The Daily Tribune.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 27, 1872. A Gross Breach of Faith.

"We helped to carry Mr. Humphrey on to victory," says the Tribune in reference to the Westmorland Election. That is admitted on all sides. No one at this late date, certainly no reader of the Telegraph, has cause to plead ignorance of the fact that Mr. Elder advocated Mr. Humphrey's election; but he did far more to secure that election than was done by the Orangemen of Westmorland, who rallied to Mr. Humphrey's standard and gave him a victory which could not otherwise have been won. The services of these friends were invaluable, far more valuable than any aid extended by the Telegraph, highly as it may estimate its services; and modestly should prevent the Telegraph from claiming credit for labor and triumphs that properly belong to others. Mr. Humphreys had given the Orange body an assurance of his desire to treat all his constituents alike. He had promised to aid them in their fight to secure an Act of Incorporation, under which they might hold property, a privilege exercised by every other class of their fellow-subjects. They had every reason to count on his redeeming his pledge; and, trusting to his promise of showing fair play to all bodies, they stripped for the fight and were the means of swelling his majority to the large proportions which it attained. How did he reward them? How did he make good his word? He deliberately remained in his seat in the Assembly, and voted against the Incorporation Act!

Did the Telegraph condemn Mr. Humphrey's conduct in this respect? Did it express regret on an influential section of its co-workers in the Westmorland Election was basely betrayed? Not one word of censure fell from that journal. Not a line proceeded from Mr. Elder's pen in condemnation of such perfidy. True, Tammany has repeatedly called attention to Mr. Humphrey's scandalous ill-treatment of this wing of his supporters; but in directing public opinion against a notorious breach of faith, we have had not the slightest assistance from the Telegraph or Mr. Elder.

"The Retrograde Element." The Telegraph said, a day or two ago, referring to the large body of voters of all callings and creeds who refuse to support Mr. Elder:— "Because Mr. Elder, without malice against any one, discharges what he believes to be his duty as a journalist, because he takes a course which no man dares to challenge by an appeal to the people, the retrograde elements in Prince and Wellington Wards, and similar materials in some others are to be arrayed against him."

This appeal to those who condemn "the retrograde element" wherever found, may be deemed by the Telegraph the height of electioneering art, and yet it conveys an insult to a large body of intelligent, enterprising and influential citizens who will not link their fortunes with Mr. Elder's. "The retrograde element" in Wellington Ward is principally the set of "elements" that elected Mr. Peters, Alderman of that Ward, in May last. The same Committee, with scarcely an exception, who gave Mr. Peters his large majority, are interesting themselves most actively for Mr. Palmer and Mr. Burpee. Does the Telegraph pretend to say that these gentlemen are of the "retrograde element"? Should men like Robert Finsky, F. N. Nervis & Co., T. B. Hanington, Bela Lawrence, the White Brothers, Thomas Temple, Richard E. Weldon, Robert J. Aron, the Messrs. Starr, Arnold, Bowers, James S. May, John C. Brown, and scores of other leading and influential gentlemen in the Ward who have had no sympathy whatever with the opposition to the School Act, but who are all admirers and supporters of Mr. Palmer, and in most cases, we believe, of Mr. Burpee as well, be branded as belonging to "the retrograde element"? If by this opprobrious epithet Mr. Elder means to designate Roman Catholics exclusively, he ought to know that this body—which, by the way, includes many gentlemen of culture and enterprise,—is in a minority in that Ward, and that they are less influential to injure his prospects than the men who elected Mr. Peters to the Aldersmanship, and whom the Telegraph seeks to connect with "the retrograde element."

We might take up Ward after Ward and district after district, and name a host of manufacturers, merchants and working men, none of them second either in enterprise or intelligence to the Telegraph's candidate, but who prefer somebody else, to justify a spiteful feeling to charge upon them that they are obstructive and of "the retrograde element," but the charge is seen to be so malicious that it recoils on the author's head.

The Charlotte Election.

The Federation Reporter says:— "Charlotte the contest is simply transferred by death from the late Mr. Bolton to Mr. Gilmer, who will contest the seat with Mr. McAdam. The battle will be hot and the canvass exciting, as it is now purely a local question as to which end of the County shall rule the other. The aspirants are strong men in the respective localities."

Up North.

