SETS A MARK

New York Teams Keep Up
Lively Pace—Talk of Bout Between Dempsey and Colored Heavyweight—Late
Sport News.

New York, April 24—Major League baseball yesterday with the New York Yankees especially having a great day. Babe Ruth, who led the American and Cubs batting for the lead in the National. The Yankees also were on top by a half game yesterday, winning from Brooklyn again while Pittsburgh handed Chicago a setback.

Both New York teams, backed by excellent pitching and heavy and timely batting, are displaying the aggressive spirit which carried them to the top last year. The Yankees especially have been a force to be reckoned with to a brilliant start, despite the absence of their slugging stars, Ruth and Holt.

Holt won his third straight game yesterday, blanking the Senators. Bush, Shawkey and Jones round out one of the greatest pitching staffs in the major leagues. Young Norman McMillan, incidentally an impressive job out of filling the great Bambino's slugging shoes and is one of the season's finds.

Detroit has shaken its losing slumps and yesterday scored its third straight victory over the Indians.

The Browns are coming with a rush, after a slump early in the week. Van-gilder chalked up his third straight victory yesterday while leftfielder Williams hit a home run for even Ruth to clout out three and a fourth yesterday.

The White Sox, although losing yesterday, won four out of five games during the week.

The Athletics dropped behind after an early spurt.

Boston improved its standing while Washington was trampled on, chiefly by the Yankees.

The Cubs, rated none too highly in pre-season, are being going great guns and with Alexander displaying some of the best form of his career, the Chicago team will have to be reckoned with.

Pittsburgh, aided by some good pitching and better hitting, has staged a real comeback after getting off to a poor start. The team won their third yesterday and moved up into third position. They were the only team week to show a clean date.

Although three teams are monopolizing the National League race now, the Giants, Cubs and Pirates, it is too early in the season to gauge the respective strength of the contenders.

Philadelphia and St. Louis slumped last week after a good start, while Brooklyn, Boston and Cincinnati trouble hitting a winning stride. The Reds dropped their seventh straight yesterday.

Do It Alone, if Necessary, Says Poincare.

Important Speech Made by Premier—Huns Must Accept Reparations Conditions by May 31 or Face Action.

(Canadian Press Cable.)

Paris, April 24—France will, if necessary, undertake alone to see that the treaty of Versailles is executed if the Germans default in their reparations payments, so Premier Poincare intimated in an important speech before the general council of the department of the Seine here today.

May 31st, when the Germans must either accept the conditions laid down by the reparations commission or default in their payment, will be an important date for France, said the premier. It is France's duty, he added, "in full independence," to assume the duty of maintaining the integrity of the treaty.

"All we have ever asked and all we ask today is the execution of the treaty," said M. Poincare, "and that we must have and shall have it. The peace of Europe depends on it. Our future and our national prosperity depend upon it."
"It is not to precipitate action or by decisions without reflection that we will obtain it. It is by persevering and methodical action. But it must be done."

The premier declared he ardently hoped for the co-operation of the allies in case Germany defaulted, "but, according to the terms of the treaty," he added,
"each may in case of need take respectively, such measures as are deemed necessary, and we shall not suffer it that our unfortunate country succumb under the burden of reparations, alongside of a Germany that does not consent to make the necessary effort to discharge her debts."

"We shall defend, in full independence, the French cause, and we shall not abandon any arms the treaty gives us."
Genoa, April 24—The French delegation announced today that it was willing to subscribe to a proposed pact under which the various nations would agree to abstain from aggression, provided it was backed by proper guarantees, considered especially necessary in view of the Russo-German treaty.

Clover, World's Oldest Horse, to be Shown at New York Bazaar.

Catawissa, Pa., April 24—Clover, said to be the oldest horse that ever lived, is to be exhibited at a fashion and beauty bazaar in Madison Square Garden, from May 8 to 13, so his owner, Dr. U. Myers, said today.

Dr. Myers says Clover is 51 years old and his statements are born out by prominent veterinarians who recently examined the famous, old animal.
The horse was bred in Kentucky and has been owned by Dr. Myers for thirty-five years. For five years he was on the race track and was said to have had a record of 2:17.

New York, April 24—The Carnegie endowment for international peace has announced that it will reconstruct the French commune of Fargniers in the department of the Aisne at a cost of about 1,600,000 francs.

Fargniers was totally destroyed during the war and not a building is standing today, according to the statement, while the 3,000 original inhabitants have been reduced to less than 1,000, all living in holes in the ground.

ORDERS ARREST OF HUNDREDS OF NICARAGUANS

Mexico City, April 24—The arrest of more than 800 members of the Nicaraguan Liberal party, because of revolutionary activities, has been ordered by President Chamorro, according to private advices received here.

The Liberals are reported to have been unusually aggressive during the last week, and a coup against the government was feared.

A Managua message on April 5 said martial law had been proclaimed in Nicaragua for thirty days, following discovery of a plot against the government, and that thirty-four Liberals had been arrested, charged with conspiracy to assassinate the president and other officials.

LEWIS TO JOIN
IN CONFERENCE
ON COAL WAGES

New York, April 24—The anthracite coal miners' committee here, in conference with the operators on the new wage scale, will be reinforced by the presence of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers. They will go into direct conference again tomorrow with the owners' committee.

Lewis is expected to act as advisor when the operators' concrete wage basis is submitted. His presence will transfer to New York the temporary headquarters of the bituminous coal strike. Anthracite miners here for the conference insist that they will not accept a wage reduction and say that the Lewis "fight" to the "miners' ladies" will be of great value in getting the operators down to a "brass tacks" discussion.

NEW YORK OIL

the Treasury De La Huerta, following a conference with President Obregon this morning, was to receive at noon five U. S.

that the question of further developing oil production in Mexico through a consolidated company will be considered.

NO DEFENCE IN PELLETIER CASE

Boston, April 24—Jos. C. Pelletier, recently removed as district attorney of Suffolk county, offered no defense today when proceedings for his disbarment began in the supreme court.
After counsel for the Boston Bar Association rested with the introduction of the evidence and decision in the removal proceedings, the former district attorney said in a statement which he read that proof had been furnished
"only of the exercise of official discretion, similarly used in a thousand cases in a desire to promote and protect the public good and, whenever possible, to keep the community clean and free from scandal and distress."

"Well, then," said the

"I haven't got it yet," said the reporter, "but it very specially to do a little promoting for an oil field in Texas, and thereby to get rich over night. In the meantime I find great pleasure in thinking up

"Keep right on thinkin'," said Hiram,

DISAGREE ON SECOND TRIAL

Will be Third, Says Crown Prosecutor in Quebec Murder Case.

Quebec, April 24—The second trial of "Little George" Janousky, who was found guilty and sentenced to hang for the murder of Totar Kostinif at the assizes in the spring of 1921, came to a close on Saturday night, but the jury, after deliberating for five hours, could not agree upon a verdict.

The jury was dismissed. Alleyou Escherian, counsel for the prisoner, applied for his client's release on bail, but Crown Prosecutor Cannon objected and said it was the intention of the crown to start a new trial on Tuesday.

DEACONS WOULD NOT LET ACTRESS
SPEAK IN CHURCH

Nashua, N. H., April 24—Virginia Pearson, a motion picture star who was to have spoken in the First Baptist Church last night, was prevented at the last minute by the deacons. They instructed the pastor to announce that the ban was for "the good of the church."

A crowd that filled the auditorium for the first time in its history had appeared to hear Miss Pearson tell of "efforts to raise the moral standard of the stage."

She said afterwards that she was invited to speak by the pastor, and added that the action of the deacons was "apparently the work of the people who think that actors and actresses are damned forever."

UNFROCKED
CLERGYMAN
IN LIMELIGHT

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 24—Declaring that he had been compelled to seek refuge in the home of District Attorney John A. Arnold to escape a mob that he said was determined to run him out of town, because of his reform activities, Rev. Geo. Chambers Richmond, recently unfrocked clergyman of Evanston, Wyo., appeared to the U. S. attorney for protection.

Recently, it is said, the minister had demanded that Prosecuting Attorney A.
Crawford of Unita county be removed from office for alleged neglect of law enforcement.

According to advices from Evanston, the mob Richmond complained of was a mass meeting of citizens held to discuss the minister's utterances concerning the town and its citizens.

A committee, it is said, informed Richmond that he must leave town.

POSTPONE TRIAL FOR REPORT ON WOMAN'S SANITY

Case of Mrs. Raizen, Who Shot Brooklyn Doctor to Death in His Office.

New York, April 24—Trial of Mrs.
Lillian Raizen, charged with the murder of Dr. Abraham Glickstein, in his Brooklyn office, has been indefinitely postponed pending the report of a commission which has been examining her sanity.
District Attorney Ruston announced today that this tragedy has already cost three lives: Mrs. Raizen shot Dr.
Abraham Glickstein, a Brooklyn physician, to death in his office last December. Mrs. Anna Glickstein, the physician's widow later leaped to her death from a window in her home.

As dramatic as the suicide of the widow was the death of the physician's aged mother, Mrs. Lena Glickstein, dying on the bier of her beloved son,
she fell dead across the coffin.

The shooting itself occurred in the doctor's office. Three patients were waiting to see him, among them Mrs.
Raizen, heavily veiled. She was called into the office, remained a few moments and left hurriedly. When other patients demanded the doctor's door, Glickstein was found dead. Mrs. Raizen had fired through her muff, the shot which shot which killed her victim.

Then after police had hunted in vain for two days for the slayer, she gave herself up to the district attorney. She pleaded that Glickstein, before her marriage had wronged her, and had forced her to submit to two operations, which he, himself, performed.

HENNA BATHS
A NEW FAD IN LONDON SOCIETY

London, April 24—A henna bath cult is forming among London ultra society women who deem olive-colored skin something worth acquiring.
The craze is said to be of French origin. Baths, strongly tinted with henna dye, are taken monthly, and in-part a delicate tint which looks well with the evening dresses of oriental shades and designs now popular here.

Immersion is declared to be easier than treating only that considerable portion of the body exposed by modern evening gowns.

PORT OF QUEBEC NOT FULLY USED

Elaborate Equipment Made Use of Only During Short Season—A Remedy Being Sought.

What is the port of Quebec doing in facilitating the outward movement of grain from Canada, after, incidentally, how is that port contributing to the business of the Canadian National Railways...

So far, the total sum of money advanced by the Federal Government to the Quebec Harbor Commission is $1,145,785.68, and it is reasonable to expect that this large Federal investment in port facilities should be used to the greatest extent for bettering the business position of the Government railways entering there...

Quebec's port facilities are enumerated as follows: One grain elevator with a capacity of 2,000,000 bushels; a loading capacity to ships of 60,000 bushels per hour; twenty-two ocean and coasting berths, five of which are grain berths...

As to grain berths, the loading capacity to ships is 60,000 bushels per hour with the possibility of 20 hours in each 24. The unloading capacity is 80,000 bushels per hour for the same number of hours...

