BATTLE RAGES IN THE EAST

The Great Conflict of the War Now On-Kuropatkin Attacked by Jap Army.

eneral Kellar Falls—Developments are Hourly Expected-The Situation.

St. Pétersburg, Aug. 1 .- At last the lecisive battle of the campaign seems be in progress. Having complet-Russian position, General Kuroki has ordered simultaneously an advance from all points against Haicheng and Laioyang. Fighting is raging on both fronts, and still continues. The latfronts, and still continues. The latest reports contain nothing yet continuatory of the rumors that General Kuropatkin has been defeated. According to Kuropatkin's official despatch to the Emperor, the battle began for the possession of the important position at Simoucheng, which is located at the junction of the Fengwangeheng and Sinyen roads. Two separate armies were launched from the east above the two roads, while a third, under General Oku, moved upeast of the railroad from Tatchekiao to try to cut off the Russian force there from Haicheng. If the latter move is successful this force will be grushed.

KELLER WAS OUTFIJANKED.

KELLER WAS OUTFLANKED.

A portion of General Kuroki's army at the same time advanced against General Keller's positions at Ikhav-uen, east of Lieuoyang, trying the fav-orite Japanese plan of outflanking him Still farther north on the Saimats_ za-Liaoyang road, the Japanese mov-ed forward against Houtsiatze (25 miles from Liaoyang). At all points the Japanese employ-d artiflery to the best advantage. GENERAL STAFF DUMBFOUNDED. General Kuropatkin's situation will General Kuropatk'n's situation will be desperate in the event of his defeat. The keenest anxiety is felt at the War Office for news of the progress of the battle. The General seems utterly dumbfounded at the number of men the Japanese possess, and consequently Kuropatk'n's statement that they are landing another heavy force at the port of Newchwang adds to the solicitude.

The Japanese evidently have suc

The Japanese evidently have succeeded in concealing the real number of their meni and guns which, the General Staff, now believes, must be over 300,000 men, with between 300 and 400 guns. KUROPATKIN REPORTS DESPER-

ATE BATTLE. St. Petersburg, Aug. 1. — The Emperor to-day received the following despatch, dated July 51, from General Kuropatking:—
Three Japanese armies have renewed offensive operations on our southern front. Our rear guard made an obstinate defense until the appearance of considerably superior forces of the enemy, and then gradually retired in the distriction of the state tired in the direction of Haicheng. A detachment near Simoucheng, fifteen miles southeast of Haicheng, successfully withstood

The Takushan army and General Oku's army to-day are being mainly directed to cutting our communications between Simoucheng and Haitions between Simoucheng and Hai-cheng, their operations starting from a line traversing Yanshukan, Tapun-tes and Liaohantse.

On our eastern front the Japanese began the oftensive this morning against our Tkhavuen position, the enemy's main concentration being against its right flank, which was furned.

The enemy is also acting on the offensive between Liaoyang and saimat-sza-almost due north of Fengwangcheng—against our troops posted at Houtsiatse—25 miles from Liaoyang. Intelligence has been received of a considerable number of Japanese land-ing off Yinkow, under the cover of several warships RUSSIAN POSITIONS RETAINED.

A further despatch from General Kuropatkin to the Emperor, also dated July 31, says:—
All our positions were retained at Simoucheng when the fighting ceased at 6.45 p. m., July 31, but 1 have not yet received reports of the operations on our extreme right flank.

Russian commender to lose his life in this war.

General Zassalitch may now command the First Siberian army corps. The loss of General Keller is deeply felt in court circles. He was a personal favorite of the Emperor. His sister, Countess Kleimichel, is one of the leaders of St. Petersburg society. Lieut.-General Count Keller at the opening of the war was in command of the Second Siberian army division. He was 54 years old and resigned the Governorship of Ekaterimostaff in order to go to the front.

General Keller took part in the three campaigns of the Russo-Turkish war. In 1887 he commanded the Imperial rifle regiment and later was director, of the corps of Imperial pages, by which Keller came in considered with the members of the Imperial family, with whom he was in great favor. General Keller was considered to be the possessor of cool judgment and to be a fine strategest. Though a strict disciplinarian, Keller was a kind and careful officer and popular with his mea. He wore a short, grey beard, had keen blue eyes and dressed in khaki. His only decoration was the cross of the military order of St. George. He sustained two reverses at the hands of the Japanese recently, July 4 and July 17, being repulsed in attacks on the Motien Pass.

DEATH BY RAIL

Dresden Man Struck by Express Train Near Hamilton and Killed.

Hamilton, July 31 .- Arnold E. Stonehouse, a G. T. R. firemen, whose home is at Dresden, was fatally injured near Burlington last evening. Stonehouse was firing on a freight train which was sidetracked near Burlington to allow the C. P. R. express for Toronto to pass. He was standing on the tracks watching the C. P. R. express go past when he was struck by a G. T. R. express coming to Hamilton, and thrown a considerable distance. He was alive when picked up, and was brought to Hamilton, but died shortly after being taken from the train at the Stuart street station. He was not much cut or brussed, his death being much cut or bruised, his death being due to internal injuries. The un-fortunate young man was about 30 years of age. His relatives at Dresden were communicated with, but no reply has yet been received from them. Coroner Woolverton opened an inquest last night. The jury, after viewing the body, adjourned until Tuesday evening.

