Agreement for the Manufacture of Rope at Central Prison.

INQUIRIES BY THE MEMBERS.

ials From Interfering at Election -Several Bills Introduced, and Others Advanced a Stage at the Semion on Monday-Assembly Notes.

Toronto, Feb. 21.—The Provincial S and laid on the table a copy of the agree Central Prison. The agreement, stripped of its legal phraseology, provides that the company is to purchase the necessary machinery to manufacture all kinds of rope up to two-loch diameter, subject to the approval of the Government, and it the approval of the Government, and is to be reliabureed by allowances from the amount due from prison labor over and above the average output of two and one-nalf tons per day. The company is bound over to continue the manufacture of binder twine, to pay half the salary of the engineer to run the plant, and to manufacture four tons per day after March i next. The scale of prices fixed in the original agreement for binder twine will continue in force, and the original agreement is extended for five years, until 1905.

Bills Intreduced.

Mr. Pattulio introduced a bill which provides that towns of over 7,000 population shall elect by general vote a mayor and ten counciliors. Towns of 3,000 to 5,000 mayor and tsx counciliors. Towns under 3,000, mayor and four counciliors. Also that the mayors and revers of towns and villages be elected at alternate years, and half the counciliors ahall retire at every election. The lawest number of votes at the 1900 election shall retire in 1901, and the other half in 1903.

Mr. German introduced a bill which provides that the council of any municipality may pass a bylaw or bylaws whereby in the case of merchants engaged in retail trade the assessment, instead of being on the personal property from re-entering the employ of the Gov-erument for four years.

Mr. Foy introduced a bill respecting sureties. Mr. Foy also introduced a bill to amend the Municipal Act by giving the municipal franchise to persons rated at $400 personal property on the last re-vised assessment roll who have since that day continuously resided in the munici-pality.

Mr. Auld introduced a bill to shorter Bills for Second Reading.

In moving the second reading. In moving the second reading of the bill to prevent overcrywding, Thomas Crawford, M.P.P., made a few remarks. He referred to the way in which so many people had to stand as a result of the Toronto Street Railway Company not putting on more cars. The company had undertaken by agreement to give the citizens a proper service. The people have a grievance and should not be called upon to suffer. Mr. Crawford said he did want to harass or persecute the et railway, but he brought the matte treet railway, but he interest of the interest of the officers. The qitizens thought they were not being treated fairly because the company had not lived up to their agree-and asked the sciournment of the debau. Set This was done.

Mr. William H. Hoyle (North Ontario) from the second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act. By the present law clerks of municipalities are compelled to keep open their officers until 13 to clock at night. He would have subsection 2 of section 129 amended by inserting the words, respecting the resignation of condidates, "at any time before 7 o'clock in the afternoon." The bill was pread a second time.

7 o'clock in the afternoon. The bill was read a second time.

Mr. Wardell (North Wentworth) moved the second reading of his bill to permit of the payment of police commissioners in places with a less population than 100,000, if the municipality saw fit. The bill was read a second time, and also one by the same member to amend the Assessment Act.

Inquiries by Members.

In answer to a question by Mr. Marter (North Toronto), as to the quantity of binder twine that had been made each year at the Central Prison during the currency of the present contract, Hon. year at the central resolutions, then currency of the present contract, Hon. E. J. Davis (North York) stated that in 1896 there were 962,000 pounds manufactured, and in 1897 the amount was 1,518,000. Last year no twine was made, owing to the fire at the Central Prison. The manufacturers paid 83½ cents per 100 pounds for labor and use of machiners.

Hon. G. W. Ross was waited upon yesterday afternoon by a deputation to ask that the salary of Principal Parkyn of Upper Canada College be increased from $3,000 to $4,000 per annum. Austria's Cabinet. Chicago, Feb. 21.—The hungry of Chicago have eaken up the jewels of a noble Danish family. The Countees Schimmelmann in her efforts to feed the thousands who have gone to her yacht, ited up in the rivert, has disposed of her jewels, and the proceeds from the last ornament, a pearl necklace of great value, are just disappearing in the shape of soup and bread.