To increase the handling capacity at Quebec, the statement concludes, a large number of works are planned for this year, which, when completed, should enable the port of Quebec to more fully repay the amount of money expended there, and enable the Canadian National Railways to greatly increase their operating revenue.

COLLECTS $500,000 BUSINESS INSURANCE IN THREE YEARS. August 1, Bulne of Kansas City, one of the five lost in the semi-plane disaster off the coast of Florida, carried $200,000 corporation insurance payable to the Larrabee Flour Mills Corporation of Kansas City.

He was one of the three officers of his concern on which application was made in 1919 for corporation insurance for $800,000, the other two being Frank and Fred G. Larrabee.

The following March Fred Larrabee died and $200,000 was paid. The application of Frank G. Larrabee was held up until September, 1920, when he obtained a $100,000 policy. He died in June, 1921.

This makes a total of $500,000 corporation insurance collected for this concern on which total premiums were $17,000.

VETERANS OF THE FIRST CONTINGENT

The members of the first contingent met at the Armories on Saturday night in the officers' mess and held their customary observance of the anniversary of the battle of Ypres. The entertainment took the form of a smoker this year and there were present about forty members of the first contingent, besides their friends. The guests of honor were Colonel A. T. Ogilvy, members of the headquarters staff, and Mayor Schofield, Dr. G. B. Peck, the president, was in the chair, and there was a general interchange of overseas reminiscences. Songs were sung by Jack Rowley and F. J. Panter, and some of the members gave recitations, all of which were much enjoyed. An exhibition boxing bout was staged by two of the visitors.

In a short business session, officers for the coming year were elected as follows—President, Major J. McGowan; secretary-treasurer, Mr. Bothwell.

Mayor Schofield invited all the members to be his guests at a banquet at the next annual observance, and this invitation was accepted with much pleasure. It was decided to give the cup which the ladies of the city had presented to the members of the first contingent to the care of Mayor Schofield in order that he might have it displayed in a public place some time before the next annual meeting.

ENTERTAINED THE D. S. C. R. PATIENTS

The members of the Lend-a-Hand circle of The King's Daughters provided a splendid treat for the soldier patients in the D. S. C. R. hospital in Lancaster on Saturday night when they gave a fine programme and served refreshments. The three singing cheers and a tiger which were given in honor of the members of the circle at the close of the evening plainly declared the gratitude and appreciation of the patients. Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell, the president, was the chairman for the evening and the programme was directed by Mrs. John Bullock and Mrs. Leslie Watters. Mrs. H. B. Peck contributed several readings, Miss Verta Roberts recited, two little girls danced the Highland Fling, with Miss Muriel Hawker as pianist, and songs by Mrs. Leslie Watters, Miss Ingham and Miss Tobin were enjoyed. The soldiers sang several choruses with much enthusiasm and one soldier executed a fancy dance. The entertainment was a happy event and greatly enjoyed. All the members of the circle had some part in making the treat such an unqualified success.

Hart, holding fast to the money bag, grappled with the bandits but dropped the money when one of them fired a shot. The men seized the bag and fled. Patrolman John Murphy and a civilian who were standing on a nearby corner, heard the shot, saw the men run and gave chase, but the bandits escaped.

BOY HURLS $121,000 OFF BROOKLYN SPAN. Messenger, 15, First Delivers $125,000 in Securities—Kept $879 for Trip West.

Messenger, 15, First Delivers $125,000 in Securities—Kept $879 for Trip West.

(New York Times.) Robert Byrnes, fifteen years old, earning $19 a week as messenger for C. D. Halsey & Co., 27 William street, was entrusted yesterday with $246,000 in securities and certified checks and with $879.10 in cash.

He delivered $125,000 in securities to the Bank of New York at 48 Wall street, and dropped $121,000 in securities and certified checks from the Brooklyn bridge into the East River.

He was preparing, when he was arrested a little later, to buy a second-hand automobile with part of the cash to make a trip to Arizona, where he planned to devote the rest of his life to acts of heroism and the suppression of banditry.

The career of the fifteen-year-old boy came to a sudden halt yesterday because he tried to persuade another boy to join him in his crime in Arizona. Byrnes had shown his roll of bills to Walter Norris, eighteen years old, who lives at the Upanin Club for Boys, in Brooklyn. Norris walked half a mile with him, while the young thief unfolded his plan for making one crooked act produce a large crop of good deeds.

"Arrest him," shouted Norris, tackling his companion unexpectedly, and throwing him to the ground, when they came within close range of Policeman Joseph P. Larkin of the Poplar street station at Montague and Henry streets.

"He's just stolen more than $200,000," shouted Norris, as the policeman ran over to see what the wrestling match was about. "He's got a big roll of bills and he's covered with big knives."

"Don't believe him, officer," said Byrnes. "He's kidding you. We're only playing."

"Feel his pockets," said Norris. Larkin slapped the boy's pockets and drew forth a leather sheath containing a seven-inch bowie knife. In another pocket was a five-inch hunting knife. These were the first purchases the boy had made toward the armanen of the money he had stolen.

"He told me he stole a bundle of securities and threw them away," said Norris. On the way to the Poplar street station Byrnes confessed, and Policeman Larkin notified C. D. Halsey & Co., officials of which had learned of the theft only a short time before. The boy had come to the bank as directed, where his list was awaited. He had three packages. He handed over the first one. He started to hand over the second, when the resolution to go west apparently overcame him and his half-arted arm dropped.

"I'll be back with the rest in a few minutes," he said, and left the bank. This was regarded as somewhat peculiar, but it was passed over by the bank employees. There is no precedent of a bank messenger turning thief in the middle of a transaction, and it was some time before Byrnes was under suspicion. When the messenger failed to appear within a reasonable time the bank notified C. D. Halsey & Co. of his strange conduct. It was immediately clear that the boy had stolen $121,000, and police headquarters was notified at once. A few minutes later headquarters received notice of the arrest of Byrnes.

When he was questioned about the securities and certified checks worth $121,000 which he had been carrying in a black satchel, he was said: "I couldn't think of any way to dispose of them. I was on the back seat of the De Kalb avenue car, half way across the Brooklyn Bridge. I leaned over and threw them off. The satchel fell between the ties, hit the ties under the subway tracks on the lower part of the bridge, and then fell off into the water."

river. I could see the splash. The conductor saw it and said: "What was that you threw over?" I said it was only my lunch that had got stale. Byrnes was employed by the Halsey firm some months ago. He left, but his old job back a week ago. During his previous employment he had handled many securities and much money, and had always been honest and punctual. "You always used to be a good honest boy. How did you come to do this?" Byrnes was asked. "I guess I was crazy," he said. "I always wanted to go out west, and when I got all that money this afternoon, I thought it would be easy to get somebody to go with me." Byrnes is an orphan. He has been living at the Upanin Club, an institution for homeless boys and young men at Middle street and Columbia Heights, Brooklyn, where the boy who caused his arrest also lives.

NEW SEMINARY FOR MONTREAL. Notice in Pastoral by Cardinal Begin—Prepare Priests for Foreign Mission Work. Quebec, April 24.—A pastoral letter issued by His Eminence Cardinal Begin and signed by all the archbishops and bishops of the Province of Quebec was read in the Catholic churches of this city yesterday announcing that a seminary for the education and preparation of priests for foreign missions would be founded in Montreal. It was explained that the matter had been gone into thoroughly by the archbishops and bishops of the province and it was decided that Canada could now think of evangelizing other countries. The project of founding a seminary for the purpose of preparing missionaries received the approval of Cardinal Von Rossum, prefect of the Sacred Congregation of Propaganda. The institution will bear the name of "The Seminary of St. Francis Xavier" in honor of a saint who gave his life to missionary work.

STOCKS IN FARMERS' HANDS IN CANADA. A report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics on April 18, gives the amount of potatoes held in Canada by farmers as 98,948,000 bushels, or 87 per cent of the total production for 1921. This compares with 83,318,000 bushels on hand for the same date last year, which represented 40 per cent of the total crop of 1920. The percentage of potatoes estimated by crop correspondents to be lost through frost or rot during the winter is only 8 per cent or 8,254,000 bushels, out of the total crop of 107,202,000 bushels. Last year the corresponding figures were 16 per cent or 20,686,000 bushels out of the total 1920 crop of 127,888,000 bushels.

READS DOYLE ITEM AND ENDS HIS LIFE. Toronto, April 23.—Gas coming from a room in a lodging house here today led to the discovery of Percy Brown, aged seventy-nine, dead in bed, while on a chair beside the bed lay a clipping from a newspaper containing a report of Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's lecture headed "Death Is Beautiful and Without Any Sense of Pain." With the clipping was left a note which ran in part: "I am seventy-nine and blind or very nearly so, and if this clipping is true why should I linger here?"

THE STRUGGLE NOT OVER.

Mr. McLellan and Mr. Phillips were quite right in warning their hearers at the Opera House on Saturday evening that the civic elections will not end the struggle between the people and the New Brunswick Power Company.

honesty if he does not go away with a higher appreciation of his opportunity to serve as well as to get service and profit in his relations with his customers, his competitors and the public at large.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

The National Bank of Commerce, New York, in a review of business conditions, finds that while spring retail trade in the United States has been disappointing there has lately been a marked expansion in the steel industry, which has for many years been accepted as a business index.

It is also noted that copper is moving steadily, and producers are cautiously increasing the output. Lead is in good demand and has slightly advanced. The consumption of tin in the plate trade is reported to be as high as for any corresponding period except during the abnormal war years; and it is expected that zinc smelting operations will be increased shortly, and some expansion of mine output will naturally follow.

THE MERCHANT'S PROBLEMS.

Following the very notable address delivered recently by Prof. Kierstead at the annual banquet of the Retail Merchants' Association, the speech of Mr. Charles H. Mackintosh on Friday, before the members of the Advertising Club and merchants interested in wholesale and retail trade, made a very practical application of scientific principles laid down by Dr. Kierstead; and the message will undoubtedly be very helpful to his hearers in applying those principles to the conduct of their own business.

But Mr. Mackintosh did more than merely consider the problem of buying and selling goods. At the outset he discussed the general trade outlook, and gave his reasons for believing that merchants in the United States and Canada must do business on a declining market for perhaps a score of years to come. Since 1912, in the United States, there have been alternating periods of falling and rising prices, the average period being about twenty-five years, and he believes the downward trend from the peak of three years ago will continue for something like a similar period. He is careful, however, to note that a period of declining prices does not necessarily mean a period of dull times. There may, indeed, be much activity, and the merchant's problem is not that he cannot sell goods, but that he must adjust his purchases as to meet the full demands of his market without having left in his hands quantities of goods the replacement value of which has dropped appreciably since he laid in that particular stock. Anybody can make money selling goods on a rising market, and that fact explains the great increase in the number of small merchants during the recent years of continued inflation. That it requires brains, experience and intelligent application to make a profit on a steadily falling market is shown by the number of merchants who have already given up or failed since prices began to go down. Mr. Mackintosh pointed out that if a merchant on a falling market bought more than he could quickly sell, he lost money; but if he did not buy as much as he could quickly sell he also lost the profit he might have made on the additional sale. Hence he must very carefully study his market and apply himself closely to business, taking into consideration the factor of competition as well as a possible growth or lessening of demand for merchandise.

