CHALLENGE TO KING AND HIS FOLLOWERS TO RESIGN SEATS

Vancouver Member Says Such Action Would Precipitate Election.

DEBATE ON ADDRESS

BY TOM KING.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—Harry Stevens of Vancouver this evening contributed the only tabasco sauce that flavored the dullest day in the debate upon the address. He challenged Hon Mackenzie King and his followers to show their sincerity by at once resigning their seats from parliament, assuring them that such action on their part would cause the immediate resignation of all the members and supporters of the government. This seeming too good to be true, Mr. Euler, Liberal member for North Waterloo, demanded to know if Mr. Stevens was speaking on behalf of the government. The recent gossip about the Vancouver man entering the cabinet gave weight to his remarks, and the Liberal members showed signs of great excitement. When Mr. Stevens replied that he was only speaking for himself and could only guarantee his own resignation, the Liberals burst forth into ironical laughter. However, the incident aroused a lethargic house, which had slumbered thru one or two speeches in French and another treatise on the League of Nations.

The government failed to move its motion, of which notice was given by Premier Meighen on Monday, to give the bill respecting the Ontario referendum precedence over the debate upon the address. The motion, however, may be made tomorrow. The absence of Mr. Meighen and many members of the house in attendance upon the funeral of the late Captain Tom Wallace caused interest to sag in the debate upon the address almost to the vanishing point, but it may revive tomorrow, when Hon. T. A. Crerar, leader of the Farmers party, is expected to speak.

Some Lively Scenes.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 22.—(By Canadian Press).—A further day of debate on the address in the house brought repetition of familiar argu-

GIRL IS VICTIM OF RARE DISEASE

Autopsy to Establish What Malady Caused Mabel Taylor's Death.

The death of Mabel Taylor, 11-year-old daughter of William Taylor, 48 Spadina avenue, on Sunday night, after an illness of less than twelve hours' duration has puzzled local physicians. Dr. M. D. McKichan, 686 Broadview avenue, who is to open an inquest at the morgue tonight, stated to The World last night that the disease which brought death with such sudden swiftness was undoubtedly a rare one, of which little is known.

Dr. Robinson, pathologist, attached to the General Hospital, is to conduct an autopsy at the morgue this morning to determine the nature of the disease that caused the little girl's death. His report is awaited with considerable interest by the medical profession.

The little girl, according to Dr. McKichan, complained of a headache between 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Between 5 and 6 o'clock Dr. K. A. McLaren, 504 Dovercourt road, was called in, and at 10 o'clock that night the child was dead. Shortly before death Dr. McKichan stated the little girl's body broke out in fairly large red blotches that had the appearance of bruises.

One Other Case.

"Whatever it is, the disease is undoubtedly not a common one," stated Dr. McKichan. "There is only one other case of this nature that came to my attention, and that was also in the vicinity of Spadina avenue, not so very far from the dead child's home, altho I do not believe there was any connection between the two."

Dr. McKichan explained that the body had been removed to the morgue because of the possible danger of the disease being infectious. He declared that he had secured one of the best pathologists in the city, in the person of Dr. Robinson, and believes that if it is in the power of any physician to determine the cause of death, Dr. Robinson will be able to do so.

Dr. McLaren, when interviewed by The World, stated that when he saw the child on Sunday evening he believed her to be suffering from acute gastritis or inflammation of the stomach. He admitted, however, the likelihood of the disease being a very rare one.

BY WARRANT TO H. M. THE KING!

Next year the firm of Henry Heath, London, will celebrate its hundredth anniversary as "hat makers." For years this firm have hatted the crowned heads of Europe. Kings of Holland, of Spain, of England, have worn the hats that came from these Master Hatters. For a quarter of a century Dineen's have held the exclusive agency for this city. No better sample of their handiwork can be found than this season's "Derby," the new style in stiff crown hat, with full round crown, medium roll, silk binding, made of the best quality fine fur felt. A neat, becoming shape, suitable for dress occasions or street wear. Dineen's, 140 Yonge St.

RURAL CREDIT SCHEME RAISES MANY DOUBTS IN MEMBERS' MINDS

Legislature Hears Explanation of Minister of Agriculture, But Spars for Further Time to Consider the Proposal—Banks Approve the Idea—Province Should Not Be Burdened With Liability.

The government's proposals regarding the establishment of a system of rural credits was the sole topic for debate at last night's sitting of the legislature. Hon. Manning Doherty, who is sponsoring the scheme, brought forward his resolutions, which were considered in committee, that $500,000 be set apart for the purchase of bonds to be issued to provide capital for the promotion of agricultural development by means of loans on farms on first mortgages. The minister was kept busy all night answering questions directed at him from all quarters of the house.

It would seem from the general discussion that the house as a whole has not a particularly intimate knowledge of the subject of rural credits, and that consequently they are moving gingerly in the matter. Meanwhile the insistence that more time be given for consideration is general. The report of the special committee on the subject was declared to be too academic to be of any great assistance and because the government's measure was practically the same as the one in force in Manitoba the report might just as well not have been made.

The upshot of the whole discussion was the passage by the committee of the resolutions and the bills were given second readings and referred to a special committee.

Bankers All Approve.

In moving the adoption of his resolution the minister of agriculture said he was convinced that the banks of the country themselves would not look upon a system of rural credits as a piece of class legislation and

BELGIUM TO PAY IN GERMAN BONDS

Wilson Recommends to Congress That Debt to U. S. Be Thus Liquidated.

Washington, Feb. 22. — Enactment of legislation authorizing the United States treasury department to accept German bonds in full payment of Belgium's debt to the United States contracted before the signing of the armistice was recommended to congress today by President Wilson. The total of this debt was placed at $171,780,000 with interest from April 15, 1919. Including sums advanced since the armistice, however, Belgium owes the United States approximately $343,445,000.

In submitting his recommendation, Mr. Wilson transmitted a copy of an agreement entered into with Belgium by the British and French premiers and himself to recommend to their respective governments that special German bonds be delivered to the reparations commission be accepted in an amount corresponding to the sums which Belgium had borrowed from the United States, Great Britain and France prior to the armistice.

This agreement was drawn and signed at Paris on June 16, 1919, and was addressed to M. Hymans, Belgian minister for foreign affairs. Mr. Wilson said that "for various reasons" the agreement was not embodied in the treaty of peace.

The reparations commission, congress was informed, has not as yet finally determined the details of the issuance of the recess bonds by the German government, but Mr. Wilson said that "in view of the approaching termination of my administration I have brought this matter to your attention, hoping that suitable action may be taken at the appropriate time."

Judge Rules Theft of Liquor Unpunishable

Atlanta, Feb. 22.—Thieves may steal your liquor without fear of prosecution. That is what Judge John B. Humphries of the Fulton superior court ruled at the trial of a city detective charged with the theft of liquor from a self-confessed bootlegger. The judge ruled that liquor has no legal status, and cannot be protected by the laws, consequently, one cannot be arrested for stealing it. He said that the owner of liquor might prosecute as a violation of the prohibition law, but not for stealing.

POISON INTENDED FOR EXTERNAL USE

Druggist Says Drug Called for in Prescription Was Unknown to Him.

ERROR COST WOMAN'S LIFE

Belief that the prescription filled for Miss Ethel Resnick, 291 Augusta avenue, on Saturday night, Feb. 12, called for barium sulphurette instead of barium sulphate, a harmless insoluble salt, taken preparatory to X-ray operations, to be used as a depilatory, was the statement made by Frank Caswell, proprietor of the People's Drug Store, at the corner of Spadina and Nassau streets, at the inquest held on her body last night. Caswell said he had never heard of barium sulphate, which was what the prescription called for, and after conferring with his assistant, Gordon Levack, 193 College street, decided that barium sulphurette had been meant by Dr. Pollock, who wrote it, and filled it, giving it to her husband with fatal results the next day.

Mrs. Resnick took the dose, a few grains of which was enough to cause death, in milk the next morning, and altho given antidotes by the doctors called to the home and in Toronto General Hospital, she died Sunday night after violent spasms of vomiting, followed by extreme difficulty in speech and final unconsciousness.

Druggist's Story.

Caswell admitted making up the prescription and was confident barium sulphurette had been meant, or he would have called up Dr. Pollock as on previous occasions he had done so, when in doubt over other prescriptions. He had never had any calls for barium sulphate, a harmless insoluble salt used in X-ray operations to define certain organs for photography, and was positive the word

WORLD WORKERS PROTEST THE GERMAN INDEMNITY

Amsterdam, Feb. 22.—The bureau of the International Federation of Trades Unions has despatched to Mr. Lloyd George a message on behalf of the 25,000,000 workers, appealing to the delegates to the London conference not to forget the effects their decisions will have on the working classes.

The message protests against the indemnity demands made upon the Germans, which, it is claimed, would reduce the workers of central Europe to slavery for a lifetime, prevent the reconstruction of Europe, intensify national hatreds and destroy civilization.

BOGUS WHISKEY STAMPS SEIZED IN NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 22.—Seventy-seven thousand strip stamps for use on whiskey bottles, besides thousands of case stamps, were seized today by secret service operatives in a raid on an electrically equipped counterfeiting plant on Oliver street. Three persons were arrested and another detained as a witness.

Premier Norris Threatens An Appeal to Electorate

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 22.—Should the opposition, for the sake of obstruction, or with the desire to embarrass the government, create an impossible situation, the government will, as soon as possible, appeal to the country.

With words to the above effect, Premier T. C. Norris at this afternoon's session of the legislature called for a show down on the "uncertain political situation" created by the group composition of the house.

Leave It To Electors.

"The electors of Manitoba chose this legislature last June to conduct their business," declared the premier, "but should events of the next few weeks demonstrate the impossibility of trying to carry on under conditions that are rather impossible or too difficult to cope with, we will then present the case to the electors of Manitoba at as early a date as possible and ask them to use their best judgment in the solution of the situation."

Issues Challenge.

The challenge was thrown out in the course of his address on the reply to the speech from the throne, and followed a declaration that the government had no desire to cling to office for the sake of office, an expression of the government's desire to co-operate with all parties, and an appeal to the various groups to get together with the administration in conducting the business of the legislature in the best interests of the people as a whole.

IMPORTANT CHANGES IN OIL REGULATIONS TO PROTECT LESSEE

Federal Order-in-Council Published—Early Applications to Stand.

OLD COMPANIES STAY

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—(By Canadian Press).—Two important amendments to the new oil regulations governing the Mackenzie district fields were approved by the privy council today. The first provides that companies incorporated, other than under part one of the companies act, prior to the passage of the new regulations, may continue to operate. The second states that applications received at the department of the interior, prior to the issuing of the new regulations, will be dealt with in accordance with the old regulations.

Affects Firms Now Incorporated.

Section 44 of the new regulations provided that companies acquiring by lease, assignment or otherwise, a permit or lease must be incorporated under part one of the companies' act, which provides that shares or capital stock must be without a nominal or par value. After this regulation was approved, it was discovered that companies had been incorporated and issued stock, with a nominal value, under the provisions of the prior regulations or had made other commitments in connection with their rights. To meet this situation section 44 was amended to permit companies, incorporated otherwise than under part one of the companies' act, which establish to the satisfaction of the minister of the interior that they acquired their rights under the prior regulations to petroleum and natural gas locations in the northwest territories.

Protect Applicants.

Section 51 of the new regulations has also been amended. This section provided that applicants for leases

COUNCIL OF LEAGUE TAKES UP BLOCKADE

Will Ask Governments for Information as to Present Powers.

Paris, Feb. 22.—The council of the League of Nations, at this morning's meeting, considered the question of application of the blockade to recalcitrant nations under the league covenant when the need for economic measures might arise. It also took up the women and children welfare question, as touched upon in article 23 of the covenant and various minor questions.

With regard to the blockade proposition, it was learned that organization of the blockade commission has been begun. The commission will comprise delegates from France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Norway, Spain, Sweden and Cuba. Pending action by the commission, the council will ask the various governments for all information as to their present powers in blockades, so that the commission may proceed rapidly to formulate its conclusions.

An international conference on the welfare of women and children was called by the council to meet at Geneva during the last week of June. The countries which signed the women and children's agreements reached by the league's labor conference in Washington are asked to send delegates.

The council decided on the appointment of a commission of three, comprising Madame Gaulis of France and British and United States members to investigate the deportation of women and children in Turkey to adjoining countries, as contemplated by the league's assembly.

Another step taken by the council was to draft a reply to the German objections to the plebiscite in the Eupen and Malmedy districts. In this reply Germany was reminded that the council already had definitely recognized the Belgian title to these districts.

The Speculative Bubble.

The Montreal speculators are suffering from a dose of "the morning after." Aided and abetted by The Globe in Toronto and The Star in Montreal, promoters and speculators and a dozen editors who bought into "paper" had a delirious time a year ago in the paper stocks, sugar, steamships and some other "insecurities." Steamers common was supposed to be put at 7 per cent. dividend basis and sold up in the eighties. Yesterday it went well below 30. Abitibi and Brompton in the papers were also up in the eighties, and were yesterday in the thirties. Sugar went up as high as 165, and has been down below 20. Even at today's market with the inflated capital Abitibi is selling at a round $200 per share, and with the price of paper falling and the old share capital all water even at that. The exploitation is discreditable to all those connected with it—newspapers, promoters and even the exchanges, and it is doubtful even yet whether the worst has been seen. There will be more casualties to report.

STAR WITNESS FAILS AT SPRACKLIN TRIAL TO EXPLAIN ACTIONS

Murder the Verdict In Canitown Tragedy

Brockville, Ont., Feb. 22.—(Can. Press)—The coroner's jury, at the conclusion of the inquest this afternoon into the death of Robt. Wood at Caintown, returned a verdict of murder.

Derrick Tennant, the aged uncle of Wood's wife, accused of the crime, will appear for trial at the assizes, which open here on March 29.

Edward Smith, Under Grilling, Admits Flight and Taking Assumed Name—Mrs. Trumble Reiterates That Her Husband Was Not Armed; Also Declares He Never Threatened the Minister.

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 22.—Searching cross-examination of Mrs. Lulu Trumble, widow of the victim of the Chappell House tragedy, and Edward Smith, "star" witness for the prosecution, featured this afternoon's session of the trial of Rev. J. O. L. Spracklin, arraigned on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Beverley Trumble during the raid on the roadhouse by license officers on the morning of Nov. 6.

Mrs. Trumble is Steadfast.

Mrs. Trumble, in spite of exhaustive cross-examination by R. I Brackin, chief counsel for the defence, refused to materially deviate from her story of the fatality as told at the coroner's inquest on Nov. 8, and, after two and one half hours' questioning, left the witness stand with her account of the shooting practically unchanged. She reiterated her previous statement that Trumble was unarmed at the moment of the shooting, and also swore that she had never heard her husband threaten the pastor-inspector regarding his activities as a license official. Mrs. Trumble gave extensive details of the night life at the Chappell House prior to Nov. 6, but declared that publicity given the roadhouse as as result of the Spracklin charges in June had considerably reduced the volume of business.

"Damaging Admissions."

Edward Smith followed Mrs. Trumble on the stand, and during his two hours as a witness underwent the most thoro grilling in the history of the Sandwich court. Damaging admissions regarding his actions immediately following the tragedy were forced from him under the relentless cross-questioning of Mr. Brackin—his flight across the river a few hours after the fatal shot had been fired; his failure to attend the inquest until after an interview with Aylmer Orton in Detroit, and his alleged conversation with Doctors Basley and Mills at the Chappell House, in which those witnesses swore that he stated that Trumble had been in possession of a gun.

Following resumption of the session this afternoon, A. Munro Grier, specially appointed prosecuting attorney,

ACCEPT THE TERMS OF STEEL MERGER

Halifax Shipyards Directors Will Submit Them to the Shareholders.

ALLOTMENT OF SHARES

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Directors of Halifax Shipyards, Limited, have approved of the terms on which the enterprise is to be consolidated with the Dominion Steel Corporation and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company Ltd., and, in common with the two larger enterprises will in the course of the next ten days or so formally submit the proposal before the shareholders of the Halifax company.

Exact details of the terms on which the shareholders of the three concerns will be asked to pass have not yet been made public, but it is stated on good authority that the terms to be offered the Dominion and Scotia companies will not vary to any important degree from those originally offered and which were accepted some months ago. So far as the two principals were concerned, these were as follows:

Dominion Steel Corporation: $95 par value in seven per cent. preferred stock, plus $40 in common stock of the British Empire Steel Corporation to each holder of $100 of the present securities. The six per cent. preferred stock of the Dominion Steel Corporation will be exchangeable share for share alike for seven per cent. cumulative preference stock of the new consolidation.

Nova Scotia Coal and Steel Company: $90 par value of seven per cent. preferred stock of the British Empire Steel Corporation, plus $40 in common to each holder of $100 par value of existing Scotia shares. The present eight per cent. preferred stock of Scotia will be exchangeable on the basis of $120 in British Empire Steel Corporation seven per cent. cumulative preferred for each share at present held.

The terms accepted by the Halifax Shipyards Limited will be announced later, but it is stated that these have undergone some revision downward in the new arrangement.

BRITAIN TO AWAIT NEW GOVERNMENT

Will Make No Suggestions to U.S. or Japan Till Harding Takes Reins.

London, Feb. 22.—Andrew Bonar Law, the government spokesman, questioned in the house of commons today as to whether Great Britain would approach Japan and the United States for the purpose of conferring on naval construction, replied that until the new United States government had taken office it would not be desirable to express an opinion or suggestion.

Another query was raised as to whether the cabinet had decided on any policy concerning the building of capital ships, in view of the Japanese and American programs. Mr. Bonar Law, replying, said the matter still was under consideration by the committee on imperial defence, and no decision had yet been reached.

Will Bar German Shipments Of Munitions to Argentina

London, Feb. 22.—The allied control commissions in Germany will prohibit shipments of war materials from Germany to Argentina of any other neutral country if such countries persist in trying to buy munitions. This announcement was made in British official circles here today.

It was stated that despite the reply of Argentina to the allied reminder that the Versailles treaty prohibits Germany from manufacturing or exporting war materials, no drastic measures were needed now for enforcing the prohibition on shipments to Argentina, but, it was said, continued efforts to obtain the same would bring the allied commissions to full exertion of their duties.

While it was appreciated that Argentina, like other neutrals, would appreciate the advantage of bargains in war supplies, it was declared this was impossible in view of the treaty. Efforts to obtain supplies would only embarrass the allies and Germany, and particularly the latter, which had enacted measures to forestall such shipments as were reported to be preparing for South America, it was said.

CONFEREES AGREE ON FURTHER RATES IN TARIFF MEASURE

Duty on Butter Reduced, But Other Dairy Products Unchanged.

SUGAR SCHEDULE SNAG

Washington, Feb. 22.—Agreements on rates in the Fordney emergency tariff bill on dairy products, olive oil and olives were reached today by senate and house conferees, but disputes over the wheat, sugar and tobacco tariffs prevented final action until tomorrow.

A compromise on the olive oil tariff was reached by the conferees, the rates of 60 and 70 cents per gallon, according to the size of the containers, being reduced to 50 and 40 cents respectively. The conferees also adopted the senate amendment imposing 25 cents per gallon on olives in solution and five cents per pound on those not in solution.

The rate of eight cents a pound on butter in the senate amendment was reduced by the conferees to six cents The senate amendments providing a tariff of 28 per cent. on cheese, 2 cents per gallon on fresh milk, five cents per gallon on cream and two cents a pound on condensed milk were adopted without change.

Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, head of the senate conference, said there was "a reasonable prospect" for a complete agreement by the conferees tomorrow, and added that "we have got to agree this week."

Snag in Sugar Schedule.

The sugar schedule appeared to be the principal snag of the conference, it was said, the house conferees continuing to stand out against any sugar tariff. The house managers also continued vigorous opposition to the senate amendment increasing the duty on wheat from 30 to 40 cents a bushel.

In the controversy over the tobacco tariff, Senator McLean, Republican, Connecticut, appeared before the conferees in behalf of the senate amendments. Senator Jones, Republican, Washington, also made a statement in support of the proposed tariff on apples, and the conferees agreed to strike from the apple rate clause a provision referring directly to Canadian apples, planning to make the provisions general to avoid giving offence to Canada.

Senator McNary, Republican, Oregon, also appeared in support of the senate amendment imposing a duty of four cents a pound on cherries, a rate said to be equivalent to $1.85 per bushel as compared with 25 cents imposed by the Payne-Aldrich law.

SHOE AND TEXTILE TRADE PICKING UP

Boston, Feb. 22.—Activity in shoe manufacture and definite improvement in textile lines as compared with conditions of three months ago are reported from centres of those industries in New England.

The shoe industry, which was virtually flat last fall, has taken a spurt as a result of Easter demands.