KIDNAPPED CHILD

Chatham Man Enticed Little Windson Girl to go With Him and Got Five Months.

Patrolman Raid arrested Thomas Murray, of Chatham, on London St., Saturday afternoon, and this morning he was sentenced to five months in Central prison.

Murray, who is believed to be feigning that he is a cripple, was selling lead pencils from house to house when fully withstood the enemy until three in the afternoon.

The attack was directed against our right flank, which from its position at Kanhua Pass inflicted great losses upon the Japanese.

GENERAL KELLER KILLED.

We retained all our positions held by our eastern force at Yangze Pass. General Keller, commanding, had chosen this as the point from which to watch the fight. A battery near him was exposed to heavier fire than any other, as he was mortally wounded at three o'clock in the afternoon. He died twenty minutes later."

General Kuropatkin also reported the retirement of the Russian van guard on the south front; a short distance in the direction of Haicheng. After determined fighting near the village of Sanchengtse, the Japanese apparently concentrated considerable forces on the Saimatsza side of Liaoyang.

TO BE BEST IN PROVINCE

C. C. I. Board Will Energetically Seek to Raise the Status, of our School.

Manual Training to be Introduced New Teachers Wilkbe Secured and Building Changes Made

It is evident that the members the C. C. I. Board intend to equip, alter and extend the Maple City's leading educational academy and, with the co-operation of Principal Twohes, to thoroughly re-organize and perfect the internal economy of the institution.

This much was evidenced by the discussion at yesterday's special neeting, of the Board. The large entrance class, which will augment the present crowded condition of the school at the close of the vacation, has done much to force the hands of the trustees, and the view is taken — and rightly so — that it is better to make all improvements permanent and establish once for all a standard of equipment and a pedagogical status equipment and a pedagogical status equipment and a pedagogical status that will give Chatham's Collegiate Institute a provincial place in the front ranks, rather than fritter away front ranks, rather than tritter away year by year scores of dollars in "changes" and "improvements" of at best a temporary and uncertain character.

The possibilities of a seriously high tax rate this year have stayed the hand of the Board at the present, but the work has been commenced and within the next twelve months it is the work has been commenced and within the next twelve months it is evident from the temper of the trustees matters educational will hum. There were present at the meting, Rev. Dr. Battisby, the chairman, who presided; Colonel J. B. Rankin, who in the absence of Mr. Harris, through illness, acted as secretary, and Dr. Bell, Dr. Thornton, ex-Ald. S. B. Arnold and ex-Ald. Liddy, with Architect Rutley.

Dr. Thornton, chairman of the Property committee, tendered his report. He said the committee had found difficulty in coping with the heating problem in the plan to establish commercial class rooms in the old building and desired to submit to the Board a proposition to utilize the third storey or present assembly hall. The Board must make arrangements for the absolute necessity of another new teacher within the near future and other important changes. The serious tax rate with which the city was threatened had stayed the hands of the Board at the present uncture, but they must within the next year make the necessary improvements. It would only be neglecting the interests of the school and exercising a false and injurious economy to neglect these matters altogether.

Rev. Dr. Battisby—It has just come to this, too, We will have to do something more a year hence with the number of extra pupils.

Dr. Thornton — You mean that we shall have to secure another additional teacher then.

The chairman—It is generally underged that the property of the chairman in the property in the chairman in the property of the chairman in the property of the chairman in the property of the chairman.

ally approved.

Mr. Arnold said it was the intention of the Board to turn the old building into a gymnasium below and manual training class rooms above.

The chairman, smiling,— When I was at a High school we just fared as best we could. Dr. Thornton - Yes, times have changed.

Colonel Rankin spoke briefly. He forcefully favored all wisely economic enterprises for the advancement and development of the school. The trus-tees, he felt assured, would do what was best, having both regard to their responsibility to the students and to the citizens who paid the bills.

On motion of Dr. Thornton and Col.
Rankin, it was unanimously decided to ask Mr. Rutley to go ahead, prepare plans and specifications and ask for figures.

New desks, asked for by Mr. Collins, were ordered purchased, and A. Russell's examination fee was refund-

Mr. Arnold was appointed secretary pro tem. and the Board adjourned to the 8th in t.

BOY WARNED

The lad who secured the dollar from the little girl in the City of Chatham, was found guilty of stealing this morning and released on suspended sentence. Two little girls were play ing in the cabin of the City of Chatham and one of the girls dropped a ham and one of the girls dropped a dollar. She saw the boy pick it up and followed him but he refused to return it. His mother said that he wasn't a bad boy but went in bad company. The collar was returned and the lad was allowed out on suspended sentence. His mother appeared in the police court to-day when her son was tried.

TUESDAY, AUG. 2. WHO'S WHO?

The Militia Gazette dissented from The policy of the Ottawa Government with reference to Lord Dundonald. At ones a letter was directed to it by the Militia Department announcing that the advertisements published in the paper for the militia service would be withdrawn. This was an obvious ex-ercise of despotic power. The Ottawa the drudgery of labor overlook the Government expects public money to purchase for it newspaper approval. If the approval be mot given the public money is withdrawn. But here is a curious phase of the case. Cell. Sam Hughes brought the matter up in liament on Friday, and Sir Frederick Borden said "he had never heard of the letter." Yet the letter, which is signed by Col. Pinault, begins thus:

"Sir,-I am directed by the hom. the Minister of Militia and Defence to inform you," etc.