The psychology of salesmanship was discussed in a very plain and illuminating way by Mr. Mackintosh, and his hearers must have gathered many valuable hints for profitable use in their business. His reference to short courses in advertising and salesmanship illustrated the growing recognition of the value of applying scientific principles to the trade of the retail merchant. The existence and activity of the Retail Merchants' Association and the Advertising Club mark a great change in recent years in the merchant's mental attitude toward his business and his competitor. It is a most healthy and stimulating change, and reacts to the benefit alike of merchant and customer and the community. The business man who listens attentively to such addresses as the two referred to in this article cannot be lacking either in intelligence or successful institution.

LAST YEAR'S KNOWLEDGE.

Little Peach Tree, by my window, With your buds all locked up tight, Don't you try to keep your secret Any longer from my sight. Every bud contains a blossom In its wrapping—don't I know? And each blossom has a perfume— Didn't Last Year tell me so?

Blades of Grass, so shyly peeping From the brown and thawing ground, You are sewing separate patches That are sprinkled all around. But they'll soon be pieced together— That's the reason why you grow, Just to make a velvet carpet— Didn't Last Year tell me so?

Sturdy Bush, with thorny edges, Surely everybody knows In your heart you hold a jewel That will grow into a Rose. Shabby though your present outfit, Only let your treasure show And you prove a lover's favorite— Didn't Last Year tell me so?

Homely Implements of warfare— Surely everybody knows Standing by my garden In an attitude that foils, Don't you think I hear you calling, Little Spade and little Hoe? Soon or later I must answer— Didn't Last Year tell me so? —Nan Terrell Reed in New York Times.

LIGHTER VEIN

His Sad Life. The lady of the house was very soft-hearted, and the tramp who had ventured to beg at the front door congratulated himself on his "soft touch."

A Clever Diagnosis.

Wife to sick husband—"The doctor says your system needs a stimulant and has prescribed whisky." Patient (eagerly)—"That physician has diagnosed my case correctly; he knows his business. When are we to begin?" Wife—"Right away. You are to take half a teaspoonful after each meal."

A Gentle Hint.

One of the guests at a banquet had been dining himself rather too well, so, in accordance with a judicious hint, his glass was overlooked when the wine was sent around. For a time he bore this neglect without a protest, then suddenly he rose and proposed the toast of "Absent friends—with which I would like to couple the name of the wine steward." —London Express.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

Charles F. Panjoy and Blair M. Hamm were drowned in the Washademoak, near Cambridge, Queens Co., on Wednesday. The two men were en route to Cambridge and Waterbury respectively, had been on a two weeks hunting trip. On Wednesday they left Colwell's wharf on the return home in a canoe. Later in the day their dog swam ashore and went to Panjoy's home. All day Thursday the search was carried on, and late on Friday the canoe and bodies were recovered. Panjoy was twenty-nine years of age and leaves his wife, child, parents, three brothers and two sisters. Hamm was twenty-two years old and is survived by his parents, one brother and four sisters. Both bodies were buried at Waterbury today.

Phillip S. Hutchinson, of Strathadam, was killed on the Sinclair drive, on the Miramichi, on Saturday. He was skidding logs of the landing when it gave way and he was precipitated down the steep bank with the logs. He sustained a broken back and soon passed away. The young man was twenty-seven years of age and leaves his parents, three brothers, and seven sisters.

A fatal accident occurred on Saturday at Waterbury, when a man, who fell from the roof of a building, fractured his skull. The seat gave way, throwing the little girl and her father to the ground. She was dead before she was picked up.

Frank Scott, a section man, lost his life at McAdam on Saturday. He stepped from one track to another to avoid a train and was struck by a moving van. Both his legs were crushed. They were amputated at the St. Stephen Hospital, but he did not survive the operation and died at midnight.

Two boys discovered the body of a male infant in a sand pile at Wrayville on Saturday. The body was wrapped in an apron. Decomposition had set in so that death must have occurred some time before the body was found. A post-mortem examination showed that the child had lived for three or four days. The parietal bones had been fractured and crushed. They were Charles Vanderveer and H. L. Schaefer.

John E. Moore has been appointed by the minister of labor to represent the British Empire Steel Corporation on the new conciliation board which will hear the wage dispute between the miners and company at Sydney. Mr. Moore and Mr. McDougall, who is the U. M. W. member of the board, will meet at Truro soon to select a chairman. It is likely that some of the sessions will be held at Glace Bay.

Major Lord Leopold Arthur Louis Mounbatten, C. V. O., K. C. V. O., youngest son of Princess Beatrice and the late Prince Henry of Battenburg and a brother of Queen Victoria of Spain, died yesterday following an operation on Saturday. He was thirty-two years of age and was educated at Cambridge. In the great war he was decorated for gallantry on various occasions.

EDDY PAPER MAKERS TAKE A STRIKE VOTE. Ottawa, April 24.—The paper makers employed by the E. B. Eddy Co., Ltd., and J. R. Booth, Ltd., pits took strike vote yesterday, but the results were not officially announced. The vote was taken on orders of international headquarters, and on the question of accepting the offer of employers for a ten per cent. reduction in wages. It is understood the Chaudiere local rejected the proposal. The proposed changes in wage schedules call for a ten per cent. downward revision, abolition of the overtime pay and the adoption of local rates for semi-skilled and unskilled men.

FINANCIAL QUESTIONS AT THE CONFERENCE

Genoa, April 24.—The financial commission is considering what action, if any, could be taken to prevent the flight of capital in order to avoid taxation and came to the conclusion that "any proposal to interfere with the freedom of the market for exchange or to violate the secrecy of bankers' relations with their customers are to be condemned."

The commission also expressed the opinion that the question of measures for international co-operation to prevent tax evasion might be successfully studied in connection with the problem of double taxation now under consideration by the League of Nations. It is recommended that the conference, the financial commission says, "So long as there is a deficiency in the annual budget of a state met by the creation of fiduciary money or bank credits, no currency reform is possible until the balance of the annual expenditure is so fixed as to be within the limits of the gold standard can be made. The most important reform must therefore be the balancing of the annual expenditure of a state within the creation of fresh credits not represented by new aspects."

The balancing of a budget requires adequate taxation, but if government expenditure is so high as to drive taxation beyond what can be paid out of the income of a country, taxation itself may still lead to inflation. Reduction of government expenditure is the true remedy. "The balancing of a budget will go to remedy an adverse balance of external payment by reducing internal consumption. It is recognized that in the case of some countries the adverse balance is so high as to render attainment of the equilibrium of the budget difficult without assistance, which may be unobtainable. The next step should be to determine and fix the gold value of the monetary unit. This step can only be taken by each country when economic circumstances permit; the country will then decide the question as to whether to adopt the old gold parity or a new parity approximating to the exchange of the monetary unit of the time."

The report of the committee of experts appointed by the committee of exchange sub-committee says: "Regard being had to the very large debts incurred since the armistice by many countries, we are inclined to think that a return to the old gold parity is not too heavy on production. The decision must be left in each case to the country concerned, but we suggest that considerable service will be rendered both to its own internal economy and the cause of European recovery by that country, which, after reaching comparative stability in its currency at a point so far below the old parity as to make a return to it a long and painful process, first decides boldly to set an example of securing immediate stability of parity by fixing the new gold parity at or near the figures at which stability has been attained."

SAVED AFTER 12 DAYS WITHOUT FOOD OR WATER. West Palm Beach, Fla., April 24.—Lost at sea for twelve days, three days ago, and was for three, Captain and Mrs. H. L. Morrow of Savannah, and a negro cook came within 400 yards of shore here on their last trip inland, and were rescued when fishermen passing along the shore saw their distress signals. "Weak from lack of food and exertion in handling their auxiliary schooner, South Atlantic, a forty-foot craft, they and their negro cook were in bad physical condition when a launch took food to them. None the less, famished and pathetic was Cutie, a chow dog, which was hardly strong enough to move when a feast of bones was laid before it. Captain Perranias, Captain Morrow said, on April 7, he was blown out to sea and carried fifty miles across the Gulf Stream. He said he lost his bearings on Saturday afternoon. The craft was blown back across the Stream and, heading west, knew that he would strike land sooner or later. They headed for Miami, expecting to make the distance in three days. The first day they struck a blow and found the boat more than they could handle. "The boat had 120 gallons of gasoline aboard at the start and saved this as much as possible by using sail, until Morrow and his wife became too weak to handle the boat. Three days ago the Morrow, the negro cook and Cutie shared the last can of beans. The boat was sighted here with an American flag flying upside down."

FIRE ON SATURDAY. The factory of the New Brunswick Overall Manufacturing Company in Princess street was badly damaged by fire on Saturday afternoon. The factory is owned by William Webber. The factory was not in operation at the time that the fire started. Mr. Webber had a large stock on hand and this was a total loss. The machines on the lower floor were saved through the promptness of the Salvage Corps, but the spare machines on the upper floor were destroyed. There is some insurance on the stock and building, but none on the contents of the Salvage Corps, and Mr. Webber estimated that his loss would be half covered. Twenty employees are thrown out of work, at least temporarily. The motor ladder truck met with a mishap to the clutch when returning from the fire and will be out of commission for some days. The firemen were called out yesterday morning for a slight fire in the oil of a house at 80 Waterloo street, owned by E. Hogan. The total damage was about $400.

LAST OF CAMPAIGN. The Opera House was crowded to the doors on Saturday night for the final public address of the mayoral campaign given by H. R. McLellan and Herbert Phillips. Roy Willet, president of the United Organizations, was chairman.

Both Mr. Phillips and Mr. McLellan pointed out that a strong mandate from the people should be given to enable them to cope with the present situation. During the course of his remarks Mr. Phillips answered the mayor's remarks about payment of taxes. Mr. McLellan was given a rousing reception when he rose to speak. He said that he thought today the people would cast aside the bourgeoisie and enter a new era of civic life marked by a larger share in their own government.

JAMES MOULSON HAS PASSED AWAY

Oldest Member of Knights of Pythias Under British Flag and One of the Fathers of the Order in Canada — A Citizen Universally Respected and Beloved by All Who Knew Him.

Exemplifying in his dying moments the spirit of fraternity upon which he helped establish the Pythian order in this city, James Moulson died suddenly in the home of C. H. Townsend, 3 Prospect street, yesterday afternoon when making his accustomed call upon a sick brother—Mr. Townsend's son-in-law—who had been thus visiting for more than six years.

