ANOTHER EASTERN WAR SCARE; UNITED STATES AGAINST JAPAN

Policy of the Latter Power in Endeavouring to Secure Control in Manchuria is Said to be Creating Serious Friction

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Granting the correctness of the representation of Russia that the desires regarding the local administration of the railroad zone of Harbin are not intended as inimical to Chinese sovereignty, Secretary of State Root explained that the situation with reference to that city was one involving many complications. He added that while there was truth, there was no great obstacle in the way of an ultimate satisfactory adjustment, and that to his mind rather too much seriousness and gravity had been attached to the negotiation.

TOKYO, April 7.—Negotiations between the United States and Russia concerning the administration of affairs at Harbin are being closely watched by Japan. The alarm in the newspapers suggests the Japanese administration of South Manchuria as the real object of American action. The sensational connect the coming of the American fleet with possible future representations concerning South Manchuria.

A Washington special says the government has decided to oppose the action of Russia and Japan in Manchuria. A dispatch from Harbin quotes Consul Fisher as saying that the American government on its own initiative demands the abandonment of the Japanese present status in Manchuria. These telegrams have aroused much comment.

The Japanese foreign office, however, refuse to accept the sensationalist view and said to the Associated Press that it is not prepared to believe that the American government is opposed to Japan's present attitude in South Manchuria. It is believed here that the report quoting the Washington official is not founded on fact and is circulated for the purpose of creating a fresh cause of ill feeling.

LONDON, April 7.—It is announced that the King has conferred knighthood of the Garter upon the Earl of Crewe, Lord President of the Council, and knightship of the Thistle upon Lord Tweedmouth. They are regarded as Premier Campbell-Bannerman's last recommendations to His Majesty and may also indicate a change in the portfolios of these ministers.

CHRONICLE, in an editorial this morning, on the awkwardness of the King's absence, says that Sir Henry's resignation was postponed for a time in the belief that the King would find it convenient to return to London.

"His absence at such a critical time," says the paper may be due to a reason of which we know nothing, but it looks as though the King made the first mistake of a reign hitherto uninter- ruptedly successful and popular."

ONTARIO GIVES $100,000 TO BATTLEFIELDS FUND

TORONTO, April 7.—The supplementary estimates were brought down in the legislature yesterday evening. The total amount is $40,306. The item that will probably attract most attention is the patriotic grant of $100,000 to the preservation of the Plains of Abraham which is put down as a "grant to national battlefields park and monuments at Quebec." The Dominion has given $50,000 and the sum from Ontario is that suggested by the national committee.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 7.—Miners and operators of the Central Composite Mining Field, composed of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, agreed last night to hold an interstate wage conference between employers and employees, at Toledo, Ohio, on April 14th. The miners and operators present at the informal conference between the miners of the whole central field and the operators of Ohio, Indiana, and Western Pennsylvania, were almost unanimously in favor of holding a general convention for the purpose of renewing contracts.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—Thomas McCreery, the New York horseman, accidentally shot by Congressman J. Thomas Heflin, of Alabama, a few days ago, is in a serious condition. He was operated on for lockjaw at George Washington Hospital yesterday as the only hope of saving his life. McCreery was among the bystanders, when Heflin, after an altercation with a negro named Lundy, on a Pennsylvania Avenue car, threw his antagonist off the car and fired at him twice through a window. One of the bullets hit Lundy in the neck, the other found lodgment in McCreery's leg. His injury was thought to be slight and he did not go to the hospital until two days afterwards. Yesterday symptoms of lockjaw developed and his condition grew alarming. Congressman Heflin's argument on the charge of shooting Lundy, who has recovered from his wound, is set for Friday of this week.

LITTLE INTEREST IN THE NOMINATIONS

Members of New Ministry Go In Unopposed Proceedings in the Various Counties Passed Off Without the Least Excitement.

FREDERICTON, N. B., April 7.—Nomination proceedings here today passed off very quietly. The only ones present were the sheriff, Mr. Percy Guthrie, agent for Mr. McLeod and newspaper representatives. The only nomination filed was that of the Hon. Solicitor General. His papers were signed by Hon. Geo. J. Collier, John Scott, H. C. Chestnut, Matthew Tennant, and a score of others. At twelve o'clock the sheriff declared the nominations closed, Mr. McLeod being elected by acclamation.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., April 7.—The nomination of Hon. Mr. Fleming was the only one filed here today. There never was any suggestion of opposition.

ST. ANDREW'S, N. B., April 7.—Hon. W. H. C. Grimmer was re-elected to-day without opposition.

NEWCASTLE, N. B., April 7.—No opposition to the return of Dr. Landry was offered in this county.

NEWCASTLE, N. B., April 7.—Hon. Mr. Morrissey was returned today without opposition. The nomination proceedings aroused no interest.

COMPULSORY GUEST ON BOARD WARSHIP

Policeman Boards Craft as Fleet is About to Sail, and is Carried Off.

LONDON, April 6.—After spending four days as a compulsory guest of a battleship, Police Sergeant Gale, of the Metropolitan force, who is stationed at East Ham, has returned to London. Yesterday he was the most talked-of member of the force.

On Monday last Gale arrived at Sheerness, where the Home division of the battleship was anchored, in charge of a deserter from H. M. S. Bulwark. Chartering a boat, the sergeant boarded the battleship and was formally handed over his prisoner when an officer hurriedly told him to get back into his boat. The deserter, however, was under immediate orders to sail.

"I went to the side of the ship," said the police sergeant, "and looked over. My boat was gone! Then I remembered that the boatman had rowed off to another ship. As I stood there in a quandry the engines of the Bulwark started and we steamed away. They told me that the deserter had been put to shore without delaying the whole fleet; in fact, I was helpless!"

"You can imagine how worried I felt when I remembered that neither my superior officer nor my wife would know what had become of me. 'Where shall we stop first?' I asked. You can guess my dismay when they told me that the fleet would not anchor until it had reached Invergordon, near the Moray firth.

"The officers treated the affair as a great joke; but they were very kind to me all the same. I was put to 'mess' with the petty officers and the crew. I strove of work to do, of course. If it hadn't been for the anxiety of not being able to send a message ashore, I should have enjoyed the trip very much. A boat from the Bulwark put me ashore at Invergordon late on Thursday night. The first place I visited was the telegraph office. Then I took train to Inverness, and came on from there to London—a 600-mile journey, altogether."

LOCAL OPTION WOMEN TOO BUSY TO BUY HATS

Milliners Join Wall That the Cause "Hurts Business."

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Calamity howlers who declare that local option would be attended by business depression, have received an important addition to their cause during the last week in the milliners of Washington county.

The milliners say that in their case depression has not waited for the local option legislation, but has come in advance of it. The women of the county are all too busy fighting liquor to buy spring hats.

BOMB-THROWER LIT THE FUSE AT THE WRONG END

MONGTON STILL TOYING WITH THE SCOTT ACT Devising New Methods of Having the Law Enforced—May be a Shortage of Cash.

MONGTON, N. B., April 7.—The Scott Act had the centre of the stage at the meeting of the city council last evening. It was decided to rescind the motion by which City Solicitor W. B. Chandler was authorized to conduct the prosecution in all Scott Act cases, and now Chief of Police Hildout will, in addition to securing evidence and laying information, conduct the case in court, except in cases where a solicitor's presence is deemed necessary.

