FARMING AFFAIRS.

Agriculture as a profession, strengthens the mind and contributes to the health and energy of the human constitution; and when attended to as a science, it is a boundless source of rational recreation, wealth and happiness.

We resume the insertion of articles connected with the farming interests, and shall have copious sources to draw from on our shelves, we yet select the favors of Correspondents, especially those which are the results of experiment.

Preparing Seed Wheat.—We have occasionally published articles showing the great importance of preparing seed wheat so as to prevent smut and we have also published various methods of preparing seed which have proved an effectual remedy against this injury. We would now urge the importance of properly preparing seed wheat as the cost is trifling, and without this little attention a great loss may be sustained.

A great many methods of preparing seed in order to prevent smut have been tried, a good number of which have proved successful. We consider the following a very easy and convenient method; it is practised extensively and with good success, and the preparation is useful to the wheat as it serves as a manure. One great advantage in this mode is that if prepared or partially prepared, it may remain some time before sowed without injury.

Put about half a bushel of wheat into a tub and add water, then wash it thoroughly, stirring it violently with a rough stick that it may have a good scrubbing. Then turn in water, stir it and turn off the water, repeating this process several times that all the light stuff may be turned off. Wash another lot, and so proceed until it is all washed.

Then add to the wheat strong salt water, no matter if it be as strong as it can be made, allowing the water to rise above the wheat, and stir it well. The oats, if any, and the light grains of wheat, will rise to the top and should be removed. Let the wheat soak a day two or three days would be better, and if not convenient to sow, let it remain a week or more. Then drain off the water and add slaked lime till the wheat will separate so that it may be sowed conveniently.

We have known cases of grain remaining a week or two in strong salt & water without injury. One case was related to us in which the wheat lay in strong salt water a fortnight, the pickle was then drained off, but the wheat remained wet a week longer; then it was dried and kept till the next year, when it was sown and grew well.

Some cases have been published in which wheat remained a long time after being limed before it was sown, and it grew well.

Advice of a Farmer to his Boys.

Come boys, let us see if we can't farm a little better this season than we did last. I think we can if we make an effort, and if every succeeding year we outstrip the preceding one, I think in a few years you will be able to set up for yourselves. We have already sown our grass seed this spring thicker than heretofore, which there is reason to believe will amply repay us for the additional seed, as we have heretofore always had more or less bald places in our grass field, or had them filled up with weeds.
We have sown seed oats which weigh ten or twelve pounds a bushel more than the common kind we have usually sown; this cannot fail to give us a better crop than usual.

to be an advantage of at least 25 per cent over the light stuff we have had in former years, and if it is found to become lighter by being resowed, we must change our seed again at a future time. We must increase our potatoe crop, and raise an acre of ruta-baga, for winter food for our cattle and sheep; the attention to these root crops is light work, besides, I intend to buy neighbor Jones' old still, I think he will sell it cheap, as it sickens his heart to think of a still, since the prostration of all his prospects for the advancement of his once fine boys. We can fix his up, so as to steam our roots and grain for the hogs and cattle, and hay for it is said they go much further and feed better by being cut and steamed. Let us turn to tomorrow morning right early, and drive on our work vigorously during the season, and with the blessing of Providence on our united exertions we shall find ourselves blessed in basket and in store, even beyond our deserts.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

THE NEW LORD LIEUTENANT.— Lord Ebrington comes to Ireland with the strongest possible testimonials of capability and fitness. He has been abused by Lord Lynd-hurst—sneered at by Lord Brougham—snarled at by Lord Westmeath —and groaned at by Lord Roden.
This augurs well for the popularity of the noble lord. The vituperation of the Tory peers will be regarded by the people of Ireland as the best and surest proofs of Lord Ebrington's honesty and uprightness of character. It assures them at once of his impartiality, and impartiality is all they seek for or demand at the hands of the Viceroy.
The Tory Peers, however, are not the only persons who have furnished his lordship with letters of recommendation; as if to render his popularity doubly sure he has been blackguarded by the Times, lampooned by the Post, and slandered by the Standard.—Freeman's Journal.

