ENGINEER WINGATE ON ALTERED CLAUSE.

He Was City Engineer At the Time

And Throws Some Light On the Matter.

Enclosed Arc Was in Use In 1896.

Some light is shed by E. B. Wingate, former city engineer, on the much talked of clause in the city' street lighting contract with the Cat aract Power Company, which caused Mayor Stewart in his inaugural address to declare that people who re ceived stolen goods were as guilty as the thieves and that the company were receiving stolen goods because the agreement was altered by some one. Mr. Wingate is thoroughly con versant with the facts of the lighting contract. He was appointed by the council in June and entered upon his duties on July 1, 1899, the time that the city's contract with the Cataract began

Mr. Wingate studied carefully and constantly the conditions of the con-tract and his interpretation of the celebrated clause, "The city to have the benefit-owing to discoveries in the electric art," is certainly very much in variance with the mayor's view. As far as the enclosed arc is concerned and the reduced cost of installing the same Mr. Wingate declares that the city, to his knowledge, has absolutely no claim. The light. says, was brought to public notice or d'scovered in the year of 1896, was very much in use in 1898, and its introduction was in his opinion a part of the remodelling system. Mr. Wingate had frequent conferences with Mr. Leyden, who was manager of the company at the time and also with Mr. Patterson as to the various improvements proposed and it was distinctly understood that the enclosed are was included. Two or three of these improved lamps were put up for the city's inspection during the year 1900 and from 250 to 300 of the lamps installed.

Much has been said about someone changing this clause after the bylaw passed the council. Mr. Wingate declares that in his opinion the clause giving to the city any reduction or advantage that might occur, as drafted by the special committee and submitted to the council in the committee's report, was a most unfair one, and when the clause was invested in the introduction was in his opinion a the and submitted to the council in the committee's report, was a most unfair one, and when the clause was inserted in the new draft by-law, the company was justified in demanding the alteration that was made.

"Who ever heard," asks Mr. Wingate "of a contractor or contracting company, in taking a contract, to obligate themselves to grant to the other party any reductions that possibly might be made from the contract price, for wages, material, machinery, tools, etc. If such is fair, then the company should be reimbursed for any loss they may suffer from higher wages, increased cost of material and machinery, and from damages caused by fire, flood, storms, etc. All of these things did actually happen during the first 3 or 4 years of the con(Continued on page 11.) Following the luncheon, Mr. Gibbons delivered an able address on "International Waterways." He contended that Canadians, being familiar with the conditions here, were in a better position to represent the Dominion in arranging a settlement of any matter in dispute between this country and the United States than a man sent by the home Government could possibly be.

By establishing the principle of absolute fairness and impressing upon the American members that Canada would not accept anything from the United States that did not rightly belong to her, and would not give to that country what was not rightfully hers, he said the

The order had been given to draw in the plank by Agent Foget, when a dainty and pretty French girl leaped from a taxicab and dashed for the steamer. She had run midway up the gangplank when she noticed the preparation to depart, and she paused and cried "Francois."

"Francois."
A form in the person of a good looking young Frenchman answered her cry from the steamer, and they were in each other arms before any of the crew could prevent him from leaving the steamer. As they locked arms their lips met and the kiss went on.

After delaying the steamer's departure, the young woman tripped down the gangplank, radiantly happy, while her companion darted back aboard the La Touraine, breathing heavily from the exertions of his ecstatic farewell.

must be put off for that length of time, Clifford."

Six weeks! Before half that time he would be a ruined man unless he could raise money. He scarcely dared think of it. Before leaving New York he had been living a very fast life. The large remittances Mrs. Barrison sent him for the gold mine were swallowed up almost as soon as they were received. A pair of fast horses, life at the Waldorf-Astoria, champagne suppers and a bevy of beauties of stage fame, had helped him to squander it; and in a reckless hour, when funds had run low, he had fallen into a terrible temptation, just such a pitfall as the end of such a path is usually filled with—he had for leading the such a fallen into a terrible temptation, just such a pitfall as the end of such a path is usually filled with—he had for leading the such the such that the would fall due in exactly three weeks, and then there would be a frightful expose. At the bend in the road they parted, but he would not release Norine's little hand until she had promised to meet him at the same place the following day.

the girl by his side, whom he loved better by far than the apple of his eye, was keeping her first secret from him.

Clifford Carlisle had exacted a promise from her that she would not mention to her grandfather, or indeed any one else, that they had met that afternoon, or intended seeing each other the fol-lowing day. Norine was so much of a child, so unsophisticated in the ways of child, so unsophisticated in the ways of the world, that she quite believed it the jolly lark that he represented it to be—to become well acquainted, and then spring that fact upon her old grandparents, who always declared most emphatically that she should never know any young man but Joe.

"It would be the richest kind of a joke," Carbisle declared, garly, and, looking at the matter in the light in which he pictured it so laughingly to her, it was no wonder artless little Norine fell into the trap set so cunningly for her thoughtless, unwary feet.

Even the old grandmother noticed how preoccupied Norine was during the fru-

"Grandpa, what can be the matter with Norine?" she exclaimed, thoughtfully, as the old people sat by the kitchen fire long after the girl had picked up her candle and gone to her little room under the eaves. "She talked so womanly that I had to lay down my spectacles and look at her in wonder."

The old blacksmith looked at his wife with a smile of amusement. "Norine is only a child," he murmured, softin, then after looking meditatively into the glowing coals for a spell, he asked suddenly: "What was the little gal talkin' about that gave you that notion, Betsey."

"She wanted the tucks let out of her with Norine?"

"Oh, no," laughed the girl. "Joe does not come to see me. What a funny idea."

I saw him a hangin' to the old hickory tree."

"But who is the young man, and where is he stoppin'?" asked Betsey.

"I don't know, an' I don't care.

Moren likely he's some wealthy man goin' along with the rest to invest in the mine. All the interest I take in him is to keep him away from Norine."

"What nonsense, Daniel, to imagine that he has given one thought to our Norine. Great gentlemen fall in love with their own kind."

"Not allus, Betsy." he muttered, thoughtfully. "Not allus."

Then their conversation drifted around to Joe (as it always did after Norine had left them for the night) and the future—advising with each other as to when they should tell their darling of the young man's devoted, patient love for her, and the hope he, had long since confided to them, that one day he hoped to make little Norine his bride, if he could win the treasure of her love, and they were willing that it should be so.

Each had taken one of the young man's hands and kissed it reverently, whispering to him that his desire was theirs as well, and that they could go down to the grave, which could not wait much longer for them, ah! so happy, if they could but see Norine his wife.

The man whom she chooses to fall in love with of her own accord," returned Clifford Carlisle, boldly.

The keen eye of the blacksmith met and held the dark, glittering eye of the handsome stranger for a moment. Then the old man answered, slowly:

THE RACE TRACK.

THOSE WHO FOLLOW THE RACES SUBJECT TO DISSIPATION.

San Francisco, Feb. 28.—In an address before a mass meeting under the auspices of the recently organized California Anti-Track League in the First Congregational Church of Berkely last night, Prof. David Starr Jordan, of Stanford University, discussed "Dissipation and the Struggles Against It." He condemned gambling, smoking and drinking habits, and overturned the generally accepted theory of heredity.

"You are beginning a fight against the race track and its attendant evils," he said. "It is the right of the people to suppress these evils, just as much as it is their right to make laws governing sanitary conditions. One of the main evils attendant upon life of the race track and that the gambler leads not a life full of activity, but one full of lateral property and the ease was adjourned to commend a life full of activity, but one full of lateral property and the ease was adjourned to commend a life full of activity, but one full of lateral property and the ease was adjourned to commend and interpret and the street was refused by Sergt. WAS IT TAMPERED WITH?

