JONES-JOURNEY

Sweethearts in Bride's School Days in Weymouth N.S. Youth Goes to Far West to Carve Fortune—Succeeds and Comes Home for Her

Like fiction reads a pretty romance, the closing chapter of which will be enacted on Monday next when Miss Annie Maud Journey, of 238 Tower street, West End, after a betrothal of six years, will become the bride of Leonard Weir Jones, who has traveled 8,000 miles from his Alaskan home to claim his sweetheart at school days. All that enters in the ideal love story is recorded in the steadfastness of the pair who through many vicissitudes and separated by the breadth of the North American continent waited for the happy event of Monday.

Miss Journey is the eldest of three daughters of Mrs. Elizabeth Journey, who with her family, which also includes four sons, moved from Weymouth (N.S.), six years ago, to St. John. It was while in their Nova Scotia home that Mr. Jones met his fiancée. She was just a school girl of seventeen then, and he a clerk in Hoyt's store there. When the young couple were married, they were both young and the parents on both sides were not sure that the lad and his girl companion had the affection essential to true happiness. In any event neither was ready to assume the burdens of married life and it was decided that they wait some years.

Young Mr. Jones determined that he would prove the matter by making a fortune for them in the summer and taking up mining in the winter, though he spent some winters in California. The struggle in the cold regions was one of hardship, but he had an ambition to spur him and he is at last able to return to his wife the school girl he left in Weymouth six years ago.

As to just how much he had cleaned up, Mr. Jones was reticent, but remarked with a smile that it was enough to "get married on," but it is understood that he had made a sum amounting to $10,000 and says that he is interested in mining projects.

The wedding will be celebrated in St. George's church on Monday morning at 8.15. The officiating clergyman will be Rev. W. H. Sampson, rector of the church. Miss Journey will be given away by her brother Benjamin. There will be no attendants. Her costume will be the usual blue, with hat to match, and she will carry a white prayer book. Mr. and Mrs. Jones will take a honeymoon trip to Boston and other Massachusetts towns, and will be in Weymouth for Christmas and will spend the winter there with Mr. Jones' parents.

In the spring Mr. Jones will return to Alaska, but he will come back for his wife and it will make their home in Sault Ste. Marie, Alaska, on October 4, and come by way of St. Michael's, Seattle, San Francisco, and Chicago. He went to Weymouth from Boston and left on Saturday last for this city.

Mr. Jones is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones of Weymouth and the spent much of his boyhood days in Boston, his father being an American.

John Rogers & Co's Liverpool cable found that the trade in Birkenhead showed no variation in prices except for Canadian goods, which were of inferior quality, and were reduced one-half cent.

Lord Milner, speaking at Radcliffe, said if the final result showed that the government had lost ground he did not think that even Mr. Asquith or any member of the government could go to the sovereign and ask him to upset the constitution of the empire.

The Times declares that a "scratch" coalition majority could have no moral authority for fundamentally changing the constitution.

BALFOUR IS HEDGING ON HOME RULE QUESTION

Times Tries to See In Defeat a Victory

LIBERAL GAINS

Capture Three Unionist Seats in Today's Returns—Lord Milner Predicts Tariff Reform as the Accepted Policy a Decade Hence—Change in Election Plan Forshadowed

London, Dec. 10.—Liberals are vigorously kicking up a long, drawn-out battle. They complain that there are too many rounds considering that a decision might be arrived at in one, or at most, two rounds. This election will probably be the last that will be prolonged over three weeks. Changes that will be proposed are that borough elections be a week after the issue of the writ, county elections a fortnight after the writ. Unionists are shaking hands with themselves over the results of the elections in Scotland. Although no Radical seats have been won, no Unionist lost, but the radical majorities of last January have been cut down and Unionist majorities increased.

Liberal organizers confidently anticipated recapturing some of the county seats lost in January, and are greatly chagrined at their failure, but with the Liberal and Labor majorities in a majority of the English boroughs, the Liberals are hoping the predominance will be maintained and with a fair amount of good fortune, they are looking forward to a clear majority in the whole representation of England and Wales.

Today's returns already show two Liberal gains. London, Dec. 10.—Hon. A. J. Balfour, speaking at Hyde, complained of Hon. Mr. Asquith's silence as to the details of the home rule bill. He pointed out that the local affairs locally managed, but his personal conviction was that the government must do something to meet the situation.

Lord Milner, speaking at Radcliffe, said if the final result showed that the government had lost ground he did not think that even Mr. Asquith or any member of the government could go to the sovereign and ask him to upset the constitution of the empire.

SURGEON DIES AS HE FINISHES OPERATION THAT SAVES PATIENT

Chicago, Dec. 10.—Dr. J. Hequebourg, a prominent surgeon, dropped dead in St. Joseph's Hospital today, just after he had successfully performed a delicate operation. "I'm not feeling well," said the surgeon, as he entered the operating room, "but this work must be done immediately if this man is to live."