On the ground that there is no chief of police in Moncton, Aid. Forbes introduced a motion to rescind the resolution which made the chief of police responsible for Scott Act enforcement, and for which he is paid $25 a month extra. Aid. Forbes claimed that money thus paid was illegally spent, as the police commission comes into force the first of May, the aldermen thought it would be useless to meddle with the matter. It was stated some time ago that on account of the imposition of jail sentences for Scott Act violation there was a shortage in funds. It was stated at the council last night that it was expected sufficient funds will soon be to the credit of the C. T. Act account to pay any outstanding claims, but should such not be the case, the city may be called on to pay the C. T. Act funds, which in past years were misappropriated by being used for purposes other than Scott Act enforcement.

NEW YORK, April 7.—The bomb thrown by Selig Silverstein in Union Square Park a week ago last Saturday, following the dispersal by the police of a meeting of New York's unemployed, was made out of a brass top of a bedstead.

This statement was made by an attendant at the hospital where the bomb-thrower lies hovering between life and death and is the first information from Silverstein since he committed his desperate act.

"I made the bomb from the top of a bedstead," Silverstein is reported to have said. "It was a round brass bed and hollow. I bought a quarter of a pound of nails, broke in half and put them in the bed. I put nitro-glycerine on top of them, and on top of the nitro-glycerine, I put some gunpowder. When I got to the Park, I saw a policeman had beaten up, I put a fuse in the bomb, and walked over to the fountain. I had a lighted cigarette in my hand and I tried to cough off the fuse, but in my excitement, I put the cigarette in the wrong hole, causing the explosion."

Silverstein said the Union Square bomb was the second he had made, but declined to tell when the first one was manufactured, or the use to which it was put.

Silverstein, who has shown remarkable vitality, was said to be much worse last night, and he was suffering great pain.

RIDING TEST IS THE LATEST FOLLY OF MR. ROOSEVELT

Representative Fitzgerald Says President's Latest Deed is Nonsense

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, discussing the deficiency appropriation of $10,000 for the famous riding tests, accused the president of being actuated largely by personal vanity. He said the riding test for staff officers was about as absurd as having doctors in command of ships, and that the folly of the president's position would only be shown when he ordered the Republican leader on the floor, Mr. Payne, to execute equestrian feats.

"There is a colonel in the army," said Fitzgerald, "who weighs 300. His duties are sedentary or consist in being carried around New York harbor in a boat, but this officer, who is as efficient as any in the army, is expected to prove it by riding horseback. What folly! The president having made supreme show their seamanship in command of vessels, will make them ride. He takes them out to the park and shows that they cannot ride with him as a Rough Rider. He then has pictures of himself on horseback distributed throughout the country. When the picture shows him jumping a fence he has the camera set on the ground to exaggerate the appearance of the height that the horse is jumping."

FIFTEEN HURT IN CHICAGO STREET RAILWAY SMASH

Elevated Car Jumped the Track and Fell to the Street.

CHICAGO, April 7.—Fifteen persons are said to have been injured when a car on the south side elevated railroad jumped and fell into the street at Forty-third street and Indiana Ave., today. The car which was the front one on the train was used as a smoker. It plunged head foremost into the backyard of a Prairie Avenue residence. The tenants of the residences looked to the scene, attracted by the crash. It is declared that no one was killed, but the neighbors for the next half hour were busy caring for the injured. Ambulance and patrol wagons from a nearby police station and hospitals and undertaking establishments, were summoned. Eight of the injured were taken to the Lakeside Hospital.

WANT TO KNOW WHY SO MANY ARE UNEMPLOYED

NEW YORK, April 7.—A convention of representatives of various labor and other bodies was held yesterday at the Hotel Astor to inquire into the number of unemployed throughout the United States and the reasons for their idleness.

Samuel A. Stodel, a representative of the Industrial Workers of the World, said that "a reasonable estimate of the number of unemployed throughout the United States at the present time would at least be 4,475,000. He asserted that matters are going from bad to worse."

LATEST WEATHER REPORT FAIR

Silverstein Made a Bomb from the Brass Top of a Bed, But in the Excitement in New York Touched the Powder With His Cigarette

NEW YORK, April 7.—The bomb thrown by Selig Silverstein in Union Square Park a week ago last Saturday, following the dispersal by the police of a meeting of New York's unemployed, was made out of a brass top of a bedstead.

POSTAL NEGOTIATIONS RESULT IN FAILURE

Japan and China Unable to Come to an Agreement on Suggested Improvements.

PEKIN, April 7.—The Chinese Foreign Board has rejected the proposals made by Japan with regard to a postal arrangement in Manchuria, on the ground that such an arrangement would contravene China's sovereignty rights.

Japan presented a plan which sought to have China recognize in its postal routes the telegraph stations outside of the railroad zone. The Government Council also has instructed the department of posts to be governed by the China-Japan Convention of 1902, authorizing that only Chinese mails be carried on Imperial railways.

Sir Robert Hart, Director General of Chinese Customs, in the convention with Japan, also submitted a plan in regard to the postal service, and has extended to the Japanese postal privilege on the Chinese Northern Railway in the interest of unity. This practically brings to an end the negotiations between the two countries on this matter.

TUGBOAT CHASED A DROVE OF SWIMMING CATTLE

NEW YORK, April 6.—A fleet of tug boats, pursuing a drove of wild Texas steers swimming in the East River, was the exciting and unusual spectacle witnessed by hundreds of persons today. A Leigh Valley E. R. boat, carrying a carload of thirty steers, sprang a leak in the East River and sank. Before it went down, the deckhands opened the door and the steers made a dash for safety. About fifteen of them got clear of the boat before it went down, but the others were drowned. A lively chase ensued. Passing tugs joined in the pursuit and several unsuccessful attempts were made to lasso the swimming steers. Those that were captured were towed ashore, where great difficulty was experienced in getting them onto the docks. Several of the steers swam a long distance up the river before they were captured and others were drowned.

The strike among the painters is at an end and nearly all the men are at work today at the rate of $2.50 per day. The decision was reached last night at a meeting of the master painters and the decision was made known when the different employers began to seek up their men this morning. The strike has been on since April 1st. The men asked for a increase of wages from $2.25 to $2.50 per day.

HARNESSES THE OCEAN WAVES.

Harnessing the waves of the ocean has been the dream of many an inventor. The waves have been cut through generations to this end, but so far this tremendous power of the waves in motion is a force to be combated, rather than made available to man.
River rapids have been harnessed for ages. The sluggish flow of the current has been a highway for the sluggish waves almost from the beginning of history. But the ocean waves have been an unharnessed power against which man has contended in all time.
A single foot of ocean water weighs about thirty-six pounds. When it has been moved an inch more than its weight has been the power exerted. In the air and coming at the speed of a racehorse against the cliff or sandy beach, strikes an impeding object at such a pace, its power may be gauged. To have such a power of the elements harnessed for the production and transmission of power in available form is an idea worth the dreaming of the inventor.

designs that they be anchored and connected as a rigid whole, each of them a power unit in the production of the electric current through which the power of the waves shall be transmitted.

SCAMMELL'S.

MICHIGAN MAN HAS PATENT.

