Parcels for Nfld. Forces Overseas.

- Parcels must not exceed 11 lbs. in weight.
- Parcels addressed to members of the Newfoundland Forces Overseas should bear the name and address of a second addressee to whom the parcels may be delivered or forwarded if it should prove impossible to deliver the first. The original address should be written on the FRONT of the parcel where the postage stamps and Customs declaration are affixed, and the second or alternative address should be written on the BACK of the parcel.
- If a second address is not furnished at the time of posting, and delivery cannot be effected, the contents of the parcel, unless of exceptional value or of a personal nature, will be turned over to the Military Authorities for distribution.
- Parcels containing articles of a personal nature or of special value will be returned, if a request for their return in case of non-delivery is made by the sender, such request to be written on the cover of the parcel at the time of posting.
- This plan is being adopted at the suggestion of the British Post Office, which states that the present procedure of holding undeliverable parcels at the Dead Letter Office until instructions are received as to their disposal is resulting in the waste of a large quantity of perishable foodstuffs, which form the contents of 90 per cent. of parcels addressed to soldiers.

The Sound of Wedding Bells

Won After Great Perseverance!

CHAPTER XXXVI
 But he comes in with a smile, and it is only Dulcie who notices how hard and drawn his handsome face looks, and the heavy lines under the blue eyes which usually shine brightly.
 "Am I late?" he says; and though he speaks cheerfully enough, Dulcie's quick ears detect the effort which it costs him.
 Then he stops and looks at her, and a sudden light flashes into his eyes as he goes up to her and bends over her, but suddenly he stops, just as he is about to kiss her, and lets his hand fall on her shoulder instead.
 "My colors!" he says, in a voice lower than before; "that was kind and thoughtful, Dulcie! Very kind!"
 "Do you like the—the dress?" she says, tenderly smiling up at him.
 "It is perfect," he says; "but then I should think any dress you wore perfect. And how quiet you have kept it!"
 "All women are arful, my boy, the best of 'em," chuckles the earl. "Come on, and begin your breakfast; you can admire her while you're eating, as I am doing," and he cuts a huge slice of ham for Archie as a beginning.
 Archie takes it and tries to eat, talking the while as lightly and unconsciously as he can; but the attempt is a failure, and his eating is a mere make-believe.
 "You don't get on this morning, Archie," says her ladyship, anxiously. "You surely are not nervous and upset over this stupid race?"
 "The race!" he says, almost with a start. "No, not at all. I think I'll try an egg."

"Are you going down to the stables this morning?" asks the earl. "I—ahem!—I just looked in there for a few minutes. Horse is all right. They tell me that there will be quite a rush—a mob, by jingo!—at the course. We mustn't be late, my boy. How will you go over?"
 "He'll come with us in the barouche," says her ladyship.
 "Yes, I'll come with you," assents Archie, absently. "No, I shan't go down to the stables this morning. It will only make them fidgety. By this time, too, the Cricket won't be in the stables, but on the course."
 The earl stares at him. What has come to the boy? he wonders. All the life and eagerness seem to have evaporated suddenly.
 "I tell you what you want, my lad!" he says, getting up. "You want a glass of milk and rum, and I'll mix it for you myself."
 But Archie stops him with a laugh. "No, thanks!" he says. "I am all right. I haven't much appetite, but perhaps—and he smiles rather more easily—"that is due to excitement."
 "Well, we mean to win, you know," says the earl, sturdily. "We must win!"
 "We will!" says Archie, as he gets up, but he says so without the old enthusiastic confidence.
 "We'd better get ready, my dear," says the old lady, rising; and as Dulcie follows her out of the room, she whispers:
 "What is the matter with him, dear? He looks quite pale and worn, poor boy!"
 Dulcie shakes her head, and her dark brows join in a straight line as is their wont when she is troubled or moved.
 "Never mind; don't let him see that we notice it," says the old lady, with true womanly tact, "or it will make him worse. It is all the excitement of this horrible racing."
 Archie strolls out on to the terrace and lights a cigarette. As he does so, he holds out his hand, and eyes it almost stertly.
 "No trembling!" he said, shaking his head. "Let me forget everything for a few hours! I must go through with this. It was the sight of her in the blue and white that unnerved me. Oh, my darling, my beautiful darling!"
 The carriage comes up, and they get in. There is a bit of blue-and-white ribbon on the coachman and footman's coats, and they eye the help of the day with a curious and worshipping glance.
 The earl is all excitement, and fidgets about in the carriage, perpetually, turning round to bid the coachman hurry "those confounded slugs" along, which is not an easy task, as the road is still rather crowded; and hats fly off in greetings to the two ladies, and many a smile is shot at the tall golden-haired Archie from the bright eyes of exquisitely dressed ladies.

 "Quite a grand affair, 'pon my word!" says the earl, smiling. "We must win, Archie, my boy!"
 "Pray be quiet!" says her ladyship. "Do you think he means to lose?"
 And Archie, sitting opposite Dulcie, his eyes drinking in her beauty, says nothing.
 "To-day I lose her," he thinks, "and what matters it what else I win?"
 At last "the slugs" turn on to the greensward, and the crowd comes in view.
 A party of scouts has been on the lookout for the Brookley carriage, and as it comes in sight they announce the fact by a loud and hearty cheer, and stentorian cries of:
 "Bravo, Sir Archie! Hope your honor's well! Ten to one on the Cricket! Long life to you, sir, and may you pass the post first and the rest nowhere!"
 Archie smiles and raises his hat, carelessly enough, but the earl flushes up as he raises his hat and Dulcie's cheeks are fair white and then red with excitement.
 "I wish I hadn't come!" grumbles the old lady, "I know I shall be ill; but there is a smile of pleasant gratification in her eyes all the same."
 The carriage sets them down at the grand stand, and they are immediately surrounded by a crowd of friends eager to welcome them.

Deceived AND Disowned True as Steel!

PROLOGUE.
OVER THE BAR.
 Accordingly, Wynter now laid his hand gently on the child's bruised shoulders. He awoke instantly, looking up with a glance of fear, as if expectant of a blow; at which Wynter's eyes gleamed savagely. He nodded reassuringly as he said:
 "It's all right, laddie, you're quite safe."
 The child eyed him gravely.
 "Yes," he said, "while I'm with you, let me stay with you, will you?"
 Wynter looked at him in silence.
 "It's a hard life," he said, "and not fit for a young gentleman like you."
 "I don't mind," said the boy earnestly. "No one could be crueler to me than Uncle John—I'll work as hard as you want me to, if I may only stay."
 Wynter nodded.