ROYAL HUMANE SOCIETY'S CAUTIONS.—We submit the following cautions to consideration in case of suspended animation it apparently drowned:—1. Lose not an instant in sending for medical assistance.
2. In the mean time avoid every kind of rough usage. 3. Do not hold the body up by the feet. 4.
Nor roll the body on its back. 5. Nor rub the body with salt or spirits.
6. Nor inject tobacco smoke or infusion of tobacco. Restorative means:—1. Convey the body carefully, with the head and shoulders supported in a raised position, to the nearest house. 2. Strip the body and rub it dry; then wrap it in a warm bed in a warm chamber. 3. Wipe and cleanse the mouth and nostrils. 4. In order to restore the natural warmth of the body, move a heated covered warming-pan over the back and spine; put bladders, or bottles of hot water, or heated bricks, to the pit of the stomach, the armpits, between the thighs, and to the soles of the feet; foment the body with hot flannels, but, if possible, immerse the body in a hot bath; as hot as the hand can bear without pain, as this is preferable to the other means of restoring warmth.
5. Rub the body briskly with the hand; do not, however, suspend the use of the other means at the same time. 6. In order to restore breathing, introduce the pipe of a common bellows into one nostril carefully closing the other and mouth; at the same time drawing downwards, and pushing gently backwards, the upper part of the windpipe, to allow a more admission of air; blow the bellows gently in order to inflate the lungs, till the breast be a little raised the mouth and nostrils should then be set free, and a moderate pressure made with the hand upon the chest. Repeat this process till life appears. 6. Electricity to be employed early by a medical assistant. 7. Inject into the stomach by means of an elastic tube or syringe, half a pint of warm brandy and water, or wine and water.

8. Apply sal volatile of hartshorn to the nostrils. On restoration to life, a tea-spoonful of warm water should be given; and then, if the power of swallowing be returned, small quantities of warm wine, or weak brandy and warm water; the patient should be kept in bed, and a disposition to sleep encouraged. The above treatment recommended by the Royal Humane Society, to be persevered in for three or four hours.

Tails Magazine. Tait presents his readers with a very happy selection of articles this month. In-politics, the two most prominent questions of the day,—one foreign, the other domestic,—are discussed in a manner quite characteristic of our influential friend,—longest, clear, and energetic. "Waf in India" gives the writer occasion to direct attention to the system of mis-government in that quarter, the internal disaffection towards British authority arising from this, and the serious consequences, in case of attempted invasion, which might ensue from this doubtful and main dependence upon native feeling. The food-tax,—the all-absorbing domestic question,—has received able sifting treatment from the writer of "British Commerce versus British Corn Laws" Plain spoken and forcible, he arrives at the conclusion that "the abolition, the total and immediate abolition, is demanded as an act of justice, and as a measure of proved necessity." Turning from matters political, we have two agreeable papers of literary gossip, one on Mrs. Jameson's Canadian Rambles, the other a portion of the Opium Eater's Lake Reminiscences. The gist of Mrs. Jameson's delightful book is better given here than in any analysis we have seen. Notwithstanding that the Opium Eater has the sin of spinning over fine to his account, we have yet a curious hankering towards the reminis-cences of the old man. It is not in human nature to resist the proffered peep, close and microscopic, at such matters as Wordsworth and Coleridge. In an interesting glance at Wordsworth's early life, this month, we are let into the amusing, particular that the most staid, plain, and temperate man of his times, no less than assumed the dandy with silk stockings and powdered hair at the commencement of his college career at Cambridge, and more, which is not the least strange part, he, by way of doing damage to the temperate Milton, celebrated his visit to the rooms once occupied by him at Christ's College, by actually getting "stazy." It was the first and last time, however, remarks Dr. Quincy, and he would be a church, he adds, "who would brown on it." The following elegant contribution (and truthful as elegant,) from the pen of Dr. Bowring will be much and justly admired:—

The men whose minds move faster than their age And faster than society's dull flight, Must hear the rattle rattling and the rage Of those who lag behind it. As the light Plays on the horizon's verge before it's night Can penetrate life's dark and murky stage, As the tired halcyon on his pilgrimage Hears, ere he sees, the fountain bubbling bright:
As the sweet smiles of infants promise youth,
And in sighs suffrings herald sacred truth,— So, though flung forward is the prophecy Of Truth's majestic march, and shows the way Where future time shall lead the proud array Of peace, of power, and love of liberty.