The continued expenditure of money in building the Intercolonial Railway on the North Shore is having its good effect. The high rates for lumber in the English markets are also making times bright among a large class in that section of the Province. The whole extent of country from Shediac to Campbellton is now enjoying more general prosperity than ever before in its history. On the Restigouche River lumbering has been prosecuted extensively the past season, and Messrs. D. and J. Ritchie, whose extensive mills are at Campbellton, have sown more than ever this year. They are now building a new store for their large business, Salmon fishing on the New Brunswick shore has been poor so far, but on the Canadian side it has been good. The North West winds have been the cause of the poor fishing on the New Brunswick coast. The trade of Campbellton is chiefly carried on by the Messrs. Ritchie, Chatham and Richard Parkin. A. Jardine furnishes excellent hotel accommodation. At Bathurst there is very little talk about the election for the Dominion representative. The largest hotel there, kept by Mrs. Smith, is having extensive additions made to it, and the work is being pushed rapidly ahead. Kennedy F. Burns and John E. Baldwin are both doing a large business. The "Rothesay Castle" is the only steamer that sails to Bathurst, and the dissatisfaction at the work done by this steamer last year has died out and the public now are well satisfied with her trips. She makes one trip a week to Bathurst, and is crowded with freight and passengers every trip between Shediac, Chatham and Bathurst. At Chatham the Railway works and the Hon. Mr. Muirhead's mills disburse a great deal of money. Mr. Muirhead has two steam saw mills running day and night and has shipped twenty-three ship loads of deals already this season. Mrs. Bower's Hotel is crowded all the time. The fair sex appear to be ubiquitous in the hotel line in the northern counties. Through the farming season the weather has been just what was wanted, the hay crop looks well, and the weather has been so fine lately that the other farming operations promise to turn out exceedingly well.

At Shediac the extensive Railway Freight House is not proving a decided success; the piles are falling in, and the roof is being bogged. The advantages of Shediac as a watering place are becoming more known and appreciated each successive season. Both the Waldon House and Kirk's Hotel are crowded. They are both well kept and a great many Americans are here just now. Kirk's Hotel has about a hundred rooms. A few bath houses are erected along the shore, though more would prove beneficial.

Too Bad.—Mr. Elder was loudly called for at Mr. Tilley's meeting last evening, but was absent at Parrville. Those who called for Mr. Elder should have spared the Tribune's feelings, and not cast any "firebrands" into the meeting. [What is "too bad" about this is the imposition practiced upon the Editor of the Telegraph. Mr. Elder may have been "loudly" called for, at least somebody in the audience may have heard him called for. There was, we understand, a single "call" from an individual in the gallery, "only that and nothing more." Yet the Editor of the Telegraph sends broad hints among his thousands of readers the impression that there was a general call for him at this large meeting of Mr. Tilley's supporters! From this single circumstance the value of other statements relative to Mr. Elder's prospects, which have appeared in the Telegraph, may be inferred.]

We see no disposition on the part of Mr. Burpee or Mr. Palmer's friends to make capital out of Mr. Tilley's meeting. Mr. Elder stands alone in this description of work, insisting upon mixing up the County and City Elections.

Too Hasty.

The Telegraph is unnecessarily eager to substitute Mr. Elder for Mr. Tilley, as witness the following, which has provoked some merriment on the streets to-day:—"Mr. Tilley's meeting last evening was of the nature of a political ovation. It was a splendid testimonial to the Minister of Justice, and an assurance of the success of his canvass. Mr. Elder, who will be before the electors as a candidate, and his card will immediately appear."

Regatta on the Potomac.

Mr. ELLIOTT, I noticed a paragraph in the papers saying that the celebrated English crew (Taylor-Winship) were coming to America to row in a Regatta on the Potomac, the stakes being:—For four oared boats $5,000; for pair-oared boats $3,500, and single scull $1,750. As the Paris Crew of our city could not get on a race with the celebrated English four last year, a splendid opportunity is now offered for settling the question of championship as the best oared men on any water to compete for those prizes. What say the Paris Crew?

Up North.

The gossip correspondent of the Washington Capital discourses thus pleasantly of White Sulphur Springs fashion and follies:—"There is another lady, however, whose jewels surpass all others yet seen here. One necklace and pendant and two bracelets are estimated at $100,000. She has another pair of bracelets set with diamonds, and three or four other sets, besides several locket, and a watch studded with diamonds. One set, each piece of which consists of a small shell, studded with diamonds with a single pearl in the centre, is the most beautiful I ever saw. Any number of White Sulphur watches are made every year, and I am glad to say they are well made and are not backward in this respect. This is a most tremendous place for love-making. One needs tender music to lull his mistress on the very drowsy panels I find on the outside of my own door. A line of one of last year's fashions. It reads after this incoherent style: 'Oh, do come down. I cannot wait as I could to see you, and I am anxious to see you, never indeed.'"

