THIS INVENTOR

Is a Very Clever Man, but Has a Criminal Record--Laid the Foundation for Dences While in Prison

(Courier Leased Wire).
CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—John R. Wilmot, scientist, author, inventor and promoter, who recently was paroled from the Illinois penitentiary after serving five and one half years of a seven years sentence on a charge of forgery, is in the county jail here awaiting a formal order from Washington ordering his deportation to England.
Wilmot who is said to hold degrees from English universities, was apprehended here by Dr Perciel Prentiss, immigration inspector yesterday and his presence in this country was held to be undesirable. The deportation was ordered.
While in the penitentiary Wilmot is said to have laid the foundation for several inventions of monetary value, one being a gas machine and another a smoke consumer. Being a convict he could not patent them, but he planned to float a company as soon as he was paroled. When he stepped from the penitentiary door he was arrested. The main point against him was said to be his criminal record. In England he is said to have been known under the alias of "Tom Crawshaw."

A freight train was wrecked near Welland and a flagman rushed back to stop the passenger train. The private car in which the distinguished visitors travelled had to be sent back by way of Hamilton and then over the M.C.R. to Buffalo. The delay caused the Countess and Miss Asquith to miss their New York connections.

FIREMEN CHOAKED BY SMOKE

(Courier Leased Wire).
MONTREAL, Jan. 16.—Several firemen were carried off, choked into unconsciousness by smoke; District Chief Mann escaped death by inches when a great plank came crashing down upon a ladder upon which he was standing, and damage aggregating nearly $100,000 was caused by a fire which broke out this morning on Devisier street. The premises are occupied by the Canadian Tungsten Lamp Company, and the McCormick Biscuit Company, of London, Ontario, the plant and stock of both of the concerns were injured by fire, smoke and water.
This was the third big fire in the city within fifteen hours, most of the firemen having been on duty for 24 hours. They got a much needed meal from the biscuits found in the McCormick factory.

RAILWAY WRECK

Takes Place at Glencoe--One Engineer Killed and Other Men are Very Badly Hurt

(Courier Leased Wire).
GLENCOE, Ont., Jan. 16.—Walter Challis, aged 30, a Wabash brakeman, residing in Windsor, was instantly killed, and Engineer J. H. Doan, aged 56, and Fireman James Button, both of St. Thomas; James O'Neil, a Lucan horseman and James Nickland, a Thamesville stockman, were badly injured when Wabash freight No. 98, eastbound from St. Thomas, crashed into Grand Trunk freight No. 98, also eastbound at the local coal chutes.
The Grand Trunk engine had just finished taking on coal and was about to be coupled on to the train when the fast Wabash freight came tearing into the yards. The accident was, it is alleged, caused by the conductor of the Grand Trunk train neglecting to flag the incoming Wabash freight. The Wabash locomotive tore through the caboose of the G. T. R. train and several cars, wrecking the line badly. Messrs O'Neil and Nickland, who were in the caboose, saved their lives by jumping through the windows. O'Neil has a broken arm and is badly shaken up.
Fireman Button was pinned for three hours under the wreckage before he was released and taken with two of the others to London hospital. The line was so badly torn up that all traffic was blocked and the passengers on the International Limited and other trains were held for many hours. A thorough investigation is being held to-day.

The Investigation of New York Police Methods

(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Although the murder of Herman Rosenthal occurred just six months ago to-day, the investigation of police methods which that crime brought about, is still far from complete, according to the district attorney's office. Revelations of considerable interest have continued almost daily since the conviction of Police Lieut. Becker of the Rosenthal murder. To-day the district attorney is working upon evidence that twenty-eight hotels in the Harlem section have been paying $100 a month for protection against police molestation, and that hundreds of apartments of similar character pay from $25 to $75 a month each. The district attorney said this evidence is already in such shape that it will be presented immediately to the grand jury with indictments seemingly assured, he believed. He declared that the evidence involved two high police officials, attorneys, who acted as alleged collectors of graft, and a number of policemen.

Women Will Have to Wait For Their Shirtwaists

(Courier Leased Wire).
NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—Thousands of women will have to wait for their spring shirtwaists, the manufacturers say, unless nearly 40,000 shirtwaist makers, who struck yesterday, are quickly brought to terms. The strikers chose a crucial time, just before the beginning of the Spring rush, when the supply of shirt waists on hand was limited.
To meet this emergency, the employers say they are prepared to send their work to Cleveland, O., the only other city in the country that manufactures shirt waists on a large scale. The work is to be sent to a threat to call a general strike that would tie up the work in Cleveland and other manufacturing centres.
Police reserves were summoned to many sections of the city last night to break up street fights between the working operatives and strikers or sympathizers. More than 30 persons, a majority of them women, were arrested after they had been separated into small groups from the quarrelling mobs and herded into doorways, while their associates were being dispersed. The prisoners were taken to the night court and fined or held for hearings.

Redmond on the Home Rule Bill

(Courier Leased Wire).
LONDON, Jan. 16.—When the final debate on the Home Rule Bill was resumed in the House of Commons this evening by Sir John A. Simon, the Solicitor-General, there was not a seat vacant either on the floor of the House or in the galleries.
The Solicitor-General's speech like that of Frederick E. Smith's legal counter attack did not evoke any interest among the members or the public, who were waiting to hear Redmond, the Irish leader.
When Frederick Smith, the Unionist firebrand from Liverpool sat down and the Nationalist leader rose three rounds of the parliamentary equivalent of a cheer were given.
"We oppose the exclusion of Ulster from the Home Rule Bill on several grounds," said the Irish champion, "But the supreme objec-