"So be it," he said. "But I shall have to change your appearance, or we shall all find ourselves in prison, and you'll be taken back."
 "Oh, make haste and do it, then," said the boy, in an agony of impatience.
 "Cut off your curls and brown your face?"
 "Yes, yes; only make haste before he comes back."
 Wynter's eyes gleamed again as he thought of what the child must have suffered, and he quickly bent himself to his task. Half an hour later, the pair returned, hand in hand, to the circle round the fire. There was a shout of surprise at the boy's appearance. The golden curls were gone, the short hair was brown and disheveled; gone also was the pale complexion, for Wynter had stained the face, neck, and arms with brown.
 "Fetch Reuben Wynter a bowl and spoon," he said to the assembled company; and thus, by this introduction, Ernest Verner, owner of the Grange and an income of many thousands of pounds, became "Wynter, the younger."
 Childhood is as wax to take impressions—it learns quickly, and, fortunately, forgets quickly also. Some few months later, Reuben might have spent his life at horse riding, so expert was he in the management of horses. The little company had decided to make a circus at the fair at Wedbury; and Wynter had been busy teaching Reuben how to drive, and ride bare-backed, as well as some easy conjuring tricks. He had also painted new scenery on the sides of the caravan, while the women had made new dresses for the performers.
 On the day of the fair, Reuben—in the role of "The Child Conjurer"—stood by the side of Mr. Hick, now dressed as a clown, who was endeavoring to entice the crowd into the booth.
 "Walk up, walk up, and see the finest horse riding the world can produce—walk up and see fifty trained horses and twenty real gold chariots. Walk up and see the infant prodigy, Riend, drive four horses abreast. Walk up, walk up!"
 Then there followed the crashing of the gongs and the deafening sound of the brass band.
 Half dazed by the sights and sounds Reuben went on with his conjuring, till stopped by a sudden confusion. A carriage was being driven through the crowded fair, and in it were seated a gentleman and a little girl. The latter leaned forward excitedly, as pleased with the gay scene as any of the other children. The two were evidently well known, as many of the throng raised their hats. The gentleman acknowledged the greetings with a pleasant smile.
 As the carriage passed the circus, the little girl exclaimed:
 "Father, dear, do look at that nice little boy throwing up the balls. Oh, do let us stop!"
 "I can't do so now, Olive," was the reply, "but I will take you to the circus to-night."
 As the time of the evening entertainment drew near, Wynter became fidgety and nervous; he had grown very fond of the boy, and feared that Reuben would be too tired after the morning performance to go through it again at night; but the boy, with the confidence of youth, laughed his fears away.
 At night, the seats around the circus grew fuller and fuller, till Wynter was more than satisfied. After several of the little troupe had played their parts, Wynter summoned Reuben—the "young Riend," as he was termed—and when the slight, graceful figure appeared, a shout of applause rose from the crowd.
 With a graceful bow, Reuben entered the circus ring, while the five horses, which he was to drive bare-backed, were introduced. At a signal from Wynter, he sprang upon the middle horse, driving the other four in front of him. Round and round the ring he went, so gracefully that roar after roar of applause came from the audience; then he prepared himself for the last effort—that of guiding all five abreast and taking them at a leap over the high bar—and gathered up the reins.

GERMANS SUFFER HEAVY LOSSES
HALIFAX, Dec. 4.
A cable to-day says the British inflicted the heaviest losses of the war on the Germans in the past two days' fighting. They moved them down as though with scythes. All Austria-Hungary is crying for peace.
Rioting is taking place and thousands have been killed.

HAIG'S REPORT.

LONDON, Dec. 4.
The report from Field Marshal
Haig says: During the day concentrations of hostile infantry east of Gouzeaucourt and in the neighborhood of Moeuvres were broken up by our artillery, before any attack could develop. Enemy artillery has been active in the neighborhood of La Vacquerie, and there has also been considerable hostile artillery activity
north of Arras, southeast of Ypres and in Passchendaele sector.

THE U. S. DECLARES WAR UPON AUSTRIA-HUNGARY.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.
President Wilson to-day called upon Congress to declare a state of war against Austria-Hungary, pledging America to a war to victory, and declaring that nothing shall turn us aside. He asked that Austria-Hungary be formally listed among America's enemies to remove this "embarrassing obstacle that stands in our way." In ringing, definite terms the President declared Germany must be beaten. All talk of peace, he pronounced out of the question. "Our present and immediate task is to win the war, and nothing shall turn us aside from it until it is accomplished. Every power and every resource we possess," the President said,
"whether of men or money or of materials is being devoted and will continue to be devoted to that purpose until it is achieved. Those who desire to bring peace about before that purpose is achieved, I counsel to carry their advice elsewhere. Any peace that America will make must include the delivery of the peoples of Austro-Hungary, Turkey and the Balkans, as well as Northern France and Belgium
from Prussian domination," he said.
The President suggested remedial legislation to meet the railroad and food price situation; the latter, he said, was based on "selfishness" at present rather than on the law of supply and demand. He urged legislation for the full use of the natural resources and water-power of the country, more drastic laws to punish alien enemies, and an amendment to include women as well as men under the Alien Enemy Act. The President suggested that instead of confining enemy aliens in comfortable internment camps they be put in penitentiaries, where they can be made to work as other criminals do.

THE LATEST ATTACK THE GREAT- EST.

LONDON, Dec. 4.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).
Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France reports the latest attack in the Cambrai region as one of the greatest the Germans have yet launched on the Western front.
The only battle comparable with it was the second battle of Ypres. It is estimated that twenty German divisions were thrown in against two British divisions, which even at the diminished strength of the German divisions now would mean at least 200, 000 infantry.

A MORE DIFFICULT TASK.

With the British Army in France,
Dec. 4. (By the Associated Press).
That Field Marshal Haig prevented
the Germans from breaking through his lines on the Cambrai front more than accounts for the small gains
which the enemy hosts achieved yesterday at terrible costs in life. It means that yesterday's critical period has been successfully passed, and that for a second time in four days, Field Marshal Haig thwarted what is believed to have been a German attempt to duplicate the German-Austro-Hungarian performance in Italy. The Germans were collected from the eastern theatre and various parts of the German lines in the West. At La Vacquerie the enemy fought his way through the town and one party penetrated for some hundred yards into British territory. This was the extreme gain. The attacking forces secured a very narrow strip of ground
a little north and south of La Vacquerie, but the British clung grimly,
to the high ground north of this place.
The British commander voluntarily pulled back his line to the west and southwest of Masnières to make it firmer. This morning the British line was near the western part of Marcoing Copse; but included Marcoing.
A small triangular piece of territory, therefore has been sacrificed
by the British. Since eight o'clock last night the line had remained unchanged. The heavy concentration of German guns east of Gouzeaucourt suffered greatly by the excellent British counter-battery work. Things appeared much brighter in the British camp this morning. The battle probably has not yet run its course, but the defenders from now on will be in much better shape to handle the situation.

