to short forms of indentures was passed. It purported to be made in pursuance of the Act respecting Short Forms of Conveyances, and was otherwise in the form in the first schedule to The Short Forms Act, now R.S.M., c. 141, with the covenants in column 1, but contained no recitals.

It was assumed upon the hearing, though not expressly admitted by the counsel for the defendant, that the effect of the deed, under section 2 of the Act, was to make the defendant's covenants equivalent to those in the second column of the first schedule to that Act, and the plaintiff's counsel contended that this worked an estoppel against the defendant.

In view of the date of the instrument, it did not come within The Estoppel Act, R.S.M., c. 52.

Held: (1) That a defendant is not estopped by his mere grant from setting up a title subsequently acquired, at least when it does not appear that he had no title at all at the time of his grant.

Doed. Oliver v. Powell, 1 A. & E. 531; Right d. Jefferys v. Bucknell, 2 B. & Ad. 278.

2) That, in the absence of legislation, covenants do not estop: Heath v. Crealock, L.R. 10 Ch. 22; General Finance, etc., & Co. v. Liberator Society 10 Ch. 15.

(3) That specific performance of the defendant's covenant for further assurance could not be granted, at least without an amendment of the bill, which had not made a clear case for such relief; and, besides, when no legal estate passes, the covenants for further assurance do not run with the equitable title, so as to enable the assignee to sue at law: Onward Building Society v. Smithson, (1893) 1 Ch. 1. The wording of the covenant numbered 5 in the schedule, and the reasoning in Browning v. Wright, 2 B. & P. 13, show that the covenantor is not bound, under that covenant, to convey or assure to the covenantee or his assigns any estate subsequently acquired by the covenantor, and which he had never previously held.

(4) That the plaintiff had failed to establish the title set up by him, a title in fee simple, whether legal or equitable, or that any such mistake had occurred in issuing the patent as, under the judgment in Attorney-General v. Fonseca, 17 S.C.R. 612, would warrant the setting aside of the patent.

Bill dismissed with costs.

Kennedy, Q.C., and Perdue for the plaintiffs.

Culver, Q.C., and Sutherland for the defendant.

ATTENDANCE AT THE LAW SCHOOL.

This School was established on its present basis by the Law Society of Upper Canada in 1889, under the provisions of rules passed by the Society in the exercise of its statutory powers. It is conducted under the immediate supervision of the Legal Education Committee of the Society, subject to the control of the Benchers of the Society in Convocation assembled.

Its purpose is to secure as far as possible the possession of a thorough legal education by all those who enter upon the practice of the legal profession in the Province. To this end, with certain exceptions in the cases of students who had begun their studies prior to its establishment, attendance at the School in some cases during two, and in others during three terms or sessions, is made compulsory upon all who desire to be admitted to the practice of the Law.

The course in the School is a three years' course. The term or session commences on the fourth Monday in September, and ends on the first Monday in May, with a vacation commencing on the Saturday before Christmas and ending on the Saturday after New Year's day.

Admission to the Law Society is ordinarily a condition precedent to attendance at the Law School. Every Student-at-Law and Articled Clerk, before being allowed to enter the School must present to the Principal a certificate of the Secretary of the Law Society, showing that he has been duly admitted upon the books of the Society, and has paid the prescribed fee for the term.

Students, however, residing elsewhere, and desirous of attending the lectures of the School, but not of qualifying themselves to practice in Ontario, are allowed, upon payment of the usual fee, to attend the lectures without admission to the Law Society.

The students and clerks who are exempt from attendance at the Law School are the following:

1. All students and clerks attending in a Barrister's chambers, or serving under articles elsewhere than in Toronto, and who were admitted prior to Hilary Term, 1889, so long as they continue so to attend or serve elsewhere than in Toronto.
2. All graduates who on June 25th, 1889, had entered upon the second year of their course as Students-at-Law or Articled Clerks.
3. All non-graduates who at that date had entered upon the fourth year of their course as Students-at-Law or Articled Clerks.

