FAREWELL TO J. O. HYMMEN.

About forty of the most prominent residents of the village assembled at the Royal hotel on Tuesday evening to bid a formal adieu to Mr. J. O. Hymmen, who has been a resident of Mildmay for the past five years, and who leaves this morning for the Sunny Slopes of California. In 1903 Mr. Hymmen came to Mildmay from Winnipeg to assume control of the Corner dry goods store. By his progressive business methods he succeeded in attracting a great many buyers from outside townships, thereby extending the radius of our business territory. Under his management the store has been enlarged and improved, so that now it has few equals in this County, and stands as a monument to Mr. Hymmen's enterprise and careful management. Not only was he a good business man, but socially he made himself a general favorite with all classes.

Last fall, however, his health failed him, and he went to California to recuperate. He came back in June greatly improved in health, but not strong enough to engage actively in business. A month ago he sold out the business, and made preparations to move to California to reside permanently. His many friends took advantage of the opportunity to express their esteem of so valuable a citizen and regret at his departure, and arranged for holding a banquet on Tuesday evening.

After partaking of a most sumptuous spread, such as only the culinary department of the Royal Hotel can provide, Dr. Clapp was appointed chairman of the assembly and in his opening remarks, said that Mildmay had lost many good citizens during the past ten years, but that no removal has caused more genuine regret than that of Mr. Hymmen. Many of those present expressed their sorrow at Mr. Hymmen's departure, and wished him a speedy restoration to health. Messrs. John Schneider and Ed. Schwalm delighted the gathering with well rendered solos, and Jos. D. Schuett contributed English and German recitations which were very funny. During the evening, Mr. Hymmen was presented with a valuable Meerschmum pipe and the following address, to which he replied in very feeling terms:—

"Dear Mr. Hymmen,—This, the occasion of your leaving our midst, has been taken advantage of by your fellow citizens of Mildmay and vicinity to present you with a small token of their respect and esteem, not only on account of your genial and social qualities, but also as a slight recognition of the most valuable services you have always so willingly placed at the disposal of the town, its sports and the community at large.

We congratulate you on your continued good health, and we sincerely trust that you and your most estimable wife may enjoy your new home surrounded by new friends, dear and true. We regret to know that you are about to leave us, and we sincerely hope that in your new field of labor which you are about to enter, you may be attended with that success which we feel satisfied will be yours through your sterling qualities as a business man and a true gentleman.

We ask your acceptance of this Meerschmum Pipe, and in years to come, when we are separated by distance only, may the curling clouds that rise from it in the air as you sit in your easy chair, bring back to you many fond recollections of the friends you left at Mildmay. Signed on behalf of the donors.

Mr. James Genoe, a farmer two miles east of Flesherton, met with a heavy loss on Saturday when his barn containing this season's unthreshed crop was destroyed by fire along with a new buggy and almost his entire outfit of farm implements. Mr. Genoe was away from home when the fire occurred and its origin is a mystery. There was but a small insurance on the building, so that the loss will be heavy.

KIRBY—WERLICH.

A very pleasing event took place last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Werlich, King Street, Preston, when their daughter, Elma, was married to Mr. Thompson W. Kirby, of Hamilton. The ceremony was performed at six o'clock by Rev. C. Lucas, in the presence of her family and four particular friends of the bride—Miss Gertrude Stahlschmidt, Miss Wurster, Miss Lilian Pickup and Miss Adele Winter. The bride entered the drawing room with her father, wearing a magnificent lace robe, and carrying an exquisite shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, to the strains of Lohengrin's Bridal March, played by Miss Wurster. The house was beautifully decorated with palms and chrysanthemums, the color scheme being white, yellow and green. The bride's mother wore a gown of green silk, with touches of black velvet and cream lace. Among the numerous and costly wedding gifts, was a necklace of pearls from the groom. On going away the bride wore a handsome tailored costume of navy blue, and blue hat touched with green.—Galt Reporter.

LAKELET.