ENEMY CONCENTRATING ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.
Italian aviators report heavy concentration of Austro-German divisions behind the lines of the invaders,
and an official despatch to-day from Rome expresses the opinion that the exceptionally mild weather may induce the German high command to attempt a new offensive in the mountainous region, having for its object
the invasion of the plain between Vi-cenza and Verona.

PREPARING NEW MOVE.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Dec. 3. (By the Associated Press).—Enemy activity is now taking the form of demonstrations by artillery, followed by infantry demonstrations. The preparatory gunfire is not so concentrated a character as that usually preceding determined assaults. These demonstrations are either intended to mask movements at other points or are in motion in the process of feeling the way for the best opening along the Piave and the northern Italian line. The enemy movements are being put into effect principally on the Upper Piave where the River passes the lead between Monte Montefenero and Montello to the Venetian Plain, and on the Middle Piave where the enemy continues very active in constructing bridges to the middle ground of Grave de Papa-dolo an island lying in mid-stream,
which affords him a sort of half-way station. The pressure at the former point is on the northern mountain line, while the operation at the island is directed at the eastern river line.
The Monte Montefenero-Montello section demands special attention for the indications are that this is where the enemy is placing his chief dependance upon making his final drive
before the Allied reinforcements arrive. In the Middle Piave sector, where the bridging attempt is in progress, the enemy has already constructed eleven bridges to the middle ground of Grave de Papadolo. This is not considered a serious menace, as the island is still separated from the west bank of the river by a channel
as wide as most of the main streams.
Similar enemy attempts at bridging
are in progress on the Lower Piave,
where pontoon structures are set up daily and shelled down by Italian land and naval batteries. Here, also,
the bridges are not considered seriously to menace the Italian line even if they could stand up against the Italian fire, as they lead to the light-detected triangle and are fronted by the additional barrier of the old bed of the Piave River separating the enemy

from the Italian lines on the west bank. These demonstrations are being closely observed, as they are likely to show before long what the enemy purposes doing before the winter sets in.

CONFERENCE RESULTS.

PARIS, Dec. 4.
The Foreign Office officially announced to-day that at the recent inter-Allied Conference, in which the United States participated, agreements were concluded upon the basis of a complete understanding and close solidarity among the Allies for the solution of the questions in which they have a common interest in the war. The announcement regarding the results of the conference was made in the following official statement: "The Minister of Foreign Af-airs reported to the credit council to-day the results of the Conference of the Allies. The reading of communications from the Presidents of each section of the Allied conference at which the United States was represented for the first time, and the representatives of all the countries taking part with us in this war, has given felicitous results. From every point of view they give assurance of practical unity of action, economical, financial and military. The agreement have been concluded upon the basis of a complete understanding and close solidarity among the Allies for the solution of the questions in which they have a common interest in the war. The financial needs of each of them, the requirements of their armament, and their transport, their food, have been the subject of profound study which guarantees perfect satisfaction. The creation of a supreme inter-Allied naval committee has been determined upon.
Military unity of action has been placed upon the course of certain realizations by the inter-Allied General Staff, which is at work upon an established programme of all military questions. From a diplomatic point of view entire accord resulted from the discussions among the representatives of the Powers upon all business which has been arranged together to assure the common victory
to their country."

LIBERALS FAVOR LANSDOWNE'S LETTER.

LONDON, Dec. 4.
The Manchester Guardian to-day says it understands that a meeting of Opposition Liberals at which former Premier Asquith was present, was entirely favorable to the recent Lansdowne letter, although some of the leaders went farther than others in their approval. When Asquith spoke at Birmingham on Monday, his reference to the letter, the Guardian predicts, will be "to say the least, sym-pathetical."

AMERICA'S WAR AIMS.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.
A definite statement to the world of America's war aims and of the basis
upon which peace will be considered,
was made to-day by President Wilson in an address to Congress, in which he urged an immediate declaration of a state of war between the United States and Austria-Hungary, Germany's vassal and tool. As Turkey and Bulgaria also are tools of the enemy, he counseled delay, because "they don't yet stand in the direct path of our necessary action." To win the war, the President said in an emphatic and ringing tone, is the immediate and unalterable task ahead.

He urged Congress, which is just beginning its second war session, to concentrate itself upon it. The President sharply dismissed the possibility of a premature peace sought by German intrigue and debated here by men who understood neither its nature nor the way it may be attained.
With victory an accomplished fact, he said, peace will be evolved, based upon "mercy and justice" to enemy and friend, with the hope of a partnership of all nations to guarantee a world peace. War will be deemed won, he said, "when the German people say to us, through properly accredited representatives, that they are ready to agree to a settlement based upon justice and reparation of the wrongs their rulers have done. The terms of peace, he added, would not include disarmament, robbery or punishment of the enemy, but would be based on justice, defined briefly as follows: Freedom of nations and their peoples from autocratic domination;

reparation to Belgium; relinquishment of German power over peoples of Austria and Turkey; free Balkan states, as well as the evacuation of Prussian territorial conquests in Belgium and Northern France. Emphasizing the purpose of the United States not to interfere in the internal affairs of any nation, he asserted that no wrong against the German empire was intended, and there was no desire to re-arrange the Austro-Hungarian empire. He said, at the end of his speech, that he had arrangements for the address was made available for its publication to-day in nearly every corner of the globe. It will probably not appear in full in the Teutonic press, but the papers of neutral countries and the work of the Allied aviators will get it to many Germans in an unmutated form.

A request for a declaration of war
with Austria met with virtually unanimous approval and Congress to-night was prepared to give prompt response. The passage by the House on Thursday and by the Senate on Friday of the necessary resolution was planned by leaders, who began drafting formal documents soon after the President finished speaking.
Strong sentiment in favor of including Turkey and Bulgaria in the new war declaration of the President's counsel, was prevalent, but administration leaders expected to curb it by pointing to the declaration that we shall go wherever the necessities of this war carry us, but it speaks in no way that we should go only where immediate and practical considerations lead us, and not heed any others. The

The Pallor of Anaemia Calls for Reconstructive Treatment

A NAEMIA comes on so insidiously that you may not realize its presence
until a look in your mirror dis-closes the pallor of the skin and of the gums, the lips and the eyelids.