Edward J. Briswell, of Bay City, Mich., through a patent gained at Washington, has announced to the world that he has discovered the secret of harnessing the waves. His invention produces only air as the active servitor for his motor. And in its final distribution this power is to be delivered in the form of the almost universal electric current which is driving so much of the world's mechanical industry.
Mr. Briswell's apparatus is simplicity itself in design.
The water harness itself is no more than an application of the old diving bell principle. This bell, made of boiler steel to the strength of boiler plate, the resistance is anchored where the sweep of the waves toward the shore may strike it full. The lower rim of the bell stands below the lowest line of the lowest tide; the upper half of the great cylinder rises above the line of the highest wave sweeping in. But this cylinder differs from the diving bell in that in the center of the hood sitting out of the water there is a valve connected with a pipe set at right angles to the bell, and this pipe in turn enters a chamber on shore which contains an air motor. From this motor chamber a valve opens from which a return pipe leads back to another valve and opens into the bell. This, the power circuit is complete. Thus, the power circuit is complete.

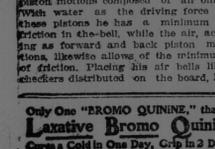

AIR PRESSURE RUNS TURBINE.

With the ocean water at dead rest, all these valves would be closed, and the air bell would be full of air. But when the rising wave, inbound, strikes the bell the air inside is compressed by the water rising within the bell, and is driven out through the upper connecting pipe into the motor chamber and through an air motor or turbine. For at the first compression of the air in the bell the lower valve has been closed, so long as the water is rising in the bell this valve remains closed. As the water subsides the motor chamber, while a valve in the return pipe opens to release the air which has blown its force against the motor. Having risen to its height, the first subsidence of the wave tends to produce a vacuum in the bell, which instantly closes the valve at the top, opens the release valve in the return pipe, and another valve beyond the motor chamber opening, a draft of air by suction of the subsiding water within the bell draws against the motor in the same direction as that forced against it by the rising water through the leading pipe.
Thus by compression and by suction, the instantly reversible, the inventor proposes to harness the waves to the duty of driving air through the motor, which still generates his electric current.
POWER SUPPLY WILL BE CONTINUOUS.

DAVID WELLS' HOME DESTROYED

Five completely destroyed the house and furniture owned by David Wells on Duke street, West Side, last night. One of the children upset a lamp on a table and before the flames could be extinguished the woodwork ignited, and spreading very quickly the whole house was soon enveloped in flames.
About two months ago the house owned by Thomas Wells, a brother of David, which was next to the one destroyed last night was also burned to the ground.
David Wells considers his loss by last night's fire will amount to over $1,000. He had $500 insurance.
Yesterday afternoon the fireman answered a call to Erin street, but the fire was only a pile of burning rags.

New Show at Princess Today

Again the Princess is to the front in securing the most laughable comedy picture hits of the week, a brand new film from the laboratory of Pathé Freres and out his best comedy subjects entitled the Inspector's Pranks. How he found out the weak spots on the floor and what his reforming amounted to. His Pathetic Return, the return of the black sheep of the family, after many years spent in gambling and dissipation. His home is in decay, and as he sits in the old orchard where he spent his happy boyhood days, he is accosted by his old friend a dog, who leads him to the grave of his mother, where we leave him. The Hold-up of the Special Messenger, one of the celebrated Marquis D'Epinois pictures, an even better than their celebrated Hold-up in Calabria. The Miracle of the Statue is one of the few transformations pictures that can really be called good. Miss May Alchorn is making a hit every time she sings that cute little ballad, Bridget McCue. Mrs. Sayce has a very pretty song that is taking more every time she sings it. When the Birds in Georgia Sing of Tennessee. The Merry Widow, the great comic opera which is now appearing before crowded houses in New York, will appear at the Princess on Friday and Saturday of this week.

Seasonable Offerings at the Nickel

The new picture, "The Vestal," put on at the Nickel yesterday, and to be shown today, is a hand-colored film separate and distinct pictures, each colored by hand. This will give one a conception of the tremendous task required to put this wonderfully beautiful picture on the market. The first of the popular series, because of the wide circulation the duplicates have all over the world. The Vestal is a sweet, pathetic story, that ends happily. The picture, Champagne Industry, was followed with interest, while My Watch Is Slow, was greeted with universal laughter throughout. Miss Davis is a singer of unusual talent, and her sweet voice has made her friends from Vienna and is highly recommended by the press in Australia and Africa, where she has recently appeared. The picture, The Yea-men's Wedding Song was masterful. Mr. Maxwell sang his new song to repeated accolades, the audience joining in on the chorus of what bids fair to be one of the most popular songs of the season.

Ralphal Concert Co.

The Ralphal Concert Company, headed by Mrs. A. J. Ralphal, assisted by Miss Pearl Carliya, elocutist; Professor Hoger, violinist, and Madame Simpson, first soprano, will appear at the Ladies' street United Baptist Church, next Thursday evening. Mr. Ralphal comes to us from Vienna and is highly recommended by the press in Australia and Africa, where she has recently appeared. The picture, The Yea-men's Wedding Song was masterful. Mr. Maxwell sang his new song to repeated accolades, the audience joining in on the chorus of what bids fair to be one of the most popular songs of the season.

REDUCING THE WAIST

LINE IN BOTH SEXES

Men and women with heavy, pendulous abdomens who wish to reduce them quickly and safely are usually advised to go in for certain trusses, twisting and bending exercises, that as a matter of fact, they should carefully avoid as being dangerous rather than beneficial.
A far better plan is to use the following three simple household remedies, which can be obtained at any drugist at small cost, viz: 1/2 ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extra Cascara Aromatic, and 4 1/2 ounces Syrup Simplex. These are mixed together and taken a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime.
These three make a mixture that is not only perfectly harmless, but actually quite beneficial to the system, regulating the digestion, purifying the blood and clearing the complexion of pimples and blotches. Its chief and surprising benefit is in the rapid, natural manner in which it reduces the fat person to the normal beautiful lines of a fine physique. It having been known to cause the absorption of as much as a pound of fat a day. Moreover, it does it symmetrically, so that no wrinkles or flabby skin are left behind. Strange to say neither dieting nor exercise is advised, when this simple home remedy is being used for it will produce its results in the least possible time. It is instructed to eat whatever he or she fancies, and is also permitted to take things easy.

A THOUGHT.

Never permit yourself to comment unfavorably on a friend. If you have a complaint, carry it in person to the individual concerned. Loyalty is the life breath of true friendship; and if there were more loyalty there would be fewer broken friendships.

The adverse balance due the cemetery last year was $1,384.42, which has been reduced during the year to $42.12. There was received for perpetual care of the sum of $7,768.25, which has been invested in bonds, increasing the invested funds to $46,425.82. There was received from the care of private lots $2,197.36; burial fees, $1,022.25; sales of lots, $3,165.79; for vaults, $105; rents, $15; lumber, etc., $876; interest from investments, $1,755; total receipts, $9,369.52.
While the expenditures for wages, supplies and salaries amount to $7,841.84, to which add interest paid on the outstanding bonds and on overdraft at the bank of New Brunswick, nearly balances the account with the increased perpetual care sections during the year. For the improvements on the grounds we respectfully refer you to the superintendent's report.
Following out the instructions of the last annual meeting, the directors have published an up to date report on the cemetery containing list of lot holders, directory of paths and avenues, and plan of the cemetery grounds showing the perpetual care sections in colors.
A number of these reports have been distributed to lot holders applying for them at the office, the remainder will be circulated this spring when the order cards go out for care of lots.

