Permanent Telegraph Line Between Tien Tsin and Pekin Being Built-Reiteration of the Statement That the Dowager Empress Intended a General Massacre of Foreigners.

London, Sept. 17 .- Dr. Morrison, the Renenkampf, commanding separate Pekin correspondent of the Times, in the course of a long dispatch, dated Sept. 5, continues to protest against the evacuation of the capital, but he agrees with the Pekin correspondent of the Morning Post that the withdrawal of the Russian troops, owing to their barbarous habits, would be an unmixed benefit. He assetts that fur- the destruction of Pekin. ther convincing proofs have been obtained of the intention of the empress dowager to massacre all foreigners. MORE BRITISH TROOPS. London, Monday, Sept. 17-4 a.m.-In connection with the prediction by Schooner Lost in Trying to Enter Port Finder will please leave at Sir Robert Hart that there will be further hostilities in November, it is understood that the British government is already considering the transfer of troops from South Africa to India, in order to make it practicable to send more British troops to China.

The Russians have received word of reverses in Manchuria, where 200 miles of railway has been destroyed and a number of stations have been burned. There has been much fighting and many Russians have been killed. Three regiments have left Pekin on their long overland march to Manchuria.

A gradual reduction of the Russian forces in Pekin has begun. Five regiments have already been withdrawn, leaving 8,000 Russians here. The total of the allied forces is now about 70,-000, of which number 22,000 are Japanese. Baron Nishii, the Japanese minister, favors the withdrawal of 15,000

The government of Holland is embarrassed by the efforts of Kruger's partisans to make this country the field for the propaganda pre-pared by Dr. Leyds. The cabinet will take precautions against any extreme manifestations of hostility to England. LOSSES HEAVY.

London, Sept. 15 .- The claims hitherto made that the British losses in South Africa have been small, as compared with those of other campaigns, appear to need revision, judging from recent calculations made by a well-known actuary, who finds that of the officers in South Africa 72.1 per 1,000 have been killed or have died of wounds, 30.6 per 1,000 of the officers have died or disease, while of the men 18 per 1,000 have been killed or died of wounds, and 31.8 have died of disease. These startling statistics show that while the officers and men have suffered approximately equally from disease, the risk of officers in action has been hugely disproportionate, and also that the rate of mortality in South Africa is much greater than it was in the Franco-German war.

KRUGER'S MILLIONS. Kruger's millions are the subject of long narratives of dispraise. The lowest estimate of his wealth is £1,000,000, invested abroad; while some calculators figure his wealth at £5,000,000. The Transvaal government is supposed to have two or three million payments.

The Canadians.

PRAISED BY LORD ROBERTS. Toronto, Sept. 15. - The following autograph letter, received from Lord Roberts in reply to a request, asking the field marshal if he would send a message to the Canadian people as Macdonald Causes Their Hasty to his appreciation of the services of the Canadian contingents that have been operating under him, is published:

> "Pretoria, Aug. 2, 1900.-Sir,-I am desired by Lord Roberts to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 26th of June in which you make inquiries regarding the conduct of the Royal Canadian Regiment. His lordship directs me to say that it would be impossible to speak too highly of the work done by the various Canadian contingents. They have had hard work and suffered many privations, all of which have been gone through with extraordinary cheerfulness, and it has been both a pleasure and an honor to him to have such troops under his command. A fact that he thinks the empire will not forget is that the determined advance of the Canadians on the morning of the 27th of February contributed in no small measure towards forcing the surrender of Cronje, Yours faithfully, Stanley, colonel, private secretary."

> ANOTHER DEATH. Ottawa, Sept. 15 .- The following official announcement is made this morning: "I have been advised by cablegram from South Africa, that No. 52, S. Q. M. S., R. Hunt, R. C. D., 1st battalion, C. M. R., is dead. No further particulars. (Signed) M. Aylmer, colonel for major-general commanding." Quartermaster-Sergeant Hunt's next of kin is Mrs. J. Hunt, 103 Walnut acorns.

London, Sept. 15.-The war office has decided to invite details of the officers and men from each colonial corps in South Africa to visit England as the guests of the nation as soon as it becomes possible to reduce the forces there. The colonial troops will come with the first returning regulars, and the Queen will present them with colors.

MISSING MEN HEARD FROM. It has been reported to the war office, that Sergeants Hayne and Mc-Culloch, and Privates Strong, Clendenning, Slimm and Duxbury, of the from the ranks, have rejoined.