Provision is made by Rules 164 (g) and 164 (h) for election to take the School course, by students and clerks who are exempt therefrom, either in whole or in part.

Attendance at the School for one or more terms, as provided by Rules 155 to 166 inclusive, is compulsory on all students and clerks not exempt as above.

A student or clerk who is required to attend the School during one term only must attend during that term which ends in the last year of his period of attendance in a Barrister's chambers or service under articles, and may present himself for his final examination at the close of such term, although his period of attendance in chambers or service under articles may not have expired.

Those students and clerks, not being graduates, who are required to attend, or who choose to attend, the first year's lectures in the School, may do so at their own option either in the first, second, or third year of their attendance in chambers or service under articles, and may present themselves for the first-year examination at the close of the term in which they attend such lectures, and those who are not required to attend and do not attend the lectures of that year may present themselves for the first-year examination at the close of the school term in the first, second, or third year of their attendance in chambers or service under articles. See new Rule 156 (a).

Under new Rules 156 (b) to 156 (h) inclusive, students and clerks, not being graduates, and having first duly passed the first-year examination, may attend the second year's lectures either in the second, third, or fourth year of their attendance in chambers or service under articles, and present themselves for the second-year examination at the close of the term in which they shall have attended the lectures. They will also be allowed, by a written election, to divide their attendance upon the second year's lectures between the second and third or between the third and fourth years, and their attendance upon the third year's lectures between the fourth and fifth years of their attendance in chambers or service under articles, making such a division as, in the opinion of the Principal, is reasonably near to an equal one between the two years, and paying only one fee for the full year's course of lecture. The attendance, however, upon one year's course of lectures cannot be commenced until after the examination of the preceding year has been duly passed, and a student clerk cannot present himself for the examination of any year until he has completed his attendance on the lectures of that year;

The course during each term embraces lectures, recitations, discussions, and other oral methods of instruction, and the holding of moot courts under the supervision of the Principal and Lecturers.

On Fridays two moot courts are held for the students of the second and third years respectively. They are presided over by the Principal or lecturer, who states the case to be argued, and appoints two students on each side to argue it, of which notice is given one week before the day for argument. His decision is pronounced at the close of the argument or at the next moot court.

At each lecture and moot court the attendance of students is carefully noted, and a record thereof kept.

At the close of each term the Principal certifies to the Legal Education Committee the names of those students who appear by the record to have duly attended the lectures of that term. No student is to be certified as having duly attended the lectures unless he has attended at least five-sixths of the aggregate number of lectures, and at least four-fifths of the number of lectures on each subject delivered during the term and pertaining to his year. If any student who has failed to attend the required number of lectures satisfies the Principal that such failure has been due to illness or other good cause, a special report is made upon the matter to the Legal Education Committee. The word "lectures" in this connection includes moot courts.

Two lectures (one hour) daily in each year of the course are delivered on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday. Printed schedules showing the days and hours of all the lectures are distributed among the students at the commencement of the term.

During his attendance in the School, the student is recommended and encouraged to devote the time not occupied in attendance upon lectures, recitations, discussions, or moot courts, in the reading and study of the books and subjects prescribed for or dealt with in the course upon which he is in attendance.

As far as practicable, students will be provided with room and the use of books for this purpose.

The fee for attendance for each term of the course is $25, payable in advance to the Sub-Treasurer, who is also the Secretary of the Law Society.

The Rules which should be read for information in regard to attendance at the Law School are Rules 154 to 167 both inclusive.

EXAMINATIONS.

Every applicant for admission to the Law Society, if not a graduate, must have passed an examination according to the curriculum prescribed by the Society, under the designation of "The Matriculation Curriculum." This examination is not held by the Society. The applicant must have passed some duly authorized examination, and have been enrolled as a matriculant of some University in Ontario, before he can be admitted to the Law Society.