You may be gaining in weight,
but the flesh is soft and flabby,
and you are laying on fat rather than muscle. You find yourself disinclined to exertion, and greatly fatigued by any effort.
There is weakness, heart palpitation and a disturbance of the digestive system.

The failure of the organs of digestion to derive proper nutrition from the food you eat has reduced the number of red corpuscles in the blood. The blood has become thin and watery, and in spite of the food you eat you are literally starving to death.

As this process continues you must necessarily grow weaker and weaker, and the bodily organs become more and more in-

The Food Cure

Miss Alice Howes, 21 Haddington Street, Galt, Ont., writes:—"I was very ill with anaemia, could not sleep at night, and my appetite seemed entirely gone. I suffered in this way for nearly three years and had treatment from two doctors in Toronto, where I was living at the time, but did not get any relief. I became completely run down, and as I did not see any immediate hopes of getting better, I went back to live with my mother in Galt. I thought, perhaps, the change of air might do me good. My mother saw that I was in a bad state, because my nerves were affected, and everywhere I went I used to take dizzy and fainting spells. My hands and limbs would become numb, I would see black specks before my eyes, and cold perspiration would come out on me. My mother had been taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with excellent results, and she advised me to do the same. But it is hard for me to take pills, so I went to a doctor in Galt instead. However, his treatment did me no good, so I at last decided to follow my mother's advice. I began taking Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and gradually found myself getting better. I soon was able to sleep at night without any difficulty, my appetite came back, and I began to gain back my natural color. After taking about twelve boxes of this medicine I was able to return to my work in Toronto. My friends there all noticed the improvement in my condition, and I am now stronger and healthier than I have been for a long, long time. I shall always recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food wherever I go, as I really think it is the best treatment obtainable for workout nerves and run-down system."

capable of performing their natural functions.

There can be no question that Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the ideal treatment for anaemia or bloodlessness, because it supplies to the blood in condensed form
the very elements from which new, rich blood is created. In this way it makes up for the deficiencies of the digestive system,
and sets in motion the process of reconstruction.

As the blood improves in quality under this treatment the action of the heart is strengthened, circulation is better, appetite is sharpened, the digestive organs gradually resume their functions, and you gain in strength and vigor.

You will not use this food cure long before you realize the upbuilding influence on your system. With returning strength comes new hope and confidence.
The discouraging days will disappear from your life, and you will feel again the joy of health.

session for the first time since he

Hats Off.

THE LAST SURVIVOR OF CARLBOU HILL WOUNDED.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In the list of casualties which flashed across the Atlantic on the 30th ult., and published in the press on the 1st inst., I observe the name of No. 689 Sergt. John J. Morrissey, M.M., No. 45 Parade Street; left leg, severe. 'Hats off' to this brave lad, who, I understand, is a son of Mr. Peter Morrissey, tailor, Parade Street, a worthy and respected citizen of St. John's, well known to his conferees in the tailoring trade.
I say again 'Hats off' in honour of his brave son John, who is the only survivor of the famous little band of Caribou Hill heroes which were led by the late heroic soldier Capt. Jim Donnelly.

In my office I have a photograph of the presentation of the Military Medal to Sergt. J. J. Morrissey, of the First Nfld. Regiment, presented by Lieut.-General Sir Francis Lloyd, G.O.C., London District. In the group are also Rt. Hon. Sir Wm. McGregor, late Governor of Newfoundland; H. Reeves, Esq., C.M.G., Hon. Secretary Newfoundland War Contingent Association; Lieut.-Col. Bruce Porter, C.M.G., Officer Commanding the 1st Newfoundland Regiment; Lieut. Earl of Stamford, A.B.C.; General Lloyd, Major H. A. Thynne, First Newfoundland Regiment. This presentation took place at Wandsworth on the 2nd of February, 1917.

Sergt. Morrissey is one of many that the country should delight to honour. I noticed from last evening's papers that he is back to Wandsworth hospital.

Is this not a noble example of a young man fighting for his Country. What are you doing? Are you fit to take his place?

My profound sympathy goes out to the fathers and mothers of the soldier lads who have laid down their young lives, fighting for you and for me up on the battle-field.

Within the past few days sad news has reached many a family within our Island. To-day there are sorrowful homes in the city—sorrow and mourning in almost every Harbour in the country. Many a home is under the shadow of an overhanging cloud that, besides shutting out the light of joy for a time, touches us on every side with a depressing feeling and penetrate every tissue of our being.

Yours truly,
Dec. 5th, 1917. JOHN ANDERSON.

Winter Fishery.

Despite the severity of the weather, a couple of boats were on the local fishing grounds this morning and were rewarded with good fares, cod being found plentiful. If ice conditions permit operations will be carried on all the winter. Fishermen contend they will find this most profitable employment when they can get on the grounds as cod are almost as plentiful there now as they were in midsummer.

Getting New Steamer Built.

Capt. Farquhar, who sold his steamer Seal to Baine Johnstone and Co., is having a larger ship, constructed of wood, built to run between his native town in Nova Scotia and South West Coast points. The Seal will again outfit for the icefields this spring and will be in charge of Capt. Handell.

Our Volunteers.

There was a marked slackening off in recruiting at Headquarters yesterday. Only four young men offered themselves for enlistment:—
J. Lambert, St. John's Bay, F. B.
R. Baker, Fogo.
L. J. Oaks, Fogo.
Enlisted Second Time.
E. Johnson, St. John's.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.
The election of officers of Empire Lodge, No. 270, S. O. E., B. S., for the ensuing year took place last night and was largely attended. The following officers were elected:—
W.P.—Bro. C. K. Miller.
W.V.P.—Bro. W. H. Strong.
Chap. Bro. A. G. Williams.
Rec. Sec.—Bro. B. B. Harris.
Fin. Sec. Bro. Gordon Pike.
Treas.—Bro. Frank Miles.
Surgeon—Dr. Anderson.
First Guide—Bro. Richard Morris.
Second Guide—Bro. Angus Crane.
Third Guide—Bro. C. G. Wiseman.
Fourth Guide—Bro. Norman Mann.
Fifth Guide—Bro. Capt. C. Strong.
Sixth Guide—Bro. A. Rice, R.N.
I.G.—Bro. Llewellyn Crane.
O.G.—Bro. Leonard Rose.
District Deputy Bro. T. F. Thompson conducted the election and congratulated the lodge on the selection of such able officers. A pleasing feature of the evening was the election to office of Brothers Capt. Strong and Reservist Rice, who represent the lodge in the army and navy.

