Two Lads from San Antonio, Texas, Were Heroes of Yesterday's Classic.

DESPERATE FIGHT PUT UP BY GIANTS

Fortunes of Game Not With Americans and They Took Their Defeat Gracefully.

Special to The Standard.

New York, Oct. 12.—That old fiesta spirit made picturesque San Antonio stir out of its October calm and hum with revelry tonight—yours can wager your last pair of trousers on that. Its little baseball brother of New York in the National League—that half Mexican, half American metropolis which spreads itself about the serpentine course of the Limpit San Antonio. The training ground of the Giants, the home and birthplace of two of the titans who sent the Giants to the fore in the world series yesterday—Frank Snyder and Ross Young—the mission city stirs with every emotion which affects the followers of the Giants in this city. San Antonio is unqualifiedly, unreservedly, for the National League champion, and each afternoon two special wires carry the tidings of victory and defeat, glory and disappointment—and the accomplishments of Snyder and Young—down some of the city, where once a mere handball court an army. And today the news which flashed down to San Antonio was grand old news—news of a great triumph for the Giants news of a single and a steady Young which figured large in the scoring of one run—news of a terrific double by Snyder, which drove in the conquering tally and sent the Yankees down to stay down for the day.

All the Gorgeous Pomp the Far East Can Display Will Welcome Heir to Throne.

London, Oct. 12.—Thirty-six old phantas, all painted grey with green and vermilion around the eyes and which sent the young and steady Oriental splendor awaiting the Prince of Wales when he makes a tour of India later in the month. Messages from India indicate that the Prince of that country will visit with each other in welcoming the heir to British Crown with all the gorgeous pomp the East can display. The most interesting figure preparing to receive the Prince is Maharaja Bhopal, only Mohammedan ruler in the world. The Prince will review her crack lancers while Begum will receive the Prince from the strict seclusion of her royal tent. The state procession of painted elephants will be staged at Gwalior. Among others preparing for the Prince are the great Rajput chiefs, including Maharana of Mewar, Airy, capital of Udaipur, Maharaja of Jaipur, in his famous pink city, and "Lord of the Desert," Maharajah of Bikanir, who rules the Dominion of Sand.

Lord Astor To Sell "Treasure Palace"

Building Was Erected in 1894—Cost $1,000,000.

London, Oct. 12.—The palatial building near Victoria embankment erected for the late William Waldorf Astor changed his nationality, becoming a British subject and thus necessitating a fine office building in London to handle his estate, will be put up at auction within the next few days. The present Viscount Astor has decided he has no use for so sumptuous a mansion for the management of his wealth. The building—which always is referred to by the British press as "the treasure palace," cost the late Lord Astor $1,000,000 to construct in 1894. It has vestibule door of bronze, hall floors of rare marble and beautiful designs walls of carved oak, cedar and satinwood, arched ceilings of gold and floorcloths of silver and troy. The present Lord Astor has much simpler tastes than his father, largely due to the influence of his American wife, who is a member of Parliament and is known to the British public as "Nancy."

MUST CREATE BETTER FEELING AMONG IRISH

Consideration Serious Phases Cannot Continue Until Such Has Been Brought About.

TERMS OF TRUCE MUST BE CARRIED OUT

Sinn Feiners Urged to Use Influence With Irish Republican Army.

(United Press.) London, Oct. 12.—British Government has informed Irish peace delegation that the consideration of the more serious phases of the proposed Irish settlement will be impossible.

"Until a better feeling has been created throughout Ireland," United News is reliably informed. This declaration, made during tonight's session of subcommittee which is now concerned with a discussion of alleged breaches of truce, which the Government charges have been committed by Republican Army and which it declares, will jeopardize peace proceedings if continued.

Must Act Quickly. The Government intends—if it has not already done so, to suggest to Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries that an effective means of checking these outbreaks would be for Commander Michael Collins to issue private orders to the Irish Republican Army, and other elements in South Ireland, that the truce must be obeyed.

The Government points out that, as long as there are evidences of hostility it would be futile to open a discussion of the future political status of Ireland. It is believed that Collins will comply with the suggestion, although he may attempt to bargain for the release of 1,600 interned soldiers of the Republican Army. The Government is exceedingly loath to consent to a wholesale release of Irish prisoners until the prospects for a complete settlement are brighter.

Procedure Plans Ready. It is understood that Lloyd George has prepared plans for the future procedure of the conference which will be submitted to the delegates as soon as certain momentary vital decisions—excluding that of truce—have been reached.

Throughout the long preliminaries to the present conference, Irish leaders have held an effective check over their subordinates and thousands of men in the volunteer army. They argue that outbreaks in Ireland have not been fostered by their own men, but that Crown forces themselves have recently adopted a belligerent attitude toward the volunteers.

Further Griffith and Collins, it is believed, could find no valid argument against issuing an order to Irish army to observe the truce, particularly upon the assurance from British Government that Crown forces will be held in check.

DISHEARTENED WOMAN TAKES CHLOROFORM

Turned Down by Chicago Opera Company German Singer Attempts Suicide.

Chicago, Oct. 12.—Disheartened because she failed to secure recognition from the Chicago Opera Association, Charlotte Callis, singer of reputation in Germany, took two ounces of chloroform in effort to end her life here tonight. Two letters written to Harold McCormick, chief of George M. Spangler, manager, were left in her room at congress hotel where she took the poison. She resisted the services of a physician who attempted to administer antidote and declared she was "ready to die."

It was stated by hotel officials that she sat for hours in the office of Spangler waiting for him to "give her a chance."

Nothing is known of the woman who is 42 years old, except she told the hotel employees she was from Germany and was forced to leave there when the war interrupted her career.

Letter Carrier No Dray Horse

Decided to Burn All Catalogues, Advertising Matter and Circulars.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 12.—Letter Carrier 21, took a job as letter carrier here, but did not calculate on "leg" any longer. No sir, he considered "Real" letters all right for delivery, but when it came to advertising literature, catalogues and form letters he balked.