Production of cotton textiles has increased during the month from 15 to 25 p.c., and even more in special lines, according to manufacturers, who attribute the increase to the low trade quoted to the trade as a result of the 22½c per cent wage cut.

WANTS MORE LIGHT ON IRISH AFFAIRS

Archbishop of Canterbury in Lords Condemns Outrages and Reprisals.

London, Feb. 22.—The Archbishop of Canterbury in the house of lords today vigorously condemned the Sinn Fein "campaign of murder and outrage" in Ireland and also the reprisals taken by the crown forces. The archbishop demanded fuller information concerning incidents in Ireland. He declared that he voiced the feeling of many persons who were in a state of bewilderment with regard to the government's policy on Irish affairs.

"It is not a question of politics, but of ethics—the ordinary abiding principles of right and wrong in public affairs," said the archbishop. He added that Sir Hamar Greenwood, the Irish secretary, in the house of commons, had paid tribute to the character of the Royal Irish constabulary, but that he had "skated lightly over" the subject of the auxiliaries.

Lord Buckmaster, the Earl of Denbigh and the Bishop of Winchester, supported the archbishop's demand for fuller information. The lord chamberlain, in replying, said that everything possible was being done to give the full facts to the public.

UNEMPLOYED RAID CAFE IN MONTREAL

Hundred and Fifty in Party, and Twelve Ringleaders Arrested.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—(Can. Press) — Twelve unemployed, who were among 150 who raided the uptown restaurant of Child's cafeteria this afternoon at 292 West St. Catharine street, and obtained a free meal, were arrested by the police and were taken to headquarters. Only one of them had managed to secure the necessary bond of $50 to go free until tomorrow, when he will appear with his comrades before the recorder to answer a charge of vagrancy.

It was 4.15 when about 150 men, who claimed to be unemployed, raided the restaurant and demanded food. The men were served by the girls and men employes of the restaurant who were impressed into the service.

The police were notified and constables soon lined the walls of the restaurant. When the men left the police rounded up those who seemed to be ringleaders.

The visit to Child's was the sequel to another raid on Monday afternoon on the Capital lunch room, St. Lawrence boulevard, which followed a visit of the unemployed to the city hall demanding unemployment doles, a demand which was refused by the city hall authorities.

About 45 men were given a free meal at this restaurant.

STREETS IN NEW YORK NEARLY CLEAR OF SNOW

New York, Feb. 22.—Holiday suspension of business in downtown New York today gave the city's army of shovelers and their great fleet of tractors and trucks an opportunity to clear away much of the snow which, for two days, had hampered traffic.

Streets in the market and waterfront districts were virtually cleared.

When a heavy snowfall, beginning early in the day, gave way later to sunny skies, city officials in charge of removal work said that another 48 hours of work would put all the streets of the city in good condition.

City traction lines were operating on a normal schedule and railroad trians from all points were reported on time.

HAMILTON BOY IS REAL HIKER

His Walk to Toronto Only One of His Exploits as Pedestrian.

If youthful inclinations are any criterion, then Stephen Biozak, eleven-year-old Hamiltonian, living in that city at 33 Augusta street, will be a long distance hiker—may even walk around the world.

Forty or fifty mile hikes are nothing to him even now, but keep his parents in anxiety and the police of Hamilton busy trying to locate him.

Yesterday morning he started out from home and walked to Toronto, only to be arrested upon his arrival here as a vagrant. P. C. McMillan, who arrested him, found him wandering aimlessly around the west end of the city. Upon being questioned the lad told McMillan that he had walked from Hamilton. He was sent to the shelter on Simcoe street and the Hamilton police notified.

"What, again?" asked the voice at the other end of the wire. This is the third or fourth time he has wandered from home, and he always ends up long distances from home."

It seems that Biozak's father is up at Sault Ste. Marie and his mother is unable to keep him from wandering from home.

CLOTHIERS DISCUSS TAX ON TURNOVER

Apply at Source of Supply, They Resolve—Oppose Retail Sales Tax.

Discussion of the proposed turnover tax to be imposed on sales instead of the business profits tax featured yesterday's session of the Ontario Retail Clothiers' convention where a resolution was passed requesting application of the tax at the source of supply and that it be passed on to the retailer so that it could be absorbed in the cost. The convention strongly opposed a tax on retail sales owing to the annoyance placed upon the retailers in collection as well as the enormous expenses incurred. The establishment of a welfare fund was advocated, to defend the members from unfair and unjust legislation.

Resolutions favoring the increase in transient traders' fees and the appreciation of the association in the removal of the luxury tax were also passed, and it was recommended that more police be put on in both city and county to prevent theft of cloth which has assumed large proportions of late.

Untruthful Advertising Condemned.

A resolution was passed asking that an official be appointed by the Dominion government to prevent untruthful advertising in the press, and who would have power to prosecute those responsible. Provided the prices were the same, it was urged to buy home-made goods and to have four season instead of two season buying, which, it was thought, would solve the bargain sale problem, due to overstocking. The convention felt it to be detrimental to the trade for manufacturers to put on special retail sales, and most of the resolutions were referred to the Dominion board. An important resolution was passed appointing an information committee composed of Ed. Mack, Geo. Grey and G. H. Douglas, to pass upon all information submitted by the members to prevent any other than true statements regarding the reduced cost of material, etc., to be published in the press. This would do away with all injurious articles of a hearsay nature.

Addresses were given by J. Rosenbloom on ready-made clothing; T. W. Learie, W. Findlay, advertising manager of The Globe; F. W. Stewart and Harris Vineberg, Montreal, on questions relative to the trade.

Made-in-Canada goods should be bought in preference to foreign makes, it was felt, when prices were the same.

Officers Elected.

The officers elected for the coming year are: President, R. F. Fitzpatrick, Toronto; first vice-president, J. C. Begg, Hamilton; second vice-president, Geo. Grey, Chatham; secretary-treasurer, H. Bremner, Lindsay.

Advisory committee, R. H. Dowler, London; Wally Hearn, Stratford; M. J. Dedman, Lindsay; R. A. Stevens, Barrie; L. J. Peacord, Peterboro; Dan Johnston, Ottawa, and P. S. Cull, Guelph. Legislative committee, C. R. Shannon, London; H. D. Sherrin, Petrolia; H. J. Watson, Sarnia; Jack Engle, Hanover; R. Price, Niagara Falls. The five representatives to the Dominion committee will be selected by the executive committee, who will likely select Peterboro as the city where the next convention will be held.

BRANTFORD HEARING OF MURDER CHARGES

Two Aliens Alleged to Have Killed Geo. Popow Are Acquitted.

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Steve Cipeluck and John Balinski, charged before Mr. Justice Rose here today with murder, were both acquitted tonight. The charge against Cipeluck was not allowed even to go to the jury, Mr. Justice Rose declaring that the evidence was insufficient to warrant a conviction. The court commenced its night hearing at 7.45 and late this evening the jury, after 15 minutes deliberation, returned a verdict of not guilty for John Balinski. Both men were discharged by the judge.

Hearing commenced today before Mr. Justice Rose of the murder charges against Mike Balinski and Steve Cipleuck, who were indicted by the grand jury, out of seven foreigners under arrest. The skull of George Popow, the victim in the killing, was exhibited in court to show the points of fracture. Objection was made by the defence to evidence of Patrolman Stanley, who had asked Popow to identify his attacker before he had died.

Doctors' Views in Conflict.

A remarkable part of the evidence was that Dr. Fissette, a local coroner, had stated after an examination of Popow, just after the fight, that his injuries were not serious, while Dr. Barber, a few hours later, had diagnosed the injuries as a fractured skull and had ordered the man to the hospital, where he died.

In view of the fact that positive identification has not been established, the counsel for the defence are confident that verdicts of manslaughter will be returned by the jury.

Badly Hurt By Fall.

James Norwood suffered two broken limbs and injuries to his skull when he fell 30 feet in St. Andrew's Church here as a result of a faulty scaffold.

W. G. Cinnamon of this city declares that he is not the man who gave that name in the police court when he was arrested following the raid on the cock-fighting pit.

The number of unemployed in the city is increasing at present, and large numbers of the men gathered in the market place here today.

Present "The Christ Child."

Zion Presbyterian Church choir, which has recorded wonderful steps in musical advancement this season, outdid itself tonight when it presented "The Christ Child," with Frederick Gunstern of New York as soloist. The effort was the finest yet recorded of this fine organization of 45 voices.

FLAMES BREAK OUT WHEN CARS COLLIDE

Eight Killed, Twenty-Five Injured in Serious Accident in Connecticut.

WERE BURNED TO DEATH

Shelton, Conn., Feb. 22.—Eight persons were killed and 25 injured this afternoon when two trolley cars collided head-on on the Bridgeport-Shelton line, near High Bridge, in the southern part of Shelton.

The dead are: Milton Cheritree, of Shelton, motorman of the Bridgeport-bound car; Edith Wilkinson, four years old, of Shelton; Nancy Wilkinson, three years old, her sister; Freda Goldberg, 15 years old, of Derby; Harry Goldberg, 13 years old, her brother; Peter Kock, 26, of Shelton; an unidentified girl and an unidentified woman.

The collision occurred about 500 feet south of a switch, when both cars were traveling at a fair rate of speed. Witnesses said there was a loud report immediately following the crash, and flames burst out in the wreckage where the two cars were buckled together.

A report circulated among the crowd that gathered at the scene of the wreck was that a five-gallon can of gasoline was in the front vestibule of the Bridgeport-bound car. The source of the report could not be learned. Spectators were of the opinion that something accelerated the flames, as they spread rapidly.

Flames Swept Car.

There were but five persons in the northbound car, and all were able to get away safely and quickly. The southbound car, going to Bridgeport, had about 35 passengers on board. Panic broke out on the heels of the crash, as the flames shot thru the forward part of the car. The Goldberg children were seated in the front seat of the car and were caught in the first sweep of the fire.

Near the middle of the car was Mrs. Wm. A. Wilkinson, of Shelton, with her two daughters, aged three and four. As men among the passengers smashed windows, several of them made efforts to push the two little ones out of the car, it is said. But the attempt was not successful, and the bodies of the children were among those taken to a Shelton morgue. All of the bodies were charred and identification of the girl and woman whose names are unknown seemed almost impossible.

BOY CLAIMS ACCIDENT IN SHOOTING BROTHER

Sudbury, Feb. 22.—"I didn't do it intentionally. I loved my brother," said fourteen-year-old Delphas Nadru, on trial here on a charge of shooting his elder brother, Leon. He admitted a quarrel with his brother, but made light of it. He explained that he was going out to hunt with a playmate. When he picked up the rifle it exploded.

Charles St. Onge, a playmate of the Nadru boys, who was a witness of the tragedy, said that Leon swore at his mother and threw a stove-lifter at her. He then heard the rifle go off. Prior to that Delphas had pointed a knife at his brother.

Mrs. Nadru was not called.

SOLDIERS REINSTATED; IRISH GENERAL RESIGNS

London, Feb. 22.—It is generally accepted that Brigadier-General Crozier is the commander of auxiliary forces in Ireland who was referred to by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, in the course of a speech in the house of commons today as having resigned. His resignation is said to have been due to the reinstatement of soldiers he had dismissed for looting.

In this connection, the chief secretary stated certain men had been reinstated pending an enquiry into charges against them.

SELL SCHOOL SITE AND OLD BUILDING

Will Use Proceeds for Technical Industrial Education Purposes.

Another school site is to be sold by the Toronto board of education. The advisory industrial education committee yesterday afternoon decided to place the old technical school building and site on College street on the market.

Communications had been received from the board of control with respect to utilizing the old technical school building for civic offices and the Toronto public library board in regard to the opening of library rooms in the building.

A report from the building department of the board of education expected that it would cost $30,000 to fit up seven temporary school classrooms in the old technical school building.

The committee decided in favor of selling the property, the proceeds to be used for technical industrial education purposes.

Progress was reported with respect to the enlargement on the north side of the site for the $2,000,000 education block north of Danforth avenue between Donlands and Greenwood avenues. The purchase is expected to be completed in a few weeks. This does not affect the building operations which are to be started in the eastern division technical school during May. The building department is working on the specifications and recommended that tenders be called for early in April.

ALLEGES STUDIES ARE INTERRUPTED

School Trustee Desires Probe Regarding Many Subjects of Interference.

Toronto high and public schools are subjected to so many interferences, according to Trustee Wanless, that an inquiry with witnesses is required.

Trustee Wanless will move for such an investigation at the meeting of the management committee this afternoon. He gives the following as a list of interferences with tuition in the schools of Toronto:

Attendance at picnics, parents moving homes, working for parents, sickness in family, foreign religious holidays, cadet drill, Penny Bank deposits, concert preparations, various collections, sale of stamps, teacher's meetings and conventions, smoking cigarets, dances, running from school to school, backward pupils hold others back, lack of clothes or food and the personality of the teacher.

Trustee Wanless will also move that the chief inspector be requested to interview the department of education, and secure information regarding the contents of the new readers about to be issued, and to report.

Trustee Powell will move: "That the management committee be instructed to report to the board at its next meeting the number of persons in Toronto of either sex, to whom the term 'adolescent' is legally applicable under the adolescent school attendance act of 1919, or under any subsequent amendments of that statute, or under any regulations of the education department."

OPPOSE APPLICATION TO VARY VIADUCT ORDER

The board of control had a conference with Corporation Counsel Geary yesterday regarding the attempt of the railways to get out of building the viaduct. The board decided to vigorously oppose before the railway board the application of the railways to have the viaduct order varied.

It is said to be the opinion of Mr. Geary that it would be unwise for the city to take the matter to the courts at present, as this might tie it up for years. Before a definite plan of procedure is adopted there will be a conference between the board of control and the harbor board. The harbor commissioners have not yet decided whether to take the fight into the courts or not.

NEW APPOINTMENTS OF PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS

Chief Inspector R. H. Cowley has recommended the appointment of the following new public school teachers: Greta Jean Smith, Helen J. Waugh, Lulu Cleland, Vera A. Brownlee, Mabel A. Swift, Maud L. Brock, Dorothy A. Jones, Edith Govenlock, Jessie I. Kerr, Lucy Bower, Zella M. Cruess and Rachel Secord.

CHICKENPOX PATIENTS CAME FROM OTTAWA

The Toronto medical health department was called upon yesterday to find accommodation for a woman and her two children who arrived from Ottawa suffering from chickenpox

Dr. Hastings' department will ask the provincial health department to demand an explanation from the Ottawa authorities for permitting the woman to leave that city while suffering from a contagious disease.

She had in her possession a certificate from the Ottawa M.H.O. to the effect that the three were afflicted with chickenpox, and not smallpox.

HUGH MACMATH'S FUNERAL.

SUBURBAN AND COUNTY NEWS

CHANGES URGED IN ELECTION ACT

Blue-Ribboners in Convention Express Fear of Improper Registration.

SITUATION REVIEWED

Prevalence of Rum-Running Deplored — Controller Hiltz Gives Welcome.

The feature of the provincial prohibition convention which opened in Massey Hall yesterday was the unanimous vote to send a request to the Dominion government to have the elections act so amended as to prevent disorganized registration in unorganized electoral districts. Under the present plan of registration proper scrutiny of voters' qualifications was made difficult, if not impossible, it was declared.

President Charles S. Steele and Secretary Rev. Ben Spence dwelt upon the disagreement between the Dominion Alliance and the referendum committee, and expressed the hope that this disagreement would not prevent the friends of prohibition from voting against the importation of liquor into Ontario on April 18.

Some interrupters attempted to disturb the evening session of the provincial prohibition convention, but received a rebuke at the hands of one of the speakers, Hughson Johnson of Windsor. "Our friends up there in the gallery need to be cared for in a nursery for grown-up children; they have the stature of men but the intellect, unhappily, of boys," was the retort courteous of the delegate from Windsor.

The convention commenced its three-day session yesterday afternoon. Rev. Charles E. Steele was elected president.

Rev. T. H. Cotton, president of the Toronto Ministerial Association, in his address of welcome, touched upon the many faithful workers who had helped them to try to force prohibition upon the whole Dominion. He said that the present convention should itself register a mass resolution backing up total prohibition in Ontario, and thus influencing like action thruout Canada.

Controller's Welcome

Controller Hiltz in his address of welcome said he was a deep-dyed-in-the-wool prohibitionist. But that was his own personal equation in the situation. He believed he could express the opinion on behalf of the city that few bodies had done so much for the uplift of the people as the prohibition association. Public opinion had veered strongly toward a movement naturally unpopular with many in the Dominion. He expressed the hope that the great energy of both thought and action thrown out on behalf of the movement would never prove to have been spent in vain.

In his annual report the secretary, Rev. Ben Spence, of the Dominion Alliance, referred with deep regret to the death during the past year of several devoted friends of the cause.

Quarrel With Referendum Committee.

He then launched into an excellent report upon the refusal of the referendum committee to co-operate with the alliance. He produced a mass of correspondence between the officials of the Dominion Alliance and the referendum committee to show that the alliance had done all in its power to co-operate with the referendum committee. "Let me say, and here I wish to speak plainly," he went on, "there is in my judgment, determined if the covert design on the part of a few persons to destroy our organization and to knife the alliance. The alliance, however, declines to die, and, despite unbridled slanders, innuendoes, misrepresentation and abuse, however manifested, we will hold our course, and press with unremitting diligence to rid our beloved Canada of the curse of intemperance."

Bootlegging Operation.

Referring to the enforcement of the law the financial report points out that more than perhaps ever before the people of Ontario have had to face battle with deliberate organized lawlessness, adding: "There has been an adjustment of the bootlegging and rum-running business to new conditions, and a streamlining of operations that amounts to practical organized rebellion by powerful agencies and influences to unsettle authority." The secretary continuing, pointed out that the recent provincial convention of the Conservative party "declared emphatically for rigid enforcement in harmony with public opinion."

The treasurer of the Dominion Alliance, H. Shortland, pointed out that many subscriptions promised during the recent campaign had not yet materialized, but would undoubtedly cover the deficit suffered by the organization.

The treasurer's report was referred to the finance committee.

J. Cecil Bell, Rev. John Bailey M.A., and W. E. Smallfield, delegates to the recent prohibition campaign in Scotland, gave reports of the movement in that country. Mrs. E. C. Stevens, provincial president of the W. C. T. U., gave an interesting report upon conditions in England and Wales. She also advocated local option while over there. She had found Welsh people rater lukewarm regarding prohibition, but the wife of the British premier feared neither to use her tongue or her influence on behalf of the cause.

MASONIC TEMPLE HAD MOST ENCOURAGING YEAR

The report for 1920 of the Masonic Temple Corporation, Limited, shows up excellently and will prove most gratifying to shareholders and members of the craft generally. The income, $27,801.74, exceeds that of the previous year by $1,411.82, while the operating profit is $3,303.03. The balance at debit of profit and loss account is $64,091.25.

The balance sheet for the first time since the erection of the temple was undertaken is free from the items of bills payable and bank overdraft, etc. Outstanding bonds have been reduced by $17,100, and the directors hope that by 1928 the bond liability, $57,900, will be wiped out. Cash in bank on Dec. 31 last was $7,924.35.

PAY TO SOLDIERS WAS INSUFFICIENT

"Gunner" Considers Veterans Should Get Equal Treatment With Civil Servants.

WEST TORONTO

"Rank makes no difference; death levels all. I take it for granted that many men gave up responsible positions to go overseas as privates. Others there were who held only minor positions in private life and who went over as officers." The foregoing remark from J. V. Conroy as he concluded his address last night at Sovereign Hall, Dovercourt and Bloor, was greeted with applause. The previous speakers, Captain Molineaux, W. E. Turley and "The Gunner" of "The Compensation" booklet for C.E.F. men, had each dealt with a phase of soldier-civilian life from a new viewpoint, the product of months of pondering since "peace" began.

"We are amazed at the distress and discord that exists everywhere," said Captain Molineaux, who made a hopeful plea that if the men would stand together there would be yet something of a return to the peace of pre-war days.

Increase in Soldiers' Pay.

The address of "The Gunner," as the author of "Compensation," was lucid in its simplicity. "We received wages as soldiers, $1.10 per day, plus $20 per month separation allowance which latter was increased to $30. This $30 has never been increased. The pay was never increased, only the separation allowance. The pay was never increased, or compensated, according to the rate of increase allowed the C.P.R., for instance, according to the increased cost of living and according to the purchasing power of money. So as far as the G.W.V.A. is concerned, we are not asking any special additional remunerations."

The speaker referred to the rapid rise in the cost of living in 1918-19, which made it "absolutely impossible for ordinary men to live. We have as wage earners a right to expect the same conditions as were given civil servants or the members of parliament themselves. That is the principal we have established."

It was here pointed out that the reasons given for increasing the parliamentary representatives' salaries, was that the purchasing value of the dollar was only 48 cents as compared with the beginning of the war, and, hence, was raised to $4000.