Your Boys and Girls.

Some mothers, unfortunately, have to wean the baby from birth. For such a child feeding from the bottle with a mixture of oatmeal water and milk is very nourishing.
Use two-thirds oatmeal water and one-third of milk for a child three months old and weighing eleven or twelve pounds. Weigh the baby each week and if she gains from four to six ounces a week, her bowels move regularly and are of the right consistency and the treatment shows that the mixture is perfect.
If, however, she does not increase in weight each week, you should begin to increase the milk, a very little at a time, probably not more than an ounce in a day's mixture. You should use lime water as this helps to form bone and teeth which are, of course, bone structure. Add from one to two teaspoons of lime water to each bottle.

WAR NEWS.

recommendation for war with Austria was generally received as meaning that the President has at last relinquished the hope that peace might be forwarded through alienation of Austria from her dominating ally. It also recognizes the extension of the Western front on which American forces were operating to Italy, and this will serve to hearten the Italians. It was learned to-night that in conversation with a Congressional leader before leaving the Capitol, the President said that the Austrian declaration was advised largely because it might be necessary at any time to have American troops aid Italy. Approval of the address on all sides was pronounced, and was demonstrated not only by outbursts of applause, but in statements of Congressional leaders. Many declared it the greatest of the President's state papers. Both branches of Congress adjourned after the President closed the House until to-morrow, and the Senate until Friday.

GERMANS CLAIM 6,000 PRISONERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.
The Germans apparently have ceased the reckless expenditure of their troops in trying to blot out the Cambrai salient held by General Byng's forces after four days' onslaughts that have been characterized as equalling any previously witnessed during the war. Only artillery is now engaged. Although the Germans claim the capture of more than 6,000 British prisoners in their attacks also more than 100 guns, reports from the scene of battle both from the British War Office and from correspondents have indicated that their own loss in men, killed, wounded or made prisoners was a terrible price to pay for the very small recovery of the lost terrain. While it is expected that further attacks will be delivered on the Cambrai sector, which is a salient vitally menacing the important railway junction of Cambrai, with its roads and railroads radiating in all directions as feeders to German lines north and south, the British are declared now to be in better position to offer stronger resistance to their efforts, is such a possibility than heretofore.

BRITISH STEAMER SUNK; HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

LONDON, Dec. 4.
The British steamer Apapa has been torpedoed and sunk. According to morning papers eighty of the crew perished. About 120 passengers were saved. It is reported that the submarine fired on women and children in open boats. The Apapa was a vessel of 7,832 tons gross. She was built in Glasgow in 1914 and was owned by the Association Steamship Co.

When One's Temper Gets Short

Most of us feel out-of-sorts at times but when a naturally cheerful chap turns into a continual grrouch it is pretty safe to suspect that the digestion is the cause. A few doses of Stafford's Prescription "A" will soon convince you.

Stafford's Prescription "A" is a regular cheer-bringer, it brightens up the landscape, puts you in good humour with everybody and gives you an appetite like a schoolboy.

Everyday Etiquette.

"Is it proper to introduce the person you are walking with to people whom you meet and who join you?" enquired Ruth.

"When you meet a friend on the street while walking with another, it is not necessary to present them unless you feel that both would be pleased to know each other. Of course, if a friend joins you for my length of time, introductions should take place," answered her sister.

HELPING OUT THE FISHERMEN

The Kite, which was loading at Pile's Island a few days ago, was ordered to proceed to Springdale by Mr. A. W. Piccott to break up the ice which he heard was hindering fishermen from attending to their herring nets. Mr. Piccott's thoughtfulness was greatly appreciated by the fishermen.

Wet the kitchen stove while cold with a cloth dipped in kerosene oil; then apply the blacking. The stove will keep clean much longer.

MASSAGING THE FACE.

When you give your face a regular ten minute massage you must have a good cold cream and, if you have not already found one just to your liking, I think you will find the following formula to be a delightful addition to your beautifying necessities: Sweet almond oil two ounces, spermaceti one ounce, cocognut oil two ounces, white wax one ounce, tincture of benzoin three drops, lanolin two ounces and orange flower water two ounces.

After putting together all of the ingredients, except the benzoin and orange water, let them mingle by setting in a dish over a slow flame. When they are melted take from the fire, beat with an egg beater and, when properly cold, add the benzoin drop by drop, stirring constantly. The orange flower water in, in a thin stream, while beating the mixture.

Seeing Resemblances.

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

Are you one of those people who are constantly seeing resemblances? That is a habit of mine which I would like to talk over with the letter friends who also have it. People who never see resemblances and who laugh at you when you try to make them see them are excused from attendance to-day.

By the way, aren't they exasperating--those people. They will look at a wonderful likeness that they simply must recognize and tell you obstinately that they do not see it at all. Personally I have dark suspicions that there are none so blind as those who won't see.

It Is Fun Tracking Down Resemblances.

I seldom go anywhere that I do not see someone who resembles someone else. A skeptic housemate assures me I could get over this if I tried. Get over it indeed! On the contrary it is a habit of mind which I encourage. It is so interesting to collect resemblances and to see in just what they consist. Sometimes it is a question of the shape of the face or features, again it is an elusive expression. Often people who are very unlike on the whole will resemble each other in some small way, a smile, the sweep of an eyebrow, the height of the cheek bones.

Never Tell People They Look Like Each Other.

There is one thing that I have learned from my experiences in resemblance seeing which may be worth mentioning to beginners. And that is that it is not usually advisable to tell the person concerned about it, if there is any likelihood of his seeing his double. Ten to one he will be displeased, even though to you the person is quite as good looking as he. And if the person is not so good looking, woe to you! You have made an enemy. In vain you tell him that a very handsome person may resemble a very homely person (which is entirely true). You have wounded him in the tenderest part of his character anatomy--his self love, and such wounds heal slowly and usually leave scars.

Some People Really Have Doubles. Although so many resemblances are only partial and elusive, now and then one finds really startling ones. Just the other day I stood not three feet away from a woman in an elevator and actually could not make up my mind that she was not one of my near neighbors.

Most of my experiences with resemblances I regard as universal but there is one that I do not feel so sure about. Perhaps my reader friends can help me out. When I am tired I always see more resemblances. If I go shopping on a day when I am overtired, at every turn I think I am seeing some friend. I trust none of the anti-resemblances have chanced to read this far, for I can just fancy the spirit in which they will pounce upon that statement.

