SEALED TO PROTECT

Butch
Butch chassis is sealed. Iron and steel housings protect the operation of all driving parts—seal them in to safeguard Butch performance.
Some cars have some of this protection, but only Butch has a wall of defense continuous from fan hub to rear axle against road dirt, stones, water and loss of lubricant. Only Butch's close co-ordination of driving units and Butch's torque tube drive make possible this important improvement.

The Heir to Beecham Park

CHAPTER XII.

"You are Margery Daw?"
 A cold voice fell on Margery's ear. She turned, and her eyes rested on Vane Charteris, looking inexpressibly lovely and graceful in her white toilet. She looked steadily at Margery, nothing with secret pleasure her worn, tear-stained face and dusty, dishevelled appearance.
 "I retract my first opinion," she said to herself: "the girl is absolutely plain."
 Some vague instinct called Margery's pride to arms. This woman hated her, she felt, though their eyes had met but once before. She drew herself up, and resting one hand on her chair, faced her unwelcome guest. What had brought her to the cottage? Margery felt her limbs trembling; but her face showed no sign of the agony in her heart.
 "Yes," she said, steadily. "I am Margery Daw. Do you wish—"
 "First, let me express my sympathy for you in your loss," commenced Vane, modulating her voice to soft accents. She saw at once that Margery regarded her as an enemy; but she did not intend to allow that thought to become rooted. She must clothe her darts with kindness, and with her sweetest words thrust her dagger into this girl's heart. "None can know but those who have suffered what your grief must be," she finished, gently.
 Margery's head dropped. Had sorrow already destroyed all her good impulses? She was prepared for war, and she met with sympathy, almost tenderness!
 "You are very good," she faltered.
 Vane advanced into the room and pulled forward a chair.
 "May I sit with you for a while?" she asked. "It is not good for you to be alone like this."
 "I like it," answered Margery, turning her lustrous eyes upon her guest; and, as Vane saw their beauty, her brows contracted, and she realized that her first judgment regarding this girl had been right, after all.
 Her mood changed. When she had considered Margery plain; a half-conscious thought had passed through her mind to wound yet retain her sweetness. Now, she felt she cared not how hard she struck to relieve impulsively, "will you forgive me if anything I may say in the course of our conversation should vex you? I would not, indeed, willingly cause you any pain."

 Margery's eyes were fixed on the golden-tinted trees beyond the garden; she did not notice the outstretched hand.
 "Why should you cause me pain?" she asked, in reply. "There is nothing in common between you and me."
 Vane let her hand drop to her side; her face flushed. Could she never shake the girl's control?
 "I am glad you judge me rightly," she responded, "for I am, here and have been much distressed by my errand. Stuart has asked me, Miss Daw, to express to you his sincere sympathy in the loss you have sustained by the death of Mrs. Morris. He begs me to tell you that he trusts you will apply at the castle now that you are left without a guardian. He has enlisted his mother's goodwill on your behalf, and he sends you this sum to assist toward anything you may require."
 She held out a small packet as she finished, and had the satisfaction of seeing Margery's lips twitch as with sudden pain, and her whole frame shake with passion beneath the insult.
 "It was his intention to write to you as far back as last Thursday," went on Vane; "but he had the misfortune to break his right arm, and writing was impossible; therefore, as he thought you would require some explanation from him, he asked me to come."
 "I thank you," fell from Margery's lips, in cold, strained tones.
 "Then I may leave this?" Vane said, interrogatively, raising and placing the packet on the table. "And you will promise to apply at the castle with respect to anything concerning your future? I believe, but I am not sure, that Mrs. Crosbie has already written to some lady about a situation for you as maid."
 Margery made no answer, and Miss Charteris waited a few moments, and then moved to the door, feeling strangely uncomfortable, and by no means victorious. She looked back as she stood at the door.
 "You have no reply?" she asked.
 "Mr. Crosbie's explanation requires none," Margery answered, still in the same cold, even tones.
 "Then I will wish you good-afternoon."
 "Stay!" cried Margery; and Vane turned toward her. "You have forgotten your packet," Margery added, pointing to the table.
 Vane took it up without a word. Then a thought seemed to strike her, and she turned the money round and round in her hand hurriedly.
 "Perhaps you will write to Stuart or his mother?"
 Margery's eyes met Vane's in an unflinching gaze.
 "Write!" she repeated, with unutterable scorn and pride in the word. "There is, indeed, little in common between us. Such a question deserves no answer."
 Vane's brows contracted. She turned and walked quickly to the carriage, and, entering it, drove swiftly away. Her musings were not altogether pleasant during the first mile or so of her return journey. She had succeeded, and succeeded so well that she need never fear Margery Daw again; yet her spirit was vexed even at her victory, for, though she had forever separated Stuart and this girl, she had not lowered her rival to the dust, as she had intended.
 This thought rankled for some time; then her mind wandered to the more important matter of dealing with Stuart. She had no settled plan; but, as she was still so unwell, there would be a day or two yet in which to arrange matters. For the present she must satisfy him with loving messages, and explain that Margery was too distressed by her grief to accompany her back to the castle. She must see her aunt immediately, and get her to use her influence in some way to have the girl sent from the village. It would never do to risk a meeting between Stuart and Margery, for, though she judged the girl to be too honest to say much, if indeed her pride would allow her to notice him at all, there would be sufficient to fire Stuart's anger and determination to learn the truth; and then—
 Vane's face flushed at the thought of the humiliation she would undergo in such a case, and she registered a vow that she would never permit it to happen. Margery must go and at once.

90% with Profits

"The improvement in mortality will go to increase the surplus of the companies, making possible larger returns to the policyholders, of whom approximately 90% are insured on the participating plan."
 Mr. C. D. Fildeman, Dominion Government Superintendent of Insurance, in Toronto Globe Financial Bureau, January 14, 1925.

The above statement referring to the combined business of all companies doing business in Canada, made with authority by the Dominion Government Superintendent of Insurance, would indicate that Canadian policyholders prefer the with-profits plan of insurance. There must be a reason.

They buy what experience teaches them is best in the long run

The Confederation Life Association issues policies "with profits" and "without profits" and also with Guaranteed Dividend.

Good profits on policies are earned, because risks are selected with care; because the Company's investments are carefully made and yield good interest returns; and because the Company is efficiently managed.

On these three counts the Confederation Life Association has a 51-year record of success.

Canada, United States and the Air

(The Vancouver Sun.)
 If the civilization of this North American continent is to be made secure, Canada and the United States must get together in some kind of a joint air programme to protect their countries from any possible invasion or attack.
 Airplanes have so changed the character of wars that to-day military aggression is not directed against a nation's war machines—the army and navy—but against the civilian population.
 These war machines have never represented more than two or three per cent of the population. From an economic or national standpoint their destruction has never been fatal.
 But the airplane represents a new type of warfare capable of destroying a few battleships or a few battalions, but the whole productive power and the civilization of the country itself.
 Everybody knows that to-day Great Britain is at the mercy of France. France could soar over the channel with 10,000 planes and destroy England in twenty-four hours so completely that generations would place before England could take her place in the world again.
 War is hell. And the airplane has made it more hellish than ever. London remembers even to-day

Black Hand Plot to Extort $10,000 From A Clergyman.

