A Few of the Lessons.

There are a few lessons growing out of the fracas between Col. Leys and the editor of the Free Press that are worthy of reference.

The chain of causation seems to nave been, briefly, this: Col. Leys, on the 16th of May, addressed a meeting in favor of the Street Railway Employes' Association. Next day he was assailed in the Free Press in an anonymous letter. The anonymous letter-writer, not content with assailing and sneering at Col. Leys, sneered likewise at Mrs. Leys, who it was known also sympathized with the position taken by organized labor. Col. Leys demanded the name of the author of the letter. A month elapsed, during which the Colonel vainly asked for the name. It is true, Mr. Potter, superintendent of the street railway-three weeks after the lettersent a note to Col. Leys, somewhat defiantly taking upon himself responsibility for the letter. But Col. Leys did not accept this, having reason to believe the real writer was another person connected with the Company. The rest of the incident-the meeting on the street between Col. Leys and Mr. Bremner, and the culminating fracas need not be again summarized, having been given, without coloring, and in perfect fairness, in Tuesday evening's issue.

There are a few lessons which grow out of the occurrence. The first is, that relating to the publication of anonymous letters in newspapers. The Advertiser's long-standing rule against the insertion of anonymous letters foreither love or money, is inflexible. We know of few things more cowardly and abominable than the writing of anonymous letters, whether in newspapers, or anywhere else; and the printing of them we regard as being as discreditable as the writing.

Assuming for the moment that Mr. Potter was the real writer of the letter complained of, why did he not write It over his own name? Col. Leys, at the public meeting, said what he had to say in the open; why did not any who objected to what he had to say, also say it in the open?

Even in a signed letter, there would have been no justification for either writing or printing a communication containing absolutely gratuitous impertinences against a lady.

Of course, the chief revelation grow ing out of the fracas is the additional light it throws on the means employed by the Company to load up public opinion. To the system of cut-anddried interviews, which easily made out organized labor in the wrong, there seems to have been added an anonymous letter bureau; the result of which was that, as we have seen, all sorts of supposedly indignant letters against the men's association kept appearing in certain papers, signed, variously, "Fair Play," "Citizen," "A Dundas Street Merchant," "An Admirer of the Colonel," "Ratepayer," "Shareholder," "Resident of the Fourth Ward," "A North End Citizen," "Grocer," "Loyalist," "An East End Citizen," etc. These were put forth as the voice of the public, when, as there is good reason to suspect, they in reality were the voice of the Company.

What strikes one most forcibly in connection with the London Street Railway Company's whole handling of their former employes, and their handling of the strike, generally, is the manifestation of such a plentifulness of perverted ability in small ways, and the absence of anything like a large handling or a large conception of the situation.

There would probably have been no by the large concession to his busistrike had one-tenth of the money, energy and device spent in circumventing the men, directing detectives, and loading up opinion against organized labor by means of cut-and-dried interviews and anonymous letters, been devoted to endeavoring to find out some form of reasonable compromise with the men through conciliation and arbitration.

The Cleveland Council Intervenes.

A special committee of the City Council of Cleveland, Ohio, have taken the street railway strike in hand, and have brought about a conference of the Company and the men.

The City Council of Cleveland believe that the street railway strike is a matter that concerns the public, and that the public, through their representatives, have a right to interfere.

In commenting on the exemptions taxation lately granted by the City Council to the Mc-Cormick and Perrin factories. Advertiser might have added that the assessment of the McCormick Company was reduced from $73,000 to $50,000, and fixed at the latter sum for ten years, while Mr. Perrin did not apply for or obtain any reduction, but merely asked to be guaranteed against any increase in his present assessment during the same period of ten years.

We understand that Mr. Perrin is not in favor of exemptions from taxation, and would not have asked for the fixing of his assessment had he not been in a measure forced to do so ness rival. We believe the majority of manufacturers would gladly see the exemption

The Exemption System.

system abolished, if they were assured that the abolition could be made general and complete. In these days, when exemptions are the rule, a manufacturer who pays his taxes in full, is in the position of being discriminated against through the sudsidizing of his business rivais. He is perfectly justified in asking the same treatment as his competitors, but he would prefer that all should be on an equal footing and pay their taxes alike. So long as one municipality is permitted to subsidize local industries, other municipalities are impelled to do the same in self-defense. The new section of the municipal amendment act which goes into effect Sept. 1 next, should partially check some of the worst features of the system. It provides that any bylaw to exempt a manufacturing establishment from taxation, in whole or in part, must be approved by two-thirds of all the electors on the voters' list. While this is a step in advance, it does not go far enough. Any municipality, say Aylmer, if two-thirds of its ratepayers were agreeable, could make a bid for a London factory by granting exemptions and other privileges. With such an offer in his pocket, the London manufacturer could ask for the same concession here, on the threat that if he did not get it he would remove his business. The system of exemptions and bonuses must be entirely wiped out or it will always be open to gle was most acute in New South Wales. The referendum on the federation has resulted in 11,045 votes in favor, as against 10.551 opposed, in the city of Sydney. In the suburbs the voting was 24,458 in favor, and 25,048 opposed, and in the country districts the returns, now practically completed, show 65,697 for federation, as against 44,035 opposed. The result has been received here with great enthusiasm and the federation leaders are applauded and eulogized on all hands.

CONTRADICTED. The admiralty officials, when questioned regarding the announcement made in special dispatches from Halifax that vessels belonging to the British North Atlantic squadron were being sent to quell trouble on the French coast of Newfoundland, said there was no truth in the report.

THE NEW CABLE SCHEME. In the House of Commons, Hon.

Joseph Chamberlain, in reply to a question asked by J. F. Hogan (Nationalist, Tipperary), stated that the question between England and the colonies specting the construction of the Pacific cable was still under discussion. Mr. Chamberlain, in replying to another query, said that nothing was known at the admiralty about a man-of-war having been ordered to Anticosti. DIVORCE CASE.

The hearing has commenced of the application for the divorce of Mrs. Chandespole against Samuel Chandes pole, whom she charges with cruelty, and names as co-respondent Miss Inez Broome, now the wife of Hon. Rupert Cecil Craven, brother of the Earl of Craven. The allegations are denied. Extraordinary letters from the husband to his wife and mother-in-law, full of abuse, abominable language and were read in court. Right Hon. Edward Henry Carson, Q.C., formerly solicitor-general of Ireland, is counsel for the petitioner.

ENTERPRISE. The C. P. R.'s enterprise in connection with the new transcontinentl service is widely noted here. The Daily Chronicle says: "We may well wonder how such a journey in four days can be even contemplated. There can be no more luxurious or beautiful trip in all the empire, and its popularity will, no doubt, become greater than ever.

KILLARNEY LAKES. Replying to a question on the sub-Gerald Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, admitted the county council of Kerry had petitioned the government to purchase the Herbert estate in Killarney. But, he added, there was no evidence of a general demand on the part of the public to purchase the estate, as the place, he explained, was removed from the population center, and was of value to tourists during many months of the year.

Miss Emily Crawford, the Paris correspondent of the Daily News, says: A curious message has been received from the Isle of Devils: "Dreyfus has What shall we do with the coffin and embalming drugs?" This coffin was specially made about the time of Zola trial, and was sent out by the Meline Government, because it was feared that if Dreyfus died it would be necessary to bring the remains France for indentification to allay the suspicions of the anti-Semites that he had been allowed to escape like Mar-

A dispatch from Simla says over 50 small villages have been looted and burned in the Timmevelay district. At one town more than a hundred mur ders were committed. The victims, in many cases, were literally hacked to pieces, and then thrown into the flames of their burning homes.

THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

The Brussels conference sub-committee of the international peace conference convened yesterday, Prof. De Maartens of the Russian delegation, presiding. Ten clauses of the drafting committee's report were adopted. The report will now be presented to the conference, and it is expected that nearly all the powers will adopt the new articles as a basis of instructions for armies when entering the field. The Persian delegate, Gen. Mirze Riza-Khan, who is Persian minister to Russia, moved to change the Red Cross emblem to a white flag with a red sun. The plenary conference met to adopt these additional articles, and appointed a committee to draw up a general act embodying the report of the Geneva convention section. This is the first definite result of the conference.

Occupied the Filipino Town of Peres Das Marinas Without Serious

Opposition. Manila, June 20 .- The troops commanded by Gen. Wheaton entered Perez das Marinas today without opposition, except upon the part of small bodies of rebels, who inflicted no losses upon the Americans. The town is an unimportant place, surrounded by swamps, and Gen. Wheaton will probably go to Buena Vista tomorrow, where it is reported the insurgents have re-established the arsenal and powder mill which they removed from Imus. The latest list of the American casualties in Monday's fighting shows that five were killed and 23 wounded. The list includes no officers. MONDAY'S FIGHT.