The Countess told the West End Club women that she has provided for 30,000 of the unfed and unsheltered men of Chicago since the Deen was equipped as a kitchen for the poor. The fortune which she inherited has been spent in the work, largely in other cities, and to maintain her charities here she was obliged to convert her jewels into cash. "The last," she said, "was a pearl necklace valued at many shousand marks. It had to go that the poor might be fed. It was valuable," she said, with a little laugh, "but not so dear as the thought of caring for the unfortunate, "Next winter wheal I have gone I hope the citizens of Chicago will continue the work. Those unemployed men should have shelter and food while they are in search of werk."

A HOUSE IN LONDON.

AN AMERICAN'S EXPERIENCE IN TRY-ING TO RENT ONE.

Whether You Take It on Lease or Worst of the Transaction.

I have an American friend here who got tired of hiring furnished apartments and paying for furniture which he could never own. Houses are very much cheaper in London than in New York. One Ameri-Condon than in New York. One American correspondent lives beautifully in Chelsea, a part of London, at $450 a year rent; another pays $350 rent, and another lives in Earlscourt, in London, in a fine house, for which he pays $600 rent. For my part I have paid for various house $15, $22,50 and $30 a week. but have always hired furnished houses. Wheever hires a furnished house pays no taxes, or "rates," as they call taxes over he se, but if you take an unfurnished house you must pay the ward or parish rates, which are usually estimated at about one-thad as much again as your rent, so that if you agree to pay $600 rent you must really part with $800, including the rates.

Well, my friend looked over many houses and at last settled upon one at a rental of $500 a year. It was very spacious and

He also found that the charge for drawing up a lease is $78.75 (15 guineas). Think of it! Lawyers have to be employed, and this is their legal charge for the service. Old as the country is they have never yet learned our method of printing legal forms at a few cents each and filling them up or altering them to suit cases. He discovered that by taking the house on an "agreement" instead of a lease he could avoid the worst of these burdensome expenses. An agreement is a lease for any term less than seven years. It does not carry the repairing clause with it, and it only costs a guinca, or about $5. So he took the house for five years in an agreement.

That being concluded my friend looked That being concluded my friend looked about him and discovered that he had to buy fenders for all the fireplaces, fire tongs and pokers, hooks to put in the closets, bell ropes to work the bedroom call bells, and, really I have forgotten nine-tenths of the expenses, but they amounted to $250 before he finished with them. At the same time he was presented with an inventory of the handlord's property, and this included every window catch, doorknob, key plate, lock, hook, bell, bolt and fastening or appointment of every sort. These he was told must be left in the same order in which they were turned over to him.

I am told that in New York it is better to rent an unfurnished than a furnished house. They say that if a New Yorker tries to rent a furnished house the presumption is that he is hard up and will Herein Lon-don there is no such feeling, because all, except the very rich, are in the habit of renting their houses furnished. These are renting their houses furnished. These are almost a nomad people. They live in town in the season, which is the middle of summer. After that they go to the seashore or to the south of France or to their country houses for the autumn shooting and again at Christmas time. The consequence is that tens of thousands of well to do folks rent their houses for six months or nine months, if not for a whole year. When they rent a furnished house to you, they send an agent of their own to meet your agent for the purpose of taking an inventory of the furniture. Your negent a pretty spry. He shows no curiosity or interest in what is going on, but, loads through the job as if his duties were personnel. Scheme to Hiss Her.

But, oh, dear reader, you should see that same man when your lease has expired and he is seeing what damage you have done. He rings every saucer and plate with a lead penell, he turns every chair upside down and studies the bottoms and legs, he examines the mantelpieces, he even stares at the doors to see whether they swing evenly or not, he takes down the gas globes to see if the edges are nicked, he even makes as note of a spot-of rust on a pillowease. He who was so slow and indifferent has changed into a sleuth hound, into a microscopist, into a demon of conscientious alertness. Transferring a Leaf.