NEWARK, N.J., Feb. 9.—A street battle with revolvers, following a "Black Hand" plot to extort $10,000 from the Rev. Father Ernest D'Aquila, Pastor of the Roman Catholic Church of Our Lady of Mount Carmel, resulted in the wounding yesterday of two alleged conspirators and one detective.
 Salvatore Falconi, one of the alleged blackmailers, begged for poison last night at a Newark Hospital to end the sufferings caused by his wounds. Frank Rizzo, 17, also wounded, was held by the police with Guiliano Corsette, on a charge of blackmail attempt. Humbert Berardi, the wounded detective, is expected to recover.
 The fight occurred when watching detectives arrested the men as they crept up to a public school window where a dummy package of money had been left as a trap by Father Storraco, curate of the church. Father Storraco administered last rites to Falconi, who was thought to be dying.

A WOMAN'S SUFFERING

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.—"I am one of thousands who have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have great faith in it. I can safely say it has relieved my troubles and I shall never be without a bottle of it in my house. Since my last baby was born I suffered from pains and backache and would feel so tired I could not do anything in my home. Since I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine I feel so different. I recommend it to all my friends and hope it will cure other women who are suffering from the troubles I had."—Mrs. THOMAS H. GARDNER, 821 Evelyn Street, Verdun, Montreal, Quebec.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for the new mother. It is prepared from roots and herbs, contains no harmful drugs and can be taken by the nursing mother.

Its worth in restoring the mother to normal health and strength is told again and again in just such letters as Mrs. Gardner writes.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound shows that 98 out of every 100 women taking the medicine are benefited by it. They write and tell us so. Such evidence entitles us to call it a dependable medicine for women. It is for sale by druggists everywhere. ? G

Geese on Guard

Wild geese are extremely wary, and take nothing for granted. While feeding they have a perfect system of sentries. Not content with this, every now and then two or three will fly round high up to see that nothing is even approaching them from a distance.
 Their hearing is very acute, and it is said their sense of smell is also. Certainly, if they are approaching down wind, they are up and away at once, even if the greatest care has been taken to keep out of sight.
 They have a cry like a pack of hounds, which may have given rise to many of the legends of ghostly packs that are said to hunt an equally ghostly fox at night.

The Evening Telegram PROPRIETORS.

All communications should be addressed to The Evening Telegram, Ltd., and not to individuals.

Tuesday, February 10, 1925.

A Pariah in Society

A correspondent writing from Deer Lake made some pungent remarks in yesterday's Telegram about an unsavoury individual known as the bootlegger, and advocated certain methods of punishment which might prove effective in dealing with him.

The bootlegger, who is found in many guises in a community, carries on a trade which places him altogether outside the pale. Devoid of all sense of decency, unscrupulous in his methods, and prompted only by avarice, he fleeces his patrons while he poisons them, and yet so lenient is the punishment meted out when he has occasionally come within the clutches of the law, that he is encouraged rather than otherwise by the fines imposed to extend the field of his operations.

With the coming into effect of the new Liquor Act, the operations of the vendor of poisonous concoctions should be considerably curtailed, but it is certain that he will be loath to abandon his lucrative trade if there is the slightest chance of his carrying it on.

They have already expressed their determination to enforce the penalties against intoxication to the limit, but as could be seen by the number of cases which occurred while the Controller's Department was closed down, the supplies do not all come from that quarter. The owners of she-beens in the city and elsewhere, and the manufacturers of moonshine and other concoctions of that kind will not be deterred by fears of fines, and whatever objection may be raised to the use of corporal punishment for ordinary offenders against the law, there will be few who will voice a protest if it is used in dealing with this class of undesirables.

They have shown themselves utterly indifferent to the misery and suffering which they have inflicted upon their victims, and to their leniency is only mistaken for weakness.

Supreme Court

THE KING VS. ALEXANDER ROONEY

The trial of Alex. Rooney began at 10.30 a.m. before the Chief Justice and the following special jury: Frank Lewis, Adam G. Barnes, Wm. Thompson, John England, Willis A. Oliver, Walter Forsyth, F. Pennessy, Edward Hartley, Stanley Chancey, Lawrence Maye, Wm. Stevens, James R. Ewing. The accused is charged with stealing the sum of $12,369.91 and embezzling the sum of $12,369.91. In addition there are a number of charges of receiving and stealing of lesser sums. He is also charged with destroying certain papers, the property of His Majesty, with intent to defraud, and also with intent to defraud by omitting to enter on the books of His Majesty the King certain sums of money.

Mr. C. J. Fox opened the case for the Crown by outlining the case against the accused, who had charge of the receipts from the five city sub-telegraph offices. It was Mr. Rooney's duty to verify the returns as they came in daily and then enter them upon the Consolidated Sheet, which would show the transactions of the five offices for the day. He had then to forward the receipts to the general cash keeper, Mr. Young, at stated periods. In addition, Rooney had to handle various sums which came in from customers of the telegraph service and pass the sums along to Mr. Young. An audit by the Auditor General took place in December, 1923, and as a result the alleged shortage of $10,901.42 was discovered. The other alleged shortages were discovered during the present year audit. After reviewing the evidence he would submit, the Crown prosecutor explained the nature of the three main charges against the accused, viz. larceny, embezzlement, and falsification of accounts. He stated that the Crown would be able to submit the accounts of the department previous to 1923 owing to their alleged destruction by the accused.

The first witness called was Mr. A. Mews, Deputy Colonial Secretary, examined by Mr. Fox, witness for the Crown. He had been appointed a Minute of Council appointing Alex. Rooney as assistant chief clerk in the Department of Posts and Telegraphs in the year 1905. Witness said he understood that the accused was afterwards promoted.

Geo. W. McLesstrer, Deputy Minister of Posts and Telegraphs since 1919. Examined by Mr. Fox, witness said previously he had been chief clerk. He had supervised the duties of Alex. Rooney, whose duties were to collect the revenue from the five sub-telegraph offices. He then outlined the practice of the office and identified red and blue slips which came from the offices with the remittances. The red slips would be signed by Mr. Rooney and handed back to the sub-office paying in the money. A sheet showing the consolidated revenue from the offices and also the charges was identified by witness. This slip had to be signed by the accused and the money was then daily to Mr. Young, who would place it to the credit of the exchequer account. The accounts were supposed to be audited every month. Witness could not say positively, Mr. Young's books would be audited every week by Mr. Donnelly. The accused was suspended in February, 1924, and witness knew that an investigation took place early in December, 1923. The accused had been absent without leave and this led to an examination of the books. Witness was not able to tell when the previous audit of the books was made. The accused had to be specially asked by the auditor to submit his books. Witness, with Minister of Posts, opened Mr. Rooney's safe in which were $200 and various papers.

