Sir Hugh Allan the controlling power in the new Company? He had not. He appealed to the House to say whether this was very popular atock when it was put upon the market. They knew it was the other way. He had hoped that his friend (Mr. Burpee) who s cod head and shoulders above any o her man in New Brunswick as a railway man, would become connected with the concern, but he could not advise him or any one else to enter into it as a mat-

It had been said that Sir Hugh Allan might control more than the one-time that the construction of the company Sir Hugh could not control more than one-fourth at all events, and everything showed that the action of the Government was sufficient to prevent the possibility of the occurrence pointed out. He could not therefore understand how any hon, member, who looked at the whole facts of the case, and traced them downfrom the very dominencement, could show any reason or foundation for the allegation that Sir H. Allan had paid for he advantages he was said to have got in the contract. Why should Sir Hugh Allan give this large sum of money if he was not to get some advantage or consideration? (Hear, hear). The hon, member for Durham put that question the other night, and answered it. Lastinght it was answered in shother way. It stands uncontradicted in every point, and will go down to posterity as a full vindication of Sir John Macdonald. Mr. Tilley merely alludes to the childish talk about the inquiry having been withdrawn from Parliament, because the Government made, for good reasons, an inquiry of its own that in no wise interfered with Parliamentary inquiry, as he well knew that this talk was only made by those who sought thus to excuse their desertion from his party. Refused Admission to the Hospital To the Editor of the Tribune. MR. EDITOR, -There is too

this community in charge of certain titutions in connection with the Local General Government of this city, which must be swept away altogether or the usefulness of such officers in the discharge of their duties will suffer greatly. The Public Hospital in some respects is admirably kept and well governed, and, hilegiving due credit for careful management in this respect, I must protest against a late action of the resident Physician and Secretary, Dr. Barteaux. Two gentleman friends and I visited the Hospital on Monday afternoon, and asked to see Mr. Doyle, the hero of the late "unpleasantness." We were told by the doctor himself that "none were allowed to see the wounded man." Thanking him for his courtesy and believing that whit he said was true, we returned to the city. The corner, however, had hardly been turned when on looking back towards the hospital we saw no less than five gentlemen—all personal friends of the doctor—admitted into the building from whose walls we were dismissed but, a moment before. "Last evening the people of this place were alarmed by signals of distress from Gull Rock Lighthouse. The sea was running high and nothing could be done at that hour towards ascertaining the cause of the signals. Early this morning two boats' crews started for the Rock in a schooner with boats in tow, and were told by William Hayden, brother of the keeper, that his brother Samuel Hayden, and wife left the rock about 1 p. m. on Tuesday, and that just as they were clearing the Rock one of the oars broke, and before he could ship another a sea upset the boat. They succeeded in getting on top of the boat, but a heavy sea broke over them. He flashed his light on Tuesday night and through the day Wednesday, and put the flag at half-mast, and was in the act of flashing the light again this morning when he saw the schooner and boats leaving from the Rock.

Fined.

Work is progressing rapidly on the Maritime Bank Building. It was reported that the contractors had secured all Market Square for their operations, and that the truckmen, whose ornamental vehicles stand there, were to be driven to seek new head-quarters. This is not true, however, and the amount of roomet they have a right to use is all the side walk and one quarter of the street. How long they would have continued to use the entire street, notwithstanding numerous complaints, is not known, if the life of the portly Police Magistrate had not yesterday been in dauger while trying to get through the narrow way left at the side of the pile of rubbish. At any time getting through a narrow passage is a difficult matter for the Magistrate, but when a horse and sloven are trying to pass at the same time the difficulty of the situation increases. Whether the horse would know down the portly Justice, or the Justice knock down the horse, was the same managents a question. The House took recess.

Mr. Blake, resuming, argued that it was not what Sir Hugh Allan got, but what he expected that influenced him; if the Government afterwards cheated the partner of their guilt, and he did not get what he expected, it might add to their infamy, but could not clear them of their guilt. He instanced the case of the impeachment of Baron Macclesfield, charged with receiving presents from litigants this morning, presenting quite a different appearance from the last two days. The Magistrate looked round in surprise; the Chief of Police and other officers wandered listlessly back and forth; the gleeful Clerk sat in his office anxiously waiting for work; spectators only looked in for a moment and then hastily withdrew from the almost grave-like place. Geo. Blake vs. J. S. Boies DeVeber, was then taken up—an action brought to recover from the defendant, assignee of the estate of B. Price, for work done on buildings belonging to the estate. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, A MONG the great discoveries of modern science, few are of more real value to mankind than this effectual remedy for all diseases of the Throat and Lungs. A vast trial of its virtues, throughout this and other countries, has shown that it does surely and effectually control them. The testimony of our best citizens, of all classes, establishes the fact that Cherry Provonza, will and does relieve and care the afflicting disorders of the Throat and Lungs beyond any other medicine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs yield to its tower; and cases of cine. The most dangerous affections of the Pulmonary Organs-yield to its tower; and cases of Consumptions, cured by this preparation, are publicly known, so remarkable as hardly to be believed, were they not proven beyond dispute.

As a remedy it is adequate, on which the public may rely for full protection. By curing Cougha, the forerunners of more serious disease, it saves unnumbered lives, and an amount of suffering not to be computed. It challenges trial, and convinces the most scoptinal. Every family should keep it on hand as a protection against the early and unperceived attack of Pulmonary Affectious, fixurable, and too often futal, if neglected. Tender lungs need this defence; and it is unwise to be without it. As a safeguard to children, amid the distressing diseases which beset the Throat and Chest of childhood, CHERRY PROTORAL is invaluable; for, by its timely use, multitudes are rescued from premature graves, and saved to the love and affection contered on them. It acts speedily and surely against ordinary colds, securing sound and health-restoring sleep. No one will suffer troublesome Influenzas and painful Eremachitis, when they know how easily they on be circl. Trepared by