Directions for Making Tea

Warm the teapot (crockery is best). Put in a teaspoonful of "Salada" tea for every two cups. Pour on freshly boiled water and allow it to steep (not boil) from five to eight minutes. Pour the liquor off the leaves into another teapot and serve. When made in this way, it kept warm, "Salada" Tea will retain its delicious flavor for hours. On account of its delicious strength a pound of "Salada" will go as far as a pound and a quarter of other teas.

At a meeting of the governors of the Wiggins Male Orphan Institution held yesterday afternoon, the resignation of Rev. R. Mathers, the principal, was accepted. About two weeks ago Rev. Mr. Mathers addressed a letter to the board asking to be relieved of the responsibilities of the position. He pointed out that owing to the central position of the school, it was almost impossible to prevent the boys from wandering about more or less, and he did not feel equal to the task any longer.

Directions for Making Tea

Warm the teapot (crockery is best). Put in a teaspoonful of "Salada" tea for every two cups. Pour on freshly boiled water and allow it to steep (not boil) from five to eight minutes. Pour the liquor off the leaves into another teapot and serve. When made in this way, it kept warm, "Salada" Tea will retain its delicious flavor for hours. On account of its delicious strength a pound of "Salada" will go as far as a pound and a quarter of other teas.

WORTH $10,000 HELD FOR STEALING BREAD

Braddock Man Accused of Rifling Sealed Baskets on Doorsteps
PITTSBURGH, April 6.—George Kraecel, of Braddock, worth $10,000, was held today by Justice of the Peace Miller, of Homestead, on a charge of larceny. He was accused of stealing bread from sealed baskets left at the doors of stores early in the morning. The bakers had decided to take no action in punishing the criminal, thinking hunger was the cause of the thefts. Investigation satisfied them that they were being imposed upon, as they learned that Kraecel had recently sold some property for $3,000.

MATERIALISM IN CHILDREN.

It is perhaps not unnatural that the growth of fortunes should bring the facts of life early before the minds of children and that as a result there should be a tendency towards materialism in even a child's point of view. Not long ago I heard two girls of six and seven talking on a country road. They were children whose parents were amply able to give them whatever they thought best for them to have. The first girl said: "How can we make some money? I tell you what, Mary, we must sell our raddies as soon as they are ripe." Mary answered sally: "I wish Aunt Sarah were here. She buys raddies like the dicker." Now, these children at this early age were discontented at their weekly allowance and finding that they could not get more from their parents, decided to sell to the neighbors, and their parents wishing them to develop themselves and to learn by experience, did not prevent their doing so. —Louisa McCrady in Atlantic.

RATHER BROAD.

"You are lucky, kid," said the big boy enviously. "I wish I had a dad who was a baseball catcher."
"Do you?" replied the little boy, with a lugubrious sigh. "Well, you wouldn't wish it longer after he had spanked you with his catcher's mitt."—Detroit Tribune.

APFIDAVITS NEEDED NOWADAYS

"Why do you send two men to get that interview?" asked the managing editor.
"Because the literary editor threw his poetry out of the window and then told him to follow copy."—Baltimore American.

SOME OF THE FALLACIES CONCERNING YOUR WEIGHT

There is something almost pathetic in certain popular fallacies concerning bodily weight. A man gets on a weighing machine and if he turns the beam a pound or two (less than) when he was previously scaled, he is immediately filled with the most gloomy apprehensions regarding his health. Or, should he have a horror of stoutness, and should he appear to have gained in weight to the same extent, he is correspondingly depressed at the idea that he may become a modern Lambert.

As a fact, however, every person's weight varies not merely from day to day, but from hour to hour, and, indeed, from minute to minute, and dinner or any other meal increases it. Except when we are eating or drinking, we are always losing weight more or less rapidly, provided we are in health.

If a man is sure he is below his standard he may, perhaps, be justifiably alarmed, because loss of weight beyond that which takes place in normal circumstances is a sure indication of disease.

Any ailment, even what is called "a common cold" tells speedily and markedly on bodily weight.

The variations which take place under normal conditions are regular, depending as they do in the one direction on the intake of food and drink, and in the other on exertion and on natural loss through perspiration, etc.

As the result of experiments made with scientific precision it is now possible to say how far such variations go in the case of the average healthy man engaged in ordinary work.

At 9 a. m., before breakfast, he weighs, say, 155 lb. 8 oz., an hour later, after breakfast, he has gained 1 lb. 12 oz., but by noon he loses 1 1/2 oz., so that only immediately to make it up and to add 2 oz. by lunch, which brings his weight to 157 lb. 6 oz.

Then, again the fall begins, and shortly continued (11) dinner-time, though the chief meal of the day put on 2 lb. 2 oz., fetching him up to his maximum weight.

He is at his lightest just before breakfast and at his heaviest immediately after dinner.

There is a big drop during the night. It amounts on the average to 3 lb. 6 oz., but the loss varies from 2 lb. to 4 lb., according to idleness and the season of the year. In making deductions from the results of the experiments touching variations in weight allowance must of course be made for special exertion, whether bodily or mental.

LOSS OF WEIGHT.

That mental strain quickly tells on the frame has been established in connection with examinations. Comparative tests show that students in the high classes, where the efforts is necessarily greater, lose several pounds more than those in the lower classes.

The loss of weight due to physical exertion is sometimes a little surprising even to those who have devoted attention to the matter. Mr. Eastaugh, a famous runner, was carefully weighed before and after a race that he liked to lose 6 lb. in playing a tennis match—a statement which was received with amazement, but, as a fact, he once lost as much as 8 lb., and several times 7 lb., though the exertion has more frequently taken from 4 lb. to 5 lb.

Mr. Burgess could give some still more striking figures concerning the amount of tissue he has lost in attempting to swim the English Channel. Notwithstanding the large amount of food he took while in the water, he lost nearly 1 lb. per hour.

One of his plucky efforts, which lasted a little more than fourteen hours, pulled 12 lb. of him, while another, extending over twelve hours, reduced his weight by 12 lb.

Put bodily, this fact is a little staggering; but the loss is relatively small considering that, even in his twelve-hour swim he took more than 20,000 strokes, each of which brought into play the muscles of arms, legs, back, chest and neck.

On the path, weight has been lost with much greater rapidity. Some years back a famous runner was carefully weighed for an attack on Deerfoot's one-hour record, and as a result he had never been in better condition than when he started to lower that record.

He succeeded, but, splendidly "not" as he was, he lost 6 lb. or 7 lb. in his hours' run. Nor is this an absolutely isolated case in point, since another runner once lost 5 lb. in little more than half an hour, despite the care with which he had been trained.

Even a degree of exertion within the capacity of well-nigh anybody is an important factor in reducing weight. It is easy to lose about 2 lb. by taking a turn at a home exerciser, while a brisk walk may involve a loss of 2 lb. or 4 lb.

Jockeys can rapidly "waste" by working in heavy sweaters to induce profuse perspiration. Arthur Nightingale tells us that he used to walk six miles out and six miles back—twelve in all—and so get off 4 lb. in the first spin. To keep it off more exercise was necessary, coupled with extreme abstinence.

VALUE OF LIQUIDS.