No doubt the public wonders why no teps have been taken to discover the son who is charged by the Mayor and the Herald with tampering with the it? street lighting by law. Mayor Stewart nas declared that it was altered without the knowledge or consent of the City Council, and the Herald has repeatedly sserted that the clause referring to the dvance or discoveries in the electric art vas placed there by some good angel of e company. If a crime was committed why not place the detective force on the ob? They are quite handy at the City Hall. The Times believes that the rea-son why the Mayor does not act is ceause the story is a myth. Did the Herald believe its own yarn it would be rying out night after night for the unarthing of the villain. Reference is made another column to statements made y Mr. Wingate, who was City Engineer t the time, to the effect that the com any would have been foolish to make ach a contract without that saving clause, as a reduction in the cost of lighting might have been asked, as soon as it was found, for any reason, that the mpany could manufacture light A contractor, for instance, ould never think of reducing his conact because labor became cheaper while it was in force. Mr. Wingate studied the | Whitney Government. y-law carefully, as it was his duty to o. He was quite well aware that the lause was there, and approved of it, and no secret was made of the fact that such clause existed. The Mayor and the Herald should either make some effort o prove their charge or manfully admit that they have been talking to the

IT KNEW IT WELL.

The "thin-red line" legend is now an apploded myth in the west. The plain acts have been set before the public, and everybody who has given the mater attention is aware that the cockind-bull story as audaciously concocted by Mr. Robert Rogers will not stand live minutes' examination. But occathe minutes' examination. But occa-sionally an eastern Conservative paper refers to it as if it were gospel truth. The Hamilton Spectator, a few days ago, epeated it in its original form, winding up with the statement that "the num-ser of Conservative voters thus dis-ranchised was estimated at over nine housand."

and 1907, taking the Provincial constituencies throughout and grouping them for the Dominion constituencies, it will see at a glance how false, a statement it has been repeating. Further study of the official figures, which the Free Press has been at the trouble to publish more than once, completely disposes of the whole story. The Free Press does the Hamilton Spectator the justice of believing that it is not aware that there has ing that it is not aware that there has never been the slightest attempt made to substantiate the assertion by Mr. Rogers upon which it bases its remarks.—Winnipeg Free Press.

porary expects from the Spectator a degree of candor quite foreign to its nature. The thin red line "outrage" had been exposed time and again to the knowledge of the Spectator when it re lishments. It knew that it was a fabric of falsehood, and it will take good care to its readers.

A good illustration of the practical utility of government regulation of railways is presented in Dr. Mills' reference to the fact that the Dominion Railway Commission reduced the charges per car on metallic shingles, Toronto to Edmonton, by $123. ITCHING TORTURES YIELDED TO CUTICURA

"While I was doing missionary work in the lower portion of several cities I found it necessary to know a little of the efficacy of a few medicines and after a while I found that a little knowledge of Cuticura was about all I needed. One of the very bad cases I had to deal with was that of a young woman who had come to us not only broken in spirit but in a most awful condition physically. Our doctor examined her and told us that she had scabies (the itch), incipient paresis, rheumatism, etc., brought on from exposure and the effects of her ragged-edged life. Her poor body was a mass of sores from scratching and she was not able to retain solid food. We trieded and baths with a rubbing of lard and sulphur. We worked hard for seven weeks and you can imagine how discouraged we were when, after all that time, we could see so little improvement. One day I happened to see a Cuticura advertisement telling how a little baby had been cured of a bad case of skin eruphal willings) with me, I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. When I reached home I was like a child with a new toy, and we bathed our patient well and gave her a full dose of the Resolvent. She slept that night better than she had since she had been with us and the next day I located the price of a box of Cuticura Ointment. I am not exaggerating when I say that in exactly five weeks and full of ambition. In another month she left the home, strong and well. Laura Jane Bates, Se Fifth Ave., New York, N. Y., U. S. A. Firebox of Runaway Engine Sets Fire to Caboose of Freight It Had Collided With -Engineer Thrown Through Window.

Bradford, Feb. 27.—Brakeman Charles Fox and Thomas E. Powell, both of Bradford, were killed and their bodies burned to a crisp in a wreck on the Erie Railroad near Brockwayville, Pathis morning.

Erie Railroad near Brockwayville, Page this morning.

Engineer Charles Ray, also of Bradford, had one leg broken and was badly bruised. The accident was caused by a runaway engine, No. 303, colliding with the rear end of an Erie freight which was standing in front of the junction tower while Engineer Holleran was after orders to allow his train to take the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg tracks to come on toward Bradford. Engineer Ray was in charge of the runaway locomotive. He was making arrangements to attach the engine to a stubtrain to run through to Bradford when the engine got beyond his centrol.

For a mile the locomotive made great speed. Engineer Ray stuck to his post, and when the crash came he was thrown through the window of his cab and his leg was broken. The shock of the collision was terrific and both Fox and Powell were instantly killed. The fire box of the locomotive set fire to the splintered caboose and the two bodies were cremated and rendered unrecognizable. Beside the caboose two cars were consumed by the flames. Snow was used to stop the progress of the fire. The dead were brought to this city on a special train this afternoon.

Powell was 27 years of age and had lived in Bradford for 18 years. He was formerly identified with the Bradford fire department. He leaves a widow and one son, his mother, three brothers and two sisters.

Charles Fox was about 40 years of age and leaves a widow.

TALKED OVER THE CHANGES

That Are Suggested In Engineering Department.

Street Commissioner Seems to be Settled On.

Mr. Barrow's Experience Is of Great Value.

The committee considering the re-organization of civic departments along lines suggested by Mayor Stewart had a preliminary canter last night, but, as some of the members were unable to be present, nothing was done more than to talk things over in an informal way. The heads of the departments interested City Engineer Barrow, Secretary Brennan, of the Board of Works, and Secre tary James, of the Fire and Water Com mittee, were present, at the Mayor's re quest, to answer any questions the aldermen might wish to ask. It was agreed to have another meeting shortly, when the members of the Board of Health will be asked to attend, and the matter of placing the garbage collection under th

Board of Works taken up. In the course of the discussion som enquiries were made about the duties of the present ward foremen and it looks as if the change contemplated will af fect them to some extent. A suggestion was made that the number of ward fore-men might be cut down from seven to four. Some of the members found fault because the foremen stood around watching the men work, and did nothing themselves but boss the job. Mayor Stewart pointed out that the by-law distinctly said the foremen were to assist with bad for the ratepayers to see them doing had for the ratepayers to as mothing.

If there is any move on foot to remove City Engineer Barrow it was not shown at the meeting last night. Ald. McLaren said that he considered Mr. Barrow's experience was worth to the city all the money the engineer was paid. An engineer with a good knowledge of electrical work, he thought, was needed. His idea, he explained, would be to get a first class man installed for several years before Mr. Barrow would be permitted to go.

Mr. Barrow related the numerous duties of his department, and the aldermen were almost of one mind in agreeing that it was impossible for him to look after everything as it should be done. Ald, McLaren thought there should be some better system of checking are the work and pointed out that ing up the work, and pointed out that the roads and sidewalks in many place the roads and sidewalks in many places were not the proper grade.

The Mayor was satisfied that all this would be overcome and a great saving made by the city if the Board of Works, Sewers and Waterworks construction departments were combined and a street commissioner appointed. Mr. Barrow heartily endorsed this.