Federal authorities found him sending fire with 3,000 of this kind and arrested him. They also found 3,000 letters and parcel post packages in his room. He said the stuff was more nearly burned than carried.

PREMIER MEIGHEN FIRMLY AND QUIETLY CAPTURED CHARLOTTE CONSERVATIVES

Largest Auditorium in St. Stephen Filled to Capacity to Hear Canada's Premier.

HON. DR. BAXTER HOLDS AUDIENCE

In Admirable Address He Pictured the Benefits Accruing from Protective Tariff.

Special to The Standard.

St. Stephen, Oct. 12.—The Curling Rink was filled almost to capacity tonight to hear the issues of the political campaign presented by members of the Government. A. D. Gordon presided and with him on the platform were the speakers of the evening, Senator Todd, Thos. A. Hart, R. W. Grimmer, J. M. Flowering and others. The Calais City Band was present and children proceeded with many selections. The candidate, R. W. Grimmer, spoke briefly, and was followed by Hon. Dr. Baxter, who was in splendid form, and had the large audience with him all through an admirable address. He spoke of conditions in St. Stephen and in Calais, as they are plain to all who visit the border. On the Calais side there are no industries, because of the remoteness of the place from big centres, while in St. Stephen there are many industries that would be endangered by any reduction of the Canadian tariff, and would be wiped out as those in Calais have been. In closing he told of some matters that had been called to his attention during his visit to the border, such as the need for better steam connection between the mainland and the islands of Charlotte county. He would promise that these would be carefully investigated and a possible remedy applied. He would not promise "Yes, yes" to every request made, but he thought that the assurance he had given would be of more value.

UNITED STATES DOES NOT SEEK TO HAVE THE WORLD STACK ITS COMPLETE ARMAMENT

Hopes by the Arms Conference to Effect a Plan to Stay the Gigantic Building Plans Contemplated by Leading Powers of the World.

(United Press.) Washington, Oct. 12.—American arms negotiators have had their first signal practice in anticipation of the International meet opening here November 11.

In a three and a half hour conference at the State Department today Secretary Hughes, Ellin Root, Senator Underwood and Senator Lodge studied the diplomatic plays prepared by the State Department, War and Navy experts and were familiarized with the mechanical outline to be utilized in carrying through the negotiations.

Basel Milas was elected Secretary of the American delegation, each negotiator to select his own private secretary. Secretary Hughes was decided upon as official spokesman of the group and, save for what he might give out, silence was agreed upon as the centre of other delegates. With the holding of this first conference of the "Big Four," the American purposes in the arms conference look on a definite form. The meeting was accompanied by an official issuance at the White House of a letter written by President Harding, designed to make one thing absolutely clear.

The American Government did not seek and, indeed, would not sanction "Disarmament." This point was emphasized also to the negotiators, necessitated, it is explained, by growing misapprehension, both in this country and abroad, that the United States would have the world stack all its armament. What the American Government would like to see effected is a stay in the gigantic building programmes contemplated by leading powers, and means for diminution of the present naval and military establishments, always with due regard for defence requirements of each nation.

Must Be Understandings. Because armament reduction, in large measure, is contingent upon the clearing up of sources of friction in the Far East, there must be an international understanding reached—among the leading powers, built upon a reassertion of the principle of the open door, and accompanied by definite measures for fulfilling the undertakings reached, and practical application of the economic principles to be used in bringing about an agreement, both as regards the Far East and arms limitation. It is the purpose of this Government to recognize the right and need of Japan to peace.

Whatever might be done in this direction, however, would of necessity have to await the action by Congress on a measure advocated by President Harding which would give Secretary-Treasurer Mellon full authority in disposition of foreign loans. President Harding is anxious to have this authority granted by the present session in order to have the necessary power available in event he wishes to use it. The American negotiators will meet again next week to go further into more detailed data bearing on questions to come up for disposal at the Conference. The ground was gone over thoroughly, however, today, it was stated, and the general objectives of this Government may be stated now to be well understood by those who will seek to attain them.

Knocked Out Three N. Y. Policemen

Fourteen Year Old Boy in Turn Knocked Out the Knocker With Bat Stick.

New York, Oct. 12.—Sam Stern, popularly known as Gollath of Grand street, is 4 feet, 4 inches tall, and weighs 295 pounds. He is a butcher, and said he could lick any policeman on the New York force, and did succeed in knocking out three of them.

Then while the three were lying in the gutter listening to the birdies sing and waiting for the ambulance, a fourteen year old boy, with a baseball bat, stepped up behind Gollath and hit him over the head, after which the three policemen recovered sufficiently to take Gollath to the police station, but without troubling to find on the name of the fourteen year old David who overthrew the Giant. At the station they took 34 stitches in Gollath's head.

Lord Dawson pleaded for "more frank, more courageous viewpoint" and one more accord with "reality" on all matters of sex, and added that "Birth control has come to stay."

Upholds Tenets of Ku Klux Klan

Its Founder Goes Before Committee to Defend Order After Others Condemn.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Ku Klux Klan as pictured to House Rules Committee by its founder and "Imperial Wizard," Colonel William J. Simmons, of Atlanta, is an organization dedicated to promotion of patriotism and brotherhood among men, charity, benevolence and other virtues. It is not, he declared most emphatically, "a gigantic swindle" for enrichment of its organizers, nor is it anti-Catholic anti-Jewish or anti-Negro. It does not countenance lawlessness nor does it terrorize citizens he averred.

Simmons took the stand before the committee Wednesday to defend the Klan after others had condemned it in unsparring terms.

Women in Paris Outnumber Men Since The War

Paris, Oct. 12.—Parisian women greatly outnumber the men. They are 65,947 women in one arrondissement alone, where the men number only 47,418. This preponderance is especially manifest among persons between 20 and 39 years of age where the war also made such gaps in the ranks of the men.