Baron Cuvier, in his eulogy on Sir Joseph Banks, bears the following just and noble testimony to the national efforts of Great Britain.

The philosophers of England, says he, have taken an equally glorious part in those intellectual labors common to all civilized nations. They have confronted the external frosts of either pole.— They have not left a corner of the two oceans unvisited. They have increased tenfold the catalogue of nature. They have peopled the heavens with planets, satellites, and phenomena hitherto unknown—we may almost say that they have counted the stars of the milky way.
If chemistry has assumed a new aspect, the facts they have furnished have essentially contributed to the metamorphosis. Inflammable air, phlogistic air, are due to them. They have discovered the decomposition of water, and a number of new metals have been produced by their analyses. The nature of fixed alkalis has also been demonstrated by them.—mechanism at their voice has given birth to miracles, and elevated their country above all others in almost every species of manufacture.

The following Resolutions are appended to a very copious Report by the Committee of the Assembly of Upper Canada, appointed to take into consideration that part of the Lieutenant Governor's opening speech relating to the CLERGY RESERVES.

1. Resolved.—That the lands set apart from time to time as reserves for the support and maintenance of a Protestant Clergy, be sold in the same manner as other Crown Lands in this Province.
2. Resolved.—That the proceeds of past and future sales of any such lands be loaned to the Province at an interest of six per cent per annum, to be invested in debentures which may be authorized by the Legislature for the making and improving the Queen's public highway, throughout the Province; the interest on such debentures to be secured by tolls on such highways—by a tax, on the Districts within which the outlay shall take place, and by any other means as the Legislature may deem fit and proper.

3. Resolved.—That the annual interest arising from such debentures be appropriated, and divided under the authority and direction of the Lieutenant Governor, in Council, in manner following:

Not more than one-fourth to the Church of England.
Not more than one-fourth to the Church of Scotland.

The residue to such other religious denominations as the Lieutenant Governor in Council shall see fit, to be by them expended for the following purposes:

The maintenance of public worship.

The erection of Churches or Chapels.

The education of persons for the Ministry.

4. Resolved.—That accounts of the expenditure of all sums granted, duly certified shall be, when required, rendered by the Clergy or bodies of Christians receiving the same, and that the Lieutenant Governor be authorized to withhold further and further any Church or body of Christians until proper accounts shall have been duly accounted for.

5. Resolved.—That annual accounts of the receipt and expenditure be laid before each branch of the Legislature.

6. Resolved.—That an humble address be presented to Her Majesty, praying that Her Majesty will be graciously pleased to recommend to the Imperial Parliament the passing such enactments as may be necessary for carrying the foregoing resolutions into full effect.

The New York American has published a long article on the disposition of England and the United States, to improve their present uneasy relations, from which we have taken the following extra-its:—

"The sensitiveness of commercial communities to every indication however faint, of an interruption of ordinary peaceful intercourse, was never more strongly manifested than in the present condition of things in this city. Business on any large scale is almost at a stand.

Prospective engagements, except for the shortest periods, are avoided on all hands, and there is that eager looking for "the latest news" which ever characterizes such period of suspense and apprehension.

Now it is just a similar operation of the same feelings in Great Britain, that we look to with some confidence, as likely to contribute to the event that all desire—that of continued honorable peace.