For three hours the surgeon worked on the man who lay on the operating table. "It's over, he will live," announced the surgeon when the work had been finished. "But I am feeling badly, I must lie down," he added in a moment.

On his way to a rest room the surgeon gave a gasp, threw up his hands and fell dead to the floor. Heart disease was given as the cause of his death.

STIRRING SCENE—IN CYCLE RACE

Rutt and Carke by Phenomenal Racing Gain Three Laps and Tie Leaders

New York, Dec. 10.—In one of the most exciting series of sprints in the history of the world, the 100-yard race between Rutt and Carke, the emergency team, early today gained the two laps that separated them from the leaders and this morning were on even terms with Root-Moran, Hebb-Goodell and Fogler-Hill combinations. The sprinting caused the widest sort of excitement.

The Rutt-Carke team was three laps in the rear last midnight and had three laps before 2 a. m. Then they started in to make up the rest of the lost distance. An effort made at 2.30 o'clock failed, but at 5.30 Rutt shot out from the bunch and in a jiffy had put an extra lap to the credit of his team. Thus three minutes later, Rutt and Carke, relieving each other frequently, by some of the hardest and best riding on record drew away inch by inch until a full lap was on their credit and they were up with the other three teams which had been heading the procession.

The 10 o'clock race, the 19th hour, showed four teams tied for first place at 2.31 miles and 6 laps; Milton and Thompson, 2.31 miles and 4 laps; West and Demara, 2.31 miles and four laps; and Cameron and Halstead 2.31 miles, 3 laps.

At 2.58 miles and 9 laps, made by Moran and MacFarland in 1908.

REV. MR. BAMFORD'S SLANDER CASE IS NOW BEFORE COURT

Trial in Summerside is Behind Closed Doors—Long Time Getting Doors

Charlottetown, P. E. I., Dec. 10.—(Special)—The trial of Rev. Mr. Bamford, of Summerside, against Geo. Bonness, of Summerside, for libel, was today opened in the Supreme court at Summerside. The plaintiff charges slander in connection with statements made concerning Rev. F. S. Bamford, Baptist minister, who resigned. It took a long time to secure a jury. Several witnesses were examined. Rev. Bamford will close today, and the trial will be resumed tomorrow.

HATTIE LOBLANG'S TRIAL

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 10.—It was with the expectation that the defense would rest its case before adjournment today that the trial of Hattie Loblang for the murder of Clarence F. Adams, was resumed today. When court adjourned last night, Melvin E. Johnson, chief counsel for the French-Canadian girl, announced that he had only a few witnesses to call and he expected to be able to introduce the rest of the testimony before the end of the day's short session.

Hattie Loblang will not take the stand in her own defense. The girl's attorney expressed the opinion that the prosecution has not proved any case against her, and that no story from the defendant is needed other than the introduction of the prisoner at the Waltham police station on the night of her arrest.

Mrs. Alma Koche, formerly a servant in the Glover home, was on the witness stand when court adjourned last night, and her cross-examination was begun today.

SCHWONER HAZELDALE BATTERED AND ABANDONED

Rockport, Mass., Dec. 10.—The two-masted schooner Hazeldale, commanded by Capt. Kelley, sprang a leak about fourteen miles from Rockport, during last night, and was abandoned early today. The heavy sea loosened her railing and she tilted with water so rapidly that the pumps became useless. The water put out the fire in the cabin and Capt. Kelley decided to anchor and come ashore in one of the boats.

The crew reached the life station exhausted from cold and exposure, and were cared for by the life savers. An attempt to save the schooner was made by a tug from Rockport. The Hazeldale was bound from Boston for Calais loaded with lumber.

FOUGHT IN LIGHT BRIGADE DEPENDANT NOW UPON CHARITY

One of the Noble 600 in Strained Circumstances—He Won the Victoria Cross

(Associated Press) Oakland, Cal., Dec. 10.—George Smith, one of the immortal 600 who rode in the charge of the Light Brigade at the Battle of Balaclava, is now the aged and feeble, seeking charity from the Oakland Board of Supervisors. He is asking for sufficient funds to carry him and his daughter to British soil in order that he may revive his claim to a pension from the British government.

Until recently Smith had earned his living as a wood cutter, but age and old wounds compelled him to abandon work. For bravery in the Indian Mutiny he was awarded the Victoria Cross and received a personal gift of twenty sovereigns from Queen Victoria.

When her young son saw Mr. Nelson catch hold of her wrist, he picked up an inkwell, and told him he would count three, and if he did not let the mother go the article would fly at him. Mrs. Meyers said that when she saw Mr. Nelson "twinkling and grinning in a sarcastic way at the two teachers," she might have made a remark as narrated by her. Her boy had been bribed by the teacher to receive, she thought, so that his side was sore afterwards.

MANUEL WITHOUT FUNDS

Portuguese Royalist Declares that Ex-King Believes He Will Resign Again

Rome, Dec. 10.—The Tribune prints an interview with a Portuguese whose name is not mentioned, but who is said to be a prominent Royalist, concerning Manuel.