"THINK OF ME AS A FRIEND" WOULD BE LAST WISH OF CLEMENCEAU, THE TIGER

Moulins-sur-Allier, France, Oct. 12.—"I should like before I disappear to formulate as a last wish that everybody should think of me as a friend," said M. Clemenceau, the War Premier, at the funeral of the soldiers' memorial at his birthplace. "It would be my best reward. I have never changed. Life has taught me much. I finished by admitting that certain of my ideas cannot be placed on the same plane as formerly, but I always recognized that there is nothing higher than the brotherhood of all Frenchmen."

FOR WOMEN

What About The Victorian Woman

Would She Be Found Attractive Today?—Modern Women Have Wider Interests.

If the modern woman were recast in the mould of the Victorian woman, would you find her as appealing in that character as the one in which you know her now?

With all her faults the modern woman is a frank, natural, spontaneous, unselfish, and thoroughly human being. One may have a certain respect for the character of the Victorian woman, with her conventional, self-restraint, but one loves the blithe, open-hearted modern woman.

The Victorian woman had the same feelings, impulses and passions as the woman of our day, but she differed from the modern woman in that she would not admit her humanity. Secretly she might have wept for joy over the passing of an abominable husband, but she would have worn the deepest mourning for him, and she would have talked about how "dear Jean" liked this or disliked that. She was more likely to be her children's meek than their mother. She did not sympathize rather than a sympathetic or affectionate parent. She might have felt her duty toward them keenly, but she seldom would have brought herself to kissing them—it was hardly done. There was something not quite proper in that era about kisses, even when they were a mother's. She did not join in the company of middle age and later of venerability.

The Victorian woman was too much concerned about doing conventional things to be a very amusing or entertaining companion. After her first youth she thought more about being genteel than attractive. She was even careful not to appear to be too happy, lest her exuberance of spirit might savor of vulgarity. If she were a perfect lady, her health never was so good that she could not swoon at the proper time and place.

The interests of the modern woman are wider, she reads more, and thinks less of personal appearance. She is less inclined to remark of friends or acquaintances, "How can she afford that?" for it is no concern of hers what somebody else is wearing, happily with somebody else can buy, if she sees her with somebody else's husband she does not jump to the conclusion that they must be in love. She is more forgiving of human frailties. She is more frank about her own faults and little vices. Modern woman has revolted against the plain, prosaic texture of her life as it was lived in that earlier period. She demands variety, a new thrill, a fresh experience, even at middle age. She has gone in for soft frills, which once meant forgetting every sense of womanly feeling and propriety. She steps lightly in a short skirt, and enjoys an unprecedented freedom, social, industrial and political. When she is very good, she does not make goodness seem hard and repellent. There is an eager vitality, a joyous animation, a bright radiance about her that is delightful. Her attitude towards life is at once tolerant and humorous.

SELECTED RECIPES

Fishcakes Made From Canned Salmon.
One can of salmon, one pint of mashed potato, one egg, two tablespoons of milk, drain the salmon and remove the skin and bones; mash with a fork. If cold mashed potato is used, heat it over the fire with the milk. Add the fish to the potato and stir over hot water until thoroughly mixed; if too dry, add a little extra milk. Season to taste. Remove from the fire and add the egg, beaten light and the butter. Put in shape in a mixing spoon on a dry in deep fat. Drain on soft paper.

Baked Halibut.
A thick piece of halibut, weighing about two pounds, one-fourth pound of fat salt pork, one medium-sized onion, one-half teaspoon of salt, three-fourths cup of cracker crumbs, three tablespoons of butter and one-fourth teaspoon of paprika. Cut the pork in thin slices and place one-half of it in a shallow baking tin, remove the black skin of the fish by dipping in boiling water and then scrape it off above and lay it on the pork, then lay the fish on it. Put the remainder of the pork on the fish and dredge well with flour. Bake in a moderately hot oven one-half hour. Melt the butter, stir the crumbs into it, add the salt and paprika; spread this over the fish and bake fifteen minutes longer. Remove to a hot plate and garnish with slices of lemon cut in fancy shapes and chopped parsley.

Fine Sour Milk Doughnuts.
Two small cups of sugar creamed with one teaspoonful of butter, the yolks of two eggs, one cupful of sour milk, one-half teaspoonful of baking soda dissolved in a little water and added to the milk, one teaspoonful of baking powder sifted with the flour (be sure and use both the baking soda and baking powder).

Use grated nutmeg, vanilla or lemon for flavoring and mix in flour enough to make a soft dough. (About one quart) Flour your board, knead your dough a little and roll into a sheet one-half inch thick, cut out with doughnut cutter and fry in deep, smoking hot fat.

The dough should be soft, yet stiff enough to handle the cakes without breaking. These doughnuts will be soft, light and fine-grained.

Are really fairy processions pretending to be trees.

I know a magic woodland with wild winds drifting by,
And pools among the peat heath that mirror back the sky,
And there in golden bracken the trout that zests and turns
Are really little people pretending to be fern.

I wander in the woodland, I walk the magic moor;
Some times I meet with fairies, some times I'm not so sure;
And oft I gaze and wonder among the green and gold
If I am not a child again—pretending to be old.

Baby's Parentage Remains Unknown

Waif, Adopted by Clergyman, Died Unclaimed by Its Mother.

New York, Oct. 12.—Death just announced today to the public which the Rev. Percy Slickney Grant had been making for the future of Faith Willard, the baby girl found abandoned on the steps of the rectory of the Episcopal Church of the Ascension last May when only a few days old. The tiny waif died of pneumonia with the secret of her parentage still unrevealed. Until she fell sick last week, she had lived in the rectory under the care of Dr. Grant's housekeeper. He baptised her Faith Willard, a family name, and became her god-father. She was visited almost daily at the hospital where she was taken, by Dr. Grant and Mrs. Rita D. Lydig, the recent announcement of whose engagement to the clergyman provoked much discussion in Episcopal Church circles. Mrs. Lydig obtained divorces from W. B. Stokes and Philip Lydig.

Five Great Acts At Opera House

Mid-Week Bill Continues to Make Big Impression—New Programme Friday is Banner One.

In the new bill at the Opera House the management have assembled five splendid offerings, every act is of a very high standard, and has been the cause of much favorable comment from those who have seen the show.