REV. POTTS

Delivers a Most Instructive Lecture

At Grace Church last night a lecture on the development of the hymn tune, was given by the Rev. J. C. Potts, M. A. The lecture was illustrated by the organist and choir of Grace Church, who were in splendid form, and rendered the illustrations most beautifully. Mr. Potts showed how hymn singing had its roots deep in Hebrew Psalmody. On the conversion of the Gentiles, Greek music was brought into the service of the church and from it, in the Western church, was evolved plainsong music. After explaining the chief points of difference between plainsong and modern music, Mr. Potts asked the choir to sing two illustrations, "The Royal banners forward go," and "Of the Father's love begotten," both of which were exceedingly well rendered. The German Chorales were next explained, and "Hassler's Passion Chorale 'O Sacred Head Surrounded'" was sung. This was perhaps the best piece in the programme. The development of German music down to modern times was then illustrated, after which the growth of the Psalm tune was taken up. The next hymn, "Tallis' Canon—set to 'Awake my soul and with the sun,'" was given as an illustration of the early English school of hymn tune writers. The revival of music after the restoration and its development under Perceval, Croft, Jeremiah Clarke and Handel, were then traced. The lecture closed with the singing of two specimens of this period, "O Spirit of the living God," and "All hail the power of Jesus' Name," which were magnificently rendered. Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the attendance was small. The lecture was most instructive, and served to show how fascinating must be the study of hymn tunes: The concluding lecture, in which the development of the hymn tune to modern times will be traced, is to be given next Wednesday evening in Grace Church.

AT REST

The funeral of the late Stewart Burns took place from his late residence, 4 Mary Street, yesterday afternoon at Mount Hope Cemetery, in the presence of a large number of relatives and friends. Deceased, who was a much respected resident of this City was also prominently connected in musical circles, being a member of the Brant Dragon Band and the Alexandra and First Baptist Church orchestras. The Rev. Llewellyn Brown officiated both at the house and graveside, and his comforting words spoke most eloquently of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The pallbearers were Messrs. M. A. Colquhoun, Kent, R. Mattice, W. J. Sweetman, W. Stokes and F. J. Smythe. The floral tributes were very beautiful and included: Wreaths, Father and Mother; Brother; Members of Local Federation of Music, No. 467; Mr. and Mrs. M. Bloxham; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Smythe, Shopmates of Massey-Harris Co. Anchor, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jago, Cross, Mr. Robert Shellard and family; sprays, Chosen Friends, No. 147; Lloyd's Teacher and Schoolmates; Alexandra School; Mr. John Cummings and family; Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Colquhoun; Mr. and Mrs. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. W. Neill; Mr. Wm. Turnbull, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Greiner, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stokes, First Baptist Sunday School, Alexandra, Athletic Club, Alexandra Orchestra, Mr. and Mrs. Levi Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Caley Cannell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Shaw, Mr. J. W. and Miss Patte, Mrs. and Miss Bray, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Smith, Mrs. Geo. A. Elliott. And so was laid to rest at the age of 31, one whose early demise will be much lamented.

No Complaints.
The members of Board of Police Commissioners met in His Honor Judge Hardy's chambers this afternoon for the purpose of hearing any complaints that any citizen of Brantford might have against the department. His Honor Judge Hardy occupied the chair and Messrs W. C. Livingstone and Mayor Hartman were also in attendance. The meeting was opened at 2.30 and the commission sat for one hour but no complainants put in an appearance.

Cheapest of All Oils.—Considering the curative qualities of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil it is the cheapest of all preparations offered to the public. It is to be found in every drug store in Canada from coast to coast and all country merchants keep it for sale. So, being easily procurable and extremely moderate in price, no one should be without a bottle of it.

Wedding Bells

FITZGERALD—O'DONOHUE
On the 8th of January, in St. Basil's Church, the marriage was solemnized by Rev. Dr. Brady, of Miss Theresa O'Donohue and Mr. Arthur Fitzgerald of this city. The happy couple left on the ten o'clock train for London and Detroit.

GIRLS! GIRLS! SURELY TRY THIS!
DOUBLES BEAUTY OF YOUR HAIR
All You need is a 25 cent Bottle of "Danderine" -- Hair Gets Lustrous, Fluffy and Abundant at Once

Immediate? — Yes! Certain? — That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.
A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.

been satisfied, the chairman D. D. Bamforth called the "Britons" to order and the remainder of the evening was given up to speeches, music and song. Speeches were made by Bros. W. S. Brewster, M. P.P.; W. N. Andrews; J. R. Van-Lane, A. J. Stevens, S. P. Macklin, B. H. Bennis, J. Stonhill and others. Songs were sung by Brothers Bamforth, A. Hill and Mr. Cripps. Bros. Geo. Cooper and Geo. Scammon delighted those present with recitations. The jolly affair broke up with all singing as Englishmen only know how, "The National Anthem."

Deserved Tribute to the Fire Brigade
Brantford, Jan. 15, 1913.
D. J. Lewis, Esq.,
Chief, the Brantford Fire Department, City.
Dear Sir,—We desire to thank yourself and the members of the Fire Department for the good work done in connection with the disastrous fire which visited our premises on the night of the 13th instant. In view of the close proximity of the burning building to our other warehouse, it is very creditable indeed to the fire department that the fire should have been confined to one building.
We appreciate very much the strong efforts put forth to prevent the spread of the fire and limit the loss, and by way of expressing in some tangible way, our thanks to the fire department, we take the liberty of enclosing herewith our cheque for $500.00 in aid of the firemen's fund. Yours very truly,

THE SWISS VILLAGE.

Edelweiss in the Rockies is a Piece of the Old World. Edelweiss, the well-named settlement of six chalets, one mile west of Golden, British Columbia, was for a time as impregnable as a German fortress.

Formerly this may have been by its own fault, I had a fixed prejudice against intruding into these hills homes as a curious tourist, nor did I feel any inclination to walk out to the village in ignorance of which chalet I should visit and whether its mistress understood English or spoke French or German.