Thanksgiving day was observed by different people in different ways. The woods appeared to be well patronized, and if something fell at every shot there is someone loaded with game. A great number plowed, while some went visiting. W. T. Hicks and your scribe had the task of moving to Gorrie the Heidrich family, who came to Yautaum a little over a month ago. They appear rather unfortunate in more ways than one. Nearly every one in the vicinity wanted to see them in some other place, and had the poor people had money to pay for their "moving" there would be clamouring for the job. However, they are gone, and for the sake of the four little ones, it is to be hoped that the father may get down to business better than he did while here. The wealth of this world is very unevenly divided, some have too much while others are in the direst poverty.

A GOOD STORY.

A good story that will make you laugh is better for you than five dollars' worth of doctor's medicine. The first of "The Old Home House" series of eleven complete stories begins in the Family Herald and Weekly Star, of Montreal, this week. There will be one complete story each issue for the next three months, and that means many a good hearty laugh around the fireside during the winter evenings. A subscriber to that big weekly certainly gets value for his money. The paper only costs one dollar a year, and the amount of sound information given in a year's reading is marvelous. The stories alone could not be bought for twenty dollars. The agricultural columns of the paper are regarded as the best in America. The Family Herald and Weekly Star should not be missed in any Canadian Home.

FORMOSA.

Fred. Brick and Tony Graf returned from the west last week.

Rev. J. J. Gehl visited his sister at the St. Joseph's hospital, Guelph, last week.

A couple of men from the Wingham stove foundry are in this district selling the "Old Homestead" steel range. They report quite a number of sales.

Jos. Hachnel of the Queen's hotel, Guelph, and Alex. Klein of Salem, attended the funeral of the late Philip Scheffer last Wednesday, also Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Zettel and Mrs. E. Zettel of Chepstow.

Married—On Tuesday, Nov. 17th, at the R. C. church, Formosa, Jacob Palm of Mildmay to Miss Weis, daughter of Edward Weis of Culross.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Nickus and son of New Prague, Minn, are spending a few days with friends in town.

Mr. Andrew Goetz of the Franklin House, Hamilton, was in town the fore part of this week. He is a brother of Mrs. P. Messner.

—STRAY STEER—Came to the premises of John Lerch, lot 20, con.-12, about Sept. 16, a steer rising 2 years. Owner can have same by proving property and paying expenses.

It is likely that an inspector of barber shops will be appointed by the Ontario Government early in the next session of the Legislature.

The fire in Pembroke last week wiped out one half of the business section of the town. 250 men are out of employment. The loss is about half a million dollars, about half of which is covered by insurance.

COUNTY AND DISTRICT.

John Mero, proprietor of the Tilsonburg hotel, which was destroyed by fire last summer, and in which three persons lost their lives, had Chester Buckingham up for trial on suspicion of having set the place on fire. The case went to the jury last week, the Judge charging strongly in favor of the prisoner and he was acquitted. A bar tender who was drunk that evening and who perished in the fire, the Judge thought, was more likely to have caused the harm.

To pickle apples, take the ripe, hard, sweet ones, peel, if the apples are perfect, leave them whole, otherwise cut into quarters. To a peck of apples take about two quarts of vinegar and four pounds of sugar, half an ounce of cloves, half an ounce of mace, half an ounce of allspice, all unground, one teaspoon mustard, a little salt. Heat vinegar and sugar till it boils, skim well, put spices into muslin bag, add to vinegar, then put in your apples, boil slowly until soft. Take out apples, let the vinegar boil down, pour over the fruit.

The generous treatment meted out to the Boers of South Africa after the recent war is bearing fruit. The Dutch people have not been slow to appreciate it, and as a result racialism is dead. Urgent representation has been made to the British Government in favor of the largest possible garrison of British soldiers in South Africa. This is a striking tribute to Great Britain's mode of government, and indicates the secret of her strength.