Cross-examined by Mr. Brian Dunfield, witness said there was no weekly arrangement for turning in the receipts to the general cash keeper. Sometimes three or four days' receipts were often turned in on one day. Mr. Rooney occupied a small office next the Money Order Office, and for the past four years he had an assistant, Mr. Wylie. It opened into the public hall of the post office, with only room for two desks. Mr. Wylie's duties were to take him out of the office. Mr. Rooney would have to go out to some other office to telephone. Any time Mr. Rooney was off, the cash was received by Mr. Wylie. Witness thought the accused became irregular in attendance owing to drinking during these periods the office was kept going by Mr. Wylie. As far as witness knew there was no difficulty in getting the books for audit except in December accounting; it was then that witness first heard of shortages in his accounts, and it was at this time that Mr. Wylie was given charge of the office by the auditor, Mr. Howley.

Re-examined by Mr. Fox, witness said Mr. Rooney's salary was $1728 per year.

Wm. Wylie, sworn and examined by Mr. Fox, said he had been working with Mr. Rooney for five years. Witness described various accounts, books and methods of handling followed in the office. Press copy books, cash book and ledger 1922-23 were identified by witness. These were kept by Mr. Rooney. The latter always paid cash bills from collections he brought in. Witness further questioned said he brought between $120 and $180 per week to the Controller's for Rooney, and this kept up for nearly 6 months. Witness also deposed that accused paid cash bills from collections he brought in. Witness had communication with accused after he left in December, and brought office money to him. (Letter received Feb. 5, 1924 read by witness.)

Mr. McNeilly objected to it being put in. It was only a personal request to Wylie, and if it was submitted as evidence of theft it meant that witness would be answerable by the Crown. He therefore objected to witness giving further evidence.

An incident at our Ski Club the other day has led to an official proclamation to the effect that "ski-ing" is the only pronunciation which will be considered correct in Newfoundland. We were having tea about the Club fire, and were discussing sporting literature, when someone chanced to remark that he would like to get a book on ski-ing (she-ing). Some bright humorist immediately suggested some of Elmer Gity's works, and after he had been summarily dealt with, the recurrence of similar jokes was prevented by altering the pronunciation.

Besco President's Latest Message.

Prime Minister Urged to Use His Influence With the Miners.

We learn that up to 2 p.m. Mr. Archibald, Manager of Besco, who arrived yesterday by S.S. Sylvia in connection with the Bell Island dispute, had not communicated with the Government. The Prime Minister, however, received a message this forenoon from the President Roy Wolvin, which is as follows:-

Nothing in Particular

By TRINCOLO. SKI-ING. There is a proverb which states that everything comes to those who wait. In ski-ing, the opposite is true, for quite a lot of things come to those who don't wait, chief among which is a very frequent acquaintance with the stars. Since taking up ski-ing I have become acquainted with more constellations than any astronomer who has spent a lifetime with his eyes glued to a telescope.

Very little is known of the origin of this winter sport. Ski's were invented by a Norwegian, a doctor, I believe, and as soon as they were put on the market, every person in the country, between the ages of two and ninety-eight, immediately dropped his cross word puzzle, or whatever was the particular craze of the moment, and spent the greater part of each day trying to break his neck on the nearest mountainside. So popular did the sport become that a professional assassin, discarding such old-fashioned ideas as poison and revolvers, induced his intended victims to try a new ski run he had found. At the bottom of the run would be a deep pit well covered with snow, and this he had had might have depopulated Norway had he not slipped one day and fallen into one of his own pits. It is only when you take a steep ski run for the first time that you discover what nasty things your feet can be at times. They simply refuse to be controlled, and when you fall as you usually do, even a Girl "Guide" would find it difficult to untie the knot your legs have tied themselves into. One thing about ski-ing that is especially appreciated by men is the opportunity afforded them to vary their clothes from the ugly garments which fashion dictates for them.

Take the matter of headgear, for instance. Stocking caps in weird colors, and fur hats in a wide variety of shapes can be worn without the slightest feeling of discomfort. The aviation helmet worn by the Secretary of our Club is perhaps the most fetching of the lot. The chief objection I have to ski-ing is its pronunciation. According to the best authority it should be "she-ing", but this, whilst far more pleasing to the ear than either "ski-ing" or "skying", lends itself far too much to those who would be humorists who are always seeking for an opportunity to display their feeble wit.

An incident at our Ski Club the other day has led to an official proclamation to the effect that "ski-ing" is the only pronunciation which will be considered correct in Newfoundland. We were having tea about the Club fire, and were discussing sporting literature, when someone chanced to remark that he would like to get a book on ski-ing (she-ing). Some bright humorist immediately suggested some of Elmer Gity's works, and after he had been summarily dealt with, the recurrence of similar jokes was prevented by altering the pronunciation.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

CHURCH UNION VOTE. TORONTO, Feb. 10. Last night's Church Union summary showed 115 churches for union and 392 against.

ANTI-UNIONISTS WILL INTRODUCE AMENDMENT. TORONTO, Feb. 10. When the Church Union Bill is put to the Ontario Legislature it is proposed that Premier Herriot be empowered to secure an amendment stipulating that a two-thirds vote be necessary in order for a Presbyterian congregation to vote itself into the United Churches of Canada. Any such effort will be met with strong opposition by Unionists.

LEAGUE WILL RETAIN CONTROL. MARSEILLES, Feb. 10. Austria, which has been seeking emancipation from the League of Nations control over her finances on the League's Permanent Financial Committee that the necessary administrative reforms had not yet been carried out.

SERIOUS CLASH IN MARSEILLES, Feb. 10. The first clash between the recently organized Catholic party and the Communists, the activity of both of which Premier Herriot has termed menaces to the present regime, occurred here last night, when the Communists attempted to disrupt a meeting of Catholics, presided over by General De Castella. The net result was the wounding of 69 persons, and the arrest of 25. The reports this morning were that the wounded, who included three priests were in danger. The casualties were about evenly divided between the Catholics and Communists, except for four policemen, who were reported to have been most seriously injured. Revolvers were used during the attack but black-jacks and loaded canes were weapons mostly favored. The Catholic meeting had been advertised for some days in advance, but it was only yesterday that Communists announced counter-manifestations.

BANDITS ESCAPE WITH HEAVY LOAD. CHICAGO, Feb. 10. Fifteen armed men in five automobiles early to-day raided Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad Company's warehouses here and secured forty-six barrels of port wine, after they had forced warehouse employees to assist them.

WEMBLEY ON THE CURTAIN. To-night's address on Wembley by Miss A. M. Horwood at the St. Mary's Parish Hall promises to be a great attraction and will no doubt be both interesting and instructive.

For seven consecutive years Buick has been awarded first choice of space at the National Automobile shows. This award is made on the basis of the largest volume of business done during the preceding year. Buick has been able to transact such a huge volume of business only because motorists have found Buick automobiles to be "Better Automobiles" and have bought them for that reason. The present year is no exception. It sees Buick well on the way to the production of its Two-millionth car. More and more motorists are turning to Buick as through various channels they receive convincing proof that regardless of price Buick is the greatest value on the market. And these owners are learning by experience that all the good things they have heard of Buick are true. They are making exacting tests of the car because they are new owners and they want to prove to their own satisfaction that all they have been told about the Buick is so. There is not a possible advancement in motor car design that Buick overlooks. Each possibility is studied by expert automotive engineers. It is tried and tested from every standpoint, but only if it can meet the rigid, iron-clad standards of Buick engineers is it included in a Buick car.