The road I took approached the chalets by a long, easy-winding grade to be made at Golden and by the water supply and bench above. No more enjoyable spot can be imagined to spend a bright autumn afternoon than the upper verandah of the Four chalet, where all the other wives had assembled to meet me.

and the excellent music, made the scene a veritable fairland.

It was with a buoyant manner and a cheery smile that Mr. and Mrs. Howie received the congratulations of their hosts of friends, ably assisted by one of their bridesmaids, Miss Glasco of Brantford, who with the bride and groom were very happy in reviving memories of by-gone days.

The happy couple were made the recipients of a purse of gold from the children, and many beautiful gifts from relatives and friends, which will serve as precious mementoes of the day. This husband and wife are indeed the happy complement of each other, and through all the mutual joys and joys that have come during the past fifty years, do not forget to be lovers still, and their home is a most happy and hospitable one, where their friends are always sure of a warm welcome, and one and all join in hearty congratulations that are being extended to the bride and groom, and in kindly wishes for many still further years of happy wedded life, and when these are over may join in the great family gathering above in the house of many mansions.

Mme. Clara Butt in preparation for her present American and Australian tours, ordered from Lucille, her London dressmaker, no less than 55 dresses; and, afterwards took the opportunity accorded by her concert engagements in Paris of adding to their number some special creations of Paquin, designed expressly and exclusively for Madame Butt, whose striking personality lends itself to effects unobtainable in the majority of instances. Several ideas and designs supplied by Madame Butt herself have been successfully carried out, and one of the most noteworthy is a "Sea-Pictures" dress, suggested by Sir Edward Elgar's well known song-cycle, which was especially written for and dedicated to the famous contralto.

LAUGHTER LINES

The Irishman Scored. An Englishman clergyman turned to a Scotchman and asked him: "What would you be were you not a Scot?"

The Scotsman said: "Why an Englishman, of course?" The clergyman turned to the gentleman from Ireland and asked him:

"And what would you be were you not an Irishman?" The man thought for a moment, and said:

"I'd be ashamed of myself." A Fine Sense of Feeling. One of two dorkies who run a boothblack "parlo" in partnership was bragging of his well developed sense of touch, particularly in the matter of money. He boasted that he could tell the denomination of any United States coin merely by feeling it. His partner, wearied of these boasts and came back with this:

"Your sense o' feelin' ain't nothin' to my friend Marcus. Him and me used to work on the Pullman down through Kansas. Marcus had been on this route for about ten years. One night when we was both asleep, in' long around midnight, I wakes Marcus and I says, 'Marcus, where are we?' And Marcus just rolls over and sticks his hand out the window and he says, 'We're goin' through Oswego.'" Everybody's.

What cultivated and polished gentleman ever paid to the mistress of his heart a prettier compliment than the illiterate black man told of in Harper's Magazine? He and his dusky bride had just been married by a white minister. The groom asked what was the amount of the fee.

"Oh, well," answered the minister, "you can pay me whatever you think it is worth to you." The negro turned and looked his bride over from head to foot; then, slowly rolling up the whites of his eyes, said:

"My stars, sah, you has done ruined me for life; you has, for sure."

Origin of Some Fashions. Formerly, under the Empire, or when there was a king on the throne of France, the sovereign's wishes had a distinct influence on the tendency of fashion. The Court liked to copy the smallest detail or whim of His Majesty or of the princesses, who surrounded him. For example, trains are said to owe their origin to the fact that the daughters of one of the Kings Louis had abnormally large feet.

The wife of Philippe III. was afflicted with a tremendously long neck, so she invented the high guimpe. It was because La Belle Ferronniere had a burn exactly in the middle of her forehead that she wore over the cicatrice the charming jewel held by a fine thread, that is called a Ferronniere to this day. In the reign of Henry II some princess who suffered from goutte hid the blemish beneath a high fluted ruff, and another disguised the defect of her shoulders under the puffed sleeve.

Anne of Austria wore short sleeves because of her beautiful arms. Mme. de Pompadour created the vogue of high heeled slippers to hide her lack of inches. The Empress Eugenie had very beautiful shoulders; so she set the fashion of a decolletee which left the shoulders bare and set them off to the best advantage.

Good Health

A brisk walk is one of the best exercises both for mind and body, when carried out for a definite purpose, bringing every muscle of the body into play and inducing a feeling of life and vigor.

The fresh air schools that have been established have this advantage, proved by experience, that weak, puffy children who could not spend one term in an ordinary school room begin to thrive almost immediately after entering the out-door school.

Elderly people almost invariably eat too much. Digestion is usually slow, and circulation less active with them, therefore the principal meal should be taken in the middle of the day and a very light meal at night. This will insure better sleep and rest.

Baby should be taken out of doors every day except when it is stormy. On stormy days put on your outdoor wraps and dress baby in a warm coat and hood, open the window of one room and walk up and down with him in your arms for at least half an hour. You will be surprised at the comfort and refreshment it will be to both of you, if you have not tried it--Farmer's Wife.

Your Fortune in Teacup.

The following rhyme, which is the translation of an old Chinese tea song will prove useful in reading teacup fortunes. One leaf alone, alone you'll be; Two together, the priest you'll see; Three in groups, your wish you'll gain; Four, a letter from a loving swain; Five, good news the letter will bring; Six in a row, a song you'll sing; Seven together, great fortune waits for you. So say the teacup fates. Tea leaves short and tea leaves tall Bring you company great and small; Tea leaves many and dotted fine Are of bad luck the surest sign; Tea leaves and clean the rim. Your cup of joy o'erflows the brim.