Among other things which the sellers of kitchen cabinets brought to this town is a hostler whose scrapping propensities are liable, sooner or later, to land him on the inside of a jail wall. Locking horns with Jack Lundy on Tuesday morning last he caused the fur to fly in the West Ward. Uppercuts, jabs, side-hooks and other fashionable blows were fired indiscriminately at Jack, and helped materially to nisfigure and obliterate his features. Fortunately for Lundy the hostler desisted while there was still enough of him left to be worth the saving. His wounds at this juncture were conspicuous but not serious, showy rather than real. He would probably have pulled through with flying colors, had not some one shoved him onto a stone step and broke or dislocated his hip. This latter injury was of the serious variety, and required the immediate attention of a physician. The fracture being set, the injured man was driven to his home, where at present he is recuperating under the doctor's care.—Bruce Times.

According to despatches from Manitoba an inferior and highly explosive grade of coal oil is being sold in that country, which in the past two or three weeks has been the cause of fourteen or fifteen deaths. A thorough investigation should be instituted, and if it is found that any company, through the greed of gain, has been marketing this murderous brand of goods it should be severely punished and deprived of its charter or right to do business. Human life is too precious to be sacrificed on the altar of avarice.

A poultry firm in Toronto sends the following letter to local merchants from whom they buy stock:—"The season is on hand for dressed poultry, and as usual prices are ruling lower than there is any necessity for. Take for instance, chickens. Nicely dressed plumb chickens, properly starved, that remain bright, will bring 11c., while we have to sell a large percentage of what comes to us for 5c to 8c., according to quality. Why is this? Because the chickens have been driven into an enclosure, caught, killed full of feed, scalded and pickled, packed warm and taken to the store. On arrival here the packages open up green, slimy and practically worthless. Why are the farmers so careless? Because the country merchant pays the same price for scalded birds full of feed as he does for poultry that has been properly starved and dry pickled. How can you expect good returns for unsaleable goods? Poultry for this market should be dry pickled, well starved before killing, and not drawn. Kindly do what you can among your customers to improve this condition of things."

GOOD BUSINESS.

A millionaire, hoping to encourage his young son in ways of thrift, promised to give him 2 per cent. a month interest upon any money that he might save out of his allowance and deposit in the paternal treasury. The young man was getting £5 a week for pocket money, and promised to show his appreciation of his father's affectionate offer. He began to make deposits without delay, and kept the practice up with remarkable regularity.

The old gentleman noticed presently that the deposits exceeded the whole of the boy's allowance, but accounted for this by supposing that he had saved some money previously. Besides this, he received money frequently from his mother. So the fond parent rejoiced in the saving disposition that his son was displaying.

This continued until the boy's deposits assumed such dimensions as to demand an explanation. It then turned out that most of the money he had been depositing had been borrowed. Inasmuch as he was drawing interest on his deposits at 2 per cent. per month, and was paying only 10 per cent. per year for them, he had found the business decidedly attractive and profitable.

COUNTY LINE DEVIATION.

Messrs. Andrew Schenk and R. H. Fortune, reeve and clerk respectively of township of Normanby, met Mayor Burns, Clerk John Taylor and the town solicitor, Mr. F. S. Mearns, Toronto, were here last Saturday with reference to the old difficulty of the county line deviation. The application of the townships of Normanby and Bentinck and the county of Grey to the railway and municipal board asked the said board to declare the road running through the village of Neustadt and coming down Mary Street in Hanover to Durham St., thence west to the county line, to be the county line deviation. The town of Hanover objects to giving any of her streets to be absolutely controlled by county councils. She wishes to have complete control of her own streets. The proposition made by Hanover is for the townships concerned to purchase a roadway outside the corporation limits. This was favorably considered by the Normanby delegates.—Hanover Post.

NO PLACE FOR FOOLS.

Bernard Robbins, head of the legal department of New York's Court of Tears—this charity helps the poor to adjust their material troubles without going to the expense of law suits—said the other day:

"Such work as mine makes you, if you are careful, pessimistic about marriage, so that you find yourself telling grimly, over and over again, the story about St. Peter and the widower.

What! You don't know the story?