The French stage seems to be in a greater state of demoralization than was ever known even in the most disastrous days of the Empire. Some of the pieces lately acted, especially those of the genre, are described as going so far beyond all bounds of decency that a committee of the French National Assembly have taken the matter in hand, and will shortly lay a report before the House, recommending that the censorship be re-established, and that in a second speech (after his supporters had voted a renewal of his confidence in him), he thanked his friends for this expression of their approval of his public conduct, and justified his public acts.—Judge Skinner spoke at length and very eloquently in support of Mr. Tilley; and John Boyd, Esq., excoriated his opponents and showed what the Government was doing to advance the material property of the people. Mr. Clark, Esq., and James McNichol, Senior, Esq., followed in brief, practical addresses, which pleased the large gathering. The morning papers have good summaries of the remarks of the several speakers. The following is the resolution that was adopted with great enthusiasm, after being moved by J. W. Sammell, Esq., seconded by Messrs. Clark and McNichol:—

Resolved, That this meeting heartily endorse the conduct of our representative, the Hon. S. L. Tilley, for the last five years, and we pledge ourselves to use our best efforts to re-elect him to the same office. Mr. Forbes announced that the friends of Mr. Tilley in Prince and Wellington Wards will meet this evening, at 8 o'clock, in the office of Alderman Peters, on Union Street, in the Queen's, Queen's, Duke's and Sydney Wards, in Smith's Building; and those of Capleton in the Public Hall. The meeting broke up shortly before 10 o'clock.

Fish Market.

The market this morning salmon and shad were the only fish. Shad were offered at 12 cts. each; salmon weighing from 6 to 12 lbs. sell from $1 to $2.50.

Agency.

W. H. Whitehead, of the Howard Atholton, has been engaged by Major Bishop to take the Pantomime Troupe on a short tour through the country. He left for Calais this morning. The Troupe will follow on Wednesday. The Opera House company will remain as usual, giving an evening of songs and programmes nightly, and first class performances.

The Country Market.

The Market was pretty well supplied this morning, and produce sold at the following prices: Potatoes (old) from $1 to $2 per bushel; potatoes (new) $2.50 per bushel; beans and peas, 50 cts. a peck; beef from 6 to 9 cts.; veal 4 to 5 cts.; mutton 6 to 8 cts.; ham, 12 cts.; rubarb, 3 cts. per lb.; strawberries from 50 to $1 per pint; cheese 15 cts. per dozen; raspberries were offered at 50 cts. per peck.

Yesterday afternoon a young lad named Murphy, while playing with the gearing of the tackle used for hoisting hay to the loft, had his fingers severely injured by their being drawn into the block. He was at once conveyed to the office of Dr. Travis and the injured limb promptly attended to.

Steamer "Glendon."

The owners of the "Glendon," which was fully described in the TRIBUNE some days ago, went out in her yesterday afternoon on a trial trip of about ten miles, and were much better satisfied than they expected to be. She is a pioneer freight steamer and though not a model of beauty will carry largely. She sailed very steadily and fast yesterday. A handsome Dominion flag, the American flag, and other bunting were displayed. She lies at Calhoun's wharf to day. Her owners are D. W. Clark, J. D. McDonald, John Leavitt and R. J. Leonard.

EP Strawberries by the quart or pint. Strawberries, Ice Cream, Pastry, &c., may be found at Geo. Sparrow's.

LOCALS.

Lieut. Governor Wilnot is in town to day. The Band on Queen's Square. The Band of the 62nd will play on the Queen's Square next Thursday evening commencing at 7.30. We understand it will, in future, play alternately on King and Queen Squares once a week.

Too Much Margin.

The extra curb along the east side of Prince Wm Street has been an eyesore and nuisance since the snow went off. For the credit of the city, improvement is required. The Rev. T. T. Kendrick, Pastor of Grand street Methodist Church, Brooklyn, N. Y., will preach to-morrow (Sabbath) morning at eleven o'clock, in the Knox street Wesleyan Church.

Dr. W. Wilks.

Dr. W. Wilks, of Montreal, will preach in the Union Street Congregational Church to-morrow at 11 a. m. and 6 p. m. Strangers cordially invited.

The Tilley Meeting.