It is possible to transfer to paper the outlines and natural times of a leaf with all the fidelity of a painting or a colored photograph. Soak a piece of linen free from starch in a solution of salipeter Take a sheet of smooth paper, place the leaf upon it and on that lay the wit linen Another sheet of paper is laid on the linen, the whole inclosed between two pieces of cardboard and put under a heavy box or in a letter press. After three days under this weights it will be found that the leaf is bleached and the impression of the leaf in all its natural coloring is on the paper. This is very effective for decorative purposes.

MRS. BILLTOP'S WAYS.

Only One Disturbing Peculiarity, and Eyen That For the Common Good.

"I suppose," said Mr. Billtops, "that we all have our peculiarities—eyen Mrs. Billtops has ome. But she has only one that is disturbing—she will insist on calling up the subject of our expenses at night—the last thing at night—and this I hold to be bad, because it skeeps me awake thinking about it., My idea is that nothing of that sort should be discussed after dinner. With that meal ample, let us hope, if not sumptuous, we should put up a barrier against the cares of the day and devote ourselves thereafter to comfort and tranquillity, so as to insure that calmness of mind that is essential to sleeping well. I don't know of anything that breaks all this up more than a discussion of ways and means ha called up by Mrs. Billtops.

"She says that there's no other time to speak of it; that I am away all day, to begin with, and she doesn't want to speak speak of it; the I am away all day, to begin with, and ahe doesn't want to speak to me immediately after dinner. She wants to give me time to smoke my cigar, and then, she says, she has things to look after herself, and she wants to read the evening paper, and all that, and what else can she do? I don't know, but I do know that when at about a quarter of 10 I see her lay the paper down on the table and look across at me and say:

'Now, what are we going to do about'— ly become very sober and pay strict attention.

"And then she goes through the solemn details and I listen, and when she is all through I say that we shall have to do the best we can about it of course.

"That's what you always say," she says, and then she gives up for the time her efforts to make me understand. She gets up with a resigned expression upon her face and folds up the newspaper, which means, I know, that the conference is ended, and I keep very dark then and say mothing. And she thinks that I mean all right, but that it's hopeless to talk to me about business matters. And sayish that she wouldn't insist on always bringing up that subject just at that hour of the day, but it's her only disturbing peculiarity, and even that's for the comman good."

FREAKS OF APPLE CULTURE.

Paints on the Popular Fruit.

It is no difficult matter in any sphere of life to come across people who think they know a great deal better than nature herself how things ought to be, and this unfortunate idea prevails to a great extent among the gardening fraternity. Now they are producing apples that exhibit armorial bearings. Any person therefore who wishes for a supply of, the fruit with who wishes for a supply of, the fruit with his family crest upon it has only to forward an illustration of it to one of the Montreuil fruit growers who make a specialty of such things, and he will duly receive the apples the following season.

This end is attained by growing the apples in paper bags, which are slipped on when the fruit is about the size of a walnut. Being thus sheltered from the sun, the apples do not color as shey swell, and when fully grown still remain groen or yellow in color. As soon as they reach their noximum size the bags which cover are replaced by others on the side o her dovice which the paper forms.

Quite recently many Parislan fruiterers ave been exposing for sale apples with he arms of Russia printed upon them, the arms of Russia printed upon them, and others have them with monograms. Christian names, arrow pierced hearts and other tender devices. Probably it will not be long before they are seen in England, although, apart from the novelty of the thing, they have nothing to recommend them.—Golden Penny.

Don't you re-member, my dear," he said, turning to his wife for corroboration, "how dirty the rooms we occupied were?"

answered Mrs. Elder, with a little laugh, shaking her head. "You forget I wasn't your dear then."

. A SEAMLESS TUBE.

There Are Three Operations Which It May Be Made. Which It May Be Made.