After the first explosion in London shall have passed off—and as Parliament will be in session when the intelligence reaches there of the Maine difficulties, and especially of the act of Congress, vesting the Executive with large discretionary powers in men and money—there will probably be a momentary outbreak. The closely united interests of the two countries, the extent to which each contributes to the benefit of the other, and the strong moral feeling against war, except as an inevitable alternative, that forms a part of the spirit of the age—will restrain the ebulli-tions of anger and of pride within safe and controllable limits.

Meanwhile, until the Great Western, of which the arrival may now be looked for, in about a fortnight, shall bring back the echo from Great Britain, of the closing scenes and acts of Congress on the Maine question, affairs will still be—stagnant.

Why is the first of May a festive holiday?

Because its customs hail the return of Spring, and chiefly taken from our conquerors, the Romans. Hence, these festivities are as old as any we have on record.
On the 4th of the calends of May, the Romans held their Floralia, or festival in honour of Flora.

Mr. Borlase says: "May customs are nothing more than a gratulation of the Spring, to testify universal joy at the revival of vegetation." And Mr. Douce observes, "that there can be no doubt that the Queen of May is the legitimate representative of the goddess Flora, in the Roman festival."

It was anciently the custom for all ranks of people to go out a maying early on the first of May.— Bourne tells us that in the villages in the north of England, the juvenile part of both sexes were wont to rise a little after midnight on the morning of that day, and walk to some neighbouring wood, accompanied with music and the blowing of horns, where they broke down branches from the trees, and adorned them with nosegays and crowns of flowers. This done, they returned homewards with their booty, about the time of sun-rise, and made their doors and windows triumph in the flowery spoil.—
"There was a time when this custom was observed by noble and royal personages, as well as the vulgar."—Brand.

Nine tailors make a man.—This term had its origin in the following manner: in 1743 an orphan beggar boy applied for alms at a fashionable tailor shop in London, in which nine journeymen were employed. They contributed nine shillings for the relief of the little sufferer. With this capital he purchased fruit, which he retailed at a profit, and eventually rose to wealth and distinction; and when he set up his carriage, had painted on the panel, "Nine tailors make a man."

GREAT BRITAIN.

LATEST INTELLIGENCE.

By the Monongahela at Philadelphia.

The failure of Ashley and Son, of Regent-street, bankers and army agents, which took place on Wednesday, is regarded in the city as an event quite unimportant. Their transactions have been of small amount and they have few connections at the east end of the town. Their engagements are not estimated at more than £30,000, probably the smallest in any case of the kind occurring in the metropolis.

We regret to learn that the Portuguese Government has refused to sign the treaty under negotiation with Lord Howard de Walden, the object of which was to secure the co-operation of the government of this country in carrying out the decree of the 10th of December, 1886, by which the traffic in slaves was to be entirely abolished under heavy penalties, throughout all the dominions of Portugal.

Liverpool, March 1.

We are glad to see that the averages, though still considerably above 7s are falling, that for the last week being 7s 10d. for Wheat and for the same, which regulate duty, 7s 10d.

We have great pleasure in stating that Mr. Colley Grattan has been appointed to the office of British Consul at Boston, in the United States. It seems almost unnecessary to remind our readers that this gentleman, the author of "Highways and Byways," and of several other popular works, is among the most distinguished literary men of this day.

Attempt to assassinate Mad Vestris.—The London papers contain a queer story of a diabolical attempt to assassinate Mad Vestris. One account says that two persons, supposed to be Americans, had determined to blow the lady up because her husband had spoken against the United States.

From the Official Almanac of Rome, recently published, it appears that the sacred college consists of only 57 cardinals, instead of 70, its usual number. Six new cardinals are said, in that capital, to have been named by the Pope, but the other seven wanting to complete the number are not yet supposed to have been designated. His Holiness is in his 73d year, and in the eighth of his reign. The eldest prelate of the College is Cardinal Bussi, aged 83; and the youngest, Cardinal della Genga Sermatelli, who is only 57. The united ages of all the Cardinals amount to no less than 3642 years.

The following jeu d'esprit appears in the Bangor Courier from a correspondent at Salt River. The agreement is that of course, suggested by Gen. Scott and entered into by Sir John Harvey and Gov. Fairbairn.