Annual Meeting To-Night.
The annual meeting of the Inter Club Bowling League takes place at the Seaman's Institute to-night, when arrangements will be made for the annual series of games. With the exception of one, all of last year's teams are entering, whilst applications have been received from some new teams, and it is anticipated that an interesting series of games will result. The championship last year was won by the Feldians.

BIG GAME TO-NIGHT.

The postponed hockey game between the Feldians and Guards, has been set down for to-night, and due to the fact that on this match depends the championship, a lively exhibition is assured. The Feldians will be assisted by the services of Jimmy Alder, who was injured in the last game and the Guards will line up without Currie, their regular goalkeeper, who has been confined to his home suffering from tonsillitis. He will be replaced by Joyce. The probable line-ups are as follows:—

Terra Novas vs. Guards
St. Bon's vs. Feldians
Terra Novas vs. Feldians
St. Bon's vs. Guards
Communications were presented by Secretary J. M. Tobin, from the Presidents of Halifax, and a New Glasgow team, offering to come here to play a series of games. The matter was discussed at length and it was decided that nothing could be done this season as to bringing any visitors here.

MERCANTILE HOCKEY.

ROYAL STORES 4
BOWRING BROS. 2

In a game that was hard fought from beginning to end, the Royal Stores defeated Bowring Bros. last night, by a score of 4-2.

After about ten minutes the Royal Stores opened the scoring, but were unable to do so again the first twenty minutes. The second period saw both teams again down to serious work with Bowring's endeavoring to even up the score and their opponents keeping them from doing so, whilst they in turn were trying hard to increase the gain they had. Fifteen minutes had elapsed without result, when the Royal Stores were again successful, but scarcely had they realized it when Bowring's scored their first goal. Only about a minute had passed when Kennedy, of the Royal Stores, shot from centre ice, and the puck not being seen by Murphy, Bowring's goalie, the third goal was registered. Bowring's still continued to have hard luck on goal and only a couple of minutes remained when they scored from a scrimmage. This concluded the scoring.

RENAULT BEATS ROPER.

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 31.—J. Renault, Canadian heavyweight champion, decisively outpointed Capt. Bob Roper, in a ten round bout here last night. After the first round, which was even, Renault clearly showed his superiority.

WINS ON A TECHNICALITY.

Bombardier Wells, was given the decision over Soldier Jones in a bout at Brighton recently. The match ended in a riot, when the referee declared the Englishman the winner, disqualifying the Canadian for back heeling. Jones had the better of the bout until the sixth round, when it ended abruptly.

GREB OUTPOINTS DELANEY.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 31.—Harry Greb outpointed Jimmy Delaney, St. Paul light heavyweight, in 10 rounds here last night, in the opinion of newspapermen.

STOOD FOR 12 ROUNDS.

For 12 rounds the terrible wallows of Paul Berlenbach bounced off Tony Marullo's chin recently at New York. Marullo lost the decision, but he took a hammering that might have killed many another scrapper. Marullo's leg work was what saved him in the critical moments, for it enabled him to stagger, heavy-legged and dizzy, beyond the range of some of Berlenbach's worst assaults or to stay on the end of the punches and roll with them, when most of their force was spent.

HOKEY PLAYER INJURED.

In last night's hockey game, Mr. R. Clarke of Bowring's team received a nasty cut over the right eye from a collision with an opponent. The blow opened up an old wound that was there and inflicted a new one. His injuries were dressed at the rink office.

INTER CLUB BILLIARDS.

Honors Evenly Divided Last Night.
The inter-club billiard tournament between the M.G.C.A. and C.E.L. players was continued last night, one game being won by each side. In the first, L. Hookey (C.E.L.) defeated G. Froud by 30 points, the breaks being:

Majestic Feature a High Liner

A SENSATIONAL STORY.
Last night Majestic patrons were more than pleased with the bill "Destiny." The feature is a story of Madalyn Harlan and Bob Elkins wait to break off their engagement until they are walking down the flower-strewn path of their open-air wedding. They decided they can't see it through and Madalyn flees to the arms of the man she really loves. He is Jerry Ryan, the Harlan chauffeur, and Madalyn gets secretly married to him.

Bob turns for consolation to Ruth Cassell, and she responds to his passionate love making by giving him her first kiss in a private room at the Casa Diablo. She considers the kiss proof of their engagement, and is baffled and hurt when Bob treats the matter as a joke. But Bob finally decides he cannot live without her and finds happiness with her.

Madalyn, in the meantime, feels her way by telling her parents that she and Jerry are engaged. Jerry is discharged and she is forbidden to see him again. However, she makes a clandestine visit to his home, and there she finds that her social background raises an almost insuperable barrier between her and the Ryans. Back at home, however, she realizes that her desire for Jerry is more powerful than her caste instinct, and, tossing away wealth, social position and the affection of her parents, she goes to Jerry's home.

Mrs. Ryan, not knowing of the secret marriages, refuses her admittance and says her son Jerry does not want anything more to do with her, Madalyn, in despair, takes poison in one of the cafes.

The manager, thinking her in a stupor of intoxication, carries her to a taxicab, with orders to the chauffeur to drive her to a hotel for the night. The chauffeur is Jerry, and it is not until he lifts Madalyn from the taxicab that he discovers she is his wife. She is dead.

The morning newspapers carry two sensational stories, one of the disappearance of Madalyn Harlan, and the other of Jerry Ryan, who, driving his taxicab, madly plunges off a city dock. Jacobson and Evans registered a big hit with their musical programme. Mr. Jacobson's piano selection "Second Hungarian Fantasy" won rounds of applause. No one should miss it today and to-morrow.

CAPT. CHAMBERS REJOINS SHIP
 —His Honor Mayor Cook received a message from Halifax to-day stating that Capt. Chambers, of s.s. Digby has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to join his ship sailing to-night for this port.

The Late Dr. Cowperthwaite

The death of the late Dr. W. M. Cowperthwaite, which occurred with such tragic suddenness early on Thursday morning, deprives the medical profession of a strong practitioner and the community of a sterling citizen. A leader in his profession virtually from the time he began practice 25 years ago; a citizen who won without conscious effort, and enjoyed to a rare degree, the respect and affection of his fellow-citizens; a purposeful, genuine, lovable man, whom it was a pleasure to meet and a privilege to know,—such was Dr. Cowperthwaite, to whom the call "from the great deep" has come at what might seem to be the very prime of life. The pathos of such a passing surely carries a solemn message to all of the uncertain tenure of the silver cord of life, even when men regard it as most secure.
 Old school ideals of honor and service; coupled with brains, courage and progressiveness, lay at the basis of the late Dr. Cowperthwaite's splendidly successful professional career. His reputation was established in the first years,—even in the first months,—of his practice, and it endured and grew because it was based on character and merit. If his personal profit from his profession was not commensurate with his success as a medical practitioner, it was because he refused to commercialize the calling which he loved and which he followed in the true spirit of service.
 The passing of such a citizen is a profound community loss, but the example of such a career is a rich community heritage.—Sydney Post.