Washington, June 20 .- Gen. Otis forwards the following from Manila: Wheaton at Imus, Cavite Province, with four guns, four battalions, Fourth and Fourteenth Infantry, Nevada troop cavalry; sent battalion south on reconnoissance in the direction of Das Marinas yesterday morning, where enemy was reported concentrating scattered forces; battalion encountered enemy's force, 2,000 marching to attack Imus. Wheaton, with two guns and two batto the Transvaal at present. The Cape Town correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The Natal volunteers have been talions, hurried forward and repulsed the enemy with heavy loss, the enemy officially ordered to hold themselves in leaving over 100 dead on the field; our loss five killed and 23 wounded. Two privates of the Fourth Infantry, who were wounded during the reconnoissance toward Perez Das Marinas, were left temporarily on the roadside owing to the lack of transportation facilities. On Canadian Railways To Be Covered by Dominion Legislation. [Special to The Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, June 21.-It is understood that the government intends to bring in legislation this session providing running rules for railways, so that all roads may take advantage of them, instead of every road having its own rules, which causes confusion in case of companies that have running rights over other roads. The government bill, when introduced, will be referred to the railway committee, so that its details may be thoroughly threshed out. Some time ago the Grand Trunk adopted American rules, because a good portion of its system is in the United States. There was some dissatisfaction about the change among the employes and the trouble is said not to be en-tirely disposed of. The course which the government intends pursuing would settle this matter.

TWO RIBS BROKEN. A carpenter named Robert Bonney, employed at the Grand Trunk shops, fell from a scaffold yesterday, and had two ribs fractured. Bonney was removing some siding from a car, when he lost his balance, and fell to the floor, a distance of ten feet. He was conveyed to his home, 369 Glebe street. He will be laid up for some weeks. It is feared that his spine is injured.

Mr. Bethune Criticised for Leav ing the Opposition.

He Replies and a Lively Dispute Follows.

Mr. McDougall Shown Up-The Alaskan Boundary Question Again,

Ottawa, June 21.-Before going into supply yesterday members of the oppo-sition had some questions to ask the government, and one of these questions, which had for its subject the action of Mr. Bethune, of Victoria N. S., who was elected in the Conservative interest in 1896, but who this session crossed the floor and took a seat on the government benches, gave rise to a sharp debate.

Mr. McDougali (Cape Breton) brought the matter up by arguing that Mr. Bethune, since his conversion, was not allowed to control the government patronage in his riding, and therefore the riding of Victoria, was unrepre-

Mr. Fielding said, in reply, that the honorable gentleman seemed to entertain the opinion that if the member for Victoria did not control the pat-ronage he did not represent the county. On that basis of reasoning Cape Breton was not represented, because the honorable gentleman and Sir Charles Tupper did not now control the pat-ronage of that county. As to the "mysterious" means by which Mr. Bethune crossed the floor of the house, the opposition would have to apply to that honorable gentleman himself. But he would do that gentleman the justice to say that he had given the government a loyal and independent support, and he desired to thank him it and to acknowledge it, and it did the honorable gentleman credit that he had given that support freely and did not ask to control the patron-

Sir Charles Tupper strongly criti-cised the action of Mr. Bethune, in leaving the opposition without assigning a reason.

Mr. Bethune explained that he came over to the Liberal side because he liked it better. (Cheers.) He thought he aided the interests of his constituents by being on the Liberal side of the house, and he knew that he met with the approval of two-thirds or even nine-tenths of the electorate of his are changes, but they are for the better, they were for the expansion of trade and for the advancement of every interest belonging to Canada. But the last straw to break the camel's back Sir John Thompson, Mr. Bethune said that he several times asked Mr. Mc-Dougall why he did not leave such a party and join the Liberals.

Mr. McDougall declared that these statements were absolutely without foundation. Mr. Bethune did not admit Record Breaking C. P. R. Trip From this, and the speaker was appealed to. Mr. Speaker ruled that one member must accept the explicit denial of another of a statement attributed to

Mr. Bethune declared that he would accept the ruling of the chair, but that the facts were nevertheless as he had stated.

Sir Charles Tupper asked to have the rules of the house enforced, and the speaker held that Mr. Bethune must accept the statement of Mr. McDougall. Mr. Bethune went on to say that Mr. McDougall had complained of the way he was treated, right down from the "hard pan" business, and that he was entitled to cabinet recognition.

Mr. McDougall declared that this was entirely untrue, and was called to order by the speaker for using these words. Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that there was a certain way of contradicting a statement, but the etiquette of parliamentary life did not permit the words "untrue" or "false."

Mr. Bethune.in conclusion.stated that he had never asked for the patronage; in his country; he, in fact, refused it. He said that he had never been asked how he was going to vote on the Yukon bill. When he saw that the bill was a good one he decided to vote for it. Sir Charles Tupper had said he wanted to speak to him, and he waited until 500 majority. mearly 5 o'clock in the morning, but Sir Charles never spoke to him and had never spoken to him since. He would support the government while he found them true statesmen, advancing the interests of the country.

Mr. McNeill asked about the position of the fast Atlantic negotiations. The premier said that he would be able to make a statement in a few days on the subject.

EXCHEQUER COURT.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, solicitor-general, introduced a bill "respecting the jurisdiction of the exchequer court as to railway debts." Its objects, he explained, are to meet such difficulties as occurred in the case of the Manitoba Northwestern Railway. It was held by the privy council that in a case where a railway incorporated by the Parliament of Canada ran partly in one province and partly in another, there is no court that has jurisdiction to dispose of the railway, as it must be disposed of in its entirety, and the bill gives the exchequer court power to deal with such cases.

ALASKA BOUNDARY AND PACIFIC CABLE.

Sir Charles Tupper invited the attention of the government to a statement made in the senate about the provisional boundary line between Canada and Alaska, and also suggested an explanation of the position of the Pacific cable question.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that what the minister of justice had in-tended to say in the senate was that a provisional boundary had been agreed upon at the Chilcoot and White Passes, and that negotiations were proceeding satisfactorily for a provisional boundary at the Dalton Trail also. He continued: "Concerning the Pacific cable question, unfortunately, as is well known, the Imperial Government did not choose to ratify the agreement arrived at by the imperial com-mittee in 1896. The imperial authorities took another view, and made other propositions. We did not see our way to accept these new propositions without breaking any confidence. I am authorized to say we made representations to the Imperial Government, and a conference is about to take place between the agents of the colonies and the imperial author-ities. The government has decided to appoint my honorable friend, the minister of public works, who is to go to Europe, and Lord Strathcona, to take part in this conference, with Sir Sanford Fleming, as expert in the matter. Sir Sanford Fleming will, I believe, sail this week." To a further question by Mr. Wallace, the premier said in effect that, while there had been some friction in regard to the customs arrangement at the White Pass, matters latterly had proceeded smoothly.

The Biograph's Feats

The Movements of Great Events and Personages of the Day.

The Biograph is the one educational factor of modern days which at the same time furnishes with instruction the highest degree of entertainment. The art of producing moving pictures on a scale that represents figures in full life size, or larger; that causes an event to be brought before the eye of the spectator in London the Less exactly as it appeared before the onlooker mine-tenths of the electorate of his county by being on their side. If Mr. McDougall doubted that, let him resign his seat, as he was willing to do, and contest it again. (Hear, hear.) He was on this side also because he liked the policy of the present government. He thought it very much the same as what he advocated when soliciting the suffrages of his constituents. There in London the Great, is considered the the suffrages of his constituents. There actly as they appeared to the onlookers' are changes, but they are for the bet-eyes. The Gordon Highlanders reviewed by the Prince of Wales after their return from India and their glorious fight at Dargai; the Twenty-first Lancers riding past on their way to achieve was Mr. McDougall, with whom he had undying fame at Omdurman; Queen traveled to Ottawa in 1896, and who Victoria, as she rides in her talked to him all the way up about the state carriage, are only a few Conservative party until he was sick instances of the feats of the and tired of him. He abused all the Biograph. Then the magnificent views late governments, especially that led of the Pope, the most secluded of all by one of his colleagues who is not now the world's great personages, are into this house. BRICK COMBINE PUTS UP PRICES. Hamilton, June 21.-The local brickmakers have formed a ring and run up the price of bricks. A few years ago bricks sold at $450, and even as low as $4.25 a thousand, and at that the makers did not lose money. When the ring was formed again the price was advanced to $6 a thousand, and has stood at that figure until the present time.