There is still another opportunity for lovers of refined vaudeville to see this programme, at the regular matinee or the evening performance today.

Tom Kelly is by far the best Irish comedian seen here in years. When he begins to belittle the conversations of a Mr. Murphy and a Mr. O'Brien he sets the house a roaring. Countess Verona, a very likeable gypsy, entertains the audience with an instrumental known as the Ombaloon. O'Connor and McCormack contribute an artistic dancing act, which is easily the best seen here for some time. Parde and Archer, amuse with patter, song and dance. Bell and Eva, present a trampolining offering, that sets the audience in an uproar of applause.

On Friday there will be a complete change of programme, with a big variety of offerings as follows: Lollipop, "Aid His Pack of Cards," comedy talkative magician, Dupree and Dupree, in a sensational cycling act. Dell and Gliss, "Comedy eccentric musical Comedians," Tommy Lonergan, singing and talking comedian, Kincaid and Kincaid, in a comedy ventriloquial offering. The picture programme will include a Halliwell Boy Comedy and the British and Canadian News Weekly.

Societies represented, besides those mentioned, included the Big Sister Association, the Federation for Community Service, the Neighborhood Workers' Association, the Women's Liberal and the Women's Conservative Association, the Jewish Women's Societies, the Home and School Council, the Women's College Hospital Board, the Catholic Women's Society, the Women's Guild, the Red Cross and many others.

UTILIZING WORN OUT TABLECLOTHS
Worn-out damask tablecloths may be cut up to make picnic hutchcloths, and tray cloths for breakfast or invalid trays that go upstairs with meals. It does not pay to put a deal of work in hemming or fraying or scalloping on these cloths of old, soft linen and hems may be turned and run with darned stitch in two shades of wool, making a smart and pretty finish. Squares cut from old tablecloths also make good napkins for the nursery table, or bits for the little people. And left-over strips should be cut and wound into bandages for emergency use in household.

The sewing wears a mantilla when she goes outdoors; even the Spanish girls who have gone to England or France to be educated fall back into the mantilla habit the minute they return to their own country. And no wonder—for was ever a more becoming headgear devised?

SOFTEN THE LINE AT THE ELBOW
Elbows are rarely pretty things—except in youthful years when all contours are soft and curves are plump. The older elbow, if thin is apt to be angular and pointed, and the fat elbow shows the end of the joint in a hard or red lump embedded in a cushion of flesh.

In many cases this year, when all sleeves are short and many sleeves are loose and flowing—or so transparent that they show the arm plainly all the way up—the elbow should have special attention. Cold cream should be rubbed in freely and frequently to soften the skin over the joint which may show inclination to form a callous spot; and the elbow should be massaged to smooth out wrinkles. In a few days the wrinkles form over the joint in the dimples that were so lovely in earlier years. These little wrinkles are evident when the arm is straightened out, never when it is bent at the elbow. The most becoming sleeve is one neither above nor below the elbow, but exactly meeting it, and with a little ruffle or fringe falling in soft effect.

FRIGHTFULLY BURNT. This phrase issued to epitomize the conditions which exist throughout our country. Every hour of the day and night THE TORCH OF CARELESSNESS brings destruction to somebody's property in New Brunswick.

Two out of every three fires occur in our homes. No wonder the housing problem is acute.

Eight out of every ten fires are preventable.

Fire waste is an economic crime, caused principally by carelessness and indifference.

Admits Killing Wife

Policeman Threw Her Over Bridge in Fit of Temper.

Detroit, Oct. 12.—Norman F. Rademacher confessed tonight, according to Allen W. Kent, assistant prosecutor, that he murdered his wife last Thursday by throwing her over the railing of the Belle Isle Bridge into the Detroit River, where she was drowned. The act, Rademacher said, followed a quarrel while he and his wife were out walking in the park. He had been held on a charge of murder since Mrs. Rademacher's body was recovered on Saturday.

Earlier in the evening Rademacher, former policeman, had been identified by three men who were fishing from the bridge and saw the woman thrown into the water.

"I threw her off the bridge. I am ready to tell the truth," Rademacher told the police.

A stenographer was then called and a detailed statement taken, in which the prisoner said he quarrelled with his wife when she expressed a desire to go out among friends more than she had been doing. Rademacher added that he was sorry for his act, and ascribed it to an "uncontrollable temper."

IN AN OLD-FASHIONED TOWN.
There's an old-fashioned home in an old-fashioned street,
In a quaint little old-fashioned town;
There's a street where the cobblestones harness the feet,
As it struggles uphill and then down;
And, though to and fro through the world I must go,
My heart while it beats in my breast,
Where'er I may roam, to that old-fashioned home,
Will fly like a bird to its nest.

In that old-fashioned home in that old-fashioned street,
Dwell a dear little old-fashioned pair;
I can see their two faces so tender and sweet,
And I love every wrinkle that's there.

I love every mouse in that old-fashioned house
In the street that runs up hill and down,
Each stone and each stick, every cobbler and brick,
In that quaint little old-fashioned town.

Brilliant Society Event Staged At St. Stephen

Youngest Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Todd Becomes Bride of Col. Brown.

St. Stephen, N. B., Oct. 12.—A brilliant society event was staged this afternoon in Trinity Episcopal Church in which the happy principals were Miss Mildred Bolton Todd, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Todd, of St. Stephen, and Lieut. Col. J. Carleton Brown, of the British Royal Engineers in Constantinople, Turkey, son of Mr. M. E. and Mrs. David Brown, of St. Stephen.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the officiating clergyman and the assembly embraced the youth and society leaders of the St. Croix with many guests from out of town. The church was profusely and beautifully adorned for the occasion in autumnal foliage and bloom.

The happy couple are enjoying a brief honeymoon but will return here Friday and leave Saturday for Montreal whence they will sail on the Empress of France en route to Constantinople.

Eat Less And Take Salts For Kidneys

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

The American men and women must guard constantly against kidney trouble, because we eat too much and all our food is rich. Our blood is filled with uric acid which the kidneys strive to filter out, they weaken from overwork, become sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and the result is kidney trouble, bladder weakness and a general decline in health.