Manuel, he says, is poverty stricken, and for three months has not had the means to pay his servants, and his daughter to British soil in order that he may revive his claim to a pension from the British government.

Mr. Meyers corroborated this statement. Royley Meyers, the lad over whom the trouble arose, gave evidence similar to his mother's.

His Honor suggested that the whole matter might be smoothed over between today and a week hence, in order to place no difficulties or hard feelings against the young lad in his school career. Superintendent Bridges said that the matter would come before the trustees on Monday night.

BAD LOSERS

A solid Liberal victory begins to emerge from the election writer in Britain. Now that their attack has failed signally their chief spokesmen are beginning to make the old plea that it is possible to lose an election and to win it at the same time. The Unionists had been able to count a bare majority, however small, the London Times, and Mr. Balfour, and Mr. Asquith, Chamberlain, and Mr. Balfour, would have thundered out the announcement that a government of traitors and incompetents had been put to rest by a loyal electorate. But when it is made plain beyond dispute that the majority is with the government of the day, what happens? This morning's cable tells us that the London Times is still explaining that a Liberal victory is not a victory at all, and that Mr. Asquith will not be justified in carrying out any of the larger policies to which he and his colleagues have long been committed. The fact remains, however, that these policies have the endorsement of a majority of the electorate, and Mr. Asquith may well deem that sufficient for his purpose.

Mr. Balfour is quoted as having indulged in one more change of base. He now explains that he is not opposed to Home Rule, believing that all local affairs should be managed locally. He tells the public that Mr. Asquith intends to do nothing for Ireland, but is merely keeping Mr. Redmond in good humor by lavish promises. This, from Mr. Balfour, will please the anti-Home Rule party in England about as well as Mr. Balfour's desertion of Tariff Reform has pleased the protectionists.

The Spectator, which is strongly against the government, has felt compelled as a simple matter of honesty to denounce Mr. Balfour's Tariff Reform sophistries. Before that statesman decided to send protection to the rear—about a month ago—he declared that Tariff Reform would not increase the price of food, but added that even if he were wrong, the balance could easily be readjusted by the removal of the duties on tea and sugar. The Spectator, reluctantly, but firmly, declines to pass this over. The patient, it said, when told by a doctor that certain treatment may result in breaking a blood vessel, is not greatly comforted by the surgeon's assurance that the bleeding will easily be stopped by the application of a styptic. Try as he will, Mr. Balfour finds himself unable to make a straightforward argument in favor of protection, and when he says that a duty on food will not increase the price of it to the British consumer, he may believe himself to be telling the truth, but he is not convincing, while the great mass of the people are frankly persuaded of the contrary.

Conservative papers are making much of the fact that the government's majority will be no larger than it was before. But they are already forgetting that only a few weeks ago they were predicting that the administration would be overwhelmed and that a Tariff Reform ministry would rule the country. The striking thing about the situation is that the Unionists are not only beaten but are now seen to be so decided with respect to their policies that only an extensive reconstruction of the party can make even a respectable opposition. Mr. Asquith has been denounced as a traitor, as a tool of the Irish, as an enemy of property, and as a weakling in the hands of Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Winston Churchill. The vote thus far recorded shows what the country thinks of these wild Tory accusations.

Protectionist money has bought many of the leading journals of Great Britain, and of these journals the London Times, now a Harmsworth publication, is one of the worst examples. It is no longer "The Thunderer" of old. Mr. Harmsworth has turned it into a protectionist propaganda, but to that particular tune the ears of the people of the United Kingdom are closed for this decade at least.

POLITICS AND MORALS
A recent German writer on the history of public morality, says of the moral development of the German people, that the people have no subjective notion of public morality, and no ethical ideal for public morality. They face the facts with indifference; there is not a trace of moral initiative or of moral consciousness. They can find all kinds of forces in history except ethical forces. These are entirely wanting. The people allow themselves to be forced upon them by the work of their own hands, that is, by the economic and political arrangements they have adopted. They distinguish only between good and bad customs. In other words there is not among the Germans any party of "great moral ideas." The writer recoils from these conclusions in dismay, but they are, no doubt, facts, and it is just possible that the advance of the Germans in all types of true morality and ethics will be all the more real because of the way in which they recognize the facts. Facts should be accepted as such and made the most of. Miss Martineau once said: "I accept the universe." "Oh, alas! alas! better," was the comment of Carlyle. It does not follow that the Germans are less moral than other people; on the contrary, they are to be congratulated on having escaped one great source of political bumbling. There is much bumbling in the current social discussion which brings "ethical" notions to the criticism of facts, and "speeches to Buncombe" will not bring men to the immortal gods," as Carlyle again reminds us. These ethical notions are most often figments of the imagination.