Voted Against $2000 Resolution.

The speaker had attended the Calgary convention and had voted against the $2000 resolution, against applying to a man who enlisted in 1914 the same settlement as a man enlisted in 1918.

Other reasons were given to support the present "compensation" solution. "The allowance for a soldier in 1914 for clothes was $8 in summer and $13 in winter, upon his discharge. The amount of $50 was recommended, but this amount was reduced to $35." When this was eventually given effect, "Gunner" continued, "it did not have effect upon those discharged before April, 1918, and 30,000 men had been discharged before that.

Speaks On Gratuities.

"If you are a private you get $600 to tide you over unemployment," he continued, speaking of the war service gratuity. "If you are a major-general you get $5,000 and a good job." Pensions also were reviewed. The bonus on those was dated ahead to September 1, 1920, but the increase on the members' salaries had effect back to the beginning of the session."

"The government recognized in 1914," "Gunner" explained, "that $1.10 was not enough when they allowed the Canadian Patriotic Association to make loans. It might not have been sufficient in 1914, but still we were prepared to fight for $1.10. But when the cost of commodities as sugar rose from 6 to 24 and butter from 25 to 70 cents, you will readily see it was absolutely insufficient in subsequent years."

The ladies' auxiliary announced that tonight they are holding a euchre and dance.

MUNICIPAL OFFICERS NOT CENSUS-TAKERS

Ottawa Decides Such Information Is Confidential, Due to Taxing Needs.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—(Special) — The department of statistics at Ottawa will notify the assessment commissioners in each riding that it will not be permitted to make any appointments of any officials connected with municipal councils to the position of enumerator or any other position in connection with the taking of the census.

The reason for this is that there is a lot of information which the government will require to be taken and which will be of a confidential nature. The government desires to make it impossible for this information to be used for taxation purposes either for municipal, provincial or Dominion legislatures.

This prohibition will extend to reeves, rural councillors, town clerks, assessors, collectors, roadmasters, etc., or any person connected in any way with provincial or municipal offices.

In codicil executed at Mountjoyj on June 29, 1917, the testator directed that any moneys left after the death of the widow are to be divided between the two daughters, Martha, and Sarah.

"I also wish," concludes the codicil, "to have a tombstone, one that will do for the both of us, a square one, just an ordinary one, and not high."

Speakers at Central Methodist Men's Own Declare Organization a Blessing.

EARLSCOURT

The banquet held last night at Earlscourt Central Methodist Church under the auspices of the Men's Own Brotherhood was attended by over 150 members and friends.

Captain Sidney Lambert gave an address on "Brotherhood As We Soldiers Understand It."

He said that the effect of brotherhoods was evident in the large, representative gathering which has assembled. He considered such an organization a blessing.

Captain Lambert explained how, during the trying overseas experience, men of all classes united in a genuine spirit of brotherhood, and urged upon those present the necessity of carrying it on.

Other speakers were: Rev. E. C. Hunter, Rev. Peter Eryce, J. Huntley (president of St. David's Brotherhood), and G. Wills (president B.I.A.). The latter led the members in a chorus of community singing, and an enjoyable program of music was carried out.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a clock by the Men's Own Orchestra to the leader, George Robb, in appreciation of his past services.

The various brotherhoods in the northwest district are planning a union, in which Prospect Park, Oakwood, Earlscourt, Central and St. David's Presbyterian will be included. A committee, comprising presidents from the different brotherhood societies, has been appointed for the purpose of drafting the constitution.

TIME COMMISSION SHOWED ITS HANDS

Ratepayers Opposing Car Extensions as Local Improvements Enquire Transportation Policy.

NORTH TORONTO

That there was every indication of lobbying having been carried on with the transportation commission regarding the question of assessing extensions to street car lines on a local improvement plan and that this system was aimed specifically at the proposed car line on Mt. Pleasant road was the opinion expressed by T. Banton, president of Mt. Pleasant Ratepayers' Association at its meeting last night. Mr. Banton said he would not like to say that the suggestion had originally come from Mr. D. D. Reid, who called the meeting in the old North Toronto town hall last Saturday evening, but it was evident that he had approached the transportation commission.

"I think, however, that we may rest assured that we shall not hear very much more about this system," added Mr. Banton. "It is nearly time that the transportation commission showed its hands to let the citizens know what they intend to do. They have had plenty of time, and we should know now."

Avenue Road Line.

"There is only one man advocating the Avenue road line," said Mr. Bell, "and there is no need to mention his name, but he has forty acres there assessed at less than $8 per foot. The majority of the members of the transportation commission have promised us that Mt. Pleasan road should receive their first attention."

Yonge Street Widening.

Considerable discussion took place as to the policy of the widening of Yonge street on the local improvement plan, and on the motion of G. Collins it was decided to invite the controllers and aldermen for wards 2 and 3, to attend the next meeting of the association, and explain the policy of the council.

Regarding the matter of lighting on Cleveland street and Mount Pleasant road thru the cemetery, Secretary F. J. Bell reported on his recent visit to the city hall and said Property Commissioner Chisholm had stated that nothing could be done with Cleveland street until the steret was paved. With reference to Mount Pleasant road, south of Merton street, Mr. Chisholm said he would make a report on this and have the matter brought up before the property committee. The meeting decided not to take any further action until the matter had been brought before the committee.

The patients of Davisville Military Hospital had an unusual treat last night when an excellent concert was given by the band of H. M. Army & Navy Veterans. A cornet solo was given by J. Wynne, deputy bandmaster. He wears the Mons Star decoration.

MEMORIAL HALL WILL BE ERECTED

Oakridge Veterans to Honor Fallen Comrades—Police Village Proposed.

Under the auspices of the Oakridge branch, G.W.V.A., a well-attended meeting was held in the school house, No. 12 Danforth avenue, to discuss the erection of a memorial hall to the fallen heroes of the district, last night, with president J. Whitehouse in the chair.

Mr. Whitehouse pointed out that the use of the vacant lot on the corner of Danforth road and Danforth avenue was kindly loaned by Comrade Smith, and the suggestion favored by many members was to build such a memorial hall on the site as could be easily removed to a permanent location at a later date.

Comrade Smith has granted the site for a three-year term, free of any charge.

Alexander McGregor, K.C., gave an interesting talk on the value of community halls as centres of social activity, and offered many practical suggestions to the members.

It was decided to proceed with the work immediately, and three trustees were appointed as follows: Alexander McGregor, W. Darling and L. T. Smith.

A sum of $100 was subscribed towards the building fund during the evening.

Oakridge ratepayers will discuss the incorporation of a police village in their district at tonight's meeting in school house, No. 12 Danforth avenue, when Messrs. A. T. Stewart of Scarboro will address the members of the association. A large gathering is expected, as the question is a live one in the district.

FILTERED WATER.

New Toronto Council and Superintendent Dr. Beamer of Mimico Asylum are in negotiation for the supplying of filtered water to the institution and for the handling of its sewage. Four years ago consideration was given to these matter, but no action was taken.

The salary of the M.O.H. of New Toronto has been increased from $100 to $200.

An 18-foot pavement on 3rd street, from Lake Shore road to Lake Shore drive, will be constructed by the council this spring.

The revival services being conducted this week in the Centuryr Methodist Church by Rev. I. W. Williamson of Toronto are attracting large attendances nightly. The series of meetings concludes on Friday evening.

New Toronto Council have fixed the town's tax rate for 1921 at 37.9 mills, which is an increase of a little over two mills on the 1920 rate. OPPOSE DISPARITY IN SCHOOL TAXES

York Township Equitable Assessment Would Mean Eleven or Twelve-Mill Rate.

An equitable assessment of school taxes spread over the entire area of York Township as suggested by many residents would mean about an 11 or 12 mill rate, according to a recent estimate.

The disparity of assessment is a cause of considerable discussion thruout the township. The rates at present vary from 44 mills in the Fairbank district to as low as 7 and 9 mills in other school districts.

U. S. SENDS NOTE ON MANDATE ISSUE

Asks League Council Delay Action Till Representations Are Made.

Paris, Feb. 22.—U. S. Ambassador Wallace's notification to te council of the League of Nations today that the state department at Washington desired to present views of the United States before action was taken on mandates created great surprise in league circles. The gradual withdrawal of United States representatives from the council's commissions connected with peace activities had tended to confirm the opinion that the outgoing administration would leave all such initiative to the new government.

The text of Secretary Colby's note will not be made generally known until tomorrow, but his unexpected intervention is learned in French circles, and among others also, with evident satisfaction, as showing that the new world still maintains contact and is still interested in the old world's problems.

Notification of the imminent arrival of the note came when "mandates" was the first item on the agenda of the council, which spent nearly the entire day in discussing the reply to the United States ambassador's letter and exchanging views upon those mandates which the Unted States observations are not likely to touch.

The council's reply to Ambassador Wallace, signed by Dr. daCunha, president of the council, expresses the lively interest with which the council learned of the communication from the state department and of its early delivery, and says that in deference to his request the council will postpone all final decisions relative to the forms of mandates now under discussion until receipt of the communication.

Mandates Were Published.

The note points out that the mandates on the agenda are all of type "A," Asia Minor, and "B," Central Africa. It recalls that mandates of type "C," the Pacific Islands and German West Africa, were decided upon two months ago and published. The mandates are as follows:

Type "A"—Great Britain mandatory over Mesopotamia and Palestine; France over Syria and Lebanon.

Type "B"—Belgium mandatory over German East Africa; France and Great Britain over Togoland and Kamerun; Great Britain over German Southeast Africa.

Type "C"—Japan mandatory over North Pacific Islands, including Yap; Australia over New Guinea; New Zealand over Samoa, Great Britain over Nauru, Union of South Africa over German Southwest Africa.

The council decided that the mandate commission shall be composed of the four mandatory powers, Great Britain, France, Belgium and Japan, with the other members chosen from among representatives of Italy, Portugal, Holland, Sweden, and perhaps the United States. The question of a United States representative is still under discussion, there being differences of opinion as to the proprietory of selecting such representative under the present circumstances. Ordinarily, it is declared, there would have been no objection.

Sweden's representative will be a woman.

OPPOSE CAR LINES ON LOCAL PLAN

Declares Cont. Maguire—The Ratepayers Demand Building Viaduct Immediately.

DANFORTH

Transportation and the civic hospital scheme were the two principal topics discussed at a well-attended meeting of Monarch Park Ratepayers' Association, held in Wilkinson School, Donlands avenue, last night. Joe H. Harris, president, occupied the chair.

Controller Alf Maguire dwelt at some length on the transportation situation in the city, and strongly urged the people to rise in their might against the corporation interests in their attempt to block the building of the viaduct. The railways would put up a strenuous fight against the city and the various ratepayers' associations would need to cooperate to help the city council in its determination to insist that the order of the Dominion Railway Board be carried out. The G.T.R. and C.P.R. must, he said, be made to pick up their tracks blocking the waterfront between Bathurst street and Logan avenue. "Toronto put Canada on the map thru its citizens' spirit of service," declared the controller, "and the Queen City will boast the finest harbor front in America in the near future. The vital question in Toronto today is transportation," continued the speaker, who declared that he was absolutely against laying extensions as local improvements, and thought that the transportation commission would give careful consideration to all extensions when the street railway system was taken over. He said the commission could get all rails required within six weeks, and that it was possible the new street cars would be built in Toronto. In conclusion, the speaker claimed that Toronto was in the best financial position at the present time of any city of similar size and population on the continent of America.

Deals With Transportation.

Controller W. W. Hiltz said the transportation question should be taken out of the hands of the city council. "We have to get good men on the commission, and we can, if necessary, replace them, if not satisfactory."

Regarding the transportation situation cast of the River Don, Controller Hiltz said there were three parallel lines running east and west and no lines running north and south. He considered there should be at least four parallel lines from north to south in order to accommodate the people.

East End Civic Hospital.

In connection with a civic hospital for the east end the speaker stated he was in favor of the scheme and pointed out that altho not in favor of the project in the beginning, he had come to realize its great necessity and utility after visiting many United States cities on the civic hospital deputation. "Toronto is doubling in population every fifteen years," said the controller, "and as police, fire protection, street cleaning and other utilities are free, so also, hospitals should, from a health standpoint, be free."

J. Bentley, vice-president ward eight ratepayers' association, suggested that a union meeting be held at an early date and extended an invitation to the Monarch Park members on behalf of his organization.

After a lengthy discussion it was decided to accept the invitation provided that the gathering was of a social character.

Resolution Carried.

The following resolution, moved by John Lennox, was unanimously adopted: "That the viaduct be built at once, as the harbor improvement scheme hinges upon its completion and that it is the duty of all members of parliament in the federal house to assist the city council in its action to push forward the building of the viaduct."

In connection with the transportation situation, a circular letter has been sent to the various ratepayers' associations in ward one by Alderman R. Honeyford, as follows:

"A meeting of the joint committees of the various ratepayers' associations will be held at the office of Controller Hiltz, 739 Broadview avenue, on Wednesday, March 2, at 8 p.m.

"This meeting is called for the purpose of discussing the transportation problems of Riverdale and particularly with reference to the Pape avenue car line."

Under the auspices of the Danforth Lodge, C. O. F., a well-attended meeting was held in Playter's Hall last night, when several new members were initiated. A social hour, with euchre, was afterwards spent.

Rev. John Hall, B.A., who for a number of years was missionary 1,000 miles in the interior of Africa, will tell the story, illustrated with numerous lantern slides, in Pape Avenue Baptist Church tonight.

In the unavoidable absence of Rev. A. R. Parks, pastor, who is confined to his home thru illness, L. W. Mullen will preside.

At a well-attended meeting of the West of England British Rugby Football Club the following were elected officers for 1921: Hon. president, W. A. Summerville; president, W. Chapman; vice-president, W. Gleed; secretary-treasurer, F. Carter; general committee, Messrs. Drake, Hill, S. Gleed, Andrews and Pearce.

The euchre and dance in connection with the above team will be held March 10, and a banquet at the end of the month.

Cooksville Doctor Refuses Big Price for Race Horse

Dr. F. E. Hopkins of Cooksville, who is well known in the town and surrounding district as a racehorse owner, has just turned down an offer of $10,000 for his prize-winning flier, Jimmy McKerron, which has to its credit, among other notable achievements, the creation of a world's record over the Mt. CAPT. WALLACE, M.P., HONORED IN DEATH

Premier Meighen and Many Personal Friends Attend Woodbridge Services.

All that was mortal of the late Capt. "Tom" Wallace was yesterday laid to rest in the little cemetery on the banks of the Humber River on the outskirts of the village of Woodbridge. No such gathering of representatives of the county and city had ever been known in the old town as that of yesterday, when men and women from far and near met to honor in death one of West York's favorite sons.

The presence, among others, of Hon. Arthur Meighen, prime minister of Canada, who came up from Ottawa to pay a last tribute of respect to the late member, together with a number of his colleagues, and hundreds of representative business men from all over the country was an added evidence of the respect in which "Tom" Wallace was held. His neighbors from all over Vaughan and Etobicoke were there, and all business in his native village had been suspended since the news of his death was received.

The Services.

Following a private service at his late home on the farm for the members of the family, conducted by the rector, Rev. Mr. Patterson, the funeral cortege wended its way down the roadway and into the village, preceded by the Woodbridge citizens' band playing the "Dead March in Saul." The Orange Hall, in which the public services were held, could accommodate but a handful of the friends who had gathered, and here, following the reading of the 90th Psalm and invocation by the rector, his lordship the Bishop of Toronto spoke briefly on the passing of the late Capt. Wallace. He paid a fine tribute to his sterling worth as a neighbor and citizen, his willingness to at all times help anyone in trouble, his activities in the wider sphere of municipal and federal life, and in the fraternal order with which he had always been associated.

"We have suffered a great loss," said the bishop, "in the destruction of our historic and sacred edifice, but that can, and will, in a great measure be restored, but the loss of our brother is irreparable from a mortal standpoint."

Rev. Mr. Patterson, rector of Christ Church, referred to the late Capt. Wallace in terms of the deepest affection. "Not alone as a neighbor and citizen was he a good man," said the rector, "but in his relations with matters of greater import I must pay a tribute," said the rector. "His faithfulness as church warden and in the other activities of the church and school was proverbial. His loyalty to the state and to his friends was undoubted."

Sympathetic reference was made to the loss sustained by his brothers and sisters, to all of whom he was greatly devoted.

A Notable Gathering.

After the funeral exercises the cortege re-formed and, headed by the Citizens' Band, the Lord Bishop of Toronto, and other members of the clergy, the local Orange Lodge, Premier Meighen and a large number of federal and provincial members, walked to the grave side. Among the former were John Best, M.P., Dufferin; William Smith, M.P., South Ontario; J. D. Chaplin, M.P., St. Catharines; Evan Fraser, of Welland; W. R. Smythe, ex-M.P., Algoma; A. F. Thompson, M.P., Weyburn, Sask. Others present were Controller Maguire, Controller Nesbitt, Jos. Thompson, M.L.A., Hon. George S. Henry, Property Commissioner Harris, Hon. Howard Ferguson, ex-Warden Tom Griffiths, J. M. Gardhouse, John Gardhouse, J. A. Cameron, Fred Miller, reeve York township; W. H. Graham, J. A. Macdonald, Robert Barker W. A. Clarke, W. J. Douglas, of York township; James Torrance, J. A. Malcolm, and T. W. Underwood of Markham, T. H. Lennox, J. A. M. Armstrong, M.P., Sam Charters, John Laxton, Robert Ball, F. W. Humphrey, R. G. Anew, C. A. B. Jennings, W. J. Darby, Dr. Hopkins, George Rowntree, John Whitmore, Dave Spence, and John Harris.

Many Wreaths.

The floral offerings filled two large trucks and were contributed by the rector, church wardens and congregation of Christ Church, Woodbridge; the Woodbridge Agricultural Society, L.O.L. No. 20, Woodbridge; L.O.L. No. 900, West Toronto, the officers and members of West York Liberal-Conservative Association, Blackwood Lodge, A. F. and A. M., Woodbridge, the Women's Institute, Woodbridge; Mayor Church and city council of Toronto, Grand Orange Lodge of British North America; Woodbridge town council, employes of Edwards and Edwards, Woodbridge; York county council, St. Simon's Lacrosse Club, County Loyal Orange Lodge, and the Woodbridge school children.

The pall-bearers, all lifelong friends, were D. McKenzie, Wesley Boddy, W. G. Belfry, Ed. Brown, A. McNeal, C. Elliott, W. Mitchell, and Dr. P. D. McLean.

The chief mourners were his brothers, Leonard, James and Clarke, and the sisters, Mrs Little, Olive and Belinda.

HYDRO POWER TAX STIFFLY OPPOSED

St. Catharines Council Will Come in Body to Toronto to Formally Complain.

St. Catharines, Ont., Feb. 22.—City council in special session this evening unanimously placed on record its protest against the proposed legislation for taxing Hydro power as expressed in special report of a committee of the legislature as being absolutely opposed to the principles underlying the Hydro undertaking on which municipalities seem partners in the scheme, and declared such proposal detrimental to the industrial development of Ontario.

Ald. Graves, chairman of the finance committee, stated that many industries are giving Ontario the go-by in favor of Quebec. If the proposed legislation went thru it would be even worse for Ontario, he declared. The council decided to attend the meeting in Toronto on Friday in a body.

ALL FOOD WAS GONE AND BUNKERS EMPTY

Canadian Steamer Reaches Boston One Week Overdue.

Boston, Feb. 22.—Every scrap of food on board was gone and the coal bunkers were virtually empty when the steamer Canadian Signaller arrived today from Fowey, England, a week overdue. She had fought her way thru storm after storm on the Atlantic. Officers and crew were exhausted.

The last three days of the ship's voyage were by dead reckoning and only yesterday was her position made known to her by navy wireless, after her Boston agents had sought word of her. In mid-ocean her engine broke down and for hours the vessel was tossed about at the mercy of the seas.

The last of the Canadian Signallers' food supply was consumed yesterday. There was no breakfast aboard this morning. The vessel, one of the Canadian fleet of merchantmen, brought a cargo of China clay.

STAR WITNESS FAILS TO EXPLAIN ACTIONS

outlined his position in the case to the jury.

Dr. W. C. Pepin was then called.

Doctor's Evidence.

Dr. Pepin, in his evidence, stated that he had been called to perform an autopsy on the body of Beverley Trumble, when he discovered that death was due to internal hemorrhage, caused by severance of the femoral artery. He found two wounds on the body, one in the lower left abdomen, in which the femoral artery had been cut, and the other in the right leg. In reply to a question by Mr. Brackin, Dr. Pepin stated that a man wounded as Trumble had been might be able to stand for a few moments after sustaining such a wound.

Breathless Hush.