Righon Raldwin Discusses Ritualistic War in England.

Principles of the Reformation Reaffirmed-Improved Financial Condition of the Diocese.

The Synod of the Diocese of Huron met yesterday at 2:30 p.m. in Bishop Cronyn Hall in business session. The Bishop of Huron was in the chair. Rev. Canon Richardson, M.A., was reelected honorary clerical secretary, and

Mr. D. J. Noble honorary lay secretary. George F. Jewell, F.C.A., and C. F. Complin were re-elected auditors. After some discussion the salary of auditors was fixed at the same amount as last year.

The committee on certificates and assessments reported that certificates had been furnished by 243 congregations for 292 lay representatives, and gave a list of the congregations which had not paid their assessment, and were therefore not entitled to representation in synod.

The Bishop of Huron then delivered his charge, in the course of which he said: "In examining the official returns for the year just ended, I am glad and most thankful to observe that there is a solid and substantial increase nearly all along the line. Thus in the total receipts for the year we notice the increase is $1,356 90 over that of last. This increase is divided as follows: For diocesan objects the increase has been $625 66; for objects external to the diocese, $731 24. It is gratifying to see that the increase in the mission fund has been $1,115 75. I am thankful to say that as this is a test fund it is a fair index of a deepening interest in the financial affairs of the dio-

Referring to the ritualistic controversy in England, the bishop said: "Not only is the subject one of absorbing interest to us all, but on its proper-and, I may say, its divine adjustment—hangs the whose future of the church. Uniformity is one thing;

"The whole future and prosperity of ty to three great laws of her spiritual being: First she must be the Church of England lies in her loyalbeing: First, she must be true to the great Head of the church, the Lord Jesus Christ. By this I mean that she must not for one moment allow the worship of any other being than the Triune and one only God; she must iterate and reiterate the great doctrines that there is one Mediator between God and men, the Man, Jesus Christ, and that we are accounted righteous before God. only for the merit of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ by faith, and not for our works or deservings; she must maintain the dignity of his Word as the sole ground of faith and sole arbiter in the disputes of Christendom and teach with increasing zeal all the grand doctrines of his past, coming and future glory. Secondly, the church must be true to the thousands who sit at her feet. She must give them the pure and unadulterated Word of God-pure bread and not chaff. She must give them the Holy Sacraments, Baptism and the Lord's Supper. The Lord's Supper, I say-not the Greek or Roman mass. She must conserve the rights of the laity and allow them freedom of access with all the other indefeasible privileges accorded them by the Word of God. The sacredness of their sighted clinging to the roof of his homes must not be violated by the house, which was submerged to the imposition of an enforced confessional nor burthens laid upon them which neither we nor they can bear. Thirdly, she must be true to her mission in the world, and that is, to carry the gospel of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ to all the lost and dying nations of the earth.

"After listening to all that has been said, and weighing the evidence of many witnesses, we can find no solution for the tremendous issues of the hour except by a loyal adherence to those principles on which the church was established at the reformation.'

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE'S RE-PORT.

In the evening the synod went into a committee of the whole to consider the report of the executive committee. The report was taken up clause by clause. The first clause created some warm discussion over the deficit in the mission fund, but all the clauses were finally adopted.

The report showed the mission overdraft had been reduced from $12,553 32 to $8.691 05, the see house debt from $11,032 91 to $9,828 95, the general purpose fund overdraft from $4,552 84 to $3.953 50, and the widows' and orphans' overdraft of $206 86 replaced by a balance of $280 10 to the credit of the account, the total reductions amounting

The total contributions received amounted to $26,773 85, of which $16,565 49 was for diocesan purposes and $10,208 36 for other objects.

The amount of required contributions from the whole diocese at the rate of $1 per family, was $12,022 99; the amount actually received, not including arrears, was $8,768 90, or about 73 per cent, according to the number of families returned, as compared with 69 per cent for the previous year.

A DIME NOVEL FOR ONE CENT

Marriage Stopped by the Corpse of a Rejected Lover

You Shall Never Marry Him," He Had Said.

Vancouver, B. C., June 20 .- This story of how a dead lover forbade the bans, come from the wild region of mountain and lake which forms the interior of British Columbia.

Maud Cranston, whose home was at Kootenay Lake, had to choose between two woers. Of these R. A. Carson was rich and unromantic, while James Carter was poor, but in all respects a stripling to engage a maiden's fancy. There were other considerations, however, and Maud Cranston chose the rich suitor.

"You shall not marry him," said Carter to her, when he heard that the date was fixed.

Floods came, the river broke from its banks. The clergyman was exiled on his ranch. Such of the wedding guests as had been able to reach the bride's home lamented with her over the disappointment. And James Carson, who was just starting on a lonely trip down the river, greatly changed in a few weeks, said: "It is an ill omen. They will never marry.' Perhaps it was because she heard of this gloomy prognostication that Miss Cranston decided that she and her affianced would reach the clergyman, since he could not reach them.

A RECOGNITION, A SWOON. A day or two later they embarked, accordingly, on the steamer Kokanee, which runs past the minister's place on its way to Bonner's Ferry. He was sighted clinging to the roof of his eaves. A boat from the steamer was rowed through the swirling water that covered his crops, and he was rescued Carson and Miss Cranston appealed to him to marry them at once, and he went to the cabin to put on a change of clothing proffered him by Capt. Newman. While he was thus engaged the boat stopped at Rios Landing. Here a coffin-a plain pine box-was carried on board.

In it, said the gossips, was the body of a young man who had been drowned, now sent wandering in search of Christian burial. Maud Cranston was already in an overwrought state from her many adventures and brooding over the strange words of her rejected sweetheart. When the coffin was propped on deck-for there was no other place for itbecame more agitated than ever and more anxious to have the ceremony performed at once. But when the minister returned and saw the coffin he thought a wedding would be out of place in such close quarters with death. Only because there were fears for the girl's self-command did he prepare to fulfill his word.

A look of relief crept into Maud Cranston's face as the ceremony went on. But before it had reached the decisive stage two dogs chained near the coffin fell to fighting and overturned the two kegs on which it rested. As it tumbled to the deck the lid flew off and out rolled the body, almost at the feet of the half-married pair. It was James Carter, his eyes wide open and his hair still damp upon his forehead. Only for an instant did the girl he had loved endure the agony of looking at his white face, for conscious-ness mercifully left her, and she fell into a swoon at his side.

BASEBALL.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Chatham, June 20 .- The story of tod y's game is told in a few words. The Reds fell upon Pitcher Cooper, and batted his curves hard and often, while the Cockneys could do little with the scattered efforts they secured off Hagerman. Both teams fielded superbly. In this particular the visitors decidedly outshone their opponents, Babbit and Cope repeatedly cutting off efforts that appeared good for clean hits. The Reds commenced their run-getting in the second, and from that time on Cooper's reputation suffered at the hands of the Chatham sluggers. London's run was made in the fifth, when Jones got to first on an error, was sacrificed to second, stole third, and came in on Lohman's fly to Crawford, being called safe at the plate on a close decision.

After yesterday's trouble England did not umpire, and Dr. Tye, of this city, holding a request from President Davis, handled the indicator. Not a decision was questioned by either team until two men were out in the ninth, when a short argument arose on Howell bei g hit by a pitched ball, the umpire contending he willfully got in front of the ball. He was, however, given his base. The score:

GUELPH WON.

Guelph, June 21.-Guelph beat St. Thomas out in the ninth in a pretty game of ball yesterday afternoon. St. Thomas made their three runs in the first inning on errors by the home team. In the ninth, with the score 3 to 4 in favor of St. Thomas, Johnson, who batted for Kostal, led off with a nice two-bagger, coming home on Se-christ's hit. In the Hamilton-London game here Woodstock, June 21.—Nine hundred on June 6, London was defeated by a people saw the Hamiltons beat the score of 7 to 4. Seiver pitched up to Woodstocks yesterday in one of the the seventh inning, and was taken out fastest and snappiest ball games ever of the box in that inning after four played on the local diamond. The men had been to bat and three runs Hamiltons won because they were able scored. McKevitt was the first to bat to hit Thompson when hits meant runs. In the seventh, and Seiver presented Both teams played almost errorless him with a pass. Phillips popped up a games in the field. Bradford had splendid control and the Woodstocks could not hit him often. The outfielders of both teams had lots of work to do. Hagerty was assessed $5 for swearing scoring. It looked as if Babbit would not him Doneldson who was fielding in close, Conwell because the first back to Babbit. at Umpire Donaldson, who was away cover the fly, but it was safe, Bradford going to second on the throw to the plate. A passed ball scored Bradford. Cooper was then substituted, and singles followed by Hagerty and Dean. A wild pitch enabled both runners to score. Schrall struck out. Elton had a pass, and Congalton closed the inning by going out to Schwartz.

