DR. PITCHER HELPS AN OLD MAN

The Kidney Weakness, Irritability and Frequent Rising at Night, All Cured by Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets.

People advanced in years are so prone to kidney trouble. The filters of the body become clogged up and out of order after years of incessant work keeping the blood pure. There is too frequent urination, disturbing the rest at night, pain or calding, weakness of the bladder, nonretention of the urine, and severe pain in the back, making stooping or rising a painful operation.

For these conditions there is no remedy so effective as Dr. Pitcher's Backache Kidney Tablets. They make old people rejoice in renewed strength and vigor of the whole urinary system, take the pain and stiffness out of the back, and permit undisturbed rest at night. Mr. Joseph Rippon, 503 Dundas street, Woodstock, Ont., who has been in the

PENSIONS FOR OLD AGE

AT STRATFORD An Explanation of the Australian System in Vogue.

> New South Wales, Victoria and New Zealand-25 Years' Residence.

London, July 8 .- Sir John A. Cockburn, formerly Agent-General of South Australia in London, attended the International Congress on Workmen's Assurance held in connection with the Duseldorf Exhibition, and read a paper on insurance for old age and sickness in Australia. The State of New South Wales and Victoria, following the example of New Zealand, have already passed old-age pensions

The pensions are, he explained, payable to persons over the age of 65 years, who have resided 25 years in the State. No pension can be paid to anyone who has been imprisoned for a term of five years during the preceding 25 years, or for four months during the preceding twelve years, nor to any man who has deserted his wife or neglected to provide for the maintenance of his children. The applicant must, for the preceding five years, have lived a sober and reputable life.

The maximum amount of pension is £18 a year in New Zealand, £26 a year in New South Wales, and 8s. a week in Victoria. The pension is diminished by £1 of income above £34 in New Zealand, and above £26 in New South Wales. In the latter country the maximum pension for husband and wife when not judicially separtow, E. Ruse. From other western points:—W. A. Burns, E. A. Horton, of the act do not apply to aliens or Asiatics or Australian aboriginals.
The investigation of the claim to a pension is conducted in Victoria and New Zealand in open court, and in New South Wales by local boards.

In the Victoria act there is a very important provision to the effect that the pension may be claimed by every person of any age, who is in permanent ill-health, caused by having been engaged in mining, or any dangerous or unhealthy occupation. This may be said to contain the germ of general insurance legislation. In New South Wales the pension may be paid to any person of the age of 60, who is unable, from physical causes, to earn his own living, and who at the age of 65 years would be eligible for a pension.

Utility or Beauty?

Lord Kelvin, looking on Niagara Falls with the eye of the scientist, saw only limitless energy running to waste. He felt none of the "deep and sacred sensations of natural scenery." "You have despised nature," said Ruspin to his day and generation. "You have put a railroad bridge over the fall of Schaffhausen. You have tunneled the cliffs of Lucerne by Tell's chapel; you have destroyed the Clarens shore of the Lake of Geneva; there is not a quiet valley in England that you have not filled with bellowing fire; there is no particle left of English land which you have not trampled coal ashes into." One can imagine the soul of Ruskin crying out against the utilitarianism which is harnessing Niagara and planting a powerhouse beside every waterfall. The sense of the sublime and beautiful, however, is not yet extinct, and there would be a national protest if it were thought that the majesty of Niagara Falls was threatened. The president of one of the great power companies operating at the Falls was asked the other day if the cataract would not be marred by taking from the river the water needed for power purposes. He said:

"That is a question often put to me, particularly since the remarkable statement attributed to Lord Kelvin recently, that in time all the water of the falls would be used for commercial purposes, and which I have no hesitation in saying is a very remote possibility indeed. The matter may be put in this way: The total water-power of the falls, including the upper rapids, is stated to be equivalent to six milllons of horse-power. From the best in-formation I am able to obtain, the aggregate mechanical power in use today in the cities of Toronto, Hamilton, London, St. Catharines, Woodstock, Galt, and Berlin amounts to 40,000 horsepower. Should one-half of this total be supplied from Niagara Falls, and Palmerston was Premier at 81, and an equal amount be used locally by the Gladstone at 85, so that everything is works in electrolytic processes, and an equal amount be transmitted to the American side for use there, it would only amount to, say, 80,000 horse-power, so that it is very evident that a considerable time must elapse or some still more decided development in the use and demand for electric power be made before the effect on the falls