Mrs. Lulu Trumble was then called to the stand, and, amidst a breathless hush, occupied her place in the box, carrying her younger child in her arms.

Sir William Mulock declared that she could not give her evidence while holding the child and he was finally surrendered to Hamilton Trumble, father of the dead man, who was sitting immediately behind the prisoner's box.

Story of Mrs. Trumble.

Under examination by Mr. Grier, Mrs. Trumble repeated her testimony given at the inquest. She stated that she had been ill on the night preceding the shooting, and that, with her husband, she was in their bedroom when they heard that Spracklin, accompanied by his officers, had entered the hotel. They immediately proceeded to the private dining room, where they found Spracklin with two of his officers. After a short discussion between Trumble and Spracklin, in which the former demanded production of badges, she heard a shot, and her husband fell back into the arms of Edward Smith.

Sure Husband Was Unarmed.

Mrs. Trumble declared that her husband had nothing but a cigaret in his hands when he left their room, and that at the moment of the shooting she was sure that he was unarmed.

R. L. Brackin, in commencing his cross-examination, reviewed the history of the Chappell House during the last two years. Mrs. Trumble, pressed by Mr. Brackin, admitted that her husband had paid a fine of $400 for a breach of the Ontario temperance act, after which the house was turned over to Aylmer Orton.

Denies Threats.

Events which led up to the night of the shooting were described by Mrs. Trumble, in the course of which she denied that she had ever heard her husband threaten Mr. Spracklin.

Mr. Brackin then reviewed the incidents of the fatal night, during which he tried to secure an admission from the witness that her husband had been armed at the moment when Spracklin fired the shot which ended her husband's life.

"What had your husband in his hands when he left your room to go downstairs?" asked Mr. Brackin.

"Nothing but a cigaret?" was the reply.

"Are you sure of that, Mrs. Trumble?" continued Mr. Brackin.

"Absolutely," came the answer.

In reply to further questions, Mrs. Trumble declared that she had never seen any weapons, other than two shotguns, in the Chappell House during their tenancy there.

Had a Revolver Belt?

"Are you aware, Mrs. Trumble, that your husband had a revolver belt—that he wore it practically all the time?"

"No, I never knew it," was Mrs. Trumble's reply, and, after a question regarding weapons in the house, by Mr. Grier, she left the stand.

Mrs. Trumble was apparently at ease throut her two and one-half hours' ordeal on the witness stand.

E. Smith is Cross-Examined.

Edward Smith was called to the witness stand immediately after Mrs. Trumble, and repeated the evidence which he had given at the inquest on Nov. 8, in which he declared that Trumble had been unarmed.

Mr. Brackin commenced his cross-examination with a review of Smith's activities prior to the tragedy. Smith, after considerable questioning, admitted that he was a commission agent at the race tracks, and declared that he had known Beverley Trumble for several years.

The events of the night of the shooting were then introduced by Mr. Brackin.

"If witnesses take the stand and swear that you were so drunk that you did not know what you were doing at the time of the shooting, will you still say, on your oath, that you were sober?"

After considerable pressing of the question, the witness replied in the affirmative.

Says Trumble Unarmed.

"Now, then, Mr. Smith, you say that Trumble was unarmed at the moment of the shooting?" "Yes."

"If two witnesses take the stand here and declare that you, on the night of the shooting, told them that Trumble had a gun, will you still say that he did not?" "Yes."

Traces Movements.

Smith's movements immediately following the firing of the fatal shot were traced by Mr. Brackin. After a stiff cross-examination, the witness admitted that he had gone directly to Detroit, without going to his home for his clothes or anything else, and that he had registered at a Detroit hotel.

Also if it was under a "consumed" name.

"...at was this 'consumed' name under which you registered?" queried Mr. Brackin. "What?" continued Mr. Brackin, as the witness failed to answer. "Have you so many names that you cannot remember them? What was the name under which you registered?" "Baldwin," was the reply.

Mr. Brackin extracted the information that Smith had considered going to California without returning to Canada. Smith also denied that he had told Frank Bell, a member of Spracklin's squad, not to bother looking for Trumble's weapon, shortly after the shooting occurred.

Climax of Examination.

Mr. Brackin reached the climax of his examination of the prisoner.

"When you left the Chappell House on the morning after the 'murder' there, what did you carry away from there with you when you crossed so hurriedly to Detroit?" "Nothing."

"You did not carry away anything? What shops did you visit in Detroit—second-hand shops, hardware shops—to make the matter plain?" "None," was the reply, and Smith was dismissed from the stand.

Doctors Agree.

Dr. W. J. Beasley, Sandwich, who was summoned to the Chappell House following the shooting, next gave evidence. Dr. Beasley stated that, while in conversation with Smith in the bedroom after Trumble's death, Smith had told him that "Trumble pulled a gun, and Spracklin whirled and shot him."

Dr. C. B. Mills, who was in the room with Dr. Beasley at the time of the alleged conversation with Smith, corroborated the first doctor's evidence.

Court was declared adjourned at this juncture.

...ruout the day the courtroom was crowded to capacity, many would-be spectators being turned away under the order of Sir William Mulock that standing lookers-on would not be tolerated.

CHALLENGES KING TO RESIGN SEAT

ments, some lively scenes and a challenge. The challenge came from H. H. Stevens of Vancouver Centre, whose name has frequently been mentioned in recent months as that of a likely appointee to the cabinet. Mr. Stevens had been referring to some of the charges made by Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, against the government. In particular, Mr. Stevens cited Mr. King's plea on the opening day of debate that the new parliament buildings should not be made a "charnel house of "disillusionment."

If Mr. King's charges were true, continued Mr. Stevens, then Mr. King should resign his seat and his followers with him. If they did that, the government would not dare to remain in office.

A moment later Mr. Stevens resumed his seat and W. D. Euler (North Waterloo), rose with a question:

"Were you authorized to state on behalf of the government," demanded Mr. Euler, "that if we resign the government will resign also?"

"Answer!" Liberals shouted.

"Answer! Answer!"

"I will repeat what I said before—" replied Mr. Stevens, and again there were shouts of "Answer!"

Mr. Stevens retorted that he had been speaking for himself and would act as he had spoken. But he was convinced that the government would not dare hold office if Liberals resigned to force an election.

Mr. Stevens also dared Mr. King to bring down the 1919 Liberal tariff platform—either in the house or in the country at a general election. He, himself, Mr. Stevens said, would welcome a general election were it not for redistribution. The west was entitled to fair representation.

Minister of Justice.

In the afternoon Right. Hon. C. J. Doherty, minister of justice, returned to his declaration of the previous day in regard to the appointment of a Canadian minister to Washington. It was not correct to say, said he, that objections had been raised by Great Britain to the appointment of such a minister. "The measure of Canada's nationhood," he emphasized, "is the measure of the determination of Canada that she shall have that nationhood."

Dealing with the claim that the country should be consulted before the prime minister attended the forthcoming imperial conference, Hon. Mr. Doherty instanced the imperial conferences held in the past, when not only did the then prime ministers not go to the country, but parliament was adjourned to allow of the first minister attending. In the case of the conference to be held in June next, it was a meeting of the prime ministers of the different dominions to allow of a general discussion of matters affecting the different parts of the empire. The decisions reached at that meeting would not be binding until they had been placed by the prime minister, first, before government and then before parliament.

Those who sought to claim that there must be an election before the prime minister could go to the imperial conference were grasping at the flimsiest of straws to bolster up a case which they had been unable to support in any other manner.

From the opposition side, C. A. Fournier (Bellechasse) criticized that idealism in regard to the League of Nations had been overdone. The Canadian delegates should have stuck to practical things and not mixed "trading stamps with moral issues." Dr. Fontaine of Hull and Arthur Trahan of Nicolet continued the attack on the government.

RURAL CREDITS ARE CONSIDERED

further that the banks' business would not be affected injuriously by the establishment of a system of rural credits.

If the house approved the principle of rural credits, said Mr. Doherty, all shades of opinion could be consulted in improving the proposed bills. He had been advised by the executive of the Canadian Bankers' Association that they approved the bills and had only three minor suggestions to make, and these suggestions would, be accepted by the minister of agriculture if the bills were sent on to committee.

Hon. G. S. Henry drew attention to the fact that the government's rural credits proposals had only been announced a few days ago, and even the bankers themselves could not have found time to thofoly discuss it.

More Time Required.

Hon. G. H. Ferguson and Liberal Leader Dewart took the same view. The latter pointed out that he had already complained that when the matter was up before for discussion, that the members had not had time to fully consider it.

Wellington Hay wanted the whole question discussed without reference to what the bankers thought about the matter. In the past they had not been any too generous with the farmers or anybody else.

Hon. Mr. Doherty: "I agree we should be guided by our own judgment in the matter, but I thought it better to get the views of the bankers in any event."

Continuing, the minister said he was prepared to make the maximum loan $1,000 for the first year or so, in order to see how the scheme would work out.

Hon. G. H. Ferguson wanted to know why the provisions of the bill could not be extended so as to include industrial classes.

The minister replied that the industries were already looked after by the present banking system.

If a man was sufficiently solvent to be able to borrow from any other source, said Sam Clark (Northumberland), he should not borrow under this scheme. This scheme should be absolutely for the benefit of the man of good character and reputation who is unable to borrow, because he has not the collateral, from the banks or loan companies.

Liberal Leader Dewart said it was of vital importance to make it clear that in embarking on a system of rural credits, the province should not be burdened with a liability. The scheme itself should bear any liability.

The resolutions were finally passed and the government bills relating to the matter were given a second reading and referred to a special committee.

Debate on Budget.

In resuming the adjourned debate on the budget in the afternoon, Thos. Marshall (Liberal, Lincoln) said the people of the province would have been satisfied if they had received a clear explanation from the provincial treasurer of the reasons for all the increased expenditures in almost every department of the government. The increase had reached alarming proportions. The details should be given. As for the expenditure on roads, Mr. Marshall thought the province had not received sufficient return for the vast amount of money spent.

Dealing with educational affairs, Mr. Marshall strongly urged higher salaries for school teachers. In this matter Ontario was laggin far behind.

The practice of puting out government loans thru private sources was condemned by Mr. Marshall, who maintained that this practice had cost the province some $1,500,000.

C. H. Buckland (Conservative, South Wellington) wanted the government to appreciate that they could not get very far in the matter of enforcing the O.T.A. as long as it permitted the manufacture or importation of liquor into the province. The government had received $161,000 in liquor fines, but fines would never check the trouble.

The new race track tax was condemned by Mr. Buckland, who took the ground that racing encouraged the breeding of good horses, but by placing an increased tax on the raising of good horses they were proceeding in the wrong direction, as the increase would simply have the effect of raising hacks instead of thorobreds.

Hon. H. C. Nixon, provincial secretary, who followed, said the income of his department had greatly increased, the license branch, for instance, showed a clear increase of $649,791 or 219 per cent. over the previous year. As for the expenditures of the department they, too, showed considerable of an increase, due to salary increases, repairs and miscellaneous, amounting altogether to some $705,000. When he took the department over the staff had become depleted. It was necessary to build it up again, and, of course, this cost considerable. The cost of supplies for the various public institutions had greatly increased, something the department had no control over.

There had been a lot of complaint on the part of the war veterans regarding the treatment of the inmates of asylums. Mr. Nixon's predecessor in office had promised to investigate them, but had not done so, and this was one of the reasons which led to his defeat, as a number of veterans stumped against him in the last election. However, Mr. Nixon went on, the asylum staffs had been increased since he came into office and there had been no complaints made regarding treatment of inmates.

Prison Population.

The prison population of Ontario was much larger than it was six months ago, Mr. Nixon said, but with the opening of the Guelph Institute the province would be capable of taking care of them all.

The Burwash Institution was filling a long felt want and its management was favorably commented upon by United States experts in prison and welfare work.

M. M. MacBride (independent Labor, South Brant), expressed his appreciation of the courtesy extended to him by the Liberal and Conservative groups, but he was sorry he could not say the same thing about the members on the U. F. O.-Labor side of the house, and he wished to express his resentment at their discourtesy. He had frequently heard laughter when speaking and it reminded him of the quotation, "Laughter comes from empty minds." He had no excuse to make about changing his mind on public questions; independence of thought was nothing to be ashamed of and nothing to laugh at.

After all the provincial treasurer was not to blame for the heavy expenditures. He had an expensive family around him and had to find the money. But the U.F.O. government should learn to say "whoa" and not "gee" and "haw" when dealing with expenditures.

The farmers of the country, MacBride went on, hoped to see a government of their choice at Ottawa. With that desire he had no quarrel, but if the way the present government was handling the finances of the country was an indication of farmer ability in this connection, then all he had to say was "God forbid there should be a farmers' government at Ottawa!"

Mr. MacBride moved the adjournment of the debate.

Motor Vehicles Act.

Hon. F. C. Biggs' bill to amend the motor vehicles act was given a second reading. One of its provisions enables a law officer to enter any garage. The object of this is to facilitate the search for stolen cars.

Sergt.-Major McNamara and G. C. Halcrow paid tributes to the memory of the late Captain Tom Wallace, M.P. Liberal Leader Dewart, who knew the deceased from boyhood, spoke feelingly, as did also the premier and Thos. Crawford.

Credit Co-operative Societies.

H. P. Hill (West Ottawa) introduced a bill to incorporate co-operative credit cities of 100,000 population or over, the control and regulation of dry cleaners, dyers, pressers, etc., and the use by them of such liquids as are used for that purpose. The present act covers gasoline and benzine. Major Lewis would include carbon bisulphide, naptha, benzol or other light petroleum or coal tar products or volatile or inflammable liquids of any kind.

H. H. Dewart asked if certain interim reports of the timber commission were being furnished, and Hon. W. E. Raney replied they would be brought down and printed.

K. K. Homuth introduced a bill to amend the municipal act, the object being to stop rural voting on money bylaws.

Tax on Companies.

Major Alec. Lewis had a bill to amend the municipal act, the suggested provisions including the imposition of a tax by municipalities not to exceed one per cent. of the amount of any contract carried out in Ontario by any firm not having a head office in Ontario. They now escape taxation.

Another section provided for the licensing of lodging and boarding houses under the supervision of the M.O.H. It is also proposed to transfer from the police commissioner to the municipal councils in societies whose object will be to receive moneys on deposit from members and to make loans to members with or without security. Any number of persons not less than ten may be incorporated as a society.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing becomes easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

BASEBALL PHRASES ENRICH LANGUAGE

New Universities Dictionary Defines Terms Used by "Fans."

Baseball, the great national pastime, has come to have a language of its own. The newspaper men who follow the fortunes of the various big league teams thruout the season of activity on the diamond would not be able to tell their story if they did not employ many words and expressions whose meaning is clear enough to the more enthusiastic "fans," but often more or less obscure to casual followers of the game.

The New Universities Dictionary being offered to the readers of The World contains a supplementary dictionary, giving an exhaustive list of such terms, and defines them so fully and clearly that anyone after a little study would be able to read understandingly the most difficult of the sporting editor's passages.

The study of this list will be found not only entertaining but instructive, as many of the words treated therein have been borrowed by writers in the general field of literature seeking new and effective means of expression, and their use outside of the baseball column in the newspaper has come to be regarded as both proper and in good taste.

The expression, "hugging the base," for instance, in baseball parlance, means that a runner is keeping close to a base, fearing a surprise play; it also aptly conveys the idea of a cautious attitude in any one of a number of situations that can easily be imagined. Students of language will find the dictionary of baseball incorporated in The New Universities Dictionary of vital interest.

The amendment provides that applications, under the prior regulations, which have not yet been granted, will be considered and dealt with under the regulations in force at the time the applications were made.

Some Aliens Debarred.

Another important paragraph of the order-in-council says: "Citizens of another country, the laws, customs or regulations of which deny similar or like privileges to citizens or incorporations of the British Empire, shall not, by stock ownership, stock holding, or stock control, own any interest in any permit or lease acquired under the provisions of these regulations.

Any company acquiring by application, assignment or otherwise, a permit or lease under the provisions of these regulations, shall be a company incorporated under part one of the companies' act, chapter 79, R.S.C. 1906, and amendments thereto, and the charter of such company shall provide for the issue of the shares of the capital stock of such company without any nominal or par value, in accordance with section 7 (8) of the said act."

Representations Made.

"And whereas representations have been made to the department of the interior that companies incorporated otherwise than under the provisions of the above act have acquired under prior regulations the right to oil and gas leases in the northwest territories, and have disposed of stock in such companies, or made other commitments in connection with the rights so acquired.

"Therefore, his excellency the governor-general in council, on the recommendation of the minister of the interior, is pleased to order that the following shall be and the same is hereby added to section 44 of the regulations above-mentioned:

Where it Does Not Apply.

"Provided that this section shall not apply to a company incorporated otherwise than under the above act, which establishes to the satisfaction of the minister that such company acquired under prior regulations the right to a petroleum and natural gas location in the northwest territories of Canada, and had disposed of stock in the said company, or had made other commitments in connection with the rights so acquired prior to the date of these regulations.

"Citizens of another country, the laws, customs or regulations of which deny similar or like privileges to citizens or corporations of the British empire, shall not, by stock ownership, stock holding or stock control, own any interest in any permit or lease acquired under the provisions of these regulations."

Rescind Section 51.

His excellency in council, on the same recommendation, is further pleased to rescind section 51 of the above mentioned regulations (approved by order-in-council P.C. 331, of 11th February, 1921) and to substitute the following in lieu thereof:

51—"Applications received in the department of the interior for leases of petroleum and natural gas rights in the northwest territories of Canada in accordance with the provisions of the regulations then in force, but in connection with which leases have not yet been granted, shall be considered and dealt with under and in accordance with the provisions of the regulations in force at the time such applications were made. Provided that, in case of default in compliance with any of the conditions of the lease or of the provisions of the regulations under which the same may be issued, the lease shall lapse without notice, and without declaration of cancellation or forfeiture on the part of the crown."

FRANCE IS REDUCING ADVERSE TRADE BALANCE

Paris, Feb. 22.—France came within 99,850,000 francs of balancing her imports by exports during January. The total imports were 1,962,468,000 francs and exports 1,282,618,000 francs.

The unfavorable trade balance for January, 1920, was 1,486,557,000 francs. All three classifications of foodstuffs, raw materials and manufactured articles showed an improvement over last year, but raw materials still comprised more than half the imports.

JAPANESE SENTRY FOUND NOT GUILTY

Acquitted on Charge of Killing American Naval Officer.

Tokio, Feb. 22.—A finding of not guilty has been rendered by the court-martial which tried Toshigora Ogasawara, the sentry who shot Lieut. Langdon of the U.S.S. Albany at Vladivostok last month, it was officially announced by the war department today. The trial was on the charge of accidental homicide.

The judgment declares that according to Japanese military law sentries are justified in resorting to arms under the following conditions: First, when necessary, in self-defence; second, when there is no other means of suppressing outrages; third, when there is no other means of protecting life and property.

"In shooting a United States officer," the judgment continues, "the sentry came under none of the above conditions, and, therefore, cannot be regarded as having discharged his duties properly. To all intents and purposes he would appear to be guilty, but an important fact that should not be overlooked is that the sentry had never undergone perfect training necessary to a sentry, and, therefore, when he fired at an American officer, he was under the impression that he was perfectly fulfuling his duties.

"As it is clear that the action of the sentry was chiefly due to lack of proper training, the commander of sentries is held responsible and ordered suspended, while other officers also responsible will be duly punished."

Japan Expresses Regret.

Washington, Feb. 22.—Regret on the part of the Japanese government over the fatal shooting of Lieut. W. H. Langdon, a United States naval officer, at Vladivostok early in January is reiterated in the reply of that government to the note from the United States government. The hope was expressed by the Japanese government "that the government of the United States will fully appreciate the sincere spirit in which the Japanese government has acted in dealing with this most unfortunate incident."

The Japanese government informed the United States government that Major-General Nishihara, commanding the Japanese garrison at Vladivostok had been removed from the active list of the Japanese army and that various officers under the command of General Nishihara had been subjected to punishment of various degrees.

A Consolidated School for York Township.

The township of York, or rather its ratepayers, are much worried over school problems: demands in the suburban school sections for enormous schools and consequent school rate in some parts of over forty mills on the dollar; other sections with a low rate and the old one-room school house; in others an agitation for a consolidated school for four or more single-room school houses; in other places for annexation to the city because of school problems; still others who are claiming that the township ought to have one consolidated school board for all the sections, with the trustees elected by wards, and the various schools run like the schools of a city.

A proposal for a consolidated school (not a consolidated board) is now before the ratepayers of four single-room schools on the east side of the township, to be located in the centre of the area—at Oriole, two and a half miles east of Yonge street and five miles north of Danforth avenue. Some of the farmers, and it is purely a farming district, are for it, others against it. They may vote on it within the next fortnight. There will be one large school with four or more rooms and a community hall alongside; also the children will be taken to and from the consolidated school by three motor buses.