WON THE V. C. London, Sept. 15 .- There is jubilation in Canadian circles over the award, officially gazetted, of a Victoria Cross to Sergt. A. H. L. Richardson, of Strathcona's Horse. Richardson gained maintains that he is cheerful, but that the cross at Wolve Spruit, near Standerton, on July 5, when a small party derton, on July 5, when a small party by their use. of Strathconas engaged a double num-Lisbon, Sept. 15.—The Portuguese ber of Boers. Another account says: Richardson noticed that a trooper, who had been wounded twice, and whose horse had ate a settlement with Great Britain, been shot, was in grave peril. Though Richardson's own here say that Mr. Kruger will take steed was wounded he succeeded in riding with the trooper he had rescued out of the fire of the Boers. His heroic conduct was brought to the attention of the general in command of the forces, who recommended him, through Lord Roberts, for the Victoria Cross.

THERE ARE OTHERS. Yesterday's Associated Press dispatch brought the news that Sergt Arthur Lindsay, of the Strathcona Horse, had been awarded the Victoria Cross for bravery at Standerton, and gave the Official Gazette as the authority. It is evident that two Canadians have had Victoria Crosses bestowed upon them.

Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 15. - Mr. Hampdon Burnham, of Peterboro, author of "Canadians in the Imperial Service," says the cable message appearing in Saturday's paper to the effect that Lieut.-Col. Dunn and Sergt. Lindsay are the only two Canadians who have gained the Victoria Cross is incorrect. Sergt.-General Reade, of Perth, Ont.; Sergt.-Col. Douglass, of Quebec, and Horace Robinson, Brockville, Ont., recently of Brabant's Horse, have also been awarded it.

SENATOR DEPEW ON BRYANISM

Chauncey Says It Will Get Its Quietus This Election.

Detroit, Sept. 16 .- Senator Chauncey M. Depew, New York's brilliant and gifted orator, talked political issues from a Republican standpoint last night. The occasion was an improvised one, the senator being called to Detroit on an entirely different mission, and the senator himself was too good natured to object to the arrangement. It is needless to say he had an immense audience, and met with a flattering reception. Senator Depew, in conversation with newspaper men yesterday, expressed his opinion that the present campaign will be the end of Bryan and Bryanism, politically.

"The party will suffer a second crushing defeat, and it will then get on to the fact that old issues and new have two or three million pounds in and, with some Cleveland Democrat continental bonds, to be kept, Dr. as a candidate, they will give a race

The beauty of the church decorations appealed to everyone present. The disposal of the blossoms and greenery was marked by good perspective and color effect. A green hedge of areca and kentia palms outlined the chancel and on the center of the altar rested a huge bouquet of white roses flanked on either side by clusters of deep pink roses. Mammoth bouquets of asters in white and varied shades of pink were fastened with showers of pink and white ribbons, to smilax twined Fods, which distinguished each alternate pew on the center aisle, forming a floral pathway for the wedding party. The pews that lined the center aisle were occupied by relatives and intimate friends and ropes of smilax indicated the division of adjoining seats. Palms and ferns beautified the window ledges and completed the artistic decorations. The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of the modiste's art. The skirt was of delicate point lace and point applique over satin and tulle. The bodice was of lace and tulle, and encircling the neck was a long chain of pearl beads. The veil was of the same beautiful lace, that formed the gown, and it fell to the edge of the full court train. Her bouquet was of white roses and

Mr. Charles Hobbs, farmer, of Ilderton, had a very close call for his life one day last week. He was showing a revolver to a neighbor named Arthur Guilfoil. The latter took the weapon, and was examining it, when he accidentally pulled the trigger. The bullet tore a hole through one of Guilfotl's fingers and took the skin off Hobb's ribs, just over the heart.

I say labor contributes to the prosperity of the country, and whatever conduces to a nation's welfare is most worthy of commendation. It is not the office or occupation that dignifies the the office.

cumstances. We should remember that they are our fellow-beings, that they have feelings like ourselves, that they are stung by a sense of injustice, repelled by an overbearing spirit, and softened by kindness, and that it largely rests with us whether their hearts and homes are to be clouded with sorrow or radi-

Surely men do not amass wealth for the sole pleasure of counting their bonds and of contemplating their gold in secret. No, they acquire it in the hope that it will contribute to their rational comfort and happiness. Now, there is no enjoyment in life so pure and substantial as that which springs from the reflection that others are made content and happy by our benevolence. And I am speaking here not of the benevolence of gratuitous bounty, but of fair-dealing tempered with nignity. Considerate Kindness is like Petrolia and Enniskillen, at Petrolia, her sister Mercy:

No friend of his race can contemplate without painful emotions | Oct. 5 and 6. those heartless monopolists exhibiting a grasping avarice which has dried up every sentiment of sympathy, and a sordid selfishness which is deaf to the cries of distress. Their sole aim is to realize large dividends without regard to the paramount claims of justice and Christian charity. These trusts and monopolies, like the car of Juggernaught, crush every obstacle that stands in their way. They endeavor, not always, it is alleged, without success, to corrupt our national and state legislatures and municipal councils. They are so intolerant of honest rivalry as to use unlawful means in driving from the market all competing industries. They compel their operatives to work for starving wages, especially in mining districts and factories, where protests have but a feeble echo, and are easily stifled by intimidation. In many places the corporations are said to have the monopoly of stores of supply, where exorbitant prices are charged for the necessaries of life: bills are contracted which the workmen are unable to pay from their scanty wages, and their forced insolvency places them entirely at the mercy of their taskmasters.

To such Shylocks may well be applied the words of the apostle: "Go to, ye rich men; weep and howl for your miseries which shall come upon you. * * You have stored up to yourselves wrath against the last days. Behold the hire of the laborers, * • which by fraud hath been kept back by you, crieth, and the cry of them hath entered into the ears of the God of Sabbaoth.'

How forcibly this language applies now to our own country, and how earnestly the warning should be heeded by the constituted authorities! The supreme law of the land should be vindicated and enforced, and ample protection should be afforded to legitimate competing corporations as well as to the laboring classes against unscrupulous monopolies.

But if labor organizations have rights to be vindicated and grievances to be redressed it is manifest that they have also sacred obligations to be fulfilled and dangers to guard against.

They should exercise unceasing vigilance in securing their body from the control of designing demagogues, who would make it subservient to their own selfish ends, or convert it into a political engine. They should also be jealous of the reputation and good name of the rank and file of the society as well as of its chosen leaders. For while the organization is ennobled and commands the respect of the public by the moral and civic virtues of its members, the scandalous and unworthy conduct of even a few of them is apt to bring reproach on the whole body, and to excite the distruct of the community.

Activity is the law of all intellectual and animal life. The more you live in conformity to that law, the happier you will be. An active life, like the purling rivulet, is an unfailing source gladness, health and contentment, while an indolent life, like the stagnant pool, breeds discontent, disease and death. No man enjoys with a keener relish the night's repose, and the Sunday and holiday rest than the son of toil. A life of patient industry is sure to be blessed with a competence, if it is not crowned with an abundant remuneration. The great majority of our leading men of wealth are indebted for their fortunes to their own untiring industry. Take an active, personal, con-scientious interest in the business of your employer. ### Chafing and Itehing Skin

Exasperated by Summer Heat, Prompt and Cure Certain When Dr. Chase's Ointment Is Used.

To many fleshy people summer is the time of much misery from chafing and skin irritation. Some complain particularly of sore feet, caused by peras eczema, salt rheum, rash or hives. Persons who have tried Dr. Chase's Ointment for itching or irritated skin are enthusiastic in recommending it to their friends, because it is the only

Mr. M. A. Smith, Brockville, Ont., writes: "I suffered many years with chafing, burning, and itching of the skin, and never found anything to do me good, or even give relief, until I used Dr. Chase's Ointment. I would advise all sufferers, and especialy bicycle riders, to always have it on tled negatively by Great Britain and Germany, who are hopeful of gaining the united adhesion of the powers to a temporary postponement of the scheme. RUSSIA'S COURSE.

In the opinion of diplomatists the way has been somewhat cleared for the accomplishment of this by recent notes from St. Petersburg explaining that Russia's real intent is wholly different from the meaning deduced from the text of the original proposal as intimating that Russia may compromise. Considerable importance is attached to the fact that Russia recognizes the impossibility of the allies leaving Pekin unless the Chinese Government immediately enters, so that there will be no interval without a government. Additional confirmation of this view is found in the fact that Russia has resumed sending forces to China. This is entirely contrary to the supposed spirit of the Russian note and prepares observers for a change of plans after the apparent failure of the policy favored in the original note.

MUSCOVITES MOVE. Officials in London take little stock in the carping complaints of the Russophobes, though they are fully alive to the possibility of a Muscovite move in some unexpected quarter, and perhaps, also some surprise from Germany. They point out that many allegations of intrigue, founded on the most trivial incidents, and others, like the report that Li Hung Chang is traveling under the protection of Russia alone, have already been disproved. They deprecate the attempts to manufacture international friction from such petty causes.