There is something to be said for these undertakings, even from an aesthetic standpoint. They do not pollute the landscape with smoke. If electricity could turn all the wheels of industry dustry. What an asinine policy that it would be a great blessing to the would be? manufacturing cities and towns where the tall chimneys spread their pall of soot. It was this fuliginous horror invading the loveliness of the Alps that called forth such pathetic protest from "The light which once flushed those pale summits with its rose at dawn, and purple at sunset, is now umbered and faint; the air which once inlaid the clefts of all their golden crags with azure is now defiled with languid coils of smoke, belched from werse than volcanic fires; their very glacier waves are ebbing, and their snows fading, as if Hell had breathed on them; the waters that once sank at their feet into crystalline rest are now dimmed and foul, from deep to deep, and shore to

This is a beautiful piece of wordpainting, but it is to be hoped the litterary artist will find no such melancholy subject in the electrical age. If it banishes the reign of soft coal, humanity will be the gainer, even if the waterfalls lose some of their poetry by the presence of the power house.

Child Labor in the South.

students of economics will recall the terrible abuses of child labor in England, which were still prevalent in the sixties, and which were gradually corrected by the pressure of moral sentiment on parliament. The state of affairs in the Southern States at the present day is somewhat similar to the conditions in England half a century ago. The great industrial development of the South, particularly in cotton manufacturing, is attended by a train of evils which cry aloud for humanitarian legislation. Except in one state there is no law to prevent the employment of children in mills, as soon as they are able to walk. The result of this liberty of contract is the employment in cotton mills and other factories of large numbers of children of less than 10 years of age, children who in this way are prevented from obtaining the healthful physical development needed for their tuture well-being, and who are also deprived of practically all opportunities to obtain mental instruction at ly that I didn't recognize it. school. Nearly all of these infants thus unduly put to the hard work of life are the children of white parents, and it is a curious fact that in certain parts of the South the percentage of colored children who attend the public schools is greater than the percentage of white children who are given the advantage of public education. The attempts which have been made to induce the legislatures of some of the southern states to properly protect the health of these helpless persons have been met by the statement that it would be bad policy for the legislatures to attempt to inplants, and if this wish is to be ment. Political plats were hatched in recognized there, must give to those his bed chamber. If the present King in charge of these establishments a should essay anything of that kind he

Unfortunately these arguments so fart prevailed with the state legislatures, but there is no doubt that public opinion will in time force a change. Apart from the inhuman aspect of it, the employment of child labor is grossly unfair to the manufacturers of the north.

Ottawa Journal. Not all places, we regret to state.

By mistake yesterday we attributed a paragraph to the Hamilton Times, which was taken from the St. Thomas Times. The paragraph was a mean attack on the Ontario Government, and we beg the Hamilton Times' pardon.

The complaint comes from England, and from the Canadian Northwest, that Ontario fruit packers put the small apples in the middle of the barrel. In the old days the small apples were placed in the bottom of the barrel, but it is said buyers became so suspicious that they now open that end first.

The United States steel trust made a profit of $64,000,000 in the six months ending June. The trust enjoys an average protection of about 40 per cent. against foreign steel and is able to raise prices in the home market to the tariff level. The United States steal trust would be a fitter name.

The accident to Mr. Chamberlain is a reminder that he is 66 years old, or within four years of the allotted span. The Isles of Greece.

[Lord Byron.]

George, Lord Byron, was born at London in 1788. It was from a grand-uncle that Byron inherited his title and estates—his father was a captain of the Guards, who deserted his wife and infant son. Byron went to Harrow and to Cambridge, and afterwards traveled on the continent. His journeyings are portrayed in his "Childe Harold." He lived for many years in Italy and finally died in Greece while fighting for the insurgents of 1823.

The isles of Greece, the isles of Greece!
Where burning Sappho loved and sung.
Where grew the arts of war and peace—
Where Delos rose and Phoebus sprung!
Eternal summer gilds them yet,
But all except their sun is set.

The moutains look on Marathon—
And Marathon looks on the sea;
And, musing there an hour alone,
I dreamed that Greece might still be free: For, standing on the Persians' grave, I could not deem myself a slave.

king sate on the rocky brow A king sate on the rocky brow
Which looks o'er sea-born Salamis;
And ships, by thousands, lay below,
And men in nations—all were his!
He counted them at break of day—
And when the sun set where were they?

And where are they? and where art thou,
My country? On thy voiceless shore
The heroic lay is tuneless now—
The heroic bosom beats no more!
And must thy lyre, so long divine,
Degenerate into hands like mine?