HOT SHOT FOR HAMS HOT SHOT FOR HAMS.

The sporting editor of the Hamilton Herald is a little bit sore on the Hams. Among other pleasant things he says: The Herald has on several occasions, of late, called attention to the general incompetency of the team, as it is at present constituted, and, in common with a great majority of the supporters of the good old game in this city, now rises to express the belief that the time for a change has long since come and that any excuse for a failure to bring about the much-needed improve-Batteries—Leever and Bowerman; ment can no longer exist. Mr. Stroud has fathered baseball in this city for a great many years, and has never fala great many years, and has never faltered even in the face of financial adversities. He understands the whims and fancies of local patrons of the game probably better than any other man in the city. One thing he does know is that the good people of Hamilton will not stand for an aggregation of might hall players hearing the city's of misfit ball players bearing the city's name. In years past when the team under his management developed cer-tain weakness, he was quick to apply the remedy, and now that the stan-dard-bearers of Hamilton have developed an incompetency to hold their own in their present company, there is ev ery reason to expect that Mr. Stroud will lose no further time in patching up the weak spots and restoring the public's confidence. MARTIN RELEASED.

Clinton Martin, the well known leftfielder, has been released by the St. Thomas baseball club. Hemphill will play in that pasture in future, Lyons in center and Gunther in right. Martin has been here since the spring of 1898, and was very popular with the fans. At times he fell off in his hitting, but was a good man. He will find little trouble in catching on with some other team, and would greatly strengthen Woodstock's outfield.—St. Thomas Times.

"HIPPO" GALLOWAY GONE. "Hippo" Galloway has been released by the Bain club, and Lee will play third for a day or two anyway. O'Brien, of the Sarnia team, is anxious to catch on and will likely be taken in. An ef-fort should be made to keep "Hippo" in town, as our hockey team needs his services. He has offers from the Cuban Giants and the Dunnville team, so that it doesn't look as if he is long for our town.-Woodstock Sentinel-Review. FOR THE FANS.

Joe Knight did good work for Buffalo on Saturday. He was at bat four times, scoring two runs and making two hits and a sacrifice. He had two put outs and no errors.

Hamilton Herald, Monday: President Stroud gave the Hamiltons a well-deserved lecture yesterday and told them that they would have to play good ball in future. The team will play at Woodstock today and tomorrow. A meeting of the team will be held to elect a captain, and it is expected that the choice will fall on Bert Elton.

Woodstock is to land seven men this week out of the Western League. Woodstock will need every one of them. -Guelph Herald. Guelph Mercury and Advertiser: The stick work of the Hamiltons was indifferent; it appears sometimes they will stick at nothing—13 to 0.

A Printer's Throat Cut by His Partner.

Dark Side of Life in the Klondike Gold Region.

Dawson, June 3 (via Vancouver, June 19).—James Prater, a compositor, was murdered by his partner, Arthur Goddard, between 10 and 11 in the morning of May 31, while sleeping in a cabin in Dawson Center. The body was badly mutilated, the head being nearly severed from the trunk. The weapons used were a hatchet and a razor. The body was found ten minutes before life was extinct, with the murderer standing over it. He made no attempt to escape. When asked the reason for escape. When asked the reason for the crime, he replied: "I don't know." Prater was of English birth, lately from Juneau, and a peaceable character. Goddard is held for the murater der. His lawyer will enter a plea of insanity by reason of an old gunshot found in his head.

THE DARK SIDE.

Port Townsend, Wash., June 20.—A number of Klondikers, who arrived here in the steamer Dirigo present the dark side of Klondike life. They say that Dawson is crowded with idle men, who are willing to work for almost any

They say there are hundreds of men who have nothing but beans and bacon to eat, with no prospect of securing work, and that the only way they will be able to get out of the country will be through government assistance.

William Smith, Ottawa, was drowned in the Klondike on the evening of June 2. He and two partners were in a boat near the bridge. The boat overturned, but the other two men were rescued. Smith succumbed before help could reach him.

THE OLD WAY

f Treating Dyspensia and Indigestion by Dieting a Dangerous and Useless One.

We say the old way, but really it is a very common one at the present time and many dyspeptics and physicians as well consider the first step to take in attempting to cure indigesion is to diet, either by selectin certain foods and rejecting others or to greatly diminish the quantity usually taken, in other words the starvation plan is supposed by many to be the first essential.

The almost certain failure of the starvation cure has been proven time and again, but still the moment dyspepsia makes its appearance a course of dieting is at once advised.

All this is radically wrong. It is foolish and unscientific to recommend dieting to a man suffering from dyspepsia, because indigestion itself starves every organ, every nerve and every fibre in the body.

What the dyspeptic wants is abundant nutrition, which means plenty of good, wholesome, well-cooked food, and something to assist the weak stomach to digest it. This is exactly the purpose for which Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are adapted, and this is the method by which they cure the worst cases of dyspepsia, in other words the patient, eats plenty of wholesome food and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digest it for him. In this way the system is nourished and the overworked stomach rested, because the tablets will digest the food whether the stomach works or not.

One of these tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat or eggs.

Your druggist will tell you that Stuart's Tablets are the purest and safest remedy for stomach troubles, and every trial makes one more friend for this excellent preparation. Sold at 50 cents for full sized package at all drug stores.

Australia a Nation.

According to a cablegram, the vote vesterday in Australia resulted favorably to federation. The figures given not show an overwhelming maprity for the project in New South Wales, but that is not surprising. Many who favored the principle of federation opposed the scheme because it involved the abandoning of free trade, to which New South Wales, the most progressive of all the Australian colonies, has adhered. In their federated form the colonies will be obliged to assimilate their tariffs, but whether the new schedule will be protective or moderate remains to be seen. The matter must be compromised between the protective and low tariff colonies. This is the second vote on federation, the original scheme having been rejected by the Upper House of New South Wales. Premier Reid succeeded in forcing his measure through the recalcitrant chamber by the time-honored method of creating new members in sufficient number to swamp the dissentients. The vote yesterday was awaited with much anxiety, as the opponents of federation in New South Wales professed to be confident of defeating it. The result, assures the consummation of the grand design which will make Australia, like Canada, a nation, instead of a mere group of provinces, treating each other as aliens, and not as "children of the blood," and having no material bond of unity. The world is given another object lesson in the genius of the Anglo-Saxon race for government. Canada extends a cordial hand to her new sister-nation in the antipodes.

Public Vs. Private Ownership. Mayor Harrison, of Chicago, who won his election chiefly as an advocate of municipal ownership of public untiltties, contributes an article on this subject to the Philadelphia Weekly Post. Mayor Harrison's words, by reason of his position and influence, are significant. He says:

"In these last days of the nineteenth century the people have come to these free, lights free, streets free, and transportation charges no greater than cost of maintenance plus-if there is private ownership-a moderate profitsay, for illustration, a profit no greater than six per cent per annum. If a priwate corporation engaged in transportation can earn more than six per cent, there is a popular belief that the excess should be expended in street paying, street cleaning, lighting, better cars, more seats, and, when these have been provided, then lower fares. "For the life of me I cannot see why corporations should take great umbrage at these demands. The theory of transporation is that it is for the convenience of the public, and not for enormous dividends. Unfortunately, too many of our corporations have reversed the theory and made dividendearning the primary object, and accommodation of the public as remote as possible. No wonder, then, that there is rising to confront the spectre of vested private property rights the giant of vested public rights."

The Tramp Nuisance.

'As a great center of railways, London is a place where the question of the tramp nuisance, in so far as it has been fostered by the modern system of travel, is of especial interest. Our authorities know how much trouble has been caused by the advent of tramps into this usually quiet community. We all know that a recent murder, and execution of the murderer, were brought upon the city through the tramp nuisance. What is the prospect of its early effective abatement? We believe it will be more and more thoroughly combatted as the railway companies and the authorities join hands in organized effort to prevent the tramp from indulging in his lawless methods.