INSTITUTE OF JOURNALISTS. The conference of the Institute of Journalists, held in London during the present week under the auspices of the lord mayor, Mr. A. J. Newton, passed a number of remarkable resolutions, the results of which are awaited with a great deal of curlosity. For instance, hereafter, if the dictates of refrain from inviting contributions from persons of wealth and position, society stars, etc., because they thus deprive of valuable space those who are journalists by profession, and have no

MRS. MAYBRICK'S CASE.

Dr. Clark Bell, who sailed for New York from Rotterdam, Sept. 12, said to a representative of the Associated Press before sailing: "I am by no means dissatisfied with the results of my visit in behalf of Mrs. Maybrick; though the home secretary has not year taken action. The publication of Lord and their review by the Queen are well Russell's letter caused a profound imcalculated to inspire loyalty through- pression. A GERMAN VIEW.

The Chinese situation is deemed to be highly unsatisfactory and most complicated, though no sensational Boys' Fine Tweed Two-Garment events are immediately expected, and isolated action on the part of any one power is not anticipated. According to the opinion here, all the interested powers are too firmly convinced of the importance of continued harmony and solidarity to jeopardize them when no necessity calls for it. It is not expected in Berlin that either Russia or France will withdraw their troops hurriedly from Pekin, and it is believed the United States will not be in any greater hurry. Information has reached Berlin that Russia, in any event, will keep large bodies of troops in China, not only in the frontier provinces of Mongolia, Manchuria and Ki-Became Intolerable-Relief Is rin, but also in the interior and the coast districts of Pe Chi Li.

INSISTS ON PUNISHMENT. Regarding Germany's attitude, she will in any case insist on severe punishment being inflicted on the treacherous Chinese authorities, to which purpose the confession of Baron Von Ketteler's assassin came opportunely. Germany will not accept Gen. Lung Lu as a peace negotiator if the charges made against Lung Lu that he led the attack agginst the Pekin legations are proved. But Germany, through her foreign office, insists on the principle of severe punishment.

AUTOMOBILES IN THE ARMY. The grand maneuvers of the French army entered their final stage today. At La Beauce, the great wheat plain of France, four army corps are taking part in that mimic warfare. The maneuvers conclude Sept. 20, and a review of 100,000 troops by President Loubet at Chartress. A striking feature of the operations is the introduction, on an extensive scale, of automobiles, in order to secure a practical test of their military utility. The generals' aides-de-camp covered unpre-cedented distances in a few hours. Gen. Brugere's orderly officer ran 170 kilometers in the morning, making a complete circuit of the two contesting armies, and furnishing Gen. Brugere with details of the situation by noon. The forage and provision autos are also doing valuable work for the commissariat. The roads around Chartress simply swarm with automobiles, motor cars and wagons, worked by electricity, petroleum and steam.

4,000 YEARS OLD. Between Worms and Frankental there has been laid bare an immense tomb field with prehistoric remains 4,000 years old. The skeletons show are those of a tall, strong race. The bodies were all buried in a stooping position.

CHOLERA MORBUS, CRAMPS and kindred complaints annually make their appearance at the same time as the hot weather, green fruits, cucum-bers, melons, etc., and many persons are debarred from eating these tempting fruits, but they need not abstain if they have Dr. J. HORSES NOW

In Demand, and a Ready Sale for Al

most Any Kind, [New York Time.]

With all the world fighting or getting ready to fight, the demand for American horses is giving the American dealers a rather pleasant and profitable season. It has been prophesied that if the demand continues the market will be drained in a short time, but American dealers seem to have no fear of that, though just now some of them have to exercise considerable ingenuity to get the material for immediate trading. Early last week an old Bull's Head market dealer, who generally handles only high-class animals, figured prominently in persons and through agents at the horse sale of a city street car line, having substituted electricity for horse power, disposing of its now useless stock. The horses offered were well worn, and their condition was none too good, but the dealer mentioned took all the animals he could get as long as they gave pro-mise of living until he could dispose of them.

"I have a place ready for them," he said, "and it will not take many weeks of rest on grass to freshen them up and get them into shape to put back on the market. I have no fears of not finding buyers. Almost anything the shape of horseflesh that can stand on four legs will command some sort of price, and this lot is not as bad as appearances would lead one to judge. The only trouble is that these horses have not had proper care, the knowledge that they were soon to be sold having made the men in charge of them rather indifferent. It would and principal support of a widowed not surprise me if in a few months some of them are fighting as United States cavalry remounts." Some idea of the demand for horses for military service alone may be gained from the fact that within the two months before Oct. 1 more than 5,000 head will be shipped from the Pacific Coast to the Philippines and China by the United States. These will go in ships from San Francisco, Seattle and Portland. Big shipments of mules will also be made. From New Orleans only a few weeks ago about 3,000 horses bought by the British government for military service in South Africa, were shipped. The same government is also buying mules in large

Agents of the German government are in America buying horses for the German cavalry, and though the buyers are holding out for a high standard, it is said that 10,000 horses will be bought if animals coming up to the specifications can be obtained. The United States government found way, was killed at the corner of Fort herses up to the requirements of the cavalry service so hard to obtain, how-ever, that a recent big shipment of plains ponies was made to the coast.