Place me on Sunium's marbled steep,
Where nothing, save the waves and I,
May hear our mutual murmurs sweep;
There, swan-like, let me sing and die.
A land of slaves shall ne'er be mine—
Dash down yon cup of Samian wine! Must we but weep o'er days more blest? Must we but blush? Our fathers bled. was a characteristic mingling of impudence and ignorance. The King has to do what his Prime Minister tells him to do. King Edward, it is true, is credited with having exerted himself to secure honorable terms for the Boers, as a condition of surrender; but he did it in and through his ministers, and had they not been persuaded the King would have been powerless. These reflections remind us how deeply and broadly are the political institutions of England.

The Empty Nest.

[Exchange.] There was a time in years gone by, Wee ones played at my feet, while I Held one upon my knee;
The house was filled all day with noise,
The floor was scattered o'er with toys,
My head ached wearlly.

There came a time my house was still, No mud-stained footprints on the sill,
No longed-for time of rest;
My boys had climbed youth's topmost stair,
My girl, a maiden tall and fair,
Another's home now blest.

A last year's nest hangs on the bough,
'Twas filled with singing birds, but now
It empty is and bare.
The buds and bees have come, but still Those birds come not again, to fill With song the silent air.

I gaze upon that empty nest,
I know God's ways are always best,
But I am sad and lone;
I long so for life's vanished joys,
My wee girl and my bonny boys,
My nestlings that have flown.

> The Capture Secret, Gradual, But Attempts to Settle the Coal Strike None the Less Complete.

London, July 9.- Experts in the meat trade who have been questioned re-garding the latest developments in the American invasion of that trade say that the Smithfield market is already under the absolute control of American houses. Its capture has been secret and gradual. Chicago, through London representatives, now regulates the price of beef in London, Liverpool and Manchester. Less than ten years ago there was no American stall in Smithfield market. The Americans then sold through English salesmen, paying 2½ per cent commission, which, it is estimated, amounted to $500,000 a year. Then came the American invasion. Swift & Co. came first, and others followed. Now fourteen of the leading stalls are occupied by American houses, including Swift & Co., the Hammond Company, Armour's, Ed.

WEEKLY REVIEW.

The local market during the past week has not been up to the average in point of attendance or the amount of produce offered for sale. This is partly due to the wet weather and the fact that the farmers in many sections of the country are engaged in harvesting their hay. Grain-Very little wheat offered for sale during the week. Present prices are $1 35 per cwt. Oats continue to be in good demand at $1 37 to $1 38 per cwt.

Hay and Straw—The amount of hay offered has been exceptionally light, and prices have advanced from $1 to $1 50 per ton over last week, selling at $9 50 to $10 per ton for choice timothy hay. Straw is scarce at $6 per ton.
Three loads of hay sold at $10 per ton. Two loads of new hay sold at $6 and | 6.000 bu; corn. $7 per ton.

Butter and Eggs-Butter has been offered in fair supply, with the quality auch improved; prices are steady, at 15c for crocks and 16c to 17c for pound rolls. Eggs are coming in more freely, at 131/2c to 14c per dozen for crates and 15c to 16c for the single dozen.

Fruits-Strawberries are nearly at an end, and are now selling at 6c per box by the load; gooseberries sell at 6c per box; black currants at 8c to 10c; red currants at 4c to 5c; black and red raspberries at 13c to 15c per box. Vegetables-Old potatoes are hard to obtain: prices have advanced to $1 per bag; new potatoes sell at $175 to $2 per bu; green peas are scarce, at 20c to 25c per quart

Poultry-With the exception of Saturday last, on which day there was an over-supply, there has been little offered on the other market days of the week; present prices are 40c to 75c per pair for spring chickens, dressed, and 40c to 50c for live ones; spring ducks, dressed, at 80c to $1 per pair: turkeys live at 8c to 9c per 1b, and dressed at 10c to 11c per 1b. Dressed Hogs-Owing to the warm weather very few are offered on the market; butchers are paying $8.50 per Live Hogs-Nearly 200 have been shipped from here during the past week, at $6 50 to $6 75 per cwt. Wool-There is a firmer feeling in wool, selling at 13c to 131/2c for washed, and 7c per lb for unwashed.

SOCIETY SENSATION.