When members of the household hastened to lift his visitor, it was seen that death had taken place. Naturally the shock was poignant to the little group of friends. Immediately aid was sought, though unavailing. The bereaved home Pythian officials. In the early evening the body was removed to the Chamberlain undertaking rooms to be again moved to the late citizen's home this forenoon. Pythian obsequies of a comprehensive character are being planned by New Brunswick Lodge officials. There will be a special fraternal funeral service in Pythian Castle, at which grand lodge officials and subordinate lodge members from various maritime province sections will attend and take part. Full Pythian Funeral Honors.

Chancellor Commander Oscar Dick, of New Brunswick Lodge, No. 1, of which the late Colonel Moulson was a charter member, is in charge of the funeral arrangements, assisted by Frank L. Greason, vice-chancellor; James E. Arthurs, secretary of records and seal, and William S. Harvey, prelate. The trustees of

New Brunswick Lodge, headed by Colonel Moulson's lifelong associate, Charles T. Jones, are also assisting in the burial ceremonies. The Pythians intend doing full honor to the memory of their revered mentor, similar to the obsequies of the found, John Beamish, a few years ago.

Pythians Heeded Warning Attack.

Colonel Moulson—for that was the favorite address applied to him by his fraters, referring to his rank in the uniform branch of the order—was close to seventy-five years of age. He attended to his duties in his coffee shop, Sydney street, up to the usual late hour Saturday and appeared to be in his usual health. Even up to the moment of his death he made no complaint of feeling unwell. His relative, George Donaldson, met him in Prince Edward street earlier in the afternoon and he chatted brightly, making no reference to indisposition. He was then calling upon sick and shut-in Pythians, which had been his Sunday afternoon activity year after year.

A short time ago Mr. Moulson had a weak spell while attending to his secretarial duties in his lodge which prompted fellow-members to relieve him of the work he loved so well and upon which he seemed most willing to expend his waning vitality, mildly remonstrating at not being allowed to handle the records as he had done for nearly a score of years. Last year Mr. Moulson was succeeded in the grand secretarial office, that of grand keeper of records and seal for the maritime domain, by Mr. Gorbell, of Moncton, concluding more than a quarter century in that important position. While the veteran Pythian's heart was willing and eager for the work his advancing years caused the lodges to give him complete freedom and ease in the twilight of his career.

A Father of Pythianism.

If one were to attempt a complete resume of Mr. Moulson's life it would be largely the history of the Knights of Pythias in this city and the maritime provinces. Born of English parents in the south end of town and engaged in the grocery trade during his young manhood, the late citizen became enthusiastically identified with John Beamish in bringing the new fraternal order, Knights of Pythias, into St. John. He was twenty-two years of age at this time and the basic idea of Pythianism—that of healing the wounds of civil strife in the United States—appealed to his broadly humanitarian mind with great force, and was one of the original leading members of the mother-lodge, "New Brunswick."

He did not allow his fervor to wane with years; rather it glowed with the fire of a consecrated effort a definite missionary errand, spreading afar until up to today the name "Moulson" is synonymous of Pythianism in Canada, the self-sacrificing spirit of brotherly love and burden bearing.

Recent Honor Bestowed.

The festive occasion less than a fortnight ago in Pythian Castle when Grand Chancellor Jas. S. Lord pinned the fifty-year jewel upon Colonel Moulson's breast was a climax of achievement and honor to which few attain and the resounding cheers that marked the bestowal was echoed down the ranks of the order in the three lower provinces and across the continent, for it was the first of its kind awarded in the British Empire. Upon this rare occasion the familiar "white plume"—like that of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier—was bowed in emotion as Colonel Moulson returned his thanks, and became reminiscent. It is gratifying today to the order that this signal honor was available to the colonel, and that the members were privileged to extend it before Mr. Moulson's transition to higher service.

Illustrious Fraternal Career.

In the fifty-two years of his Pythian membership the late citizen was not only chancellor commander of his own lodge and keeper of records and seal, both in St. John and for the maritime domain, but he was supreme outer guard, supreme inner guard, supreme master at arms and supreme prelate. He was a conspicuous figure in international Pythian circles for years and brought honor and prominence upon the maritime branch of the order. He was a colonel in the Uniform Rank K. of P., a prince in the Dramatic Order Knights of Khorassan (Dokays) and interested greatly in every branch of the fraternity and its sisterhood. A lodge has been named after him and the manner in which he had endeared himself to his fellow-members in the order has prompted many Pythian parents to name children after him.

The late James Moulson was a humble man of the simplest tastes and habits. His chief occupation, aside from his coffee business, was visiting to his fellow-members of the order he helped institute over half a century ago. He was a sick room friend and comforter, a death-bed aid and helper. Fidelity to his friends was to him a devout religion and in his fine orations upon Pythian decoration days or in extemporaneous prayer at Pythian funerals the golden thoughts that swayed his useful life did much to keep the spiritual quality of the order's pledges bright and pure. His departure, a member said yesterday, would be like the loss of a fond devout parent, a guiding star.

Business and Family.

The late Mr. Moulson, after his early career in business, entered into partnership with a Mr. De Vos, of Water street, and later went into business for himself on the same street, selling general groceries as well as being agent for the Shore Line Railway. Later he and William Rankine, under their joint names, conducted a grocery business in Germain street. Then he moved to 33 Sydney street. The late Mr. Moulson married Sarah, the eldest daughter of the late James and Elizabeth Mahoney. He had one child, who died when young. Mrs. Moulson died twenty-eight years ago and since that time his home has been with his wife's people. Two sisters also are dead. Brought up an Episcopalian and confirmed in St. James' church, South End, Mr. Moulson attended Baptist services with his wife and had been a constant attendant at Brussels and latterly the amalgamated Central church. Notice of his sudden death was read by Rev. F. H. Bone from the pulpit last evening.

HAS FEAR THAT FRANCE MIGHT CAUSE BIG WAR

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
Genoa, April 23—Telegraphing to the London Times, Henry Wickham Stead after recounting Mr. Lloyd George's utterances of Saturday, to the effect that he was getting tired of crises, and that if they continued he would be forced to explain who was responsible for them, Mr. Stead said:

"Conversing with some of the delegates, Mr. Lloyd George declared that if France broke up the conference she would bring on a European war in which England would take part; France would end by being crushed. He was determined to show where the blame lay. It was pointed out by him that this was a catastrophic policy and that is easily restored to normal action by the right kind of food—but men in the evening of life don't find it so easy. They must coddle and coax their digestive organs back to normal strength. Nothing you can eat is so easily digested as and nothing is so strengthening and satisfying. It makes healthy tissue and rich, red blood, supplying the greatest amount of strength with the least tax upon the digestive organs. Children like its tasty crispness and the delicious aroma of the baked wheat.

Shredded Wheat Biscuit is delicious with hot or cold milk, sliced bananas, grapes or canned fruits. It is the Shredded Wheat wafer and is eaten with butter, cheese or marmalade.

Among a number of grants made by the New Brunswick Grand Orange Lodge at the annual meeting held in St. Stephen last week there were two for local institutions that are provincial in their scope. These were $2,000, the annual grant to the New Brunswick Protestant Orphans' Home and $100 to the Travelers' Aid in St. John.

The girls' branch of the W. A. of St. George's church held a successful tea and sale in the new hall on Saturday in aid of the building fund of the church.

The hall was very attractively decorated in pink and green, and the serving tables and individual tables were centered with pink carnations and smilax. Miss Mildred Long was in charge of the decorations, and Miss Annie Lee, the president, was the general convener. Those who presided over the pouring were Miss Ethel James and Miss Florence Beatty.

"What's this 'Triplex' Stuff I Hear So Much About, Ed?"

"THAT'S it, right there on that bicycle."

"It's as simple as A. B. C."

"But it means as much to a bicycle as the whole alphabet does to the English language."

"How's that, Ed?"

"Just this way:—

"The crank hanger is the power plant of your bicycle."

"If your crank hanger turns just a little stiff or hard, that means more effort for you."

"If the hanger develops those mean 'tight and loose' spots, it means more friction and less power."

"But the 'Triplex' was designed and is built to overcome those faults."

"It is made of such fine steel and to such close limits of accuracy that it always runs smoothly. It makes your bicycle run so easily you'd think you were riding down grade."

"It takes a lot more time and better workmanship to construct such an accurate hanger."

"Well, well! I never thought a crank hanger was so important. I see now that it is really just as important to have a good crank hanger on a bicycle as a good engine in a car."

"That's right. The 'Triplex' is sure some power plant."

"Were you thinking of buying a new bike, Charlie?"

"Yes, I was thinking something about it, Ed. You know I bought a cheap one against your advice last year and I'm sick of pushing the old cart along. Besides, it's always wanting repairs."

"What you need is one of those new C. C. M. Bicycles. They're built to stay out of the repair shop. I know of many C. C. M.'s that are giving good service after ten to fifteen years riding over all kinds of roads."

The Secret of their Satin Jackets

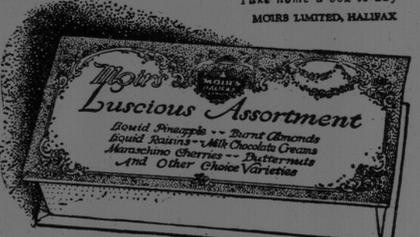

You have noticed the delightful smoothness, aroma and flavor of the coating on Moir's Chocolates. Do you know how this velvety texture is obtained?

Moir's do not buy their chocolate coatings. They make their own, importing for this purpose the highest grade cocoa beans.

The cocoa beans are first blended, roasted and enriched with added cocoa butter and then ground in powerful machinery for days at a time until the paste has the smoothness of satin and is so close in texture that the air is excluded and the flavor and delicate aroma of Moir's Chocolates almost indefinitely preserved.

That is why Moir's Chocolates are always fresh, delightfully flavored, delicate.

KILLS BROTHER'S WIFE AND HIMSELF

Philadelphia Robber Had Fallen in Love When She Tried to Reform Him—Body Discovered by Husband.

Atlantic City, N. Y., April 24.—George Paul, a Philadelphia hold-up man, who spent his leisure time on the Boardwalk here as the more or less unwelcome guest of his brother Stephen, proprietor of a shore restaurant, shot and killed his brother's wife, and later killed himself.

George, with a record of convictions for banditry in Philadelphia, was wanted by the police of Wilkesbarre. He was released from the Eastern Penitentiary three months ago, and then came here. Stephen tried to reform him. When he failed, his wife took a hand and tried to make George work, the police say, but he only fell in love with her while she grew to hate him. This produced the emotional conflict which resulted in the tragedy.

While Stephen was at his restaurant at 28 South Kentucky avenue, George visited Stephen's home at Smith's Landing, about ten miles from here, presumably to see his brother's twenty-eight-year-old wife.