The aldermen seemed to be a unit on the question of appointing a street commissioner, and it was agreed that, if Secretary Brennan was raised to this position, aldermanic interference would be cut out, and the matter of employing and discharging the men left with him, on the understanding that an appeal could be made to the committee at any time.

The committee seemed to think that the great advantage of combining these departments would be the saving made in keeping the roads in good condition, well constructed roads being frequently torn up at present to lay water mains, gas pipes and sewers.

Chairman Sweeney, Aldermen Lewis and Dickson were unable to attend the meeting, and Ald, Clark had to leave early. In view of this it was agreed to let matters stand for a week or so.

Mayor Stewart referred to there having been some dissatisfaction over him naming the committee, and said that if The committee seemed to think that

BARTON TENT.

Three Presentations at the Anniversary Entertaiment.

The members of Barton Tent, K. O T. M., and their friends held an at-home in Maccabee Hall, James street south, last evening in celebration of the 24th anniversary of the inception of the lodge. A very large crowd was in attendance. Sir Knight George Riach was chairman. The proceedings of the evening took the form of a banquet, musical and literary gaogramme, and a dance to music furnished by Prof. Linke's orchestra. Mr. W. M. McClemont, R. K., presented an interesting history of the tent from its inception to the present time, a period of twenty-four years, in which time he stated that this one tent alone had paid out to its members and their beneficiaries in Hamilton and the surrounding country for sickness, disabilities and death the anniversary of the inception of the lodge for sickness, disabilities and death the total sum of $139,105.51, and there stand to the credit of the general fund of the tent, after payment of all salaries, rents and expenses the sum of $1,000. Inspiring Addresses by Two Toronto Business Men.

A Committee Representing All Local Baptist Churches Appointed.

With a view to furthering the Laymen's Missionary movement in the Bap-tist churches of this city, a banquet was held in the Sunday school-room of the James Street Baptist Church last even-It was attended by about four hundred men, who evidenced a deep interest in the movement. Supper was served from 6.30 to 8.30 o'clock by the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, after which with Mr. Walter L. Morris as chairman, introduced the speakers of the evening. Mr. J. N. Shen onto, was the principal speaker, and he gave a powerful and convincing speech, which lasted over an hour. He dealt with the question of evangelizing world in the present generation, from the standpoint of the Christian business the standpoint of the Christian business man. He said in the past the missionary business has been left in the hunds of the women and considering their limited resources they did well. Now it is proposed to have the men, who have the money required, to take the matter up and answer the call of the heathen world to Christendom as it should be answered. He pointed out that the movement is to place the Gospel within reach o fevery man in the world; if they do not accept it, it is not the fault of the Christians. When the Christian people have done this, they have discharged one duty which is incumbent on them. Of course it is not expected that the world will be converted; conversion of the world will be converted; conversion of the world is something that is in God's power only, but the message of Christ must be earried by man to man. Every church should be a missionary society and every man in it a missionary society and every man in it a missionary that part of which has been left for the Baptist Missionary Society to evangelize. The Baptists, to carry out the plan haid out, will require to double their missionaries in the next five years, and to more than treble their givings. He asked the Baptist men to do four things in connection with the movement: To pray, to give, to study and to work. The more one prays for the salvation of the unsaved the more one will give, and the more the question is studied, the more will be the work done. Mr. S. J. Moore, Toronto, followed with a practical talk on systematic givings. He told of the decision of the Baptist churches in Toronto to help along the movement by greatly increased givings. Many people give a tenth of their income, while others do not feel that their givings no not really begin til lithey feel that the tenth belongs to the Lord anyway, and that only what they contribute over that amount is their own riving. man. Mr. S. R. Clarke, who is appearing on the defence for himself, announced at I o'clock. when an adjournment was ordered, that it would probably take him about two hours to finish his argument. The frequent crossing of swords between Chief Justice Meredith, who is trying the case, and Mr. Clarke again kept the proceedings decidedly interesting. The objection which his Lordship has had since the trial opened to Mr. Clarke appearing in his own defence came to a head when the lawyer was ordered to remove his gown while giving argument.

Members Would Make Trouble for Automobilists.

Toronto, Feb. 28.—It is anticipated by members of the Cabinet that prorogation of the Legislature will come before Easter. No doubt this will be the case if the same rapid rate of progress continues as has characterized the sittings of the last two days. Yesterday in about two and a half hours an exceptionally the last two days. Yesterday in about two and a half hours an exceptionally large amount of business was transacted. No fewer than three Government measures passed the committee stage, and progress was reported on another. In each of these bills there was debate over certain clauses, and in that particular one respecting members of the Legislative Assembly Mr. A. Studholme raised the question of deductions from the sessional indemnity, much to the amusement of the House.

Before the orders of the day were called. Premier Whitney said: "I desire to do what I do not often have occasion to do, namely, to endeavor to correct a report in a newspaper of observations made by me. Before the orders of the day were called Premier Whitney said: "I desire to do what I do not often have occasion to do, namely, to endeavor to correct a report in a newspaper of observations made by me. The Globe, no doubt inadvertently, leaves out the word "too," which makes all the possible difference in regard to my meaning. In the course of the interview with the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, one of the elergymen who spoke declared, in unmistakable language, that they were in politics' in this matter. Speaking a few minutes afterward, I said: 'All I can say is that the Government is. in polities too,' in reply to the clergyman, but the word 'too' was omitted, and it reads: 'All I can say is that the Government is in polities,' leaving the impression that polities,' leaving the impression that polities is the sole principle or idea on which we act on this question of the liquor license act. I think it only fair to myself to draw attention to this, beto myself to draw attention to this, be cause I am satisfied that it occurred in advertently, and they will correct it." When the House went into committee bill, Hon. A. G. MacKay pointed out that consider the controverted election bill, Hon. A. G. MacKay pointed out that there appeared to be some variance in the definition of the word candidate. Apparently, if a man were nominated by a convention he immediately became a candidate within the meaning of the bill. If, however, a man put himself forward independently he was not a candidate until the writ for the election was issued. As, under the bill, candidates suffered certain disabilities, he thought the definition should be made clear, and applicable to all.

Premier Whitney, however, did not see any ambiguity in the language, and the clause was passed and the bill reported. Hurtin' Bizness.

LEMIEUX CONCILIATION ACT A NATIONAL BENEFIT.

Statistics Showing the Working of the Measure Since It Came Into Existence-Over Thirty Thousand Men

Ottawa, Feb. 27,-A return presented the Commons to-day gives some iluminative statistics as to the bene-icial results of the industrial disputes investigation act passed last session. Since the passing of the act in March Since the passing of the act in March last there have been thirty references of labor disputes to Boards of Conciliation and Investigation appointed under the act. Of these eighteen referred to labor troubles in mines and sameters and eleven concerned transportation and communication companies. In the case of three of the total number of applications the disputes were stitled before the board had been finally constituted. Only one strike occurred in a case where a dispute had been dealt with by a board. There are still pending in connection with the various aping in connection with the various ap-plications four investigations. The total umber of men affected by the ful application of the act was no less than 30,642.

When it is considered that but for

When it is considered that but for the intervention of boards constituted under the act strikes would probably have resulted in almost every instance, the immense importance of the act to the general welfare of the country will readily be seen from the above striking figures.