When your kidneys feel like lumps of lead; your back hurts or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment or you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night; if you suffer with sick headache or dizzy, nervous spells, acid stomach, or you have rheumatism when the weather is bad, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys; to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water beverage, and belongs in every home, because nobody can make a mistake by having a good kidney flusher any time.

THE STANDARD'S SPORTING SECTION

Kilbane On Top; Will Stay There Featherweight King Proves He is Still the Master of His Division.

We take our hats to John Kilbane, featherweight champion of the world. Cleveland John who it was thought might have been carrying around a much that he was slipping, and likely to have his crown knocked off his head, showed everybody—and showed a plenty—when he knocked out Danny Frush at Cleveland the other day, that he is head and shoulders above the younger fellows who aspire to his title. Frush was conceded to be as good as any of the fellows who are battling in the featherweight division, and by knocking Danny into dreamland in seven rounds after a sizzling contest, Kilbane demonstrated that he still belongs on the championship scene.

He holds Out For Big Cash. No one who knows anything about pugilists ever would say that Johnny Kilbane lacked class. Most of us fellows who do our punching on the sparring, however, did find it difficult to refrain from taking a shot at Johnny because the champion "stuck out" for big old and refused to meet likely youngsters—Frush was one of them—thoroughly gaining the distaste of those identified with boxing and the fans who follow the sport.

But Kilbane showed, by brushing Frush out of the way, that it would not be at all hard for him to regain the popularity he held until a couple of years back, when he instituted the policy of hooking the big money or remaining idle. It is ever and anon suspicion that he had gone back, his victory over Frush should convince Kilbane that his long layoff hasn't dulled his speed or knocked the kick out of his famous right hand punch.

Can Beat Them All. It is our opinion that Kilbane can beat any featherweight in the world today, and he needs to do just one thing, and that is, meet all opponents just as rapidly as the matchmakers line 'em up for him, to hook back into the popular esteem in which he formerly was held.

The Cleveland boxing commission has ruled Kilbane out of the ring at Cleveland because of his dictatorial attitude regarding the selection of judges to assist the referee in the Frush contest. When the names of two newspaper writers were drawn from a hat (for jury duty) to act as judges, Kilbane quickly lodged a protest, basing his opposition to the men named because neither was a resident of Cleveland.

The commission claims that Kilbane agreed to this method of selecting the judges, and bases the suspension on his refusal to go through with his agreement.

IN GAME TEEMING WITH HEART THROBBING INTEREST GIANTS WIN BY SCORE OF TWO TO ONE

Continued from Page 1. Lucky Seventh For Giants. So they fought into the seventh, that lucky seventh, for the Giants and the altogether luckless seventh, for the American League's standard bearers. In their half the Yankees got two hits—but the famed Frank Baker on third and the dangerous Willie Sotham on second, with two out. But May could not drive past Rawlings, and while thousands went stark mad, a snappy throw to Kelly retired the side, Yankee hearts slipped a beat or two and then pounded in disappointment while the Huggins clan went into the field for an eventual session.

That history making Giant half of the inning opened awfully enough for Mays and his support. The straining, over anxious Kelly was easy for Peckinpaugh. The equally over anxious, though phlegmatic looking Irish Mound, smiled at his mother and father in a near by box, then threw a smile across the grassy reaches to his brother in right field. And then he struck out. The game was dashed along to the ninth, and still it was a tie. Which of the two pitchers would be first to break? which line of defence would be first to snap under the strain?

Victory Assured. In a few moments the question was answered. Rawlings cracked a sharp grounder to Ward. Those who were a little too previous let loose a shout of relief for what they expected to be the third out. But the ball did not sound altogether true. The impact behind it was not without power. Rawlings did fiddle off eight balls, and into that grounder went all the frenzy of his disappointment. Ward let the ball get away from him—and the Giants were saved. With Snyder, home run hero of the day before, coming up to bat the outlook was not an altogether rosy one for the Yankees.

They seemed to sense impending disaster. Their head bowed low, Ward went back to his position to steal himself for another try. But he was spared. Snyder threw everything he had in his powerful swing and propelled the ball into deep center, while Rawlings scooted home with that great big run. Douglas fanned, but it no longer mattered. With Phil going the way he was the old tally looked truly monumental. Its proportions were destined to be staggering.

"I have hit balls into the left field bleachers, and I have hit triples but do not think that I ever struck at a ball better," Where had Douglas shouted "I'll say so Buddy," and the pair howled with delight. Howled until it seemed as if the rock of the old clubhouse would come down on their heads.

How The Rival Leaders Assembled Their Players. Exactly four years have elapsed since the Giants took part in a world's series, and only two of the players who took part in the battle between the Giants and the White Sox in 1917 remain to engage in another clash for championship honors. The machine which was good enough to earn a place in the big game of four years back has all but disappeared from New York baseball circles. One player—George Burns—has survived the sweeping changes made by Manager McHale while another—Harry Salles—went on his way to another club, only to return. Salles, by the way, had the good fortune to be with another pitcher, contender during his absence from the Giants.

Basketball Teams Moncton Seniors Are Working Hard Request A Game

W. R. Walsh, coach of the city's senior rugby team is in receipt of a letter from the manager of Moncton's senior team requesting a game on the 22nd or 29th of the month. Letters have also been received from the Mt. Allison team.

No definite arrangements have been made as yet for future games. The local boys took the trouble to procure themselves a regulation English rugby football, somewhat of a rarity in local sporting stores, which usually stock the American ball. The Albion sphere was lost by the boys while in Fredericton last week, and practices have been held up in the meanwhile awaiting the procuring of another ball.

The teams slated for the Senior division of the league are the St. John's Y. M. C. A. and Y. M. C. I. L. The Trojans, and the Alerts. Practically every team will place the same line-up in the field as last year, although a number of likely substitutes are also ready to take up the game. In view of the fact that all the teams will be provided with seasoned players, experienced in the game and in team work, basketball this season should be played with far more science and the game should be correspondingly far better, than ever before.

