HUNDREDS OF MOOSE ON THE MIRAMICHI.

Little Southwest Woods Literally Alive With Fine Specimens

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Robinson of New York and Miss Hunt, of Sherbrooke, who have been on an extended trip to the headwaters of the little Southwest Miramichi, with Mr. Henry Braithwaite as guide, returned to the city by the I. C. R. at noon today and are guests at the Queen. They had a very enjoyable outing and had capital sport fishing salmon and trout in the Little Southwest.

During the four weeks the party spent in the woods they saw upwards of four hundred moose, a large percentage being bulls. In one lake they counted fifty-four at one time. There are scores of lakes in the country where they camped and it was rarely that they approached one of them without being able to count from one to twenty moose splashing around in the water.

Mr. Robinson does not think there is an area of woods that contains so many moose.

Mr. Robinson's party had a moving picture camera along with them and secured some splendid photos of moose in their native wilds. He developed most of the negatives at his camp and they turned out first class. He says it is possible he may show some of the pictures at the New York Sportsmen's Show next winter.

Mr. Robinson had a large crew of men at work erecting camps on the Little Southwest Miramichi. He is sparing no expense to make them first class in every particular.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson and Miss Hunt will leave for home by this evening's train.—Herald, July 21st.

BURIED AT UPPER NELSON

John Doyle's Body Brought Home and Interred at Chelmsford.

THE PARTICULARS.

Accident Happened in Rough Water and Doyle Was Unable to Reach Shore.

The body of the late John Doyle who was accidentally drowned at Rainy River, Ontario on July 6th were brought to his home here on the 14th inst.

Deceased and a friend Joseph Underhill, were running through a rapids in a light craft which they occupied at the time not heeding where they were going ran into a dangerous eddy and the swift current quickly capsized the little craft and both of the occupants fell out. Deceased went under the boat and made every effort to gain safe ground but all to no avail for the strong current soon hurled him underneath and he sank to the bottom. In the meantime his friend had gained the boat and safely reached the shore. With the assistance of men and boats deceased was found on the third day and was conveyed to his home in Upper Nelson by his comrade Ephraim Grattan. The funeral which was largely attended took place from his home on Sunday morning at eight o'clock. Remains were interred at the R. C. Church in Chelmsford where Requiem High Mass was held. The Rev. E. S. Murdock conducted funeral services at the grave. The pallbearers were Wm. and Charles Doyle, Maurice and Thos. Hackett and James and M. Donovan. Many beautiful wreaths were sent by friends.

Mr. Doyle was a young man of many amiable qualities and was a general favorite with all who knew him. The good reputation which he always bore won him many friends. He was well thought of in Upper Nelson as well as throughout the United States.

Deceased was twenty-nine years of age and leaves a sorrowing father and mother also sisters and brothers, besides a large number of friends to mourn his sad memory. Mr. Ephraim Grattan who accompanied the remains to his home here has proved himself to be a sincere friend to the deceased. They had been companions for some time and were very much attached to each other.

SEVERE ELECTRIC

STORM SATURDAY

Several Places Struck By Lightning and Damage Done.

The severest electrical storm in years, accompanied by rain, occurred on Saturday afternoon. Peter Breen's residence Chatham, was struck and badly damaged. Mrs. Breen was given a shaking up. Other damage was done about town.

The Albert Hotel flag-staff Chatham was shattered into match wood and the lightning passed off on electric light wires. Several guests were severely shocked and every light burnt out.

A horse was knocked down in a livery stable diagonally across the corner from the Albert Hotel. All lights were burnt out in McDonnald's factory and a slight fire started. This factory was burned down several years ago under similar circumstances. The telegraph, telephone and electric lights were burned out at the I. C. R. station. The steamer Alexandra could not land at Bay du Vin, fifteen miles down river, on account of the darkness. The lightning was very heavy there. A large number of ladies were on board.

A large attendance of Liberals is expected at the convention at Chatham Wednesday at 3 o'clock.

MANY IMPROVEMENTS AT BRIDGETOWN.

Residence Wired for Electric Lights—New Residence for Manager.

Frank Jones, Electrician of St. John and his assistant completed the work of wiring the handsome residence of Mr. John McKane at Bridgetown. The wiring for the residence, office, and Manager's residence is all complete and about two hundred lights are installed. These will be supplied current from the Newcastle plant, and tenders are being received for the extension of the wires to Bridgetown.

A beautiful residence is being erected for the manager of the Edward Sinclair Lumber Co. and is nearing completion. Other improvements are being made to the property.

Mr. McKane's residence with the recent improvements is now considered one of the finest on the North Shore.

HARRY COMFORT

PUSHED INTO RIVER.

Was Nearly Drowned When Rescued by Companion at Risk of Life.

Harry Comfort, the little seven year old son of Mr. L. Comfort and a number of other boys of about his age were playing on the Anderson Furniture Co's wharf recently, when another boy, gave young Comfort a shove and he went over the wharf into the river.

His companions were so alarmed that none had presence of mind enough to give the alarm and the boy was going down for the second or third time when Wilson Gough, the plucky little son of Mr. F. H. Gough jumped in and held up the drowning lad until assistance arrived and they were pulled up on the wharf.

Young Gough could only swim a little and his plucky act should be recognized by the Humane Society.

MANY WERE KILLED

IN RAILWAY WRECK.

Buffet Car Went Over Trestle—Twenty Persons Killed in Southern Wreck.

Nelson, B. C., July 23.—The buffet car on the Great Northern let car on the Great Northern train from Spokane to Nelson was derailed on a high trestle at Beaver Creek, near Boundary, on Saturday evening, and crashed down the canyon, killing four and injuring seven.

Charlotte, N. C., July 23.—About twenty persons were killed and more than that number wounded as the result of a head-on collision between a through east-bound passenger train and an extra freight near Rockingham, N. C. four miles west of Hamlet, at 8.30 o'clock last evening. Many of the victims are said to be negroes.

MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.

Local and General News

Of Special Interest to Our Readers, Gathered By Our Reporters from Many Sources, Whirl of the Town.

The death occurred Tuesday night, July 17, of Mrs. Benson, wife of Dr. John S. Benson, of Chatham. Mrs. Benson had been in poor health for some months.