There is a pretty Washington girl of twenty who is to-day both grieving and rejoicing. A telegram just received from Los Angeles informed her that she had fallen heir to a $25,000 and a $5,000 automobile and that her fiancé, Chas. W. Manning, who left her the money, had died suddenly of appendicitis. He was to have left his California home to take Miss Featherston back as his bride. Manning also left $35,000 to a sister in New York.

The Countess Blanca de Ovies, who spent the autumn in Buffalo, has opened a school, the Ovies School of Psychology and Character Building, at 935 Board Walk and Virginia avenue, Atlantic City. The lessons lectures are given each day and include Bible interpretation and its relation in daily living.

BE STRONG.

Be Strong! We are not here to play, to dream, to drift. We have hard work to do, and loads to lift. Shut not the struggle; face it, 'Tis God's gift. Be strong! Say not the days are evil--who's to blame? And fold the hands and acquiesce--O shame! Stand up, speak out and bravely In God's name. Be strong.

It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong; How hard the battle goes, the day is long. Pain not; fight on; To-morrow comes the song. --M. D. Babcock.

TO THE HOUSEKEEPER.

Medicinal Quality of Onions. Onions are almost the best nerve known. Nothing is so useful in nervous prostration, and there is nothing else that will so quickly relieve and tone up a worn-out system. They are also useful in coughs, cold and influenza. Eaten every day, they soon have a clearing and whitening effect on the complexion. As a cure for insomnia they are highly recommended.

A Shoe Shelf in the Closets.

A shoe shelf in the closets will be found an inexpensive and helpful device, either when planning a new home or improving the old. A board ten inches wide is cut to rest by its back and ends on the baseboard in the rear of the closet. If the space is quite long a centre bracket may be required. The board should be stained or painted to match the woodwork. The shoes thus being kept off the floor, the sweeping of the closet is made easier.

Scotch Broth.

Soak one-half cup of pearl barley over night, or at least for three hours. Put on two pounds of the neck of mutton with two quarts of cold water. When it comes to a boil skim carefully, and add the barley. Pare and cut into dice, one-quarter cupful each of carrots, celery, turnips, and onions; fry five minutes in one tablespoonful of butter and add to the meat. Simmer three or four hours or until the meat and barley are very tender. Cook a tablespoonful of butter with a tablespoonful of flour; add a little boiled water and gradually mix with the soup; then add salt, pepper and parsley to taste. Cook ten minutes more and serve without straining. Always trim off the skin and fat of beef or mutton before using in soups.

The Gracie Marks Company, now holding the boards at the Grand this week, are popular with our local people. Clean plays and nicely put on drawing good houses every night. The "Suffragette" Saturday night promises an evening of fun for those attending.

SCHOOL BOARD

Mr. George H. Ryerson is Unanimously Elected Chairman--Appointment of Standing Committees

The inaugural meeting of the Public school board was held in the City Council chambers last evening. The business of the meeting was the selection of a chairman, which honor fell to Mr. Geo. H. Ryerson, an appointment of standing committees. These present were: Trustees M. E. B. Cutcliffe, Dr. Ballache, A. Coulbeck, L. D. Scruton, Geo. H. Ryerson, David Lyle, A. E. Day and Harvey Clement.

The secretary of the Board, Mr. A. K. Bunnell, announced that it was his duty to call for the selection of a chairman, which must be made without nomination. Ballots being passed it was found that Mr. George H. Ryerson was the unanimous choice.

On taking the chair, Mr. Ryerson received a flattering reception. The new chairman made a tactful speech thanking the members for the honor tendered him. The school board he believed had as representative and competent men on its roll as any other municipal board and it gave him pleasure to be associated with them. The one outstanding matter of moment to the board was the congested condition of the schools. The new Dufferin school which would be opened shortly, and the pending arrangements with Grandview school board, whose new school would also be ready for occupation in a couple of months, would greatly relieve the situation. The way the city was growing, one of the first things the board should consider was plans for a new school. The worst he could wish for the city was that it would be necessary to establish six new educational buildings. To him it was an honor to have anything to do with the upbuilding of the young life of the city.

The chairman then requested the striking committee to retire, it being composed of all trustees whose terms expire with the current year--Messrs. Day, Cutcliffe, Lyle, Scruton. The chairman asked Mr. Coulbeck to act in the interests of Ward 3.

The first report of the committee was not accepted, owing to the fact that it did not comply to the rules of the board. The following report was unanimously adopted: Management--Dr. Ashton, (chairman); David Lyle, A. E. Day, L. D. Scruton, Dr. P. P. Ballache. Buildings and Grounds--M. E. B. Cutcliffe, (chairman); Dr. Watson, David Lyle, Harvey Clement, Arthur Coulbeck. Finance--Ira D. Scruton, (chairman); A. E. Day, Harvey Clement, M. E. B. Cutcliffe.

Printing and Supplies--Arthur Coulbeck, Dr. Watson, Dr. P. P. Ballache, and Dr. Ashton. Representative to Collegiate board--Dr. Frank. Representative to Library board--Thomas Hendry. Each committee selected its own chairman as designated above. The next meeting will be held the 6th of February.

One of the important matters the board will have to deal with this year will be the replacing of the antiquated and unsatisfactory sanitary and heating systems at the Central school.

TWO THOUSAND

For This Brave Young Girl--Canadians Earn Both of the Carnegie Silver Medals

PITTSBURG, Jan. 16.--At the annual meeting yesterday of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission twenty-five awards for bravery were made. Of the two silver medals given for conspicuous heroism Canada got both. One went to Doris E. Lewis, a school girl aged fourteen. The $2,000 for educational purposes given Miss Lewis was the largest money award made.