Sachem Stern Frame Arrives

The new stern frame for the S. S. Sachem, weighing nine tons, which was sent to New Glasgow to be machined, arrived by the Silvia yesterday, and was taken in a lighter to the Dry Dock dock; the afternoon. The new rudder, which arrived by the last Digby, has been put together and is ready to be stung, so that repairs to the ship will now proceed with despatch.

The success of a social gathering depends largely on minor details. An ideal atmosphere must be created at the start. Brightness, colour and gaiety here all to be suggested by decorations. One of the best ways of obtaining this, either at a dance or a children's party, is by the liberal use of toy balloons which can be had at very little cost from ROBERT A. FEMPLETON, 321 Water Street, Feb. 9.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—I will again be very thankful if you will publish my short letter referring to the farmers of Newfoundland. One of the most needful and lacking industry in the country is farming. We have not a farming country to grow wheat, fruit, and that sort of thing, but you can grow the full amount of the chief food of Newfoundland, that is potatoes, turnips, cabbage, beet, carrots, parsnips, etc. Then for meat, all kinds of cattle can be raised. Possibly some of the people say it would not pay. Now if it does not pay, why do they grow the amount that is grown. If it pays to grow a small amount of vegetables and cattle in our country, it will pay better to grow a larger stock with a greater benefit to the producer and the consumer. To my knowledge it has never been explained or directly given to the farmers the full amount of the cost of produce, which is being imported to show them how many thousands of dollars they are losing each year by not getting right down to business and growing all that is needed here. We have nothing to help the farmers of our country. The Agricultural Department has never done much for the farmers. Here is one thing the Government can do for the farmers. All farming machines and seeds can be imported for them duty free. Have a special talk for farmers, and encourage them to grow more. There is one thing, you have to be a farmer. It is foolish to think all you have to do is throw the seed in the ground and you have all you want. No, it's a trade; you have to know your work. This work can be improved by the sons and daughters receiving an education, so they can read and figure out the needs of our country, and to learn that every dollar they can save from being spent for meat and vegetables imported from other countries makes our country 100 per cent. richer. Anything you can grow or do in our country to keep from importing goods makes our country richer. This is where our people need education. Half of our people do not know it. It is right up to the people who are looking on in our country to produce more of everything that can be grown. A larger output, that is what pays, that is the idea of the American people, and they are perfectly right. The U.S. population is just about one-sixteenth of the whole world, but they have forty-two per cent. of the raw material and manufacture of the world. There is another thing—our people may think that things come easy in U.S.A. No, American people are busy workers. They are always pushing and ready to go ahead, therefore they will go ahead. My advice to my own country people is do all you can on a rainy day as on a fine day. Keep improving things; increase output, use your brain for easier methods, and to enable you to work faster; do not think you have done too much, and it is up to all to pull together; do not be afraid to work, as very few things are done without work. Remember our soldiers did not win the war by looking on. They had to fight and stick to it, so it is to-day. The people will have to help each other to bring our country ahead, there is lots to be done. My best wish for the farmers of our country is to produce more. I should like to ask what was the amount and cost of produce imported into our country for the year 1924, in order that the farmers may see how much more money they might have earned. Again thanking you, Mr. Editor, for space in your valuable paper, I remain,
Yours truly,
RONALD TUCKER.

SIDE TALKS.

"WATCHMEN, TELL US OF THE NIGHT."

We are apt to think of the day time as the time when all the world works and the evening and night as the time when all the world plays and then goes to bed. But all the world doesn't go to bed. If it did for one night, the part of the world that has been served by those who reverse the natural time for sleep, would suddenly realize the fact and the importance of this service. My mind was focussed on this subject recently by two small incidents. I took a taxi one bitter night at eleven o'clock. As I got out I commented on the cold. "You bet it's cold," said the taxi man, "and it will be colder before it's warmer." "How long do you have to stay on duty?" I asked, "until four o'clock," said he. I had always expected to get a taxi if I needed it at any hour of the day or night, but the human aspect of it hadn't come home to me until that minute. From some time in the early evening until four—what a beastly shift, how lonely, how dreary, and how completely it cuts him off from the normal gatherings and the normal activities of his kind!

What A Lonely Job!

The taxi took me to the woman's club at which I was spending the night and the housekeeper let me in. I suddenly visioned her not merely as someone who was there to let me in at eleven, but as another one of those who watch while the world sleeps. Her shift, I found, extended until 6.30. How long those hours must seem, without human contacts, without the breaking into periods which the lunch hour and its social aspects give the ordinary working day! She is on call for any emergency, and she has a few definite duties, but her biggest duty is just to wait. Truly "they also serve who only stand and wait."

And how many of them there are who both wait on our need and actively serve it through the night. I suspect we haven't the faintest idea, who use the day for work and pleasure and the night for rest as nature meant them to be used.

Those Who Work While We Sleep.

There must be those who care for the dynamos that give us our electric lights; there are thousands who make transportation a night as well as a day possibility; there are many thousands who are ready to answer when we lift the telephone from its hook (I hope some humorists won't seize this chance to make a paragraph. I see the opportunity I give him but it is a commentary on the way we take service for granted that the time when the girl doesn't answer is the only time we think worthy of note). There are many more who must look out for the electric and telephone wires and be ready to go out into the night to repair them when the storm is fiercest and we fortunate ones hug our fires most closely. There are train despatches and telegraph operators and the night watchmen, and those who steer the ship and tend the fires, and those who keep the all night restaurants open, and there are newspaper men—the least to be pitied because their job is not a lonely one, but the most social and the interesting in the world. If I could live one year of my life over it would be the year when I worked on a morning newspaper.

Our Gratitude To Those Somesones.

But many of those who work at night, and I know there are innumerable jobs that I have not named because I either do not remember them at the moment or do not realize that they exist, work alone and without the stimulus that comes from social contacts and from knowing that the whole world is putting its shoulder to the wheel with them. Of course they don't as individuals have to do it. But someone has to. And we who profit by the services have good reason to be grateful to those Somesones who for one reason or another are willing to shoulder this disagreeable burden for us.

UNWILLING REFORM.

When I drink were cheap and beskers deep. Bud Bungstart poured them in; he'd trade his shoes for stoups of booze and panikins of gin. He blew his kale for beer and ale and liquors white and red, and often woke all cick and broke, with green pains in his head. Then Volstead came and played his game and all saloons were shut; and drunkards weak were forced to seek the bootleg merchant's hut. The idle rich may delfly pitch some garons down their throats, cooled off with ice—they have the price, the kopecks and the groats. The price is high; a drink of rye that's made of overshoes, will cost one more than cost of yore, a jug of licensed booze. Bud's thirst was great, but his estate was humble and obscure; he couldn't buy the costly rye—it's fierce, this beer poor! For quite a while his thirst will die, it plagued him night and day, it kept him hot with dreams distraught, and then it died away. At last, surprised, he realized he had no wish for booze; he did not long for liquors strong, the kind the scollfaws choose. His nose was white, to his delight, his muscles didn't jerk, and in his step there was new pep, new energy for work. With no saloons to lure gossoms to Barley-corn, his ranks, old thirst will die, as years go by, and savings grow in banks.