Well, it seems that two souls approached St. Peter side by side, and the youngest was repulsed sternly by the saint on the ground that, since he had never been married, he had never known suffering. The older man advanced with glad confidence. He stated that he had been married twice.

"But he, too, the saint repulsed, saying:

"This is no place for fools."

STARTED ALREADY.

Wangles was married recently, and there was a regular hail of rice, confetti and old shoes for good luck as he got into the cab. Moreover, on turning round he was struck above the eye by a friendly shoe with rather a heavy heel.

As the cab immediately drove away no notice was taken of the accident, and, despite the large handkerchief tied by his sobbing bride over his injured optic, the blood still flowed down Wangles' face.

When they arrived at their destination the newly created benedict went out to a doctor to get the bleeding stopped.

"How did you come by this, my man?"
"Well, you see, doctor—aw—I got married this morning, and"—commenced Wangles, when the doctor broke in:—"What! Has she started already?"

PANDORA

RANGE

Train up a girl in the way she should bake, and when she is married she will not depart from it.

"My mother taught me how to bake, and told me why she always used a McClary Range.

"Now I have a 'Pandora', and, as with mother, my troubles are few. After fire is started, I simply bring thermometer to desired heat and leave the oven in charge of the baking. It's built for faithful service.

"While housewives with other ranges are poking fire and changing dampers, I sit and read the 'Joy of Living'."

MOTHER AND DAUGHTER PRAISING PE-RU-NA.

MRS. GERTRUDE McKIERNAN, 216 Neosho street, Emporia, Kas., writes:

"I suffered very much with a severe cold in the head and was always complaining of feeling tired and drowsy. When my mother suggested and insisted on my taking a few bottles of Peru-na, I did so, and in a short time I felt like a new person. My mother praises it very highly and so do I."

Confidence in Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. M. F. Jones, Burning Springs, Ky., writes: "We have been using Peru-na for some time and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the thousand and one ailments of humanity."

"From a personal test I shall not hesitate to recommend it, especially to all suffering women."

"Peru-na has gained full confidence and a permanent stay in our home."

A Great Tonic.

Mrs. Anna Linder, R. R. 5, Dassel, Minn., writes: "I took Peru-na and am well. I would not be without that great tonic for ten times its cost."

A BRIGHT BOY.

"Say," queried the father, "can't you give my boy a position in your store?"

"I don't know," rejoined the grocer. "What can he do?"

"Well," rejoined the parent, "I don't suppose he could do much at first, except buy and sell goods and manage your business for you, but later on when he gets a little experience and sense he might be able to sweep out, do up packages and run errands."

Lady—"I am looking for a governess for my children." Manager of Intelligence Office—"Didn't we supply you with one last week?" "Yes," "Well, madam, according to her report, you don't need a governess. You need a wild beast tamer."

ISSUE NO. 46-03.

MOURNING IN BENGAL.

Third Anniversary of Partition of the Province.

A remarkable anti-European demonstration was made throughout Bengal recently on the occasion of the third anniversary of the partition of the province.

The natives observed the anniversary as a day of mourning, discarding their clothes and footwear and abstaining from food. All shops were closed in Calcutta.

Several police proclamations were posted everywhere forbidding meetings and processions after 5 o'clock, and ordering the arrest of any native found carrying weapons.

In consequence of the alarming rumors that the Bengalis contemplated an attack on Europeans, two companies of Gordon Highlanders were turned out for patrol duty, and the remainder of the regiment was kept under arms in the fort.

Two hundred police with fixed bayonets marched to the scene of the principal assemblage in Calcutta, while five hundred other police, including plain-clothes men armed with revolvers, were posted in the native city, in order to be ready to quell any rioting.

Forty thousand Bengalis paraded the streets, the procession being a mile and a half long, and stopping all traffic. Surendranath Banerjee, the "uncrowned king" of Bengal, was escorted by a bodyguard. He walked beneath the standard of Bengal.