THE CONSCIENCE
The conscience is an elastic form of alarm clock which was brought to this country in the Mayflower in 1620, but is not being cultivated to any great extent at the present writing. This is because no two consciences have the same viewpoint or bust measure, and the average citizen finds it hard to secure a good fit.

The earliest form of conscience known in this country was that introduced by the Pilgrim Fathers and had no elastic whatever. The Puritans had been terribly persecuted in England because of their "back of conscience, and on arriving here they proceeded to exercise what they had left by burning everybody who denied the existence of a deep and highly successful form of hell. They were God-fearing people and never allowed a store account to run, but were a trifle opinionated on the subject of a future state. Samples of this form of conscience are still doing business and consigning people to one of the most unpleasant changes of climate which can be imagined.

One reason why so many people flee from foreign lands in the cheap and fragrant steerage and come to this country is because we have so much liberty of conscience. In America a man can believe anything he wants to without being strung up to the thumbs or removed from the official board, so long as his conscience does not become so free as to drive him into bigamy or evading the income tax. There are times, however, when it seems as if a little less freedom of conscience would be a good thing, as it would give the overworked policeman a chance to recuperate.

One peculiar thing about the conscience is that it will lie around for several years in a dormant state, and then suddenly arise and compel the owner to restore $1.65 which he took from an employer who had entered into rest without being able to balance his books. This shows what the conscience can do when it is not sand-bagged and laid away in some vacant corner in the attic. The government now has on hand a large amount of conscience money contributed by people who were overtaken by remorse at a time of life when remorse had about abandoned hope of catching up.

Conscience is a great aid to making restitution, but after all, the best time to retribute is before it becomes necessary.

FOOD CONSERVATION.
I'm cutting out fat living, since folks have let me know that eating pies is giving much comfort to the foe. I shy at ducks and geese, and eat things I abhor, since told that fats and greases are needed in the war. My aunt, who is a dandy, is helping on the cause; she isn't eating eady or ice cream as she was; her diet will improve her, as it will surely aid all girls who hoove with Hoover, and join the food parade. 'And I am feeling finer than I have felt for years; I've been an ardent diner, consuming roasted steers. I've cleaned the plate and platter with glibulous delight, and kept on getting fatter until I was a sight. But now I'm eating sawdust and boiled excelsior, to help in manner modest, our country win the war. 'And I am feeling fitter than since I was a lad; all day I sing and twitter, I am so beasty glad. From here to far Vancouver the fat men bear their load, and they should hoove with Hoover, since I have shown the road. This fact will bear repeating in this most crucial time; we're all too fond of eating, when stuffing is a crime. And so, in language moving, I do beseech my friends, that you will do your hooving as Hoover recommends.

To make deviled crabs, season crab meat with cream, salt and cayenne; cover with breadcrumb, place in shells and brown in the oven.
All boxes on the top of the pantry shelves should have labels on the end, telling the contents of the box. This saves time when hunting articles.
If the wire mattress becomes rusty, try rubbing it with paraffin; then dry thoroughly and give both sides a coat of black lacquer.
Tomatoes with the skin removed and hollowed out, then filled with minced fish or chicken and a little mayonnaise, make a delicious relish.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING ENDS IN OUR FAVOR.

British Headquarters in France, Dec. 4.--As a result of yesterday's great German effort, Lavacquerie has been left to him and our line bent slightly back on a mile front. West and southwest of Marieres we have withdrawn slightly, and while it is understood that our line at Marcoing does not now include the whole of the cove of that name, this is practically the sum total of the German recovery of territory effected at a truly appalling price. His effort was admittedly to recover the fifteen miles of Hindenburg line and free Cambrai from the present stage. The situation at Bourlon Wood, which dominates Cambrai, is unchanged. The Germans made prodigious preparations for yesterday's efforts, bringing train loads of troops from the eastern front. The weather throughout has been perfect, enabling our gunners and riflemen to make the best possible marksmanship. It may be computed that no fewer than twelve divisions had been thrown into the oncoming English waves across the rolling country. Our advantageously posted field batteries caught the Germans at short range with devastating effect, yet at one time sheer weight of numbers carried them through our lines. South of Marcoing a splendidly spirited counter attack sent them reeling back. After waiting the clash in our own lines, we advanced to meet them in hand-to-hand conflict. Our artillerists magnificently. They spotted a large concentration of German guns and directly contributed to the destruction of many. Whether the Germans will renew the colossal attempt remains to be seen. Personally, the correspondent does not believe the rumor that they have cavalry ready to break through. We still retain the high country north of Lavacquerie, which considerably minimized any tactical advantage to the Germans in the occupation of the ruins of the villages. Methodical activity prevails in the rear of our battlefront, where the exceptional dryness of the roads is facilitating transport and other operations. The correspondent thinks it can safely be said we are quite ready to deal with any further projects the enemy has in mind.

VERY LATEST.
1 00 P.M.
GERMANS' DESPERATE EFFORTS FOILED.
 WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE.—The Germans up to noon to-day had not renewed their attempts of yesterday to smash the British front south of Marbourg, but it seems improbable that the enemy will allow matters to remain as they are now. Therefore the situation is still one that cannot be dismissed lightly in view of the heavy concentration of guns and troops which Von Hindenburg has brought to bear on this line. There has been no change in the respective positions of the opposing forces since last night. Exhaustion and the necessity of reorganizing his depleted ranks have undoubtedly forced the enemy to pause for a breathing spell. The ground won by the Germans yesterday could not compensate for the shambles caused by Hindenburg's disregard for the lives of his men, but it must be borne in mind that he was playing for bigger stakes than have yet been won. In his latest attacks there was undoubtedly a tremendous effort to break through. The situation to-day was much easier for the British. Yesterday was admittedly a rather anxious one but abundant reinforcements arrived. The checking of the Germans' incessant massed attacks was due only to the gallantry of the dogged British soldiers, who did not yield before the fierce assaults by greatly superior numbers. In their stupendous efforts against Lavacquerie the Germans swept forward in dense waves with absolutely no concealment and were slaughtered. During the afternoon they delivered a very heavy attack also, west of Marbourg, and succeeded in smashing through the British line but an immediate counter attack forced them to fall back.