Miss Lewis saved Benjamin W. Draper, aged seven, from drowning at Cowansville, Quebec, November 25, 1911. Miss Lewis, whose height was five feet three inches, approached to within three feet of a hole in the ice in the Yamaska River, where the water was five feet deep, and extended a hockey stick to Benjamin, who had broken through the ice. Finding that he was too benumbed to grasp the stick, she crawled forward until her body was in the water, when the ice broke under her. After swimming two or three feet to Benjamin, she placed her arms around him, and Tuesday after an illness lasting a number of days. The funeral took place on Thursday to the Congregational cemetery. A memorial service was held in the Congregational church on Sunday evening. Mrs. Biggar of M. Pleasant is visiting Mrs. E. Dutcher.

The annual thoroughbred sheep sale of Messrs. Hamner, Lloyd-Jones and Houghton was held on the Agricultural grounds on Wednesday of this week. Mrs. Stephenson, Winnipeg, is visiting her sister, Miss G. Charles.

GRAY FADED HAIR, OR BEAUTIFUL, DARK, ATTRACTIVE--CHOOSE, MADAM

Says Sage Tea Mixed With Sulphur Restores Natural Color and Lustre.

Gray, faded hair turned beautifully dark and lustrous almost overnight, is a reality, if you'll take the trouble to mix sage tea and sulphur, but what's the use, you get a large bottle of the ready-to-use tonic, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" at drug stores here for about 50 cents. Millions of bottles of "Wyeth's" are sold annually, says a well known druggist, because it darkens the hair so naturally, and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. Those whose hair is turning gray, becoming faded, dry, scraggly, and thin have a surprise awaiting them, because just after one application the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful--all dandruff, scalp-itching and falling hair stops. This is the age of youth, gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with the Sage and Sulphur to-night and you will be amazed at your youthful appearance and the real beauty and healthy condition of your hair within a few days. Inquiry at drug stores here shows that they all sell lots of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur" and the folks using it are enthusiastic.

BOWELS BAD, LIVER TORPID? CASCARETS
IF CONSTIPATED, BILIOUS, HEADACHY, STOMACH SOUR, GET A BOX OF CASCARETS.

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascares, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascares works while you sleep; cleans and regulates the stomach, removes the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; takes the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascares-to-night will straighten you out by morning—a recent bowel from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months.

Do not forget the children. They love Cascares because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

CALISTA'S CHRISTMAS
How a Girl Was Changed From Selfishness to Charity.

By CLARISSA MACKIE.
For twelve long years Calista Thorp had fought against that grim fate which had removed her loved ones within the space of a short twelve-month and left her hopeless and dry-eyed in the midst of an empty house, even now echoing with happy voices stiller forever.

She was a frail little woman, with a bruised heart which she hid behind a cold exterior, defiant blue eyes and a bitter tongue. All the softness of her youth had congealed. She was estranged from happiness.

Twelve times since that awful year Mad Calista hung the stockings before the fireplace in the sitting room, her large sock, Bobby's two stockings (gaping expectantly), little Ann's white ones and, last of all, her own slim black one.

And twelve times with shining eyes and swelling heart she had Calista filled them. Then when Christmas morning dawned and she awoke to the bitterness that awaited her in the silent house and in the sight of the row of bulging stockings hanging before the fireplace she would give down to smoldering fire she would give down to smoldering fire and tear them from the shelf and empty each one of its burden.

The bureau drawers in the slant-roofed bedrooms were filled with the little treasures Calista had bought for her loved ones.

Again it was Christmas eve, and Calista had come home from shopping. Her arms were full of parcels, and the snowflakes powdered the dark hair that framed her small pale face—paler than usual, for the young minister had just, at the corner and walked home with her.

At the gate he had timidly relieved himself of a burden that troubled him. He had reproached with Calista Thorp because of her selfishness.

Her cheeks burned as she remembered how his reproaches had reflected the moonlight until they seemed like luminous supernatural eyes reading her soul.

He had ventured only a few words, and his concluding sentence still rang in her ears:
"There is no room in your heart for those outside your loved ones who have gone! God grant you a happy Christmas, Miss Calista!"

He was very young and very poor and very much in earnest, and he had a young wife and family at home to maintain. He had found time to walk himself over Calista Thorp, the most skeptical member of his flock.

For the first time a light broke in on Calista's brain. For the first time she saw herself in her true character. She had been in giving herself up to those who were gone she was hiding her talent in a napkin.

It was not those loved ones she was benefiting; it was the living she was denying. What right had she to keep all for the dead, who could use nothing she would give them?

Was she not in giving it to them hoarding it for herself? All of a sudden a realization of her true position rushed upon her with resistless force.

And how long had she been hoarding in this world of her own selfish making? Twelve years.

A shame came in her heart that she had all this while taken no interest in a single living being at Christmas time.

There were the children among her relatives, the children of best friends, but above all, the children of the poor. When she thought of the many little ones whom even a penny toy would delight she was seized with a desire on this Christmas to wipe out the stains.

And how long had she been hoarding in this world of her own selfish making? Twelve years.

"I've kept Christmas alone—for twelve years. Somehow I didn't care about seeing anybody. I just wanted to try to bring back things as they used to be—things—"

Mr. Keyes wiped his glasses and replaced them on his nose. "And he had not stood side by side with little Calista Thorp and fought hopelessly the battle of life and death—and lost?"

She had avoided speaking to him afterward, and this was the first time they had met and she was talking to him now as if she had forgotten that he had lost the grim battle for her loved ones.

"Before my folks died," went on Calista steadily. "But it can't be done. I want the folks here to have their best—best way to live over happy times to give them to somebody else that never had any, so I've brought all the presents I've given mother and father and the children ever since—day—and the funeral of a chief. However, their physique was magnificent and their power of bearing burdens was unexcelled. Sometimes they would go all homesteads, for they were confirmed smokers, the women even more so than the men, and they had a way of ironing that was a disgrace to the ironing board of any young girl of 13 smoking one of their long-stemmed pipes bound round with iron wire.