There is some talk of curtailing the number of teams entered in the inter-city league from eight, to six or four teams, in this way it is thought play will be improved as the teams entered will be more nearly equal in strength, playing ability.

The teams dropping out will be absorbed by a Turin League which is being mooted, and which will comprise the teams of all the churches in the city. In the fall, the game of the Turin League games will be played on the gym floors of their respective churches.

Failed To Show Up. S.S. Manchester Merchant, St. John, Wednesday. To the Sporting Editor of the Standard. Sir,—The above vessel arrived in this port on Monday last and almost before the ropes were made fast a gentleman of this we are convinced, as you will remember, came aboard and challenged us to a game at football, without any previous practice, and with no knowledge of each other's play.

Half an hour elapsed and no team arrived, and the only conclusion the team and onlookers can come to is that either the famous city team were afraid of having their record tarnished, or that the rain had made the ground a little too moist and muddy, making them afraid to dirty their attire.

Interesting Event At Amherst

Special to The Standard. Amherst, N. S., Oct. 12.—Last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Webb, 122 Church street, a pretty wedding was solemnized when their third daughter, Gladys Myrtle, was united in marriage to W. Merrill Johnstone, of Montreal. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. M. Hyatt, of Sackville, assisted by Rev. Dr. Hart, of Amherst.

The bride, charming in ivory chapeau draped in venetian lace with court train and bridal veil of tulle and silver lace, caught with orange blossom, descended the stairs on the arm of her father, wearing the requisite streamers of smiles and tulle, formed a guard of honor through which the bride passed on entering the drawing room.

Many handsome guests were in evidence, among those being that of the bride's mother, who wore black satin with jet trimming and a corsage bouquet of orchids. Immediately after the ceremony D. Webster Fraser read the bride's "Blessure."

The bride and groom amid showers of confetti and the good wishes of the scores of friends, took their departure for Upper Canadian dunes, the bride travelling in a tailored suit of navy blue and sable furs. Mr. and Mrs. Johnstone will take up their residence in Montreal after an extended honeymoon trip.

Such pictures as "The Old Nest" make people realize what a power for good the moving picture industry can be given credit for a production of very high merit.

Elimination Race Was Postponed. Schooners Prevented from Racing on Account of Light Wind and Fog.

Special to The Standard. Gloucester, Mass. Oct. 12.—A light sou'wester wind in which a self-respecting Gloucester fisherman would want to sail a race and there was a heavy fog which hid the sign posts along the 40-mile race track, so the American elimination race to select a North Atlantic fisherman's cup defender was called off until tomorrow when it is hoped the weather will be more propitious.

All five entrants were at the starting line waiting for the gun when the race was postponed and they will be ready again on Thursday when the gun probably really will go off at 10 o'clock, as a consensus of opinion among mariners here is for an ideal racing day.

PLAN FOR RUSSIAN INVASION WITH U. S. STIRS BERLIN

Nationalist Press Doubts if Ludendorff's Proposal, as Outlined, Will Attract French or British, Despite Bolshevik Menace.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—The German press comments generally on the interview with Gen. Erich Ludendorff which appeared in the New York Herald, copies of which have just been received here. In this interview General Ludendorff proposed American participation in a proposed military invasion of Russia. He characterized the Bolsheviks as a menace to world peace. The German nationalist press greets the Ludendorff proposal sympathetically, but suspects that he has failed to understand the psychology of the French people and of the German workers when he expressed the belief that they would join in such an undertaking against Bolshevik Russia. These nationalist newspapers express the opinion that Bolshevik propaganda among German workmen has been more extensive than the one-time German Quartermaster-General imagines. They declare that the British, who are already doing business with the

CHINA WANTS LOAN OF MONEY DUE THE STATES

Delegates Have New Solution of Problem of Allied Debt to America.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 12.—Representatives of the Chinese delegation to the arms conference who arrived today offered a new solution of the problem of the allied debt to the United States. Their suggestion is that the deferred interest on the debt be used for the purpose of making internal improvements in China, either as a direct investment or as a loan to the Chinese Government. This advance representation of the Chinese delegation included Dr. P. K. C. Tsao, Chinese Minister to Cuba, who will act as the secretary-general; Y. S. Tso, counselor of the Minister of Foreign Affairs; Dr. H. F. Hsiang, member of the Finance Department of the Peiping Government; S. M. Chang, Y. L. Tsang, P. S. Tsau and S. K. Wu, all of the Havana Chinese Legation. Their argument is that the question of the Allied debt is almost certain to enter the conference despite efforts on the part of this government to keep it out. They point out that there are two schools of financiers here, one advocating cancellation of the debt and another advocating tax to the allied governments to be made to pay. In Europe it is believed the enforced payment of the debt no matter how long deferred will delay Europe's rehabilitation which is a prime prerequisite of an economic return to normal. The Chinese delegates say China's debt is one billion dollars, and that while she is short of money, she is a "going concern," and if her political integrity is assured her ability to pay cannot be questioned. Use of the interest on the Allied debt, now approximately three years in arrears and amounting to $500,000 annually, for the purpose of building up the railroads, canals and other internal necessities of China, would result in large contracts for machinery and supplies in Europe and the United States, it is argued. That would reinvigorate employment and stabilize industry. China, they say, is a virgin territory, and use of the interest on the Allied debt in China would start the immediate development of a field which otherwise must wait until Europe pulls itself up by its own bootstraps. They also point out that the Allied Powers could not well refuse to repay this interest if they realized it was to benefit some other country other than the collector and would be an investment in which all would benefit. Whether the obligations would be a debt from China to the United States could be determined in the conference, they say. It was impossible to obtain any official reaction to this suggestion, but sentiment among Administration leaders renders consideration of any such proposal unlikely. The Chinese delegation has engaged 180 rooms at the Cairn Hotel, giving an advance suggestion of the manner in which the Washington hotels will be filled during the arms conference. Complete arrangements have not been made, the plans being made secretly. The Japanese have engaged several floors at the Shoreham Hotel, and also have the old Blaine house at P and Twentieth streets, N. W. The British have engaged several floors at the La Fayette Hotel, and the French will be housed at the Willard. Nothing is known about the housing arrangements for the Italian delegation.