Next morning her children found her body lying across her bed. She had been shot behind the left ear. Neighbors telephoned the discovery to James Ross, Stephen Paul's partner. Meanwhile Stephen, who had gone to his brother's room over the restaurant to wake him in a final effort to make him work, found George's door locked and bolted. He forced the door and found George's dead body, lying across a bed. A thirty-calibre pistol lay beside the body, with two chambers empty. Stephen burst into tears and threw himself upon his brother's body, and was lying lonely when Ross told him his wife had been killed. Stephen refused to believe it, and still was mourning George's death when he reached his home half an hour later. From the police a few hours later Stephen learned the truth.

Detectives compared a bullet found near Mrs. Paul's body with that extracted by County Physician Louis R. Sander from George's brain. The bullets were of the same make and calibre.

Purer Than Air! Purity Heathized Ice Cream

The atmosphere used in making PURITY HEATHIZED ICE CREAM is infinitely purer than air. It is a sterile, clean, germfree atmosphere. The purest atmosphere known to science—the air at mountain tops, which ordinary mortals never breathe, is said by scientists to contain over 3,000 particles of dust and dirt to the cubic inch.

The same authority says the air of our busy cities is never pure. It is often laden with all kinds of impurities. So mixing air in with pure cream, sugar, fruits and flavoring used in making ice cream makes the finished product impure.

PURITY HEATHIZED ICE CREAM is made by a patent method. The air is driven out of the freezers before the mixture is run into them. The pure atmosphere is forced in under pressure, until it replaces the air.

The mixture is then frozen in this super-pure atmosphere. That's why we can say that PURITY HEATHIZED ICE CREAM is infinitely purer than air-made ice cream.

Be sure, when you order ice cream, whether it be a dish or a brick or carton to take home, that you are getting PURITY HEATHIZED ICE CREAM.

MARITIME BUYERS ON HORSE MARKET

Sale of Work and Wagon Types for Nova Scotia.

(Toronto Globe)

Increased activity marked the horse market this week. Buyers from Nova Scotia are on the market for at least three carloads of work and wagon horses. At the regular Tuesday sale at the Repository, trading was more active than it has been for a couple of weeks, due largely to this demand from the Maritime Provinces. Prices, however, remained fairly steady.

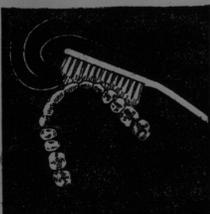

Two pairs of seven and eight-year-old geldings, weighing around 2,000 per pair, sold one lot at $225 and the other at $230. Prices for general work horses ranged from $100 to $170, depending upon soundness and quality. Most of the work horses are offered as serviceably sound and a few "on the halter." Bidding showed considerable increase where soundness was guaranteed.

The most active demand is for heavy-weight drafters and wagon horses. Good to choice drafters having weight, quality and size, though rarely seen on the market, bring up to $250 and $275 each and other kinds from $150 to $225, depending upon soundness and quality. Wagon horses sell all the way from $100 to $200 apiece, although it is seldom that one of sufficiently good quality to bring the top price is on offer. The general run of serviceably sound wagon horses sell at from $100 to $135, quite a number of city-worn types going below the $100 mark.

On Tuesday a pure-bred registered Clydesdale mare, six years old, sold for $250 to Nova Scotia buyers.

Hon. Manning Doherty, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, advises farmers to stick to the horse for work on the land. "Although I have a tractor," says Mr. Doherty, "purchased during the war, when increased food production was essential, I use horses almost exclusively on my own farm. The tractor is useful for silo-filling and cutting and grinding feed during the winter, and comes in handy when there is a rush of work on the land. The tractor will save the horses when it is necessary to plow dry, hard-baked land in the summer for fall wheat. Otherwise, horses give better and more efficient service at less cost than the tractor. One of the biggest difficulties with the tractor is to get a man competent to run it, which is not the case with horses."

Great Britain is rapidly returning to horses for transport and delivery work in the cities. One big concern in London, which changed over to horses, claims to have effected a saving of £3,000 a year by giving up motor traction and returning to horse-drawn vehicles. Reports indicate that many big companies have sold off or scrapped part of their mechanical fleet, and purchased horses and vans for the delivery of goods. Reasons behind this change appear to be the heavy taxation on commercial cars, the price of gasoline and the very high cost of repairs. The fact that a horse and van can be bought for practically the same amount that is required for taxation and full insurance of a motor has caused many dealers to revise their methods of business.

SPAIN TAXES BACHELORS.

Madrid, April 24.—Spain's new taxation programme, which Minister of Finance Bergamín will present at the forthcoming session of Congress, includes an annual tax of 800 pesetas for private carriages, 120 pesetas for saddle horses and from 650 to 2,500 pesetas for automobiles, according to their horsepower. Extra taxation will be imposed on specially luxurious taxis.

Holder of titles, whether Spanish or foreign, will be taxed ten per cent. Duty is imposed by the measure upon inheritances. Those whose incomes are below 2,000 pesetas annually are exempt from income taxation. Bachelors over twenty-five years of age will pay more income tax than married men.

Domestic postal rates are increased, interior telegraph tolls will be ten centimes per word, with a minimum charge of one peseta per message and cheap night deferred telegrams are abolished. A proportional tax on business turn-overs is provided, but the amount is not yet fixed.

OPENS ANTI-LITTER DRIVE.
Merchants' Association Enlists 5,000 High School Pupils.
(New York Times.)

The Anti-Litter Bureau of the Merchants' Association has started a spring drive for the removal of litter and rubbish from streets and public places. It was announced yesterday: More than 3,000 "block captains" selected from the civic classes of the high schools of the city, have been appointed to take care of particular blocks. Efforts will be made to clean littered vacant lots, to prevent the promiscuous distribution of handbills, to compel the covering of garbage cans and to prevent in general the disposal of any sort of refuse by throwing it into the streets.

Winsome Soap. The New Toilet Soap—actual size. Winsome in name—Winsome in deed. In announcing "Winsome" Toilet Soap to Canada's millions we do so knowing that it will make a wonderful appeal. It is the newest and most exceptional product of the Vinolia laboratories. It is the purest and finest Toilet Soap that science can devise. We cannot make Winsome Soap better—if we could we would. WINSOME is entirely British and made in Canada. For years our investigators have been studying the Canadian climate, our varying water supplies, and the different living conditions of Canadians, as they affect the skin and complexion of our people. The problem was to make a new soap just right for Canadians—not a foreign soap adapted to Canada. THIS problem has been wondrously well solved in "Winsome." WITH our associations we are the largest soap makers in the world. Direct from our own plantations in the South Seas, come the very cream of soap-making oils for "Winsome." From France and the Orient comes the enticing "Winsome" blend of perfumes. Under the care of Soap experts comes the "Winsome" tablet itself—acquitly pure and snowy white. The daily use of "Winsome" is an unrivalled aid in cleansing, and purifying the complexion, and keeping the skin clear, and smooth as silk. WE could use cheaper and inferior grades of material, and cover these up by adding colour to the soap, thereby saving many dollars in the cost per gross cakes, but the public of Canada know that Vinolia Soaps stand supreme. Our name and reputation the world over is a synonym for quality—hence the whiteness and purity of "Winsome." ASK your druggist or at the toilet section of your stores for "Winsome." One trial will make you a "Winsome" user always. "Winsome" is our registered name for Toilet Preparations and Perfumery. VINOLIA COMPANY LIMITED Soapmakers to H. M. The King LONDON PARIS TORONTO

For Housecleaning

A EUREKA ELECTRIC VACUUM CLEANER will lighten the work and vexation of housecleaning, making it unnecessary to send away the rugs to be cleaned or even to take them off the floor.

The powerful suction draws the air through the rug with a greater velocity than any other cleaner supplies, so that every particle of dust and grit is removed without beating and breaking the fibres of the carpet. For cleaning upholstery, mattresses, curtains, etc., its work is magical.

We will be glad to send one to your house for a free demonstration, and you need not purchase until you have decided it is the best machine you have ever seen.

Many other helps for housecleaning are also in stock, including O' Cedar Polish and Mops, Liquid Veneer Polish and Mops, Carpet Sweepers, Furniture Polishes, Dust Cloths, etc.

FREE STATE IS CUT OFF BY A GENERAL STRIKE

London, April 24.—The Irish Free State was cut off from the outside world and even from Ulster as a result of the great 24 hour general strike of labor against militarism in Ireland. Telegraphic and telephonic communication had ceased and all means of transportation apparently were halted. One wireless set was working between military headquarters in Ulster and the Dublin headquarters and since this was reported to be carrying only routine messages, it was assumed in Ulster that nothing untoward was happening, among her neighbors to the south.

Between London and Dublin there were no means of communication whatever.

MARY PICKFORD ESPECIALLY SWEET
IN THE FILM, LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY

Scene from MARY PICKFORD'S "LITTLE LORD FAUNTLEROY"

The superb production of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" in which Mary Pickford plays the charming name-role at the Imperial tonight and tomorrow is ten reels long and will consume slightly over two hours in screening. This will eliminate any preliminary reels and start right in at 7 and 9 o'clock with the big picture itself. The special scale of prices will govern this two-day engagement—1c and 2c in the afternoon, and 25c and 35c at night.

The United Artists Corporation presentation of the famous Frances Hodgson Burnett fiction is delightfully complete. It really transcends the book itself in the minuteness of its details of tenement life in New York during the sixties and is altogether an amusing and inspiring pictorial of New York and England in the period of the story.

Of course Mary Pickford is the sweetest Little Lord Fauntleroy one could imagine. She is a dear, and it will be a pleasurable surprise to many to see how she plays the double part of "Dearest" and the wee lord himself, the tricks of double-exposure photography at times being most baffling. Tonight with the edition returns as an additional attraction at the Imperial, doubtless the big house will be filled long before the commencement hours.

ALL HAVE PLACE
IN SOCIAL PRACTICE

The so-called feeble-minded are Necessary, Says Miss Metzner—Home-making for Girls.

(Toronto Globe.) "The sub-normal child will get along only as he is given special instruction and special help which will make him an individual of whom society will be proud," stated Miss Alice B. Metzner, supervisor of auxiliary classes in Detroit, who spoke at a luncheon given yesterday by the Home and School Section of the O. E. A. The Auxiliary Division of Education endeavors to discover along what lines the sub-normal child possesses ability, and then instructs him so that he may go out into the world and take his proper place.

Many of these handicapped children were of the laboring type, that is their talent lay along the lines of manual work.

"We should teach democracy in our school systems," declared the speaker. Miss Metzner contended that all contributions made to the welfare of society were of equal value. "If one contributes his best and his best is with his hands, and another contributes his best with his brain, we must recognize the fact that these people whom we call feeble-minded are necessary to the social whole, and that we must give them the advantage of the very best training," she stated.

"Vocational Training as part of the national system of education," was the Vocational Training as Part of the National System of Education" was the subject of an address by Dr. F. W. Merchant who said that not only was it a personal question but a very real national question.