Mr. P. E. Heine, of Moncton, I. C. R. conductor and one of the delegates appointed by the Grand Lodge of New Brunswick to attend the triennial session of the Imperial Grand Orange Council of the World, being held at Toronto has been honored by that session in being elected one of the Imperial Grand Lecturers.

The first application to the railway commissioners for the regulation of express rates has been made on behalf of the town of Chatham. It demands to be given the same rates as its competing neighbor, Newcastle. The application was made by Mr. Loggie, M. P., to the minister of railways, and he passed it over to the railway board. As the fact has not yet been printed, it will be seen that the application was very prompt.

Mr. Arthur Robinson, of New York, is completing a hunting and fishing lodge at Holmes' Lake, Little South West, at a cost of $5500. The ice houses were filled last winter. Mr. Robinson and Mr. Henry Braithwaite, in a canoe trip, last week, on the Upper North Branch, through a series of small lakes, counted 57 moose (bull moose, cow moose and calves) feeding on the lily pads in the water. Mr. Robinson, who does a big business in New York, spends all his spare time on the Little South West.

Just as we were going to press we learn with regret of the death of Mr. Wm. Barclay which occurred at his home in Jacquet River at six o'clock this morning. The funeral will take place at two o'clock to-morrow, interment to be made in New Mills cemetery. Mr. Barclay was in the 91st year of his age and was one of the pioneers of Restigouche and very widely known. Mrs. Seaver who was visiting Mrs. Laughlan in town recently is a daughter of the deceased, and this sad event will somewhat mar an otherwise pleasant visit.—Events.

The facilities for stamp selling as a matter of convenience to the public, will be extended by Postmaster General Lemieux. As a supplement to the present licensed vendors of stamps, permits will be issued to merchants and others who wish to sell stamps, though they will be allowed no commission. In cities they will be permitted to procure their stamps from postmasters, and licensed vendors in post office lobbies, but not from other licensed vendors. In other centres the local postmaster will be permitted to grant the right to sell stamps to any reputable merchant who shows that permitting him to sell stamps will be a public convenience.

The regular R. C. picnic at Redbank was held on Wednesday under the supervision of Rev. P. Duffy assisted by a very efficient committee. A splendid program was provided and everything passed off very smoothly. A very large crowd from adjoining places attended. The steamer Rustler was chartered to make a special trip leaving Newcastle at eight o'clock in the morning and touching at intermediate points on the way up. The day was ideal, a gentle breeze blowing all day. In addition to those who left here on the Rustler, a large number drove from Newcastle and Chatham, returning late in the evening. The str. Rustler returned home at ten o'clock P. M. with its precious freight. Needless to say, the picnic was a decided success. The proceeds will go towards the completion of the new church which is now well under way. Father Duffy is to be complimented on the energy he has displayed in pushing forward the work.

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians.

The congregation of the Presbyterian church at Millbank have decided to hold a garden party on the 9th of August for the benefit of the new church.

The minister of railways is expected to arrive at Moncton in the course of a week and it is said a committee of I. C. R. employees will wait on him in reference to the pass question. An effort will be made to get the minister to reconsider the recent order and grant a limited number of passes yearly.

Rev. E. J. Bannon held his annual picnic at Barnaby River on Tuesday. There was a very large attendance from the surrounding country. The day though warm, was delightful and an enjoyable time was spent by all. Dancing and other outdoor sports were the order of the day. There was an unusual large representation from Chatham and Newcastle and all report having enjoyed themselves.

A gentleman from P. E. I. who was in Moncton lately, stated there was not up to the day he left, a prisoner in any jail or lock-up in that province. The prohibition law, introduced by Premier Peters, is in full force and effect on the Island; and it seems to be superior to any other act ever placed upon the statute books for the suppression of the liquor traffic. This is very noticeable at the picnics and other amusements which are held at this season of the year.

The story is told that a magistrate noted for his strict prohibition principles, was holding court not many miles from Chatham. It was one of the extremely hot days of the past week and the jury was thirsty. A jurymen suggested that some water would be appreciated and, on the judge acquiescing, he asked the clerk to get a pitcher, tipping him at the same time a significant wink. One of the counsel present chanced to take a glass of this water, and found it good old Holland gin. He kept the joke quiet, however, and it was not until the worthy judge was thoroughly scandalized at the actions of his twelve jurymen, that he discovered the cause of their behaviour, and then his wrath broke out.—Commercial.

Wire Wounds.
My mare, a very valuable one, was badly bruised and cut by being caught in a wire fence. Some of the wounds would not heal, although I tried many different medicines. Dr. Bell advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT, diluted at first began to get better, until after three weeks, the sores have healed and best of all the hair is growing well, and is NOT WHITE as is most always the case in horse wounds.

KING WILL NOT VISIT CANADA
Might be Regarded as an Invidious Distinction.

Ottawa, July 17.—Lord Grey has received word from London, that the King will not be able to visit Canada. His Majesty was pleased to receive the invitation, but owing to the continuous and incessant current of business of the Empire and the fact that he could not well accept the invitation to one part of the Empire and decline an invitation to another part, he felt compelled to decline the invitation from Canada.

CLERGYMAN'S HOUSE WRECKED BY DYNAMITE.

New Glasgow Minister the Victim of a Dastardly Deed.

New Glasgow, N. S. July 20.—An attempt was made at one o'clock this morning to blow up the residence of Rev. H. R. Grant. A charge of dynamite was laid under the north end of the house and when fired shattered the verandah, the front steps some glass in the windows, and portions of the lower part of the house generally. As is well known, Mr. Grant is a fearless opponent of the liquor traffic, and some think to the ruin element may be traced this dastardly deed.

GUATEMALA REPORTS WINNING TWO DECISIVE BATTLES.

Guatemala City, July 19.—The following official account of the fighting at Platanar and Metapam July 17, was communicated to the Associated Press to-day:
"The last two battles, fought before 5 o'clock Wednesday morning July 18, when the armistice began were won by the Guatemalans, who defeated the Salvadoreans in Metapam, completely destroying them. If a few remained in the fortifications at Platanar it was because the armistice which found them there was respected. Reports contradicting these facts are false."