The police prevented any speeches being made by the agitators, and attempts to create disturbances were promptly suppressed. A European corporation official was attacked outside the university, and his carriage was stoned. One of the footmen was severely injured, and only escaped death in consequence of the bravery of the coachman.

AMPLE GROUNDS.

A little boy, aged five, had been severely punished by his parents for disobedience, and the next day, without a word to anyone, he hurried off to the family legal adviser, who happened to be a particular friend of his.

"Well, Johnny," said the man of law, after he had shaken hands with him, "what can I do for you?" "Please, Mr. Brown," said the young litigant, "I want to get a divorce from our family!"

SAFETY INDEED.

The modern troubadour felt hurt. "Oh, well," he remarked, "if you don't enjoy my songs I shall sing to the man in the moon." The pretty maiden laughed softly. "Quite safe, Archibald," she chuckled. "The man in the moon is over 200,000 miles away and can't reach you."

NEWFOUNDLAND PAYS TRIBUTE

TO THE GRAND WORK DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS ARE DOING.

Fishermen Regard Them as a Boon to Mankind—Mr. Frank Banfield Tells How They Cured His Backache.

Garnish, Fortune Bay, Nfld., Nov. 9. (Special).—Among the fishermen here, who through exposure to wet and cold are subject to those pains and aches which come from diseased Kidneys, Dodd's Kidney Pills are looked upon as a positive boon to mankind. They are never tired of telling how their Backaches and their Rheumatism vanish before the great Kidney remedy.

Among many others Mr. Frank Banfield, after years of suffering, has found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills, and here is what he is telling his friends—

"I find Dodd's Kidney Pills the best medicine for Backache I have ever used. I only used two boxes and they cured me of Backache I had had for five years. It started through a strain. My father's back also bothered him, and he got some relief from one pill I gave him. They were too precious to give him more. All persons suffering from Backache should use Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Why do Dodd's Kidney Pills cure Backache? Simply because Backache is Kidney ache, and Dodd's Kidney Pills positively cure all Kidney aches and ills. This has been proved in thousands of cases in Canada. If you haven't used them yourself ask your neighbors.

OUTSIDE HIS LINE.

"I presume, my good fellow, you're a laborer?" said a lawyer to a plainly-dressed witness. "You are right, I am a workman, sir," replied the witness, who was a civil engineer. "Familiar with the use of the pick, shovel, and spade, I presume?" "To some extent. Those are not the principal implements of my trade, though." "Perhaps you will condescend to enlighten me as to your principal implements?" "It is hardly worth while. You don't understand their nature or use." "Probably not," loftily, "but I insist on knowing what they are." "Brains, sir."

A LITTLE QUIET is the best of all diet, yet it will not make bone and muscle but "Ferrovim" will. Try it. All drug and general stores. 21 bottles.

INSULTED.

Andrew Thomas was a great "forgetter." He forgot to pay the money he owed, and to give people back the things he borrowed. Moreover, he was "touchy" on the subject, so that few of his friends liked to hint that he had any of their property in his possession. One day one of them took his courage in his hand.

"Where's that five dollars you borrowed of me last month, Andrew?" he asked. "I don't want to seem tight, but I've just got to—"

Andrew replied with dignity, "Did you ever see anything I didn't return? No, I guess you didn't."

A Small Pill, but Powerful. — They that judge of the powers of a pill by its size, would consider Parmelee's Vegetable Pills to be lacking. It is a little wonder among pills. What it lacks in size it makes up in potency. The remedies which it carries are put up in these small doses, because they are so powerful that only small doses are required. The full strength of the extracts is secured in this form and do their work thoroughly.

Two young ladies were talking the other day about a third who had just become engaged to a widower, who plays the cornet, and has four children. "What could be worse," exclaimed one, "than four children and a cornet?" "Nothing," said the other, "except, perhaps, six children and a trombone."

Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup is agreeable to the taste, and is a certain relief for irritation of the throat that causes hacking coughs. If used according to directions it will break the most persistent cold, and restore the air passages to their normal healthy condition. There is no need to recommend it to those familiar with it, but to those who seek a sure remedy and are in doubt what to use, the advice is—try Bickle's Syrup.