"We are endeavoring now to make liberal provision for the training of young people for vocations," Dr. Merchant continued. "We are beginning to believe that there is something wrong with the system of education which leaves the child in the wilderness without any preparation for his life work. We realize that every child should have a secondary education which will make provision for the varying degrees of individual talent. For Home-Loving Girls.

"The vast majority of our girls, especially those who are not to enter the commercial field, the teaching profession or go to college, would be better served by the training that stresses, possibly, more literature, composition, languages, music and so on, and that devotes a fair amount of time to the study and practice of the fundamental principles of home-making. No longer can it be said in Ontario that there is no provision for such a training," concluded the speaker.

INQUISITIVE COP AND 28 CASES

(New York Times.) Former State Senator Elton R. Brown is fixed for some time in the matter of Scotch whiskey. And Mr. Brown, now a practicing lawyer with offices at 28 Broadway, had an opportunity yesterday to learn something about the alertness of some policemen in New York.

Mr. Brown was counsel to the Meyer legislative committee, which investigated the city with special reference to its police administration. The ex-senator learned for one thing that when he happens to be involved he police are taking no chances, but want to be shown all along the line.

It came about this way: Henry Grapp drove a big touring car on Fifth avenue, arriving at Fifty-seventh street at 2:40 o'clock in the afternoon, so the police blotter says. There, Policeman Turk posed gracefully in front of a traffic tower, halted him, with others, when the signals flashed for cross-town movement.

Turk case a careless glance over the car at the head of the line, then stiffened into an attitude of eager interest when he saw that the tonneau was piled high with neatly wrapped packages of a size and shape less familiar than they used to be, yet somewhat more prevalent than Messrs. Volstead, Mullan and Gage have decreed that they should be.

This dialogue ensued: Policeman—What you got there? Grapp—Booze. Policeman—Booze? Grapp—Yep. Policeman—What you going to do with it? Grapp—Taking it down to the University Club at Fifty-fourth street, for Senator Brown.

Policeman—Not if I know it. Grapp—I've got a permit. Policeman—Well see about that. Grapp—Better with Senator Brown's big investigator.

Policeman—Well do a little investigating at the West Forty-second street house.

Turk climbed in and Grapp drove to the police station, where he exhibited to the desk lieutenant a liquor transportation permit good until Jan. 19, 1922, and signed by Ralph A. Day, head of the Federal enforcement agents in this state. An endorsement extended the instrument, validating it until April 20.

The document looked all right, but both the lieutenant and Turk were dubious. If ex-senator Brown was breaking the law they wanted to know it, and residing in the gubernatorial residence during and since the session of the legislature. His Honor announced that his Fredericton residence would be closed on May 1.

Turk journeyed down to prohibition headquarters and asked that the permit be scrutinized. Meantime Grapp, not a prisoner exactly, but very much detained, as was the car with its twenty-eight cases of Scotch (twelve quarts to a case) waited.

Presently he came Turk. The permit was absolutely O. K., and the liquor was taken to the University Club last night Senator Brown was out. No one knew when he would be in.

ATTEMPT MADE TO WRECK C. N. R. TRAIN IN QUEBEC

Quebec, April 24.—The Canadian National Railway authorities have been advised that attempts have been made lately to wreck trains on their lines, particularly on the old Lake St. John railway between Quebec and Chicoutimi. On Saturday as the Chicoutimi express was nearing St. Raymond, and running a sharp curve where the embankment is very high, the engineer stopped the train with such abruptness that the passengers were thrown out of their seats.

An investigation showed that the engine had struck a pile of sleepers and rails packed on the tracks and evidently placed there with the intention of wrecking the train.

ORIGINAL WALTZ IS COMING BACK

Fox-Trot is Losing Its Popularity with Dancers in the Old Country.

In the annual report of the London Cinematograph Exhibitors' Association there is a significant passage with regard to the extraordinary popularity of dancing at the present time. "The public," it says, "with depleted pockets after a mad orgy of spending, have largely deserted their usual forms of entertainment and have been to a considerable extent devoting such spare cash as they possess to dancing. The head has given way to the feet. Drama (legitimate and otherwise), the music hall and the concert room are all suffering from an unprecedented slump. The cinema is sharing the same fate." Such an admission from a competitive form of entertainment is unusually interesting.

In view of the falling-off in favor of most other forms of entertainment it is surprising that dancing has grown so popular. All last year dances grew in popularity, and at the present time the craze seems to have reached its zenith.

The number of private and public dances has grown enormously, and the official permit for dancing has been issued in the case of a function that had been arranged for charity. Moreover, he joined in the dancing. Dancing competitions are being held all over the country, and it is a sign of the popularity of dancing that at a matinee for charity which is to be held at the Aldwych Theatre there is to be decided on the stage during the performance the "final" of a waltz and fox-trot competition in which only amateur dancers can compete.

At the moment there is a distinct change in the public attitude towards some of the dances that were popular last year, and some that were thought out of date are now coming back into the programmes. The waltz, for instance, is coming back into favor again in its original form, and the fox-trot at last seems to be losing some of its excessive popularity. In addition, a simple form of the exotic tango seems to be coming into prominence.

NOT DECIDED ABOUT CANADA OGDON OFFICE

London, April 24.—Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner, informed the Canadian Press correspondent that there is "absolutely nothing definite" arranged yet concerning the proposed new Canadian offices here. It may be added unofficially that some time ago it was announced, with a certain amount of authority, that the new high commissioner might consider the former Grand Trunk offices in Cockspur street suitable for his purpose, especially as they are now under the control of the government, and it is therefore possible that this fine building may be selected by him. There are several private tenants in the building, mostly London offices of Canadian newspapers. The building was commandeered by the British government as the administrative offices for the tank corps during the war.

MANITOBA'S RESOURCES

Winnipeg, April 24.—Entire satisfaction with the agreement reached by the dominion government to place Manitoba on an equality basis with other provinces in regard to resources was expressed by Premier T. C. Norris and Hon. T. H. Johnson, attorney-general, last night on their return from Ottawa. Premier Norris paid enthusiastic testimony to the spirit shown by Premier W. L. Mackenzie King. "The prime minister," he said, "throughout displayed every desire and willingness to meet us, and conducted the negotiations in a way eminently satisfactory to us."

FATAL ACCIDENT.

Henry Naves, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Naves, 82 1/2 Simonds street, died on Saturday afternoon at the General Public Hospital as a result of injuries received in a fall from a wagon drawn by a runaway horse. He was, with his brother, driving along Simonds street when a train caused the horse to start, throwing the young lad to the ground. He was taken immediately to his home and then to the hospital, but died within five minutes of his arrival there. He is survived by his parents, two brothers and three sisters.

NEARLY LOST HER LIFE NURSING DYING MOTHER

"For six months I had to devote all my spare time to nursing my mother who was slowly dying of an incurable disease. Not being well-off we couldn't afford the services of a nurse, so I had to be with her day and night. She was a large woman and it took all my strength to lift her. Realizing that she had not long to live, she naturally wanted me with her all the time and any spare time which I could snatch from my housework I gave to her. Four months ago she died and another hour I would not have survived. I was nearly dead. The loss of sleep, the worry and the extra day and night work had finally been more than I could stand. They put me to bed. I contracted a high fever and was delirious for some days. For a while our doctor gave up all hopes of saving my life. However, I did succeed in pulling through but the strain and the illness had shattered my nerves. Worry and trouble had left me a physical wreck. I was so weak I could lift my mother to my mouth. For two weeks I had to be fed. I gradually got a little stronger but not strong enough to get out of bed. I was determined that I would not give up. Finally one day a friend suggested trying Carnol. I was so anxious to try anything, I never would have believed that any preparation would have made such change in so short a time as Carnol did with me. To day, thanks to Carnol, I feel fine in fact I never felt better."

Mrs. S. of Hamilton.

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can't obtain it, write to us, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. 9-122

ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY AT THE MISSION CHURCH

Annual Service Conducted by Rev. J. V. Young, who Delivered Powerful Sermon—Yesterday in the Churches.

The annual St. George's Day anniversary service was held last evening in the Mission church when solemn evensong was sung, Rev. J. V. Young, chaplain of the society, officiating. He was vested in white cope and the furnishings of the altar and sanctuary also were in white, the color of the Easter season. The music by the choir was appropriate to Easter and St. George's Day. The altar was handsomely adorned with flowers and two chandeliers. The service was presided over by Rev. J. V. Young, who delivered a powerful and inspiring sermon appropriate to the occasion, taking as his text the fourth and ninth verses of the fifth chapter of St. John, "Witness of Men." He stated that they were doing honor, together with others throughout the British Empire, to one of the greatest saints that ever lived.

The preacher then gave a short review of the life of St. George. He was no myth. He had been a real person, a real soldier, a real martyr and a real soldier saint. He was born in Palestine in the year 270 A. D. and had early entered the army where he made a name for himself as a courageous, brave and noble soldier. The Roman emperor gave him much important work to do and he was sent on a mission to Britain. The emperor later issued an edict against Christianity, and when St. George received the degree he tore it in pieces. For the sake of Christ he suffered martyrdom and death being killed in the year 303. The details of his life were obscure but it was certain that he had lived and it also was certain that he had lived as two churches were erected to his memory.

Edward the Confessor was the patron saint of England for many years, but in the reign of Henry V. the archbishop of Canterbury ordered that St. George's day be a feast day the same as Easter and since that time St. George had been the patron saint.

The society, Father Young continued, was founded 121 years ago and its first object was to foster the spirit of nationality and patriotism. This mission had been fulfilled. It was just and right for those present to feel proud of the English blood in their veins. They had a right to be proud when they thought of English history and what that country had done for the world and also the famous men it had produced.

One of the greatest things that had helped most in making the British Empire and had kept it together was the loyalty, patriotism and love of country shown by the Englishmen. The great characteristic of all Englishmen was love of country—love in every sense of the word, exemplified in giving and in sacrifice. They were willing to sacrifice their lives for the sake of God and country. The great war should occur, the speaker commended the members of the society for the work they had done during the war. They had been patriotic and had done their duty.

Many thought at the present time that England was sick, and so she was, but they should know that in her heart she was filled with optimism. England, he declared, would come out of her wounds and sickness all right. He urged his hearers to go forth with great zeal to foster the spirit of patriotism and nationality.

A second object of the society was to extend aid to Englishmen and to Welshmen. When St. George's mother died she left a considerable sum of money to him. The saint gave it to the poor, and the society was following in his steps in doing likewise. The society did much charitable work that most people never heard of.

The society had not right to honor the saint without trying to imitate him. It was the duty of each to go on with greater zeal and become a better member. St. George stood for uncompro-mising faith in the Christian religion and they should do likewise. He was a saint and a martyr and so must they be. They must be witnesses of Christ. The society was a true witness of men. St.