The ratepayers of the city and country will watch with interest the effort of York to solve a problem that at bottom is of as much local interest to them as was the election of trustees, and the building of schools is to the people of Toronto. Expense and efficiency in schools are real problems.

Toronto's Social Service Work.

There may be a need of reorganization of the social service commission, but to abolish the commission and turn over the administration of the charity work of the city to Dr. Hastings does not seem to be the best solution. There is no question of the doctor's efficiency, but his mind runs too much to expensive organizations and new frills to suit the present state of old man Toronto's finances. All the heads of departments are demanding more money to spend, while business elsewhere is taking in sail. City hall officialdom seems to be the last to realize that there is a rebellious feeling abroad against the rising tax rate.

Taxation and Assessments.

The royal commission on university financing brings to the front again the question of municipal assessments. One of the recommendations of the commission is that if increased revenue for education be required in future the provincial government is recommended to consider the advisability of levying a direct tax of one mill on the dollar on the municipally assessed value of the rateable property of the province, excluding income.

The World, during the period when the provincial war tax of one mill on the dollar was imposed upon the municipalities, raised the question of the unequal assessments which are in effect. It pointed out that as between the city of Toronto and the township of York, for instance, there was a great disparity, suburban properties just outside the boundaries of the city of Toronto being assessed at half, or even less than that, of the amounts in the city itself. It is a recognized fact that in other provincial cities than Toronto and municipalities other than townships, there is a very wide range of values for assessment purposes, altho the act, if carried out according to its intentions, would prevent this disparity.

At the time The World drew attention to this it was suggested that if there is any intention on the part of the provice to continue a tax on municipal assessments for any purpose, at least there should be an official with power to supervise the assessments of any and all municipalities, so that any inequality would be adjusted. It is certain that under the present assessment the city of Toronto would contribute a much larger amount than its share, as it did during the war period, to any further general levies for provincial purposes. The city of Toronto in its own interest should keep a careful eye on any provincial measures which are looking towards the end of imposing a general tax.

No Par Value Shares.

Attention has been drawn on several occasions to the novel method of supplanting the old par value stocks with those of no par value. The innovation was one of American origin, but it has been found so successful as a seductive influence in incorporations that it is being more freely used in Canada. Its first application was in the paper companies, new or reorganized, but the latest method of operation is to introduce it into loan companies, and The Monetary Times refers to an American organization which has begun the promotion of a company in which the no par value shares are to figure. These shares are to be used as a bonus and an inducement to investors to put their money into the preferred stock. There is, of course, no immediate basis for the value of no par value shares, and they are so much water, but the promoting company is using them to get its rake-off out of the promotion by disposing of them at a sum which will pay them well for engineering the company.

In that the old standard of capitalization as par value stock provided some kind of guarantee that there was a certain asset behind the shares, it has become an accepted fact with people who are not familiar with stock operations that every company's shares have such a basis, and there is therefore a certain amount of subterfuge able to be used in this modern method of financing. If investors are to be protected, the governments, Dominion and provincial, are justified in looking into this Yankee scheme by which money is being raised from innocents.

Rhyming Views On Daily News

By GEORGE H. DIXON.

Oh, listen! and we will the latest news spill on a subject received with a smirk about the bold bandits who plunder and kill; 'tis the tale of the terrible Turk. The Terrible Turk who's so bold and so bad, has issued defiance, we hear, to the allies who've tried to reform the rough lad by making him sit on his ear. "The Ottoman race we are going to defend," quoth old Mr. Be-Kir Sami Bey, "and we'll carry the cross to the last bitter end, if we lose every Turk in the fray. We mean to survive as a nation intact or fight out a scrap to the death," and here Sami paused to let sink in that fact and also to draw in his breath. "The Turk is a terror, we always have heard, a dare devil, brave, fighting stink, and one whom its safe to rely on his word—Oh, yes, that's the truth—we don't think. The allies, of course, will be quaking with fear because of what Sami has said, because the Tough Turk is a fighter we hear—if his enemy's helpless or dead. How the allies must tremble and shake in their shoes, for fear that with Turkey they'll scrap, but we hardly think a night's sleep they will lose; they'll say "Quit cracking jokes, you poor yap."

CHAPTER VIII.

Suspicions.

BEING tied to the cabin, and at first to his bed and chair, would have sadly irked John Longfoot had it not been for Gypsy herself. Bobolink had brought John's canoe up from the junction as soon as the river was cleared of the drive, and in this Gypsy went back and forth each day in crossing the river to John's cabin. She declared he needed at first the daily ministrations of a professional nurse, and she had taken lessons in "first aid" at the Deer Lick School.

During these days of John's affliction she held a secret from him that seemed scarcely worth the keeping; yet the girl felt that she could not discuss it with her old friend.

This was the knowledge of the presence in Tall Timber of Harvey Stafford. She never mentioned the city man to John Longfoot. The latter heard of Stafford's coming from Steve McGraw. And Steve knew nothing of the visitor's frequent visits to Paradise Knoll.

He suspected that no idle curiosity had brought the president of the A. C. T. C. to Tall Timber. Perhaps the battle that he had foreseen would be on much sooner than he had expected. He did not intend, however, to be forced into action by the "enemy," for so he thought of Stafford, and so have his plans for Gypsy's welfare set at naught.

He could not find words to tell her how grateful he was for her ministrations, and especially for her courageous canoe trip to the junction for Dr. Hewitt when he was hurt. Studying one day on how to show her his appreciation of her kindness, he got Bobolink to hand him down the latest catalog of a Chicago jewelry house, and from it he selected a piece of jewelry that he believed would please Gypsy, who had so few ornaments.

McGraw sent the money order for him and brought the tiny box up from Tall Timber junction when it arrived by registered mail. Eagerly Longfoot opened the package.

Longfoot snapped back the hinged cover of the box and displayed on its velvet lining the heart-shaped locket and gold chain. In the face of the locket blazed a perfect diamond of moderate size.

There awaited the moment of presentation. Longfoot trembled with desire to lock the chain about Gypsy's neck. He wished to see her eyes flash and fill with delight, her sweet lips smile, her whole countenance light up with the emotion the gift would arouse in her.

But Gypsy did not come. Of course, he was getting around now without even a cane. His mangled leg had healed well, and he merely walked a bit stiffly as a reminder of the accident.

But why Gypsy ignored him for so long a time began to trouble the timberman. Perhaps she was expecting him to show his recovered strength by coming over to Paradise Knoll. It was not a long walk, for he could drive the canoe against the current now to a point opposite the Patterson lodge, and from there mount the slope thru the maple grove.

Bobolink began to puzzle him, too, about this time. The Indian lad had trailed him for years, willing slave had John Longfoot allowed it. Since the timberman had saved him at the time of the log drive and been injured himself, Bobolink could not do enough for his hero.

He was very jealous for John Longfoot. Shrewdly seeing what lay in John's mind regarding Gypsy Patterson, he watched the girl closely. He was not jealous of her, but for his friend, the tall timberman, he considered no "squaw" good enough.

"I wonder what's got into Gypsy that she hasn't been over here for nigh a week," Longfoot remarked to the Indian lad one day.

"She busy," muttered Bobolink. "Too busy to come to my friend Longfoot, him camp."

"What's she busy about?" snapped the timberman.

"She got more friend same you," Bobolink said. "She ain't give of her time you no more. Other mans."

"What do you mean—'other mans'?" asked the puzzled Longfoot, not much troubled by the boy's words. He knew Bobolink's jealousy.

"Her city slicker," declared Bobolink, "Heap big chief—much money. My friend Longfoot look sharp, mebbe so white squaw no come here no more."

"Darn you, Bobolink! I believe you have picked up some gossip that won't do you a bit of good—or me, either. You are speaking of that Stafford. I bet. Has he been up to Paradise?"

He described the president of the A. C. T. C. swiftly, using more of the Indian sign language than words.

"Him her," Bobolink acknowledged. Then he told Longfoot how many times he had seen and watched H. Harvey Stafford at Paradise. "He ride hoss. Catch him easy."

"I don't want him caught," the timberman said.

But he was puzzled. He smoked more than one pipe over it. Harvey Stafford a frequent visitor to the Patterson lodge? John Longfoot made up his mind that president of the A.C.T.C. was making friends with Gypsy for no good purpose.

He decided at length to see Gypsy. He left his cabin in the gully and paddled up stream in his canoe.

He beached his canoe in a quiet nook below Paradise Knoll and climbed up the steep bank. He could just see the face of the Patterson house thru the trees—a smudge of brown against a background of varied greens.

He took up his journey thereto with rather a limping stride. His heart glowed in his bosom at thought of meeting Gypsy again. The girl swayed such a power over this sturdy woodsman that he actually trembled as he approached her abode.

Longfoot took out the jeweler's box and snapped up the cover to look at the dainty gold heart and its sparkling stone. He greatly desired that Gypsy might understand the significance of the gift.

"The diamond-set heart represented his own heart—if Gypsy would but accept it! John Longfoot was a shy man; indeed, in some matters he was almost speechless. The girl must understand without his telling her in words the longing that possessed him—that had possessed him, indeed, these many years.

He had watched Gypsy grow up from toddlying babyhood into the winsome, compelling creature she now was. He had never thought of any other girl in all his life.

Nobody knew save John Longfoot himself how many times he had journeyed to Deer Lick while Gypsy was at school there, just to get a glimpse of her. And in these days he did not always have the railroad fare for such a long journey.

Instead, he tramped thru the wintry forest, a hundred and forty miles, in his brogans, marked Gypsy laughing with a group of girls upon the campus, and turned and walked back to Lonergan's camp, where he was working, all within three days.

Then Gypsy Patterson had seemed as far above John Longfoot as the stars. But of late the successful timberman had begun to hope.

He lifted the piece of jewelry from the box and allowed the glittering chain to sift thru his fingers. The sparkling stone threw out its parti-colored lights, flashing into his bedewed eyes, where beams quite as clear were reflected.

While thus engaged in contemplation of the gift that he believed would delight the childlike side of Gypsy Patterson's nature, Longfoot came to the grassy yard surrounding the Patterson house.

He did not encircle it by way of the kitchen, but went the other way so that he would not be seen from the windows. So he came quite unobserved upon a scene that shocked him instantly motionless.

A saddle horse was fastened at the gate of the enclosure. Just within the gate Gypsy stood with the man who John Longfoot had good reason to assume was both her enemy and his own. He could not mistake Harvey Stafford.

That Si Patterson's ward, who had every reason to mistrust the corporation official, should have become so friendly with him amazed Longfoot. Stafford held Gypsy's hand, and she did not try to withdraw it. He patted her shoulder gently as he talked, smiling down upon her with an expression in his countenance that set the blood pumping madly thru Longfoot's arteries.

The discovery of this friendliness between Gypsy and Stafford—their more than friendliness it seemed—was like a physical blow to Longfoot. He staggered where he stood at the corner of the house and leaned for support against it.

Neither the man nor Gypsy saw the spectator. They were too much engaged with each other at the moment to notice the presence of anybody. Gypsy was smiling as she listened to her companion's earnest words. Her face uplifted to Stafford as he bent above her, her nearness to him, the whole attitude of the pair, revealed, John Longfoot thought, an understanding between the twain that could be translated in but one way.

The locket and chain slipped thru his brown fingers and fell to the ground. He did not heed the jewel, but, as he stepped back from the scene his heel ground the gift into the mould. Unconsciously he snapped shut the empty box and slipped it into the pocket of his mackinaw.

It was not until some time afterward that he discovered the jeweler's box was empty; but at that, John Longfoot threw it away.

CHAPTER IX.

Two Mysteries.

HAD John Longfoot been near enough to Gypsy and Harvey Stafford at the moment he observed their intimate meeting on Paradise Knoll to have overheard their speech, the attitude of the two and the significance of their friendliness would not have much impressed even a jealous lover. And John Longfoot was not that.

For what Gypsy was saying at that very moment of his observation of them was:

"Oh, Mr. Stafford, I love to ride. But I have not had a riding horse since I went to Deer Lick School. Uncle Si never seemed to have money for one of late."

"If I might suggest something, Miss Gypsy?" the man had said quickly.

"Yes?"

"The man I bought this beast of has a beautiful brown mare that would suit you to a T—whatever that standard of excellence may be," and he laughed low.

"But the uncles-all can put their hands on so little money for me just now."

"Oh, that will be all right," he hastily interposed, putting her shoulder as tho she were a child. "You are going to have plenty of money for such things when your affairs are settled. I would be glad to get the mare for you."

"I could not let you do that."

"On a bill," he completed, smiling. "The man will let you have the pony and wait for his money—for a year if need be."

"Oh, Mr. Stafford! Truly?"

"I am telling you, am I not?" he said, as tho much amused. "You have but a faint conception of business."

"I—I—is that really business?"

"Taking a basket of eggs to the junction and exchanging them for calico or candles is merely bartering," he laughed. "Business is another matter—a complicated arrangement of exchanges and credits in which real cash is scarcely more in evidence than in your bit of bartering."

And of such was the warp and woof of the conversation that John Longfoot had observed but had not overheard. Gypsy gave the president of the A.C.T.C. her hand. They had thus ratified the agreement that she should have the brown pony.

She owned presentable riding boots and an old saddle; but when Harvey Stafford came riding up the knoll with the brown pony at the end of the lead-rein, the animal was already saddled with a much finer saddle than Gypsy had ever owned.

"Bill said the saddle went with her," the man declared boldly. "And here is a crop that I would like to have you accept as my own gift, Miss Gypsy."

"Mr. Stafford! You are doing too much!" cried the girl, hesitating for a moment before accepting the whip.

She felt somehow that this could not be all right. And yet; he did it so nicely—was so respectful, so pleasant, so companionable—that she could scarcely refuse his comradeship without rudeness.

For his part, Harvey Stafford amazed himself. He had allowed a feeling to expand in his breast regarding Gypsy Patterson that he had never dreamed, when he had arrived at Tall Timber, would develop.

"The prettiest girl in all the world!" he said over and over again to himself. "Jove! A man might well consider himself fortunate if he could possess such a girl. She would be worth—well—any sacrifice."

For he utterly put away thought of his education and what a more artificial community would call his "social advantages." The fact that Gypsy had little knowledge of life as he knew it, and no experience whatsoever made slight impression now on Stafford's mind.

When the two began to ride together almost daily their intercourse became even more precious to Harvey Stafford.

On Gypsy's part, she found Stafford's attentions the most wonderful experience she had ever had. To be courted by a wealthy and clever man, an educated and handsome cavalier, went to Gypsy Patterson's head like the fumes of old wine. But she did not utterly forget all other interests in life.

As John Longfoot did not appear at Paradise after a few days, Gypsy set forth early one morning to go to his cabin, for she had really expected him. She followed the bank of Brindle River, its waters now but a murmuring brown stream, and came to the place opposite the gash in which John's cabin stood, and where the canoe had been left for her use while the timberman was recovering from his injury. The canoe was on the opposite bank.

Before she cupped her hands to "hoo-hoo" for her friend, she spied Bobolink's bark lodge below the gash. The Indian lad was at work smoking the day-before's catch of fish. She was some time in attracting his attention—at least, in making him admit that he saw her. He put John's canoe into the water and paddled sullenly across, the bow of the canoe high out of the stream, Indian fashion.

"Is John ill?" demanded the girl in a worried tone.

Bobolink shook his head, evidently in an uncommunicative mood.

"Is he at the cabin?"

Another shake of the head.

"Where is he?"

Bobolink ruminated. He could scarcely intelligibly and honestly reply to that question without resorting to speech. So he returned, guttorally.

"He gone away."

"Where has he gone?"

"Way off." Bobolink's gesture included most of the hemisphere.

"Tell me where he has gone to!" commanded the girl.

"Don't know. Mebbeso gone all summer."

"Never!" cried Gypsy. She saw the black eyes of the boy tinkle wickedly and knew he desired to puzzle her. "When did he go?" she asked.

"Two suns."

"Day before yesterday?"

He nodded.

That Longfoot had gone away without telling her, puzzled Gypsy. They had always been such good friends that John usually discussed his personal affairs with her, and with frankness.

Meanwhile she rode with Stafford whenever she could. He was so often at Paradise for one meal or another that Aunt Tabby got into the habit of setting a third plate at the table. Aunt Tabby quite approved of H. Harvey Stafford.

On this particular day, when the girl and Stafford set forth from Paradise Knoll on a longer jaunt than usual, altho they went by the way of the old timbermen's clearing Gypsy had no opportunity to ask the latter about John Longfoot and his mysterious journey.

She and Stafford were riding to Mitt mountain, far below the Junction, and they merely waved recognition to the three old fellows as they cantered past. Tall Timber people, too, were used by now to seeing the twain ride thru the town, and their appearance was scarcely commented upon on this occasion.

Gypsy was merry, gay and comradely; but she almost always was, and with everybody. When she pulled in the brown mare to speak a moment to Steve McGraw after they left the Junction behind them on this afternoon, she smiled down at the big woodsman quite as charmingly as she had smiled at Harvey Stafford. But there was no coquetry in her smile.

"Howdy, Miss Gypsy. Howdy, sir," was McGraw's greeting. "Have they moved the Junction much farther south? I've been tramping it clear from Blainesburg, and it does seem as tho somebody must have pushed the Junction a fur ways off."

"It was stationary when we left, Steve," laughed Gypsy.

The woodsman was looking up at her curiously. He asked:

"I don't suppose you wear it common, do you, Miss Gypsy? But I expected to see it sparklin' there at your throat."

"What is that?" she asked wonderingly, and putting one gloved hand to the opening of her blouse. "What do you mean—sparkling?"

"Your locket, I mean."

"My locket?"

"That there jewelry I sent to Chicago for when the boss was laid up. You know—sort of a birthday gift it was for you." When he saw the puzzled expression dawn in her face his own went blank. "By the great king spruce!" he muttered. "Now I have put my foot in it, by gosh!"

"Tell me what you mean, Steve," commanded Gypsy. "Why should you buy jewelry for me?"

"It was for the boss I bought it." Big Steve said stammeringly. "Now, you see, he couldn't get to the express office. I—I—guess I have got my foot in it, no two ways about it. Both feet, by gosh!"

"You bought something John Longfoot to give to me?" said Gypsy clearly.

"Yes, ma'am. A locket. But for the love of Moses, don't tell him I give it away," sputtered the woodsman. "I never do open my mouth without puttin' my foot in it," he added contritely.

"I haven't seen John for several days, Steve," said Gypsy, gently. "More than a week, in fact. But I will say nothing to him about the locket—or what you have said about it—when he does come to see me."

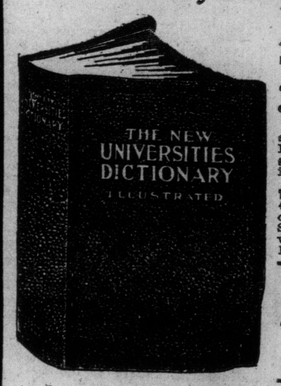

She touched her pony with the whip and rode on with Stafford. The latter had heard all, and for once he was unable to mask his real feelings. But Gypsy did not note his black look, altho she understood after a bit that his mood had changed.

PUBLIC AWAKENED TO CHILD WELFARE

Speakers Laud Usefulness of Big Brother and Big Sister Movement.

Interest in the Big Brother and Big Sister movement was evidenced in the co-operative meeting of the Protestant, Catholic and Jewish branches, which met in Oddfellows' Temple last night, when seating capacity was taxed. Ald. Mrs. Sidney Small and C. L. Burton were joint chairmen.

Mr. Burton defined the relationship between the Big Brother and the Little Brother, and said that one had to deal with a boy according to circumstances. Professor Dale, head of the social service department of the university, stated that it was the personal element in the movement that kept it from becoming petrified. Anything that kept the mind young was worth its weight in gold, declared the speaker, who said that only by a renewal of youth could a program of hope be prescribed for a war-worn world. Mr. Dale said that the problems of the future were well on their way to a solution when they had gatherings such as the present one. Pointing out the great things that could be done by the Big Brother who took a real interest in a boy, he told of how his own spiritual and mental heredity and environment had been influenced by a teacher, who, in school days, gave him his friendship.

Mrs. Small spoke on the big part the movement had to play in the program of hope, and on the good fortune of the time in having a scientific basis upon which to work. She introduced Rabbi Brickner, who drew a picture of the present generation and that of the past. "Today conditions are changed, hence the need of the Big Brother and Big Sister," Toronto, he said, was a beautiful city of homes, but he knew cities in which there were no real homes, and where family life and paternal control had disappeared. They were questioning, at this moment, said the speaker, that which was the foundation of the home. Speaking of the Jewish immigrants, he compared them to old trees taken up by their roots and transplanted. The children were being Canadianized and brought up in the public schools in a way altogether different to that of the parents, whom they learned to look upon as ignorant. "The child is being baptized with power, social control is being broken down, the church and the synagogue no longer have a message. Today we have the boy and girl at the crossroads, hence the need for the Big Brother and Big Sister," was the argument of the rabbi.