We often hear a party spoken of as being a party of "great moral ideas," and see efforts to catch or stampee the people by a phrase or a catchword. Fellow partisans are "friendly" voting another ticket is "going back on one's friends," we are urged to stand up for the great old state; to "be true to the flag," or to do many other things in the name of hollow notions that cloud the issue and distract the interest. The "introduction of moral ideas" into politics, has, as a matter of fact served the most immoral of purposes and played into the hands of the most immoral of men. More crimes have been committed in this name than in the name of liberty. The corrupt party boss is commended as being "specially good to the poor;" the man who plunders the city has a "charming personal character," goes to lodges, associations, brotherhoods, Sunday-schools, and is "unusually good hearted," while he works unchecked in the rich field of sinister opportunity opened up by this humber of words and phrases. In political battles the sinister influences are nearly always able to rally the religious people by urging them on to some pseudo-social vice crusade, or some Sunday-closing ordinance or cigarette law, or to divide them on race or creed or in some way start them on a fatuous "moral" issue so that behind the dust of contention the franchise grabber can operate. They cater to religion, morals, education or philanthropy that they may have time to tamper with the underpinning of the social order or prepare to cut the guy ropes that keep the tent from falling.

The Germans are right and point out the way of true progress. The customs of a country are the products of each to live as well as he can, and they are also conditions which hold and control each in his efforts to live well. The Edda has it that during Thor's visit to the giants he is challenged to lift a certain gray cat. Thor puts forth his whole strength, but can at most bend the creature's back and lift one foot. On leaving, however, the mortified hero is told the secret of his failure. The cat is the Midgard serpent, which fell in mouth, girds and keeps up the created world, and the giants were terrified strikers when they saw one paw off the floor. All ethics grow out of the customs and are part of them. Each one puts into the group life as much as he can and receives back the order and the forms from which he cannot escape. There are no ethical forces in history. We will reach happiness and culture and ethics, not by making them the aim or the object of pursuit, but by losing ourselves in an effort to live as well as we can in the conditions in which we find ourselves. That people will not be cultured or moral who set these things before them as the aim of their lives, any more than an individual would under these conditions. In more departments of life than we are prone to imagine, the early religious dictum is true: "He that saveth his life shall lose it." It is true, not only of individuals, but of parties and of nations.

DODGING THE MEDAL

Illinois Hero Did His Best to Escape From the Carnegie Folk
(Chicago Record-Herald.)

The thorough organization of the Carnegie Hero Fund and the remorseless competency with which its rewards are bestowed may be gathered from the experiences of its latest beneficiary.

Six years ago this young man saved a life down near Quincy, Ill. As soon as he saw that his fellow citizens were lost on making a hero of him he fled the town. He became a maverick in the west, but Mr. Carnegie's minions, after a long pursuit, rounded him up in Arizona, roped and threw him, and branded him for what he was. He is now correlated with other brave men of like mettle, a medal on his breast and a thousand good dollars in his pocket.

MEMORIES

When sunset's golden arrows fit
Around the mountain tops so gray,
A beacon glowing where they hit,
While darkness strives to conquer day.
And through the canons, o'er the sea,
He sends his squad of shadows down,
Till then sweet memory beckons me,
And takes me to a far-off town.
Where in my youth I loved to play,
And roam the dark green forest through,
Awaking at the dawn of day,
For days are bright, when life is new,
Till there the fables in early spring
Stretch green to June's unclouded morn.
The evenings tiny dew drops bring,
To dip the daisies on the lawn.
I see again the old stone wall,
Where oft, my hand and eye I trod,
Climbed its sides, and risked a fall,
To pluck the sun-kissed golden rod.
Beneath their shade I lay me down,
The elms spread their dark green leaves,
The swallows building 'neath the eaves,
Break the sweet stillness with their sound.

With rod in hand I fish the brook,
That through the field doth softly flow,
And pause at every little nook,
Where buttercups and berries grow,
And where the rays of setting sun
Are shooting through the hemlock boughs.
I o'er the new moon stubble run,
Across the brook to bring the cows.
How oft I've lingered where the stream
Is forced and upon the brink,
Against a buttercup lightly lean,
To watch the thirsty oxen drink.
Or dip my hands into the brook,
Where swirls the little minnow play,
And strive to catch without a hook,
By being just as spry as they.
Those who in this dark world of strife,
While meeting all the cares of life,
Such simple joys have ever seen,
Are taught to prize them, when they're gone.
And now without a pause to feed,
With many a toss of head and heel,
The cattle in a wild stampede
Express the joy they can't conceal.
Now borne upon the breeze that sings
The dirge of the departed day,
Around me silently she flings
The fragrances of new pasture hay,
Far looking from the pasture fence,
Beyond the field of yellow grain,
I see it pitched with low green tents,
Where late the reaper's scythe has been.
And thus I visit home tonight,

A FINE PRESCRIPTION.
"And how long, doctor, should I stick to this plain diet which you recommend?"
"Why—until my bill is paid."
Houston Post.

WILLING TO RISK IT

"The back on paper money have caused many a death before now."
"Nephew—Well, uncle, you might let me have a few notes. I'm very much tired of life."
—Figuere Blatter.