Now, one of two things is certain. Either Sir Frederick is telling an untruth when he pretends that he was mot privy to the sending of this letter, or Col. Pinault told an untruth when he wrote in the letter that he was directed by Sir Frederick to send it. If Sir Frederick has told the truth Col. Pinault ought to be dis-

Both are doing a great and a useful work for humanity. One seldom hears of a man volunteering to work in a sewer; he is usually driven there by the necessity of earning his bread; yet men of means and learning and position devote their lives to the study of revolting diseases, and women of gentle birth and manners volunteer as Sisters of Charity, missionaries to heathens and to lepers, as nurses in the great hospitals where poor humanity is seen in all its sgualid nakedness, or to the service of the Red Cross on the field of battle where scenes of barbarism and destruction become the commonplaces of life.

fact that there may be a worse drudgery still-the drudgery of pleasure. It may be hard to work all day in a sewer, at an anvil, before a furnace or behind a counter; but at the end of the day or the end of the week there is something accomplished, something gained. It is possible to work year in and year out pursuing with weary feet and rebellious heart the phantom of pleasure from one resort to another, and never have anything to show for the time and effort expended.

It must be remembered, too, that much of the drudgery of work is unnecessary. Fer one thing some people make a drudgery of what they might make a recreation; for another thing the people themselves make hard work necessary by deliberately squandering its fruits. Consider the countless millions expended on wars of destruction, not to speak of the waste of human lives. This money is the fruit of labor. It is money is the fruit of labor. ## BROADBENT -- TOLE

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon, July 27th, at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Toll, on the Communication Road, South Harwich, when their second daughter, Miss Maud, was married to Enoch Broad. bent, merchant of South Buxton, The ceremony was performed on the lawn under an arch of evergreens by Rev. W. E. Kerr, of Blenheim. Miss Lula sister of the bride, played the wedding march

The bride was given away by her father. She wore a picturesque hat and was becomingly attired in a cream gown of French voile, trimmed with or ental embroidery, sheared chiffon and lace, carrying a shief of bridal roses.

Miss Katie Rouse, of Oshawa, cousin of the bride, was her maid. She wore a cream voile and carried pink carna-tions. Little Miss Broadbent, sister of the groom, was a pretty flower or the groom, was a pretty flower girl. Rev. Mr. Campbell, of Buxton, acted as best man.

The presents were beautiful and costly. The groom presented the bride with a gold chain and locket set with diamonds. To the bridesmaid he gave a gold crescent set with pearls.

About seventy sat down to supper, after which the young people departed for their future home.

USING THE GRIDDLE.

How to Have Delicious Cakes Without a Trace of Grease

Not owning a soapstone griddle and wishing to avoid the disagreeable odor of frying cakes in grease, the follow ing method has been found satisfactory. If the griddle is not new, rub it well with a clean, dry cloth. When well warmed, not hot, put a teaspoon of lard in a dry cotton cloth, so that one thickness of the cloth may be be tween the griddle and the lard. this well over the surface of the gridsmoking the batter may be dropped on the griddle. Used in this way, a cloth with a single spoon of lard will answer for several bakings. With a little practice one can thus have delicious cakes without a trace of grease without filling one's rooms with smoke or the odor of burning fat.

Even a piece of pork rind an inch thick and two or three inches square, used on the tines of a fork, is less objectionable than the habit of some cooks covering a griddle with a coat ing of butter or fat. smooth steel griddle is almost as desirable as soapstone if kept immaculately clean and free from grease by an occasional rub with sandpaper. Such a griddle must be very hot before the baking begins. Whoever will give the method recommended above a careful trial will not wish to return to any tience will soon prove its merits.-Table Talk.

STIPEND FOR M.P'S.

Motion in British Commons Takes One Back to Edward II.'s Time.

Mr. Arthur Henderson's motion in the House of Commons to the effect "that all members of the House should receive from the State a reasonable stipend during their Parliamentary life," takes us back to the days of Edward II., says The Westminster Gazette, when Knights of the shire were allowed by statute 4s. a day, but burgesses only half that sum. In 1377 the two members for Lancashire received £26 8s. for a session of sixty-six days. Members also used to enter into arrangements with their constituents either to take their wages in kind or compound them in some other way. In 1463, it appears, John Straham, the member for Dunwich, agreed to take his wages in red herrings: "The sayd John Straongne granted no more to them at the rate ordered by that of Edward II.

Members absenting themselves from the House without adequate or rea sonable excuse were rigorously punished. A law in Richard II.'s reign declared that "if any person summoned to Parliament do absent himself and come not at the said summons, un ss he may reasonably and honestly excuse himself to our Lord the King, he shall be amersed or otherwise punishes according as of old times hath been used to be done within the same realm in the sald law." Committal to prison, fines, or the forfeiture of their wages were some of the means used to keep members to their duties, but hunting with the King was another matter, the following being recorded in James I.'s time: "Sir Robert Wroth hath It's time: "Sir Robert Wroth hath leave to absent himself for a se'nnight, upon the King's hunting in the forest; hath leave, paying a buck to Mr. Speaker." In later Parliaments fines were inflicted or absence, but the practice ceased altogther to-wards the close of the seventeenth century,

A HOUSE OF TREASURES. Anglesey House Contains Many Rich and and Costly Jewels.