Three gentlemen were strolling down one of the principal avenues of the Bois de Boulogne, chatting, when suddenly one of them, overcome by some mystertous influence, stopped short and ceased talking.

Over his senses a cloud descended. The scene in the Bois went from before his eyes and the sound of his friends' voices fled from his ears. He was only conscious of being in the midst of a vast, barren plain, upon which slowly appeared a coffin, in which lay his sister, dead.

The vision faded from his mind. On recovering himself he found his friends staring at him in alarm, while he was shaking as though from cold Much alarmed, he told them what had

Toronto, Sept. 17 .- The more seasonable autumn weather brought in numerous sorting orders to the Montreal also to the eastern provinces, where the demand is quite active. Values are generally firm for drygoods and one cotton mill advanced prices on various lines from 5 to 10 per cent last week. Dairy products are still high and firm. Money is in abundant supply for the purposes of trade, and rates are unchanged.

There was less activity in wholesale trade circles in Toronto last week, as was to be expected, owing to the fact that the exhibition was over. The sorting trade has been showing improvement and the movement is very steady for this time of the year. Payments are fair. Money is steady.

Extension of the Pilsonburg and Lake Erie Railway-G. T. R. Changes and Improvements.

The extension of the Tilsonburg and Lake Erie railway now seems a certainty. Mr. Teale, president of the system, says that the survey is now being prosecuted, but whether the road will go to the east or west of King's pond is not yet decided, and where the station will be placed is not decided. The extension of this railway has been for some time a pure matter of conjecture, but now seems to be an assured fact. Mr. McGuigan and other leading officials of the G. T. R. were in Brantford the other day and authorized some important work. The Great Western track will be altered to run under the Brantford and Goderich track instead of the two crossing each other, and the "Y to the east of the station, which has long been a nuisance, will be abolished altogether. A double track will be run from the depot to the new point of connection, and in all many thousands of dollars will be spent. It is believed that the alterations will be made with a view to a main line service through Brantford and the city is likely ere

And 15,000 More Are Expected to Quit Tomorrow-Summary of the Situation.

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.-Reports from the anthracite coal fields of this state indicate that the tie-up caused by the strike for higher wages of more than 140,000 mine workers is at least as complete as the leaders of the United Mine Workers of America, the organization back of the strike, have asserted it would be. The Lehigh Company's collieries are at work as well.

Shamokin, Pa., Sept. 17.-The collieries operated by the Mineral Union, Philadelphia, and Reading Coal and Iron Companies, and by individual operators in the suburbs of this place, and employing between 9,500 and 10,000 men and boys, were completely tied up this morning by the mine workers going on strike.

In the Mount Carmel and Locust Gap districts it is as yet impossible to give the exact number of men on strike, but the leaders said 75 per cent of the men in the above districts had not reported for work. The operators had no figures to give out.

PRESIDENT MITCHELL'S FIG-URES.

Hazleton, Pa., Sept. 17.-Mr. Mitchell gave the following statement to the Associated Press: "The information in our possession this morning indicates that over 100,-000 men are idle throughout the entire anthracite region, and at least 15,000 additional workmen will refrain from working tomorrow morning. "There are several thousand men who entered the mines this morning their working-places and obtaining their tools. safety as soon as possible. They reached the end of the alley, turned the corner to the left, and were at the office door. The outer door was open, and the young couple entered. Louis hesitated a moment as his hand touched the knob upon the inner door,

Louis answered, deeply hurt that the company, or any member of it, should have doubted his integrity.

Well, I was never more glad to see anyone," said the cashier, heartily shaking the hand he still held. "But, come, tell me how it was-give an account of your adventure-for an adventure I am sure you must have had. Ah, pardon," he continued, as he caught | at the same time. sight of Margaret, who had remained in the background. "Miss Houghton, Monsieur Froque."

Louis said, presenting Margaret to him. They saluted each other in mutual recognition, and then the polite Frencheprang to get a chair for the young lady, after which he again turned eagerly to Louis for an explanation of his startling appearance.

"I must not tell you anything-I cannot rest," Louis said, as he uncovered his basket and removed the little tin trunk from it, "until this money has been counted out and safely lodged in the bank."