HIS CHOICE

"Yes," said the specialist, as he stood in the bedside of the miser millionaire, "I can cure you."
"But what will it cost?" came feebly from the sick man.
"The specialist made a swift mental calculation. "Ninety-five dollars," was his answer.
"Can't you shade your figure a little?" wailed the other. "The undertaker's bid is much less."

THE GENUINE ARTICLE

Some time ago a battalion of Grenadier Guards were marching to church. On their way a halt was made for some little time.
As they stood awaiting the word of command to make a move, a little boy rushed up to a fat smart soldier, and said, innocently:
"The minister soldier, would you mind waiting here till I go and fetch my little brother Willie? He's got a sixpenny box of sweets, and I am sure he would like to see some real ones."
"Run along, little 'un," said the guardman good-naturedly, "and make haste back before the colonel puts us back in the box again."

"Bronchitis"

This is an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air tubes in the lungs.
The disease begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness, and there is a dry, harsh, croupy cough.
After a few days a mucous sputum is raised. This is the first warning of a greenish sputum which is later and occasionally streaked with blood.
Cure the first symptoms of Bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and thus prevent becoming chronic and interfering with Consumption.

Mrs. D. J. McFarlane, New and N.S., writes: "My little boy, now six years old, caught a bad cold which developed into Bronchitis. He was coughing up blood and could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I decided to try a bottle, and with such good result I got another which completely cured him, without having a doctor. I cannot say too much in its praise and would not be without it in the house as I consider it a sure cure for Colds and Bronchitis. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A DELICATE INSTRUMENT

at Washington, called a seismograph, registers earthquake shocks.

It registered one at 12.30 yesterday noon, and strange to say, there was no earthquake.

It was simply a man in St. John dealing with a grocer who offered him a substitute for BUTTERNUT BREAD, that caused the tremor.

For the Sewing-Room

With the new net scarfs an applique of small velvet flowers is very pretty. They are both in terra cotta, the flowers in a border, narrow at the sides and wide at the ends.

In making a buttonhole edge or a design for solid embroidery the white padding shows through the color that is afterward stitched under it in many cases. This is especially disagreeable in a dark shade. The problem has been solved by doing the padding in cotton as near the shade of the silk as possible. The result is satisfactory and is not extravagant when it is considered that the cotton costs only a few cents a spool.

A sharpened-down orange-wood stick is a good prober for embroiders. This makes a nice, clean hole and does not tear the material. Many needleworkers prefer the orange-wood sticks to the steel or ivory implements.

CONFERENCE OF PREMIERS FAILS.
The conference of provincial premiers at Ottawa, to discuss the question of the representation of the maritime provinces in the house of commons was adjourned yesterday afternoon to meet again at a future date to be agreed upon. It is unlikely that any agreement will be reached that will tend to better the conditions for the maritime provinces.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

The newspaper story of a minister who recently resigned his pulpit on account of a scandal, is a little paragraph that seems to me so tremendously flimsy and untrue, not only of this tragedy but of thousands of others like it, that I want to quote it for you.

This was it: "Miss M. (the woman in the case) was one of a party of tourists who went abroad with Dr. A. (the minister concerned) last summer. Mrs. A. was not of the party."

Do you know, it seems to me that our understanding of the phenomenon of love, if not our power to deal with it, would be vastly increased if we only admitted what a very large part propinquity plays in the arousing of this passion.

When two lovers, clasped in each other's arms, whisper to each other, "Dearest, you are so different from all the other men—women in the world; you are the only human being I could possibly love as I do," in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, at least, I think they are lying.

No, I'll take that back. A lie is an intention to deceive. A great many of them have no intention to deceive. They mean what they say, all right, but it just isn't so.

In the one hundredth case this beautiful and comforting sentiment may approximate truth.

In the other ninety-nine cases—well, if it had been Agnes instead of Mary who came to make a long visit to John's sister that summer the case would have been different. Agnes being about as attractive as Mary, he would probably be whispering those words to Agnes now, instead of to Mary.

One of my friends was engaged some years ago to an agreeable and apparently most desirable young man. After she had been engaged about a year it became necessary for him to move to a distant office. He wanted her to marry him and go with him. She was willing to do this, but her mother finally persuaded her to wait awhile. "Awhile," as it all too often happens in such cases, dragged on from month to month, from year to year. One day when he had been gone about three years he wrote her and broke the engagement.

One of her friends was speaking of the matter to me. "He must have been naturally fickle. I guess her family was right in wanting her to wait," I said. "Oh, I don't know," said the other girl. "I don't think it proves anything. Can you blame him so much after all? Ruth is very attractive, but there are so very, very many attractive girls in the world. He was obviously very conservative, with some charming girl while Ruth was only a letter and a memory. And what chance has a letter and a memory against a real live flesh and blood girl? I have thought of it very often since."

Now please don't let this worry you, any of you dear little girls whose true knights chance to be far away, making their fortunes and feathering the nests for you.

I don't mean it that way.

That was only one case out of a hundred. Of course your man's different. Still I don't think it would do any harm for you to decide to be willing to start life with as little as possible for the sake of making the separation smooth.