Our folks got together after we heard of the agreement, and thinking we might as well laugh as cry, we had a sit down, and among other things, the following toasts were drunk:

Squire Fairfield.—Brig is a good dog, but holdfast a better. Music by the band—tune, Bow, wow, wow, I'm Martin Van's dog, whose dog art thou.

Squire Strickland.—Swift as an Indian arrow flies, Or like a shooting star.

Musical.—Tune—Devil take the hindmost. Our Country—May she soon change front, as we to bring the Pen in the rear. Tune—For there's no luck about the house.

The Amoskock Expedition.—A tragedy, comic opera, in three Acts, interspersed with songs, glees, but no catches. Music, tune—O dear, what can the matter be.

Squire Strickland.—Of all the brave birds that ever I saw, The Owl is the fairest in the degree.

Musical.—Tune—Downfall of Pa. The Officers and Soldiers of the Penobscot Army—All they want is orders, to stop Harvey's meditations, make the blue noses work sprightly, and settle the boundary question, in the carrying off of a good post. Music, tune—Yankee doodle.

After the toasts were drunk, dancing was proposed, and the music struck up the Squire's retreat, but there was but one man in the company who was spry enough to go it, and he had Sir Vincent dance, or he'd never been able to keep up with the music, so they give it up and went home, after passing the following resolution:

Resolved, That next September we will elect a man for Governor who went back on this knot-hole.

STEAMERS FROM ENGLAND TO NOVA-SCHOTIA.

Mr. Cunard is to receive £55,000 sterling per annum, for the conveyance of the Mail. The boats are to be of 300 horse power, and about 800 tons, and are to run twice a month to Halifax. In addition to the large boats that cross the Atlantic, there is to have boats of 150 horse power to convey the mails from Halifax to Boston, and from Pictou to Quebec, so long as the navigation continues open between the latter ports. To carry these arrangements into effect seven or eight boats will be required. Mr. Cunard intends to have them built in Scotland. They are to commence running on the first day of May, 1890.

A great portion of passengers for the United States, and all for Canada, would prefer this route.

COMMUNICATIONS.

For the Standard.

Mr. Editor,

Those who condemn his Excellency for discharging the embodied militia, and tell us that nine tenths of the community are of their opinion, speak without book. If we were to leave the nine-tenth man a tithe of the people, whom he is pleased not to claim as of his opinion, he would probably be considerably in our debt on the score of liberality. What is said about a surrender of a part of the disputed territory by suffering a temporary stay thereon of the Maine civil posse, to prevent the depredations of trespassers, is silly enough to be sure. Would he leave no alternative to his Excellency but their forcible expulsion, and consequent war in good earnest between Maine and the Province?—for it comes to this, if there be any sense in the production of this fault-finder—Sir John has compromised no right—sacrificed no interest—and taken the one only course open to him for the preservation of quiet on the borders, and throughout the Province.

The possession of the whole disputed territory is, and ever has been, since 1783, in Great Britain, she having been the owner of the whole country at and previous to that time. What was not then by treaty expressly conveyed must of necessity remain de jure in the same possession as previous to that time, and must so remain until the right of ownership is ascertained, whatever may be the facts as to the actual possession. This is subject however to one qualification, and that is, the possibility of a claim being set up on either side, which should leave no room for rational doubt as to its correctness, according to the letter and spirit of the treaty. Sir John has done nothing more than an imperative duty for the preservation of border tranquillity, to say no more, and precisely what it behooved him to as a prudent man, and one who need not be told what belongs to his duty, by such fault-finders as infest the public journals. The rights of the parties remain exactly as they were antecedent to the late movements, and in fact could not be changed by any action, either of the authorities of Maine or New Brunswick. The question is exclusively national, and can be decided only by the Governments themselves. To talk of concessions of national rights by the local executive, betrays an ignorance of the matter, which ought at least to keep those who are afflicted with it out of the Newspapers. Throughout this whole affair Sir John appears to have managed it, with a zeal for the public interests and the peace of the Province, and with a moderation, skill, and address, for which not only is the Province greatly indebted to him, but the parent government also, for not still more complicating a question sufficiently complicated already, and for not, so far as he is concerned, endangering the pacific relations existing between the two countries.