One of his stable companions had his diet cut down so low that he fell on his knees before his trainer and begged for a good dinner. Instead, he received a good hiding, which deprived him of his appetite for several days, and so brought about all the "wasting" which was required.

ALARMED PROPHET'S FORECAST.

"Which may I give you this morning, Miss Guest—infusion of exhausted tea-leaves, colored with lead, or of chicory and ground wheat?"

"Thank you, cocoa is my breakfast beverage. So nutritious."

"Ah, yes. We use a choice mixture, better than the pure article; one-eighth part cocoa and seven-eighths starch, the whole treated with alkali. I'm sure I don't know why. And an egg?"

"Thanks. A new laid egg is equivalent to a pound of beef, is it not?"

"Really, new-laid eggs are so long out of fashion that I cannot say. These are cold storage eggs laid some time last year."

"Oh, no!"

"My husband is in the trade. Would you like this American-made egg—the yolk of colored rats, the white of gelatine, the shell of lime?"

"Impossible!"

QUITE TASTELESS.

"There are several factories in the United States. You will find them in the commercial dictionary. They whirl the yolk into shape, freeze it, coat it with gelatine, freeze again, put on the linings, and there's the egg. It is really ox—the yolk of ox-fat, the gelatine from the ox's hoofs, etc."

"Oh, yes. I will have some butter, please. How beautifully colored it is—creamy, isn't it?"

"It consists of one-half margarine, one-fifth skim milk, some boric acid, salt, water, and a trace of cow's butter, the whole colored with annatto."

"Good gracious! Why do you not use real butter?"

"My husband tells me it went out of fashion years ago. You will find that this is quite tasteless—an admirable feature."

"Just a very little cream in my cocoa mixture. Thank you."

"That cream is the latest triumph of science. It is an emulsion of ox-fat gelatine, skimmed milk tinted with an aniline dye, and preserved with lactic acid. Its keeping qualities are a great comfort."

HOW BREAD IS MADE.

"This bread is quite appetizing. I like it so snowy white."

"Yes, we have to be thankful for alum. Bread is rarely made now from really good flour. The wheat gets damaged by huge water in transit. This is mixed with sound flour and with the addition of alum for bleaching purposes and potato starch, a very nice loaf is turned out."

"But why potato starch?"

"It absorbs large quantities of water, and gives weight to the bread without cost to the baker. Will you have some honey or preserve? This honey comes from a factory of high repute."

"Factory? Why is it in the comb?"

"Oh, yes. That comb is most ingeniously made of paraffin wax."

"Candles in fact!"

"Yes, candles. And the honey is glucose of the finest quality."

"I should not dream of eating candles. Give me some raspberry jam, please. Beautifully tinted, that raspberry jam."

"Yes, that is a new aniline dye. Look at the seeds—made in a factory from red pine wood. This raspberry jam consists of apple jelly imported from the Continent, wood seeds, glucose and aniline dye."

A GLASS OF MILK.

"Really! I will have some red currant jelly listed."

"Ah, glue!"

"Glue? We call it gelatine-refined glue."

"What am I to eat? Well, I must be content with a glass of milk and a biscuit. Have you milk?"

"Oh, yes. There's a rearing glass of milk. First the farmer waters it. Then the wholesaler dealer waters it. Then the retail dealer waters it. But it is fortified with a skimmed and condensed milk and—horic acid."

"I think I'll wait for lunch, thank you."

THE PRIVATED'S DILEMMA.

"My regiment was on one occasion marching in the van of an immense and magnificent parade," said a militia colonel, "when it became necessary to push the people back a little."

"The ropes had broken at this point, and the people, quite unintentionally, encroached on the line of the parade. I assigned a handful of young privates to help the police to handle the crowd, and one private, stationed near me, I kept my eye on. He got everybody back except a fat man. This person did not move."

"Private," said I, "but that fat man back?"

"He says he can't get back; the crowd is pushing so," the private answered.

"Put your rifle butt in his chest," said I, "and force him back. You are the stronger?"

"Yes," said the private; "I know I'm the stronger, but he's the foreman of our shop."

LAWS OF WAR.

The Code that Governs Hostilities Between Civilized Nations.

The "laws of war" as at present formulated by the civilized nations forbid the use of poison against the enemy; murder by treachery, as for example, the flag of truce; the murder of those who have surrendered, whether upon conditions or at discretion; declarations that no quarter will be given to an enemy; the use of such arms or projectiles as will cause unnecessary pain or suffering to an enemy; the abuse of a flag of truce to gain information concerning an enemy's positions; all unnecessary destruction of property, whether public or private.

They also declare that only fortified places shall be besieged, open cities or villages not to be subjected to siege or bombardment; that public buildings of whatever character, whether belonging to church or state, shall be spared; that plundering by private soldiers or their officers shall be considered inadmissible; that prisoners shall be treated with common humanity; that the personal effects and private property of prisoners, excepting their arms and ammunition shall be respected; that the population of an enemy's country shall be considered exempt from participation in the war unless by hostile acts they provoke the ill will of the enemy.

Personal and family honor and the religious convictions of an invaded people must be respected by the invaders and all pillage by regular troops or their followers strictly forbidden.

IT SOUNDED HEARTLESS.

Journey's End.

By FORBES DWIGHT

(Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.)

The mad gallop up the bridge path ended at the bridge across the little pond. The girl drew rein close to the stone parapet, and, calming her restive steed, whose every nerve seemed a quiver with the excitement of the wild dash, sat quietly on the saddle staring with pensive eyes at the unroofed water below.

Dean ranged his own horse beside the girl's, smiling as he watched the glowing color in her cheeks. All about them the trees flaunted the gorgeous tints of late autumn—scarlet, ochre and more subdued shades lending into a splendid, far-reaching vista. The crisp, clear air stirred the blood like wine.

"We shouldn't be doing such things," she said severely.

"Of course not," said Dean with a chuckle. "We should have maintained a steady pace. We should have contented ourselves at the most with a measured trot. It's tremendously wicked that we smash all the conventions of this park. We'll have a mounted officer on our trail yet. Pleasant prospect, that. A glorious gallop all the same, wasn't it? And well worth the risk of incurring the displeasure of the law."

"Yes, it was glorious," the girl admitted. "Still, we shouldn't do it."

"That's where half the fun comes in," said he. "Hanging their tails, and their rules! Do they think we'll limit ourselves to a funeral pace such a day as this and with such a pair of steppers?"

"Why really ought to," said she. Dean laughed. It was a pleasant, almost boyish laugh. His big shoulders were squared defiantly.

"The things one ought to do are generally unpleasant," he observed. "Come on, we'll beat them out once more."

She nodded. "Of the rules they are pleased to hammer up with in this two-by-four plot of grass?"

"No, not of that," she replied. "Afraid of you, I think."

"Of me? Oh, shaw!"

Again his laugh rang out, but the girl turned to him with a sudden seriousness.

"You make me rather afraid of you at times," she said. "You tempt me to do reckless things. I don't know why it should be so, but it is. I would never in the world have thought of riding here with any one else as I have with you just now; and the strange part of it all is that I enjoy it so immensely."

"Enjoy what?"

"Doing the reckless things you inspire."

Dean leaned toward her quickly. "I wish it were so," he declared. "I wish I really might inspire you to reckless deeds. I wish I might inspire you to do reckless things."

"Now, please," the girl begged with brightening color.