Henry Souther said at a recent meeting of the National Association of Mechanical Engineers that the soientific and technical designation of a tube, whether seamed or seamless, depended solely upon the tube itself and not upon the process followed in its manufacture. Referring to the dictionary you will find that the word "seamless" means without seam, which conveys no light upon the subject. Turning to the word "seam," it is found that it is defined as a joint, sture, or line of union, and here less" means without seam, which conveys no light upon the subject. Turning to the word" seam," it is found that it is defined as a joint, suture, or line of union, and here in the last term we find the key. A tube jointed in any way cannot be seamless. If in the primary stages of its manufacture it be lap, but or lock jointed, it cannot by any subsequent operation be deprived of the seam and therefore cannot be considered when completed as being seamless. A strictly seamless tube may be made by any one of three operations—first, a billet may be by successive steps punched into the form of a tube with extremely thick sides, and these may then by the ordinary drawing processes be reduced to a tube with thin walls; next, the billet may be bored or the blank may be east with a hole in it and in either case then drawn to the required dimensions; thirdly, the tube may be made by the cupping process, which consists in taking a disk of the metal, forming it into a cup shape, gradually elongating the cup and reducing it in diameter and finally by this means preducing a tube.

Each and all of these processes yield a tube which its absolutely seamless and about which there is and can be no dispute. In all tubes formed with a seam the edges have first been separated, then united, either by lap or butt weld or by some lock joint system, and in these the joint cannot be eliminated by any after processes. The custom houses of the United States recognize the difference between a seam and a seamless tube. A seamless tube is one in which the walls have never been separated from the time the metal was in a molten condition to the

Wax Figures.

Wax Figures.

The best wax figures in the world are made in New York. One firm here has two to show in its store. Each of these figures cost $200. They are made entirely of wax and are the exact counterparts of two famous New York models. The first figure was sculptured after a French girl. Almost the only difference between the little French model and the polite, dainty figure in wax is that the girl of fesh and blood has dark hair and the hair of the wax figure is yellow. The second figure is that of an American woman. Her figure and the soft pink flush of the skin seem almost perfect. The woman who stood for the model of this one was said to have the best American figure in New York.

An immense pine Log.

On Friday afternoon last the Graham brothers, living near McIntosh Mills, felled a very large pine tree on their farm and cut off a log 30 feet and 4 inches in length and 20 inches inside the bark at the top end. The following morning, with the assistance of M. Anglin, a neighbor, they started to draw the log to Athens. They started for the woods to get the tree before daylight and did not reach Athens until nearly four o'clock that afternoon. Some four miles of the distance was along a wood-road cut across the farms, making a short route to the village. The buttend of the log was placed on a bob-sleigh and two teams were

Some of the men wore shoulder leis (wreaths of flowers) over their labor grimed hickory shirts, and the Kanaka women wore leis in cross belt over their flowing white Mother Hubbards. In truth, the flower wreaths were eved where. Waste of Animal Life In Africa Waste of Animal Life In Africa.
Although in some particulars oxen show andoubted intelligence, in many ways they are great fools. Thus they seem to have no knowledge of what is or is not good for them to eat. In Natal there grows an herb called "tullp," which is almost certain death to cattle, a fact with which they must have been acquainted for generations. Yet they seem to eat it greedily whenever they get the chance. Once I lost about 29 valuable trek oxen from this cause alone. This and the tale of the horse sickness, to say nothing of the record of rinderpest, will show the reader that farming in Africa, is not without its risks. Indeed I know no country where the waste of animal life is so tremendous, although doubtless as the land becomes inclosed and proper buildings and winter food are provided it will greatly lessen.—Longman's Magazine.

Chemically the apple is composed of vegetable fiber, albumen, sugar, gum, chiorophyll, maile acid, gallie acid, lime and much water. Furthermore, the apple contains a larger percentage of phosphorus than any other fruit or vegetable. This phosphorus, says The Family Doctor, is admirably adapted for renewing the essential nervous matter, tethicin, of the brain and spinal cord. It is perhaps, for the same reason, rudely understood that old Scandinavian traditions represent the apple as the food of the gods, who, when they felt themselves to be growing feeble and infirm, resorted to this fruit for renewing their powers of mind and body.