The tramp has been an evolution in large measure of the railway, as is pointed out by Josiah Flynt, in the last number of the Century Magazine. The nuisance had its introduction by the loose methods tolerated on early railway systems. In other countries than Canada and the United States, the tramp had had to travel by the help of his own legs on the hard high road. He found here a country where not only were people permitted to walk along the track, but good-natured brakemen and conductors were rather amused at the characters who stole rides, and apparently had no orders | convicted of what at the worst was but to put a stop to it. Consequently: the tramp rode instead of walked, and in a few years there was a marked increase in the fraternity. A vagrant could make his way without difficulty from New York to San Francisco, or from Portland to New Orleans, living on the country, and at the worst ejected from one train only to take the next. According to Mr. Flynt, tramps are "discouraged criminals," and for discouraged criminals the railway system. as it was until a comparatively few years ago, offered something theretofore undreamed of-a locomotive haven of refuge. So the railway multiplied the tramps, and rendered the general work of policing the country more difficult. Tramps readily turned into criminals and criminals back again into tramps, as opportunity offered and occasion required. But in recent years a change has come. The railways have begun to police their lines. They object to giving discouraged criminals free transportation, and with the co-operation of the local police authorities along their lines. have begun to corral them, and hand them over to the authorities. How dangerous a task this sometimes is we had a striking example of in the experience with the late Peg-Leg Brown.

Thus time brings its revenges, and it begins to look as if the country in the next generation might be, if not freed from tramps, at least policed against them. With the co-operation of the local authorities, the railways have already done much to combat this pest to society.. That it is a much more necessary task is seen by the ease with which banks and stores have been robbed, and the robbers have made their escape, generally by mounting a freight car, and concealing themselves till they were far removed from the local-Ity of their crime; but the oo-operation must be continued at all times if It is to be as effective as it is necessary for the safety and comfort of so-

A correspondent quotes a departmental regulation requiring that public school promotion examinations be held half-yearly, and asks how it can be reconciled with The Advertiser's statement that these examinations are a matter of local option. Promotion examinations are obligatory, it is true. but it rests with the local authorities to say whether such exercises shall be on the usual system-a month's grindor whether pupils shall be promoted according to their record in the classes.

Lord Spencer, speaking at Trowbridge, England, the other day, said a great deal had recently been said about imperialism. It was something, he remarked, which was difficult to define. He was, however, quite right in asserting that the Liberal party had promoted imperial interests in the most effective way by giving the colonies self-government and thus drawing them and the mother country closer together. They also tried to do the same for Ireland, by bringing forward a thoroughgoing system of local self-government. These are now wellestablished facts. After a few years, when the Imperial Parliament is in reality an imperial body, with its machinery no longer clogged with parish political management, and local bodies in the two Islands doing the work that Parliament now undertakes, at great expense, the people will wonder why the evolution was so long postponed.

George Grey," there is a touching letter written to the Queen by an old Kaffir woman:

"I am very thankful to you, Queen Victoria, that you have sent for me a good doctor, a clever man. I was sixteen years blind, Mother and Queen, but now I see perfectly. I see everything. I can see the stars, and the moon, and the sun. I used to be led before, but now Mother and Queen! am able to walk myself. Let God bless you as long as you live on earth. Let God bless Mother. Thou must not be tired to bear our infirmities, oh! Queen Victoria!"

It is testimony of this quaint description which enables us to show how valuable medical knowledge is for the missionary. Those who go to preach the Gospel to the heathen are doubly equipped if they are in a position to heal the disease of the bodily afflicted as well as to teach the Christian religion. "Jamaica Johnston" is wont to say that he made the first advance to the hearts of the natives of that island when he held a two-hour's tooth pulling seance after his Sunday morn-

Worship of the Distant.

[Knoxonian, in the Westminster.] One of the meanest traits in Canadian character is the disposition to overestimate everything and every person a long way from home, provided the person or thing is well puffed. A preacher who lives two or three thousand miles away has many chances against a local man, even if the local is a better man. So has a lawyer, or a doctor, or any other kind of a distant man. This worship of the distant is unknown in the mother country, and must be one of the features of our colonial life.

THE BURGLARS WHISPERED

Daring Deeds of a Gang of Philadelphia Robbers.

Philadelphia, June 20 .- A gang of masked robbers, probably ten in number, early today raided the receiving office of the Fairmount Park Transportation Company at Belmont, in Fairmount Park, and after holding up the receiver and five other employes of the railway, blew open the safe and secured $4,000 of the company's retold the story of his experience "While I was standing at the south-ern door of the office, next to the stalled cars, I heard footsteps in the rear. Turning, I saw two men with masks on their faces. They had two big revolvers apiece in their hands, and came directly up to me at the desk. I saw at once that it was up with me. They told me not to move or cry out or they would kill me. One of the two who was of enormous size, stuck one of his pistols against my ear. They took me into the conductors' and tied my hands and feet with wire picture cord, and laid me on the floor with my face to the wall. The electric lights were burning brightly all the while, and when I got in the conductors' room I saw Whitehouse was being held up in the same way by other desperadoes, also with masks on, and being bound and ged. When we were laid on the floor a man was detailed to guard each of us. In a few minutes in came another In the recently published "Life of Sir conductor, and he went through the same thing. Then some more of the men came in and were bound, and by this time I thought there must be twelve or fifteen desperadoes at work in the car barn, and that they expected to gather in the whole list of employes and then crack the safe, which contained about $4,000.

The burglars worked very quietly. They whispered whenever they said anything to any of their members. They turned our bodies away from the safe so we could not see them, and started to work on the safe. They must have been accomplished cracks men, for it only took them ten minutes to blow the safe. The explosion dynamite filled the room with a vast lot of smoke, and nearly choked us. The guards put us in a most unpleasant frame of mind, for they frequently threatened to shoot us if we made the least outery or motion. I think they must have had a wagon to take away the cash, because it was largely made up of dimes, nickels, quarters and half-dollars, which is very heavy, and not easy to get away with. Shortly after the money was taken the guards who were over us with drawn pistols left, telling us to be quiet, or we would get shot.'

TORONTO SYNOD

The Bishop Comments on Growing Worldliness-Sudden Death of Rev.

H. B. Owen, a Delegate Toronto, June 21. - The Anglican Synod for the Diocese of Toronto openl yesterday in St. James' Cathedral school house, the Bishop of Toronto presiding. The bishop's annual address consisted mainly of a statistical review of the year. On the whole, he observed, the conditions contained nothing discouraging, and he commended the work of the clergy. He com-mented on the growing worldliness of the congregations, and the falling off in the contributions. Rev. H. B. Owen, of Unionville, a delegate to the synod, died very suddenly yesterday of heart disease at his boarding house, 371 Jarvis street. B. M. E. CONVENTION. The 43rd annual convention of the B. M. E. Church is being held in Brantford this week with a good attendance of delegates from all over Ontario. The following officers were elected: Secretary, Rev. R. Ball, Toronto; statistician, Rev. W. H. Snowden; marshal, Rev. Robert Brown, Montreal. Committees: Finance, Revs. Snowden, Lucas and Ball; petitions and letters, Revs.

TO FATTEN PIGS Michigan Doctor Discovers New Use

for Electricity. Ann Arbor, Mich., June 21. - Dr. W. J. Herdman, of the medical faculty, has discovered a new use for elecctriity. It is fatetning pigs. There is no joke about the experiment. He has used two cages of guinea pigs for the experiment. The pigs in each cage were the same age. Around one cage he strung electric wires which were charged daily. The pigs in this cage gained 10 per cent more in weight ni a given time than the pigs in the cage where there was no electricity.

WEEKLY.

Today's session closes one of the least eventful weeks this season in grain circles, that is, as far as the local market is concerned. Oats and wheat have been the only lines in which much trading was done and the prices for these close at just the same figures as they were one week ago. Receipts have been light all round, and outside of a disposition to reduce oats in price on Thursday and Friday, there have not been any fluctuations. The hay market was fairly well supplied, prices ruling being $7 50 to $8 50; the demand was steady.

Wool was considerably stronger, 15c being paid for No. 1, and a case or so was reported where 1/2c more was given.

Both dressed and live hogs brought a little more money, $6 10 to $6 15 for the former and $4 60 for the latter. American Markets.

Remarkable Rescue

Mrs. Michael Curtain, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs; she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption, and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consump-tion; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use, and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Sold by W. T. Strong & Co.

Everything Quiet Among the G. T. R. Trackmen.

Coal Heavers Win at Waukegon-Prospect of Settlement at Cleveland.

Ottawa, June 21.—Everything is quiet around the offices of the Trackmen's Brotherhood. Telegraphic reports from all points received during the day state the men were back at work. It is expected that Messrs. W. Pole and J. Harris, chairman and secretary of the G. T. R. executive committee, will be two of the trackmen's committee of five to meet Mr. Hays and discuss the grievance list. The other three have been nominated, but pending their acceptance of the position the names will not be announced.