Last night, though merely preliminary to the active operations of the campaign, was one of the largest and most influential and enthusiastic ever held in this City. Over 800 persons, including leading merchants, manufacturers, professional and laboring men, and in fact all classes of our population, were present. Mr. Charles H. Fairweather was called to the chair. Messrs. J. G. Forbes and Leigh R. Harris were chosen Secretaries; and the gentlemen who surrounded Mr. Tilley on the platform were Messrs. T. W. Daniel, Henry Vaughan, James McNichol, D. W. Clark, Gilbert Mayes, J. Walter Sammell, Judge Skinner, Allan McLean, James Millan, Wellington Ring, Hon. Thomas Jones, D. C. Perkins, Thomas Rankine, Peter Sinclair, John Boyd, James Harris, Alex. Jardine, T. B. Barker, Geo. Fleming, Isaac Woodward, John Jenkins, A. Rowan, John Fisher, Wm. Peters, J. O. Ferguson, D. O. L. Warlock, Z. Ring, and George S. DeForest. Mr. Fairweather introduced Mr. Tilley in appropriate terms, and Mr. Tilley's reception by the meeting was perfectly deafening. The speaking generally was good. Mr. Tilley reviewed the leading political events of the past five years, and intimated his intention to meet on the hustings all criticisms of the Government's acts; he defended himself from several personal charges in a manner that elicited the applause of the audience; and in a second speech (after his supporters had voted a renewal of his confidence in him), he thanked his friends for this expression of their approval of his public conduct, and justified his public acts.—Judge Skinner spoke at length and very eloquently in support of Mr. Tilley; and John Boyd, Esq., excoriated his opponents and showed what the Government was doing to advance the material property of the people. Mr. Clark, Esq., and James McNichol, Senior, Esq., followed in brief, practical addresses, which pleased the large gathering. The morning papers have good summaries of the remarks of the several speakers. The following is the resolution that was adopted with great enthusiasm, after being moved by J. W. Sammell, Esq., seconded by Messrs. Clark and McNichol:—

Resolved, That this meeting heartily endorse the conduct of our representative, the Hon. S. L. Tilley, for the last five years, and we pledge ourselves to use our best efforts to re-elect him to the same office. Mr. Forbes announced that the friends of Mr. Tilley in Prince and Wellington Wards will meet this evening, at 8 o'clock, in the office of Alderman Peters, on Union Street, in the Queen's, Queen's, Duke's and Sydney Wards, in Smith's Building; and those of Capleton in the Public Hall. The meeting broke up shortly before 10 o'clock.

Building Operations.

In addition to numerous dwellings at present in course of erection through the city, several extensive buildings are going up. In Catherine Street, which a few years ago was a purview of rotten tenements, important improvements have been made. The large building of A. G. Bowers on Canterbury St. is to be supplemented by a four-story brick warehouse on Church Street, making it extend in total length 100 feet. Where a couple of months ago some old wooden shanties occupied valuable ground, the Hon. Thomas R. Jones is erecting a spacious warehouse, to accommodate his large business. It will be one of the largest stores in the city. On King Street, Collector Ruel is putting up a four-story building having a depth of 100 feet. It will contain two stores, and they have been already rented. On King Square the large Hotel of G. Rix Price, next to the Park Hotel, is already to the height of four stories. It presents a fine appearance and the intention is to combine it with the Park Hotel, which will make the Park the largest in the city, with the exception of the Victoria. A large four-story building of brick, an addition to the Convent building, Waterloo Street, is nearly finished. It is satisfactory that all these buildings are of brick or stone. The first story of the new Bank of New Brunswick premises is already up. The front is of a beautiful shade of brown stone. The bricks used in the construction of these buildings are made in the vicinity of the city, and large quantities at new brick yards established twenty and thirty miles up and down the Bay.

Another visit from the Little Wanderers.

A number of the children from the Park and Pine Home for Little Wanderers, of Boston, purpose again visiting our city under the guidance of their Superintendent, Rev. R. G. Toles, and their music teacher, Mr. C. H. Minor. The numerous friends of this popular institution may look out for a rich treat as two of the children who visit us this time are celebrated singers, and have been very highly complimented by the Boston Press. Mr. R. B. Graham, the visiting agent, now in the city making arrangements for their reception. It is also the intention of Mr. Toles to visit Fredericton and Halifax.

A Lively Scene.