According to the figures of the Labor Department, the total member of labor organizations formed in Canada during 1907 was 232, and of organizations desolved 55 being a net increase during the year of 174. Compared with the three preceding years, the returns show a marked increase in the activity of the organization. In 1906 the number of organizations formed was 154, and of organizations formed was 154, a min of organizations. the organization. In 1996 the number of organizations formed was 154, and of organizations dissolved 85, a gain of only 69. In 1995 there was a net base of two, the unions forming numbering 193, and unions dissolved 195. There was an increase of 44 in the number of unions during 1994. The employees of Brennen & Sons and the Hamilton Lumber Company held their annual theatre party night at Bennett's last night, and had a good time. The show was found to be in that vein which is calculated to arouse hearty laughter, and applause for the acts came in an unstinted and generous man-Quinlan and Mack, in "The Travelling Dentist," again annexed plenty of or, while O Hana San and company, in their elaborate series of tableaux on Japan, and Brown, Harris and Brown secured triumphs which might be envied by any act in vaudeville.

Keno, Welch and Melrose have a neat comedy acrobat act, Fentelle and Carr a talk on hoboes and a good song, Alsace talk on hoboes and a good song, Alsace a refined musical turm, and Rieif brotha refined musical turm, and Rieff brothers a dancing and singing offering. The motion pictures present a unique and dramatic film dealing with the discovery and capture of a forger. The bill for next week will include such well-known acts as Abel, Arden and company in the laughable triumph, "Three of a Kind," the Sisters O'Meers, wire performers, Melville and Higgins, singers and dancers, the Miles-Stoverdale quintette of musicians, Belman and Moore, depicting famous stage types, Ruby Raymond, with her pretty dancing boys, in a pleasing act, and Curtis, Palmer and company in the sketch, "Mama's Darling."

company in the sketch, "Mama's Darling."
Another good number will be the sketch, "Mama's Darling." The company which presents this, with Curtis and Palmer as the principals, is a most competent one, and has earned golden opinions in other places. The act has plenty of humor in it, which is dealt with refinement, and a half hour's solid anusement is guaranteed from it. The motion pictures are to be good, two films of exceptional interest having been received for exhibition.

The scenic investiture is said to be one seldom seen in popular priced attractions. The story of the play deals with the adventures of a couple and their child, who fall into the hands of an adventuress and her paramour, and the plot is so devised as to involve them in many exciting experiences which are not only thrilling, but ultra sensational. The introduction of plenty of good comedy and numerous specialties are said to further increase the attraction of the play.

At the Savoy.

Capacity business is practically assured at the Amateur Night performance at the Savoy this evening, the advance sale being the best since these entertainments were inaugurated. In addition to the mind reading act by a well known young man, and which promises to be an interesting feature, the management will provide a bill that will guarantee a good hour's entertainment in addition to the regular performance.

This week's show is undoubtedly one of the best all-round bills served up at the Marick street playhouse in a long time. Impo Fox, the elever conjurer and deceptionist, who has been delighting large crowds with his mystifying feat and the most baffling trick of all, The Box of Cagliostro, has an act in itself, which will justify a visit to the theatre. Rita Redmond, the dainty songstress, who has proved one of the hits of the week; James E. Henry and Dorothy Young's clever sketch, several other thoroughly enjoyable numbers, a special programme by the orchestra, and a complete change of pictures by the kinetograph are a combination that pelases in every particular.

One of next week's big attractions will be Alleni and his celebrated monkey. Peter the Great, an act credited with being a genuine comedy feature. The big attraction will be the concedy sketch presented by the Favor-Sinclair Company of five people, and staged with special scenery. Reserved seats are sold for the Saturday matinee performances.

The Grand was well filled last evening, when "Queen Zephra" was repeated. The show ran a good deal smother, and without any of the delays that are usual with amateur shows. All the principals were in excellent voice, and their songs were admirably sung. The show will be given again on Monday afternoon and night, and it is an assured fact that the theatre will be filled to capacity for both performances.

North Battleford Resident Thinks it is the Greatest Country in the World.

Meota, Battleford, Sask... Feb. 16, 1908. LeRoy Tobey, Esq., Hamilton Ont.:

Dear Roy,-In reply to your letter of Treasurer—Color-Sergt. Kidner.
Auditors—Ptes. Hall and MacFarlane. of the conditions that have prevailed here since last winter's bad winter and late spring, I shall endeavor to satisfy your curiosity as best I can.

The winter of 1907 was, according to the oldest settlers here, the coldest and the longest that they ever experienced, but as this unusual weather prevailed but as this unusual weather prevailed all over the world we cannot say that the West was worse off than other places. As far as the sleighing was concerned, it was excellent, especially in February, March and April.

Prospects looked pretty gloomy about the first of May, when there was still snow in places and no grain sown. The new emigrants coming in surely thought they had struck the North Pole that Nansen and others had been looking for. Many lost heart and returned, and they certainly did not encourage their friends to follow in their footsteps. Those who stayed deserved credit for their pluck. The old settlers did not all put in the land they had ready when May began to flit by and no prospects of getting crops line on settlers did not all put in the land they had ready when May began to fit by and no prospects of getting crops in. The first wheat sown in this district was May 7. I got mine in the 22nd to 25th May, and it ripened fine. It was put in on stubble, and yielded 22 bushels to the bushel. The barley was drilled on the 22nd of June, and still it ripened here, despite the cold, wet, miserable summer that we had.

*You know, Roy, that I have always had great confidence in this country. When I first came here, before I had grown a thing, I wrote to the papers prophesying a great future for this country and this district. It was ten miles from a railway then. I have been here five years now, and have experienced, I think, about all the varieties of weather that the West can dish up, and I can now say candidly that so far as my experience has been, the weather is grand.

There have been good crops every year, but nothing gave me more faith in this country than the crops I had last year.

When potatoes, grain and vegetables are grown as were grown this past year in the Battleford district, then I can say without fear of being contradicted that the chances of the crop here are just as good as any place on the face of the earth where nature rules. I am sending you samples of the wheat and oats I had this year, and as to the potatoes, they were grand. I took second prize at the seed fair, and could have carried off first had it not been so cold and I had such a distance to go Ontario people wil Ithink that, as the Ontario people wil Ithink that, as the Government has considered it necessary to supply the needy settlers with seed grain this year, that the Western provinces are not to be depended on. If they would take into consideration the fact that many parts of Ontario did not even grow fodder for their horses and cattle, they had severe frosts there in August, which did considerable damage to the crops. Again, the settlers "in Ontario have been there a life time, and should be far better prepared to stand a bad season than the beginners here. I can hear some uninformed pessimists in Ontario saying, "Why, the West could not even grow grain for seed this year." In this they are greatly mistaken, for the West will expect manmy millions of bushels of wheat this year, as she has been doing for some years back. It is more owing to the widespread tightness of the money market that necessitated the Government's coming to the assistance of the settlers. Everything is cash now. It handicaps the struggling beginner, not giving biin a chance to raise a crop to get on his feet. It is certainly a great blessing that the present scarcity of money did not strike this country in 1906, for then certainly would have been hard on many. As it was, nature has favored us with the Ontario people wil Ithink that, as the overnment has considered it necessary would have been hard on many. As it was, nature has favored us with the grandest open winter that could be wished wished.

If the spring of 1908 opens early the immigration will still continue to increase and the West will see another record year in increase in population; more land will be opened up, more sod turned over, each centre will receive its share of settlers, and the town or city will grow as they have been growing in the past. The closeness of the money market stopped speculating, and caused a mild panic amongst holders of real estate, who had bought much on the first payment plan. It has done a great deal of good in getting this sub-division down to a reasonable, sensible basis. It has been overdone in the past and has helped bake the confidence of Easterners in space the confidence of Easterners in all western speculation.