Anglesey Castle, which was recently taken possession of by bailiffs as a consequence of an action taken by the creditors of the Marquis of Anglesey, is declared to be a treasure house full of astounding surprises. A report was current the other day to the effect that gems to the value of $125,000 had been found lying "h.ggledy piggley" in a drawer, and it is now stated that the castle contains

"For two hours," says a despatch to hand this morning, "one expert gazed at box after box of glittering gems, till his eyes positively acted with the brilliant galaxy. He varked one boxful alone at $300,000.
"Scores of objects of the richerart have been found just as they arrived from Paris—simply opened and put aside unpacked. The carriage alone of a comparatively small quantity of these things cost $3,000.
"There are several hundreds of superb suits of clothes absolutely unsuched, and walking sticks ranging in price from $25 to $2,500."

Unfortunately no description of one of the canes worth the latter figure is forthcoming, but the despatch adds that the sight of this almost incodes. be permanently relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have never before given my endorsement for any medicine, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has added so much to my life and happiness that I feel like making an exception in this case. For two years every month I would have two days of severe pain, and could find no relief, but one day when visiting a friend I ran across Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound,—she had used it with the best results and advised me to try it. I found that it worked wonders with me; I now experience no pain, and only had to use a few bottles to bring about this wonderful change. I use it occasionally now when I am exceptionally tired or worn out."—Miss Alice M. Defeat Russians in Two Separate Battles-Capture Important Pass

(Special to The Planet).

Toklo, Aug. 2. - After two days fighting Gen. Kuroki has defeated the Russian forces in two separate actions fought at Yushulikzu and the Yangse

The Yangze Pass, or Yangse Pass s situated 30 miles east of Liao Yang. The Russian army engaged there is generally known as the eastern army and was commanded by the late Lieut Gen. Count Keller, who was killed by the explosion of a shell.

Yushulikzu is possibly a village near Simoucheng, 15 miles south southeast of Haicheng, at the juncture of the Feng-wang-cheng-Siuyen roads, where the Russian forces have apparently sustained a defeat.

SAY THEY'RE CHAMPS

There was a great game of bowling n Tecumseh Park green yesterday "You see," remarked City Treasurer Fleming this morning, "we Garner House Eaters, that's J. E. Thomas, Judge Gosnell, J. S. Black and myself, are all expert bowlers. In fact we have a real reputation in addition to diamond pins and all that sort of thing. Why, we've won so many trophies that we have our rooms full of bric-a-brac. As always, there were those who envied us our skill, and, being jealous, they began to knock us and our ability. We promptly challenged those knockers, and they came out to meet us yesterday. Why, that crowd just made a good meal for the Garner House Eaters. It was easier putting them away than it is to put away Alex. L. Eberts' ice cream. In consequence, we are having another bar added to our championship medals. We're going to put another bar on to-morrow. Not content with the way we trimmed the knockers, there is another bunch who are not satisfied with the lesson we have given. They are the Butters Inn. They have 'challenged us, but they'll find out their mistake, and we'll addd another bar to-morrow."

TROTTERS BURNED

Montreal, July 31. - The valuable race-horses, the brown mare Maggie L., valued at $1,500, and the property of J. Brady, Chatham, and the brown stall on Billy Hamilton, valued at $800 and owned by J. Gilkes, Toronto, were burned to death early this morning, in the C. P. B. yards, Hochelaga. The horses had been racing at Delorinfier Park, and were in a car preparatory to leaving for Quebec. In shunting, a lamp in the car was overturned, and set fire to the car, which was destroyed, and the horses burned to death.

Joe. Brady left Chatham five weeks ago for Montreal to enter Maggie L. in the vaces there and follow the races at Listowel and other points coming east. News of the burning of Maggie L. was received in Chatham this morning

A CHARMING WOMAN.

The Qualities That Figure In Making This Enviable Being.

When is a woman most charming? That is a question I am trying to an swer from one year's end to another and one which I would put in the following words: A woman is most charming when she is tender and sympathetic. She may dazzle when she is merry, but when she is gentle and full of sympathy she enhances a man's heart. When her voice takes a softened tone and her eyes look words that her lips hesitate to speak, then, if she only knew her power, it would be a bad time for the world at large, for she could do what she chose, only she never does know it. Probably woman charms most when she is un of it.

A woman is most charming when she is animated and bright. A tear may prove pity, but it is a smile that commands admiration. But she must not be forever sparkling. She must have her sober moments if only to throw into higher relief the moments when she is gay.

A woman is most charming when she is good natured. Bad temper never charmed. Good temper is an attraction even in a plain woman. When a wo man has that in addition to her qualities, when she is natural in her man ners, unconscious, animated, tender and gentle, then indeed is she charming to all the world,-American Queen

OLD RAG CARPET.

How It May Be Utilised as a Substi-tute For Linoleum.

A discovery that saves the price of a linoleum and utilizes rag carpet after it is no longer good to look upon, yet too good to throw away, may be as accept-able to others as it was to me.