Rev. Father Bench, superintendent of Catholic charities, added his testimony to hopefulness for the movement, as evidenced by the awakening of the public to the welfare of the child, an evidence shown in so many channels, all directed to the different needs of the children of the land, who were its most valued asset. Ald. Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, Mr. Stapleford of the Federation for Community Service, and Mr. Boylan of the Catholic Big Brothers, were among those on the platform.

GAY STORE OPENS DOORS TOMORROW

Nothing Over a Dollar and Lots Under Will Be Toronto Innovation.

The Gay Store, which opens at 8.30 a.m. tomorrow, near the northeast corner of Yonge and Queen streets, marks a new milestone in Toronto. It is safe to say that crowds will surge back and forth all day thru its various departments, and that many hundreds will buy. Yesterday, altho the doors were closed for business, yet business was being done from the outside. You may ask how? The answer is, thru the things to be seen in the windows. The articles for sale had an attraction all their own, and the price on the ticket attached to each held something unique for the Toronto purchaser. For the first time in the city, prospective buyers were told that nothing in the window—no matter what its attraction—would cost the purchaser more than a dollar. The Gay Store is in fact the $1 store. Things may be purchased for almost anything less than a dollar, but no one article can command more than the unit named.

Yesterday groups gathered about the windows and commented on the various things for sale and the remarkable prices. Tomorrow the doors will be open and the counters, shelves and tables will be found stocked with a variety of household needs and effects. Jewelry in many designs may be had from 15 cents to $1. Hats and hat-shapes in silk and straw, and in the season's colors. Dozens of white Japanese silk waists, tucked and finished with buttons and button-holes, priced at a dollar. There are corsets stacked with lace and embroideries, pink Japan silk underwear, corsets and many other articles, none costing more than $1. There are good-looking silk stockings at a dollar a pair, and real suede gloves at the same price. Prettily trimmed dresses for children, in print and gingham, $1 each; little colored sweaters at 79 cents each; dainty white dresses for infants, finished with embroidery, at the maximum of $1. Kitchenware and books, toilet goods, stationery and music are all here.

For men and boys there are shirts, underwear, ties, socks, handkerchiefs —nothing costing more than a dollar, and many articles selling at a good deal less. The opportunity certainly comes to Toronto at the right time. This Toronto store makes the fifth in the chain that the firm are opening in Canada, the others being in Montreal, St. Hyacinthe, Brantford, and Stratford. Tomorrow customers are invited to inspect the stock, purchase is sure to follow inspection.

"ALF'S BUTTON" DELIGHTS ALLEN THEATRE CROWDS

"Alf's Button," the fascinating British comedy film, now showing at the Allen Theatre, Richmond street, has its predecessor, "Aladdin's Wonderful Lamp," beaten a thousand ways, because the Arabian Nights and the tales then told had not the world's greatest war to suggest the pictures screened in the story of today. Yesterday at the theatre, laughter rippled from children's voices and the deeper guffaws from the adults punctuated the play at many points as the sometimes gorgeous or absurd transformation took place by the mere rubbing of his precious button by its owner. The story is one of the trenches. Alf, by accident, had come into possession of the button into which the spirit of the lost lamp of Aladdin had taken up its abode. Rubbing the button on his khaki coat was the signal for the appearance of a stately Ethiopian, who salamed to Alf, who, even in the trenches, got anything he wanted, from a flagon of foaming ale to a visit from the prettiest girl in London. The Genii takes Alf and his chum, Bill, back for a visit to Blighty, and there provides him and his old sweetheart with luxuries galore. A country house, in which slaves and servants from the orient wait upon his every call, are part of the picture, of which the trench scenes are reminiscent of those in that other favorite, "The Better 'Ole." A large audience enjoyed the picture.

SIMONS CHOSEN TO HEAD THE GERMAN DELEGATION

Berlin, Feb. 22.—Dr. Walter Simons, German minister of foreign affairs, will head the German delegation at the London conference late next month. Konstantine Fehrenbach, the chancellor will not attend. It is officially explained that he cannot leave Germany because of the political situation, but the real reason for the designation of Dr. Simons as head of the delegation is said to be the fact that Dr. Fehrenbach made an unfavorable impression at the Spa conference last year.

In addition to Dr. Simons, there probably will be two other principal German delegates, and it is probable both will be members of the cabinet.

FUEL CRISIS IN RUSSIA BECOMES ACUTE TOPIC

Riga, Letvia, Feb. 22.—The fuel crisis in Soviet Russia is the most acute topic of the day, reports from Moscow stating that all the newspapers are devoting their attention to it. The crisis is acutely felt in the Moscow rail junction. The Izvestia being quoted as saying there is only a few days' supply there and closing of the repair shops is threatened, many of the locomotive boilers having been frozen.

The newspaper adds there is no hope of improvement and railway service has been suspended on 4,500 miles of Russian railways. Numerous other lines, particularly those from the Donetz and Siberian coal fields, are badly crippled.

ENORMOUS CATACOMBS TO BE ERECTED IN SPAIN

Madrid, Feb. 22.—The Diario Universal announces the proposed construction at Cerro Angeles, the geographical centre of Spain, of great catacombs, to cover five square kilometers, which will be named "the city of the dead," and where all Catholics in Spain are to be buried. The structure is to be surmounted by an iron cross three hundred feet high, from which daily masses for the dead will be said.

FOR DIRECTOR OF CHILDREN'S PLAY

Ontario Division of Red Cross Society Provides Money for Year.

The executive committee of the Ontario division Canadian Red Cross Society met at the headquarters, 410 Sherbourne street, yesterday.

It was decided in view of the great need for the healthy and intelligently directed play among school children to provide $5,000 for the appointment for one year of a director of physical education to work under the Ontario department of education as a part of the program of the junior Red Cross for Ontario.

It was reported that the cost for the first nine months of the current year of the eight auxiliary nurses which are working under the provincial department of health in promoting public health and child welfare nursing would be approximately $14,000. It was reported also that these eight nurses, with the other eight directly appointed by the department of health, had recently been in Toronto for a conference and had reported many interesting features of their work, and had shown such substantial results as to fully justify the co-operation of the Red Cross with the government.

It was also reported that substantial assistance in equipment and supplies had been given to the Royal Air Force Hospital at Camp Borden, and that some money was still available from the original grant for this purpose.

Those present were the president, Mrs. H. P. Plumptre, Professor George M. Wrong, hon. sec.; Col. Noel G. L. Marshall, hon. treas.; Col. Thomas Gibson, C.M.G., D.S.O., hon. solicitor; Col. George G. Nasmith, C.M.G.; Miss Jean I. Gunn, chairman of nursing and emergency committee; Mrs. J. McGibbon, Sarnia; Mr. A. W. Fleck, Ottawa; Mrs. George Watt, Brantford and Mrs. C. R. Crowe, Guelph.

TURKISH DELEGATES ARE STILL DIVIDED AT LONDON CONFERENCE

Nationalist Envoy Claims That Hq Alone Can Represent Turkey.

London, Feb. 21.—The Turkish delegations to the London conference, altho housed in the same hotel, are far apart politically. To all attempts to reconcile them Bekir Samy Bey, envoy of the Angora government, replies: "I alone represent Turkey." Little if any progress is being made, and to add to the complications Tewfik Bey, head of the Constantinople, is ill in bed with a chill.

While Tewfik Pasha has been ill since his arrival in London, the real reason for the postponement of the Constantinople delegates an dthe Nationalists attending the conference is because they have not arrived at an agreement, openly at any rate. An attempt at negotiations between the two delegations is still going on, but Bekir Samy Bey, head of the Nationalists, thus far has been adamant and will not attend the conference as a member of the Constantinople delegation.

The Armenian delegation which is in London has not yet asked to be heard.

At this morning's meeting of the allied council Lithuania applied for recognition de jure, but they postponed the application until "more important matters" have been settled.

The opinion is general here that final adjustment of all outstanding questions, including the near east, must await a settlement of reparations with Germany.

How Governments Stand.

I Conferences preliminary to the real business before the allied and Turkish delegates have proceeded far enough to disclose the positions of several governments toward the settlement of the near eastern problem. The French delegates do not regard definite arrangements immediately possible, but look, rather, toward an armistice in Turkey, during which time Great Britain, France and Italy may come to a complete understanding among themselves, and act as arbitrators between the Turks and Greeks.

INDIAN NEWSPAPERS WELCOME READING AS NEXT VICEROY

Are Practically Unanimous as to His Success as an Ambassador.

NEW ERA OPENING OUT

Manchester, Eng., Feb. 1. — (By Mail)—A Reuter report to The Manchester Guardian, quoting the comments of the Calcutta press on Lord Reading's appointment as viceroy of India, says that the papers are practically unanimous in paying a tribute to his success as ambassador in America.

The Englishman believes "Lord Reading's high ability, intellectual keenness and force of character will give his viceroyalty the strength and imagination necessary in the difficult days ahead." It hopes that in accepting office, "Lord Reading made it clear, that, unlike his predecessor, he will not stand any nonsense from the India Office or anybody else," and that "if the cabinet is reconstructed Mr. Montagu will disappear from it, as it is not conceivable that Lord Reading would consent to play second fiddle to Mr. Montagu."

The Indian Daily News does not believe the fact of Lord Reading's being a Jew will prove any disqualification, and thinks his success will be fully assured if he brings a genuinely sympathetic mind to bear on his work and refuses to put on bureaucratic glasses.

The New Empire believes all shades of opinion in India will welcome the appointment with feelings of hope.

The Bengalee congratulates Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Montagu on the choice of the "most brilliant and distinguished statesman ever sent to India," and adds: "The appointment betokens the sincerity of England's intention to open a new chapter in Indian constitutional history." The Bengalee comments appreciatively on the fact that while Mr. Montagu marked out the track by which India is to reach her goal, Providence is sending another gifted Jew to guide her steps along the road.

The Bharatmitra, the Nationalist organ, admires Lord Reading's talents, but remarks: "In the present state of things, India has nothing to lose or gain by the appointment, for India wants Swaraj, (home rule) not an agency of the British plutocracy."

The extremist organ, Amrita Bazar Patrika, says: "Far from being a disqualification, Lord Reading's religion will create a prepossession in his favor." "Lord Reading," it declares, "comes to India with the advantage of a clean slate, and it will be his own fault if he fails to show himself a tactful viceroy. Beyond this Indians cannot accept anything from him so long as the present system of government continues."

ALLIED CONTROL BOARD HAS NOW LEFT VIENNA

Vienna, Feb. 22.—Members of the allied military control commission left Vienna today, their work having been virtually finished. Only a few British and French officers remained to complete the destruction of several pieces of rather obsolete artillery.

British officers have met with passive resistance from Austrian workers in Neustadt, a section of Vienna, where the workers lay on the propellers of airplanes, preventing the use of axes upon them.

BAND CONCERT AND CHOIR

WOULD CONTROL THE AMATEUR BOXING

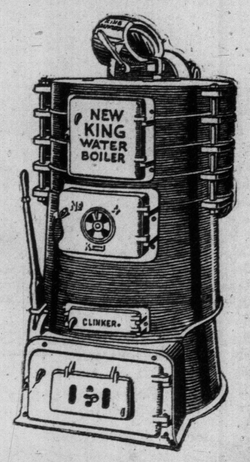

The quarterly meeting of the Ontario branch of the A. A. U. of C. was held last evening, and some very important matters discussed. The question of admittance of industrial and commercial organizations into membership was a live topic. It was pointed out that organizations of this kind had a large advantage over an ordinary athletic club by having at their disposal the giving of jobs to star athletes.

Gen. Gunn, Thos. Gibson and Maj. Smith addressed the meeting and pointed out the benefit which industrial organizations are deriving from athletics by way of increased efficiency in the work of employes. The matter was referred back to executive committee with a view of obtaining the co-operation of the employers in the larger firms thruout the province so that sport will not suffer from this source.

J. F. McGarry and J. P. Fitzgerald, of the Ontario Athletic Commission, appeared and asked the co-operation of the union in controlling all boxing, both amateur and professional. A conference will be held within a few days with a committee of the union with a view of discussing the whole matter at length. It is the intention of the commission to request that the present boxing bill be amended by the legislature to permit of the control of amateur boxing as well as professional.

HOCKEY VARSITY - 5 KITCHENER 1 · CURLING FINAL TODAY · BOXING VARSITY MEN FOR MONTREAL

PLAY-OFF IS NECESSARY WHEN STUDENTS WIN

Varsity Pull Away From Kitchener in Third Round After Forty Minutes of Bang-Up Hockey — Box Dislocates Elbow Early in the Game.

The pinch-hitting Varsity team tied up the second hole in the O.H.A. senior race by defeating Kitchener, 5 to 1, at the Arena last night, making a play-off in Hamilton necessary on Thursday night. The winner of the Thursday clash will meet Granites in the senior finals on March 1 and 4.

Last night's effort was one of the best of the season, and a rip-roaring and seesaw affair, until Varsity opened a final spurt in the last period and drew away. Kitchener did not get any of the breaks, and the toughest blow of all, and the turning-point, really was when, in the first few minutes of the game, Wright squeezed Box into the boards. Box went down with a crash, and doubled his arm up in going into the wood, with the result that he dislocated his elbow. This made it necessary to put young Trushinski back on the defence with Merrick, and, while he played a grand game, it hurt the morale of the Kitchener outfit.

Fast Hockey.

It was the closest checking game of the whole lot, but spots of brilliant passing put enough pep into it to make the tussle real interesting for the full house of fans. It was a very even thing for two periods, and Kitchener wilted like a dying rose in the final stanza.

Varsity had more of the general play in the opening twenty minutes, but the western Ontario team had many clean-cut chances and were outlucked that they came out of the period without a tally, and Varsity showing one on the score sheet. The second period was about the same order. Kitchener worked right inside time after time, only to have something go wrong when a score looked sure. The third was Varsity's by a decided margin. Kitchener stopped badly here, and, with Box on, he might have put the dash into them when they died down.

Every man gave all he had. Naturally a few stood out over the others, but it was a hard-fought contest and one that the fans knew was battled out to the last ditch. Ramsay was the mainstay of the victors. He broke up many dangerous rushes and quickly carried the play to the other end and was instrumental in Varsity getting their first two scores, both of which could be chalked up to careless defence work by Kitchener. Wright was a sturdy and clever checker all evening. He did great service for Varsity by breaking up rushes and also took a lively interest in the attack. Carson was brilliant in spots, but got careful attention thruout from Kitchener.

Parkes and Hiller have seldom played better. They were the whole works from an attacking standpoint for Kitchener and went until they were ready to drop. The Kitchener attackers had their shots right on the goal each time, and Hiller had tough luck with four or five when he stick-handled his way right inside. Merrick had a double burden when Box was injured. Trushinski gave him able service, but Doc tried to cover both sides and it affected his work. Hainsworth was up to his usual good standard, but the puck rebounded straight out in front from every shot and Varsity were slipping in like eels trying to bat it back at him.

Clean at All Times.

It was a remarkably clean game. There was the usual tripping, but nothing that could be called real bad was attempted all night. The players of both teams stepped out on the ice and sailed in with everything they had in speed and checking and it was a game to warm the hearts of the fans. Before the game it was even money and take your choice, and for two periods the play was the way of the betting.

The first period was a hummer. The speed was dazzling and Varsity had the most of the general play, but Kitchener came strong in the last ten minutes, but were unfortunate when at close quarters Box was injured and carried off early. Carson wiggled thru, but kicked the puck just before he shot and netted it and it was disallowed. Ten minutes elapsed before the only score of the period came. Ramsay went up and into the corner. Kitchener failed to put checkers on him and he worked in and up behind the net and squirmed around the corner and scored. It was sloppy work on Kitchener's part. Then the green shirts sailed away into a vicious attack. Parkes and Hiller rushed it up and Hiller was clean inside twice, but something always cropped up to rob him of a score. The period ended with Varsity up one.

The second was at the same pace. The play was about even. Time after time Kitchener worked it in close, but could not get the counters. Parkes finally stole the puck from Ramsay and sprinted right back to the Varsity end. He crossed over as he hit the defence and shot between two men and beat Langtry cleanly. It didn't take Varsity long to get this back. Ramsay again was responsible. He got in behind the net and Kitchener repeated the stuff of failing to pin him down. He dodged around until he found a spot to slip it out, and Sullivan was standing right beside the net and it was an easy matter to give the rubber the little shove necessary to put it into the net.

Efforts That Failed.

Kitchener tried desperate measures to get on even terms, but were not rewarded. Once Hillier was away inside and had everybody but Lantry beat. He drew the goaler out and just as he was about to shoot Langtry made a dive and upset Hillier and the puck went past the post.

The third period was Varsity's. The first five minutes was a repetition of the first two rounds, but Kitchener faltered under a Varsity spurt and the students kept on the pressure to the end. They ran in three goals to make the victory sure. They play off Thursday in Hamilton and another rousing contest should be the result. Varsity dropped Westman as a sub after the first period and it was a sportsmanlike action when Kitchener were left with only one sub after Box was injured. Varsity never stopper. They had dash all the way and checked from bell to bell. They will be hard to stop.

Teams and Summary.

AURA LEE TROUNCE BOSTON A. A. OUTFIT

Boston, Feb. 22.—Brilliant passing rather than individual play enabled the Aura Lees of Toronto to defeat the Boston Athletic Association, 2 to 1, at the new Boston Arena tonight. The Canadians at times sent five men down the rink on an offensive play, leaving only the goaltender in their own territory. Lionel Conacher ranged the ice at will.

TIGERS HERE TONIGHT.

Hamilton Tigers make their final appearance of the season at the Arena here tonight. Tigers play Argonauts and after the overtime victory that the rollers put over on Aura Lee their stock has risen. Subscribers are holding tight to their place on the list and many will be on the job tonight. Argonauts have battled all the teams this year and were outlucked many times. CHALLENGED FOR SKATING TROPHY

Connaught Cup to Be Fought for Between New York and Ottawa Team.

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—The United States has challenged Canada for the possession of the Connaught Trophy for figure-skating, possession of which has been held by the Minto Skating Club since 1914. A team of four from the New York Skating Club will arrive on Saturday morning for the competition, to be held here on Monday evening, Feb. 28. The result of this contest will decide whether or not the trophy, emblematic of the figure-skating championship of America, is to remain in Ottawa or find a new home.

The Connaught Cup was first offered for perpetual competition in 1914 by His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught. The terms of the competition were, briefly, that it was open to teams from the United States and Canada, and that a competition should be held each year if a challenge was made to the defenders, and in Ottawa.

The first competition brought the famous Boston four, who, by a very small margin, were defeated by the Minto Club.

GRANITE-LINDSAY IN TANKARD FINAL

Winning Semi-Finals Easily From Queen City and Stroud on Soft Ice.

Granites and Lindsay, the keenest and friendliest of curling rivals, are left to play the Ontario Tankard final this morning. They scored the easiest kind of victory yesterday morning at High Park, on ice that turned soft rapidly towards noon, Granites winning over Queen City by 27, and Lindsay over Stroud by 22. They were scheduled to go right on in the final in the afternoon. The rules call for four degrees of frost outside and two inside, and instead it was thawing everywhere. Thus, it was up to the competing clubs, whereupon Thos. Rennie, on behalf of the Granites, made a nice little speech to Messrs. Larry O'Connor and Geordie Lattie, that, as they were from a distance, by automobile or rail, the decision was entirely in their hands. The renowned pair of skips then consulted with Dickie Butler, Bill Reesor and the other notables of their rinks and decided to go home and come back again to play off with their very good friends, the Granites. Later in the day, however, Referee Sandy Pearsey discovered that the weather would turn colder this morning, and it was agreed to play off today, starting at 10 a.m. on Peter Brown's best ice at Queen City. The stones and everything were shifted over to Hayden and Church streets, all ready for this morning's battle with besom and stone, which should prove a tidy affair, the line up being as follows:

Lindsay:	Granites:
J. Anderson	C. O. Knowles
W. E. Reesor	C. S. Dalton
F. J. Dares	T. Rennie
G. A. Little, sk.	A. E. Dalton, sk.
R. Butler	C. Boomer
W. Leonard	N. McEwan
J. Williams	H. E. Beatty
L. V. O'Connor, sk.	W. A. Suckling, sk.