The women rarely wore anything but a hat with a wide brim, and cowries round the neck and another round the waist, with an occasional coil of iron wire on the arms or a twisted wire to see even a young girl of 13 smoking one of their long-stemmed pipes bound round with iron wire.

The women rarely wore anything but a hat with a wide brim, and cowries round the neck and another round the waist, with an occasional coil of iron wire on the arms or a twisted wire to see even a young girl of 13 smoking one of their long-stemmed pipes bound round with iron wire.

"You need never be without a family, Miss Calista," said the doctor as he left. "I have a family of my own, and I have a young wife and little children. They need help and encouragement and comfort. Some may have another chance in the world if they receive a word of womanly sympathy in season. Will you be my right hand here?"

"I'll like to," sobbed Calista thankfully. Together they distributed the contents of the two baskets, and Calista found her tongue saying soft pleasant and grateful smiles. "How kind she saw her mother's kindly look and her father's approving nod in the faces of many of these indigent old people, and the delight of Bobby and little Ann were repeated tenfold by the orphaned poor children of the doctor's household."

"You have been an angel in disguise to them this Christmas day," said the doctor as he carried Calista home in his sleigh that evening, for Calista had stayed to the dinner of port, tenderloin and apple sauce, with vegetables and many dainties contributed by the good doctor from his own scanty pocket.

Calista Thorp's house was empty no longer. There was always room for some broken soul from the poorhouse—some one who dropped in the atmosphere which could never be inhaled from the institution and who needed comfort and encouragement before taking up the burden of life and attaining independence in the end.

The following Christmas Calista welcomed as an old friend by the inmates of the poorhouse.

At her bidding each one had hung his or her stocking on a line stretched before the dormitory doors, and that evening Calista and Dr. Keyes had filled them all.

Calista's blue eyes were shining with happiness as the doctor drove her home under the Christmas stars.

"We remembered every one," she said contentedly, leaning back among the soft robes.

"Every one?" he repeated doubtfully.
"Why, who have we forgotten?"
"Me," he said gravely.
Calista's heart thumped painfully at the new note in his deep voice.

A GARDEN OF EDEN.
Curious Customs of African Natives Told By An Explorer.

Interesting facts about an almost unknown race were related by the Royal Geographical Society by Mr. Felix Oawa. He made a long journey last winter to the Victoria Nyang, to investigate, on behalf of the British Museum, some Miocene deposits near Karungu, on the east coast of the lake. For five weeks he lived among natives, a district of days' ride from the nearest white man. The natives belonged, he said, to the Jalwo Kavirondo, a race of Nilotic negroes (twelve noticeable lack of Hamitic blood) remarkable for their rudity and their utter lack of self-consciousness in this respect, just as if they were living in the Garden of Eden before the Fall. At the same time their standard of morality was conspicuously higher than that of neighboring tribes in East Africa. As a consequence, they were a vigorous race, increasing in numbers, whilst the Mandingo owing to their lax morals were dying out.

The natives eat only on millet and sour milk, only eating meat when any of their cattle or sheep died a natural death, or when indulging in ceremonial feasts, such occasions as the funeral of a chief. However, their physique was magnificent and their power of bearing burdens was unexcelled. Sometimes they would go all homesteads, for they were confirmed smokers, the women even more so than the men, and they had a way of ironing that was a disgrace to the ironing board of any young girl of 13 smoking one of their long-stemmed pipes bound round with iron wire.

Acquiring a Reputation.
Archibald Rowley, who lived in the eighteenth century, most unjustly got the reputation of swindler and frauder. The explanation is that the Duke of Cumberland, who fought the battle of Culloden and who was unexpectedly profane, once went to Rowley to get his assistance in defeating a certain bill which he disliked. He returned to the House of Lords, saying "That fellow is a damned impudent fellow, but I'll be damned if he says he'll see the promoters to— before he'll vote for the bill." As a matter of fact, all the profanity had been supplied, quite in the ordinary run of conversation by the duke.

His Stipulation.
Before giving his consent to the Great Western Railway to build a railway bridge across a part of his property, a landowner stipulated that it should be constructed of stone which should weigh that of which his bridge was built, and should consist of three elliptical arches. The bridge, which was successfully completed, despite the fact that it had been stipulated to be the only one of its kind in England—perhaps in the world.