CZAR DECIDES TO TEST HIS STRENGTH.

Will Dissolve Parliament and Order New Elections—If Revolution Comes a Dictatorship Will be Established.

Cologne, July 19.—The Gazette's correspondent at St. Petersburg asserts as on reliable authority that the Russian government has agreed in principle to dissolve parliament and order new elections on the basis of universal and direct suffrage. The reason as given is that parliament is exceeding prerogatives.

Proper Medicine For the Blood

Drives Away That Tired Feeling Makes You Look Brisk.

To every one is sure to come that tired, exhausted feeling.

When the blood is weak, thin and debilitated, circulation is slow, and in consequence the system is congested with poisons and wastes that should be driven off.

The sensible person acts on the teachings of experience and cleanses his system with a course of Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterbur.

No medicine can be more certain to quickly cure. Convenience to take just one pill at bedtime; safe, because entirely vegetable; unailing, because proved by thousands that Dr. Hamilton's Pills set you up in a few days.

From Chebogue Pt., N. S., comes the following from Mrs. W. A. Reynolds: "A year ago my health began to fail, I lost appetite, became nervous and sleepless. My weight ran down, I became thin, yellow, checked, and had black rings under my eyes. I really felt as if a charm of life had left me and when springtime arrived I was in the 'blues.' I read of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and got five boxes at once."

"Within a month my appetite and color were good. I gained strength and felt like a new woman. New life and vigor returned, and my friends scarcely knew me. A medicine that will do this should be in every home."

Good health means much to you. Success and happiness depend upon it.

The maintenance and source of health is found in Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25¢ a box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers, or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A. and Kingston, Ont.

Mother—"Why are you crying, dear?"

Daughter—"Boo-hoo! I made Henry some crumbers and he was tickled to death."

THE NEWSPAPERS
THE BEST GIVERS.

Mr. Wilder Tells How They Help Many Public and Worthy Causes.

In the course of a recent address in the Unitarian church in Madison Wis., Amos Parker Wilder, editor of the Wisconsin State Journal said:
Newspapers are the best givers in the country. No one else gives so much money to good causes for a newspaper's space is money. The average citizen is interested in one good thing—a hospital meeting or a church supper to the Humane Society.

The newspaper is bolstering up half a dozen projects daily. It is sometimes said: "Why, these topics are news—it is to read about them that people subscribe to the paper." It is true enough that these topics have a certain news value, but a few lines soon exhaust that. From the standpoint of public interest it is enough to know once that the Humane Society will meet Tuesday, or that the second ward Loyal Legion will hold a contest.

A handful of people may be interested to have the announcement printed in their ears daily until the fatal day, but a newspaper is published for many thousands of people. It space is limited and it costs money to set type.

No one knows what immense free service newspapers give to more than a certain amount of money, to turn newspapers over to charity instead of to "news", which the average reader wants. There must be a choice section of Paradise reserved for this underestimated profession which so loves its fellow men.

CHILLS PROVE FATAL!

If warmth and circulation are not promptly restored, chills result in fatal pneumonia. This necessitates keeping Nerville on hand. Taken in hot water it breaks up a cold in two minutes. By rubbing freely over throat and chest it prevents a cold. No liniment so strong, so penetrating, so swift to kill pain and inflammation. Nearly fifty years record has proved the value of Nerville's Nerville. You should get a box to-day.

OTTAWA HOUSE, CUSHING'S ISLAND.

This favorite resort which is so well known by the tourist and those spending the summer on the Maine Coast has been remodelled, refurnished, new plumbing and bathrooms installed, and put in first-class order, and will be open for the reception of guests this year on June 27th.

Inasmuch as this popular house has been closed for the past two years, patrons will be glad to learn of its reopening under good auspices.

A cature which will appeal to guests this year is the fresh water supply that has been secured by the boring of an artesian well, 275 feet deep, and which gives an unlimited flow of fresh water.

Cushing's Island in Portland Harbor, Me., is easy to access by Grand Trunk Railway System and the magnificent surroundings that are found in Casco Bay are but one of the many attractions that are offered this year.

"Yes," replied the bridegroom, on his return to the rural town, "when Jen an' me was on our honeymoon up in Chicago we got in one of them that 'sight-seeing' automobiles and went out to see everything in town."

"Do tell!" gasped the crowd of bumptkins around the post office. "An' what all did you see?"
The happy bridegroom kicked over a toadstool, grinned sheepishly and drawled: "Wall, I'll tell you. All I saw was Jen an' all Jen saw was me."

Did you enjoy your last honeymoon? asked the inquisitive friend. Honeymoon, fiddlesticks! rejoined ex-widow. "Why it was a regular gloom and wax affair."

SHILOH MADE
DAUGHTER MANIAC

Swearing Vengeance on "Elijah" Sanford, Kanas Mother Comes East to Find Girl Tied to Bed, a Living Skeleton.

Shiloh, Me. July 24—There was a heartrending scene at "Elijah" Sanford's Bible Institution here when the mother of Miss Bertha Phelps arrived from her Kansas home, and found her daughter, formerly a beautiful, vivacious girl, strapped to her bed, scarcely more than a skeleton, and a raving maniac. The mother was unable to communicate with Miss Phelps and came here to learn the reason. She required the services of an officer to force her way into the institution. When she saw her beloved child, the mother had a physician called in, and, as a result, the State authorities were notified. Miss Phelps was taken to an insane asylum. She is an unmanageable patient.

MOTHER PROSTRATED

"My God, it is awful!" she said today. "To think that my little daughter has had her life ruined in this way. I still have another daughter at Shiloh, and she too, is on the verge of insanity. I hope to save her, and no expense will be spared to get at the bottom of the practices of this man Sanford. I mean to have that institution fully investigated and to do all I can to save the lives of other innocent girls like my Bertha."

It is understood that state authorities have already taken steps to investigate affairs at Shiloh. It is believed that an investigation will disclose appalling facts. It is alleged that there are at least half a dozen young women there who are not only physical wrecks but mentally affected.

Sanford and his elders say that Miss Phelps was kindly treated. "This girl," said one elder, "was never mistreated in any way. She received the same usage as other disciples. We regret very deeply her unfortunate condition, but had she remained here and maintained her faith in 'Elijah,' I am sure she would have recovered."