It Retains Old and Makes New Friends. — Time was when Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil had but a small field of distribution, but now its territory is widespread. It is certain that whoever once uses it will not be without it.

THE "OLD SOMERSET" DEAL

"Aw—I'm with you there," replied Mr. Craven. "I have not lunched yet."

The upshot of it was that the two men adjourned to an hotel near by, where Mr. Wenter engaged a private room. After the meal he plied his guest assiduously with wine, though he himself drank but sparingly. The result was that he obtained in writing a promise from Mr. Craven to buy the Old Somerset Mine for £28,000.

"Of course, Mr. Craven, business is business," said Mr. Wenter. "I ought to have some guarantee for this."

"I am not accustomed to your word doubted," began Mr. Craven, with a drunken attempt at dignity.

Wenter instantly began to pacify the injured aristocrat, and eventually learned that £30,000 was lodged at the International Bank in the name of Vernon St. John Craven—a fact that he verified during the afternoon.

"Very well, Mr. Craven," Wenter said. "I will call at your hotel with the necessary documents as soon as I can get them in order."

Mr. Wenter's first duty on reaching his office was to turn up an English Peerage, by which he found that Vernon St. John Craven was the third son of a duke. He also saw Mr. Craven's name in the list of saloon passengers on the R. M. S. Denbigh Castle.

"That means eleven thousand for me," he muttered, rapturously. "Another deal like this and I can retire."

He called on Mr. Gregory that afternoon and told him that he could not find a purchaser for the Old Somerset Mine, but that he was willing to buy it himself.

"I cannot give more than fifteen thousand," he said.

"Then you can reckon the deal is off," remarked Mr. Gregory, calmly.

Then followed a period of haggling. Slowly Mr. Gregory's limit was lowered and Mr. Wenter's price was raised, until they cried quits at £18,000. An appointment was fixed for the following afternoon for the title-deeds to be transferred to Mr. Wenter's name, and then the wily scamp withdrew.

"Hang him," he muttered, vindictively. "That only means eight thousand now. Well, I'll make Craven weigh out for expenses, anyway."

On the following afternoon Mr. Wenter entered the office of Mr. John Rankin, a solicitor, and found Mr. Gregory waiting. With him was a gentleman whom he recognized as Judge Witmore, a magistrate, who lived some miles out of Sydney and who was much respected.

The transfer was made and the title-deeds handed over, Judge Witmore signing as witness. Then, as though he was tearing out his heart-strings, Mr. Wenter produced notes for £18,000 and handed them over to Mr. Gregory.

Following this transaction Mr. Wenter sought Mr. Craven, but was informed that the latter had gone away for the week-end and would not be back until Monday afternoon. So Mr. Wenter was forced to wait, but he wrote a note to his client stating that he had secured the mine for him, and that he would call and see him on the following Monday. He carried out this promise, but on arriving at the hotel was presented with a letter from Mr. Craven, in which the latter said he had forgotten Mr. Wenter's address, but would Mr. Wenter go on to Limbula, as he (Craven) had gone to see the mine.

Mentally confounding the end of his client, Mr. Wenter set for Limbula and arrived at mine at about seven o'clock. W had ceased for the day, but there were several miners standing around the Old Somerset shaft.

"Is there a Mr. Craven anywhere, do you know?" he asked.

"Best ask Jack Gregory," replied the man. He knows most everybody about."

"What can he be doing here?" Wenter thought as he hurried at he had no right still to be taking out gold. He rapped at the door and a voice bade him enter. A brawny man sat before a table piled up with nuggets.

"I'm looking for Mr. Jack Gregory," said Wenter.

"Then you needn't look nother, for you're looking at him," "Eh?" gasped Wenter.

"He's here, I suppose. I want Mr. Gregory who owned the Somerset Mine."

"Well, I'm Jack Gregory," owns the Old Somerset."

"You own it?" cried Wenter.

"Why, it belongs to me."