140—in the Shades.
A convalescent soldier who was so comfortable in the hospital that he hated the idea of leaving it, thought of a plan to prolong his stay. While the nurse was taking his temperature he removed the clinical thermometer she had placed in his mouth and held it for a few moments against the register. The nurse, returning to look at the thermometer, but never blinked an eye. She merely murmured "Poor fellow!" and went off to make her report.

Late she came back and announced that the patient was leaving that day.

"But nurse," he protested, "my temperature was away up this morning."

"I know," she replied calmly, "up to 140. That's why they're removing you—you're dead."

NO STREET RAILWAY STRIKE
Hamilton, Ont., April 23—There will be no street railway strike in Hamilton. The men have accepted a cut of six per cent to mechanics and eight per cent to street railway employees.

LIVER TROUBLE BAD BILIOUS ATTACKS

When your liver becomes sluggish and inactive your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, the tongue coated, the breath bad, the stomach full, and a sick and bilious feeling occurs on account of the liver holding back the bile which is so essential to promote the movement of the food through the intestines into the blood, instead of passing out through the usual channel.

The only way to keep the liver active and working properly, and to get rid of the nasty bilious attacks, is to keep the bowels regular by using

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

They are purely vegetable, small and easy to take, work smoothly and gently, and there is no risk of the cramping, weakening and sickening effects of the old-fashioned purgatives.

Mr. John S. Carson, Doncaster, Sask., writes:—"I was troubled with my liver and had severe bilious attacks. A friend advised me to try Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills, and I took a few and I have had no more attacks."

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS

are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

I Haven't a Trace Of Dyspepsia Left And Never Felt Better, Thanks To TANLAC

declares Mrs. E. Clayton, Walsh's Sgr., St. John's, Nfld. Tanlac overcomes Dyspepsia by toning up the stomach and enabling it to convert the food into nourishment that builds up and strengthens every tissue of the body. Dozens of other complaints also disappear when dyspepsia is overcome. At all good druggists.

HALF-DOZENS BOTTLE FREE

Four people constipated, so even if you do not require a laxative at the moment let me send you four FREE OF CHARGE so that you will know what it is like. Simply send yourself one and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 21 Front Street, Bridgeburg, Ont. Write me today.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray. Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that faded, faded appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it is so easy to use, too. You simplyampen a coney soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

WEST BEGINS TO SEE TURN IN FORTUNES

Leaders in All Walks of Life Say That Worst is Over—Thrift Has Saved Many.

(By R. A. Farquharson, staff correspondent of The Toronto Globe.)

Winnipeg, April 17—Prosperity has been at a low ebb in Western Canada, but the signs are that the tide is changing. Conditions are still quiet but leading business men here seem to believe that retrogression has been halted and a forward movement is about to begin. There are still great problems to be encountered, but the west is working as a unit—urbanites and ruralites pulling together on the same double-track. Various barometers of business all seem to be rising, or about to rise.

The hard times of the past two years have destroyed the "get-rich-quick" idea that without much effort it can be made to pay. Many farmers have been ruined and transferred to the pocket-book is gone. Before the price of wheat commenced to tumble, many farmers had given up the idea of farming and were turning to other lines of business. Many farmers had given up the idea of farming and were turning to other lines of business.

No Pessimists There.

I came west expecting to find farmer and business man plunged in despair. I have not yet met a real pessimist. Conditions seem almost as bad as they were painted down here, but larger than usual, one encounters more pessimism in an afternoon in Toronto than in a week here. At the same time, there is a solid foundation for this optimism. Various barometers of business all seem to be rising, or about to rise.

A COMMENCEMENT THAT'S DIFFERENT

In a country town in South Carolina there was a commencement held last week that differed widely from the usual run of school commencements. The Governor of the State on the occasion of sufficient importance to dignify it with his presence. J. E. Swearingin, State Superintendent of Education, a blind man, a vision so clear and with such indelible powers for work that he seems a veritable Moses, was there. Every body was there, all the school commissions and trustees, the teachers, bankers, business men, leading club women, and Miss Will Lou Gray, the ubiquitous State Supervisor of Adult Schools and of Night Schools, of "day-by" schools and of all schools that are unusual, the schools that were called into being by the sense of shame felt by these loyal Carolinians when they realized that South Carolina's standing in the table of illiteracy. The morning paper after this commencement, carried the headline "Five Captain Harry C. G. Mills, a Cousin of Lascelles, Arrives in New York.

The most conspicuous figure among the 407 first cabin passengers who arrived at New York from Southampton and Cherbourg the other day on the White Star liner Olympic was Captain Harry C. G. Mills, of the Seventh Dragon Guards, cousin of Earl Lascelles, husband of Princess Mary, and a friend of the Prince of Wales. Captain Mills is the son of the Hon. A. H. Mills, a London banker, and has a ranch in Australia, besides two residences in England. The captain is 6 feet 7 inches tall and well built. He carried a can about the size of trees that commutes plant. His fellow-passengers said the captain was useful on the voyage. On account of the size of the ship it was difficult some times for friends to find one another, so appointments were made: "Meet you at Mills at 5 o'clock find. Captain Mills, who described himself as a big game hunter and a secker after thrills, is 35 years old. He weighs 260 pounds. To show his strength he lifted three reporters in his arms without any apparent strain. He said he was going to Los Angeles to do a stunt for the movies if the managers wanted it. "What I mean to do," he said, "is to fly along in an aeroplane, slide down a rope on to the back of a galloping horse and then climb up the rope to the plane again. Rippling—eh, what?" Captain Mills fought through the war and was wounded twice. He then went out to South Africa, where he arrived in time for the revolution in the Rand. While he was talking with the reporters, Captain Mills cracked Brazil nuts in his right hand.

conditions for cross-country running, therefore, were not of the best and this accounted, in a measure, for the very large number of falls. The parade to the post included Shaun Spadish, last year's winner and the only horse to complete the course without a fall in that contest. There were two false starts, after which all got away, with All White in front of Clonree. Tragedies on a large scale began to happen early in the race, for Southampton and Shaun Spadish came down at the very first fence. Sergeant Murphy and Drifter then took command and the field got safely over the next two fences. Vault fell at the fourth fence, and then came Becher's where, as usual, there was worse trouble. Wavetree, Clashing Arms and The Inca II, were among those which fell here, the last named breaking a leg and having to be destroyed. At the Canal turn Sergeant Murphy was still in front, but he jumped sideways all across the fence and another lot came down, including All White, General Saxham and Awbeg, which also broke a leg. After this mix-up only five were left on their legs—Music Hall, Drifter, Arravale, A Double Escape and Taffytus, the first four together in a bunch. Sergeant Murphy was remounted and followed along several hundred yards in the rear, but jumping beautifully. The four leaders took the vrateur jump all together and started on their second journey into the country. Arravale was the first to go out at Becher's, A Double Escape coming to grief after getting over Valentine's. Music Hall and Drifter were now in the lead, jumping their fences side by side, with Taffytus third and Sergeant Murphy trailing away back, with no chance of a share of the money unless one of the trio fell. It was obvious that the winner would be either Music Hall or Drifter. The next to the last fence was jumped together. On they came, Music Hall just getting over the last fence ahead of Drifter. He came on to the winning post in the lead by twelve lengths. Drifter was six lengths ahead of Taffytus. A Double Escape had been remounted and made up a lot of ground, giving Sergeant Murphy a hard race to finish fourth. Music Hall is a nine-year-old gelding, by Cliftonhall, out of Molly, and was admirably ridden by L. B. Rice, whose brother rode the winner of the race a year ago. The letting was 100 to 9 against Music Hall, 18 to 1 against Drifter, and 66 to 1 against Taffytus. Maritime College Confederation

(By Horatio C. Crowell.)

The news which has come from New York concerning the conference held there Thursday between officials of the Carnegie Foundation and the respective presidents of the maritime province colleges, indicated that progress is slowly being made in shaping the preliminaries of a scheme for the improvement of the means of higher education in these provinces. Growing out of a request to the Carnegie Foundation for financial assistance made by the colleges other than Dalhousie last year, President Sills Bowdoin College, Maine, and W. S. Learned, assistant to the president of the Carnegie Foundation, visited all the colleges in the Atlantic provinces last autumn. It is known that a complete and detailed investigation of each college, its strength and its weakness, its curriculum and its method of management, the personnel of its staff and its students was made. The investigation disclosed that there were six colleges in the maritime provinces granting degrees and ministering to the educational needs of nearly fifteen hundred students. They were, Dalhousie, Acadia, Kings, Mount Allison, St. Francis Xavier and the University of New Brunswick at Fredericton. The remaining five colleges confined their individual activities to giving instruction in the Liberal Arts and with the exception of the University of New Brunswick and St. Francis Xavier's granting degrees in divinity. At Dalhousie instruction was given in degrees granted in law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy and music, in addition to courses in the Liberal Arts and Science.

Following their visit Dr. Sills and Mr. Leonard prepared a report for submission to the Carnegie Foundation embodying the results of their investigation, concluding with certain recommendations.

This report was later submitted to each college president for criticism and revision preparatory to being published. Last month the college presidents met in Halifax to give consideration to the situation and, it is understood, sought an invitation to discuss the terms of the report in detail with President Pritchett of the Carnegie Foundation and particularly to learn what financial assistance might be relied upon in the event that the various colleges should see their way clear to joining in a confederation of all the colleges. The meeting in New York on Thursday is no doubt the result.

While the Sills-Learned report has not yet been made public, and probably will not be published until the end of the month, some of the general statements of the report have gained currency, and others may be surmised with reasonable accuracy. The report deals with the higher educational needs and facilities of the million people in the maritime provinces served by six colleges, four of them denominational, and two, Dalhousie and the University of New Brunswick, non-denominational. To only one of these colleges, U. N. B., does the state contribute. The others are supported either by denominational funds or private benefactions. The cost of maintaining these colleges cannot be met by the fees collected from the students, and the cost is increasing each year. In fact, the rise in the cost of higher education closely approximates the rise in the high cost of living. The fees charged the student at best only approximate one-half of the cost of giving him a university education, and from that dwindles down to one-fifth or thereabout. This without counting interest on the investment in building and equipment.

Financial Burden Increasing.

The financial burden on the colleges is increasing every year. The difficulty in procuring efficient teaching for the moderate salaries which a college can afford to pay adds to their troubles. Then there is duplication of effort and expense in maintaining, for instance, six full professors of English whereby construction of effort in one department of a university would probably suffice. Each of the colleges is faced with a building programme to cope with the reasonable demands of the student body. King's lost its buildings by fire two years ago. Acadia is seriously crippled by the loss by fire of an important academic building. Mount Allison requires additional building accommodation, and so with each of the others. Then it is but to state a fact to assert that the maritime provinces furnish in their youth the best "raw material" for higher education to be found on this continent. Wherever and to whatever college the maritime province youth go, they are recognized as splendid and worthy students.