"Oh, all right," said he good naturedly. "I know the subject is tabooed. I will observe the conventions you've imposed upon me and keep my tongue to the fence."

He sat for a time staring silently into the water. At last he straightened himself in the saddle.

"I'd like another gallop," he remarked. "A wider one, a madder one. I'd like to get out of this little old park, and go somewhere where there's a level stretch of road and no hampering rules of pace."

A light came into the girl's eyes. She threw back her head and gathered up the reins as if she were about to start.

"So would I," she declared a trifle breathlessly.

Dean swung about to face her. There came a quiet smile on his lips. "Come, then," he said simply. "We really shouldn't," she objected. "Come," he repeated. "I'm afraid of you when you speak in that fashion."

He began to tremble. "We must do back," she cried. "Look," said he. "Do you see that spire with the cross on it? Well, beside that spire is a little restery, and in that restery is a gentle old clergyman. He's watching this road down the hill even now. Dorothy, he's expecting us."

"Oh," she cried, turning her face away. "I shall be disappointed," he said. "There was a long pause; then without looking at him the girl started her horse down the hill. At the foot of it she stopped and resolutely faced Dean. Her cheeks were burning, but her eyes never faltered.

"I'm afraid of you," she said, "because you will always have you with me. You will rule me as you like to with me as you please; even as you have done this afternoon. Yes, I am very much afraid of you—but—but I am very happy, even in my fear."

"Of course not," said Dean with a chuckle. "We should have maintained a steady pace. We should have contented ourselves at the most with a measured trot. It's tremendously wicked that we smash all the conventions of this park. We'll have a mounted officer on our trail yet. Pleasant prospect, that. A glorious gallop all the same, wasn't it? MONTREAL BOOK AGENT

WILLS CONSTABLE AND -KEEPS POLICE AT BAY

MONTREAL, April 6.—For five hours this afternoon and evening John Smith, a book agent, kept a large posse of the Montreal police force and a detachment of the fire brigade at bay, killing one constable, wounding another and Chief Constable Focault, the bullet striking his forehead and glancing off. She was immediately behind, and when Focault fell he bravely rushed in, and fired his revolver, the bullet piercing the constable's head, and the fusils in the colanders is maintained by those vessels being surrounded by burning charcoal. The advantage of a long fall is clearly seen. When dropped in water immediately from the colander the bullets are flattened, the lead being soft. The long fall through air enables the lead to cool and harden before taking its plunge. The smaller ones require less fall than the larger. For instance, 100 feet suffice for sizes 4 to 8. The larger sizes demand 150 feet, and after cooling shot is sifted in successive sieves to separate the sizes. The whole are then polished by rotary motion in small octagonal boxes into which a little plumbago has been thrown.

Small shot is made of lead heated and dropped through a colander, and in rapid motion from a considerable height into water. The lead falls in small globular drops. The holes in the colander vary in size according to the denomination of the shot, No. 6 requiring one-fifth of an inch in diameter, No. 8 one three-hundredths and six-tieth of an inch. The colanders are iron hemispheres ten inches in diameter and are coated with the cream of scam which is taken off the molten shot. A small portion of arsenic is melted with the fusils, and the fusils in the colanders is maintained by those vessels being surrounded by burning charcoal. Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles

FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangements of any kind, it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined Dr. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart and nerves in a most beneficial manner. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

Mrs. John Riley, Dorco, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON FIRE PROTECTION DEPARTMENT.

The Common Council held its regular monthly meeting yesterday and was compelled by the amount of business before it to meet both afternoon and evening.

Ald. Bullock, chairman of the Treasury Board, gave the board a statement of the sinking fund of the city and also made some remarks on the chamberlain's statement of the city's accounts.

The reports of the Treasury Board and the Board of Public Safety were adopted without amendment.

In the report of the Board of Public Works the section recommending that the City Council Band be permitted to erect a band stand over the King square fountain caused considerable discussion and was finally referred to a general committee of the council.

The report of the Board of Public Improvements was adopted with an amendment. The council agreed to the changes proposed by the department of public works but expressed the opinion that the amount of interest carried out would have been successful.

The report of the Water and Sewerage Board was amended by having sections recommending the construction of certain sewers referred back to the board.

A communication from the police magistrate asking for an increase in salary was referred to the Safety Board.

Ald. Bullock presented to the Common Council a statement on the condition of the sinking fund of the city and also an abstract of the chamberlain's statement of the city's finances.

Ald. Bullock moved the report of the Chamberlain be received and that the Treasury Board be empowered to call for tenders for printing the same.

The motion was carried.

Ald. Bullock gave notice of motion for a resolution that there was lack of anchorage facilities in the harbor for coasting vessels. He alluded to the danger that small vessels anchored off Sand Point on Wednesday last when the Casandra was being towed up the harbor.

ANOTHER KINGS COUNTY HEAD IN THE BASKET

Rothsary Road Superintendent A. M. Saunders Under the Political Guillotine

ROTHSARY, N. B., April 4.—There was a meeting of the Conservative committee of the parish Wednesday evening and the question of keeping in line with the resolutions passed by leaders of the party at Norton since the election, when it was resolved that once holders under the last government would have to walk the plank, came up for discussion.

About the only office holder here under the present local government is A. M. Saunders, the superintendent of roads, and the fact that he is the right man in the right place made it all the more difficult to deal with his case.

The majority of the committee did not see the necessity for a change. Saunders had always done his work well, had shown no political favor when employing men to work upon the roads and had made the roads always here the envy of other parishes.

Yet they were over-ruled. The Conservative political boss of the parish would have his way and the road superintendent must go. So it was resolved that the majority gave way.

There were plenty of applicants for the job and it is said many promises were made prior to the election. So that as it may, the man to whom the job was first offered refused to interfere with the present superintendent, but when he found that another Conservative was bound to have it, he withdrew his refusal and sent an acceptance to his chairman.

There is no doubt that this action on the part of the Conservative committee will surprise their best workers and supporters. Some who had heard of the proposed change had not hesitated to condemn it in the strongest terms and they refer to the very heavy commitment which P. M. Sproul, when he spoke in the parish during the campaign, laid upon the people and the road superintendent for the condition of the roads here. He knew Superintendent Saunders for one of his most active opponents, but that did not prevent him doing his duty. In fact, he thanked him for what he heard he said.

"It's all right, Albert," said Sproul. "You deserved all I said."

STUPID GENEROSITY.

Ability may have its limitations, but stupidity is not thus handicapped, says someone. Just lately a Miss One of the office men at the Mission Press in Rangoon, a Hindoo, is reputedly to have been asked to approve money to be sent away by money order, and not long since had his pocket relieved of 400 rupees in paper money which he was careless enough to leave temptingly peeping out of the top of his jacket pocket. Of course he had to make good the loss to his carelessness. Just about that time came the failure of the private banking firm of Arbuthnot & Co., in Madras, and this man's relatives lost very heavily. Misfortune seems to love how to "bunch his hits."

Now all of this led a goodly number of his fellow-employees in the press to club together and help the unfortunate fellow-countryman. How beautiful is generous sympathy! The superintendent was asked to approve, and did so heartily. Generous were the responses, and 10 gold sovereigns and more were the result. Of course he was rejoiced when they gave them to him; yes, and no. Two of the leaders wanted the money to be given to him at once, but the men who actually handled the cash said that it was not seemly to give a man money, and they had two gold bangles made of the coins, and gave the bangles to him to wear!