The following are the scores of the semi-finals:

Granites:		Queen City:
A. E. Dalton, sk.	21	R. B. Rice, sk.	8
W. A. Suckling, sk	22	W. Philp, sk.	8
Lindsay:		Stroud:
G. A. Little, sk.	18	T. Kissock, sk.	11
L. V. O'Connor, sk.	25	W. Patterson, sk.	6

Granites led thruout, Dalton at one time 10 to 0. Patterson had an early lead on O'Connor, but a 5 about the fifth was the beginning of the end.

BRANTFORD LADIES WIN.

Brantford, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Brantford ladies defeated Preston nby the score of 1 to 0 in the second game of a home and home ladies series here tonight. The game was a snappy exhibition of hockey from the standpoint of feminine players. Norma Staples starred for the Brantford team, and the defense of the victors was the strong point. The line up:

CREDIT GREEN WITH DECISION OVER O'GATTY

Montreal, Feb. 22.—In the feature fight here tonight between the New York bantamweight, Packy O'Gatty, and the local fighter, Solly Green, The Montreal Gazette gives the decision to Green, who, it says, outpointed his opponent almost two for one in the first six rounds. In the remainder of the ten-round bout The Gazette gives the shade to O'Gatty. Le Canada, the French morning paper, calls the fight a draw with O'Gatty an easy winner if he had chosen to fight.

Eddie Ricord, local middleweight, knocked out Al. Proctor in the fourth round of their ten-round bout.

Bert Schneider, Canadian Olympic welterweight champion, who has recently turned professional, scored a technical knockout in the second round of his ten-round bout with Jack Downey, of Buffalo, when the latter's seconds threw the sponge into the ring.

MANAGER DOYLE IS STILL COMING

Sails South on Sunday and Will Likely Come Home With Leafs in May.

Larry Doyle is arriving late, like the fashionable lady. He has missed coming for two days according to schedule, tho one enterprising evening paper had him already on the job. President McCaffery states that Mrs. Doyle is ill in New York, but he expects the new manager in Toronto this morning.

As he is billed to sail south on Sunday from New York it is likely Larry will postpone his visit to Toronto till he comes with the team in May. The president yesterday gave out his latest roster as follows:

Pitchers—Snyder, Reis (Cincinnati semi-pro.), Fortune (Boston ameteur), Woodgate (Toronto semi-pro.), Williams (Buffalo semi-pro.). Two pitchers are to come from New York, said to be Barnes and Winters, and two from Boston. Bader does not wish to report and will probably pitch semi-pro.

Catchers—Mickey Devine, Gus Sanberg and a semi-pro. signed by Lena Blackburn.

Infield—Onslow (captain), 1b; Doyle (manager), 2b; Gonzales, McAndrews (Scranton semi-pro.), Davis (Minneapolis), Brown (Alleghany Steel League), Joe Wagner (Toronto 1918), and a semi-pro. recommended by O'Rourke, s.s.; Blackburn, 3b.

Outfield—Anderson, Riley, Altenberg, Matthews, Purcell (New York semi-pro.) and one to be secured from New York.

President McCaffery guesses that the Akron franchise will be transferred to Montreal and probably Syracuse to Newark.

The season opens for Toronto at Baltimore, April 20, and at the island with Baltimore May 4. They start practice in Georgia March 10.

The Islanders open their exhibition series early, and Babe Ruth and the New York Americans will be here May 9.

JUDGE LANDIS RENDERS FIRST BASEBALL DECISION

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Judge Kenesaw M. Landis rendered his first decision as commissioner of the advisory council of baseball today when he declared that Phil Todt, pitcher and first baseman, was a free agent when he signed a contract with the St. Louis American League Club.

The St. Louis Nationals had claimed Todt's services and the Sherman Club of the Western Association and the Houston Club were named as parties to the decision.

The case was pending before the national commission since March, 1920. The player was 16 years old, when he signed with the St. Louis Nationals and was later sent to Sherman and then to Houston, but he refused to sign a contract with either club.

ROY MOORE WINS.

New York, Feb. 22.—Roy Moore of St. Paul received the judges' decision over Benny Coster of New York after a fifteen-round bout here today. Each weighed 120 pounds.

PAPER MONEY IN GERMANY 105,000,000,000 MARKS

Washington, Feb. 22.—Paper money in existence in Germany amounts to 105,000,000,000 marks and that in circulation amounts to more than 80,000,000,000 as against 50,000,000,000 in circulation in 1919, the department of commerce was informed today by Economic Consul Maurice Parmelee in Berlin. There are no coins of the precious metals in circulation and the value of the coins of baser metals is negligible, Mr. Parmelee said.

CANADA'S ROLE IN POULTRY CONGRESS

Strong Committee Appointed to Act With First World Congress.

Ottawa, Feb 22.—Canada will play an important part in the first world poultry conference, to be held at The Hague, from Sept. 6 to 13, according to information from the department of agriculture this morning. The congress will be an assembly of delegates from governments, teaching and experimental institutions, poultry and other societies, and persons interested in the future development of poultry husbandry.

In addition to studying poultry matters generally, the congress will also serve to promote international acquaintance and good-fellowship among poultry-keepers thruout the world.

The executive of the Canadian National Association has appointed a strong advisory committee to act in conjunction with the conference, it is composed of Dr. James W. Robertson, Ottawa; Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture; P. C. T. O'Hara, deputy minister of trade and commerce; W. W. Cory, deputy minister of immigration and colonization; General J. Gunn, Toronto; T. C. Kiluck, president of the University of British Columbia; Dr. G. C. Creelman, Ontario agent-general in London; H. S. Arkell, Dominion live stock commissioner, and H. R. Gray, president of the Canadian Produce Association.

Executive Committee.

The executive committee is composed of: President, Dr. Robert Barnes, Ottawa; eastern vice-president, Dr. S. Lafortune, Gatineau Point; western vice-president, N. W. Kerr, Brandon, and W. A. Brown, Ottawa; F. C. Elford, Dominion poultry husbandman, and Ernest Rhoades, secretary-treasurer.

The executive has also appointed a patron committee, composed of Sir Robt. L. Borden, Sir George Foster, Hon. Dr. Tolmie, Hon. Murdock McKinnon (lieutenant-governor of Prince Edward Island), Hon. Mackenzie King, Hon. Sidney Fisher and Hon. T. A. Crerar.

While the preparations are not complete for the Canadian exhibit, the executive has already arranged that poultry raising and marketing as it is carried on in Canada will be shown. Exhibits of live Canadian poultry will also play an important part in the exhibit, and among the principal breeds shown will be the Barred Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandottes, White Leghorns and Chanticler.

Incidentally, it might be said that the last is a Canadian breed, it having originated in the province of Quebec.

sulphate meant sulphurette because of the directions, "use as directed," which he took to mean externally. The original prescription and the copy made by Caswell were produced last night and plainly read barium sulphate. Caswell, in defence, argued over the chirography and stated that barium sulphate was not known to a great many Toronto druggists. He had learned at college that barium salts were never taken internally and was advised never to label any prescriptions as poisonous until ordered by a medical practitioner.

He had never had many prescriptions with "use as directed" on them, but generally they expressed whether for external or internal use. He had filled one prescription for barium sulphurette in the last year.

Dr. Pollock's Statement.

On learning of the woman's death Dr. M. A. Pollock said he immediately had a copy made by the druggist of his prescription which satisfied him that he (Dr. Pollock) had specified barium sulphate.

He explained that he had prescribed barium sulphate for Mrs. Resnick following a diagnosis and that he was going to take an X-ray of the digestional tract the day of her death. No picture could be taken unless the salts were present in the stomach to form an outline so that the digestion could be watched. He had filled the prescription which read, "barium sulphate, chemically pure, oz. 2," and had secured some of the powder she had taken, which was presented last night as an exhibit of barium sulphurette along with the bottle from which Caswell had taken the salt. Barium sulphate was a white, harmless powder while barium sulphurette gave off an odor and was yellowish in color.

It was established that, where a doctor had his own X-ray outfit, it was customary and considered good practice to allow the patient to take the prescription and that "use as directed" was an order in general use among all medical practitioners. As long as the salt was chemically pure, no harm could result from taking any quantity of it.

This was corroborated by Dr. H. B. Anderson, consulting physician, who said he thought druggists should know that barium sulphurette was an irritant poison usually prescribed in the form of a paste, and by Drs. L. J. Breslin, J. Solway and Dr. Adams, who first attended Mrs. Resnick.

Dr. Walter Campbell of the General Hospital staff gave her antidotes and said that nothing could probably have been done by any of the doctors to save her life. He thought that barium sulphate for X-ray purposes should be labelled to prevent carelessness.

Detective Thomson stated that Caswell had been eager to do everything possible and had given him the bottle of barium sulphurette from which the fatal salt had been taken.

Dr. L. G. Rogers of the University of Toronto analyzed the contents of the stomach and found traces of barium sulphurette.

Mr. Resnick, the husband, and Mr. and Mrs. Miller, who lived in the same house, also gave evidence.

Coroner M. Crawford presided, Major Eric Armour appeared for the crown, Peter White, K.C., for Dr. Pollock, G. H. Gilday for Mr. Caswell and D. Mehr for the family. The inquest was adjourned until March 1.

HAMILTON BOY'S HIKE.

LOW BID FOR NEWSPRINT TO U. S. GOVERNMENT

Washington, Feb. 22.—Bids for supplying the government with paper during the next six months were received yesterday by the joint congressional printing committee and were said to show "a decided drop" from prices quoted January 31, when former bids were rejected.

The low bid for newsprint today was 5.46 cents a pound, as compared with 6.28 cents in the last bids. Book paper was quoted from two to four cents a pound below the former bids.

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 22.—The funeral of the late Milton R. Jennings, editor and managing director of The Edmonton Journal, took place at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the service being conducted in Christ Church by Rev. J. M. Comyn-Ching, with interment in the Edmonton cemetery. Magnificent floral offerings from all over the continent showed the esteem in which the deceased journalist was held. The legislature of Alberta adjourned in order that the cabinet and members might attend the funeral, while the corporation of the city of Edmonton was represented. The staff of The Journal marched in a body in the funeral procession.

COUNSEL FOR G.T.R. CABLE TO LONDON

Request Instructions on the Course at Federal Inquiry, Due to New Conditions.

Montreal, Que., Feb. 22.—(By Canadian Press).—Following the decision of the Grand Trunk arbitration commission which is enquiring into the physical value of the property of the railway prior to its acquisition by the Dominion government, to refuse evidence as to actual values of the subsidiary companies owned and controlled by the Grand Trunk, counsel for the company today cabled the chairman and directors in London stating the unexpected turn of events at the hearing.

Expect Meeting in England.

It was stated today by the counsel for the Grand Trunk that while the work of the board would be continued, it was expected that as soon as possible a meeting of the chairman and directors would be held in London when a cable would be sent here with instructions as to what course the Canadian end of the company should undertake.

A definite change from the previous ruling as to costs and values occurred today when the chairman of the commission and counsel for the government accepted the view that the actual value and potential earnings capacity of the coal mines owned in Ohio by the Grand Trunk should be taken in evidence. These were valued at between $11,000,000 and $12,000,000 while their potential value might be much more.

VERMINOUS IMMIGRANTS FOUND ON STEAMERS

New York, Feb. 22.—Rigorous measures to prevent possible introduction of typhus fever and other diseases thru this port resulted in the examination of 6,355 persons during the week ended yesterday, and of these 272 were found to be infested with vermin, said a statement issued today.

Health Commissioner Copeland made public a letter from Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to President Wilson, saying officers of the public health service are now stationed abroad to advise consuls and enforce quarantine regulations. The letter was in reply to telegrams from Dr. Copeland calling the president's attention to entry of typhus here.

MARITIMES MAY LOSE SEVEN FEDERAL SEATS

Ottawa, Feb. 22.—(Can. Press) — The effect of a possible further curtailing of the representation in the house of commons of the Maritime Provinces in the event of redistribution is causing interest. Under the last redistribution, New Brunswick was given 11 seats, Nova Scotia 16, and Prince Edward Island 4, and while the island province representation cannot be further curtailed, it is possible that an increase in the population of Quebec without a corresponding increase in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia may result in the first province losing one representative and the latter six. This would bring the total maritime representation down to 24 instead of 31, as at present.

The New Universities Dictionary has not a dry line in the whole book—every page is of vital interest. Besides the best vocabulary ever printed, it contains twenty-two separate and distinct vocabularies of special activities, such as automobiling, golf, war, aviation, music, and many other arts, sciences and sports. Furthermore, it presents special dictionaries of foreign words, phrases, etc.

THE GUMPS—THE SHADES OF HIS ANCESTORS

STEAMSHIPS LOWER, ALSO THE PAPERS

Canadian Exchanges Demoralized by Bad Breaks in Specialties.

Further slaughter of long accounts in steamships common yesterday made another demoralized day on the Canadian exchanges. The meeting of the Steamships directors of Canada did not take any action on the dividend on the common stock, and it is accepted that this is passed at present, and probably for a long time. That the dividend would be discontinued has been freely expected here for months past by those who have scrutinized the capitalization of the company and the conditions confronting the mercantile marine business. The shares opened down over three points and forced liquidation depressed price nearly three points further before a halt was called. Most of the buying during the day was on account of shorts who had sold stock at much higher prices.

With a big decline in Steamships, papers evinced further weakness and the whole of these made further low levels, Brompton and Abitibi being down each about four points in the vicinity of 39. With these speculative issues in such weak condition the balance of the market did little or nothing, and there was no disposition either among speculators or investors to do anything in the market until the condition had been stabilized. The bonds and other investment stocks, while quiet, had a good undertone.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT TO RETIRE U.S. LOAN

New York, Feb. 22.—A report is current in financial circles that the Canadian government has started negotiations to refund the $25,000,000 of five per cent. bonds which mature on April 1 next. Investigation, however, discloses that the Dominion government has bought up and retired already considerably more than a majority of the $25,000,000 maturity, and has completed arrangements to care for the balance at maturity without refunding.

That maturity is one-third of the $75,000,000 Canadian government loan floated in the latter part of 1916 at a basis ranging from 5.10 per cent. for the five-year bonds to 5⅜ per cent. for the ten-year bonds, and 5½ for cent. for the 15-year bonds.

The syndicate which placed the issue was composed of J. P. Morgan and Co., Brown Brothers and Co., Harris, Forbes and Co., the Bank of Montreal, the First National Bank, the National City Bank and the Guaranty Trust Company.

BIG MONTREAL TRADING; PAPER ISSUES SAGGING

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Liquidation in Brompton, Abitibi and Steamship common was the outstanding feature of the largest day's trading on the local stock exchange this year. Brompton reached a new recent low at 39, closing 39½, down 4⅝ points. Abitibi reached a new low at 38½ and closed 38¾, a net loss of 3½ points. Steamship touched a new recent low at 28, and closed at 30, a net loss of 3⅜ points. Of the remaining paper stocks Laurentide lost 1½ points at 84; Howard Smith was down 5 points to 90, recovering to 91¾; Riordon fluctuated between 130 and 124½, rallying to 130 at the close; Spanish common lost a point at 72¾ and the preferred lost a large fraction at 84¾; St. Maurice Paper lost 5 points at 95, and Wayagamack 2 at 75.

The market was again substantially lower, the only exceptions being a few miscellaneous issues.

The largest loss of 8 points went to Sherwin-Williams at 72. National Breweries ranged between 51 and 49½, closing 49¾, down 1⅜ points. Total sales, listed, 22,787; bonds, $145,650.

DOME WAS STRONG WITH N. Y. CLOSED

Mining Market Has a Good Undertone, Tho Somewhat Quiet.

With the New York market closed there was less business on the local mining exchange but there was a good undertone to the market and the prices were firm. Dome was the outstanding feature of the day's business, making a recovery to practically the highest point previously reached in this market, a small lot of stock selling on the Standard Exchange as high as $18.95. This was considered all the more remarkable in that the price for this issue is understood to be all the time under the dictation of the Wall street interests.

Hollinger was slightly irregular and a little lower for the day, while McIntyre was quiet to firm at $1.96. The more speculative issues were firmer with the principal business in Dome, V.N.T., and Keora.

There was not much of a market in the silver section and prices here recorded no marked changes. Vacuum Gas was lower at 17½ and there was practically nothing doing in the other listed oils.

SAY DEFALCATIONS NOW OVER $300,000

Further Charges Preferred Against Gerald H. Bruce by Former Stockbroking Partner.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Gerald H. Bruce, former junior partner in the firm of Oswald Bros., stock brokers, 113 St. Peter street, who was recently arrested on a charge of falsifying entries and misappropriating clients' money to the amount of $10 000, causing the firm to go into liquidation, appeared before Judge Cusson in the arraignment court this morning. New and substituted charges concerning losses of over three hundred thousand dollars were preferred against him by Malcolm Oswald, senior partner. Bruce's bail was raised from $20,000 to $25,000, the largest amount ever demanded here from a prisoner.

EARNINGS ARE LARGE, BUT STILL BORROWS

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Net earnings of the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Ltd., for 1920 were the highest on record, being $1,089,838, as compared with $704,261 in 1919. After deducting bond interest and preferred stock dividends, the balance available to common stock totaled $891,898, equivalent to 30 per cent.

Howard Smith, like several of the other paper companies, at present is in need of funds for working capital and fresh extensions. Shareholders will therefore be asked next month to vote on a bylaw to permit the directors to create a bond issue of $7,000,000 of 7 per cent. 25-year first refunding mortgage sinking fund bonds, of which $1,000,000 will be issued at once. Indeed, arrangements have already been made to dispose of these to an American financial house.

BRITISH STEELMAKERS ARE SLASHING PRICES

Middlesbrough, England, Feb. 22.—As a consequence of semi-stagnation of trade, the northeast coast steelmakers have made further cuts in prices, ranging from thirty to sixty shillings a ton.

Heavy steel rails now are quoted at £18, as against £25 two months ago; shipplates at £21, against £24 10s, and joists at £19, as against £24.

N. A. PULP EARNINGS.

In the annual report of the North American Pulp and Paper Company, which will be released within a few days, the net earnings of the company after depreciation, taxes and fixed charges, will approximate $1,500,000, as compared with $1,359,510 for the previous year. After deducting $94,406 for dividend requirements on the $1,590,000 on the preferred shares, the outstanding will be $1,405,594 available for the 1,000,000 shares of common stock, equal to $1.40 a share.

MEETING OF CREDITORS.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Notice is given by Frank P. Turville, authorized trustee, in connection with the suspension of Oswald Bros., that the first meeting of creditors will be held at No. 17 St. John street, Room 907, Montreal, on March 7, at 10.30 a.m.

All claims against the debtors must be filed with the trustee within 30 days from the date of notice (notice dated Feb. 19, 1921), after which date the proceeds of the debtors estate shall be distributed among the parties entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims received by the trustee.

MONTREAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Montreal, Feb. 22.—Prices were steady and not much change apparent in the local cash grain market today. The flour situation is stronger, but without much change. There is nothing new in millfeed. The baled hay trade is slow. The tone of the egg market is steady and there are no new developments in the potato market. A fairly active business is being done in butter. Prices rule very firm in the cheese market.

SEE BETTER TIMES FOR ALL BUSINESS

U. S. Chamber of Commerce Takes Confident View of Outlook.

Washington, Feb. 22.—(Special.)—Business conditions will improve from now on in the opinion of members of the committee on statistics and standards of the chamber of commerce of the United States, which has just completed its survey of the business situation in January. Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of this committee, in a statement issued tonight, asserts that reports received indicate a growing sentiment that business will improve to the spring, but there is no indication that there is going to be any sudden return to prosperity.

Mr. Douglas reports that farmers are gradually bringing their produce into market and that bankers thruout the country are extending money and credit to farmers and dealers.

"The most convincing evidence that we are on the highroad to recovery," Mr. Douglas says, "is found in the universal report, brought by traveling salesmen from every section of the country, of steadily growing sentiment that 'business will be better in the spring'—not a sudden return to prosperity, which is neither likely nor desirable, but a slow and natural working out of those processes of liquidation which are now in full operation.

"There are few who are more responsible than these same traveling salesmen for the growth of this healthy sentiment, which, in effect, is the recognition of the inherent soundness of the situation and that the remedies for it lie largely in constructive action.

"Not only is sentiment improved, but there is definite increase in the volume of business done. It is not a very great increase, but, as Mercutio says, 'Twill do,' for it forecasts the beginning of better days. Farmers are gradually bringing their produce to market. Bankers are slowly 'loosening up' and extending to farmers and dealers money and credit, the two vital factors needed to restore the situation. In the tobacco districts of Kentucky, where the deadlock between sellers and buyers seemed unbreakable, there are increasing reports of agreements made and sales consummated.

Hides and Skins.

The hide market continues very quiet and unchanged, and, if anything, weaker. John Hallam, 117 East Front street, last night submitted the following prices to The World on domestic hides: City butcher hides 7c lb., calfskins 7c, kip 7c, country butcher 7c, country kip 6c, horsehides, $3 to $3.50, and sheepskins 30c to 75c apiece.