There Came to King's Beach
 There came to King's Beach a stout man from Bell Island, the dew on his whisker was heavy and chill; he took a good drink from the tank and, then smiling he looked at the top of "Dear old Southside Hill." Ah, sad was my heart, said this stout, sturdy miner, when the "foxy three-quarters and bluchers I wore"; but now I wear H-press no rubbers are finer, I bought them from "Natty" at Bowring's grand store. Cold, cold were my feet 'ere those rubbers I bought them, bunions and corns made a martyr of me; I now bless the hour and the day that I sought them, they're the best rubbers goin' you can take it from me. I used them in water, in mud, and when toiling deep down in the mine, where I oft "gave them fits," and they are, said he, as he looked on them smiling, as tough as the gads round the Outer Cove spitts. And then he went off for to buy some tobacco, on rubbers it was the last words he let fall; "they may talk how they like of their 'spots on the crackle,' but the H-press the H-press I love best of all."—adv.

President Wilson Popular in England.
 London, Nov. 27.—John Lane, publisher, writes to the Times "If the popularity of a public man may be gauged by the number of portraits of him displayed in shops, public buildings and indeed, in private houses, President Wilson is easily the first at the present moment in England. In the last two months I visited the following cities and towns—Bath, Bristol, Exeter, Leicester, Nottingham, Chippenham, Cirencester, Walmesbury, Brighton, Worthing, Barnstable, Bideford, Taunton, Plymouth and Torquay. I have been much struck by the number and the prominence of President Wilson's portraits. This should be very gratifying to our great ally."

New Theatre Projected
 We hear that a new local company has been formed and is negotiating for the building of an up-to-date theatrical house. The site selected for it is centrally located and said to be very suitable. The new concern, promoted by two of our well-known citizens and substantially capitalized, is, we are informed, taking practical shape, and plans of the proposed structure are being drawn.

Imperial Tobacco Co.
WIN BEFORE PRIVY COUNCIL.
 The famous tobacco case, in which the Imperial Tobacco Co. were plaintiffs against M. A. Duffy and which was before the Supreme Court here on two occasions, has at last been finally disposed of by the Privy Council. It was claimed by the Imperial Tobacco Co. that Mr. Duffy had imported an American tobacco bearing a mark which was an infringement of their registered brand "Clover." The matter was first decided in Mr. Duffy's favor by Mr. Justice Johnson. An appeal was taken to the full bench when the Chief Justice delivered a judgment sustaining Judge Johnson's decision. Application was then made to the Court for leave to appeal to the Privy Council but was refused. An application was then made direct to the Privy Council for special leave to appeal, which was granted, and its appeal was heard on Nov. 3rd, the Judicial Committee taking time to consider. Mr. Conroy, K.C., counsel for the Imperial Tobacco Co., received a message from London informing him that the Privy Council had allowed the appeal, with costs in all the Courts, and had granted an injunction restraining further infringement of the Company's trade mark.

Outlawry to the End.
 (From the New York World.)
 The policy of frank war reports doubly commends itself in the Washington story of the capture of a German submarine by United States destroyers. It tells of an action daring and brilliant after the manner of our Navy from of old. It casts a strong light also upon the dishonorable methods of the adversary whom we face. Disabled by a depth bomb but not sunk, the U-boat lay helpless upon the surface while its crew, ranged on deck, held up their hands in surrender. From that moment, by the laws of war, the submarine was the prize of the two destroyers to which surrender was made. It is stated officially that she "soon sank." It is stated unofficially, of course with the tacit approval of the destroyers, that even while part of the crew were surrendering, others were below scuttling their craft. This was outlawry, but the keel of that submarine was laid for outlawry. She was launched for outlawry. Short or long, bloody or unsuccessful, her cruises were undertaken for outlawry, predetermined and preannounced from Berlin in solemn notification to the world. Her end was in keeping with her history and the history of her sneaking kind. American pride will be gratified by the gallantry of the destroyer crews and their swift rescue of beaten foes. American determination should be strengthened by the treachery with which mercy was so ill requited by men who meant to show no mercy.

What the War Costs.
 It has been estimated that the total cost of the war to all the belligerents engaged in it is certainly not less than one thousand million pounds a month. A thousand millions pounds! The words slip glibly off the tongue. But just try for a moment to realise what they mean.
 If Adam, the first man, had started to earn and save a sovereign a day from the beginning of recorded time he would not have come anywhere to accumulating a thousand million pounds. He would have to continue, indeed, until A.D. 664,571 before doing so.
 If a bank cashier, endowed with perpetual youth, attempted to pay out this colossal sum, he would never finish his job through all eternity, for the accumulated interest would accumulate faster than his hands could move in counting out the money.
 Reckoned in terms of time, a thousand million years is twenty times as long as the earth's age, which is fixed approximately at fifty million years. It is even longer, probably, than the sun's age. In fact, about the only thing older than a thousand million years is eternity itself.—Pearson's Weekly.

39 Submarines SUNK BY BRITISH IN FIFTEEN DAYS.
 New York, Nov. 28.—Thirty-nine German submarines were sunk between Nov. 1 and 15th. Counselor Hohler, of the British embassy, told an audience at the Hero Land Bazaar last night.
BETTER LEFT UNSAID.
 His aunt was rich and elderly. She had called unexpectedly when he was out, and his wife was trying to entertain her by such methods as she thought best conducive to their future welfare.
 The old lady had recently added a photograph to her establishment, and when she heard that early that morning her loving nephew had made for her a record of her favorite violin solo she was delighted.
 "How nice of him!" she said. "Can I hear it?"
 "Well," said her niece, "we haven't tried it yet, but I'll put it on."
 It was a pronounced success, and the old lady was charmed.
 But her feeling changed when after the solo was finished the instrument brought out these words with fatal clearness:
 "Phew! If that isn't good for an extra hundred in the old girl's will, I'm a Dutchman!"

A BREATHING SPELL.

NEW YORK, To-day.
As yet anticipated, the renewal by the Austro-Germans of their infantry attacks on a large scale against the Italians on the Venetian front has not materialized. The enemy artillery, however, continues active from Asiago Plateau eastward towards the head of the waters of the Piave River. On the Trentino front, where there has been no fighting for some time, the enemy has essayed an attack which was prepared for by a heavy bombardment but it met with a repulse. Along the Piave Valley the Italians have again dispersed Austrian bodies concentrating for attacks. Likewise in Palestine the battle between the Turks and British has not begun for the possession of Jerusalem. Taken all in all there is no change in the situation in this region, although General Allenby's forces have carried out small offensives in the nature of raids and killed, or captured the occupants of the enemy trenches.