COAL-HEAVERS WON. Waukegan, June 20 .- The coal-heavers have won their fight with the West-ern Coal and Dock Company. Today they were granted their scale of 12 cents a ton, and resumed work on the Elfinmere. The company made a hard fight before it gave in. Fifty miners were imported from Coal City, Ill., to work on the steamer. The miners were union men, and were told that there was no union here. When they learned the situation upon arrival, they refused to work, and the company's officiais gave in.

IN CLEVELAND.

Cleveland, June 20 .- While the prospects for a settlement of the strike of the street railway men are brighter tonight than they have been at any time since the trouble began, there has been more serious rioting today than at any previous time. The disturbances began early in the morning, continued throughout the day, and tonight a big mob surrounds the south side barns of the big consolidated company, deterflocks; clipped lambs brought $4 75 to the big consolidated company, deter-$6 65; Colorado lambs, wooled, $6 60 to mined to get at the non-union men who are housed there. Detroit, June 21 .- The executive committee of the Street Railway Employes' Association was in session all day yesterday. Walking Delegate McLeod has been trying for some time to secure a new agreement with the railway company, and he submitted a report of the conference he had with Manager Du Pont, who refused to take the matter up. The latter urged as a reason that the city might soon assume control of the roads, and the company does not care to enter into any new agreement that might in any way prejudice the new management. It was pointed out that the commission has promised to accept any agreement the present company deem equitable. Rev. W. J. Clark, of London, Presented a Report on the Subject.

Hamilton, June 20 .- The general assembly decided today to celebrate the end of the century by raising $1,000,000. The report of the committee appointed to consider the century fund project was in favor of it, and the report was adopted. It was read by Rev. W. J. Clark, London.

EXTRACTS FROM REPORT. Following are extracts from the report adopted:

1. The total amount aimed at for the said century fund shall be $1,000,000. It shall consist of two parts-one of $600,-000, to be known as the common fund, for the missionary, educational and benevolent work of the church, as specified under sections 2 and 3, and the other of $400,000, for discharging of debts on church property.

2. There shall be no endowment asked for the ordinary missionary expenditure of the church; but, in order to obviate borrowing from the banks, the following working balances be aimed at. Home missions, east, $6,000; home missions, west (to make up $50,000) $30,-000; augmentation, east (to make up $6,500), $30,000; augmentation, west, $15,-000; foreign missions, east, $15,000; foreign missions, west (to make up $50,-000), $20,000; French evangelization,

4. Members and adherents are expected to contribute to the common fund as a whole, yet any desiring to designate their contribution to a particular object embraced in it shall be at liberty to do so.

5. Nothing shall be paid out of the common fund except for the objects above specified, but congregations and individual contributors are encouraged to reduce or liquidate debts on churches, manses, or other church property, with the understanding that the amounts thus paid, if reported, shall be congregations and individuals are expected to designate a certain portion of their contributions to common the fund, the proportion to be determined by themselves. 6. The century fund is special and extraordinary, therefore contributions made in connection with it ought not to interfere with ordinary givings to congregational objects or to the schemes of the church. 7. All moneys paid to the common fund after this date and up to May 1, 1901, or reported by the latter date as having been paid to debts on church property, shall be included in the century fund. 8. For the successful carrying out of the scheme, a general agent shall be set apart for this work for a term of two years, whose duties shall be to secure thorough organization in synods, pres-byteries and congregations in connection with it, to present the scheme wherever possible and to do all else in his power to further it. The committee recommends that Dr. Robert Campbell, moderator of the assembly, be appointed to this office. It was recommended that large, influential committees be appointed to superintend the raising of the fund. That for the Synod of Hamilton and London is as follows: Dr. Fletcher, Dr. Lyle, Dr. Johnston, Dr. R. Hamilton, Dr. Thompson, Messrs. J. G. Shearer, H. Ratcliffe, W. J. Clark, W. A. J. Martin, D. R. Drummond, J. C. mie, John Ross, E. A. McKenzie, James Wilson, ministers; and Messrs. M. Leggat, John Knox, George Rutherford John McCalla, John Penman, F. Reid, John Charlton, M.P., Isaac Rathbun D. D. Wilson, George Somerville and Robert McQueen.

SALARY QUESTION. The committee also suggested that the salary of the agent of the fund be $2,000 or $2,500 a year.

Rev. Dr. Lyle was of opinion that the surest way to secure the success of the fund was to make stronger the note of home mission support. The money to be given to colleges was $50,000 more than for home missions. This is the time the church should go out into the Northwest well armed with money and men, to seize that country for Christ. He knew of hundreds of people who would give nobly for home mission work, but did not favor large endowments for colleges.

Dr. Warden defended the report, and pointed out that a great many desires them. as to the disposition of the fund had The been, and would have to be, subjugated known Nationalist member of the guaranteed. For sale by W. T. Strong

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT. Criticism was in order at the afternoon sederunt, when the report of the Sabbath school committee was reported by Col. D. T. Fraser. He analyzed the figures, showing that only half of the children of the Presbyterian Church attended Sabbath school, and only a third are trained in memorization of Scripture. He considered this a disgrace, in the light of the church's history and doctrine. He said the cause of it was the backwardness of the teaching system.

The committee recommended that the action of the assembly, in taking from it the control of Sunday school publications, be reversed.

John Patterson, Toronto, presented the committee's side of the difficulty. Rev. Dr. Thompson moved an amendment that the assembly sees no reason to change its policy in regard to the management of the publications.

The report, after a long discussion, was referred to a special committee for further consideration. DR. CAMPBELL ACCEPTS.

Rev. Dr. Campbell was appointed agent of the century fund, and he accepted, promising to give the position his best efforts. THE INFLUENCE OF THE PRESS.

A good deal of time at the evening session was taken up in the discussion of the French evangelization commit-tees' report. The report on church life and work was one of the most important ones presented. From it the following extract is taken: "The great influence which the press exerts upon the moral life of the community is recog-nized. That portion of it which is read in the homes of the people, other than directly religious publications, is re-garded as maintaining a high moral tone and being distinctly friendly to religion. It is objected that the minute delineation of crimes and the details given of the lives of criminals is decidedly unhealthy in its effect upon the moral life of the community. This is undoubtedly true. The regrettable fact is that the newspapers should have so many readers who relish these minnon fund: Presby-Montreal. $40,000; distasteful to a large number of their most intelligent patrons. MAY DECIDE ON CONNEAUT

Board of Trade and Grocers' Excursion Dates Conflict-Attractive City Across the Lake.

The attention of Secretary Nelles, of he hoard of trade, was yesterday called to the fact that the grocers' picnic to Detroit will be held Aug. 25, the date selected by the board of trade for an excursion to the same city. In view of this, it is probable that another date will be decided on by the board, though it is not unlikely that the board may decide to run the excursion to Conneaut, Ohio, instead of to Detroit. Mr. C. M. Smith, editor of the Conneaut Post-Herald, and Mr. C. A Moore, of Conneaut, were in the city yesterday and pointed out to Mr. Nelles the advantages of an excursion to the interesting city across the lake, which possesses the grandest ore harbor in the world. There is much that is interesting about Conneaut, and since the exchange of visits and of courtesies between representative bodies of London and Conneaut lat fall, a mutual interest has grown up and there has been a general desire on the part of citizens of both cities for closer social relations in view of the lately developed trade between them.

In addition to its great interest as a port, Conneaut possesses many attractions for the visitor. Conneaut Lake, with its magnificent park, is easy of access from the town, which is beautifully situated. Judging by last year's reception to the London visitors the citizens of Conneaut may be counted on to place themselves and their town, with all its attractions, at the disposal of the visitors.

During the Western Fair an excur-sion will be run from Conneaut to this city, and nothing else would tend so largely to make that excursion a success as the holding of the Board of Trade excursion to Conneaut in Aug-

Toronto, June 19 .- The story of the escape of the Globe pressman, Mr. John H. Parnham, from the agonies of Lumbago, by using Dodd's Kidney Pills is unusually interesting.

Mr. Parnham writes to the Dodd's

Medicine Company (Limited) thus: "I am proud to testify to the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills. About eight months ago I was attacked by severe pains in my back. I consulted an eminent physician, who said I had Lumbago, and told me to take Turkish baths. These did me no good.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd'a Kidney Pills. I did so, and cured me. My back has never troubled me since.'

SKILLFUL COOKS' DUTY.

Should Make Food Taste and Look Well.

The true science of cookery is to select proper and nourishing ingredients and then prepare them in such a manner as will please the taste, and incidentally the eye. The most valuable food will not long agree with a person if its taste is disagreeable. This does not argue that all nice tasting articles are nutritious and nourishing. However, it is the duty of all food experts to produce delicious food and from the best possible ingredients, and to have a comprehensive knowledge of the laws of digestion and assimilation.