By Some Person or Persons Unknown
 "I see sir," the detective said slowly. "I was hoping to get valuable information from Mr. Basil Wilton, but we were given to understand that at present his condition would not admit of an interview."
 "Ah there you were handicapped," Septimus Lockyer said gravely. "Now I am a privileged person. As I say, luck has been with me; nevertheless all the hard work has been done by you."
 Hewlett felt in no mood to be soothed even by the great lawyer's praise. Later on no doubt it would recede to his memory pleasantly at present he could only remember how very near he had been to the solution of the secret of Grove Street and yet how very far from the right path his suspicions had wandered.
 "You said I had unconsciously given you two clues, sir," he observed at last. "One, that Mrs. Perks was native of Saxelby. Would you mind telling me the other?"
 "The other?" Septimus Lockyer repeated carelessly. "Oh, that was with regard to Gregory. I could not make him out for a long time. From the first I felt sure that if he did not commit the murder himself he had arranged it. I inclined to the latter opinion, but the problem that presented itself to me was why had he kept silence? When you told me of his love for Cecile de Lavelle, of which you heard from Miss Merivale, I began to see my way. The interview at which you assisted tonight has removed my last doubts; Gregory is using his guilty knowledge to force Cecile de Lavelle into a marriage with him. I have just telephoned to the registrar, and he tells me the names have been hung up for the last three weeks at the office, and the marriage is to take place to-morrow morning. Doubtless had he known of her whereabouts all this time he would have brought forth his weapon sooner. Now he has had his way; in return for his promise of secrecy she has promised to marry him at the registry office in the Harrow Road at ten o'clock to-morrow morning. Why do you look so grave, Hewlett? Don't you agree with my theory?"
 The detective hesitated.
 "Yes, sir, I do as far as it goes. The worst of it is that it is a theory—that so far we seem to have but little evidence to prove it. We might justify an arrest, but I am afraid we could not obtain a conviction without more proof."
 Septimus Lockyer nodded thoughtfully.
 "Quite right, Hewlett. You mean that we must have definite evidence as to the whereabouts of Cecile de Lavelle's being actually on the spot at the time the murder took place."
 "That is what I mean sir," the detective assented. "And proof that Gregory was in a position to know anything with regard to the murder."
 "The K.C. did not answer for a minute."
 "Gregory himself will supply the necessary evidence to-morrow," he said at last, without raising his head.
 "Gregory?" The detective looked at him. "I don't understand."
 Septimus Lockyer gave a curious little laugh.
 "I have been thinking out my scheme ever since you came in; I don't think it will miscarry. When Gregory finds that his bride does not appear to-morrow morning, when he discovers, as he imagines, that he has been made a fool of—for you must remember it is evident that Cecile has eluded him once already—when he is arrested as an accessory, I fancy we shall find him ready to tell us all the knowns."
 "And she—I suppose you will arrest her before, but then will she not send to him—let him know somehow?" questioned Hewlett, looking puzzled.
 Mr. Lockyer puffed at his cigar.
 "I think my plan will provide for all that. A taxi sent by Gregory will arrive at the veiled dancer's rooms in Islington at nine o'clock to-morrow morning; it will take her by a circuitous route to the corner of Gray's Inn Road, where it will stop at a signal from two police officers, who will then enter and make the arrest, driving their prisoner safe to Scotland Yard. In the meantime Gregory will be kicking his heels outside the registry office in the Harrow Road, and you know the vengeance he will feel if the girl played him false again—he will be ready to turn King's evidence when he is arrested. Oh, I do not think our case will present any extraordinary difficulties now. What do you say?"
 Hewlett's face cleared as if by magic.
 "Say? What can I say sir, except that it is a grand scheme? I believe you will carry it through all right."
 "I believe we shall," Septimus Lockyer assented. "The watching of Gregory shall be your part, Hewlett. See

WOMEN, AVOID OPERATIONS
Many Unsuccessful — And Worse Suffering Often Follows. Mrs. Rock's Case A Warning.
 The following letter from Mrs. Orville Rock will show how unwise it is for women to submit to the dangers of a surgical operation when often it may be avoided by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. She was four weeks in the hospital and came home suffering worse than before.
 Here is her own statement.
 Paw Paw, Mich.—"Two years ago I suffered very severely with a displacement. I could not be on my feet for a long time. My physician treated me for several months without much relief and at last sent me to Ann Arbor for an operation. I was there four weeks and came home suffering worse than before. My mother advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I did. Today I am well and do all my own housework. I owe my health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and advise my friends who are afflicted with any female complaint to try it."—Mrs. ORVILLE ROCK, R. R. No. 6, Paw Paw, Michigan.
 If you are ill do not drag along until an operation is necessary, but at once take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
 For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for women's ills, and has restored the health of thousands of suffering women. Why don't you try it?

WARNING!

Information has reached us that certain dealers, when asked for Zam-Buk, try to sell something else on which they make a larger profit. They do not give this as their reason, but say: "I can sell you so and so at half the price and it is just as good."

Don't be fooled! The "cheap" preparation is not just as good as Zam-Buk—not in the same class! Most of the cheap salves are made from animal fats and oils. Zam-Buk is made from pure herbal essences and juices. There is as little similarity between the two as between a horse and an automobile.

Imitation of Zam-Buk and cheap substitutes may give the dealer a little more profit, but they won't cure your skin disease, or stop the pain of your burn or ease the agony of piles, or cure the rash on your baby. Don't be misled. Get the real Zam-Buk. See the legally protected name on the packet before paying for it.

THE ROMAN ROADS.

Great Britain's Legacy From the Days of Long Ago.

Of the many useful arts which Britons owe to Rome, that of road-making certainly is the most important. That Rome learned from Carthage is possible, but the Romans must have enjoyed the credit for their roads to-day still challenge to speed the panting motor, while those of Carthage lie beneath the dust. The Roman plan of construction was fairly uniform, and every road was laid with a view to durability whether it were an Appian or Flaminian Way, a Tarring Street or a route through the wilds of Gaul or Macedonia. The famous Appian Way, called Regia Viarum, the queen of roads, is at present the oldest and most celebrated of all the highways laid down by the Romans. It linked the capital of the Caesars with all the important cities of Southern Italy, and was constructed, or partially constructed, under the Censor Appianus Claudius Censor, in 312 B. C.

In view of the natural obstacles presented by the route, the cost of the enterprise must have been enormous. In a deep foundation from which all loose soil had been cleared, were laid several strata strongly cemented, and above these was placed the pavement of large hexagonal blocks of basaltic lava, fitted together with such precision as to give the appearance of a smooth continuous surface. Next in importance of the roads of ancient Italy was the Flaminian Way, constructed by Flaminius in 220 B. C., linking Rome with Ariminum on the Adriatic. The Emperor Augustus re-surveyed the office of surveyor of the Flaminian Way when in 27 B. C. he was appointing road surveyors for other highways.