Household Notes.

Chives, parsley, sage and mint can be grown in a box in a sunny window of the kitchen.

Top sauted rounds of bread with slices of canned pineapple and garish with candied cherries.

Use a grapefruit knife for scooping out the insides of baked potatoes that are to be refilled.

Before dipping orange sections in fritter batter, soak them in sugar syrup flavored with mint.

When making mayonnaise for fruit salad, use pineapple or lemon juice in place of vinegar.

When making butter icing, substitute maple syrup for the usual amount of milk or water.

To poach an egg very daintily break it into a greased cup and set in a covered pan of hot water.

When making chocolate cornstarch pudding, line the bottom of the dish with cut marshmallows.

To have your meringue delicately brown with a creamy inside, bake it for 15 minutes at 300 degrees F.

"Exhausted Nerves and Palpitating Heart"

Mrs. L. Whiting, 202 King St. West, Brockville, Ont., writes:

"I look very sick with my nerves and stomach, and seemed to be all run down. At times my heart would flutter and palpitate so and I would take such weak spells in the pit of my stomach that I sometimes thought I would never get better. I tried several doctors, but it seemed nothing they gave me helped. I had almost given up hope when a friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. I tried it, and can say it certainly has done wonders for me. I did not stop until I had taken twenty-five boxes."

Beat Two of His Children to Death

WHILE IN A RELIGIOUS FRENZY.

ROTTSTOWN, Pa., Feb. 2.—Walter Bingham, a farmer, of Warwick township, near here, while in a religious frenzy Saturday, beat to death two of his three children. When police broke into the farmhouse they found the farmer's father, George C. Bingham, 75 years old, also dead. His death was probably due to excitement. Bingham is in the Chester County Jail at West Chester, violently insane, the police say. Bingham's wife had a narrow escape from the same fate of her two children. She was at a neighbor's house when the tragedy occurred.

PLAY THE GAME.

Play the game, and play it fairly!
Meet the odds against you squarely.
Know the rules which men have fashioned.
And be governed by them, too.
When the other fellow's gaining
Don't start whining or complaining.
Play the game a little harder,
Stand right up and see it through!

If in team play you are entered
Let your every thought be centered
On contributing your efforts
To the glory of the whole.
For if you're a pliant seeker,
By that much the team is weaker,
'Tis the victory you're after,
Not the credit for the goal.

Play the game and take the bruising.
Play it well, though winning, losing.
Be too big for pretty meanness.
Be too big to foul a foe.
Put your heart and soul right in it.
Fight with all your strength to win it.
But don't think you should be favored
And be spared from every blow.

Life's a game! How oft we say it!
We're the children who must play it,
Gain the less forever bleated.
By the rules which guide us all;
Give your best to home and neighbor,
At the day's task brave labor,
Have a creed to shape your conduct
By the right thing stand or fall!

Market News

Codfish—All the markets except Spain have weakened more or less the past week. This is mainly attributable to over-supply. The increase in consumption that is likely to set in during this month will very likely relieve this condition of affairs and strengthen prices back to December figures. This week Oporto consumed 2,000 qtls. roundly more than the previous week. The same rate of increase is expected in other markets coming on to the Lenten season. The Brazil market is said to have declined two shillings this week, but may recover on short supply for the spring. The exports this week were as follows: By S.S. Rosalind, 2,578 qtls. to New York and Halifax, from various shippers, for transportation to the West Indies. By S.S. Julius Holmbald 2,970 qtls. from the Norwegian Products Co. to Oporto, Seville, Genoa and Patras. By schr. Cecil Jr., 4,073 qtls. from F.P. Trading Co., Port Union to Pernambuco. By General Trenchard, 3,833 qtls. from the estate of Harris & Co. Grand Bank to Oporto. By schr. Gertrude, 2,740 qtls. to Oporto, from G. M. Barr. Total 39,994 qtls.

Common Cod Oil—Many have been looking for an advance in this commodity, owing to the great shortage in menhaden oil produced in the United States last year. To any person looking to see fancy prices for common cod oil in the near future we need only refer them to the present condition of tanners and the leather trade in general throughout the United States. Things are in a deplorable condition owing to no many substitutes for leather, and the impossibility of dealers getting adequate prices. There has been an over-production of boots and shoes in America, and nothing but bankruptcy is staring many of the largest manufacturers in the face throughout the United States.

Cod Liver Oil—Information regarding prices by the last foreign mail is very conflicting. The London market reports a decline in prices owing to Norwegian exporters forcing the sale of last year's oil. The New York market reports an advance owing to an exceedingly good demand and a very short supply at hand. One point we would like to emphasize is that never since cod liver oil has become a marketable article in the world has it received such attention from the scientists, doctors and the drug trade in general, as it is receiving to-day. Compliments on the exceptionally fine quality put up in Newfoundland are being continually received. One man writes I never had any idea you put up such a tasteless and odorless production. There is as much difference between day and night as what we received from Newfoundland a few years ago. The exceeding strict Government inspection, and the efforts of the refiners themselves to produce the very best oil, and to allow no thought of gain to influence them in allowing a second class article to be mixed with the best is now being recognized by foreign buyers. If these efforts for high class production are only kept up we will soon reap the reward we are looking for in higher price and large orders.

Flour—The wheat market, after running up to 219 at Winnipeg at the end of last week, reacted back 18 points by Thursday, which is regarded by many importers as the prelude to an early swing upward again by gradual steps to around 218 to 220. This, of course, will depend upon what surplus will be available for export from the Argentine and Australian wheat crops now coming on the market. Newfoundland is still getting the benefit of lower priced flour than that for which it can now be imported. The offer from Canadian mills this week is $12 1/2 lb. The local wholesale price is $11.75 for leading brands. Other brands, including Pillsbury's Best, are $11 to $11.45.

Pork—Advices from Chicago this week indicate that prices for barreled pork are advancing and that values will be much higher for this commodity in the coming spring and summer. In the local wholesale market this week prices hold the level of the previous week except in spare ribs, which are now quoted at $20.50 instead of $23.25 per barrel as on last week. This state of affairs cannot last long as the quotations here are from 50 cents to $1.00 per barrel over the cost of pork that in future will come forward. Fat back and short cut clear are $32.25 and ham butt $34.50 per barrel wholesale.

Beef—There is no change in the wholesale quotations for barreled beef this week. The market in the United States is, however, quite strong as in the case of pork and it is expected that a considerable turn upward beef prices are likely to follow. Bos fam medium is still $27 in the local market, extra family $24, naval beef $24.50, family special $21.25, nonfat steaks $21 and plate beef $21 per barrel wholesale.

Sugar—The U. S. Bureau of Statistics gives the world crop of sugar this year as 24,000,000 short tons (2,000 lbs.). This is the highest record yet. Of this about 16,500,000 is cane sugar and the balance is best sugar mainly grown in the European countries. These figures give an expectation of lower prices when the new product comes on the market in quantity. This week the wholesale price is down to $6.80 per 100 lbs.