Wooden ships are reported to be practically unobtainable in Europe, where the wooden steamer Elrini, which originally cost $500,000 to build was recently sold in Cardiff for $4,325. This vessel was built in Canada and is said to have made few voyages, with only one trip across the Atlantic.

The New Athena.

Col. W. J. Gear, vice-president of The Robert Reford Company, Limited visited the new Anchor-Donaldson Line Athena a few days ago at the yards of the Fairfield Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, Limited, at Govan on the Clyde. He was impressed with the quality of the steamer, which will have accommodation for 600 cabin and 1,100 third class passengers. The builders have promised the steamer for the first of April next at the latest.

Ship Model Moved

Today will see the removal of the big model of the White Star liner Olympic from the window of C. W. Lindsay, Limited, to the rotunda of the Windsor Hotel. The model was to have been moved yesterday, but unexpected trouble developed in connection with the moving of the plate glass case. The sides of the case are twenty feet long and said to be the largest single pieces of plate glass in Canada, necessitating careful handling.—Gazette.

Notables on Empress

The incoming Canadian Pacific Empress of France has among her prominent passengers the Marchioness of Donegal, Countess Annesley, Lady Wolseley, Sir George Lawson, Col. Vaughan Morgan, and Mrs. Anna Pavlova. Mrs. Pavlova is returning after an absence of four years and is bringing a company of fifty dancers with her on the Empress of France, including Lauren Novikoff, Victoria Krigher, Ivan Cluine, Herbert Stowits, Simon Karavafoff, Hilda Butsova, Marie Stuart, and Messrs. Danbowski, Pianovski, Valjanski, Zalewski, Barle. She will appear in Montreal next week.

Many Booking For The Holidays

There is already heavy booking of passage for the Christmas sailings of the Canadian Pacific steamships to England and Scotland, and it is expected that the bookings from the western provinces will be even heavier than in previous years from present indications. The majority of these are made by farmers who will spend several months in the Old Country. The first steamship to leave will be the Tunisian, which will also make the first trip from the winter port of St. John this year. She will leave for Glasgow on December 3, and will be followed on December 9 by the Metagana, bound for Liverpool. The Empress of France also for Liverpool, will sail on December 13.

This year, owing to the combined service of the Canadian Pacific and the Navigazione Generale Italiana, an opportunity is offered to go to Italy direct from Canada in time for the Christmas season. The Cassia will leave St. John on December 7 for Naples and Genoa.

The final departure from Montreal this year will be the Corsican on November 26, bound for Havre, Southampton and Antwerp. The Empress of Britain will leave Quebec the same day for Liverpool.

Old Steamer Given

New Lease of Life

Patriarch of Canadian Pacific Coastal Fleet Has New Timbers.

The old steamer Charmer, patriarch of the Canadian Pacific coastal fleet, is now having her timbers renewed and strengthened at Victoria, B. C., in preparation for further operations. A veteran of close to thirty-five years in the company's service, successive winters have passed her lightly by, and today, she is as good as ever, and a faster vessel than when in the early days of steam navigation, she contended with the Princess Louise for speed laurels.

Her rival has long since been out of commission, but was succeeded by the greater Louise, however the stout old Charmer seems as good today as in the heyday of her youth and ready to give the new Louise a struggle for endurance on the coast.

The completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway to the coast brought the Charmer into existence as a connecting link between the terminals at Vancouver and the United States ports. First known as the Premier, the steamer arrived at Victoria from San Francisco, where she was built, in 1857, and was immediately placed in the coast-wise service. The most far-reaching and interesting event in the Premier's long life occurred on October 8, 1852, when she collided with the steamship Willamette at the entrance to Puget Sound. The bow of the big boiler struck the Premier on the port side, just forward of the pilot-house, and crashed through into the smoking room and cabin, instantly killing three passengers and seriously injuring about twenty others, one of whom died later. This Premier was sunk by the collision, but was afterwards raised and restored to service.

Miss Olga Netherland, who some years ago was famous as a stage star, is now in politics in England, where she is a candidate for the House of Commons.

If the bill now before the Uruguay Congress becomes a law that country will have the distinction of being the first South American nation to grant women equal rights.

Loss To The Art

World of Canada

Ontario Artist Was Justly Celebrated for Sincere Work.

Robert Holmes, president of the Ontario Society of Artists, thus writes of the passing of Mrs. Mary H. Reid, one of Canada's artists:—

In the recent death of Mrs. Mary H. Reid, Canada loses a sincere and successful interpreter of some of the most pleasing aspects of nature. Mrs. Reid was the wife of G. A. Reid, R. C. A. O. S. A., President of the Ontario College of Art. She studied in the School of Design and the Academy of Fine Arts, Philadelphia, and later in Paris under Dagnan-Bouveret and Courtois. She was elected a member of the Ontario Society of Artists in 1887 and an Associate of the Royal Canadian Academy in 1896, and was a regular contributor to the exhibitions of these societies for more than thirty years. The National Gallery and other public collections contain important examples of her painting, but for the most part her work—usually landscapes, flower studies and still-life subjects in oil and pastel—was of smaller size and of a kind that finds its way into private collections and the homes of the people.

In some considerable degree the workings of art and of religion are not dissimilar. Great art galleries serve a high purpose as do great churches and great sermons, but it seems to be the art that is taken into the more intimate relationships of life and becomes a part of the everyday associations in a sort of personal way that really counts for most. The still small voice seems to play its part in art as in religion or morals. Of this kind was the art of Mrs. Reid. It was essentially beautiful in a most persuasive way and its interpretation of beauty seems to have been developed largely, perhaps mainly, through an exquisitely subtle treatment of color and tone relations to which she must have been exceedingly sensitive. In the work that she left us, and in the memory of a very charming personality also, are included a goodly heritage.