I believe that propinquity—provided, of course, that congeniality be added to it—plays a much larger part in producing the passion of love than is generally acknowledged.

Am I over stating this?

I'd dearly love to know what you folks think about it.

Daily Hints for the Cook

CHICKEN PUDDING

Singe and clean two young chickens and joint them as for a fricassee. Put them in a saucepan, add just enough boiling water to cover and one teaspoonful of salt. Put on the back of the stove and simmer gently for an hour, then take out the chicken and put the broth aside. Make a smooth batter from one quart of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, one quart of milk and six well-beaten eggs. Grease a pudding dish and put in the batter and chicken in layers, having the first and last layers of batter, and seasoning the chicken with a moderate oven for 45 minutes. When it is almost done, reheat the broth and season with one tablespoonful of sugar and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Pour to the side of the fire and add the beaten yolks and egg whites, one by one, with a tablespoonful of cream. Take from the fire as soon as it thickens and serve with the pudding.

GINGER CAKES

Put one-half cup of butter, one-half cup of lard in a mixing bowl, add one cup of sugar and beat the whole until creamy. Dissolve a level teaspoonful of soda in a tablespoonful of warm water, add to one cup of molasses and pour onto the sugar and butter. Add one-half cup of boiling water and four enough to make a drop batter. Stir level tablespoonful of ginger with some of the flour. The consistency of the molasses will make a little difference with the amount of four. Mix thoroughly and add some distance apart on a buttered pan and put a raisin in the center of each. Bake in a moderate oven.

ONE EGG MUFFINS

Beat to a light cream one-quarter of a cup of butter, one-quarter of a cup of sugar and one egg; add three-quarters of a cup of sweet milk and two cups of flour sifted with one teaspoon of cream of tartar and one-half of soda. Bake in a hot oven. Use pastry flour. This will make 10 muffins.

IN DREAD OF PILES CLEAR UP THE COUNTRY MARKET

Many Believe That Nothing Short of the Surgeon's Knife Will Effect Cure. They Do Not Know

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

The agony caused by the intense itching, the depressing and debilitating effect on the system, the need of a surgical operation might be necessary—these are the things which make piles or hemorrhoids so distressing.

The doctors have been recommending surgical operations as the only cure. But the surgeon's operation, with all its dangers and expense and pain, does not usually effect a lasting cure.

Many a case has been cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment after the surgical operation had failed here. Please which doctors give up.

Mr. J. Meyer, Rosharon, Manx, writes:—"Dr. Chase's Ointment cured me of piles for over six years, and I have not had a recurrence since. I had tried two other doctors' prescriptions, but they did me no good. The doctor told me there was no cure for me, and that I must have an operation."

"I bought a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment and used it for one week. As this was six months ago and there has been no return of the old trouble I believe that the cure is a permanent one."

One thing certain, Dr. Chase's Ointment will bring you relief from the dreadful itching and burning almost as soon as applied.

To make the cure thorough and lasting it is only necessary for you to keep up the treatment regularly and persistently. Don't be satisfied with relief. Dr. Chase's Ointment will cure completely if you will do your part. 40 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edinboro, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Founding of Red Cross

The world owes a vast debt of gratitude to the aged Henri Dunant, founder of the Red Cross. M. Dunant acted as a volunteer nurse at the battle of Solferino in 1859, and his description of the awful sufferings of the wounded on that occasion, published under the title "Un Souvenir de Solferino," caused a profound stir throughout Europe. The Geneva Society for Public Utility invited M. Dunant to propose a scheme for the relief of the miseries of the fallen in wartime. He responded by proposing that corps of trained nurses should be established in every country, and that a system of neutrality between warring nations should be instituted whereby those engaged in fighting the sick and wounded should be protected by wearing a distinctive badge. The direct result was the summoning of an international conference at Geneva in 1864, and the famous Geneva Convention in August, 1864, whereby the neutrality of the Red Cross was established. The Red Cross on a white ground the Swiss flag was adopted as the badge of neutrality of the organization of the country of Dunant's birth, London, Chronicle.

but does not reflect much credit on the business acumen of the city fathers. They are to be congratulated then that they succeeded in placing the blame on the right parties in the market investigation. They have decided that Aldermen Potts and Vanwart knew of abuses in the market and failed to call the attention of the city to them. This, both aldermen deny, but if there is anything like civic spirit in the citizens of St. John they will take care in future to have at the city council men for whom all classes of citizens can vote, and not return a council like the present one, some members of whom are only justified to sit there because they happen to stand in with the crowd.

CANADIAN CLUB

At an executive meeting of the Canadian Club in the Times office yesterday afternoon, arrangements were made for the address to be given here next Wednesday evening by Professor John Macnaughton, of McGill, on the Governor-General's trip through the Hudson Bay. It was decided to have a luncheon previous to the address at 6.15 in Keith's theatre assembly rooms. As Mr. Macnaughton accompanied the Governor-General on his trip through the Hudson Bay it is expected that the lecture will be most interesting.

Suffered Greatly From Heart Trouble. NERVES WERE VERY WEAK.