Molasses—Very little business is being done on the spot. The trade is going almost wholly for American granulated sugar. Reports from Barbados are not encouraging as the planters refuse to sell their molasses as prices recently quoted. The outlook for the growing crop is not nearly so bright as a month ago, as lack of rain is delaying the growth of the cane. The trade here expects to see a considerable reduction in the present rate of duty, which is now exorbitant and killing business with the British West Indies.

Tea—The tea market is in the same strong position. The demand is being close on the heels of supply, and it is expected that the spring situation will be stronger instead of easier in the London market. The last shipment from India for the season are now on the way to London, and when these arrive there will be no more available for a few months. Local prices range 50 to 80 cents per pound.

Oats—The price of oats advanced to 25 cents per sack over New Year prices this week. Sellers are predicting even higher prices soon. A telegram from Montreal this week to an importer said "the oats market is advancing daily," which indicates that we may expect a season of several months of high prices on this commodity. Black oats very scarce are quoted here at $4.50 to 4.60, white $4.20 to $4.35 and mixed, $4 per sack.

Catalina Notes

Some time ago, in noting the doings of Caribou Lodge, No. 74, S.U.F., we predicted social events during the winter. We do not claim the prophet's mantle, but Caribou Lodge has lived up to our expectations. On the week succeeding the annual meeting the members held a most enjoyable evening among themselves, but it was thought then that something more was needed, and the decision was a dance and supper to be held on Candlemas night.

Through force of circumstances the time had to be held over until Wednesday, Feb. 4th, but the delay proved no deterrent to the crowd, who rapidly filled the hall during the evening. The proceedings opened with an impromptu concert, "Jingle Bells" being the opening chorus. Mrs. J. S. Courage, wife of the genial Secretary of "Caribou," presided at the organ, while selections of songs and recitation were given by the following artists: Mesdames S. W. Miffin, S. J. Hefferton; Misses P. M. Haynes, L. G. Gury, Rose Hoskins; Mr. R. G. Haynes.

Chorus familiar to all were interspersed throughout. Gramophone selections were also in requisition. The Hall was nicely decorated with crepe paper festoons artistically arranged. The colours emblematical of Love, Purity and Fidelity were everywhere in evidence, while "Welcome" dominantly placed gave to each visitor the written assurance of the feelings of Caribou members. After the concert a short interval, during which card games were the order of the day and then the good ladies, our willing auxiliaries on so many occasions, gracefully decorated the tables with all manner of sweet dainties, and one and all enjoyed the fruits of their culinary labours. Ere the tables had been cleared we could faintly hear from another room the strains of our local orchestra—only one piece but good—and heigho! for the dance.

Space was quickly made and while those who cared not for the "light tripping" went back to the card tables, yet the hall resounded cheerily to the music and the echo of the dancer's shoes. The spirit of good cheer and merriment was infectious, and each and all declared the night one of the best they had spent for some considerable time. And thus we wished it to be.

We cheerfully extend a due meed of praise to all who helped to make the affair so pleasant, particularly the different performers and the fiddlers, Messrs. Jesse Norman and Frank Haynes.

If the writer were merely an invited guest he would like a similar time next week. As it is our first social for 1925 it has eclipsed in some ways those of 1924, and we only echo the sentiments of many who were present last night when we say "don't stay too long ere you repeat."

Children's Colds Are Best Treated This New Way

After Using Vaporizing Ointment on Her Two Boys, George Street Mother Recommends Vicks Vapor Rub to Her Friends.

Mrs. Jos. Power of 16 George St. says: "I have two boys, eleven and twelve years old, who had very bad colds and sore throats. I rubbed Vicks on their chests at night, before going to bed, and it did them so much good, I told several of my friends about it."

Mothers prefer Vicks for children's colds because, being externally applied, it avoids so much internal dosing. It can be used with perfect safety on the youngest child. There is nothing to swallow.

When applied over throat or chest for sore throat, tonsillitis, bronchitis, head or chest colds, Vicks acts in two ways, both direct: It is absorbed like a liniment or poultice, taking out the soreness, and, at the same time, its medicated vapors are inhaled directly to the affected air passages.

Vicks is equally good for surface inflammations such as burns, bruises, cuts, etc., as for inflammation of the air passages.

United States and Russia

Cincinnati Times-Star: As we are free from the bitterness of the European struggle for existence, we can afford to be a little more independent in our judgment of the situation in Russia. Certainly it would be a joke for a nation to tell the world one year that it was entering a great war "to make the world safe for democracy" and a few years later to recognize a government which openly mocks at any idea of popular rule, which has substituted the Cheka and the mass terror for the ballot box and does not express the slightest intention of giving a majority of the people of Russia a chance to change even the personnel of their Government except by force.

A natural tone of kasha, between a tan and a grey, will be extremely good for spring.

LUX

You cannot buy good woollens, good silks, good satins, good velvets, or in fact any good article unless you pay a good price.

Just as Diamonds cost more than glass beads, as gold costs more than brass, so does Lux cost more than ordinary soap flakes.

If you wish to save money, don't buy inferior soap flakes, they will spoil your garments. Cheap inferior soap flakes will ruin your silks and rot your clothing. Always use Lux.

Lux is made and guaranteed by Lever Brothers, Ltd., soap-makers to His Majesty King George. Lux is reliable. Lux is as pure as the most expensive toilet soap.

Wash your baby's clothing with Lux. Use Lux for washing expensive clothes, your silks, velvets, woollens, satins, crepes, etc. Lux is sold only in packages.

When you pay many dollars to get the clothing you like, it is foolish to buy inferior soap flakes which will ruin good clothing.

Lux is so pure you may use it to shampoo your hair, or in your bath.

You can depend on Lux, beware of imitations, take care to get Lux, which costs only 10 cents per package.—Jan 6, 1925.

Little Jack Rabbit

by David Cory

"No, I didn't," answered Mrs. Duck, provoked to think that the kind doctor should be called out just at supper time. "If the Hopping Cough would only make that lazy old fowl hop about a little faster I wouldn't mind it in the least. He has never yet done a good day's work for kind Mr. Lucky Lethindfoot."

"I'll be home as soon as possible," promised the good doctor, picking up his little black bag and hurrying down the porch steps.

Dear me, it was fast growing dark, and Uncle Lucky's little white house on the corner of Lettuce Avenue and Carrot Street was a long way off.

Dr. Quack, stumpy give Little Jack Rabbit, stumpy give Pinky Candy Pill at bed-time, answered the good old doctor, who was dangerous about the Hopping Cough away. I told her to keep home from school for a day or two, then the telephone bell went, tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!

"Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!" asked kind Dr. Quack, picking up the receiver. "Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!" he exclaimed the next minute. "Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!" he exclaimed the next minute. "Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!" he exclaimed the next minute. "Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle!" he exclaimed the next minute.

Votes for Women

AYE LET HER VOTE.

If delusion is a pleasure, don't disturb me. Enjoyment is the only boon I crave; There's bound to be enough of gloom to curb me.

In the thought I'm bound for life to be HIS slave.