The man gazed at him critically. "You look as though you're sober," he said, "but you talk as though you're silly drunk. I own the Somerset, and it'd take a blooming millionaire to buy it."

"But, man alive! I bought last Friday," shouted Wenter. "Here; here's the title-deeds."

Jack Gregory examined them, laughed contemptuously.

"Forgeries," he remarked, calmly. "That's what they are. They're darned good ones, though. Here he went on unlocking a small safe—these are the real title-deeds. No, you don't"—this, as Mr. Wenter made an excited grab at the safe.

Then Mr. Wenter began to alternately rave, implore, and threaten. In trembling tones he told the story of the purchase of the mine.

"Was it last Monday week?" "Saw this chap?" Jack Gregory asked.

"Yes," cried Wenter.

Then Gregory gave an apt description of the "Mr. Gregory" who had called on Mr. Wenter. "That him?" he asked.

"Yes, to the life."

"Lor' bless you, that's my manager; at least, he was. Now I remember you. He brought you down one day last week; told he wanted to show a friend over mine. And you sold my mine to this Mr. Craven. Snakes! but that's the funniest thing I've ever struck out. Say, was this Craven a tall chap with an aristocratic dial?"

"Yes, yes!"

"That's my manager's old chestnut! My word! they've done you goodly!" "You paid up; has Craven paid?"

"Not a cent!" Mr. Wenter screamed.

Jack Gregory went into a paroxysm of laughter, which so made Mr. Wenter that he made a dash for the mine-owner's door, but he was knocked down for his pains.

"None of your monkey tricks now," Gregory said.

"I'll have the law on you," cried Wenter. "Where's your manager? What's his name?"

"He's left, and you can find his name somewhere else. We call him Smith, but that's not his proper name," said Gregory. "Now hook it, while you're safe."

Mr. Wenter, tears of rage and fear pouring down his face, gathered up his useless papers and fled. He reached Limbula to find the train gone. He raved like a madman, and was within an hour of spending the night in jail. For length he spent a sleepless night in the only hotel at Limbula.

CONSUMPTION'S STARTING POINT

Lies in Weak, Watery Blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Make the Blood Rich and Red.

Bloodlessness is the starting point of consumption. When your blood is thin and watery your whole health declines. Your face grows pale, your appetite fails and your heart jumps and flutters at the least exertion or excitement. You are always weak and wretched and lose interest in everything. This is the point from which you may easily step into that hopeless decline that leads to consumption and the grave. What is actually needed to bring back health and strength and energy is the new rich blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. In all the world there is no other tonic medicine like them, and all who feel weak and easily tired should take these Pills at once, and regain new health.

Miss Ada Burke, The Range, N. B., says:—"I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In March, 1907, I was attacked with whooping cough which clung to me for several months, and when the cough disappeared I was left weak and run down. All summer I was ailing, but when the autumn I was ailing, I was to be completely worn out. For a whole month I never moved outside the house, and could scarcely talk about the house I was so weak. I had no appetite, my color was a greenish yellow. I had severe headaches and would be almost breathless at the least exertion. I took several bottles of medicine, but it did not help me, and then my mother got me three boxes of Williams' Pink Pills, when I used them I was much better by the time I had taken another three boxes I was again enjoying the best of health, with a hearty appetite, good color and renewed energy."

If you want new health and new strength try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. A fair use of this medicine will not disappoint you. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for 2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A PREFERRED CREDITOR.

We have just heard a good story about a merchant who recently failed. He called all his creditors together, and offered to settle with them at 10 per cent., giving them notes payable in thirty days. As most of the creditors had little hope of getting anything, they eagerly accepted the proposition. One man, however, stood out for better terms, and all efforts to get him to agree were futile. Finally the bankrupt took him out into the hall and said:—"When you come in and sign with the others, I will make you a preferred creditor."

"All right," said the objector. "Under those circumstances I will agree to a settlement."

The papers were signed, and all the creditors left, except the one who had been told he was to be a preferred creditor. "Now, are you waiting for?" said