However, inside prosperity in any growing town along the main lines are as good as they ever were and offer opportunities for investment that are perfectly safe.

Can any reasonable man say that the growth of any of these centres that have been forging ahead is going to suddenly stop simply because of the present scarcity of money? In the past twelve years Hamilton has increased its population about 25 per cent., Edmonton 400 per cent., Montreal 33 per cent., Winnipeg 200 per cent., Toronto 30 per cent., Calgary 300 per cent., Ottawa 17 per cent., Saskatoon 5,000 per cent., Niagara Falls, 100 per cent., Regina 300 per cent.

Falls, 100 per cent., Regina 300 per cent.

Falls, 100 per cent., Regina 300 per cent.

Falls, 100 per cent., Regina 300 per cent. Falls, 100 per cent. Regina 300 per cent. few years, the growth of towns wi These are plain facts that ought to continue the most sceptic that the future of the west is assured. Three years ago North Battleford was not thought of; today it is a busy centre of 1,400 population. This spring they are erecting a large immigration hall there, and it is not to look at. It is to accommodate the great influx of new settlers that will make their distributing centre there. Many people on reaching North Battleford and taking a drive in the near-by country will wonder what keeps up the town when they see so much unoccupied land; but they do not take into consideration the fact that settlers come to North Battleford for supplies from 90 miles north. They are working now on a government trail from North Battleford.

All it needs is for the residents of North Battleford to Green Lake, over 100 miles north of here. North Battleford will be a distributing centre for a good many years yet, when it ceases to be a centre for seventre for a good many years yet, when it ceases to be a centre for the converse of the converse of the work of keeping this town before the public that it will continue to a good distributing centre for intending settlers. The Toronto Globe headed my letter last year "The Prophet who makes good," refering to my 1904 letters to that paper. My faith in this country agriculturally and commercially is as firm as ever. The only difference is that now I have better grounds for my predictions that the older districts will be filled up fast the older districts will be filled up the vacant land and settle to open up the land. There will be some big cities on the C. N. P. and the future will prove that I was right and I am right now when I predict a good centre at North Battleford.

All it needs is for the residents of North Battleford to be optimists and keep up the work of keeping this town before the public that it will continue the predictions of the proper of the vince the most sceptic that the future of North Battleford was not thought of; today it is a busy centre of 1,400 population. This spring they are erecting a large immigration hall there, and it is not to look at. It is to accommodate the great influx of new settlers that will make their distributing centre there.
Many people on reaching North Battleford and taking a drive in the near-by country will wonder what keeps up the town when they see so much unoccupied land; but they do not take into consideration the fact that settlers come to North Battleford for supplies from 90 miles north. They are working now on a government trail from North Battleford to Green Lake, over 100 miles north of here. North Battleford will be a distributing centre for a good many years was twenty the capeate of the accuracy for of here. North Battleford will be a dis-tributing centre for a good many years-yet; when it ceases to be a centre for settlers to trek from it will have become a railroad centre of some importance.

Last spring when I was writing to you and the papers home I said nothing but a national calamity or war can stop the growth of North Battleford, and the consequent increase in the price of real estate. I believe so now, and have good grounds for my belief. The contemplated public works, if they had been carried this past year, would have crippled any town with the money market of the world in the condition it was and is. All these improvements will be carried. All these improvements will be carried

All these improvements will be carried out, and three years will see inside property commanding prices that will show great profits to those who hold or buy now. In my opinion there are better chances for investment now than there ever was, for snaps can be picked up that could not be looked at at the price last spring. The prospects of North Battleford, Winnipeg, the entire west is better to-day than it ever was. Nothing can stem the tide that is flowing ever westward and northward.

It has stood and will stand all tests. Many think that the era of quick profits in real estate is past, but I do not think so, for if these towns continue to grow (what can prevent them?) then property will be in demand, and the owners will reap the benefits. You know what to North Battleford was like in 1905, Roy; well, if you come here now you wouldn't know the place. The first of the immigrants are beginning to arrive, for I met a couple the other day when in with a load of wheat, and they say that 1908 will witness the largest immigration from the Western States that has ever taken place. They are the settlers

THE OLD LAND

Many Interesting Happenings Reported From Great Britian.

Mr. John Morley, the Secretary for India, stood at the table of the House of Commons last Friday afternoon, and with the most courteous intonation fluing stinging phrases at those Radical members who supported Dr. Rutherfords' amendment to Indian Government in the direction of Indian self-government.

Dr. Rutherford, speaking in a high monotone, complained of "the contemptuous treatment of Indians by Europeans," "the hostile attitude of the Press," "the tyranny of the police," and other things.

"My honorable friend," said Mr. Morley suavely, as he pointed with his eye-glasses at Dr. Rutherford, "has said that he is in favor of an Imperial Duma. An Imperial Duma!" He repeated the words in a kind of dulcet scorn. "I believe my honorable friend has had the opportunity which I have not had of visiting India." A pause. "I believe he was there for six whole weeks." The musical tone of Mr. Morley did not disguise his scorn. The House laughed and Dr. Rutherford winced.

"It is not common sense," Mr. Morleys aid, "to talk of Imperial Dumas." Dr. Rutherford, after a six weeks visit to India, had gone over the whole ground of government of that great country, and he had declared that so-and-so must be done. "I should think," he said, "that I have had twenty ipse dixits from him. If my honorable friend will pardon me, I do not think I have anything to learn as to the principles, maxims, and practices of Liberal government from him.

GARDEN MIRACLE.

Professor Bottomley on Monday revealed a mystery which he has been nursing for many months. It has been generally held for nearly twenty years that the growth of plants depends largely on the presence of bacteria, some in the soil and some on the roots.

the roots.

They are of many sorts. The most mysterious group has the power of extracting free nitrogen from the air and transferring this essential substance to clovers, beans, and other leguminous plants. A special colony of these have ben under the microscope in King's College, London, for six months, and the first photograph was shown by Professor Bottomley on Monday.

on Monday.

Every man of sciences in the hall cheered the spectacle of these dots on the roots, for they revealed a new marvel. The bacteria, after years of inquiry, have been actually and visibly harnessed to a new work. Professor Bottomley is the first man to have attached these "nitrogen-fixers" to plants which are not leguminous. By watering the roots or seeds of tomatoes, strawberries, wheat, barley and oats with bacterial solution he has increased their growth by some has increased their growth by some thing like a third.

It is yet more important that the maturity is immediately accelerated. A gardener, as a result of using bacteria solution, has sold beans in Covent Garden six weeks after the seed was sown—an incident that sounds miraculous. ARMY TRACTION ENGINE THAT WALKS

The military authorities have just been testing at Aldershot a military traction engine of remarkable appearance and still more remarkable powers. It is a gigantic machine, almost grotesque in shape, invented by a young South African engineer, Mr. Henry George De Trafford Wright, son of a well-known Kimberley engineer.

The value of the machine to the army lies in its power of traversing the rough-e final and conclusive tests of Mr. The final and conclusive tests of Mr. Wright's engines were carried out a week ago in the Long Valley, Aldershot, when it performed several wonderful feats. It climbed hills at a gradient which would have proved too much for the ordinary traction engine, finally reaching a position on the crest in which disaster seemed inevitable. It crossed a deep ditch five or six feet in width, and manoeuvred with ease in its own length.

In all the machine weighs nearly 30 tons. The peculiarity of its appearance arises from the high, prow-like stem, resembling a steel lighter or barge on the Thames, surmounted by a business-like funnel; its caterpillar-like belts with the thirty-two feet; and its high cab, from which the running and stering of the engine are controlled.