A great sensation has been caused in Rome by the action of the Vatican Vyner authorities towards the Princess Joseph Rospigliosi, an American. Her husband is head of an ancient family, and his brother is commandant of the Papal Noble Guard. In August, 1901, Prince Rospigliosi married here Mrs. Marie Jennings Reid Parkhurst, of Washington, the divorced wife of Col. Frederick H. Parkhurst, of Bangor, Me. The ceremony was civil and was not recognized by the Vatican. Princess Respigliosi, who is now on the point of confinement, engaged an English Blue Sister as a nurse, and the latter took up her duties. But Cardinal Macchi, secretary of apostolic briefs, hearing of this, forbade the sister to fulfill her duties, on the ground that the marriage was non-existent. prince was furious and exerted all his influence to overcome the scruples of the church, but without avail. ually he was obliged to send to England for a nurse. Henley, Eng., July 9.—In spite of a dull, threatening morning, exceptionday to witness the second day's racing of the Henley regatta. Interest in the meeting was vastly enhanced in the danger of the Diamond Sculls and the Grand Challenge Cup crossing the Atisfactorily, but that perfect quiet is lantic. Americans and Canadians were present in force to support their respective compatriots. The wind was sufficiently strong in the forenoon to churn the water. It blew directly off the Bucks shore, giving the boats on that station a great advantage. Some experts estimated that the station on the Bucks side was worth a full length. Like yesterday, the racing began at 12:30 p.m. The first contest was the fourth heat for the Grand Challenge Cup. Although the London Rowing Club had the advantage of the Bucks station, and rowed in excellent Leander led all the way. London's spurt towards the finish proved fruitless. The time was very fast, considering the wind, supporting the generally accepted view that nobody knows what reserve power is possessed From July 10 to 20 inclusive, round by the Leander until they are hard trip tickets will be issued at less than pressed. The half-mile time was minutes 31 seconds. The mile was gone in 5 minutes 30 seconds.

CANADIANS LOST GAMELY. This opened the way for what was generally regarded as the most important event of the regatta, the Canadians' contest with Third Trinity, the crack Cambridge crew, accepted by all as the British champions in the heats for the Grand Challenge Cup, containing as the crew did such noted oars men as C. J. D. Goldie, J. Edwards-Moss and W. Dudley-Ward. The race was close and exciting to Fawley Court. The Argonauts led to that point (half the distance), when Third Trinity caught up, took command and finished in the splendid time of 7 minutes 11 seconds. The Canadians, even when they were passed, hung on in the most spirited fashion, and spurted time after time. But they were handicapped by the fact that they held the Berks side. The time for the half mile was 2 minutes 27 secminutes 21 seconds.

THAMES CHALLENGE CUP. The third heat for the Thames Chalenge Cup was a great struggle. The rishmen would have won but for their disadvantage of station. The Dublin crew got off first, and still led at Fawley Court, after which Cambridge gradually drew level. A neck-andneck race ensued, and the Englishmen won by a narrow margin.

In the fourth heat for the Thames Challenge Cup, the Royal School of Mines Boat Club beat the Thames Rowing Club by three-fourts of a length. Time, 7 minutes 42 seconds. AMERICANS OUT OF IT ALSO. London, July 9 .- Kelly beat Titus for Diamond Sculls at Henley regatta tohe could not turn himself in bed, and the slightest cold or hard lifting would bring on an awful attack, which gave him fearful pain. He commenced a treatment of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and in a short time all the pain left his back, and it became as stout and strong as ever, and since

MRS. LATIMER'S LOVE

"Gracious heavens!" burst out Bullingdon, in a white heat; "can you bear to talk of such horrors? Can you bear to think of your victims? Shall you ever forget them till your dying day?"

The old gentleman shook his head and emptied the bottle.

"I can bear most things." he said. "I've had a many ups and downs in my life; but I don't think I ever shall forget that caim. It couldn't have cost me less than seventy-five dollars a head, even for the weakest of them. Seventy-five dollars a head!" he repeated, thoughtfully; "no, I don't think I ever shall forget it."

Nobody seemed to care about any more wine after this. Even the Madeira remained untouched; and Bullingdon was as near having a fit as man can be. The only clear idea that remained in his head was an earnest wish to get away from his neighbor; and, excellent as were its dinners, hospitable as was its owner. I think the one-eyed gentleman might have starved ten times over before he would be asked to place his legs under the mahogany at Bullingdon Buits.