Judge Gilbert has not palatial quarters or the other accommodations that made King Solomon hanker after the things of this life, but the trying predicaments which the frailties of the human race bring themselves into are often more interesting than was a favorite actor's benefit night performance. Twenty minutes in the "Palace of Justice" will reveal brilliant prospects, desolated hopes and the flowery path of life turned into a crooked lane of thorns and briars. This morning Annie Campbell, aged thirty-five, who is not yet in the "Sens and yellow leaf" and won't be till she is sixty, if she lives that long, was brought up to answer for committing all sorts of high crimes and misdemeanors on the person of Mary Murphy, a mild looking girl, over whose faxen head fifteen years of snowfall fog have passed. Mary had been lifted from the ground by the gentle Annie, who would run her fingers thro' her faxen locks, and take a tight grasp of the same. Small cataraacts of water, sometimes hot and sometimes cold, gradually flowing down Mary's face, who received Annie's lamb-like attentions in that manner. In addition to making a small gymnasium of Mary by seating, pulling and hauling, she amused herself by looting her in the lower part of the city, among the wolves of society. Mary finally appealed to the law for protection, and the Magistrate heard the story, which Annie interrupted by sobbing at times, interspersed with calling Heaven to witness that she was almost "born in bondage" among such people. John Price then came to the front and gave Annie such a character for abuse and vile epithets that to the fair sex must be awarded the palm for all that's bad in the Anglo-Saxon tongue. John Murphy, father of the little girl, also said that the gentle appearing Annie was as dangerous as a Bengal tiger. Such a culmination of evidence, and the previous knowledge of the Magistrate and police of her getting into and nearly scaring an old woman to death on a previous occasion, cooked her goose; and her counsel, Mr. John Kerr, repudiated her; so that, as a small reminder to behave herself, he gave her ten days in goal with hard labor. She gave her husband a loving kiss and left.

Mr. Lennox had the largest house of the season for his benefit last night. The large and fashionable audience that evening was not drawn forth exclusively by the bill offered, but as a mark of approbation of Mr. Lennox's uniform genial humor, and the determination to make the latter part, which always pervades his playings. We have seen both Mr. Lennox and Mr. Owen to better advantage than last night, and the leading members of the company, Messrs. Aldrich, Fuller, McManus, and Peake, were out of the best of their spirits, and their excellent performers knew a word of their parts; and the general tone of the pieces chosen was vulgar. Financially the affair was a success; in other particulars a decided failure. The bill for to-night, "One Thousand Millions" will be repeated, but the principal piece is "The Chief of the Police," which is worth seeing.

The Mammoth Vinegar Works.

This factory is situated on the corner of Pitt and Main streets, (east end) it occupies three lots and is 100 feet long, 10 feet wide and 4 stories high. The first floor is occupied by the generators and vinegar room. The second floor for the office and the warehouse, the third is used for storing empty casks and the fourth for storage and coppers. It is owned by the proprietors O. V. Troop & Co. Their sales during the season amount to about 300,000 gallons. The proprietor informed us that the quality of their vinegars compares favorably with the best made in the Dominion, and successfully competes in the markets of the world with the malt vinegars of England and the white wine of France. In the cruet it is highly prized by the people of the Lower Provinces, and chemical experts have pronounced it to be a superior article for culinary, pickling, and medicinal purposes. The works employ ten hands and make a market for empty casks, and a barrel factory is carried on in Nova Scotia by the proprietors, which supplies them with nearly all the casks used. In the generating room there are 80 generators 9 feet high and also 9 tubs capable of holding from 300 to 600 gallons each. The generators are used for manufacturing the vinegar, which is made of Nova Scotia cider, pure spirit, and cheap French wine, imported from France for the purpose. They can easily manufacture 100,000 gallons a day. The proprietor says that their process of manufacturing vinegars to be an improvement on the quick German process. In keeping qualities the vinegar is said to be good and will increase its strength for 5 to 7 years. Their consumption of pure Nova Scotia cider was about 20,000 gallons, besides large quantities of cider and wine. In front of the establishment it has the appearance of a lively business being carried on. Teams loading and re-loading for different parts of the city and for shipment to foreign ports. They ship large quantities to Europe, West India, South America, and one or two shipments have been made direct to Montreal. Nova Scotia and West Indies are steady markets. In the factory will be seen the apparatus of vinegar all around. The factory is well worth visiting as the proprietor is courteous and will take visitors all over it and explain everything to any one who visits his factory, and charges nothing for choice drinks of the lively fluid.

The Anchor Line to the front again.

The Glasgow Herald of the 10th inst. states that a company has been formed in Barrow-in-Furness to establish a line of steam service between England and the Dominion of Canada and the United States. It was registered on the 3rd inst., with a capital of £1,000,000 sterling, in shares of £25 each. The following is a list of the first subscribers:—The Duke of Devonshire, Piccadilly, 4,000 shares; Lord Frederick Charles Cavendish, M. Three magnificent steamers of over 4,000 tons register, said to be the finest and swiftest that ever crossed the Atlantic, are already ready for launching for the new company, so we expect before a great while to be able to chronicle the sailing from Liverpool, of the first steamer of this line.

Since that time she has made several trips here.