AT SHILOH SIX YEARS

Miss Phelps and her sister came to Shiloh six years ago. The girl who is now in an insane asylum was one of the disciples who went to Jerusalem with Sanford, and she tried to live according to the faith he taught. It is believed by some that her mental condition may be the result of the famine period through which the followers of Elijah passed last winter.

Gunner—"Sh! I can't whistle on this street!"
Guy—"What's the matter? Some one sick?"
Gunner—"No. But I'm afraid the vibration will knock the city hall down."

Gunner—"They are complaining because that fraudulent insurance company had too many dummy directors."

Guy—"I should think they would be complaining because it had too many dummy policyholders."

Mother—"Ostend, what do you know about Robin Hood's barn?"
Ostend—"Not much, ma, but I guess it was just like any other barn—a place where farmers danced at night and tramps slept in the daytime."

Comedian—"What's the trouble? Call Boy—"Why the manager wants me to take some paper up in the files for the snowstorm. What kind should I take?"
Comedian—"Up in the files? Oh, take fly-paper."

Young Wife—"I dreamed last night that I saw my husband kiss another woman. What is that a sign of?"
Her Mother—"It's a sign you have a bad case of jealousy, my dear."

Polite Clerk—"Here are some phonographs, sir. Just the thing to take on your vacation."

Harker—"Oh, I don't need anything in the talking line. My wife is going along."

Gunner—"They say it takes years to make a genuine Panama hat."

Guy—"Years to make a Panama hat? Then great Scott, how long do they expect it to take to make a Panama canal?"

A Picturesque Wedding.
An interesting wedding recently took place in England. The bridegroom was a freeman, and accordingly the members of the local fire brigade attended the wedding. They formed up outside the church and made an arch with their axes, under which the bride and bridegroom walked. Then the firemen drew the happy couple home in a carriage, blowing their whistles as they went through the streets.

German Silver.
One of the oddities of nomenclature is that the combination of metals known as German silver contains no silver in its composition and is of Chinese and not of German origin. It was introduced into Europe by the Germans, and for some time it was not generally known that they had simply borrowed it from the Chinese.

Glandular Swellings.
Here is a remedy for goiter and glandular swellings: Glycerinated iodine lotion—iodide of potassium, two drams; distilled water, one pint; glycerin (pure), one ounce. Dissolve the iodide in the water, then add the glycerin. Apply with antiseptic gauze or fine linen.

On His Dignity.
Mr. Q. Ponce—No, sir; my daughter would starve if she married you. Mr. Nockye—Oh, well, if you're the sort of man that would let your own daughter starve I've no desire to become a relative of yours. I withdraw my request, sir.

Longing For a Soaker.
Hobbs—Queer, isn't it, that it never rains when one wants it to? Dobb—Garden in need of rain? Hobbs—No, it's myself. My wife gave me a new umbrella for a birthday present, and it hasn't rained since.

Balanced.

WILL REPAIR ROAD

The Leader in a column and a half article on the "Missing Link" endeavors to convince its readers that "the arch-angle's trumped will be playing" before that piece of railway is in operation unless the ratepayers of Northumberland rise in their might and elect a representative, (not named but understood by the faithful) to take Mr. Loggie's place and then rapid progress in reconstruction would be the order of the day.

We have it on good authority that this much needed work will be done at no distant date, and that the wishes of the people of Newcastle and along the road to Blackville will be complied with. Money will be voted at the fall meeting, of Parliament and the work commenced early next spring.

ONLY ONE PASS.

We understand that an order has just recently gone over the I. C. R. the effect of which will be to restrict the number of passes to employees to one per year. While the order will cause dissatisfaction among the railwaymen, we feel that it is a much needed reform.

The pass privilege has been very much abused and there seems to be no better way of effecting a remedy than the issuing of such an order. If all employees, including officials, high and low, are brought under this new regulation, it will mean much to the advantage of the road, and Mr. Emerson, instead of being sharply criticized and abused, ought to be warmly praised.

The Moncton Transcript says:— "There will necessarily be reasons appearing why concessions should be made and probably so, in the cases of station-agents, operators, sectionmen or trackmen, who are so located that market passes are essential in the obtaining of household supplies; but that necessity does not exist in the cases of urban centres or communities.

Special circumstances will no doubt always receive due consideration, but two carloads of the I. C. R. clerks going, for example, to a hockey match free, on a special train, is certainly carrying the matter too far.

Take the case of the hockey excursion train last winter from Moncton to New Glasgow. The gentlemen who hired that train were assured of so many people going. The train started from here with four carloads of people and those who hired the train were surprised to find that no less than two carloads of I. C. R. clerks and employees with passes constituted half the entire train patrons. The people who guaranteed so much money for the train just cleared their guarantee and that was all.

On another occasion last winter there was a hockey match at St. John. There were no fewer than 108 passes to I. C. R. employees on that train. The cars were crowded and ladies who paid their way actually stood whilst employees holding passes sat.

The pass abuse has not been by the shopmen and employees generally, but by the clerical staff especially. When passes were obtained and sold to the general public; when passes were asked for wives and transferred to other ladies, and when strangers were taken as the family on employees' passes these abuses had to be stopped.

OPPOSITION DECEPTION.

At the opposition convention of Campbellton the other day Mr. Hazen said he felt a wrong impression was abroad that party lines were drawn in the local legislature. He stated this was entirely wrong, as his followers were both Conservatives and Liberals, and, while a Conservative himself in Dominion politics, he numbered among his supporters and friends very many prominent Liberals.

Mr. Hazen must have thought the Restigouche people rather green, and in this he was greatly mistaken.

He said they know that Mr. Hazen's party in the legislature is Tory, with the single exception of Mr. Morrissey, who is described as a disgruntled Liberal.

Mr. Hazen should stop the fruitless effort of seeking Liberal support. An extreme Tory himself, practically his whole outfit is of the same calibre, and he and they cannot impose on the credulity of Liberals.

Only a few days ago an opposition picnic was held at Gagetown, and Mr. Hazen's friends brought Tories all the way from Ottawa to address the gathering. No Liberals were invited, and none would have accepted.