'The money! the money!" almost shrieked the excited cashier. "Have you brought the money back also? Where did you get it? Ah! how-" He could not go on.

A hundred thoughts flashed with lightning rapidity through his mind at this startling intelligence, and for the first time since Louis' strange disappearance, something like a doubt of his integrity disturbed him. Louis saw it. He was as keenly sensitive as a woman to feel this mistrust and involuntarily his lip curled. "If I had been dishonest enough to run away with it, it is not likely that I should bring it back myself, even if I had repented of the deed. But come.' Louis added, with nervous impatience.

know how much is missing." He himself strode to the door and locked it, while the excited cashier drew the shades before the windows and the half-glass partitions that separated the inner from the outer offices.

Louis then put his precious burden upon the desk, threw back the lid, and revealed the treasure within. Monsieur Froque grew white death as he looked upon it.

"Ah, this is wonderful, wonderful!" he murmured. "Count," Louis commanded, while he lifted the crisp notes out for himself, and pushed the gold coins toward the People came into the outer room, tried the door leading into the inner office, and finding it locked, wondered what private business was being transto wait, or go about other affairs, as they saw fit.

'The bills are all here!" Louis at last said, as he laid the last package down; "The villain evidently did not dare to pass them, fearing their numbers had been taken, and he would thus be detected. How does the coin come out?" The cashier had not finished his counting, and did not answer; he simply pushed a heap of the gold toward Louis, motioning him to assist him in his work, and another silence of ten or fifteen minutes ensued

At last it was finished. "How much is missing?" Louis asked, with dry lips and a husky voice, when Monsieur Froque had footed up the different amounts

'Less than a thousand francs.' "Thank Heaven! That amount can easily be replaced, and the interest of the whole be added to it," responded Louis fervently.

"Yes, yes, but now tell me about it-I am boiling over with curiosity," urged the cashier.

"Not yet. We must send this money the room to the inner place, where the cashier was sitting before his desk, busily engaged in making up some active will be time for my story," Louis replied while he hastily returned it to

Preference

[Montreal Herald.] Q.-What is the effect of the preferential tariff?

A. It gives to Canadian consumers a reduction in the rate of duties paid on British goods, and leaves Canadian manufacturers a fair protection. Q.-Are the duties on English goods lower than they were in 1895?

A .- Yes, they are considerably lower, anywhere from one-fourth to one-Q .- How do they compare with the duties before 1878? A .- They are slightly higher as rule, but in some cases even lower. This is true, for example, in the case of certain lines of cottons used in large quantities in Canada. Q.-Are the manufacturers satisfied with the present tariff? A .- Yes, they are satisfied as tariff is now, as is shown by the continued activity in their industries, but they would probably object to a further reduction. Q .- Is there any likelihood of any such reduction? A .- No, for Mr. Fielding has formally pledged the government to the view that the tariff may well remain much as it is for a considerable time. Q.-As the tariff stands, therefore, is it satisfactory and advantageous to Canadians?

A .- Yes, both to makers and buyers: and because they are devoted to Great Britain, Canadians are pleased that there is also an advantage to Great Britain. Q. Why does Sir Charles Tupper object to this? A .- Because he says we are giving Great Britain something of value to her without getting something in return.

Q.-Does he not also say that the preference is of no value to Britain? A .- Yes, he sometimes makes the two statements in one sentence.

Q .- Is Great Britain likely to grant British market? A .- No, there is no reason to believe so; and all her prominent statesmen have at one time or another opposed the idea

Q.-Who have spoken in this tone? A .- Lord Rosebery, Lord Salisbury, disembodied spirit.

In the outer office he stopped to conmost of the Liberal leaders, and Mr.

His pen dropped from his nerveless fer a moment with the clerk, who had Ritchie, president of the board of trade in the present cabinet, who said if Sir Charles Tupper were to come in to power in Canada? A.—No, there is no likelihood of it. Q.—What, then, would be the effect upon the British preference of electing Sir Charles Tupper?

A.—He would logically be bound to repeal it, until Great Britain was prepared to return preference for pref-

Q.-Would this mean an increase in the rate of taxation? A .- Yes. necessarily. Q.-By which the people would lose? A.-Yes

Q .- And by which the Canadian manufacturers might get an extra protection, which their present prosperity shows they do not need? Q .- Suppose the preference were to be granted by Great Britain, on what terms would it be given? A.—Mr. Chamberlain, who has gone further in this regard than anyone else in Great Britain, has said that free trade within the empire is the best that would be acceptable to Great Britain.