Mrs. John Farrell, Rose Hill, P.E.I., writes: "It is with the greatest pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

"About five years ago I suffered greatly from heart trouble, and my nerves were very weak. After seeing several doctors and using their medicine, I got no relief until a friend told me of your Heart and Nerve Pills. I took two boxes and the effect was complete. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run-down people.

"I had tried many other pills, but they did me no good. I had been told of the same trouble, and I was sure that if I could get any relief, it would be from your pills. The prospect of the nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends entirely upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve demerence of any kind, it is bound to produce heart derangement.

In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart and nerve trouble.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 25c per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Dropsy—Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1907, and I am now able to do any kind of work in my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous.

L. TURNEY GORD, Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Price $1.00 at your druggist. He should supply you. If he does not, send price to us, we forward prepaid. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto.

Some people simply ask for "underwear."

They select a garment—carefully examine shape, material, fit, etc. And decide to try it. The result is pure speculation—upon their health and comfort or not.

Do not let this important trademark to mere chance. Insist on the dealer showing you underwear with the "CEETEE" trademark. It's on every garment of "CEETEE" UNDERWEAR and means absolute underwear comfort.

GOSSIP OF GOTHAM

The Cocktail the Bane of Hundreds of Girls Seeking to Advance—Extraordinary Steps in Fight Against Disease—Graham-White and Miss Sears

(Times New York Letter).

New York, Dec. 9.—There is a feeling among the heirs of the late George Crocker, son of the late California multi-millionaire, that they will sue to have set aside his will, which made his son, George Crocker, Jr., his heir.

The late Mr. Crocker, who died in 1907, left a fortune of $100,000,000, and it was Mr. Crocker's desire that the proceeds of his estate should be used by Columbia for the study of tuberculosis, from which he died. The fee of the property originally being set aside for the purpose of the study of the disease was $1,000,000.

Something like a ton of protesting letters have been received by Supreme Court Justice Aspinwall from angry women who claim that the will is invalid. In contrast to these messages the jurist had said on the subject that he had no objection to the will, but that the gift should be a crowd of happy beneficiaries.

"I have been married twenty years," said the old man. "My wife makes me scrub floors and wash dishes. I do not get my soul my own. I dare not smile before she gets hold of me. Out of this picture is all I have left. I have my most precious possession, but you deserve it. Marriage is a foolishness, and for more than twenty years I have been the pigskin."

In discussing marriage Justice Aspinwall, who is a bachelor, said: "I am always hearing of the mother and her troubles, but of the father—nothing, except when he crosses the hill to the poor house. Poor old father, I feel sorry for him at times. I am glad to be able to decide in the father's favor once in a while."

"You see mother" may have all the hard knocks, but she gets all the enjoy, too. Did you ever go to the theatre and see a play written around poor, dear, long suffering father? Did you ever hear one of these heart-breaking songs sung about the dear old man? Not a bit of it. Mother gets it all."

Asked if he believed in love, the jurist pleaded not guilty.

"Not I," declared Judge Aspinwall stoutly. "Love is nothing but a matter of pink lamp shades, and caramels, and ice cream sodas, anyway. Not the sort of a base, too, because people want to build their lives on it. No, sir, if a man and a woman wish to get married, they should go about it in a common sense way. Choose the man or woman best suited to them, in class, education, temperament, and all that sort of thing, and then go ahead and marry if they care for it."

WEEKLY WALL STREET LETTER ON COTTON

(Furnished by J. M. Robinson & Sons.)

Quite naturally in view of the continued wide differences of opinion as to the extent of the yield, we have had a nervous and irregular market during the past week with prices working first one way and then the other as buying or selling alternated in the process of evening-up for over the government estimate. The market now acts as though the scattering interest had been quite materially reduced. Some of the more extreme of the speculative bulls are undoubtedly carrying large lines over the report, while it seems to us that the short interest, while partly speculative, is more largely in the way of hedges or straddles. Little more than this can be said of the market from a speculative standpoint over the eye of the spinning report and the official estimate.

Meanwhile it seems quite possible that the ground is being laid for another struggle for control of the local contract market, in which it looks as though the deciding factor would depend upon the proportion of low grade cotton in the crop available for shipment here. The supposition is that leading eight interests who are supposed to have suffered more or less through the domination of the contract market last season by a strong speculative bull clique, have this season prepared themselves more fully to protect their hedging interests. The talk is that these people will take up at least 300,000 bales by the end of December. It is believed that originally the long interest in December was hedged by sales of January, but that the December longs are now covering their January and selling March and May on every little bulge in the premium. At the same time they are strongly suggesting that they anticipate the accumulation of a large amount of cotton here, to result in a considerable widening of the difference.

KIPLING LONESOME MAN

Death of Tolstoi Leaves Him Only Author of International Fame

(From the New York Times Review of Books) The death of Tolstoi, following hard upon that of Mark Twain, has left the world with only one author whose name is a household word in the four quarters of the globe. Not many years ago there were four such heirs to fame, but Zola's death, not long after his action in the Dreyfus matter, had virtually doubled the renown, reduced the "partie carree" to a trio. There were then three members of this little group—if for a moment men so dissimilar and dwelling so many thousands of miles apart may be brought together for one purpose.