What will the recipient debtor do with his bangles? He can wear them and look at them, but as gifts he will not sell them and pay his debts. He may mortgage them to strangers and pay his debts to his friends, and then pay interest on his mortgages till he has paid twice over for the bangles, and still not have them to enjoy. The curse of all India is its recklessness in finance, its stupidity in all questions where money is concerned.

ALD. BULLOCK SINKING FUND STATEMENT

The sinking funds of the city of St. John are governed by the various acts of the House of Assembly under which the bonds are issued.

The acts provide for rates of interest to be laid, also that sufficient sum shall be laid aside annually to provide for their redemption.

The necessary sum to retire 4 per cent $1,000 bond, 40 years to run, according to actuary table, is $10.50 per annum. Therefore the sum assessed upon the citizens for each $1,000, 4 per cent, 40 years expiry, is $50.50 (interest $40, and redemption $10.50).

This $50.50 must be reinvested half-yearly to accomplish its purpose.

The necessary sum to sink sinking fund investment year 1906 was $18,828.32. These coupons were not out of until the year 1907, so the sinking fund lost the interest, and the amount of interest instead of being deposited to the various sinking funds was added to the general cash account of the city, and the money belonging to the sinking fund investment account, loaned for the payment of the large construction accounts on the West Side and also the extension of the water to Loch Leam road; resulting in the city saving one-half per cent interest. Furthermore, the investment account that was made for this fund was placed in general cash, instead of the proper account and frequently, that property belonged to capital expenditure.

In no way was the taxpayer defrauded. The former chamberlain pursued that course simply as a matter of convenience, which shows at a glance a looseness of system.

FIRST AID. Mr. Figgins, the head of the family, observing that the eaves over his kitchen had become clogged by autumn leaves climbed a tree standing near the house with the intention of removing the obstruction. Just as he was about to scoop out a handful of the leaves, the dead limb on which he was standing gave way, and he started to fall. Instinctively grasping at other limbs and managing to get his legs round the trunk of the tree, he checked his fall and hung there, head downward, holding on with all his might.

"Sophia!" he yelled. "Come out here quick!"

Mrs. Figgins, terribly alarmed, came hurrying out.

"Oh, Arthur!" she exclaimed, "how did that happen?"

"Never mind how it happened!" he shouted. "Get a chair!"

The chair was brought.

"Now stand on it."

"Arthur, I'm not strong enough to help you down!"

"You don't!" replied the youth. "I thought you posed as a clairvoyant."

POLICE ON HUNT FOR DARING SWINDLER

Once Brilliant Student at German University, He Lapsed Into Life of Crime.

PARIS, April 6.—Photographs and an account of his past performances have been sent to the police abroad with a view to the capture of an adventurer, Maurice George Guttmann. He is a son by birth, 35 years of age, well educated, and has, it appears, a varied experience of London.

His identity was revealed as Joseph Pez, who disappeared a month ago from a hotel in Milan with over $30,000 in jewelry and money belonging to a Russian dancer, whom he had accompanied from Brussels. The police have established that he is the much-wanted Guttmann.

He was once a brilliant student at Heidelberg, but soon after he left the university an amorous adventure made him take flight, where he assumed the name of Schumann, and became a teacher of languages. Trouble like the first made him seek refuge in Paris, where he soon got a term of imprisonment for attempting to extort money.

When he was free he reappeared in London as Baron de Gourdel, and devoted himself to robbery.

Eventually he was arrested and sentenced in England to five years' penal servitude. On completing his term he was deported to France and sentenced to a fresh period of imprisonment.

On his release he went, under the title of Count de Polban, to Brussels, where he was implicated in a marriage swindle which brought him $12,000.

It is considered a remarkable fact that Guttmann may be in London trying to dispose of the stolen jewelry.

POLICE STOP VOYAGE OF MOTOR CAR BURGLAR

Successful Career of Swill Thief Ends Just as He Is About to Skip.

MARSEILLES, April 6.—The Marseilles police have arrested a man named Maurice Roussel, who is known far and wide in France as "the motor-car burglar."

Roussel, who was leaving Marseilles yesterday for Buenos Ayres, is only 32 years old, but has during the last two years committed at least seventy and probably more daring burglaries.

He had a magnificent 30-horsepower motor-car and his favorite victims were solitary country bankers and other people likely to have considerable sums of money in their offices.

He called in his motor car on these occasions in the daytime on some small matter in which he pretended to need the help, took notes of the position of the keys, and in the course of the night removed what valuables he could find and disappeared.

The police have known of his existence for a long while. On the night of February 29 he committed seven successful burglaries in and near Chateau Thierry, getting away with over $15,000 and two days later he got $3000 out of one office and robbed five others of lesser amounts.

SUICIDE EPIDEMIC IN RUSSIAN CAPITAL

ST. PETERSBURG, April 6.—As many as fifteen suicides in a single day have lately been reported in St. Petersburg. Many of these occur in public in the most dramatic circumstances.

A few days ago a student shot himself in a box at the Imperial Opera, during one of the concluding scenes of "The Queen of Spades." He was the brother of the boy who during the performance was seen to smile repeatedly at a beautiful bouquet of flowers which he had just received.

The bouquet was concealed a revolver, and at the last he lifted the flowers to his face and pulled the trigger, dropping back dead in the box amid a scene of confusion and terror.

The day before yesterday Lieutenant Colonel Kovalevsky shot himself in one of the rooms of a fashionable restaurant. At a skating rink, where the skaters included a large number of children, one of the performers in the orchestra drew a revolver during an interval and took his life. "Well, view of everybody."

WIFE OF GRANDEE CAN USE HER FISTS

Belabored by Her, He Flees from House and Seeks a Magistrate

MADRID, April 6.—Madrid is convulsed with merriment by the tale of the troubles of a great household—troubles which have ended in a suit for divorce by a henpecked grande.

The gentleman is married to a woman some years his senior and his inferior in rank. Madame is a vigorous person, accustomed to having her fists to get it. Her husband's opposition to her wishes has often cost her the hair of her head, by force majeure.

Last Sunday the noble family, with their retainers, were at service in the private chapel of the husband's splendid residence, when Madame fell furiously upon an inattentive chauffeur, chased him down the aisle and through a garden, and was brought up in mid-career by a motor car, behind which she beat the car with all her force and seriously damaged it.

She told her protesting husband that she had a poisoned dagger, with which she meant to kill him, and the poor gentleman, in the expectation of getting some male friend to take away the dagger, fled from the house, and in mad haste fled to a magistrate.

Matters came to a head on Thursday, when Madame so belabored and reviled her husband that he, escaping from her clutches, ran desperately to a magistrate and unfolded his tale of woe. The magistrate and two attendants went back to the house, and in Madame's presence the husband swore that he would in daily terror of his life. Madame has been removed to the convent, and will remain there while the husband's divorce proceedings are being carried on.

Detectives Go On in Theatrical Costume and Capture Man Before Audience.

PARIS, April 6.—A curious and realistic scene occurred at the Odéon Theatre last night during the performance of "Le Roi de Rome." Just before the "pelote Basque" scene in the second act, two policemen in theatrical costumes entered the theatre, and told M. Antoine, the manager, that they had come to arrest a dangerous criminal, who they learned, was there at the moment.