Mr. Editor—Many will no doubt, be surprised to hear, that another attempt is making to restore Mr. Hatheway to the Magistracy; and more particularly will they be surprised, when they are made acquainted with the manner in which certain individuals have endeavoured to make a cat's paw of the Grand Jury to effect their purposes. The manner in which it was done, I will now detail. At the suggestion of a magisterial friend, Mr. H. handed in to the Grand Jury a paper headed "Grand Jury Room April 11th" complaining of the inefficiency of the present Justices, and requesting that he, Mr. H. should be restored to his former dignity; thereby implying that he was the only fit person in the Town to be the High Priest of a Trading Justice Shop. But finding that the Grand Jury were not willing to entertain his views, on the first application, he made a second attempt, couched in different language, as respected the present Magistracy, which the Grand Jury indignantly refused to entertain.

Now, Sir, what does all this amount to? Why, I will tell you, it was for the purpose that the matter might come before the Court, and that then the merits and demerits of Mr. H. would be canvassed, and I have no hesitation in saying that it would have ended in a recommendation to restore Mr. H. coming, as it would appear, from the Court and Grand Jury! (One way, indeed, to blind the eyes of His Excellency.) However, finding the plan would not take, what do some of our worthies next do? Why, recommended Mr. H. to the favourable reconsideration of his Excellency, and beg that he may be restored; which I trust will never be the case until Mr. H. rebuts the charges already made against him.

Such miserable attempts to regain strength to the declining influence of our would-be rulers, is too contemptible to be taken notice of, were it not for the purpose of shewing them up, as has been the case in the affair of our worthy Sheriff. Look at the doings in the latter case, and then on this, and you cannot help exclaiming "O! tempora, O! mores." The parties alluded to may tickle themselves with the idea that because Mr. H. is Major of a Militia Battalion, that he will be enabled to influence the men at the next Election, but I think they will fail. The freeholders of the 3d Batt. are men of too much sense to be led away by any such influence; as I am convinced they will to a discharge their duty to the Province by voting for whom they think proper. The fact of the matter is simply this, their object is to defeat Boyd at the next electioneering contest but "alas! poor Yorick!"—their days are numbered!—their glass is run. The independent Electors of the County are the best judges into whose hands they will resign their high privileges. I shall not trespass at this time further on the columns of your paper, but am ready on the first reply to this, to prepare a dose for these Worthies—a little more indigestible. Yours, &c.

Britannicus.

To the Editor of St. Andrews Standard.

Sir; I have read somewhere, but not in the penny Magazine, that all private evil is universal good; and if that be a received dogmatism, I am afraid that any appeal to the public in my own favour would only be received with a scoff, for nobody will believe that a disinterested person will take up his pen to serve the public. Truth, however, is not always to be found at the bottom of a well, nor does it require a crane to hoist it from the slush of the retching tide up to the Market-wharf. But I will state a case that neither particular ly regards myself nor is uninteresting to the public, consequently it does not come within the meaning of the aforesaid category, whether relating to myself, the public, the bottom of a well or the Market-wharf.

The Butchers of this place have had a great deal to contend with during the past season. They have been pushed to procure cattle, and they have been abused for asking a saving price. The law imposes a duty on the living animal, but admits dead meats duty free. A Yankee has driven his cattle from Kennebec and killed them in Robbinston—has skinned them over here, sold them, and is on his way back to Kennebec with his pockets full of province money, to feed there thro' the summer and prepare for another winter draft among the Bluenoses. A Nova-Scotian has brought a dead drove of Cornwallis cattle to this market, kindly supposing that the late military turn out had left us destitute of beef stakes and pigs cheeks, and he humanely offers his hams and carcasses for a copper more than the settled Butchers. If the fair object of competition gave the public a chance of getting meat a copper less, we would not complain; but we consider it wrong to find Yankees and strangers running away with the ready money and leaving the Butchers here to stand before their stalls with their hands in their pockets and nothing in them to chink a tune of comfort for want of trade. Well how is it to be remedied? By putting a duty on dead mea's. Strain not—stare not—I tell you that this is the right remedy, to bring trade into its right channel, and to give the people cheap meat.