After sewing the breadths evenly and tacking in place, size the carpet with flour starch made of the consist ency and as carefully free from lumps as if to be used for starching clothes. Apply it with a whitewash brush liberally enough to allow for the soaking into the carpet and yet cover the surface. If when dry the interstices are not filled sufficiently to make it smooth, give it another covering of starch. When thoroughly dry, paint it with any good floor paint just as you would treat a board floor, one or two coats, as it seems to require, and of any color preferred. Gray green and drab show dust less than darker colors and harmonize well with most surroundings.

It may be washed up as any olicloth, using the same care not to put on too much water and to wipe it dry. It will last as long, look as well and is A plain painted border or stenciled pattern may easily be added in contrasting colors if desired.—Table Talk.

ulated the coffee and spice markets in the middle of the nineteenth century. On one occasion when he owned a large quantity of coffee the market rapidly declined. His ruin was pre-dicted. "What are you going to do?" I asked him.

"Why," he said, with a shrewd wink,
"I shall buy several thousand bags more and steady the market."

He came out of this speculation and almost every other in which he em-barked with success. He commenced business in butter and eggs and be-came the master of the spice market came the master of the spice market of the world. Once he imported an entire cargo of pepper. He had only a dim idea of where coffee and spice came from, and usually spoke of the places as "way off." His books were kept by single entry, as he refused to understand any other system. Wanted-Two Good Murderers Some curious letters passed between Garrick and a man named Stone. The latter was employed to get recruits for the low parts of the drama, and one night he wrote to Garrick, "Sir, the bishop of Winchester is getting drunk at the Bear and swears he will not play tonight."

play tonight."

At first sight this seems peculiar conduct for a bishop, but it should be explained that the communication only refers to the man engaged to take that character in the play of "Henry VIII."

On another occasion Garrick wrote to Stone: "If you can get me two good murderers I will pay you handsomely, particularly the spouting fellow who keeps the apple stall on Tower hill. The cut in his face is just the thing. Pick me up an alderman or two for 'Richard' if you can, and I have no objection to treat with you for a comely mayor."—Chambers' Journal.

"But why must we wait four days?"

"Because, my love lorn brother, in the first place I don't want to miss the Saturday night hop, and then we are booked for a buckboard ride tomorrow. Another reason is I mean to pay you for turning your back on us and going

That afternoon Frank wrote Alice the longest letter she had ever received, nine full pages. It was received with some pleasure and a little vexation by "Mr. Nason and his sister are coming here Monday," said she to Aunt Susan,

"and we must put on our best bib and tucker, I suppose. But how we can contrive to entertain his sister is be-yond me." Nevertheless, she was rather pleased at the prospective visitation. Her school had been closed for over a month and her daily life was becoming decidedly monotonous. When Albert had written regarding the invitation the Nasons had extend young man tried to obtain her consent to join a yachting party, providing his mother and sister decided to go, she was morally sure of it. But it made no difference, for if the supposedly aristocratic Mrs. Nason had sent her a written invitation she was the last person in the world to accept it. To so go out of her way for the possible opportunity of allowing the only son of a rich family to pay court to her was not characteristic of Alice Page. Rather a thousand times would she teach school in single blessedness all her life than be considered as putting herself in the way of a probable suitor. Of her own feelings toward Frank she was not at all sure. He was a good looking young fellow and no doubt stood well socially. At first she had felt a little contempt for him due to his complaints that he had hard work to kill time. When she received the letter announcing his determina-tion to study law and become a useful man in the world she thought better of him. When he came up in June it became clear that he was in love with her. So self evident were his feelings that she at that time felt compelled to avoid giving him a chance to express them. Her heart was and always had been entirely free from the pangs of love, and while his devotion was in a way quite flattering, the one insurmountable barrier was his family. Had he been more diplomatic he would never have told her his mother frowned at him when he danced twice

"I am a poor girl," Alice thought when he made the admission, "but I'll sociate, good natured Abby Miles, had never dared to speak of it, and Aunt

Now that Frank and his fashionable sister were coming to Sandgate, Alice felt a good deal worried. Firstly, she knew her own stock of gowns was inadequate. While not vain of her looks, she yet felt his sister would consider her countrified in dress or else realize the truth that she was painfully poor. She had made the money her brother gave her go as far as possible. Her own small salary was not more than enough to pay cur-rent expenses. When the day and train arrived, and she had ushered her two guests to their rooms, her worry began. A trunk had come, and as she busied herself to help Aunt Susan get supper under way before she changed her dress she was morally sure Miss Nason would appear in a gown fit for a state dinner. But when she was dressed and went out on the porch, where her guests were, she found Miss Blanch attired in a white muslin, severe in its simplicity. It was a pleasant surprise, and at no time during their stay did Alice consider herself poorly clad. During the conversation that evening

Blanch gave an interesting description of her life in the mountains, who were there, what gowns the ladies wore, the hops, drives, tennis, croquet and whist games, and when that topic was ex-hausted Alice turned to Frank and hausted Alice turned to Frank and said, "Now, tell us about your trip."

"There is not much to tell," he answered in a disappointed tone. "The fact is, my yachting trip was a failure. I had a two weeks' trip all mapped out, no end of stores on board, and anticipated lots of fun, but it didn't materialize. The second day Bert got left ou the island, and we didn't find him until the next day. In the meantime he off on the Gypsy."