A ride in the cab is an exciting experience. There is barely room for two men on the steel platform, 8 feet from the ground. One man holds the starting and stopping devers, the other the steering wheels. The monster starts easily, with a purring sound. It is remarkable how little noise it makes even at top speed. Over the sand at Aldershot it "walks" with deliberate ease, each great foot, 18 in. square, pressing downwards upon the soft soil. oot, 18 in. square, pressing downwards upon the soft soil.

At the crest a thrilling moment follows. Half the bulk is poised in mid-air. Should the crest be very steep, the whole of the monster may be balanced on two hind feet instead of on the eight normally on the ground. Then it comes down again, deliberately or swiftly, according to the speed, and begins to "walk" down the other side.

The whole idea came to Mr. Wright when he saw the unwieldy traction engines sent out to South Africa to pull Mrs. Rylands' benefactions to Manchester and other places were on a magnificent scale. As a memorial to her husband she erected at great cost the John Rylands Library in Manchester. A quarry in the lake district was almost exhausted in finding stone for the building. The interior is of particular beauty, but the contents are even more remarkable than the building.

It contains the most famous of all private collections, the Althorp Library of 40,000 volumes, acquired by Mrs. Rylands from Earl Spencer. It is said that before Mrs. Rylands purchased it an offer of £300,000 was received for it from America. Several months ago the workmen came upon a portion of the old Roman wall which ran originally round the city, and the remains have since been found to extend for about 400 feet at right angles to Newgate street. The rampart was about eight feet wide at the base and seven feet at the top, its depth being sixteen feet.

A large quantity of earthenware and other relies were found near the city wall, having, it is conjectured, been thrown on the rubbish heap as useless. Among a large number of coins (which have not yet been properly examined) there are several Roman ones.

That Miss Gully and her father were not passengers by the boat train which left Charing Cross Station on Saturday night has been definitely established. The travellers should have been three—Mr. Gully, who has clean-cut features and a generally distinguished appearance; a lady probably in charge of Miss Gully, and the missing girl, one of the chief features of whose attire her mother remembers to have been an unusually high pair of black buttoned boots.

SHALL CANADA BE A NATION ?

Discussion Over the Seal Fisheries in the Pacific.

Sir Wilfred Laurier Says We Have No Grievance.

Enlargement of the Railway Commission.

Ottawa, Feb. 27.- Dr. Thompson member for Yukon, roused the House from its lethargy to-night with speech full of strong comment upon the relations between Canada and the country. On motion to go into supply Mr. Sloan raised the question of pelagic sealing, and urged that steps should be taken to prevent the destruction of that industry by the operations particularly of the Japanese. Dr. Thompson followed with a survey of the diplomatic negotiations which had taken place between Great Britain and the United States in relation to Canada, and declared that the record was one of continuous and ignominious surrender of Canadian rights.

The House afterwards went into supply, and the Opposition continued their obstructive tactics.

At 2 o'clock the obstruction was still being continued, chiefly by Mr. Foster and Mr. Bennett, only three or four other Opposition members being in their seats.

Deportation of Two Japanese.

Mr. Monk called attention to a report that two Japanese immigrants had been deported from British Columbia, and asked how they got into the country in contravention of the recent order-in-Council, and under what law they had been deported, and by whom, and whether there was a system of immigra-tion inspection along the western border between Canada and the United States.

Mr. Oliver replied that up to the preprepared to enforce the order-in-Coun-cil at railway points. The order was passed with a view to meeting conditions at ports of landing, but the Government was now preparing to restrict and exclude Asiatic immigrants at railpoints on the border between Can-and the United States. The two referred to had been deported Japanese referred to had been deported under authority of the immigration official at Vancouver, who, finding them in the country in defiance of the exclusion order, called upon the railways, as they were entitled to do under the immigration act, to take the Japanese out, and they were taken out. Hitherto there had not been a system of in-charged that the latter was not keeping its agreement with the municipality, of which statments Hon. Mr. Graham took note.

Powers Are Very Large.

Hon. Mr. Graham said matters such as brought up by Mr. Lavigne were worthy of consideration. In answer to Mr. Henderson he again emphasized the point that the board could be divided so as to hold three sittings in different places at the same time. As to commutation tickets, he thought the broad powers held by the commission in regard to tolls of every description must be applicable to tolls for long or short journeys. The powers of the commission, he proceeded, had been declared by a legal gentleman of prominence to be greater than those of any court in the Dominion of Canada. The bill, which he hoped to introduce in a few days, embodied amendments shown to be necessary as a result of the working of the commission during the past few years. It might be better to give the opportunity for working the enlarged commission under the new measure than attempt to regard it as a panacea for all evils and overload it with work. He again outlined the reasons necessitating the increased membership of the commission. To some criticisms, he pointed out that members of the commission with legal training were necessary in order to be able properly to look. mission with legal training were neces-sary in order to be able properly to look after the public interests. Railway com-panies were always represented by the best legal talent obtainable.

After recess Mr. Stoan discussed the pelagic scaling question. In his opening remarks he claimed that for years Canadian fur scalers had been subjected to unfair restrictions, regulations and embarrasments, particularly by the United States. They had, how-ever, pursued their calling in the face of all the attempts to drive them off the Pacific. He went into historical details respecting the negotiations, first between Russia, Britain and the

Mr. Graham explained that a separate bill, giving a full explanation of the duties of the board, would be introduced.

Mr. Kemp asked what qualifications would be required in the case of the two new commissioners other than the assistant chief.

Mr. Graham—The qualifications will be such as to meet with the approval of all classes. The idea of the Government was to select two members who would be broad enough to view the questions that came before them from various sides, and to adjudicate in a way that would give general satisfaction.

Hon. John Haggart protested against the proposal to select a lawyer for the post of assistant chief commissioner. He thought the legal profession was well enough provided for already.

Mr. W. F. Maclean suggested the appointment of men with railway experience. He also thought some provision should be made to deal with railways in respect to commutation tickets. As matters stood now the railways took their own course in this matter, and did not continue to occupy. The time bade come when they should have a navy of their own; not a great navy, but the function of a larger through of their own; not a great navy, but the function of allower provision of subservines which Canadians could not continue to occupy. Dr. Thompson (Yukon), Messrs. Lefurgey, Kemp, Lewis, Marshall and Hon. John Haggart made various suggestions respecting the measure.

Mr. Bennett wanted to know if there would be a clause in the bill making members of Parliament or of the Senate, or gentlemen who had sat in either House during the past two years, incligible for membership.

Hom. Mr. Graham answered in the negative.

Mr. Martin wanted the Intercolonial placed under the jurisdiction of the Railway Board.

Mr. Claude Macdonell suggested to the Minister that in selecting the new commissioners he should endeavor to appoint one who was in touch with rails system which would be satisfiactory to appoint one who was in touch with rails system which would be satisfiactory to system which would be satisfiactory to system which would be satisfiant to the past, as system which would be satisfiactory to system which would be satisfactory to ommissioners he should endeavor to ap-oint one who was in touch with rail-raymen.

Mr. Owen did not agree that a railway wheet should be amointed. What was Mr. Owen did not agree that a railway expert should be appointed. What was wanted was a good business man.

Mr. Kemp, Mr. Reid, Mr. Christie and Mr. Lancaster took part in the discussion.

The resolution was carried, and a bill in similar terms introduced and read a first time.

The Sealing Question.