Yours, LANIUS.

We have received accounts from England, to the 9th ult. by the Monongahela, at Philadelphia, and have given a few items in another column.

The American newspapers furnish a redundant supply of literary coinage, which compared with correct English, bears the same analogy in language that a base counterfeit does in value to pure gold. It is curious to trace this kind of verbal forgery to any grammatical rule, but a very slight glance will discover that the participial adjectives hitherto held the disputed territory which these intruders have invaded. They try to procure startling effect and create thrilling interest by telling touching narratives full of alarming incidents, harrowing circumstances, striking situations, and daring results. From the same mint are issued the predant terms congressional votes, presidential chair, and gubernatorial election. The convenient is and is ready means for realising nouns into verbs. It requires a facillited mind to comprehend the talented productions of those who speculate in the liberalised literature of the Americans. Fix is the loosest word in the new world. I say Squire, you just fix yourself to start, while I fix the sleigh, and then we'll drive down to lawyer Knapp's and get him to fix them writings—and then I guess we will soon fix that ere chap what has been trying to fix us. Cant sayings constitute another class of barbarisms, and absurdities calculated to excite the vulgar laugh and to claim the wise man's scorn, run through two thirds of the press. Go ahead—epps columbus—and no mistake (borrowed from the Duke) are now nearly obsolete; the reigning favourite being—here she goes and there she goes.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

We regret that the article on loyalty by C. D. is deferred until next week for want of room, caused by the large sized type we are still compelled to use; it will not suffer by delay, altho the other would, which being shorter we have been able to insert.

Britannicus is insistent on the claim he pretends, being that to which Editors must yield—the writer however is alone responsible for the sentiments and allegations in his own publication.

It is a pity to see a cheerful man, before a "bleeding angle." Their deeds of valour in the border fray and make the couple strong soon the chorus roars: "It is a good soldier's duty—poetry is another thing." G should be constant in devotion to the muse and yield as a held medal, reward of his inspiration. We have taken the liberty of altering one word in the last full edition now published.

MARRIED.

At Goderich House, Bathurst, on the 9th inst. by the Rev. Alexander C. Macmillan, Henry W. Wilson, Esquire, of the County of Charlotte, to Mary Jane, daughter of William Knapp, Esquire, M. P. P. for that County. At Hillsborough, Westmorland County on Thursday the 4th inst. by the Rev. Wm. Sears, Captain James Taylor, to Miss Lucie Stevens, daughter of a late Mr. Wm. Stevens of that place.

DIED.

On Friday the 19th inst. in the 23d year of her age, Miss Elizabeth Hesson, daughter of the late Mr. John Hesson of this place.

At London, on the 19th Feb., Henry James Hadden, formerly of this town. The Rev. Dr. Burge, of the Berrym, died on Tuesday, at his residence, Globe E. St. The venerable and excellent man had reached his 94th year, and was the father of the Church of Scotland.

DEPARTED FRIENDS.

We mourn our absent friends, we grieve for those whom Jesus calls to take their last repose: We oft implore the righteousness of God; And wifullly condemn the chastening rod. Yet God has loved us since the world began; He takes no pleasure in the griefs of man; But our afflictions are in merry anal; To teach us to "believe" and to "rejoice."

When those we love are taken from our sight, We grieve, altho' we know that God is right: If he did not afflict, we still would stray; He therefore takes our dearest friends away.

We part from them, but only for a time, We meet again in happy celestial clime: Where friends and kindred spirits join the throng; And all unite in one harmonious song.

Then whosoever grieves, let us rejoice instead, When friends are call'd to mingle with the dead: Let us resign them cheerfully to God, And meekly, humbly, kiss the chastening rod.