Mr. Hazen realizes that the only hope he might have to carry Restigouche would be in attracting Liberal support, but the game won't work.—Herald.

AFTER NORTH SHORE.

According to the Carleton Sentinel of Woodstock the Provincial Opposition is making a dead set to win the North Shore at the next local election.

The Sentinel says:—"The opposition seems to be quietly making an effort to win the North Shore through the medium of an educational campaign. Some months ago a paper was started under Conservative auspices in the town of Campbellton, and now we have another sheet of the opposition stripe in the town of Newcastle.

These signs point to the fact that those who are directing the assault upon the administration intend to deal it a blow in its old-time stronghold, the North Shore, perhaps emboldened by the success of the patchwork ticket three years ago in Northumberland. Mr. Hazen of course realizes that he cannot hope to get a majority from the southerly and westerly parts of the province alone;—he must win a respectable following on the North Shore before he can seize the reins of government.

"In the next line-up the following journals will probably be doing fighting for the 'outs'—Campbellton Tribune, Newcastle Leader, Chatham World, Moncton Times, Sackville Post, St. Croix Courier, Fredericton Gleaner and Woodstock Press, while more or less assistance may be derived from such free lances as the Chatham Commercial, and St. John Globe. It will be seen that the opposition will have even so much better newspaper service than formerly, save in one vital section, the city of St. John. There is also a persistent and partially successful still-hunt for candidates going on, largely under the direction of the organizer, Mr. Hubbard, who is said to be more than willing to try his personal fate in Sunbury."

"Had the King visited Canada," says Lord Strathcona, "I am certain that every man, woman and child in that vast Dominion would have joined together to give him such a reception as would have thrilled the whole Empire." And Lord Strathcona is right.

Campbellton, following the example of Newcastle is clearing away its wooden sidewalks and replacing them with cement.

GREAT CROPS ON RECORD IN THE NORTHWEST.

Dr. Saunderson's Telegram Declares Conditions are Most Favorable.

Ottawa, July 20.—The following telegram from the Dominion director of the experimental farms gives an idea of what may be expected from the west this summer. Dr. Saunders wires from Indian Head: "Have seen crops in Manitoba and Saskatchewan to this point. Grain of all sorts is well headed and generally very promising. Very fine fields of wheat seen throughout Manitoba at the experimental farm. Brandon the crops are all heavy; found some rust there on the leaves, but none on stalks. No rust on oats or barley and nearly all the grain crops seen in Saskatchewan are good; many of them excellent. Wheat, barley, oats and peas on experimental farm very heavy. I think they are as good as have ever been seen here. No rust found on any of the cereals. Large excursion here to-day of farmers from all points between here and Prince Albert and west to Moosejaw. All agree that the crops of all sorts this year promise to be the best they have ever been.

—W. SAUNDERS."

NEWFOUNDLAND MAY ENTER CONFEDERATION

Movements of Premier and Ministers Lends Color to the Report.

Quebec, July 22.—Sir Wilfred Laurier and the ministers from Ottawa are going down the Gulf of St. Lawrence on Tuesday to Newfoundland on the board the government steamer Montcalm. The governor general and party left on the steamer Minto at one o'clock today for Newfoundland on a salmon fishing tour. During his stay in Newfoundland His Excellency is to have a conference with Governor McGregor, at which representatives of the Canadian and Newfoundland governments will be present. The trip of Sir Wilfred and his ministers, following so closely that of the Governor General, is not without significance. It lends color to the report a few days ago of the possible early admission of the colony to the Canadian confederation.

BADLY BURNED BY KEROSENE

Two Boys Were Trying to Burn

Potato Bugs With Oil.

CAN EXPLODED.

About noon on Monday of last week at Blackville, Victor Walls, the fourteen-year-old son of Benjamin Walls, was the victim of an explosion of kerosene, from which he sustained frightful burns about the chest, arms, face and legs and also severely burned about the legs. The boys had been picking potato bugs, and were proceeding to burn them in an old tomato can. They had poured some kerosene over the bugs, from a two gallon can which was about half full of kerosene, and set fire to them, but as they were not burning to their satisfaction they concluded to add a little more oil to the blaze. While doing so the flames sprang from the smaller can to the contents of the larger one, on seeing which the children dropped the can and started to run, but immediately ventured back to try to put the fire out. As they were about to pick the can up the can exploded, striking Victor full in the face and hurling him about thirty-five feet. He was frightfully burned, especially about the face, neck, chest and arms, where the full force of the burning fluid struck him. He was taken by that night's I. C. R. express to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Chatham, where he is doing as well as can be expected. Chester escaped more luckily, being only slightly burned from the knees down.

"COUSIN KATE"

IN OPERA HOUSE.

The enviable reputation which "Cousin Kate" now enjoys in the dramatic world is easily understood when one sees a performance so meritorious as that which will be given by Miss Roselle Knott Knott and company. Miss Knott, who started last season as Cousin Kate in this charming comedy, won the praise of press and public everywhere and most deservedly too.

The play is a little classic and yet enough of the every-day spirit in it to keep it to the level of the general theatre-goers and give it continued popularity. When, furthermore, it is presented by so capable a company as Miss Knott's and with such an actress as Roselle Knott to shine as a star of the first magnitude in a very bright galaxy, it is inevitable that the audience will applaud. The interest of the story is controlled by a central figure, Cousin Kate, which character Miss Knott plays to perfection. The New York Herald in speaking of "Cousin Kate" where Miss Knott appeared at the Hudson Theatre last season, says as follows:—

"Cousin Kate" the comedy which at times becomes a strong drama, was presented at the Boyd Theatre on Friday night to the capacity house. The enthusiastic reception was a large one, and Miss Knott's efforts were much appreciated. "Cousin Kate" is not new to Omaha theatre-goers. Ethel Barrymore brought the part to us, but it does not suffer by Miss Knott's interpretation. The play is essentially an English one, contrasting the character of those who live the etiquette-bound life of the better class of English people. "On the one hand was a girl looking for the ideal man influenced by every passing phrase and wishing above all, to do her duty as a Christian. On the other hand is unaffected "Cousin Kate", a woman of the world, and horrors, actually a London novelist. In the hands of Roselle Knott, Cousin becomes a very charming person. Miss Knott has the capacity of saying a witty thing wittily. She can also portray grief without overdoing it.