It is a reasonable aspiration of every country or province to educate its youth within its own confines. Nova Scotia, particularly, for over one hundred years has striven to fulfil that aspiration, with the result that she has four colleges within her borders and principally supported by a fifth, Mount Allison, within fifteen miles of her boundary line.

These are the facts which became apparent to the "ambassadors" of the Carnegie Foundation and no doubt prompted in their minds the thought that there was an opportunity for college concentration, confederation (call it what you will) that could not be duplicated elsewhere on this continent. It has been the dream of many Nova Scotians for many years that something of this sort would be accomplished. The importance of these provinces and of tremendous potential influence on the character of the younger generations. There are, at the moment, two factors in slight degree which were not present in the past which may make this dream come true, that is, the high and increasing cost of higher education and the fact that the Carnegie Foundation is willing to aid such a scheme magnificently financially.

Similar to Toronto Plan.

The exact details of the manner in which the Sills-Learned report suggests that this college confederation should be brought about are not available at the moment, but it is generally understood that it approximates closely the federation accomplished by the University of Toronto. Reduced to terms of Nova Scotia, that would mean that all the colleges would concentrate on one community. The teaching of medicine, law and dentistry is a most important phase of university work. These subjects are taught by Dalhousie, which has accumulated a most substantial and efficient equipment. It is not possible to teach these subjects efficiently in a centre smaller than Halifax and to the contrary, if it comes about, will be made on Halifax. In addition, Dalhousie has acquired a magnificent site at Studley of about fifty acres of ground ideally situated, and in addition owns ten or twelve acres surrounding Forrest Hall, to which she has recently added ten acres fronting on the Northwest Arm—the site of University Hall. Here is ample room for the building of a University which would be a credit to the maritime provinces. In fact a most substantial beginning has already been made by Dalhousie in planning on an ambitious scale for her own expansion. All that Dalhousie has in the way of land and buildings is of the most modern type of university equipment and would fit in most admirably if a confederation of the colleges is accomplished.

Grouped on Dalhousie Campus.

It is understood that the Sills-Learned report following the precedent of Toronto will suggest that each of the outlying colleges move to Halifax and establish themselves on the Dalhousie Campus. Take Kings College as an example. The suggestion is that "Kings College," Windsor, N. S., move to Halifax and become "Kings College," Halifax, N. S. It would preserve its name, traditions, its governing body, its staff, its endowment and its students intact as at present. It would teach its divinity subjects and certain subjects of the Arts Course. It would have its own academic buildings and its own dormitories. Each of the other colleges would do the same thing in the same way. The college buildings remaining at Windsor, Wolfville and Sackville would fit in admirably as added school equipment for the excellent boys and girls schools which are now found at these places. There would thus be no loss of a material character in moving to Halifax. No doubt a boys school or junior college would take over and use the St. Francis Xavier's buildings at Antigonish.

In addition to the college grouped at Studley there would be established a university at Toronto, which would be equipped to give instruction in scientific subjects, as well as in professional subjects such as law, medicine, dentistry, etc.

The Central University.

The University would also give the advanced instructions in all college subjects save Divinity, the teaching of which would be confined to the colleges now engaged in granting degrees in that subject. The student would join or enroll in the college of his choice, be it Acadia, Kings, Mount Allison or St. Francis Xavier's. He would live in that college and would take certain classes in that college. The remainder of his classes he would take at the University. In that manner each of the existing colleges would preserve its student body, its doctrinal instruction, its identity, its traditions and its form of government, while co-operating for the purpose of making strong the University on which the burden of doing the major part of the teaching in the expensive subjects would fall. By expensive subjects is meant those subjects which require extensive equipment, expensive laboratories and the subjects taught in the professional schools.

As there are about fifteen hundred students now attending the six colleges, of whom about half attend Dalhousie, the confederated university would have at least as many to begin with as equipment and facilities are added, it is expected that the student body would soon number 2000.

Such in brief is the surmised outline of a situation which will undoubtedly be the subject of discussion in college circles before very long.

In whatever manner the details of the confederation may differ from this forecast, when it comes it may be taken for granted at the outset that there will be no strings to any of the colleges of the Foundation, nor will it seek to dictate the terms upon which the colleges should get together. The splendid gift of over a million each made Dalhousie by the Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations were without conditions other than a certain sum was definitely given for buildings and a certain sum for general endowment. No strings were attached and no conditions exacted save as stated. This is the policy of that Foundation and it will be for Nova Scotians themselves in the person of the governing bodies of each college to work out and determine upon what conditions the merger can be brought about. This is their duty as well as their opportunity.

EDUCATION IN STAMPS.

Stimulates Order and Neatness Among Young Collectors.

Postage stamp collecting plays a more important part than many persons recognize in the education of young collectors in habits of neatness and order. In discussing this beneficial phase of philately, Fred J. Melville, one of the best known stamp authorities of Great Britain, says in The London Telegraph that many boys who have passed under his observation as keen and intelligent collectors have acquired a love of order and symmetry which was absent from the school-boys' collections of earlier days. They have cultivated an artistic preference for quality rather than quantity, and he cites the example of a boy scout whose album he was examining a short time ago. Turning over the pages, there was one which was disfigured by a badly damaged stamp.

"The boy saw it and promptly took it out," says Mr. Melville. "It may have been a wrench to reduce his numerical total even by one, but the boy had got the right idea and many a time I have seen a lad of ten or twelve years turn down a proffered specimen because it was not quite perfect. Such discrimination is worth encouraging, and there are many adult collectors who would do well to acquire an equal preference for the perfect rather than to be content with the second-rate specimen."

Mr. Melville takes his text on the habits of order and neatness stimulated by careful philatelic study from the introduction by the Rev. Dr. H. A. James, principal of St. John's College, Oxford, and late headmaster of Rugby School, in a little handbook on "Stamp Issuing Countries and their Currencies," lately published in London by Stanley Gibbons. Dr. James is a well-known collector in English philatelic circles and he calls attention to many of the educational values of stamp collecting for young people. Among these is a knowledge of geography.

"I am quite aware," he says, "that a collector, young or old, may not take the trouble to discover where a less-known country is or to find out that Antigua is not in Australia or the Cape Verde Islands in the Mediterranean. But that type of collector will get little or no intellectual gain out of stamp collecting, any more than a student of English literature who could not distinguish between the art of Shakespeare and of Sheridan, of Pope and of Walter Scott, would achieve such from his own private study. But if the budding philatelist cares to identify on the map the place (say) of the island colonies of Great Britain or France, or of the old Balkan kingdoms and their modern successors, he will learn much that is useful, much (for instance) of the rearrangement of Europe as the result of the late war."

His most important conclusion, according to Mr. Melville, is that "the study of philately will teach the value of close and accurate observation; minute distinctions of watermark, perforation, shade of color, details of design, character of paper, and so forth, make all the differences between the common stamp and a valuable rarity. And the successful search for such differences will be found helpful in many another sphere, perhaps of a more serious kind, such as botany, entomology, and the like. Indeed, there are few departments of life in which a true power of observation is not of greater value to the possessor."

Dr. James emphasizes the qualification "intelligent" because the mere accumulation of stamps without some knowledge of the countries of origin, the history, and the differences of detail in the stamps collected, is not philately at all. One cannot imagine, adds Mr. Melville, that the mere accumulation of old stamps would hold any fascination for the king or for the lord chancellor and the thousands of men and women of rank and distinction who find delight in the pursuit of philately.

GOAT STANDS GUARD OVER CRAP GAME

(New York Times)

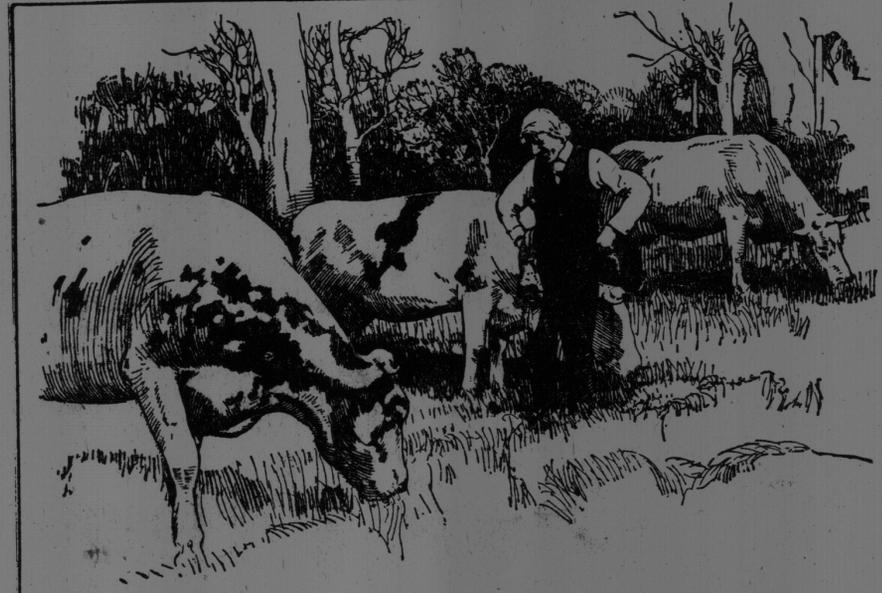

Policemen Peter F. Vobel and William F. Cowan were attacked and badly injured yesterday afternoon by a goat which was acting as outside defense for a crap game on the second floor at 260 East 161st street.

A lamp was overturned when the gamblers seized their money as the policemen rushed up the stairs and twelve players tried to get away. They said later that they thought they were being invaded by bandits. Crapshooters have complained of heavy losses recently by robbers pretending to be police officers and shouting "Confiscate the stakes and turn 'em loose."

Vobel and Cowan threatened to shoot anybody who tried to get out the door and they picked up the lamp. This made them targets for the wrathful goat which instantly charged. Vobel went down and then Cowan. But the efforts of the loyal animal went for nothing for lack of support. The policemen retreated, dodging rapidly, barricaded a door, keeping the goat at long range and put the crap shooters under arrest. While one guarded the prisoners and the other stood guard over the door, the policeman went to the telephone and explained to the lieutenant at the Morrison station that a goat held a pretence over the premises which they were raiding and that reinforcements were necessary.

A squad of policemen soon arrived. The goat's twelve wards were ordered to step forth, one at a time, through a door held sufficiently ajar to let a man squeeze through sideways. The door was manoeuvred with great skill to keep the garrison from making a sally. Each in close quarters the door was slammed. After the twelve men had been thus alienated from their bodyguard, detectives entered the room with ropes. The goat continued to charge furiously, but cops were dropped over his head and horns from several directions, and he was soon trussed up and taken to the police station as an exhibit in the case, accompanied by Policemen Vobel and Cowan, who also had been marked for identification.

The two policemen were urged to make a charge of felonious assault against the goat, and a quick inquiry into the law by station lawyers disclosed that a goat has the same immunity from criminal prosecution as an Ambassador. The owner of the goat, Salvatore Saloni, was charged with violating the Mullan-