FAMILY MEDICINES.

EVANS CAMMISMOLE AND APERTIN'S PILLS. These valuable Medicines were introduced under the sanction of the Society for the Restoration of Health, in London, and having been in England great celebrity by its success with patients, and its efficacy, have recently been introduced in this country and are now offered to the Public, with confidence that their high distinguished character will stand the test of the most thorough trial.

It cannot be denied that whilst many medicines which are recommended to the public, have not only the negative of being harmless, there are others which it would be great injustice indeed not to admit to possess in a common recommendation. And when a medicine comes into the hands of the great masses that have suffered from the various ailments of the human system, and warranted by the use of it, and the signature of a long and successful career, the proprietor makes no more than a demand upon the public confidence, when he claims for it a superior recommendation.

The Cammo Preparation of Dr. Evans is especially recommended for the cure of the following ailments: viz. indigestion, flatulency, and general debility, which are the result of a disordered system, and every medical authority in existence concedes to it, every medical work which alludes to it, and every medical practitioner that is acquainted with it, places it as a recommendation in his prescriptions; and that it should be so in addition to their personal interests must be attributed either to their candor and love of truth, or to their unwillingness to fly in the face of all observation, and the testimony of thousands.

As a first great imposture is constantly put upon the public in the shape of deceptive drugs, it is deemed important that it should be known that these are Evans's Medicines, and that they are a regular recommendation and prescribed by the most experienced physicians in New York, Philadelphia, Albany and other cities of the Union where the pills are as extensively sold. That they should thus be recommended by the most experienced and best informed physicians in the Country to render them useful to all classes, can only be fully ascribed to their undeviating and premeditated honesty.

Examine, however, as this distinction is, it can easily be accounted for from the intrinsic and peculiar properties of the medicine itself. It does not purport to cure any one disease, but to restore the system to its natural state, and to re-establish the regular action of the organs, and to secure the agency of the most efficient and best informed physicians in the Country to render them useful to all classes, can only be fully ascribed to their undeviating and premeditated honesty.

It does not purport to cure any one disease, but to restore the system to its natural state, and to re-establish the regular action of the organs, and to secure the agency of the most efficient and best informed physicians in the Country to render them useful to all classes, can only be fully ascribed to their undeviating and premeditated honesty.

FAMILY MEDICINES.

EVANS CAMMISMOLE AND APERTIN'S PILLS. These valuable Medicines were introduced under the sanction of the Society for the Restoration of Health, in London, and having been in England great celebrity by its success with patients, and its efficacy, have recently been introduced in this country and are now offered to the Public, with confidence that their high distinguished character will stand the test of the most thorough trial.

It cannot be denied that whilst many medicines which are recommended to the public, have not only the negative of being harmless, there are others which it would be great injustice indeed not to admit to possess in a common recommendation. And when a medicine comes into the hands of the great masses that have suffered from the various ailments of the human system, and warranted by the use of it, and the signature of a long and successful career, the proprietor makes no more than a demand upon the public confidence, when he claims for it a superior recommendation.

The Cammo Preparation of Dr. Evans is especially recommended for the cure of the following ailments: viz. indigestion, flatulency, and general debility, which are the result of a disordered system, and every medical authority in existence concedes to it, every medical work which alludes to it, and every medical practitioner that is acquainted with it, places it as a recommendation in his prescriptions; and that it should be so in addition to their personal interests must be attributed either to their candor and love of truth, or to their unwillingness to fly in the face of all observation, and the testimony of thousands.

As a first great imposture is constantly put upon the public in the shape of deceptive drugs, it is deemed important that it should be known that these are Evans's Medicines, and that they are a regular recommendation and prescribed by the most experienced physicians in New York, Philadelphia, Albany and other cities of the Union where the pills are as extensively sold. That they should thus be recommended by the most experienced and best informed physicians in the Country to render them useful to all classes, can only be fully ascribed to their undeviating and premeditated honesty.