In the drawing-room people breathed more freely. There being no more to drink, the one-eyed man took his departure; and the indefinite youth, unguardedly answering in the affirmative to the alderman's question about "cutting in," found himself set down to the abstruse science of whist for the rest of the evening, with Mrs. Bullingdon for a partner—an arrangement not tending to mitigate the alarm with which he already regarded that excellent lady.

Blanche Bullingdon, still hankering slightly after the conquest of Mr. Orme, was, of course, she did play—accurately conscientiously, in excellent time, and without a particle of feeling; the rest of the party, with the exception of the quartet at the whist-table, hovering round the piano, and expressing their approval with much cordiality. So Miss Blance put on her bracelets once more, assumed her handkerchief, and said, "Thank you, Mr. Orme" for her gloves, and looked as if she had acquitted herself very creditably. Then it was time for Bella to ask handkerchief, and said, "Thank you, Mr. Orme," for her gloves, and looked as if she had acquitted herself very creditably. Then it was time for Bella to ask Mrs. Latimer to sing, "if she didn't mind, she was always so good-natured"; and Mrs. Latimer took her seat on the music-stool, and hesitated for a moment, and burst forth into the sone with just music-stool, and hesitated for a moment, and burst forth into the sone, with just once instantly-averted glan) at Glibert as she did so. It caught his eye, nevertheless, and Ada feit herself blushing painfully, and thought that never in her life had she sung with so little grace and self-command. If one of her listeners agreed with her, his countenance very much belied him; yet he was the only one who did not ask for it again—the only one who did not speak a syllable when she had done. she had done.

when she had done.

Pending all this music, Polly had necessarily been banished to the billiard-room, and he was now heard enlivening his exile with such shameless volubility that Bella was forced to go and remonstrate with him. his exile with such shameless volubility that Bella was forced to go and remonstrate with him.

"Miss Bullingdon, you play billiards?" asked Bella, with polite attention to her guest; and Blanche, who could use a mace as ineffectively as any other lady, answered in the affirmative, with an appealing look at Mr. Orme. Gilbert seemed lost in contemplation of a landscape on the wall, so Miss Blanche's glance was wasted on the parting of his backhair.

John Gordon good-naturedly proposed a match with the young lady, if Miss Jones would come and "mark."

"Of course I will," said Bella. "But let us go through the windows; it is such a beautiful night, and there's such a moon!"

Now the Villa, like an Indian bungalow, was built with all its principal rooms on the ground floor; consequently, it was as easy, besides being infinitely pleasanter, to step out of a French window into the garden, and so by the terrace in again at the glass door of the billiardroom, as to walk through a second drawing-room and a library in order to reach the same apartment. Leaving the whistthe same apartment. players engrossed with their rubbers, the remeining five strolled out into the love-ly summer night, flooded with moon-shine, and even here, almost in London, shine, and even here, almost in London, fragrant with perfume. As Mrs. Latimer followed the billiard-players along the terrace, her dress caught in some trellistwork, through which a creeper wound its snake-like growth. Gilbert stooped to extricate it—a process which takes considerable time if you would not tear the fabric, and which is prone to call up ideas totally irrelevant to the task itself, originating in the relative position of the individuals—the one generally on his knees, and the other necessarily stooping over him. In the present instance the whees, and the other necessarily stooping over him. In the present instance the enlargement occupied several seconds, told very distinctly, one by one, on a couple of living time-pieces which people wear inside their breasts, and there was a flush on Gilbert's brow when he raised it—the result probably of stooping so a flush on Gilbert's brow when he raised it—the result probably of stooping so soon after dinner. It was natural, surely, that the couple thus isolated should linger a few minutes longer out of doors to enjoy the air—equally natural that they should have very little to say to each other, and should consequently preserve an unbroken taciturnity. I have watched the progress and development of some few flirtations that have been thrust upon my observation. I think the of some few flirtations that have been thrust upon my observation. I think the talking ones are the safest. A full heart does not discharge itself through the organs of speech; and a very imperceptible tremor on a very commonplace remark may tell a tale that three volumes octavo would fail to convey. Gilbert lost the precious moments in silence. He who could find plenty of small-talk to amuse the smartest ladies in London, was baffled like the veriest clown by the presence of one who would scarcely be considered a gentlewoman in the set to which he belonged. This worldly polish which he belonged. This worldly polish doubtless hardens while it brightens, and the burnished breastplate is impervious to ninety-nine out of a hundred weapon, in the melee; but wait till the charmed lance comes; deep, deep into the bosom it runs, through mail and plate, and the knight's dazzling harness shields him no safer than the yeoman's homespun

I am constrained to admit that, long as Tam constrained to admit that, long as this pair lingered out of doors, neither of them spoke a syllable beyond Ada's faint acknowledgment of the preservation of her dress, till they were on the steps of the billiard-room, when Gilbert took heart of grace, and managed to get out what he wanted to say:

"Thank you Mrs. Latimer for singing heart of grace, and managed to get out what he wanted to say:

"Thank you, Mrs. Latimer, for singing that song. It has haunted me for a week. Thank you very much."