Also the acids of the apple are of great use for men of secdentary habits, whose litvers are singgish in action, these acids serving to eliminate from the body noxious matters which, if retained, would make the brain heavy and dull or bring about jaundice or skin cruptions and other allied troubles. Some such experience must have led to our outom of taking apple sauce with roast pork, rich googe and like dishes. The maile acid of ripe apples, either raw or cooked, will neutralize any excess of chalky matter, engendered by eating too much ment. It is also the fact that such fresh fruit as the apple, the pear and the plum, when taken ripe and without sugar, diminishes acidity in the stomach rather than provokes it. OLD MANUSCRIPT INK.

A Recipe From Which an Excelle Quality Can Be Made. A Recipe From Which an Excellent Quality Can Be Made.

"While examining a large number of manuscripts of an old scribe, some 25 years'ago." said a well known New York librarian, "I was struck with the clearness and legibility of the writing, owing, in a great measure, to the permanent quality of the ink, which had not faded in the least, aithough many of the Lankscripts were nearly 200 years old. It was marked, too, that the writer nust have been celebrated in his day for his caligraphy, for I met with a letter or two from his correspondents in which there was a request for the recipe of the ink he used. I found this recipe, which I copied, and from one of them, dated in 1658, I have during the last 18 years made all the ink I have used.

The Diamond Willow.

A writer in The Forester says: "Valuable characteristics are noted of a willow growing spontaneously along the Missouriver from the mouth of the Great Namaha south to the Yellowstone north, familiarly known as 'diamond willow.' Professor Sargent names it Salix cordata vestita. Experience demonstrates it as durable almost for underground uses, posts, etc., as red cedar. Northern Indians seem to have known of its valuable characteristics. They call it 'twat,' which, interpreted, signifies durable. It grows readily from outtings, either in its natural home, the bottom lands, or out on the high upland prairies."

Misfortune In a Sneeze.

It is a superstition of the Chinese that a sneeze on New Year's eve indicates misfortune for the coming year, and to overcome this he is obliged to go to three families of different surnames and beg from each of them a little cake shaped like a tortoise, which must be eaten before mignight.

How He Helped.

The Philadelphia-Record tells of a little woman and a big man who visited a dentiat not long ago. "I just came along to help her keep her courage up," explained the big man fondly. She sat through a long operation, the filling of several teeth, with scarcely a quiver. When it was done, she suggested that her husband ought to have his teeth examined. He said he knew there was nothing the matter with his, but finally she had her own way. The dentist found one small cavity and said he might as well fix it at once, and the little woman agreed with him.

When the boring machine was moved out from its corner, the big man seemed to shrink; when it began to buzz he shivered perceptibly, and even before the tool touched his tooth he gave a shout. After which it took all of the little woman's powers of persuasion to keep him in the chair until the job was completed. "And that's no exceptional eas," said the dentist when the couple had gone.

A Mind Healer's Fee.
Some years ago a young friend of mine went to a mind healer for a lark. There went to a mind healer for a lark. There was nothing in the world the matter with him, but he pretended to be the victim of terrible headaches. The wonderful healer asked no questions as to the cause of the ailment. He did not care about that, for allment. He did not care about that, for he had one panacca which sufficed for ev-ery-ill. Said he to the young investigator: "Go home, and whenever the headache comes on sit down quietly and put your whole mind on it, thinking with all your might that you have not got a headac Then you will not have it and will

"That's easy," said my young friend.
"What is your fee?"
"Five dollars."
"Well, sir, you put your whole mind on it and think with all your might that you have that $5. Then you will have it and will be paid."—Leslie's Weekly.

A Perverted Sentiment.

A Perverted Sentiment.
Seme one once wrote a sentimental song about the "light in the window for me," and ever since that time the "light in the window" has figured in poetry and song to a greater extent and in a more sentimental manner than it is entitled to. The cold truth is that when there is a light in cold truth is that when there is a light if the window it means some one is sitting up to give the last one to come home a solding or advice about the good sense o going to bed earlier. A light in the win dow is something that a nagged person never fails to see, and when his eyes firs see it in turning a corner he gets a col-chill and longs for a home in a boarding house. The "light in the window" senti-ment is badly overdone.