The man had been engaged at a "table" and he did not get up, standing in the wings recognized him as he went on the stage from the opposite side. "We must arrest him at once," they said.

"You can't stop my performance," protested M. Antoine, "and you can't arrest a man in the middle of a play, as you say there is danger of the man for you. I will do what I can for you. A Problem Which Marconi Has Yet to Solve

LONDON, April 6.—In a lecture delivered recently at the Royal Institution, Mr. Marconi detailed the causes of the difficulties and delays in connection with the establishment of an uninterrupted wireless telegraphy service across the Atlantic.

One remarkably interesting fact Mr. Marconi recorded. "There exists," he remarked, "certain periods, fortunately of short duration, when transmission across the Atlantic is somewhat difficult, and at times ineffective, unless an amount of energy greater than that used at normal times is employed. These periods occur in the morning and evening, when, owing to the difference in longitude, daylight or darkness extends only part of the way across the Atlantic.

"Sometimes the receiving signals are weak, and cease altogether. It would appear to me as if illuminated space possessed for electric waves a different refractive index as compared with dark space, and that these waves may, in passing from one medium to another, be refracted and reflected. In the same manner, perhaps, an isolated storm area in the path of the aerial signals may bring about a considerable weakening. Curiously enough, we have noticed that if stormy weather prevails over the Atlantic no perceptible interference with our signals is noticeable."

TRINIDAD, Colo., April 7.—Deputy Sheriff Tony Shelby was shot and instantly killed last night by an unknown man who sprang upon him as he was entering his home. Fred two shots at short range, jumped into a nearby rig and drove rapidly out of town. A posse was quickly formed and is now in pursuit.

Shelby had served several terms as deputy and was an officer during the strike troubles several years ago.

ALPINE MURDERER TO PRISON FOR LIFE

Tired of Shepherd's Life, He Planned to Kill First Tourist That Passed

GENEVA, April 6.—The shepherd, Joseph Michaud, who murdered Robert Munzinger, a young Swiss Alpinist, on the Col de Balme last August, was sentenced to life imprisonment at Martigny yesterday.

This crime was perhaps the most remarkable ever committed in the Alps. According to Michaud's confession, which was made with great calmness, he lay in wait on the Col de Balme for days, intending to murder the first unaccompanied tourist who came along.

He hoped the victim would be a rich Englishman or American, and his intention was to leave Switzerland with the proceeds of the robbery and go to America, where he hoped to make his fortune. Michaud explained that he had thought this out carefully while attending to his flock and he concluded that he would remain a shepherd boy to the end of his days unless he could make a coup by murdering and robbing a wealthy tourist.

"Many Englishmen passed," said Michaud in his confession, "but I had them all accompanied by guides or friends."

Finally Munzinger appeared. He is a young man of about 25 years of age, and descending to Chamont, when he was attempting an ascent of Mount Blanc. When near the summit of the Col de Balme, Michaud attacked him with a hunting knife and stabbed him to death.

Michaud robbed the body, stripped it of clothes and then buried it under some rocks. He forgot, however, to remove the traces of the crime, and guides who searched the precipices of the Col de Balme for a week finally discovered those of the murderer, which led to Michaud's body being discovered.

Michaud accused suspicion in a neighboring village by displaying a watch which afterward proved to be Munzinger's. When the shepherd was arrested, he confessed the crime, and the guides who searched the precipices of the Col de Balme for a week finally discovered those of the murderer, which led to Michaud's body being discovered.

"Sometimes the receiving signals are weak, and cease altogether. It would appear to me as if illuminated space possessed for electric waves a different refractive index as compared with dark space, and that these waves may, in passing from one medium to another, be refracted and reflected. In the same manner, perhaps, an isolated storm area in the path of the aerial signals may bring about a considerable weakening. Curiously enough, we have noticed that if stormy weather prevails over the Atlantic no perceptible interference with our signals is noticeable."

THE WINTER PORT RUSH IS APPARENTLY OVER

Not Much Freight Coming Along Now—Shipments of Hay and Cattle.

The winterport rush seems to be about over. The freight yards on the West Side are about cleaned out, and consignments are not coming along very rapidly. The season has so far been very successful, but the indications are that the next few weeks will be quiet. Steamers are now quite willing to take hay as filler, and considerable quantities are being shipped to the British market. Freight for this commodity is at a little, but are still such as permit of business being done at a profit, and as there is an abundance of hay here now, buyers are taking advantage of market conditions. The bottom also seems to have dropped out of the cattle business. There is a very slim demand on the other side and Canadian shipments have failed to practically nothing. The few cattle which are now going forward and which will go during the remainder of such time as the new stores building is prepared, on condition that if the exhibition hall is required for other purposes previous to time it will be vacated upon request.

The stores are today being moved to the exhibition building. There has been some slight confusion over this matter. The quarters heretofore occupied by the ordinance department having become too cramped, it was decided at Ottawa that a new building should be erected and tenders were called. Under the impression that work would be commenced last year, as it was hinted, permission was secured from the D. O. for the use of a portion of the drill hall. To this the stores and offices were removed and there the work has been carried on by the contractors in accordance with the contract for the latter and under its terms are given until October next to complete the structure. It will about commence operations. Meanwhile all the equipment not absolutely necessary during the drill season will remain stored in the exhibition hall while the office work of the ordinance department will be continued in the drill.

The new building is to be a most elaborate affair.

STORES DEPARTMENT ON THE MOVE AGAIN

Ordinance Travels Back to the Exhibition Hall—New Building Not Ready Until October.

The common council yesterday granted permission to the militia department to make use of a portion of the exhibition building for the storage of equipment until such time as the new stores building is prepared, on condition that if the exhibition hall is required for other purposes previous to time it will be vacated upon request.

SPECIAL COURT SITTINGS ARE UNNECESSARY

A special sitting of the Circuit Court was held this morning, Mr. Justice Gregory presiding.

J. B. M. Baxter read the naturalization papers of John August Carlson, Union street, formerly of Wastwick, and H. McAlpine, read those of Thomas Carlson, formerly of Oscarsham, Sweden.

Before adjourning the court His Honor stated that the sitting would cost the county $17 and he believed now, as he did when the act was passed, that the special sittings were unnecessary. Mr. McAlpine said that the fact that there was very little before the court seemed to show that few were fighting.

CHURCH UNION DISCUSSED AT PRESBYTERY MEETING

The Presbytery of St. John met in St. Andrew's Church this morning and was one of the largest meetings of the year. Rev. Mr. Gordon, the moderator, presided. The question of church union was presented by Rev. D. McDorum, convenor of the committee on this commission, which recommended that the report on Church Doctrine, be first submitted to the presbytery. He presented this report, which was as follows: "That we regret the length and variety of subject matter upon which the church thinks it necessary to dogmatize in the proposed creed as giving point to the reproach that ministers are debarr'd by creeds and texts from the full quest of truth."

This recommendation was ultimately withdrawn and it was agreed that the presbytery approve of the statement given by the Church Union committee.

The committee on Church polity, consisting of Rev. Messrs. McDorum and Baird, then reported that the statement approved by the union committee be upheld with one or two minor criticisms.

Mr. Gibson then submitted the report of the union committee on the ministry leaving the whole question open.

The presbytery adjourned to meet at 2.30 o'clock in the afternoon.