She looked up at him once more as she passed in, but did not repeat the experiment during the rest of the evening. Only she shook hands with him when he went away; and when she got back to her own solitary lodgings, sat far into the night before she went to bed, postponing, as it were, the division of the pleasas, day she had spent from the morrow's feturn to working life. It was but a gleam, of were, the division of the pleasa day she had spent from the morrow's feturn to working life. It was but a gleam, of course, this sunshine and there was an end of it, but still she liked to bask in the remembrance of its warmth. So she looked in the glass again of ore she undid the being and tunned from it as head did her hair, and turned from it as before with a smile and a sigh.

Nor was Gilbert the least sleepy. After setting John Gordon down he drove straight home and dismissed his cab.

Then he smoked three cigars, the consumption of which, as I calculate, would last an hour and twenty minutes, walking round and round Grosvenor Square, thinking of everything in heaven and earth except philosophy—of the moon, of the stars, of Mrs. Latimer's soft eyes, and how resolved he was that, come what might, it should not be long before he saw her again.

Big Race Tracks. Picked Up in the Paddock.

The jockeys down east suffered anwinning mounts.

Gold Heels, 4-year-old son of The Bard and Heel and Toe, which Jockey Wonderly, of this city, rode to vic the Suburban handicap, and which Odom piloted under the wire first in the Brighton handicap Saturday, has had a checkered career. He had been sold and resold before his real merit was ascertained. He was just an ordinary-looking colt, with a white nose, and great long legs that gave him an awkward, ungainly appearance, as he trotted after his mother in the rich pastures of the Chester Valley. No judge of racers would have singled him out as the pick of Mr. Cassatt's string of yearlings, but Ernest Leech, who had ridden The Bard to the saddle and had always ridden this famous thoroughbred in his exercise gallops, took a fancy to this young son of a noble sire, and predicted great things for him. When Leech first threw his leg over Gold Heels' glossy back when the latter was fifteen months old, the young thoroughbred made the circuit of the Cassatt stables to the fastest time ever recorded at Chesterbrook Farm, finally ending his wild gallop by dashing through the garden and throwing rider over his head into a cabbage ch. These were the days when These were the patch. Gold Heels only wore a halter and had never yet looked through a bridle. His future was looming up, but he was still far from being the best-looking colt in Penn Smith's stable. In the fall of 1899 an agent for William C. Whitney visited Chesterbrook Farm and purchased all of Mr. Cassatt's thoroughbred yearlings. There were about a dozen in the bunch, including, besides Gold Heels, The Rhymer and Dactyl, two other horses who have since won brackets on the New York tracks. The whole bunch went to Kentucky to graze on the blue grass, and later were shipped to Tom Welsh, of Millstone, N. J., who worked them all winter. Gold Heels showed nothing sensational in the way of speed during these work outs. In fact, his wasn't much good, and told Welsh he had better get rid of that "white faced coit." As a result Gold Heels was sold to Sam Hildreth for a paltry $1,200, and later fell into the hands of Dave Sloan, of New York, who ran his as a 2-year-old with indifferent success. Gold Heels had shown some speed on the big tracks around New York, but not enough to get the money, and when "Diamond Jim" Brady, who is the "whole thing" in the stables of F. C. McLewee & Co., offered $7,500 for the youngster he got him in a hurry.