Q.—Does this mean the entry of all British goods into Canada free? Q .- How would Canadian manufacturers regard that?

A.—They would probably contend, with every appearance of correctness, that such a move would drive them out of business. Q .- Do the heads of Canadian industrial establishments desire free trade within the empire, if it is to have this

A .- Naturally they do not. Q.—Then Sir Charles Tupper's policy on preferential trade must work out badly for Canadians, whether Great Britain is willing or unwilling to grant the preference?

A.-Yes Q.-What is the strength of the Liberal attitude, as compared with that of their opponents?

A.—It lies in the fact that the present tariff is the best practical arrangea preference for Canadian goods in the | ment for Canada, and that its utility does not depend necessarily upon the action by Great Britain. Q.—Then what is the weakness of the Tupper platform? A .- That there is no likelihood of Britain granting a preference of her own accord, as that would be an invasion of the policy she has deliberately adopted and found advantageous for half a century; and secondly, that quite recently that a 5 per cent pref- if it were granted on the terms proerence is the last thing he would be posed by Mr. Chamberlain, it would prepared to advocate. Q .- Would their views be changed to existing Canadian industries.

CATCHING SEA TURTLES How They Are Captured by Fishermen

[Savannah Morning News.] hatchet or axe. Some nergons One of the favorite summer sports of the fishermen and marooners of Savannah is turtle-hunting in the sandy beaches of the neighboring islands. where from May to August the turtles come out to lay their eggs. On the long, flat stretches of sand the turtle crawls about one hundred feet or more from the water line, and there, with her flippers scooping out a round hole from two feet to three feet deep, deposits her eggs, ofter 300 or ore, covering every 50 or so with a thin layer of sand, and putting a final layer of considerable thickess over the top of the nest after her maternal duties are finished. This final filling in of the nest she smoothes off even with the beach, and, after making the surrounding as nearly as possible like the remainder of the beach, if undisturbed, crawls back to the water with the pleasing consciousness of duty well performed and the confident conviction that in a short time her maternal heart will be gladdened with a numerous progeny. Even when she escapes with her life. however, her hopes of a family are conceded to be a delicacy by nearly everybody who has tried them, from armed policeman in the other room as the greenest cracker, whose only con-the gentlemen entered. He knew that ception of a turtle is the pound and a half terrapin of the inland swamps and ponds, to the most accomplished epicure familiar with the celebrated dishes of every land, and it is this toothsomeness of her product that leads to the undoing of the turtle's hopes, for during the season of her laying the China has not yet learned to its full nests are sought for continuously, and many of them found and robbed of their contents. The method of search is very simple; where the tracks of the urtle are found leading up the beach they are followed, and the ground at various points along the trail tested by means of a slender rod or walkingcane. The nest is distinguished when reached by the ready yielding of the sand, and the hunters scoop out the sand with their hands and appropriate the eggs. But it is in securing the turtle itself that the hunter finds the greatest made at night, and preferably during moonlight. The conditions are best about the middle of May, during a full Then skirting the water line, the hunters walk along the beach, keeping a sharp outlook for tracks as they pass along, and a still sharper lookout ahead for the creature itself. On a clear night the great, slumbering animal De wheels poun' hard in de riveh's can be distinguished a long way off. When one is sighted, the hunters determine their further proceedings in accordance with the position of the creature with respect to the nearness of the water line and its evident intentions. If on its way to make a nest, which is known by its crawling up the sand and away from the water, there is no particular need to hurry, as, unless disturbed, the turtle will not return to the water until she has deposited her eggs. So usually the hunters are content to walt a safe distance away until the nest has been completed and the actual laying of the eggs begun. Then they may approach with impunity, for the turtle, once on the nest, will not move until she has completed her task. It is when she commences her retreat to the water that the hunters secure her by catching the side of the shell and turning her over on her back, where she lies helpless, and can only fan her mighty and powerful flippers in wrathy impotence.

The turtle is a firm believer that discretion is the better part of valor, and she shows fight only when cornered and has no way of escape. Should she catch sight of her natural enemy, man, before she has begun to lay, she will at once beat a hasty retreat toward the water, scaling the hard beach and throwing back quantities of sand in her haste. But when she is brought to bay she will both bite and strike heavy blows with her flippers, and these must be carefully avoided while being turned on her back.

Turtles are still quite numerous on Warsaw, though not nearly so plentiful as they were several years ago, when as many as nine have been turned in one night. They average in size from the comparatively small one of 100 pounds to 500 pounds, and in exceptional cases 600. One caught seven years ago weighed 50 pounds more than the last number, and established a record for large turtles that has since remained unbroken. A few have been caught during the present season, but no very large ones. Only last week one was caught under exceptional conditions. #### Montreal. AMMONIA AS A FIRE QUENCHER

A Gallon and a Half Effectively Applied to a Burning Gasoline Tank.