Wool.

Wool, unwashed, coarse, is quoted at 11c; medium, 12c to 13c, and fine, 15c to 17c a pound.

Hay.

The hay market is a good deal easier, first-class hay bringing from $30 to $33 a ton, and second-class $26 to $28 a ton. Not enough straw was coming in to make it worth while to give a quotation.

Poultry Prices.

The poultry trade continues very quiet and light, with only moderate offerings. The prices, as given to The World, by one of the largest wholesale and retail dealers in the city, were as follows: Live poultry chickens, 30c to 35c, and hens, 30c to 38c a pound.

Dressed chickens, 35c to 42c; hens, 32c to 38c, and turkeys, 60c to 65c lb.

Grain Prices.

Country grain prices, as submitted by Stiver Bros., at their Unionville elevators, yesterday afternoon, will give a good general idea of country grain prices in the district around the city.

The firm yesterday were paying from $1.95 to $2 a bushel for fall wheat; marquis, $1.95; goose, $1.85; barley, 93c, and oats, 50c a bushel; buckwheat, $1; red clover, $12 to $13 a bushel, and sweet clover, where there is a market for it, $3.50 to $3.75.

CATTLE PRICES SHOW VERY LITTLE CHANGE

All Small Stuff Is oHlding About Steady.

With around 1000 cattle on sale yesterday, the market was good and steady at Monday's better tone, and on pretty much all classes there was a clean-up before noon. Good to choice butcher steers and heifers met with a fairly good demand, but the common class of cattle were no better than last week.

Fat cows and bulls held about steady, and for the better class of milkers and springers there was a reasonably good market at satisfactory prices, as times go. Heavy bulls are hard to sell, and do not seem to be wanted at any price.

The lamb trade is a shade stronger, with the top at 12½c, and a trifle more in one or two cases.

Hogs.

The hog market closed at from 13¼c to 13½c f.o.b.; 14¼c to 14½c, fed and watered. The bulk of the sales was made at the ¼c, but some outsiders picked up odd lots at the higher quotation.

For Wednesday's market the packers are quoting a dollar off these prices, but it remains to be seen whether they can do it or not.

Mexico City, Feb. 22.—Only eighty men out of a supposed complement of 1,000 responded to roll call today at a small garrison outside Mexico City, when General Jesus Garza, head of the Federal forces in the valley of Mexico, paid the garrison a surprise visit, and ordered an immediate review of the troops. Pay and rations for a full brigade of 1,000 men have been sent to this garrison for months.

ASK REORGANIZATION OF CITY WELFARE WORK

Statements Before Council Special Committee Condemn the Operations of Social Service Commission — Salvation Army Offers Praise—Federation for Community Service Lacks Confidence in Body—Children's Aid Society Finds It Impossible to Co-operate.

The special committee of the city council, which was appointed to consider the advisability of abolishing the social service commission, had a field day yesterday with representatives of the organizations in the city engaged in charity work, and with a few exceptions the burden of their statements was an unqualified condemnation of the work of the social service commission, and a demand for a reorganization of the city's welfare work. The commission was not permitted to take any part in the proceedings, but several members were close listeners and were active in taking notes.

Some members of the committee, chiefly Controller Gibbons and Ald. Baker, were disposed to question some of the speakers with a view to getting at the facts. The Chesterfieldian taste of the chairman and Ald. Johnston, however, would not permit this, especially if the speaker happened to be a lady.

"I want the committee to understand that we are here to work out a better system of handling city relief," began the chairman.

"We are here to get the facts," broke in Controller Gibbons, "and if we are to be barred from getting the facts I will leave the committee." "I don't think we should be satisfied with generalities," remarked Alderman Baker.

The notable exception to the chorus of condemnation was the statements of the two representatives of the Salvation Army, which were to the effect that the commission was doing a good work and was capably fulfuling its functions.

Wants Chance to Reply.

After hearing the various statements, James Simpson of the commission, said that as some of the remarks had reflected on the commission he wanted an opportunity given for members of the commission to reply to them. The committee agreed to this and will notify all the members of the commission to attend the next meeting, which will be held at 2.30 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon.

Rev. M. C. McLean, of the federation for community service, read a resolution adopted on Monday by the federation expressing lack of confidence in the commission. The resolution was in effect that the social service commission had failed to satisfactorily handle the city's welfare work, and that in the interests of efficiency the commission should be reorganized and the work turned over to a department under the direct supervision of the council.

The committee then called for the views of some of the organizations represented.

A. R. Auld of the Children's Aid Society, denied that the society had kept children in their charge longer than was necessary. It was the practice not to pass children to the care of other persons without the consent of the parents.

Wm. Duncan, of the society, said it was not the policy of the society to salvage a few of the city's dollars. Last year the society had received only eight or nine thousand dollars of the city's money thru the social service commission, and the calls on the society warranted an expenditure of four times that amount. It would be impossible for the society, he said, to co-operate with the present social service commission.

"The commission is made up of men without vision," said Mr. Duncan.

Ald. Baker: 'They don't supply you with the amount of money you think you require?"

"They don't," was the reply.

He took the ground that the commission had no status and were recognized by the society only as a matter of courtesy.

Miss Ethel Dodge of the federation of settlements, said her organization had not been able to get the commission to co-operate with the federation in city relief work.

Lack of Co-operation

Father Bench, speaking for the Catholic charities, said the lack of co-operation and organization in the handling of welfare work in Toronto was appalling, and was responsible for a great waste of effort and money. Any organization standing in the way of better welfare work in Toronto should be eliminated. He was not lodging charges; he was merely attacking the social service commission's system. He suggested the establishment of a bureau of public welfare, headed by a man of outstanding ability.

Questioned by Ald. Baker, Father Bench said he would not recognize the status of the commission to pass judgment on the wisdom of the charities expenditures.

The representative of the Salvation Army, Col. Ottway, said his relations with the social service commission had always been harmonious and they had no complaint to make. They, of ocurse, were not given all the money they asked for, but had not complained.

"This is a time for plain speaking," said Capt. McIlhenny of the S. A. "A great deal of the difficulty has come about by a misunderstanding of the functions of the social service commission as laid down by the city council."

He questioned whether the representatives of the 200 organizations had taken the trouble to inform themselves as to those functions. These organizations appeal directly to the city for funds, altho some of them do not get grants. The Salvation Army gets a grant; not all they want, but are thankful for what they get.

The Salvation Army, he thought, had as much to do with relief as any and had no complaint against the commission.

Found Very Approachable.

Mrs. H. B. Warren, of the Women's Patriotic League, said she had been engaged in charitable work for years and had always found the social service commission very approachable and sympathetic.

Mrs. Tyrell of the Infants' Home, had found the co-operation of the commission very helpful and Mrs. McMurray of the Protestant Orphans' Home, said that the relations between the commission and her organization was most harmonious.

Speaking for the Aged Women's Home and the Aged Men's Home, Mrs. Litster declared that she had not a word to say against the commission or their work. She believed there was plenty of scope for the welfare work of the city to be broadened out under the direction of the social service commission.

Mrs. A. M. Heustis said that while she had years ago endorsed the social service commission, she was now convinced that a reorganization of the commission was necessary. The present commission, she believed, was absolutely devoid of vision.

Dr. L M. Wood, superintendent of the National Institute for the Blind, got into an argument with Controller Gibbons regarding the purpose of the commission. The doctor expressed the opinion that the board of control was using the commission as a buffer to get rid of troublesome deputations. The controller denied this, and declared that the commission had been appointed to consider appeals for charitable grants, and naturally the board of control turned deputations seeking grants over to the commission.

Dr. Wood's recommendation was that the welfare work of the city should be turned over to a department of the city government, and placed under a "high-salaried man." He objected to the principal under which the commission was operated.

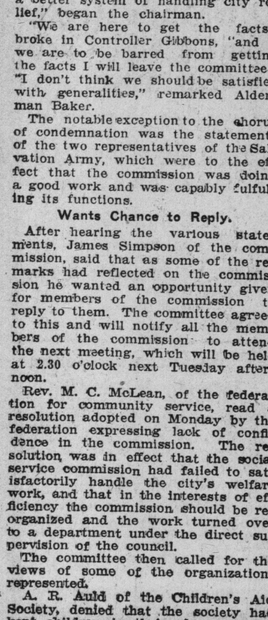

A representative of the University Women's Club of Toronto said her organization took an abstract interest in the welfare work of the city, and had come to the conclusion that the social service commission should be re-organized.

Other speakers were Dr. Dale, of university social work, and Dr. Stewart, of the federation for community service.

WIFE STOLE FURNITURE IS CHARGE OF HUSBAND

It is not often that a man has his wife arrested on a charge of theft, but such was the case late yesterday afternoon when Stephen Searle, 21 Portland street, swore out a warrant against his wife, Florence, charging her with the theft of furniture. Detective-Sergeant Charles Taylor arrested Mrs. Searle and she was locked up in Court street police station, but later released on her own bail.

Mrs. Searle, according to the police, claims that she merely acted on her husband's instructions and sold the furniture.

'ZONING' IMPORTANT IN TOWN PLANNING

H. L. Seymour Tells Ontario Surveyors—Building Must Be Controlled.

Town planning and zoning were the two chief subjects of discussion which were considered yesterday by the Ontario Land Surveyors' Association at their annual meeting held in the Engineers' Club. The president, T. D. LeMay, as chairman of the town planning committee, presented a plea to surveyors to join and associate themselves with the town planning institute of Canada. Zoning, he said, which goes hand-in-hand with town planning, had particular reference to building development as contrasted with the other features of the scheme of "the city beautiful" which deal largely with the laying out of areas. It was pointed out that no matter how scientifically an area may be planned, if building development cannot be controlled, the benefit of such planning is largely negated.

Zoning Important.

H. L. Seymour, who for several years has been assistant to Mr. Thomas Adams, federal town planning adviser, delivered a short address on the subject of zoning as an important part of town planning. He referred to the recent town planning and housing conference which had petitioned the Ontario government for the passing of general legislation along the lines of "the city of Ottawa planning and development act" now before the local house. He explained that this city of Ottawa act was merely supplementary to the present Ontario planning and development act which had been considered not sufficiently broad in its scope, as it dealt with the laying out of areas, but had no control over building development. Under the provisions of the proposed city of Ottawa planning and development act it would be possible to zone areas restricting the character and height of buildings and would also secure the provision of an adequate supply of light and air to buildings used for human habitation.

Civic Guild Praised.

Mr. Seymour paid tribute to the work of the Civic Guild and also to the recent movement for the formation of the Toronto Downtown District Association. This latter had been a growth from the old King Street Association and could now be compared to the Fifth Avenue Association and the Broadway Association of New York. He explained that the cry of "Save Fifth avenue" had been the slogan that was no doubt instrumental in bringing about the zoning of New York City, where an ordnance came into force in 1916 and where, from all reports, such ordnance had been eminently satisfactory. It was all right to talk about town planning, but the business men must be behind it. In outlining the subjects of this downtown district association, it was mentioned that undoubtedly one of the main problems to be solved was the zoning of the downtown district to preserve its character.

Professor E. J. Zavitz, provincial forester, gave a lecture illustrated with lantern slides on "Reforestation in Ontario." He explained the best way of procuring results from treaplanting and preserving the forests, and told of many experiments which had been made. His lecture, which was of a technical nature, dealt to a great extent with the difficulties to be met with in trying to preserve the forests.

Another illustrated lecture was given by N. T. Ireson, O.L.S., on his airplane trip to Moose Factory and Northern Ontario.

CHILD WELFARE EXPERT COMES TO TORONTO

C. C. Carstens, the newly-appointed director of the "bureau for exchange of information among child helping organizations," with headquarters in New York city, who is an outstanding authority on the social aspects of child welfare and more particularly with reference to neglected children, arrived in Toronto yesterday to spend a day as a guest of the child welfare council of the city, one of the institution members of the Federation for Community Service.

During his visit here Mr. Carstens will visit as many children's homes and institutions as possible and will also confer with the workers and boards of a number of organizations interested in child welfare problems, and a general meeting will be held in the board room of the Federation for Community Service at 3 p.m. today.

Mr. Carstens will deliver a public address at the opening of the 1921 lecture course of the Neighborhood Workers' Association tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock in the mining building.

FIRE LOSSES SHOW MARKED DECREASE

Toronto Marshal Traces Falling Off to Passing of New Legislation.

Since the enacting of the fire marshal act by the legislature in 1916, whereby a fire marshal's department was created, the losses from fire in Ontario have materially decreased. This, too, in spite of the enormous growth of rural centres of the province during that time. This was the outstanding feature of an address made by Fire Marshal E. P. Heaton, yesterday afternoon, to the convention of the Mutual Fire Underwriters' Association of Ontario, which is being held in the city, at the Carls-Rite Hotel. The delegates are all from the rural centres of the province, and the problems discussed dealt with conditions on the farms.

In 1916, when the act was passed, there were fires to the number of 10,279 in the province, with a resulting damage of $16,520,000. Altho since that time there has been an enormous increase in buildings and articles perishable by fire, in 1920 there were only 9,221 fires, with a total damage of $10,-850,000.

"Farmers are most interested in preventing fires in barns," he said, during the course of his address, "but altho the number of fires have been materially decreased, owing to the far greater crops and expensive machinery stored in these places, the damage has been larger. In 1916 it was less than a million dollars, while in 1920 it totaled $1,300,000." The Fire Prevention League, a voluntary association of farmers, etc., had also done great work with its aid to the marshal's department, he said.

Extending Insurance.

Some discussion occurred as to the advisability of issuing fire insurance policies on motor cars, trucks, tractors, etc., which are stored in barns. Up to the present there has been no legal fire insurance on motors of any kind. In the cities there has been a regular insurance given, but none in the rural communities The association were of the opinion that insurance should be given under certain conditions.

Fire Marshal Heaton also advocated the issuing of fire policies, even when the machine in question was parked in a barn Every precaution, however, would have to be taken. The matter was turned over to a committee for a report. Col. T. R. Mayberry of Ingersoll introduced the subject under the heading of "regulations re gasoline engines"

During a discussion on fire prevention it was pointed out that the four great causes of fires on the farm were: Lightning to unrodded buildings (where there are no lightning rods), spontaneous combustion, sparks from any source near where hay, straw, etc., is stored, and gasoline used for motive power catching fire. These did the most damage in the order named. In 1920, lightning to unrodded buildings caused $321,455 damage, while to rodded buildings only $4.800. Spontaneous combustion did $235,736 damage; sparks caused $144,460 damage, and gasoline catching fire, $65,811.

An address of welcome was made by the president, W. A. Galbraith, Iona.

MARRIED COUPLES WANTED ON FARMS

Tide of Unemployment Turns —General Outlook Brightening, Officials Say.

All married men among the unemployed who have had any farm experience whatever would be wise to take up farm work again, according to Supt. Miller of the government employment bureau.

Married couples are now in great demand by farmers, the husband to do general farm work and the wife to help with the work of the household. This means that the couple live in with the farmer, obtaining free room and board and good pay in addition, which is practically all available for saving.

A number of married couples went out to farms yesterday as well as 35 single men who went back to the land.

It was pointed out that in the case of a married couple with children free house fuel and garden are provided by the farmer, the wages running about $50 a month.

"Things are looking up," said Brig.-Gen. Fraser to The World yesterday. He drew attention to the fact that only about 2100 men applied for relief compared with more than 100 over that number the previous day.

Thirty men turned in relief cards yesterday, all having obtained work in the city and mostly in factories. This was considered a most excellent sign and as going to show that cases reported of men getting work within the past few days were not exceptional cases, but that the tide had turned and the situation generally was looking up.

Several large boxes and barrels were received at the Krausman Hostel yesterday from Westmount Ladies' Aid and contained many articles of much needed clothing for the unemployed and their families.

URGES FOSTERING WEST INDIAN TRADE

Sir R. Falconer Also Impresses Young Canadians With Share in Future.

In his address before the Young Canadian Club last night, Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, impressed upon his hearers their responsibility with regard to Canada's future attitude as a young nation toward the world. There was, he said, an immense stream of young people passing thru the university which was the source of a great deal of optimism, some 1800 young men entering last year. Wisdom and experience came with age, and in connection with attending such addresses as given in the Young Canadian Club, he believed them to be a decided advantage.

Young Canadians, Sir Robert said, would have a share in determining the future attitude Canada would take in world affairs. They were fortunate in having as companions other young nations. The United States, too, was feeling the responsibility of helping to carry world burdens. That was true Christianity. He very much regretted so much irritation existed at the present time, and strongly advised his audience to always uphold by their manner the high standards essential to the success of Canada. Tact was essential, and Great Britain had risen to the position of power by her treatment of small nations in accordance with her ideals. Canadians, said he, had to adopt a broader view with regard to trade also, as in some places opportunities were being neglected. The attitude of "trade sympathy" would bar Canadians if they did not look after such fields as the West Indies, etc. The best class of blacks had taken high honors in English schools, and all in all, the people on the islands were not to be despised.

"We ought to build up very close connection with the West Indies," said Sir Robert. "They meet our needs in many ways, and it is only about 2000 miles to St. Kitts from Halifax, or some 600 miles nearer than Britain. They need much in the way of flour and farm produce that could be exchanged for fruit, asphalt and cocoanuts."

Canadian banks fortunately had made a beginning, and as a result Canadian business was being pushed there. At a conference at Ottawa last year, arrangements were made for reciprocity with the islands, and a preference was being given Canada in many lines. However, intelligence was needed as trade regulations alone were not enough to maintain a close relationship.

"Our duty is," said he, "to understand the islands, to realize they are an essential part of the empire. If I have said anything to strengthen the future of the necessity of keeping these islands within the empire, I shall feel my time has not been wasted."

As Mr. Watson, president of the club, has severed his connection with it on taking up his duties with the Grenfell Association, D. V. Hicks, vice-president, was appointed president by the executive committee, Mr. D. L. Laurie taking his place.

PLEASED WITH REPORT OF ROYAL COMMISSION

Sir Robert Falconer, president of the University of Toronto, expressed himself yesterday as pleased with the tenor of the report submitted to the government by the royal commission on university finances.

"It definitely recognizes our status," added Sir Robert, "as that of the provincial university, and finds no favor with the suggestion that the administration should be under political control. I think on the whole it should result in raising the status of higher education in the estimation of the public all over the province."

SHOWS SURPLUS FOR PORT STANLEY LINE

Radial Commission Chairman Becomes Impatient Over Airing Old Disputes.

A right about face was executed by the radial commission at Osgoode Hall yesterday. After deciding the previous day that no more time would be wasted on controversial disputes of the past, the commission yesterday opened wide the floodgate for literature used in connection with the past Hydro campaigns, and T. J. Hannigan, Guelph, secretary of the Hydro-Radial Association of Ontario, literally swamped the inquiry with pamphlets and circulars.

Even after the counsel for the Hydro municipalities expressed the opinion that time was being wasted in reading over all these pamphlets into the evidence, a halt was not made. "We can't open the door too wide," declared Justice Sutherland, "Little side matters mustn't be scratched."

In quoting from literature, Mr. Hannigan showed that after providing all operating expenses, interest and sinking fund, taxes and rental, the London & Port Stanley Railway had a net surplus as follows: 1916, $23,914; 1917, $23,503; 1918, $36,581.

It was shown that before the road was electrified London's revenue from the line was $17,000 a year.

Toward the close of the sitting yesterday even Justice Sutherland lost patience at attempts made to introduce old disputes that had nothing to do with the question now before the commission. E. H. Pattison of Salt Fleet township, a grape grower, persistently wanted to give irrelevant experiences and conversations of the past. "I came here to give the truth and sometimes it is hard to get in," he complained.

"Do not go away with that idea," said Justice Sutherland. "We are here on a financial question and the advisability of constructing radial lines. The vote was adequate evidence of what the people wanted. We think we are inviting trouble in admitting general evidence and piling up expense. We must guard against too high expense."

POLICE ESTIMATES OVER TWO MILLION

Additions to the Force During Year Are Responsible for Increase.

The estimates for the police department this year as passed by the police commissioners yesterday call for an expenditure of $2,089,395, or $473,387 of an increase over last year. The chief has, however, nearly $100,000 left over from last year, so that his increase is actually about $375,000.

The addition of 250 men to the force is responsible for the increase.

The chief recommends an increase of $50 a year to every man on the force up to the rank of inspector. He wants the salary of Chief of Detectives Guthrie raised from $3500 to $4000, and the chief inspector's salary from $4000 to $5000.

The estimates are as follows:

	Expenditure, 1920.	Estimate, 1921.
Salaries	$1,337,138.24	$1,775,195.00
Clothing and equipment	75,308.86	141,847.00
Mis. sundries	40,288.55	86,225.00
Amb. service	2,640.48	5,075.00