Then Gold Heels was turned over to the veteran trainer Mat Allen, who knows the difference between a cart horse and a handicap winner, and things began to loom up for the white-faced colt from that day on. Gold was Yealland's home run. Heels won not only nearly every race in which he was entered as a 3-yearold last year, but he also captured the Woodlawn Vase, at Morris Park, the most classic event contested for on any of the big New York tracks. pleased were McLewee and Brady with Gold Heels' work that they sent with Gold Heels work that they sent Allen over to Chesterbrook that fall to buy Mr. Cassatt's entire string of yearlings. "Mat" spent just 29 minutes in sizing up the lot, and it took him one minute longer to secure them all for his owners. He also has the refusal of the bunch of thoroughbreds and Bevier. Umpire, Kelly. at the Cassatt Farm this year. In the fail of 1901, McLewee and Brady turned down an offer of $25,000 for Gold Heels, a pretty good price for a white-faced youngster that had been kicked out of Mr. Whitney's stable. Gold Heels' preparation for the Su-burban now began in earnest. He was worked carefully all winter, and then in the spring was started in just one race, when, after being bumped all over the track, worse than if he had been in a football match, he beat Blues to the wire by a good length. Then came the Suburban, and on that terrific drive through the stretch at Sheepshead Bay, the white-faced colt, Wonderly scarcely laying a hand on him, dashed under the wire a halflength in front of Pentecost, with Blues, the pride of Tammany, a length and a half behind the winner.

THE HENLEY REGATTA. Henley, July 8.—The final heat for the Grand Challenge cup for the day resulted in the London Rowing Club beating the Thames Rowing Club by a ength and a quarter in 7 minutes and 58 seconds. London had the evored position, the Berks shore, and easy task. They were clear after a couple of minutes' rowing; were two lengths ahead at Fawley Court, and thence took matters easily.

sculls, C. S. Titus, Union Boat Club, New York, beat W. W. Field, of Ox-ford by three lengths. Time, 9:17. In the first heat for the Thames Challenge cup, Thames Rowing Club beat London Rowing Club by three lengths. Time, 8 minutes 16 seconds.

A WELL-FOUGHT RACE.

London, July 9 .- The press comments on the sculling match at Henley between Scholes, of Toronto, and Titus, of New York, are agreed that it was well-fought and well-won one. The Times says it was a hard struggle and a splendid well-judged race. The Sportteams. ing Life says it was a grand race to the upper and of Phyllis Court; then Titus fairly spurted in front; Scholes responded gamely, but could never get on even terms again. The Leader says it was as great a race as has ever been witnessed at Henley. The Daily Telegraph says at half-way Scholes seemed laboring more than Titus, still both were rowing their beat. At Phyllis Court Titus began one of the finest spurts ever seen here, and worked up speed, with one eye always on his op-ponent. He had the Canadian beaten at the grand stand, one hundred feet from the winning post. If Scholes had not stopped before the finish, completely rowed out, the margin would not have been a length. The time shows how hard was the struggle. Both then steered beautifully. Tom Sullivan, in a talk over yesterday's race, said that if to Scholes' strength was added the tact of Titus, the Canadian would have beaten a dozen like the latter. It was the superior skill and judgment of the New Yorker that won him the race, Messenger, the Australian, who trained Scholes, says that a couple of months' systematic training would make Scholes the cleverest kind of a sculler. Scholes himself says he never rowed so hard a race, and that on reaching within 200 yards of home he remembers nothing after. Titus said he thought it was a case of "gone" with him after the quarter-mile was reached, but looking round later he thought Scholes were a worried look, which prompted him to make the spurt he did. He admitted he was clean rowed out at the finish.

Judge Morrow probably towel scored three at call for half- knows as much turf history as any person living.

"More than 50 years ago Sam Bryant was a jockey, owner and trainer," said Judge Morrow. "When about as big as a bluegrass water jug—and water jugs in Kentucky in the forties were quite small-young Sam began to ride in four-mile heat races. He weighed about 100 pounds then. "While some will recall his ruling off at Monmouth Park in the early eighties because of the running of his horse Big Medicine, and will remember Sam Bryant best because of his animal roctor Knott, 'the best hoss, sah, that ever kicked dust in the eyes of a joc-

"The story goes that Bryant selected the ugliest-looking yearling at Gen. Jackson's famous Belle Meade farm and agreed to pay $40 for the animal, Mike Dayer and other made fun of Bryant's choice. 'He'll be a great 2-year-old,' said Bryant, 'and I'll get the money to buy him from my old friend Scoggan.' The latter, it is said, did make an advance to Bryant, and Bryant led his gelding away to devote his time to the ungain y-looking youngster. It was not long before 'Uncle Samuel' discovered that the son of Luke Blackburn and Tallapoosa had speed that was marvelous. The year 1888 was unquestionably Proctor Knott's year. Besides other big stakes, Proctor won the junior championship with odds of 20 to 1 against ing when the pair reached Long Island a few days in advance of the running of the Futurity, which in that year was the stake of all stakes in America and worth fully $40,000. And when Proctor Knott went to the post he was a racing tool steeled to any contest by the art of his trainer, Jockey Barneswho, a few days ago, was said to have been committed to an asylum as a mentally and financially broken man --piloted the gelding winner in the Fu-

TO HOLD SPECIAL MEETING

Certain Amount of Disaffection Apparent Among Employes.