The three law examinations which every student and clerk must pass after his admission, viz., first intermediate, second intermediate, and final examinations, must, except in the case to be presently mentioned of those students and clerks who are wholly or partly exempt from attendance at the School, be passed at the Law School Examinations under the Law School Curriculum hereinafter printed, the first intermediate examination being passed at the close of the first, the second intermediate examination at the close of the second, and the final examination at the close of the third year of the School course respectively.

The percentage of marks which must be obtained in order to pass an examination of the Law School is fifty-five per cent. of the aggregate number of marks obtainable, and twenty-nine per cent. of the marks obtainable upon each paper.

Examinations are also held in the week commencing with the first Monday in September for those who were not entitled to present themselves for the earlier examination, or who, having presented themselves, failed in whole or in part.

Students whose attendance upon lectures has been allowed as sufficient, and who have failed at the May examinations, may present themselves at the September examinations, either in all the subjects or in those subjects only in which they failed to obtain fifty-five per cent. of the marks obtainable in such subjects. Those entitled, and desiring, to present themselves at the September examinations must give notice in writing to the Secretary of the Law Society, at least two weeks prior to the time of such examinations, of their intention to present themselves, stating whether they intend to do so in all the subjects, or in those only in which they failed to obtain fifty-five per cent. of the marks obtainable, mentioning the names of such subjects.

The time for holding the examinations at the close of the term of the Law School in any year may be varied from time to time by the Legal Education Committee, as occasion may require.

HONORS, SCHOLARSHIPS, AND MEDALS.

The Law School examinations at the close of term include examinations for Honors in all the three years of the School course. Scholarships are offered for competition in connection with the first and second intermediate examinations, and medals in connection with the final examination.

An examination for Honors is held, and medals are offered in connection with the final examination for Call to the Bar, but not in connection with the final examination for admission as Solicitor.

In order to be entitled to present themselves for an examination for Honors, candidates must obtain at least three-fourths of the whole number of marks obtainable on the papers, and one-third of the marks obtainable on the paper on each subject, at the Pass examination. In order to be passed with Honors, candidates must obtain at least three-fourths of the aggregate marks obtainable on the papers in both the Pass and Honor examinations, and at least one-half of the aggregate marks obtainable on the papers in each subject on both examinations.

The scholarships offered at the Law School examinations are the following: Of the candidates passed with Honors at each of the intermediate examinations the first shall be entitled to a scholarship of $100, the second to a scholarship of $60, and the next five to a scholarship of $40 each, and each scholar shall receive a diploma certifying to the fact.

The medals offered at the final examinations of the Law School are the following:

Of the persons called with Honors the first three shall be entitled to medals on the following conditions:

The First: If he has passed both intermediate examinations with Honors, to a gold medal, otherwise to a silver medal.

The Second: If he has passed both intermediate examinations with Honors, to a silver medal, otherwise to a bronze medal.

The Third: If he has passed both intermediate examinations with Honors, to a bronze medal.

The diploma of each medallist shall certify to his being such medallist.

The latest edition of the Curriculum contains all the Rules of the Law Society which are of importance to students, together with the necessary forms, as well as the Statutes respecting Barristers and Solicitors, the Matriculation Curriculum, and all other necessary information. Students can obtain copies on application to the Secretary of the Law Society or the Principal of the Law School.

RAILWAYS AND STRIKES.—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit has rendered a decision reversing Judge Jenkins' famous order respecting the right of the employees of a railroad in the hands of a receiver to strike, the title of the case being Arthur v. Oakes et al., and the opinion being written by Mr. Justice Harlan. It will be remembered that Judge Jenkins granted an injunction against a body of strikers, forbidding them to strike because such action would be detrimental to railroad property. The court holds that it would be wrong for a body of men employed by a railroad to violate a definite contract, but the remedy for such violation could not be by injunction. Now that popular feeling has subsided, this decision will probably command the assent of every man who has any knowledge of the fundamental principles of law. As Judge Harlan pertinently says, the use of the injunction under such circumstances would really deprive the workman of his constitutional rights under our system of government. If a railroad has the right to discharge an undesirable or incompetent workman, the same right of terminating the relation between employer and employee must rest in the latter.