Alice.

ANCH NASON, Frank's younger sister, was his good friend and sympathizer and in all the family discussions had usually taken his part. His elder sister, Edith, was, like her mother, rather arrogant and supercilious, and considered her brother as lacking in family pride and liable to disgrace them ome unfortunate alliance. It was to Blanch he always turned when he needed sympathy and help, and to her he appeared the day after he had left the Gypsy. His coming to the mountains surprised her not a little.

"Why, what has brought you here, Frank?" she asked. "I thought you were having high jinks down in Maine on the yacht with your cronies."

"Oh, that is played out," he answered. "The boys are at Bar Harbor, having a good time. Bert is at a little un-heard of place saying sweet things to a pretty girl he found there, and I got lonesome, so I came up here to see you and get you to help me."

"I thought so," answered Blanch, laughing. "You never did come to me unless you wanted help. Well, who is the girl now, and what do you

Frank looked surprised. "How do you know it is a girl?" he ed, she believed it was due solely to Frank's influence, and when that "It usually is with you," she answered, eying him curiously. "So out with it. What's her name?"

"Alice Page," he replied.
"What, the girl you wanted us to invite to go on the yacht?" asked "That's the one, and, as you know,

"Which shows her good sense," interupted Blanch. "Well, what can I do in the matter?"

"Much if you want to, and nothing if you don't," he answered. "The fact is, sis, I want you to pack a trunk and go with me to call on her. She is mighty proud, and I imagine that is why she turned the cold shoulder on why she turned the cold shoulder on my efforts to get her to come to Bos-ton to meet you all. Now, if you go there, if only for one night, the ice will be broken, and of course you will invite her to visit you and all will go well." "A nice little scheme," responded laugh at Frank's description of his trip.

Blanch, "but what will mamma and Ede say?"

When the chitchat slowed down Alice said: "I don't know how to entertain you two good people in this dull place. There are mountains and woods galore and lots of pretty drives. And," looking at Frank, "I know where there is o nice mill pond full of lilies and an old moss covered mill and a miller that looks like a picture in story books. There is also a drive to the top of the nountain, where the view is simply grand. I have a steady going and faithful old horse, and we will go wherver you like."

and decided that a gander cruise had lost its charms. So I threw up my hands and turned the Gypsy over to Bert, and for all I know or care he is using her to entertain his island fairy."

Alice joined with Blanch in a good

"Do not worry about me, Miss Page," replied Blanch. "If I can see mountain and woods I am perfectly happy." When the evening was nearing its close Frank begged Alice to sing, but she declined.

"Do you play or sing, Miss Nason?" she asked cautiously.

"Oh, please don't be afraid of me," was the answer. "I never touched a piano in my life. Once in awhile I join in the chorus, as they say, for my own agus smeat and the amazement of othamusement and the amazement of oth ers, but that is all."

It wasn't all, for she played the guitar and sang sweetly. Finally Alice was persuaded to open the piano, and then out upon the still night air there floated many an old time ballad. After that she played selections from a few of the latest light operas that Frank had sent her and then turned away. "Oh, don't stop now," exclaimed both her guests at once. "Sing a few more songs." Then, with almost an air of proprietorship, Frank arose and, going to the piano, searched for and found a well worn song. Without a word he opened it and placed it on the music rack. It was "Ben Bolt!" A faint color rose in Alice's face, but she turned and played the prelude without a word. When she had sung the first verse, to her surprise Blanch was standing beside her and joined her voice in the next one. When it was finished Frank insisted on a repetition, and after that all three sang a dozen more of the sweet old time songs so familiar to all. Then Alice left the room to bring in a light lunch, and Frank seized the opportunity to say, "Well, sis, what do you think?"

"I think," she replied, "that you were foolish to go yachting at all. If I had been you I should have come up here in the first place, stayed at the hotel and courted her every chance I could. I am in love with her myself, and we haven't been here six hours.'

Frank stepped up to her quickly and, taking her face in his hands, kissed (To Be Continued.)

BEDDON A STARTLER.

Wants to Abolish the New Zealand Upper

The Marquise de Fontenoy has the following in The Chicago Daily Tri-Inasmuch as the Prime Ministers of bune:

Inasmuch as the Prime Ministers of Great Britain's self-governing colonies hold their office from the sovereign in the same way as the Prime Minister of England, Arthur Balfour, the announcement which has just been made by the Right Hon. John Seddon, the Premier of the great dependency of New Zealand, to the effect that he has made up his mind to abolish the upper chamber of the Colonial Legislature as being "in the nature of a useless, fossilized and obsolete piece of machinery," is, to say the least, startling.
John Seddon enjoys in a marked degree the favor of the royal family in England, especially of the Prince and Princess of Wales, who relish his homely, straightforward speech. his sturdy independence and his contempt for titles which led him to reject the knighthoods and the baronetties which were offered to him, and the fact that a man occupying such a position should inaugurate so fadical a departure as the abolition of the New Zealand "House of Lords," or Senate, is calculated to give encouragement and impetus to the movement already inaugurated in England for the abolition of the couragement and impetus to the movement already inaugurated in England for the abolition of the House of Lords at Westminster as now constituted, which is also alleged to be "a useless, fossilized piece of machinery," altogether out of keeping with modern principles of popular Government.