Grape-Nuts, the new food, made by Postum Cereal Co., Lim., Battle Creek. and now on sale at grocers, is thought to be the highest type of scientifically made food thus far produced. It possesses the delicate sweet of grape-sugar, with a new and peculiar flavor of a most winning character, while the processes of manufacture have brought the food to such a condition that it is absorbed by the system in a most natural and healthful man-

INDUCTION OF REV. J. R. JOHN-

Rev. J. R. Johnston, of Toronto, was recently inducted into the pastorate of the Preston and Doon Presbyterian Churches. Rev. Dr. Dickson, of Galt, acted as moderator, and Rev. Mr. Eakin, of St. Andrew's Church, Guelph, preached at the opening service, Rev. W. Robertson, Puslinch, addressed the pastor, and Rev. J. S. Scott, Hespeler, addressed the people. In the evening a reception was given to welcome the new pastor and his family. Supper was served in the school room, after which the gathering adjourned to the church. Mr. Thos. Hepburn made a neat speech, tendering the thanks of the congregation to Rev. A. J. Martin, of Brantford, for his services while the church was without a pastor. He then presented Mr. Martin with a purse and a handsome umbrella and cane was received from the Doon congregation. A number of speeches and an address of welcome were delivered. The congregation one and all are very sincere in their welcome to Mr. and Mrs. Johnston and family. The call was a hearty one and voiced the wish of the entire membership. The new pastor impressed all most favorably, as being a Christian gentleman of culture and experience, and one under whose earnest labors the church cannot fail to prosper .- Extract from The Prog-

Magistrate Parke Reminds the Special Detectives of Their Duty.

More Street Railway Cases in Police Court-Neighbors and Partners Fall Out.

Magistrate Parke had a busy twohours' session at the police court this morning.

Fred Simmons, of East London, was charged with using abusive and threatening language to a special con-

Constable Wilson, sworn, said he was walking on Dundas street in company TRYING FOR Simmons shook his fist in his face and swore at him a number of times.

Cross-examined by Mr. Judd, complainant did not deny that he had said: "There goes the fellow who was shooting off at the other end where the car was off."

Mr. Judd—Did you have a revolver?

Complainant—I did, sir.
Mr. Judd—Did you also have a 'billy''?

Complainant-Yes, sir. Mr. Judd—Did you make a motion to draw the revolver? Complainant-I did not. Magistrate Parke-Do the other special constables carry revolvers and a "billy"? Complainant did not know Charles and John Reeder, conductor and motorman, who were with Wilson, told about the same story Frederick Simmons, defendant, sworn, stated that he was in front of the casket works when the car ran off, and had made some remarks to the boys with him. When he passed the three above-mentioned men, Wilson said to him: "There goes the little — now." him: "There goes the little — now." pliments of F. B. Magistrate Parke, in reviewing the evidence, said there was no doubt in his mind that Wilson had started the trouble. He should not have said anything about Simmons as he was passing. "Citizens have to behave," he said, "and so must the special constables." Simmons was let go on suspended sentence.

CHARGED WITH CRYING "SCAB!" William Gibson, who was driving a union bus, was charged by Special Constable William H. Hull with calling "Scab!" after a car on June 17. Charles Reeder, conductor on the car, heard defendant cry "Scab!" Magistrate Parke (to Reeder)—What do you take to be the meaning of the word "scab"? Reeder-Just a slur word. sulted by it?

Reeder-Not in this instance, as I have got used to it. (Laughter.) A. Elverson told the same story. William Gibson, defendant, sworn, had been a resident of London for charged with any offense before in his life. He did not use the word "scab" on that day. The defense was about to call another witness, but the magistrate thought it not necessary, and dismissed the case.

John Moore, a carpenter, charged George Flannigan, a neighbor, with assault. Mr. Moore, sworn, stated that on Monday Flannigan started in to punch him off his own property, through a dispute about a lane that runs between the defendant's and complainant's houses. Mr. Moore stated that his head was swollen by the blows. He did throw a stick of wood at defendant, but did it in self-defense. He was bleeding at the mouth, and went to Dr. Drake.

Mr. Flannigan swore that complainant had used abusive language to him, and he struck him. The complainant, besides throwing wood, had thrown a number of stones at him.

Flannigan was fined $10.

PARTNERS FALL OUT. Peter B. Lewis was charged by Robert H. Simple with having assaulted and robbed him. The complainant was on Clarence street, when the defendant came up and grabbed him by the throat and punched him, and then relieved him of his watch. Lewis, who was in partnership with complainant, stated that Simple owed him a sum of money for a long time, and would not settle The case was dismissed. The watch was returned to Simple.

CHARGED WITH INSANITY. John Sneath, the old man who attempted suicide by cutting his throat some weeks ago, was sent for trial on charge of insanity. Dr. Macarthur, jail surgeon, gave evidence as to his insanity.

SLIPPED THROUGH THE HAND-CUFFS.

Michael Devlin was charged with assault by Mr. James. Fitzpatrick, of John street, who displayed a handsome black eye to the court. Devlin was also charged with breaking away from an officer, having slipped the handcuffs off and escaped. He was fined $5 or ten days in each instance. William Barr, a drunk, was discharged.

Representatives of City Council and the Employes' Committee Meet Tonight.

The street railway employes' committee will meet Mayor Wilson, Ald. McPhillips, Plant, Graham, Carrothers and Greenlees at the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock, to discuss the strike situation, and, if possible, arrive at some means whereby the men and the street railway company may be brought together. The meeting is held at the request of the representatives of the city council.

Mayor Wilson said this morning that he had not yet consulted the city solicitor concerning the council's right to force the street railway company to give a seventeen-hour service.

THROWN DOWN

School Board Incensed by the Action of the City Council-May Try to Force the Fulfillment of the Latter's Promise.

Members of the school board are hot because of the council's breach of faith with them concerning the school debentures. The board was notified by the council before the rate of taxation was struck that the debentures would be granted. At the last meeting the council refused to pass the bylaw. Dr. Teasdall, chairman of the board of education, said this morning: "The members of the board are unanimous in their opinion that the money is needed. Victoria school, South London, is unsanitary, and it would be a waste of money to try to repair Park street school, which is also in a very unsanitary condition. The other proposed two-roomed school Queen's avenue, would save $500 in teachers' salaries. The council has deliberately broken faith with us, and to submit the bylaw to the people would cost about $800." Dr. Teasdall would not say what step the board would twenty years. He had never been probably take. He considered that the old schools were a menace to the health of the children, and the conditions would warrant submitting the by-law to the people. It is understood that there are hopes on the part of the board of legally forcing the council to fulfill the promise given early in the year.

THE WOODSTOCK CLUB.

The dispatch from Woodstock giving an account of Monday's game Hamilton has an uncalled-for fling at Third Baseman Lee-a London boy and a good player. Lee's excellent work at St. Thomas was largely instrumental in Woodstock's getting the only game they have yet won.

WOODSTOCK SENTINEL-REVIEW. Third Baseman "Tommy" O'Brien, who put up such a fine game with the Sarnia team here Saturday, arrived in town this morning and will cover third bag for the Bain club. He played with Port Huron in the International League last year, and is a most valuable man.

Pitcher Kickbush will pitch one of the games for Bains against the Hams in Hamilton this week. Third Baseman Lee will be given his walking ticket.

Outfielder Martin, who was with St. Thomas this year, will play center field tonight for Bains. Cowan will Mkely sit on the bench. Cowan, however, should be given a better trial than he had yesterday. He brought in two of the three runs yesterday. Cowan is a favorite with the fans, and they will not favor his being on the bench. Pitcher Norcum left Fort Wayne this morning and will arrive in Hamfilton tomorrow. He will probably pitch against Hamilton Thursday and against Guelph here on Saturday. The opinion of the fans is that Pitcher Hawkins' release should be forthcoming. STROUD'S ULTIMATUM. The Hamilton Herald: The Herald is in receipt of a number of communications from citizens of this city condemning the recent work of the Hamilton baseball team, and demanding changes varying from the engagement

"Here," glancing up brightly. "It is cool and quiet, and my feet ache with standing. Don't send anybody to me, please! I shall sit here, and rest and think-ponder seriously upon the miseries of the rich, the compensations of the poor."