A modern eye, used to Paved-ways, a Roman road would have appeared but a lane, though a well-laid lane. They were rarely broader than 16 feet, and often as narrow as 8 feet. Usually they had raised footpaths at the side, as in the case with all modern thoroughfares, and some blocks of pavement were so constructed as to enable equestrians to mount. At Pompeii such stone pavements may still be seen intact; but from the fall of Rome up to the beginning of the 12th century medieval cities were innocent of pavements and the art of road-making seems to have been lost. As late as the 16th century in the London Globe, the roads in the vicinity of London were so bad that in wet weather a carriage could not be driven from Kensington to St. James' in less than two hours, and it not infrequently foundered in the mud altogether.

AFTER EFFECTS OF LONG ILLNESS

Speedily Vanish When You Use Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Loren G. Ladd only found complete relief after using the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy.

LADD'S MILLS, Stanstead Co., Que., Jan. 13 (Special)—That the seeds of disease left in the body after an illness are sure to cause trouble is the experience of Loren G. Ladd, a well known young man in this community. Mr. Ladd has also learned that those seeds can be cleared out of the body and perfect health restored by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"At the age of six I had Scarlet Fever," Mr. Ladd states. "At twelve I had Typhoid Fever, and at fourteen I had Measles. About a year later I began to be troubled by swellings of the face feet and hands. The doctor told me I had Kidney trouble. He gave me medicine but the swellings continued to come at intervals of a week to a month."

"Two years ago one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills stopped the swellings. Last winter the swellings returned and again I was cured by using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Healthy Kidneys strain the seeds of disease out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills make healthy kidneys.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Something Coming to a Boy.

King Solomon's views on the training of the young are still publicly professed in Anglo-India, if we may judge from the following advertisement lately appearing in The Pioneer of Allahabad:

"Wanted, as nurse, a strong, God-fearing Scotch woman capable of teaching the children of the house a working knowledge of the business side—a slipper to look after a boy aged 5, who is endowed with a double dose of original sin. Apply, stating salary required, to L. 304 Pioneer Press."

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have "Moths' Graves' Worm Extirminator" to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

HOW BLOOD IS MADE.

The health and the digested foods in the alimentary canal pass through the wall of the small intestine. This process is called absorption and takes place chiefly from the small intestine. After absorption the blood carries the food through the body, and each cell takes from the blood the food it needs. A pure glyceric extract made from bloodroot, mandrake, stone, queen's root and golden seal and sold by druggists for the past forty years under the name of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, gives uniformly excellent results as a tonic to help in the assimilation of the food and in the absorption by the blood of the food it requires. Eradicates the poisons from the blood with this alternative extract which does not shrink the white blood corpuscles, because containing no alcohol or other injurious ingredients. Thus the body can be built up—strong to resist disease. This is a tonic taken from Nature's garden that builds up those weakened by disease. Dr. Pierce, founder of the Invalids' Hotel at Buffalo, N.Y., has received many letters similar to the following:

Mr. Frank E. Hiram, of Paradise, N. H., writes: "I take great pleasure in writing you my remarks on your case and the cure. In September I was taken with Typhoid Fever, which put me in a dreadful condition. I was weak, ran down, nervous and was reduced to a skeleton. I had tried most everything I could get but nothing did me any good until I had I was advised by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and 'Pleasant Pills,' which I did. Before I had used one bottle I saw a great improvement and when I had used this treatment two months, using only a few vials of 'Pleasant Pills,' I returned to perfect health. I cannot find words to express my thankfulness for this wonderful medicine. I advise all sufferers to write to Dr. E. V. Pierce, so he can cure when others fail."

A Magnificent Meeting of Ryerson is the New Confidence in B

There was a magnificent rally at the annual meeting of the South Brant Conservative Association last evening. City and County alike were splendidly represented, and confidence reigned supreme.

Mr. W. B. Seace occupied the chair in an able manner. He announced his withdrawal from the position, which he thought should be occupied only one year.

The Officers:
There were many nominations for the various offices, but finally the following were installed by acclamation:
President—Geo. H. Ryerson.
First Vice-President—Alex. McEwen.
Second Vice-President—William Charlton.
Secretary—A. W. Robinson.
Treasurer—L. A. Baird.
Auditors—Sam Seagle and J. C. Spence.

New President.
In retiring from the chair after a year of hard and unceasing work Mr. W. B. Seace in a few words congratulated the new president on his election to the presidency, stating that he felt sure that the new head of the Conservative association of South Brant would be the best yet.

The new president, Mr. George H. Ryerson in a neat speech, accepted the most important office and started toward the good work shown by the previous holders of the post. Mr. Ryerson made a graphic appeal to the members of the Borden club for their cooperation in making the club membership reach the thousand mark, as the enthusiasm of the younger members had taught them that the young men of the country are the real power.

The Conservative party was never so strong as at the present time and notwithstanding the fact that the four Brants were for many years represented by Liberal members, the present representatives of Brant County have done more for the county in the past few months than the Liberal members ever did.

(Applause). The Conservative party fought and fought most successfully for Hydro-Electric Power and against reciprocity. He was sure that they were all proud of the record of the Borden government, and the national policy of the government had appealed to the feelings of the Canadian people. Mr. Ryerson concluded by wishing every one a happy new year.

Mr. W. S. Brewster, M.P.P. was the next speaker and his remarks which were brief, but to the point, were loudly applauded by those present.

Mr. Brewster congratulated Mr. Ryerson on his election to the presidency, stating that the name of Ryerson was an honorable one in the county, city and party. Touching briefly on the new question, Mr. Brewster said he was aware that every one could not agree but he felt sure that every loyal Canadian, was in accord with the Borden's policy of supplying the Dreadsoughts to the Motherland.

So far Canada had never contributed $1 to the defence of the Empire, but the time had come for us to do our part in helping the Old Land. The proposed expenditure of thirty-five millions can be paid out of the year's revenue and still leave a surplus.