FARMERS ANXIOUS ABOUT REQUIRED HELP.

Winnipeg, July 23.—Farmers of the West are evincing great anxiety least the supply of farm help be quite inadequate to harvest the great crop, now almost ready for the binders. The board of trade at Virden have sent in application for 1000 extra harvest hands, and Yorkton away in the opposite direction requires 300. These small towns supply a fair criterion by which to judge the demand for help.

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

"No," said I, "not until the police from Raymond arrive." He leaned forward and tapped me on the arm very earnestly.

"You mistake me," he said. "I think, Mr. Greator, that you do not quite understand the position."

"Upon my soul," said I, "I believe you are right. When a common burglar shall preach to his victim one must indeed revise one's notions of the world."

"You are determined to be flippant, Mr. Greator," he replied severely, "and so I will disillusionize you. You have inherited this property from Mr. Kesteven."

I bowed. "A gentleman with whom I had not the pleasure of personal acquaintance," he resumed, "but whom I have reasons for considering a very discreet and tenacious man. Now, why, Mr. Greator," he said, "and he stared at me dispassionately—"now, why do you suppose that Mr. Kesteven did not employ these police of yours?"

The question certainly took me aback. I had never considered it. If the old gentleman had feared an attack, why had he not taken precautions against it? But I was not inclined to make a poor appearance in the argument, and so "He had excellent reasons," I said cheerfully.

"You say well," said he, nodding, but scrutinizing me keenly. "Excellent, indeed, with which, since you are obviously acquainted, you will no doubt understand a good many things which would otherwise puzzle you."

Here I confessed he had me again in his hands. "Quite so," I stammered as bravely as possible.

He laughed softly. "I think, Mr. Greator, that we had really better understand each other and not be so civil. What you don't know, despite your brave profession of knowledge, is that the treasure deposited in this house is treasure trove—that is, that it was not the property of the late Mr. Kesteven and was not in his power to bequeath, and consequently is not now your property, but the property of her gracious majesty our sovereign queen, less a somewhat infinitesimal percentage which we may term salvage. That, I take it, is a statement which is new to you."

It was, indeed, and now that the facts were revealed to me suddenly and as by magic the many mysteries of the past few weeks were illumined and grew plain. I kept my countenance as well as I might, for all my astonishment, and then—

"This is very interesting," said I, "and I am in your debt for the news." "Bah, Mr. Greator," he interrupted. "Haven't I said that we must dispense with civilities? Time passes, I have much before me, and we have not concluded our bargain."

"Bargain!" I echoed.

"Why, certainly," said the captain, grinning pleasantly. "I take it that we are enemies, but that we make war upon terms."

"State your terms," said I coldly, having now an inkling as to the new situation.

"That is better," said he approvingly. "In the first place, this contest is a private one, carried on by both sides without public assistance."

"That is very well indeed," said I, "for a party, numbers unknown, against one man."

"If I have gathered any impression of your character, Mr. Greator," observed the captain dryly, "during a few days' acquaintance, you will be prompt to destroy that inequality. I put no embargo upon your numbers."

"That is good of you," said I sarcastically.

"Secondly," continued he, unmoved and counting on his fingers, "there is no reason why this campaign should breed ill will. I like you, and off duty there is room for exchange of friendly courtesies."

"You forget," I said sharply, "in what relation I find you. There can be no peace between your profession and mine."

He smiled. "The incident was an unpleasant necessity," said he airily. "But come,

Mr. Greator, this attitude of high morals would be very well in you were you the proper heir. But what are we but both upon the same level? Robbers, bandits, what you will, certainly with no great reason for pride, and at least I face the position and would ask you to do the same."

The words of the man completely abashed me. And when I considered, he spoke no more than the truth. He said truly when he described us as upon the same level. We were conspiring each in his way against the laws of the country and risking our liberties in an illegal attempt to steal what the custom of the kingdom had claimed as the spoils of the crown. I will admit that the captain's reasoning confounded me, and I was left staring hopelessly at the situation in a kind of humiliation against which I kicked in vain. Yet I was not for his seeing so much as a wink or a blink in me.

"You must not misunderstand me," said I after a pause in which I digested these reflections. "I put my value on my own situation, and I am willing to agree to these terms, so far, at least, as they consort with my own inclinations. You will not look for a greater consideration than I would bestow upon you apart from this struggle in which we are involved?"

"Why, certainly not," said he gayly and as one who had gained his point.

"Very well," said I, rising. "And that commits us to very little."

"Then, Mr. Greator," said he, "we have concluded, and we know where we stand."

At this I pulled myself up short, and, fetching my watch out of my pocket, I said:

"I know this, Captain Sercombe, that I give you three minutes to be free of the castle and outside the gate. After that time I will take what steps I choose against burglars."

The smile vanished from his face and was succeeded by a nasty frown. "You forget," he said, "that I am here as an invited guest."

"What, in my chamber?" said I hotly. "The devil take your invitation! That I reserve for myself!"

He came into the passage. "I believe," said he as amiably as ever, "that I am now within the precincts of my right and within the rights of hospitality."

"As you choose," said I sullenly. "And that being so, I will trouble you to awaken your host from a drunken slumber, concocted I know not how."

"My dear sir," said the captain, laughing now quite cheerfully, "there is no concoction necessary. I assure you. A bottle of whisky or Burgundy to his elbow and my young friend Montgomery asks nothing better. And I trust that you will give me credit for this, that I do not trespass upon another gentleman's cellars."

"No," said I. "You keep sober, I grant you," and stalked somewhat angrily down the stairs.

Montgomery lay where I had left him, but lifted his head upon our entrance, glaring with a stupid and miserable eye upon us.

"Ah," said the captain pleasantly, "my young friend is himself again, or at least wants but a bucket of cold water!" And he clapped him on the back in a friendly fashion.

"You had better take him away," said I curtly, but at that remark and after glancing from one to the other the boy's eyes rested upon my face with a look of consternation, and suddenly he buried his face in his arms with a sort of sob.

"Faith, I am in the way here," said the captain merrily, and without more ado he shuffled out of the house, leaving me alone with the wretched youth.