Orrin had chosen their resting-place in the leafy boudoir, with his habitual sagacity, having an eye both to ease and the semi-privacy which confiden-tial friends find so enjoyable in the neighborhood of a crowd. An osier frame overrun with ivy screened Jessle on the left from any save very prying eyes; a barricade of lemon and orange trees towered at the back; in front the fountain, showering from peak and sides of a rockwork pyramid, cast a shimmering veil between her and the archway, closing up a vista of vines and shrubs, through which issued music and the hum of many voices, with the rhythmical beat of feet. Jessie listened to the merry din, the nearer dash of the glittering drops into the basin at her feet; and inhaling the perfume of the exotics behind her, smiled a happy little smile in remembrance of her scornful weariness in predicting the flirtations among the oleanders and the lemon trees. She had no prevision then that she should sit here with one chosen companion, talking freely and gladly of all that was in her heart; none of the gentle and lovely reverie to which he had

From a great globe of ground-glass overhead, effulgence like that of a midsummer moon streamed down up-on the falling water; the trailing grasses, the clinging mosses upon the stones were threaded with tiny brilliants; the broad, wet leaves of the aquatic plants overhanging and growing within the marble reservoir were washed with silver. A single lily arose, pure and proud, from a clump of luxuriant flags. Tall ferns, standing motionless upon the thither margin, made a miniature brake of an alley that stretched away into cool, green dimness. A bed of musk-plant yielded up languorous sighs to the warmed air. All that was sensuous in temperament and artistic in taste made response to the influence of the place and the hour. Jessie gave herself up to it without resistance, laid her against the tortuous scroll-work of the high back of the settee, and dreamed. The evening had been triumphant, in-toxicating to her. The evening she would have preferred to spend with dolorous Mariana! She whispered the familiar lines to

He has a look like his cousin sometimes. I never noticed it before as I have tonight-a look that gives me a sense of security and companionship when with him, which makes sadness and home-sick-ness impossibilities. There were but two or three couples in the conservatory beside herself, and they too, seemed to be lulled into silent musing by the subdued lights and odorous airs of the fairy-like haunt. Perhaps some of the dancers found fault with the draft from the archway, for Jessie saw Warren Provost and Mr. Hurst let down the damask curtains which had been looped back from it. She drew a deeper breath of content in the feeling of increased seclusion. Nobady could be moody or dull when he chose to please and interest. To her, his coming was like the spreading of the sun rays down the mountain sides and through the valley on sum-mer mornings, steeping the commonplace in beauty; making of native loveliness a witching miracle. Dear, dear Roy! She owed this great happiness also to him. He had reckoned wisely and lovingly in committing her to the care of this guardian.

The band struck up a march. The blare of the instruments broke unwelcomely upon her rosy dreams. She aroused herself with a start to see the curtains pulled back. The mocking-bird ceased his song abruptly.

The waltzers, panting and flushed, would like four of the clergymen who thronged the narrow aisles of the con-servatory; chattered and flitted among the foliage like bright-plumaged, loudthe foliage like bright-pitmaged, four-voiced parrots. Miss Sandford was conspicuous among them, leaning palpably upon her escort's arm. Her affected laugh grated unpleasantly upon Jessie's ears, every few seconds. She was in exuberant spirits; in high good-humor with herself, and, presum-voice, will be admitted, as Parrott does ably, with her partner.
"Oh! that darling beauty of a lily!"

THE WRONG ONE

Bloodhounds Ran Down a Man, But He Was Proved Innocent.

Chattanooga, Tenn., June 21 .- As a result of an assault by a negro at Soddy, Tenn., a mining town in the upper end of this county, Miss Mirtie Eell, 18 years old, daughter of J. A. Bell, superintendent of the Soddy mines, is in a critical condition.

News of the crime spread rapidly, hundreds of citizens scoured the woods and surrounding country. Bloodhounds were placed on the trail. The dogs captured a negro on Walden's Ridge. He denied the charge, and was taken by the mob to the home of Miss Bell. The trembling man was dragged into the presence of the girl with a rope around his neck. She was lifted on the pillow and said: "He is not the man.

The negro was released. The search continues.

Iwo Favorites Win-Salvator's Son Laurentian in the Running Race-Three Heats Which Did Not Vary 1-4 of a Second.

The big four days meet of the London Trotting and Racing Association began auspiciously at Queen's Park yesterday. The crowd, for an opening day, was large, and included a fair percentage of ladies. The union busses and special G. T. R. trains proved more than adequate for the conveyance of the crowd to and from the park. At the track everything passed off smoothly. The stands presented a striking scene, enlivened by the gay millinery of the ladies. In the pad-dock, where the bookmakers and poolsellers were at work, a restless crowd held forth, and greenbacks were plentiful. Throughout the betting was lively. At no time, however, was the crush around the bookies so great that anybody was turned away disappointed because he had to keep his money in his pocket. The weather was delightful, and the track in perfect condition. A stiff breeze down the stretch af-fected the speed of the races slightly, yet some fast time was made. St. George, owned by W. J. Andrews, of Hamilton, did a mile in 2:18, and the time for the half-mile running race was 50 seconds. The running event aroused the greatest interest. Associaroused the greatest interest. Associated with it were memories of the famous struggle in New York between the world's champion, Salvator, and Tenny, "the little sway-back," when Salvator did a mile in 2:05, establishing a record that has never been broken. In yesterday race was Salvator's 3-year-old son Laurentian, who was an easy winner. In the 2:20 pace Arbutmittee will also ask the council to dredge the river within the city limits. easy winner. The delays, however, were not vexatious, and in each case the horses got away in good shape. With the exception of the running race the fields were comparatively easy to handle. The judges were Messrs. John Lowrie, of Sarnia; Jas. McGregor, of Tempo, and John Mero, of Tilsonburg. Dr. Routledge, of Lambeth, and William Hollar, of Palmer-

The Street Car Strike.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I beg to write a few lines in regard to this present street railway strike, hoping that I will not take up too much space in your valuable paper. I am a disinterested party, and as I have read both sides of the story, I think it is my duty to give my opinion. I believe that the men's cause is a just one, and hope that they will not get discouraged in the struggle for justice.

To see some people trying to encourage slavery by patronizing the cars is amusing. The men have taken an honest and manly stand. It is plainly seen that the majority of the people in this city are with the men. This is shown beyond a doubt by those empty cars, the majority of them being empty which stroll along so forsaken looking. A very nice pair for .......... $1.25 Those empty cars will not entice me to ride, nor any of my friends. I may further say that I never will ride nor French Heel Bicycle Shoes..... 2.00 patronize a car in any way until the now existing trouble is settled satisfactorily. I think the time has come when Trunks, Valises and Grips every man and women should play a prominent part in trying to bring about a settlement. The company is losing money daily, where, if it wished, it might settle all disputes in a few hours. I can't see, if the company are willing to deal fairly by their employes, why they will not recognize a union. It is the only support the employes have. When the company say that if they recognize the union the men would be running the road, I do not see how this could be done if there was a board of arbitra-tors chosen to act in case of disputes arising, as then the public would be convinced by the decision of the arbitrators. Again, when it says that they could not hire a man by asking him before training that after thirty days's service, if satisfactory to the company, to be a union man. I don't see any to be a union man. I don't see any trouble in that, as I am sure any honest laborer would feel pride in himself in belonging to a union, as then he would know that he was respected by his fellows, and if trouble came he would not be destitute of support.

I may say arbitration thus lets the company choose an arbitrator; the men choose one; these two choose a third-a disinterested party. All the men are asking for is a fair wage and to be treated as human beings. As regards that statement which came to light on Friday again, which says: "In force six months, or as long as any one of the employes are in its service," I do not believe in such a statement, and I don't think any fairminded man or woman would. think that employes should be bound to work year in and year out under the same rules and wages, whether satisfied or not! If such rules as this can be made law, then God help the laboring class! As the old saying is, "You must live with a person before you know what he is," such is the case with an agreement; it must be given a trial before known to be satisfactory. Why was six months mentioned if it was drawn for an indefinite period? I think the public are aware of the company's good intentions when a strike had to be threatened a few weeks after the agreement was signed, that justice might be meted out to them.

Again, in the sheet issued on Friday, Mr. Carr asks would a woman allow herself to be dictated to as to who to hire in her employ. Well, suppose the working girls of this city had a union, and they were united, and arbitration was used in times of dispute. Do the public think that if a woman had good intentions towards her employes and practiced the Golden Rule, that she would care whether her employes were union or non-union? But as there are so many girls friendless and homeless, and as a union makes them kin, don't you think that a Christian woman would do all she could for their union? Surely the working class are entitled to some pleasure. I admire the stand The Advertiser has taken in defending Canadian organized labor. J. M. SCOTT.