When powdered sugar gets hard, run it through the food chopper. This is an easier way of breaking up the lumps than using a rolling pin. DRUNKENNESS CAN BE CURED. Old Gallacy That Drunkenness Cannot Be Cured Exploded. Many men drink who desire to stop the habit. Whiskey, however, has undermined the constitution and created a craving that is not to be denied, and the man must have whiskey or something that will remove the craving and build up the system and restore the nerves.

WALKS 2800 MILES AT 98

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 9—Footsore, weary and discouraged, Frank Schrom, who is within two years of the century mark in age, has given up the quest of his daughters which led him to walk from New Orleans to San Francisco and back to this city. He will enter a home for aged men in this city, there to end his days.

"Yes," he said, on reaching this city, "I have given up the search. I am 98 years old, and I can walk no longer." The old man was led to start on his journey last January by a letter from his daughters, who were in San Francisco, and who wrote to him to come to them. He had been separated from them many years. His banking business in Galveston was destroyed, and he had lost all his possessions in the great storm. His daughters knew nothing of this and thought the old man was still wealthy, otherwise it is believed they would have sent him money. Too proud to seek assistance Schrom set out to walk to them, only to find when he reached the Golden Gate that they had moved, leaving no trace behind them.

A good way to hold fish while cleaning them is to place a fork near the tail, sticking it into the body at the same time holding it firmly with the left hand while you scrape off the scales with the right hand. If old potatoes turn black when cooked add a little vinegar to the water when you put them on to boil, and they will be nice and white when cooked.

TALK PLAN TO RETIRE MR. WISELY

Some Aldermen Understood to Have Scheme for Monday's Council

PROPOSE FULL PAY

Others of Council Oppose the Project—Another Suggestion is Change of Positions—Street Talk as to Ald. Vanwart and Potts Voting on the Matter

Considerable interest is being manifested in the special meeting of the common council to be held on Monday to deal with the report of the committee on market investigation. It is said that a good deal of pressure has been brought to bear on some of the members in an endeavor to influence the voting.

It was stated this morning that there is a proposal under consideration to superannuate Director Wisely on full salary. Some members are known to be opposed to such a course as it is claimed it would open up a very wide door and would establish a precedent that would make no end of trouble in the future. Another suggestion is that Mr. Wisely be given some other position in the city employ.

Another feature of the meeting that is being discussed is the attitude of Aldermen Potts and Vanwart when it comes to voting on the report. It is declared today to be the opinion of many of the citizens that both aldermen should abstain from voting on the matter at all, as they are mentioned in the report.

It is expected that the question of the increase in the winter port freight rates will also be taken up and a decision reached as to whether the higher rates now in force will be continued or a reduction made to the rate of last year. Collections are now being made at the new rate.

LAKE MANITOBA FOR BUSINESS MEN'S WEST INDIES TRIP

Plan is to Sail From St. John on Jan. 14 For Six Weeks Cruise if 125 Take Passage

An opportunity is afforded to Canadian business men, manufacturers, fruit importers, capitalists, etc., to personally investigate business conditions and opportunities for investment in the West Indies and British South America. H. H. C. Macdonald, managing editor of Canada and West India Magazine, has arranged with the P. E. Company to secure the S. S. Lake Manitoba, now in port here, provided a hundred and twenty-five persons signify their intention to take the cruise.

It is proposed the steamer will leave St. John on January 14, 1911, for a six weeks' cruise, returning on or about February 24, which will permit a visit to Cuba and Havana, the western ports in Jamaica, Trinidad, Georgetown, Demerara, St. Kitts, St. Lucia, St. Vincent, Antigua, Grenada, Barbados, Martinique, Porto Rico, San Domingo and Bermuda, returning to St. John.

The steamer will be especially equipped with electric fans, orchestra for dancing, etc., a fine motor launch for special shore trips, a dark room for the convenience of photographers, deck awnings, hammocks for those who desire to sleep on deck, etc.

The number will be limited to 150 passengers, and the fare for the round trip will be from $200 to $300, according to accommodation.

RESIGNATION OF REV. G. D. IRELAND OF WOODSTOCK

Presbyterian Pastor is Going to British Columbia—Important Meeting of the Presbytery Here

Among the matters to come before the quarterly meeting of the Presbytery of St. John, N. B., on Tuesday, December 13, next, will be the resignation of Rev. G. D. Ireland, pastor of the Woodstock church. It is understood that Mr. Ireland has accepted a call from a church in British Columbia and expects to leave for the west about the first of January.

Mr. Ireland is at present moderator of the Presbytery and his acceptance of the call will leave a vacancy for this position also. It is probable that his successor will be chosen at the coming meeting.

The church union matter is also to come up and a call has been sent out urging a large attendance at the meeting.