I stood for a time regarding him with indifference, but presently another mood overtook me. He was honest and real, I could swear, but he was an arrogant fool and had a very sorry vice.

"Montgomery," said I, "you have been guilty of a grave breach of faith. But so far we are not the losers by it, and I think if you will take the advice of your friend, the captain, we shall be in a better condition to discuss this presently."

He took the hint, turned from me a blotchy face of shame and hurried with little dignity from the room. It was half an hour ere he returned and presented me an air of determination which convinced me that he had assumed with difficulty. It was then that, without referring to his own conduct, I explained in a general way the harm he had done me.

"You have said hard words to me, Mr. Greator," he said, "none the less hard because they are true."

I appreciated the struggle which had been contested in the silly head.

"As it turns out, you have done me less mischief than you think," I replied.

"That is no excuse," he retorted hotly. "I have acted like a cad, but I will ask you to believe that I have the best will in the world to be your friend."

"You could be a very good friend to me," I answered, "if you would obey orders. A good soldier, Montgomery, has a scrupulous conscience while on duty. Outside that he may be what he will."

"I have done what I would all my life," he said modestly. "And I am all the worse for it."

"That is very likely," said I dryly. "But now you have the chance to amend."

He looked up eagerly. "Do you give me another chance?" he asked earnestly. "Mr. Greator, I will ask no questions. I don't pretend to understand the position. But you are free to use me."

"I am going to trust you," I answered him, "and in proof of my resolve I will leave you in charge here tomorrow."

An expression of satisfaction lit up his features.

"You will not regret it," he said. "And as for that scoundrel Sercombe"—he paused, with a savage look of dislike—"I will catch him and break his bottles over his head."

CHAPTER VII.

I HAD already resolved that it would be folly to depend upon Montgomery alone. Now that he was aroused and upon his guard I had no doubt of his constancy for a few days. But there was no saying how soon he might relapse. And in any case I needed a wiser head than his to oppose the cunning of the enemy, not to say that we should welcome two more strong arms should it come to the fact of war. That the captain and his friends, whoever they were, were in deep earnest and would stick at little I was by this time fully convinced. It was very plain that we were none of us in a position to demand assistance from the law. We were adventurers all, and now that I had had time to face the thought I confessed it without a blush, resolved, if anything, that it was a virtuous action to baffle such a pack of hardened scoundrels. But several duties imperiously demanded of which one was to determine how far this plot had run and the particulars and persons of our enemies. Sercombe himself was one, and I had no doubt that he was co-operating cordially with Hood, that sleek and impassive scamp. Questions upon Sercombe also flickered in my mind, and for the rest I must keep my senses brisk and my wits awake.

But the most instant task lay before me that morning and had been decided ere I went to bed the previous evening. I must have Sheppard or Rogers to help me against these odds, and that forthright. Here again I was confronted with a third necessity and luckily saw a means to conjure both. These rascals were after my piece of parchment, without which their own fragment was useless. I must dispose of this at once and get rid of so much peril at the least. It was true that I might possibly drag Sheppard down by the telegraph, but then again this was most uncertain in a man of his temperament. He would want the persuasion of a sudden impulse and above all a stirring narrative to thrill his pulses such as might be presented to him in a personal interview.

Moreover, if I went to London my paper should go with me. And what was easier than to persuade Sheppard and secure my document at once, thereby? These considerations pointed to a journey to town, and that I must take at once and before either Montgomery's ardor had faded or the enemy had prepared a blow. I reckoned upon an interval of time after the recent exchanges between myself and the captain. What quickened my intentions was an incident which occurred shortly after breakfast and while I was still debating the dangers of the situation. I went to my room at 11 and began to pack a valise methodically in the manner of a man who has all his life been used to his own labors. The last and the most important particular in this work was to put up my writing case securely. To make sure of my precious paper I unlocked the case and took out the sheet. I was upon the point of replacing it when I suddenly decided to put it in my pocket, which accomplished I buttoned my coat tightly.

At this moment I heard the noise of a snapping bough and hastily looked forth by the window. The lowmest branch of a sycamore that stood upon the edge of the most hung swinging in the air and showing a great gap of naked white wood. I sprang up, put my head out of the window and could just catch a sight of some one vanishing round the corner of the building. This news of the enemy came very sharply upon me, and without stopping to complete my packing I ran out of the door and took the stairs three steps at a time. But no stranger was visible when I emerged upon the park, and I was driven back upon Mrs. Main. Here I had a clue, for certainly a stranger had come up to the castle by the gates half an hour before; but, according to the housekeeper, no mystery enveloped him. He had rung manfully at the bell and demanded Mr. Williams, and had been sent on to the farm buildings by Mrs. Main herself, who had overseen his interview with the housemaid.

"What was this man like?" I asked.

"He was a short, dark young fellow, sir," said she, "and something odd about him." But what that oddness was she could not tell, and completed the picture by ascribing to him "a squint and something funny-like in his walk," adding again and with a sudden elation, "Like what a sailor might be."

I strolled off to find Williams at the stables. The stranger had been there. Of that there was no question. Williams, a sharp, undersized and black advised Welshman, with a passion of sentiment in his meager body, confirmed the description given by Mrs. Main. The man had inquired if there was any chance of a job, but seemed so thoughtful Williams immediately concerned as to whether there was or was not. He added that the intruder was a foreigner, but to this statement I paid no attention, as to the Welsh and indeed to all country people the word implies little more than stranger.

"That is good of you," said I sarcastically.

"Secondly," continued he, unmoved and counting on his fingers, "there is no reason why this campaign should breed ill will. I like you, and off duty there is room for exchange of friendly courtesies."

"You forget," I said sharply, "in what relation I find you. There can be no peace between your profession and mine."

He smiled. "The incident was an unpleasant necessity," said he airily. "But come,

"That is very likely," said I dryly. "But now you have the chance to amend."

He looked up eagerly. "Do you give me another chance?" he asked earnestly. "Mr. Greator, I will ask no questions. I don't pretend to understand the position. But you are free to use me."

"I am going to trust you," I answered him, "and in proof of my resolve I will leave you in charge here tomorrow."

An expression of satisfaction lit up his features.