Delicate Children

They do not complain of anything in particular. They eat enough, but keep thin and pale. They appear fairly well, but have no strength. You cannot say they are really sick, and so you call them delicate. What can be done for them?

Our answer is the same that the best physicians have been giving for a quarter of a cen-tury. Give them Scott's Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Hypophosphites. It has most remarkable nourishing power. It gives color to the blood. It brings strength to the mus-cles. It adds power to the nerves. It means robust health and vigor. Even delicate infants rapidly gain in flesh if given a small amount three or four times each day 50c. and $1.00; all druggists.

In a few cities it has been proposed passing an ordinance against the ringing of church bells—this may to some disturb the "day of rest"—but why not include in this an ordinance for weekdays, the shouting of street hawkers, the clanking of other varieties of bells, the steam whistle of the factory? How much bester is the silent signs, both in war and in peace. Take the popular football game, and we find that the teams under better control are those who have mastered the silent signals of command.

"One reason the modern war vessel is sedeadly may be said to be because it is absolutely as accurate as a floating battery can be. And is not the cause of this scouracy due in great measure to the silent commands sent from the conning tower by the captain to each of his subordinates, shut off from him and each other by walks of step!? When an order is indicated upon a dial manipulated by electric transmission one receives the same in a tranquil state of mind, but if the order is abouted at him by one, two, three or mere in rapid sat him by one, two, three or mere in rapid succession (as of yore), then there is excuse for confusion."

THE RESTFUL CALM OF HOME.

Nothing Keeps Us Younger or Se Smooths Out Our Trials.

Nething Keeps Us Teunger es $e. Smooths Out Our Trials.

"It is high time that our women should, lead calmer lives," writes Edward Bok of "The Rush of American Women." in The Ladies' Home Journal. "They should set away from the notion that what we call 'progress' in these days demands that they shall fill their thoughts and lives, with matters at the cost of their health or peace of mind. Our homes must have more of a restful calm, and our wives must not be lured into nervous haste and forgetfulness by wrong ambitions or foolish ideas of what the world expects of them.

"There must be left to every woman a clearly defined interval of leisure for the enjoyment of those influences which make our firesides homes of rest and places of satisfying and uplifting calm. It is a pardonable failing to have a pride in the beautiful things which our homes contain, but we must not let that feeling take the place of the influence the home itself exerts on those who make it or live in it. Let us live in and know our own homes, and get the advantage of that restful calm, than which nothing keeps us younger or more surely smooths out the trials of the day. If mothers will be calmer we shall see our girls becoming less nervous and more restful.

reduced and the recipe stands thus:

"Rainwater, 1 pinjs; galls, bruised, 1½ ounces; green copperas, 6 drams; gam arabic, 10 drams. The galls must be coarsely powdered and put into a bottle with the other ingredients and water added. The bottle, when securely stoppered, should be placed in the light (sun if possible), and its contents occasionally stirred until the gum and copperas are dissolved, after which it is enough to shake the bottle daily, and in the course of a month or six weeks the ink will be fit to use. I have ventured to add ten drops of carbolic aid to the contents of the bottle, sit effectually prevents the formation and growth of mold without any detriment to the quality of the link, so far as I know."

An Audacious Thief.

A country gentleman of Cheshire was once sent galloping 20 miles to fetch the police to catch the thief who had stolen a check from inside an envelope which was inside his own letter box in his own hall gate—all through a tomits. The envelope and the covering letter were there, but the whereabouts of the check might have remained as great a mystery as any Thames embankment robbery in open daylight, but that when the gentleman and the police arrived and proceeded solemnly to inspect the letter box two tomits were discovered inside. This led to a search, and 20 yards off, lying on the ground, with beak marks upon it, was the check, Whether the tentits had returned to find out ir whose name they should forge an indores ment to the check is not clear, but this now development of the criminal tendency, which has always been latent in the whole race of tits, cannot be too strongly reprobated.—Longman's Magazine.