There are even some members of the English House of Lords, including the Earl Russell, Lord Coleridge, and several others, who are in favor of its abolition while where and several others, who are in favor of its abolition, while there are plen-ty more of the peers on its roster in favor of its being radically reorin favor of its being radically reorganized in such a way as to make it more representative of the people and to exclude therefrom men whose only right to a seat and to a vote is based on their birth, and whose svil character, stupidity and absence of any serious interest in the welfare of the country render them manifestly unsuited for the role of a legislator.

In New Zealand the Upper House is In New Zealand the Upper House is divided into life members who were appointed by the Government prior to 1891 and into ordinary members who, appointed subsequent to that date, merely hold office for a term of seven years. Since Seddon has been Premier he has secured the nomination of no less than half a dozen men of the working classes, representatives of the labor element, to the Upper House of the Legislature, and the New Zealand Parliament is, I believe, the only one in the world where labor has its delegates to the upper chamber. upper chamber.

HONOR FOR "LORNA DOONE." Unveiling of Memorial in Exeter Cathedra to D. R. Blackmore.

On the occasion of the unveiling of the Blackmore memorial in the cathedral Eden Philipotts said there were paramount qualities that underlay all Blackmore's books. A supreme dramatic artist, he showed that goodness was man's only hope, that evil, sooner or later, reaped the whirlwind. Blackmore upheld the purest ethical ideals; he indicated the virtue of courage and humility, the propriety of tolerance, the value of self-reliance, and the distinction of patience, that rarest modern gift. He rated men not by their achievements, but by their desires, by things they held good and strove for. Lifted On the occasion of the unveiling of they held good and strove for. Lifted above the least shadow of selfishness by his human sympathy he surveyed mankind with mercy, but with jus-

The Dean of Exeter, in accepting The Dean of Exeter, in accepting the memorial on behalf of the chapter, said that Blackmore was a true child of nature. His memory would be perpetuated in that cathedral alongside that of the late Dr. Temple, fellow students together at Blundell's School, who had both exercised great influence upon their generation. Dr. Temple had his early religious teaching at the hands of The memorial took the form of a beautiful stained-glass window in the cathedral, the magnificent central fane of the county which the author of "Lorna Doone" loved best. The figures filling the panels are respectively those of Jonathan, David and Samson. The tablet, beautifully carved in Carrara marble, bears a medallion containing what is said to be a good portrait of Blackmore. The inscription states that the tablet and window are a tribute of admiration and affection, mentions that Blackmore was educated at Blundell's and at Exeter College, and that he was the author of "Lorna Doone," "Springhaven" and other works, He was born in June, 1825, and died in January, 1900. At the foot of the tablet are the following lines from Cradock Nowell:

"The Member" for Australia.

"The Member" for Australia.

An English paper says Mr. Henniker Heaton is sometimes called the member for Australia, and seldom anything so parochial as the mere member for Canterbury. His M. P. has before now been interpreted member for the Post Office by the intelligent foreigner, wholly incredulous of the existence of the nominal Postmaster-General. Mr. Henniker Heaton has achieved so much that he may be excused for talking about being weary when he is the halest of men who boast the accumulated wisdom of fifty-six years. When he talked about retirement some little time ago he had to take back the word. Bexhill-on-Sea knows the week-ends of Mr. Henniker Heaton, and among his varied diversions is counted a love of pictures. Indeed, he is often to be seen, perhaps partly allured by the name, in what is called "the postage stamp roons" at the Royal Academy.

A DRY SHAMPOO.

How to Clean the Hair Without Dan-ger of Catching Cold.

"I've got to shampoo my hair, and, oh, how I dread the cold that is cer-tain to follow!" sighed the delicate girl.

"Do you dry it carefully?"
"Always, but it makes no difference. I never wash my hair without suffer-ing from cold and neuralgia."
"Well, then, why don't you try a dry shampoo?"

"No water?" "Not a drop. Have several clean brushes, an old silk handkerchief and some good bay rum. Part the hair through the middle and again across behind the ears. Brush gently in long even strokes, but firmly enough to reach the scalp and remove all dust and dandruff; then separate the hair in small strands, shaking each well to dislodge any remaining particles of dust. Brush again, using another clean brush, and finish by wiping each strand with a clean, soft handkerchief. You will be delighted to see how bright the hair is. Apply bay rum to the scalp with a small sponge and rub it in well with the finger tips. Bay rum is a valuable tonic as well as an aid in keeping the hair soft and dry. A better preparation even than bay rum is the prepared rum and quinine which any druggist can put up for you."

"It sounds awfully comfortable," said the delicate girl. "I'll give it a trial anybow."

A Dangerous Trade. The dangers of work in a white lead factory are described by a medical authority in a discussion of the cause and effects of lead poisoning. Most of the cases occur among the workers in the department where the preparaon by what is called the "Dutch process," in which the lead, in sheets, is placed on the top of pots filled with acetic acid and converted first into the subacetate and finally decomposed by carbon dioxide emitted by tar. In mov ing the carbonate clouds of white lead dust are easily caused by careless han-dling on the part of the workmen, and m spite of the respirators worn by them much of the poison is taken into the system.

doing so poorly.