"You will not regret it," he said. "And as for that scoundrel Sercombe"—he paused, with a savage look of dislike—"I will catch him and break his bottles over his head."

An Absolute Cure For DYSPEPSIA

Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Belching of gas after eating, mean weakness.

By means of its muscles, the stomach should churn the food—changing solids into liquids—mixing in the gastric juice to start digestion.

If the stomach is weak—then food is not properly churned and mixed with enough gastric juice. Then you have indigestion and then dyspepsia.

Fruit-A-Tives

strengthen the stomach—just as juicy beef and eggs and milk strengthen the wasted frame of a patient getting over Typhoid.

FRUIT-A-TIVES contain the elements that give new vigor new energy—to the muscles lining the stomach—stimulate the digestive glands and assure a copious flow of gastric juice for each meal.

More than that, FRUIT-A-TIVES correct the Constipation which usually attends stomach trouble—and by acting directly on kidneys and liver, put the whole system in healthy condition.

FRUIT-A-TIVES are a peculiar combination of fruit juices and tonics that are known all over Canada for their wonderful cures in all stomach, liver and kidney troubles.

In the absence of Ald. Lawlor the Clerk read the following report of the Committee of the Whole.

The Town Council of the Town of Newcastle met in Committee of the Whole Council in the Town Office on Monday the 25th day of June A. D. 1906 at 2.30 P. M.

Present, the Mayor, Aids. Allison Belyea, John Clark, T. A. Clarke, Lawlor, Ritchie and Williston.

His Worship appointed Ald. Lawlor, Chairman.

The question of Depreciation of property introduced by Ald. Belyea, was held over for the Special Committee on the matter to get more information and report to the Council.

Recommendations of the Police Committee presented by Chairman T. A. Clarke. After discussion the matters touched upon were left in the hands of the Police Committee.

Ald. Williston, Chairman of Water and Light Committee introduced the questions of building a coal shed and procuring coal by water and also the advisability of an increase in salary to Electrician Follansbee.

On motion of Ald. John Clark, seconded by Ald. Allison the water and light Committee were instructed to ask local dealers for tenders for coal supply and report at next regular meeting.

On motion of Ald. Williston seconded by Ald. Ritchie it was decided to increase Mr. Follansbee's salary to $75.00 per month commencing 1st July next.

Ald. Lawlor, from Special Committee submitted estimates on extension of Electric Light System to Bridgetown.

After discussion, it was moved by Ald. Ritchie, seconded by Ald. Williston and carried that a Committee of three be appointed to interview Mr. McKane and other residents of that district to see what the probable income from the light would be.

The following were appointed to comprise that Committee, Aids. Ritchie, Williston and Lawlor.

It was moved by Ald. John Clark and seconded by Ald. Allison that this Committee recommend to the Council the purchase of a younger team of horses for Town purposes. Carried.

On motion meeting adjourned.

This was received and taken up section by section and adopted as a whole.

On the section of Electrician Follansbee's increase of salary, Ald. Desmond said that when Electrician Follansbee was appointed it was understood that he was to get $65. He was of the opinion that with the large amount of expenses under which the town labored, it could not offer to pay large salaries. Expenses should be kept down so that the revenue from water and light would show a good surplus and reduce the taxes. He moved as amendment that the salary remain at $65 per month.

Ald. Williston said that he thought the Council was justified in increasing the electrician's salary to $75. The Electrician had been hired on trial at that figure and during that time had given good satisfaction, and when the Council considered that a man could not be procured for the figure now asked, he was sure the increase would be granted.

Ald. T. Clarke said that the Electrician had been offered $90 to go out of town and manage a business.

Ald. Belyea stated that Mr. Follansbee did not hold an engineer's certificate, and asked if this would effect insurance in case of damage.

Ald. Ritchie thought this would have no bearing on the insurance. His Worship ruled Ald. Desmond's amendment out of order and the section was adopted.

Ald. Ritchie said that residents living on the upper part of Regent street wished the water and sewerage extended to serve them.

Ald. J. Clark said there was another and more important street where the residents wanted water and protection from fire. They were paying for fire protection and had none. One of the residents of that street had assured him that if his property was burned he would hold the town responsible.

Ald. Belyea moved that a committee of three be appointed to ascertain the cost of the extension up each street and report at next meeting.

Aids. Belyea, J. Clark and T. Clarke were appointed such committee. A petition of The Miramichi Farm Implement Co., re taxes was referred to the Committee on Petitions.

COMPULSORY EDUCATION
The Mayor read a section of the Compulsory School Act.

Ald. J. Clark said he was a little doubtful if the act was put in force at once, whether the necessary work could be done by the school board, or whether there would be sufficient accommodation for the increased number of children.

His Worship did not think that it was necessary to carry out the law to the very letter at the start. He was strongly in favor of the act as he knew the effect of ignorance as he had been connected with the schools for a number of years. There was many children of school age growing up in ignorance. He therefore was in favor of putting the act into force at once.

Ald. Belyea was also in favor of the act being put into force at once. He has spoken to Principal Steves and was assured that accommodations could be provided with very little trouble. He moved that the Council authorize the act.

The motion was carried unanimously.

The Council then adjourned.

A GREAT TREAT

The ADVOCATE has succeeded in completing an arrangement by which every person taking advantage of our offer will secure the greatest treat in reading matter ever offered the Canadian public.

The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal has lately entered into a syndicate with a few others of the leading papers of England and America by which they have secured, at a cost of $150,000 twelve new stories by twelve of the world's best authors, and they are to appear in the Family Herald before they are issued in book form. Each story is completed in a month, making twelve complete stories, that would cost eighteen dollars in book form, inside the year. It is certainly one of the greatest feats in modern journalism, and only the strongest newspapers could take the risk of the immense expenditure.

We have made arrangements to offer the ADVOCATE and the Family Herald and Weekly Star until January 1st, 1907, for the small sum of Fifty cents, and in that time those taking advantage of the offer will secure at least six of the complete stories not counting the many other interesting features of the Family Herald and their own local paper.

To present readers of the ADVOCATE we offer the Family Herald for the balance of the year for only Forty cents.

Subscriptions should be sent the ADVOCATE office at once.