Some interesting instances of the power of ammonia as a quencher of fires were given in a recent article. In one instance, says the writer, where fire had originated, probably from spontaneous combustion, in a pile containing several tons of cottonseed, the interior of which was almost a solid body of live coal, a half gallon of amin another, which occurred in Savenay, France, the vapors of a tank containing fifty gallons of gasoline caught fire in the linen room of a laundry. room was instantly a mass of flames, but a gallon and a half of ammonia thrown into it completely and almost immediately extinguished the fire. The ammonia was in a glass demijohn in an apothecary's shop next door to the laundry, and was thrown into the room by the druggist as an experiment. To use his own words in reporting the circumstances: "The effact was instantaneous, torrents of black smoke rolled upward in place of flames, and in a moment every trace of fire was gone. So completely was the fire extinguished that workmen were enabled to enter the room almost immediately, where they found the iron tank of gasoline intact."-National

Attended by the Ancient Order of United Workmen.

A Helpful Sermon by Rev. J. G. Stuart -Good Work of the Order-Splendid Turnout.

The annual parade to church service which the Ancient Order of United Workmen held yesterday afternoon to the Knox Presbyterian Church, was largely attended by members of the order. It was headed by the 26th Regiment Band, which first marched with the members of Electric Lodge from Society Hall, East London, to Albion block, where the members of the various city lodges met, and proceeded to the church. The sermon that was preached by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Stuart, was particularly appropriate, and was listened to with earnest attention by the Workmen. From the text "Pure religion before God and the Father is this, to visit the fatherless and the widow in their affliction, and to keep yourselves unspotted from the world," Mr. Stuart evolved several thoughts concerning the truly religious man. A man should not be an idle talker, but teachable, and while slow to speak he should be swift to hear, and be especially anxious to hear the word. He should be kind to others and slow to wrath, because the righteous ness of God was never moved by the wrath of man. Purity and cleanliness also were tests of true religion, and men should be doers and not mere hearers of the word, so that they might be bearers of fruit. A man who did not bridle his tongue and yet thought that he was religious, was deceived, for "out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.' The positive side of religion was that which moved a man and affected his own life and character. A vast amount of good was being done in the world by such societies as that of the Workmen, and in America, two million members belonged to them the enormous sum of $38,000,000 had been given for the assistance of widows and hopeless. We are absolutely home- and the fatherless. In lands where weak and the needy. In the early days the church did this, but now a better work was being done in teaching the truth that no man lives to himself, nor dies to himself. During the past year the order of the Workmen had been doing an effective work. The membership in Ontario alone is now 40,000, and half a million dollars had been expended in the exemplification of the truth. While speaking in praise of the splendid work being done by the order, Mr. Stuart impressed upon his hearers the knowledge that this work was not to be considered truly religious, and members should not permit themselves to look upon their society as their religion. The clean life, where a man, clean in lip and life, helped his fellow-men, was what God wanted, and all were urged to be steadfast in

SIR CHARLES TUPPER'S TOUR. Port Hope, Sept. 15 .- Sir Charles Tupper and his companions on tour left Belleville this morning in Mr. Harry Corby's splendid yacht, Skylark, and had a picturesque sail to Brighton, en route to Cobourg. Landing at the Brighton wharf, they were driven to the railway station, where an impromptu demonstration took place and an address of welcome was read to Sir Charles Tupper and Messrs. Macdonald Foster and Whitney, in the presence of a couple of hundred spectators. The aged baronet, in reply, termed the government an incapable and corrupt administration, and predicted that they would be driven from power at the coming elections. He asked the electmark that she was sure I would find ors to again return for East Northumberland Mr. Edward Cochrane, who had rendered great service to the Conservative party. There were calls for "Foster" and "Hugh John," but as the latter is figuring as next in importance to Sir Charles during the tour he responded to the call first. He alluded to ton, and said the people of East Northumberland had been among Sir John's warmest supporters. He arraigned the government on a charge of breaking faith with the people, and said they would be turned out for this conduct when the proper time came. Mr. Foster followed, and ridiculed Liberal claims to having made the country prosperous. He compared the government to Nebuchadnezzar, the Babylonian king, who, intoxicated by self-conceit, cried: the mighty Babylon I have built." The ill-fated king for his sins was turned out to eat grass, and that would be the fate of the government. Whitney refrained from speaking on account of hoarseness, and Hugh John