TROTSKY MIGHT READ WILSON'S SPEECH.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
Leon Trotsky, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, has taken the recent note sent by Lieut. Col. Wm. V. Hudson, Chief of America's Mission to Russia, to the Chief of General Staff at Petrograd as an effort to cultivate friendly relations with the Bolshevik Government. The note, in which the American officer said he saw no reason why the relations of the Allies to Russia or to any influential part of its population shouldn't rest on the most friendly basis is also commented upon favorably by Trotsky in Maxim Gorki's newspaper, the Novaya Zhenitsa. "The friendly relations which Trotsky assumes the note was attempting to promote would constitute a splendid measure meeting the competition of German and especially British capitalists after the war," Trotsky said to-day in commenting upon it. Speaking before the Soldiers' and Workmen's Council, Trotsky dealt with the question of an embracing embargo, the quitting of Russia by British subjects, Lieut. Col. Judson's note and the protest made by the American Military Attaché to General Dukhonin, against the Russian negotiations for an armistice with Germany, the Allies lost their presence of mind," he said. "This alone would explain the almost simultaneous appearance of two documents, the letter of Major Kerth to General Dukhonin and letter of Lieut. Col. Judson to his chief. If you read them you see one absolutely conflicts with the standpoint of the other. However, this is not the chief affair to-day. There came to the Smolny Institute (the Bolshevik Headquarters) two Americans who have close relations with American capitalist classes, who informed me that the state of mind in America was correctly stated in the letter of Lieut. Col. Judson and not in the letter of Major Kerth." In the Novaya Zhenitsa Trotsky comments upon Lieut. Col. Judson's statement that Russia was right in her present position to raise the question of a general peace. For the first time since the revolution, he says, we hear from the lips of a representative of the Allied Powers a sanction of the right

TAKEN TO MURDER NOW.

LONDON, To-day.
The Russian General Headquarters on the Northern front has been captured by Bolshevik troops under Ensign Krylenko. The headquarters capitulated without fighting, but General Dukhonin, the Commander-in-Chief, who declined recently to carry out the orders of the Bolsheviks to negotiate an armistice with the Germans was thrown from a train by Bolshevik troops and killed.

A FOUL DEED.

PETROGRAD, To-day.
Via London—(British Admiralty per Wireless Press)—An official announcement was issued to-day signed by Ensign Krylenko, the Bolshevik Commander-in-Chief, confirming the killing by infuriated members of the Bolsheviks of General Dukhonin former Commander-in-Chief of Russian Armies, who was recently deposed because of his refusal to request German army officials to enter into an armistice with the Bolsheviks. General Dukhonin was killed by being thrown from a train after Bolshevik forces had captured the headquarters at Mohilev where he had remained after his deposition. General Korniloff, also a former Russian Commander-in-Chief, who some time ago started an unsuccessful revolt against the Kerensky Government, fled from Mohilev before the arrival of the Bolshevik forces. The text of the statement of Krylenko follows: "I entered into Mohilev at the head of the revolutionary troops. The headquarters was entirely surrounded without fighting. The last obstacle to the cause of peace has fallen. I cannot be silent on the sad act of treachery practised upon the former highest Commander-in-Chief, General Dukhonin. Popular hatred surpassed the limits of reason and in spite of all attempts to save him he was thrown out of the railroad train at Mohilev station and killed. The flight of General Korniloff the day before the fall of headquarters was the cause of this excess. I can't allow the banner of the revolution to be stained and it is necessary strongly to condemn such acts. A revolutionary people are fearful in a struggle but they must be soft after victory."

FRENCH OFFICIAL.

PARIS, To-day.
The following official statement was issued to-day: In Champagne we have repulsed two attempts against our small posts between Tahure and Matsons-de-Champagne. We inflicted losses on the enemy. Violent artillery actions were reported to-day on the right bank of the Meuse on the sector of Beaumont and also in the Vosges in the region of the Bonhomme Pass.

Presentation to Forestry Officers.

A pleasing event took place on Monday last, when a deputation from the privates of the Forestry Company now in training here waited on Sergeant-Instructor Hussey, Sergeant Joseph McKinley and Private B. Ellis, and presented them with a shaving set, smokers' outfit and pipe, respectively. Accompanying the gifts was the following address:—

Forestry Company's Headquarters,
St. John's,
Dec. 3rd, 1917.

To Sergt-Instructor Hussey, Sergt. Joseph McKinley and Private B. Ellis, R.P.

Dear Sirs,—Before starting on our journey across the ocean we deem it our duty to tender you our very cordial thanks for the kindly help and instruction you have given us during our course of training.

In the first place, we have to thank you, Sergt. Hussey, for the patience and care you exercised in our physical development. We feel that the instruction and training we have received from you will be of very great service to us in the hardships we may have to endure in lands beyond the sea.

We must also express our sincere regard for the kindness and assistance we have experienced from Sergt. McKinley. Indeed we cannot easily forget how much we are indebted to you for the almost paternal care bestowed on us by you since we joined the Forestry Companies.

Finally, we have to express our appreciation for the consideration shown to us by Pte. Ellis, on all occasions. No doubt we may have often caused him some trouble in the discharge of his duties, but at the same time we must acknowledge that he has succeeded in discharging an office which is not always popular to the satisfaction of all concerned.

We will ask you then to accept the accompanying gifts as a slight token of our appreciation for the kindly assistance you have given us in the various ways since we volunteered for service.

Signed on behalf of the Company,
L. A. Miller, Charles H. Peters, Ed. Driscoll, S. J. Thomey, J. J. Angel.

Look at a Child's Tongue When Cross, Feverish and Sick

Take no chances! Move poisons from liver and bowels at once.

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs" because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one—If full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

Originality.

Yes, we are the firm giving away a large number of Cash Prizes to purchasers of Buddy Boots and Bear Brand Rubbers.

We know that these prizes are going to make good cheer in a great many homes this Christmas.

Quality is the standard that we have tried to instill into wearers of Rubbers since the opening of the only exclusive rubber concern in Newfoundland.

We originated, and we're the firm to put into effect in Newfoundland the guarantee of every pair of Rubber Boots sold by us, which accounts for the absolute fact that to-day there are more Buddy Boots sold than all other brands of Boots combined.

From one end of the world to the other, Wales's Goodyear Bear Brand Rubber Shoes, and Beacon Falls Company Buddy Boots are recognized as being of the highest quality.

Wearers of Buddy Boots appreciate our giving them a light weight, perfect fitting boot, a boot that will outwear any other rubber boot made, a boot that is not wool lined and will prevent rheumatism. Leather boots will not keep your feet dry, Buddy Boots will.

Buddy Boots are the only rubber boots sold that are the natural color of rubber "Grey," which means pure rubber.