After recess Mr. Sloan discussed the pelagic sealing question. In his opening remarks he claimed that for years Canadian fur sealers had been subjected to unfair restrictions, regulations and embarrasments, particularly by the United States. They had, however, pursued their calling in the face that the states of the present any observation at that movely the United States. give another exposition of their ob-struction tactics. The estimates of the Marine and Fisheries Department were under review, and Mr. Foster and his colleagues demanded a num-ber of returns. Same of ber of returns. Some of these they were told were before them. Then they demanded a report regarding the cost of establishing a new accounting cost of establishing a new accounting system in the department, intimating they were not prepared to allow the items to pass until they got it.

Mr. Foster accused Mr. Brodeur of extravagance both as Speaker and Minister.

Mr. Brodeur answered that Hon.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur answered that when Mr. Foster stated that he had been in the habit of taking money from the public chest and using it fc. his own purposes, and had been obliged to refund part of it, he was stating what was absolutely incorrect. It was a charge that was unworthy of the member for North Toronto. He explained once again matters regarding his travelling expenses that had been referred to, and added that in his opinion when a Minister went abroad to represent his country he should be able to represent it worthily. Mr. Foster was trying to make it appear that a question merely of bookkeeping was a dishonest act.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier in a few words

Nearly all our little ills come through inactive bowels. Those days that you lose because you don't feel right-Cascarets will save them all.

In the old days, physic was dreadful - calomel, castor oil, salts or And they were worse than they seemed, for they irritated the stomach and bowels.

They acted much as pepper acts in the nostrils. They flooded the bowels with fluids. But those fluids were digestive juices. And a waste today means a lack tomorrow.

You secured relief, but you were actually worse off than without it.

It's different with Cascarets. Their effect is the same as that of laxative foods, or of exercise. They stimulate the bowels to natural action. No griping, no irritation. They act as a bowel tonic.

The old way, too, was to take large doses of physic. People waited until the bowels were clogged.

The new way is to take one Cascaret when you need it. Carry the box in your pocket or purse.

Ward off the troubles instantly.

The modern plan is to keep at your best. The old way wasted too

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—Sixty-five marines passed through Ottawa yesterday on their way back from Esquimalt to England. During their long rail journey the men were well treated by the British Government. They had a colonist car to themselves, and were given three meals a day in the dining car. The Government allowed every one his choice of spirits, beer or mineral water with his meals; but throughout the long trip, which is sometimes garded as an excuse for copious libations, only twenty-three needed alcoholic stimulant.

Everybody—almost—will want to know the possibilities of a happy and profitable living on a single acre of irrigated land, and in the March Century is told the interesting and suggestive story of what one man—a broken-down city worker—is accomplishing in Washington. In this issue, too, Andrew Carnegie writes of "My Experiences with Railway Rates and Rebates," and Henry B. Hersey, United States Weather Bureau Inspector, describes enthusiastically his "Experiences in the Sky." Of rarely unusual biographical interest are the account of "The Latest Work of Angustus Saint-Gaudens," by his son, and the second of Helen Keller's essays, "Sense and Sensibility," even more of a revelation of the defent of the compared to the five years in penitentiary to-day by Judge Choquet. STRATFORD MIDGETS WON.

Stratford, Ont., Feb. 28.— Stratford Midgets smothered St. Michael's under the score of 21 to 4 last night, and have yirtually won the junior O. H. A. honors, as it is highly improbable that St. Michael's will pull down the huge lead in the second game in Toronto next Tuesday. The Midgets had entire command throughout the game and never lost control. Bulger was the only dangerous man on the visitors' team. Frank Rankin was the star of the local outfit, while Dunbar was also well in the limelight. The game was rough throughout, close, hard checking and plenty of tripping being indulged in. Referee Sport Smith had the players well in charge, and handed out penalties frequently in his efforts to keep the game clean. Both Preston and Frank Rankin were hurt, the former being struck with the puck, while the latter was heavily cross-checked by Dissette, who was given five minutes' rest.

Wismer wore a cut across his forchead. For Guelet, Grod showed up above the others. Onelett being the only now who was not up to the fast game played.

New York, Feb. 27.—Prof. Mike Donovan, one-time champion pugilist, has no sympathy with the mer who are trying to make out that President Roosevelt is not a good one with the boxing gloves.

Although some persons may dispute the right of President Roosevelt to claim the boxing championship of his class in Harvard, nobody can make Prof. Donovan believe that the energetic executive is not in a class by himself at the present time. And Mike ought to know, because he has put the gloves on with the president 23 times. And to quote the jovial Prof. Mike:

"I was nearly all in every time. The president can stand more violent exercise than the average athlete and when it comes to using his fists—well, I for one, will never take any chances with him. Every blow he lands hurts.

accident through which Herbert Lovepoymet his death in Victoria Park last spring. He was a member of the High-landers' Bugle Band.)

She said that she believed that she was doing a good work, and that she mindly believed herself what she told otners. Cross-examined by Mr. Washington, she said that she saw spirits in the court room at the time. 'Ask the spirits what judgment I'm going to give, said this Worship, with a grim saille.

"You believe that you help to uplift mankind by your work, don't you?" asked Mr. washington.
"Yes," replied the defendant.
"In what way?" asked the Crown Attorney. "If there is going to be any uplifting done we want to know how, and we will have the whole police force uplifted." Ars. Heckingbottom could not explain the unifiting to a law mind. uplifted." Ars. Heckingbottom could not explain the uplifting to a lay mind, nowever, and the police force goes unplifted.

Mr. Washington asked her if she was friend of the Mondingo Prince, the Illen prince or the Black Art, and she two a negative reply, but admitted that we had caused on team for a reading. She of a telegram from Buffalo stating that the A. A. U. had declined his entry. Mr. Bowron is one of the cleanest of amateur runners, and can think of no reason why his entry should be refused except that it was sent in with that of Tom Coley, which has also been refused. Coming at the very last minute, Lovejoy of the danger to her son, and it was that lady's fault if she did noth-Ing to prevent the accident.

Her husband, James Henry Heckingbottom, a long, lean individual, with a cool air, took the stand next, and corroborated his wife's testimony. "It is a new religion, the same, many others, and a profound philesomy," he said, speaking of his belief. This was all the evidence that was put in.

Mr. Schelter then outlined the defence in a long and pithy speech. The gist of it was that the woman was not guilty of the charge, as she believed firmly in her own powers, and that she was a spiritualistic medium. She believes that she communed with spirits and that she was able to tell people messages received from the departed ones.

The Magistrate showed what he thought of her belief by remarking: "It is preying upon the minds of ignorant people, women and girls, who have had a weakness for hearing their future outlined since the world began, It is as prominent in them as the gambling spirit is in man. These people take their money and give them no equivalent. They cannot tell anything that will happen in the future; it's all non-sense; it is ridiculous, and in many cases it has been exfuture; it's all nonsense; it is ridicu lous, and in many cases it has been ex lous, and in many cases it has been exposed again and again. There is no such thing as uplifting humanity by this means. Without any word of mediumism, she pretended to tell this man's future, and took his money for doing so. No person has ever been able to do this and no one ever will, and it's a blessing they can't."

Mr. Schelter interrupted his Worship to show him the net under which it was

mr. Schelter interrupted his Worship to show him the act under which it was being tried. Section 443—"Every one is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to one year's imprisonment who pretends to one year's imprisonment who pretends to exercise or use any kind of witchcraft, sorcery, enchantment or conjuration, or undertakes to tell fortunes, or pretends from his skill or knowledge in any occult or crafty science, to discover. He held that his client must have been proven to have pretended to exercise a power of fortune telling which was not hers, before she was guilty of the offence. His Worship pointed out that the latter part of the section only affected her, and that she pretended from skill to practice her arts.