Fishing at Erieau has been exceptionally good for the past week. Yesterday about five o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Braumstein, of Cheinnati, were still fishing in the Eau, just back of Thursavilla cottage. They caught a five-pound small mouth black bass. This is the largest small mouth caught at Erieau this year. The small mouth is the gamiest of all game fish and Mr. Braumstein had quite a task to land the big fish.

A great number of meteors were noticed flying across the sky last night. The first one was seen about 8 o'clock. It seemed to come out of the west and go east down the lake. This was a particularly large and brilliant one. All during the might these flying balls of fire, nature's fireworks, were observed shooting across the sky. A FISHING FISHER.

Garfield Northway, C. D. Kent, Norman Harper, Alfred Glenn, Sam Glenn, James Glenn, Jr., and "Wid" Bennett were religing in this morning in the Pere Marquette's handsome and modern invention, the combined smoking and baggage car. In some strange and unaccountable manner, the talk turned on fishing. Garfield Northway acknowledged that he had been out if oll my last night but had only caught one small fish about 6 inches long. Norman Duck Harper followed this up. He had trolled too, but had only caught a fish about 8 inches long. It was so small that he had thrown his back in: He was ashamed to keep wit. Garfield accepted this thrust in silence. It was wonderful how the caught was about two feet. This headed Sam Glenn off, and he had to plead guilty to catching one only about 16 inches long. If he had gone longer than his cous n it would have been impossible to find its mate in the Eau. Alfred Glenn was satisfied to corroborate. Dan Fisher, the baggageman, listened to all these marvellous tales in open eyed wonder, but it is hard to beat Danny. "Just reminds me," said he, "I was over at the creek fishing one day and I got a bite or rather that was once in my life that I had a pull. I really thought that Charlie Pink had hitched his engine on the end and was making a run against time. That reel spuin out so fast that it just looked like a piece of hazy metal until it got red hot. Then it was a wavy mass of fiire. I had to put the reel in the water and cool it off before I could wind it up. Say that was a great fish. I played it, for just an even six hours and at last when I pulled it out, the water in the creek went down just six inches. I measured the water mark before amd after taking the fish and it showed the water had dropped just an even six inches. My that was a beauty: It weighed 55 pounds gross. I see, however, that amother fellow caught as large a maskilonge the other day up in Eastern Ontario. His weighed 56 pounds. Of course, he had an advantage over me because he caught his trolling and then shot it Aug. 2.—Miss Judson, of Wallaceburg, is visiting friends here.

It isn't everybody who can land a 55 pound maskilonge with a rod and line.

WALLACEBURG

August 2.—Mr. Samuel McDonald left for Albin, Mich., yesterday, where Miss T. Nichol, of Chatham, is the guest of Miss Anna Mückle this week.

The steamer Winona carried about fifty passengers to Detroit on Monday.

The game yesterday on Peninsular Park was an easy vectory for Chatam. Although it was quite evident from the start that Chatham would wan, the Wallaceburg team were worthy opponents and they made some very pretty plays but were ineffective on goal. There was a good crowd out to see the game.

The final score was 5-2 for Chatham. Dr. Campbell, of Wallaceburg, was the referee, and he was very impartial in his decisions. The Tecumsehs scored first in the first quarter and Wallaceburg scored second. The Tecumsehs scored two more when Wallaceburg got another and then the Tecumsehs scored two more before the time was up.

The Wallaceburg men are a lot of gentlemanly players and they play day.

ever and a good fast game at times to watch.

The work of the Chatham home was marvellous. They go like lightning and are always making towards their opponents goal. They can all around the Wallaceburg defense, but Tierney, the Wallaceburg goal tender, stopped many a good shot. Huntingdon and Mooney played well in the defense field, but they were up against a hard proposation. Bonsley, Boulton and Taylor did considerable good work on defense. The home, however, was weak and the players could not seemingly get near the nets.

Robinson in goal for Chatham put up his usual good game, while Frances, Pokering and Elibott are always expected to play well, and they ways expected to play well, and they always do. Quesnel makes a good centre, Grace, MacFarlaine, Stewart and Carter were the home field and their combination was very fine and Mrs. Wm. McVean and son Ernest left yesterday for a short visit with relatives in Kingsville.

Mrs. Harvey and daughter Mabel, who have been the guests of Mrs. Wm. McVean and family, returned to their home in Sparta yesterday.

Mr. Glassford, of Toronto, is the guest of Dresden friends.

Fred. Z.mmer has resigned his position in Carscallen's hardware store and has accepted a similar position with Wells & Wells.

Geo. McVean, of Wallaceburg, was a Dresden visitor last night.

Dresden and Thamesville played a fast and exciting game of lacrosse on the market square last night, the visitors winning by a score of 5—2. Thamesville scored the first two goals in the first quarter, Dresden getting one in the second, the third being all Thamesville's again, two more tallies being made for the visitors. The last quarter was an even battle, both sides securing one goal. The game was a good one, clean and fast, and although the visitors were the better players, the local boys were in the game all the time and showed themselves coming players.

The Misses Hilda and Try Cameron, of Blenheim, are the guests of Mrs. John Cramer.

Rev. B. A. Kinder, of Strathroy, has been appointed to the incumbency of Christ Church, to succeed Rev. A. K.