As one of the cars was a reconstructed one, the bumper was not of the same height as the other car, and instead of the two bumpers striking, the wheels of the first car struck the blow of each bumper. Three Automobiles Badly Damaged
Fire in Wm. Johnston's Garage, Charlotte St., Caused by Short Circuit.

Shortly after last midnight fire was discovered in the garage at 64 Charlotte street on the Eastern side, between King Square and Princess St. An alarm was sent in from box 24 and the fire department quickly responded. There was a large amount of smoke and when the doors were opened it was found that the fire was in the rear of the garage near the repair shop, and the blaze was coming from the top of three automobiles. The fire was mostly on the tops of the three cars and they were badly damaged. William Johnston, who conducts the garage, in the building owned by Charles Cameron, informed the Standard reporter that he and an assistant had only left the building a short time when they heard the alarm for fire. He said that the fire started in a car owned in Roxbury and the number of the car is 7973, and the fire must have started from a short circuit in the battery. This car was considerably damaged in the interior as well as having the top burned off. The other cars which were mostly destroyed on the top are 12547, an Oldsmobile owned by George Banks, and Don Sullivan's Hudson, No. 1169.

From the blaze on the tops of the three cars the fire caught the ceiling and spread to the floor, but

First of Winter Busses Arrive

Brought from St. Stephen Yesterday—Are Being Equipped by Haley Brothers.
The first of the Union Busses equipped with a winter top arrived in the city at about 8.30 last evening from St. Stephen. The bus was piloted from St. Stephen by Otis Lingley and F. A. Campbell, president of the Union Bus Co.

The new bodies are a decided improvement on the old type now in use. The new bodies are made of wood with a wainscoting about three feet in height topped off with a row of windows which run around the whole four sides. The standing space inside the car is somewhat over six feet, two seats run down each side, with a wide aisle between. The seating capacity is estimated at twenty-five. Entrance is gained from the side, the door being placed near the driver's seat. A rear door has also been provided as an emergency exit.

Push buttons are placed between each window, as in the ordinary street car. The new bus is yet to be equipped with a folding step, and some automobile equipment, but it is thought it will be ready for service by the first of the week. The winter tops were built by Haley Bros. of St. Stephen. They expect to turn out three busses with winter tops per week. The car that arrived last night, and two that are in St. Stephen at present, were received direct from the Oldsmobile plant in Toronto. The busses now in operation will be sent down to the border town to be equipped with the winter tops as soon as they are replaced by those already so equipped.

The Union Bus Co. plans to have a fleet of seven cars in operation when all have been equipped. The windows in the car let down inside, so that they may be transformed into open cars with the arrival of warm weather again.

Very Pleased With Referendum Result

Rev. W. D. Wilson Expresses Pleasure at Great Victory for Prohibition.
Rev. W. D. Wilson arrived in the city from Fredericton yesterday afternoon, and expressed himself as highly gratified at the recent victory of the prohibition forces. Reports from 475-480 counties, he said, went to show that through a misunderstanding of the ballot a considerable number of people in favor of the stopping of importation of liquor had voted "against" it. However, the victory had been decisive and he thought that any of the present contending political parties would be pleased with such a favorable public verdict at the coming elections.

With the passing of the order-in-council, the liquor commission of the province alone would have the right to import liquor. Heberto retailers were at liberty to import liquor from different places in the Dominion or from overseas. This fact made it difficult for inspectors to check the stocks purchased. Under the new law purchases would be made from the liquor commission alone, and this fact would mean a big advance in the enforcement of the law. Liquor in the future will be able to be bought only for medicinal, sacramental and commercial purposes.

Evidence Given In Theft Case

Harry Norris Testified in Case Against O'Brien and Spellman.
Harry W. Norris, the only witness called yesterday in the case of Edward P. O'Brien and Thomas J. Spellman charged with jointly acting to gether, and stealing with force and violence, a bottle of whiskey from Albert Norris on September 8th, said he did not know who laid the information in the case.

O'Brien was represented by W. M. Winter, and L. W. Walker, 25 Sydney. Harry Norris, said he came to the city with his father from Barnesville, Kings County, where they both resided, on September 8th, and that they were accompanied by his two sisters. He and his father were together at 11 o'clock, and when he next saw him, his father was lying on the ground, in an alleyway off Erin street. He carried his father into a nearby store aided by the Steeves, Shannon, and Totten boys. His father was taken from there to the General Public Hospital, and he next saw his body at the Fitzpatrick's undertaking rooms. The case was postponed to Friday at 11 o'clock.

Associated Charities

Present Unemployment Situation and Means of Giving Relief Subjects Discussed.
At the meeting of the Associated Charities held yesterday afternoon, W. S. Fisher, president in the chair, the present unemployment situation and means of giving relief were the subjects under discussion. As a result of the discussion it was decided to give these matters the right of way at the annual meeting, which is to be held the second week in November, and the subject of giving relief to the needy in such a manner as to do most efficient work without overlapping or being subject to fraudulent claims, would be fully discussed and to invite representatives of churches and other organizations interested to attend. Mayor Schofield, who was present by invitation, referred to the unemployment situation. It had not been four months since he had as yet to adopt the plan where the federal, provincial and civic governments bore jointly the cost of relief, but something along the line might be done this winter. He also referred to the plan which the city council had to cut cordwood on the Crown lands at Musquash and the possibility of the city doing some lumbering on its own property at Loch Lomond. The large civic expenditure in streets and water extension was also referred to by His Worship as to which the city had had to meet the unemployment problem. Touching the prospects for the winter he said a big business in grain and cattle shipments was already assured and the outlook for the winter port was bright. He suggested that the Associated Charities name a representative to attend the meeting of the city and municipal councils when these subjects were up for discussion. A committee to arrange the programme for the annual meeting was appointed and the secretary, Miss Grace Robertson, presented the following report of the summer work: Applications received . . . 260 Seeking employment . . . 51 Employment found . . . 31 Recommended . . . 72 Requests for meals . . . 41 Seeking relief . . . 20 Relief provided for . . . 20 Visits made . . . 316 Clothing given to . . . 14 Asking for transportation . . . 4 Cases investigated . . . 11