"I find her guilty of practicing fortune telling under the guise of being a spiritualistic medium, knowing that this belief has a hold in the community." He stated that the mere act of practicing fortune telling showed intent, as was the ruling in the cases in Toronto some time ago, and there need not be a show of actual pretence. Mr. Schelter then asked that his client be allowed to go if the sundertook to cut out fortune telling, but the Magistrate imposed a fine of $50, which he said would not be collected till next Friday. This gives Mrs. Heckingbottom a week to get out of town, and the authorities would sooner get rid of her than get the money.

Mitchell is a convincing and enthus; iastic speaker and an earnest worker. Before closing his remarks last evening, he called Gro. Geo. Clark, C. R. of Court Pinehurst, to the stage, and on behalf of the Sunreme Court presented a cheque for $50 as a token of appreciation of the work of Bro. Clark and the members of the court in being successful in securing so many new candidates, under the rules of the contest, during October, November and December last. Bro. Clark made a suitable reply, and intimated that every effort would be put forth to increase the membership of the court, which now numbers one hundred and lifteen.

Bro. Wm. Mitchell, P. C. R. of Court Freestone, Grimsby, and Mayor of that town, was another speaker, whilst Bros. Dr. Crawford, P. H. C., of this city, and J. M. Paterson, Chairman of the Hamilton District Committee, also delivered addresses.

Bro. J. W. Hulse, of Court Oronhyatekha, presided at the piano, and sang several comic songs. So also did Bro. Joe Ross, of Court Amity, Refreshments in abundance were daintily served by two competent lady eaterers. The Hamilton contingent arrived home at 11.30.

Woodstock, Ont., Feb. 28.—Special.)-Leonard Coutts, of London, Grand Trunk engineer, thirty-five THE BODY AND HE WAS AFRAID. years old and unmarried, was instantly killed in the yards here last night by the west-bound passenger train and terribly mangled. His remains, frozen stiff, were found by section men early this morning. They were picked up dertaker's. An inquest will be held. Coutts' run was from Sarnia to Fort Erie. Yesterday when westbound at Woodstock his engine gave out. He was ordered to go on to London with his engine tacked on to another freight. In the evening he was working at his engine when the passenger train went out, and apparently he was struck by its engine and instantly killed, as the freight with which he was to go left immediately afterwards, his absence apparently not being noticed. Coutts had been with the road six years.

Under Arrest—Dead Man Said to ON ALTERED CLAUSE Have Been Leader of the Forty

New York, Feb. 28.—In a desperate battle with four men, who attempted to rob bim as he was about to close his saloon in East 24th street early to-day. Thomas Craven shot one of the robbers dead and put the others to flight. Then, fearing the killing might mean a long term of imprisonment for him, Craven concealed the body of the dead robber in a hallway outside the saloon and hurried to his home, without notifying the police. When the officers took him into custody less than an hour later he at first denied all knowledge of the killing, but finally made his full statement. The three men who escaped from the saloon after their companion had been killed are also under arrest.

The man who was killed was known only as "Sear" Reilly. Those who were inter arrested gave their names as John Kenny, Frank Reilly and Albert Dobson. Reilly is said to have been the leader of a gang known to the police as "the forty theves," the members of which are believed to have been responsible for much crime on the cast side.

WILL ASK HIS RESIGNATION

If Reorganization is to be Gone on With

In Order That City May Have Free Hand.

Old Kramer-Irwin Case In Court Again.

City Engineer Barrow is to be asked so as to give the aldermen a free hand, if the reorganiza tion of civic departments, which is being considered by a special committee, is de cided upon, and that seems probable The reorganization proposition is a live topic in municipal circles these days, and conjecture is rife as to the course the mittee will map out. members of the Council are said to be almost unanimous in the opinion that Mr. Barrow should be retained for some years on account of his experience. It is pretty sure that if he does stay it will not be as city engineer. The concensus of opinion among the aldermen is that nothing should be done in a hurry. Ald. Nicholson declared this morning that he would not favor any drastic action. Ald. Lewis, who is a member of the special committee that is dealing with the matter, thinks it would take four months' careful investigation on the part of the aldermen before they would be in a position to say what was wanted. The aldermen are pretty well agreed that Hamilton requires an engineer with a thorough Mr. Barrow should be retained for some requires an engineer with a thorough knowledge of electrical work, and they expect that the new man's salary will not be less than $4,000 a year.

The dispute over certain questions of law in the suit of the city of Hamilton vs. Hamilton Street Railway Company will be threshed out on Monday. This is the old Kramer-Irwin matter. The Street Railway Company claims that it was never billed or notified by the city that it would be held liable for any of the repairs. If the city is bowled out on this point it will be unable to proceed with the suit.

Superintendent Fisher of the T. H & B., has agreed to accept $20 from the city and have his company make re-pairs to the sewer under the tracks at the corner of Hunter and James streets, which is said to have been damaged as a result of the heavy engines passing over it.

It is possible that the city and the T. H. & B. may come to terms over the proposed overhead bridge on Garth street. Hamilton is now making application to the Dominion Board for an order compelling the company to erect the bridge. The company is willing, it is said, to pay a share of the cost and is satisfied that if the matter goes before the board the city will get stuck.

Building permits were granted to F. Rastrick & Son this morning for alterations and additions to houses at the corner of Robert and Hughson streets, to cost $1.700, and for two brick houses on Hughson street, between Robert and Barton, to cost $3,800. The owner is James Hugrison.

The City Hall elevator is out of business to-day, and Chairman Nicholson says it may be Monday before it will be in operation again. The old cables are beginning to fray. It will likely cost $40 to fix it up.

A JOLLY OUTING.

A party of young people from Stoney Creek attended Bennett's Theatre on Wednesday night in a body. The party drove into the city in a sleigh. The excellent show, together with the beautiff night, combined to make it an outing to be remembered for a long time. After the show the merry party repaired to the Oriental and did full justice to the dinner provided for them. Everyone returned home in the best of spirits, and the outing was voted by all the best yet. The thanks of all were tendered to Jack Corman, to whom the credit for the outing is due.

Montreal, Fcb. 28.—Following the car nival of Italian crime in the city, word has been received of an outbreak at Baie du Fevre, which nearly resulted in a lynching. As it was, three French-Canadians were injured. The people of the neighborhood were greatly excited. An Italian foreman of some construc-tion work going on at that place, not tion work going on at that place, not far from Serle, wanted to marry a girl named Lemire, but was rejected. In the course of his argument he shot at the girl three times, fracturing her arm with one shot, and also shot her father, who rushed to the rescue, and wounded the girl's brother with a stiletto. He was finally disarmed and taken to jail at Sorel.

Who Was Doped and Robbed In Detroit.

Edward Chilcott, who lies dead in De troit as a result of being doped, and robbed of all the money he had, is a robbed of all the money he had, is a Hamilton man, and was here for some time with the troupe of Royal English Gypsies who were stationed west of the city last spring, telling fortunes and working magic. Last summer he was at the Mountain View Park with the mule "Maud," a ball throwing device. He was a tall, dark man, with a brown mustache, and will be remembered by many. He travelled with fall fairs all over the country, and made money in many different ways.

He was a son-in-law of a fortune-teller named Mrs. Young, who practices in Toronto, having married her daughter some time ago. The family originally came from England, and were wealthy.