If you asked, what in connection with the franchise is my chief desire, I should reply: to find the person who can explain definitely where its great big boosted privileges lie; or where the general history of the franchise Democratic has shown itself worthy of the eulogies showered upon it. My idea of its formula would be, a luxurious sleeping car for rogues to travel upon and a national meeting pot where vice and virtue, honor and dishonor are enticed into one unidentifiable classification. No stability or fixedness in anything public. A swift response of opportunity where the crook, crank, or moral leper may hit under the bobbing head of honor battling bravely against the deluge of plunder and incapacity.

True I am not versed in the full history of the franchise, but on my views gathered from my short term of observation I have to say that what have man done with it. I repeat he has not stabilised matters, nor instilled fear into legislators to a degree where a promise of stability (general accord) can be seen even in the distance. Not at all. Democratic politics has come to be a public drift-net. Each decade unfolds precedents to develop later into established customs egging us into oblivion of what either the great charter or Democracy means. It's a clear case we have failed by the boosted franchise to mark the line of just procedure or make anything imperative except the more frequent use of it, and therefore the chief service of the vote to-day lies not in its entailability against corruption but as a weapon of public vengeance whereby offenders may be literally kicked out on the chance that worst offenders may come in.

No, the franchise is by no means a sure public safeguard. Man once captured over the right to vote has gone it blind for centuries. In his desire to make his power felt he has often lost all sense of just discrimination and hurled from office the best men of his country in exchange for rampant corruptionists and hoodlers whose wild promises have kept them in office long enough to bring that country to the verge of ruin and final collapse.

So much for the wielding of the franchise by feeble men. Ever on the ear falls the smile-enticing cry of "Votes for Women."

will ultimately mean victory man should unburden himself of his arrogant and selfish pride, and allow women to play a part in this incomprehensible privilege — Democratic legislation.

Working for S. W. Coast Suffers in North Sydney

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I am pleased to learn and to inform you that Mr. A. W. Shano, of the Nfld. Postal department here, with Mr. Richard Furneaux, a retired Customs Officer of Rose Blanche, now residing here, are both taking a lively interest on behalf of the sufferers at Rose Blanche, Petties and Burnt Islands, and are making a canvas of this town for those that are benefactors of their supporters, and are in hopes they will meet with a good response. It is good to see how eagerly one Newfoundland is so ready to respond to a call for their services in any way when good can be done. I am writing this as more of an act of appreciation for their good services, as both these parties feel so much for the sufferers to which both are well known.

Elinor Glyn's Story on Screen Captivates All

"HOW TO EDUCATE A WIFE" PROVIDES AMUSING ENTERTAINMENT.

Are you married? Do you want to be married? Or are you free and foot-loose? In any event, you cannot afford to miss the new Warner Classic, "How to Educate a Wife," which opened yesterday at the Nickel Theatre. It presents a novel angle of the eternal question, "To be—or not to be married!"

Knowing that "How to Educate a Wife" had been written by the noted love psychologist, Elinor Glyn, of world fame, I anticipated a picture of thrilling action and romantic charm. It seems that Dodson Mitchell and Zella Sears had a little of the "Thomas Hardy" instinct in them when they wrote the famous stage play, "Corned," a film version of which is coming to the Nickel Theatre Thursday. There is a prevailing element of Fate throughout the story, but it is an optimistic fatalism which leaves us pleased and hopeful.

Twin sisters who have been separated in childhood, meet when they are grown to womanhood. One is a thief, the other an heiress, and neither knows the other. The resemblance is so astonishing that their identities become mixed and the heiress is taken for the thief. It is fate which brings them together, fate which reveals who they are, and fate which straightens out a very complicated tangle for both of them.

Changing Our Crystal Set to a One-Tube Re-Generator

It is not expected that the fan who builds the crystal set we have described in the two previous issues is going to have the set finished by this time—much less will he have used it long enough to tire of it and desire a tube receiver. However, we think it a good idea to write these articles all in one series. Cut them out now, and when you do want to convert the crystal into a tube, you can dig out the article and go about making the changes.

In Fig. 1 is shown the crystal set which, it is assumed, you will have built. In Fig. 1, the instruments to the left of the dotted line "X" will be used in the tube set, that is, we will use the variocoupler and the secondary tuning condenser. The crystal detector, phones and the phone bypass condenser are disconnected.

In Fig. 2 is shown the circuit we are going to use in the tube outfit. Everything to the right of the dotted line will have to be added.

The additional instruments will cost about $10, including the tube, and may allow for the filament and plate batteries if a dry-cell tube is used.

Three Hundred People Turned Away

ARLIE MARKS CO. PLAY TO OVERFLOWING HOUSE.

The Arlie Marks players can boast of breaking all previous records, bar none, at the Casino Theatre last night. Long before starting time hundreds of extra chairs were placed and the building filled to its utmost capacity. Upwards of three hundred people had to leave without gaining standing room. This tremendous reception clearly shows that the Marks players have succeeded in giving the St. John's public the nature of entertainment it has been craving for, for years, and in their two productions so far, they have set their imprimatur of capability to please even the most discriminating. The play last night was "The Sins of The Fathers," a beautiful rural comedy drama brimful of punch and action. The leading female role is of course taken by the popular favourite Arlie Marks. Miss Marks has charm and lots of it. She has a lovely smile and the ability to coax a tear or win a laugh. Needless to say Miss Marks delighted her audience. The leading male role in this bill was taken by Paul Brady, who gives a masterful performance. Billy Phillips gives an excellent impersonation of old Judge Teeters. Miss Agnes Stutz, as Aunt Milly, endeared herself to the hearts of the public, and as a character delineator, Miss Stutz is in a class to herself. Lindsay Perrin, who played so excellently in the leading role of the first play appeared last night in an entirely different role, that of light comedy. Mr. Perrin held his audience in convulsions of laughter by his comic gestures and witticisms. Micky Kane, as the Bell Boy, quite suited the role which he essayed, as he is possessed of much wit. Peggy Logan and Merdle Scott gave satisfac-

Ice Parrier Stretches From Louisburg to Nfld.

"The worst ice conditions that have been noted in the Gulf of St. Lawrence in several winters prevail at present," said Capt. Spracklin, Manager of the Newfoundland Railway and Shipping Department at North Sydney, to the Post this morning.

"The Kyle, on her last trip to Louisburg from Port aux Basques, ran into the Arctic floes, twenty-five miles from Channel Head, Nfld., and was compelled to work her way through the field for the entire run across the Strait."

"Such conditions are not usually looked for this early in the year, as it is not customary for the main body of the Arctic field to reach these shores until the middle of February."

"It is not likely there will be an appreciable change in ice conditions during the spring, and as a result we fear that our Gulf schedule will be thrown out of gear."

Making Friends and Keeping Them.

There's little satisfaction in coaxing customers in one day with the bait of some "scheme" or deal, only to lose them to-morrow, when someone else does the same thing. That's not the kind of customers that make for permanent success of the grocer.

If we have Babbitt's Borax right one day and "almost as good" the next—sold it on a "drive" one day and at the "regular price" the next—there wouldn't be any "regular price"—or quality either.