The board of hospital trustees met vesterday afternoon at Victoria Hospital, the session having been adjourned falling on the regular day of meeting. The most important matter to be dealt with—the adoption of the revised byappreciates the other more—the pastor

The fact was developed that a certain amount of disaffection exists among some of the employes of the hospital. The recently appointed steward left a short time ago. Miss M. Scellen, the matron, resigned her position last Saturday, and the three orderlies left in a body. Difficulties are also met with in hiring female servants. The members present were Chairman McCormick, Trustee Waterman and the mayor. Trustee McLeod is ill at his home in Parkhill, and Trustee Purdom was obliged to leave town on important business. BYLAWS LAID OVER. On motion of the mayor, the third reading of the revised bylaws was deferred to allow all the members of the trust to be present. A special meeting of the trust was fixed for Monday next at 1 p.m. to deal with the bylaws.

VACANCIES TO FILL. The resignation of Miss M. Scellen, matron, was received. Miss Scellen said that in view of the board's failure to take action on her application for an increase of salary, she relinquished her duties on Saturday. Mrs. Wm. Horner was engaged as housekeeper for one month at $15. If her services prove satisfactory she will be retained at $20 per month. Three applications for appointment as steward were received. R. Hossack had had experience in both the catering and drug business, and understood the duties of a steward. Mr. T. Lee was for five years hospital sergeant in the British army. F. E. Eastman, the third applicant, had been steward on the lake steamers, and had also been a baker. The appointment of a steward was laid over. R. Hossack will be temporarily employed to fulfill some of the duties of the office. MUST LODGE OUTSIDE. It was decided to have the three orderlies engaged by the superintendent in place of the three who left recently, lodge outside the hospital. With this understanding their salaries of $15 per month will be supplemented by the addition of $5 per month. Not only are the rooms now occupied by them needed for other purposes, but it was deemed inadvisable to have them occupying adjacent quarters to those in tion makes it rather easier of access for the members than any other place, but at rare intervals it has met at some of the outside churches—for instance at Dutton and Glencoe. It met yesterday at the First Presbyterian church, Westminster, whose pastor, Rev. Dr. McCrae, is well-known in this city, and the day was spent so very pleasantly that it is unlikely that the Presbytery will in future hold its summer meeting so regularly in town.

Two things helped to make the meeting pleasurable. The first was the scarcity of business; the second, the delightful hospitality of the ladies of the First Church. The former gave the presbytery plenty of time to enjoy the latter. It gave them time besides to loll about for several rest-Hospital Trust Will Deal With ful hours in cool places beneath the trees. They held discussions there that were as spirited as the weather man allowed, and anyone who has been with a crowd of ministers away from the worries of their churches, need not be told that it wasn't always theology they talked of. It is quite remarkable the number of good Scotch stories that the members of an adjourned presbytery can tell at one sitting. This was the first time that the Presbytery of London has met Westminster, but Dr. McCrae will not have to coax very hard to get them a week on account of Dominion Day to meet there again. Mr. Sawers was pastor, has been maintained during the present pastorate, and the church has gone on thriving and increasing in well doing. The reception that was given the members of the presbytery yesterday was an illustration of the way that the First Church has won its name through all the London district. The ladies of the church entertained the ministers and elders and their wives and children with splendid hospitality. Dinner and supper were the lecture room of the minster; D. church and it is unnecessary to add that both were most appetising and made after supper was concluded, when some of the ministers very cordially thanked Rev. The beating which the minister received was so severe that he was unable to rise from the ground, and he had to be carried into the house. Word received from there today says that inflammation has set in and that his condition is critical.

On Saturday Rice and Miss Helms drove to Adrian, where they were married, afterward returning to Morenci. Rice is a teamster here, and bears a good reputation, except that he is "scrappy" once in a while. On Monday of next week an exceptionally interesting meeting will be held at the Presbyterian Church, Ailsa Craig. The congregation of this church has volunteered to give $500 to the support of Rev. J. A. Bruce, B. A., of Toronto, who is about to go to China to engage in missionary work. The presbytery decided, therefore, that it would be appropriate to have Mr. Bruce's designation meeting at the Ailsa Craig church. The presbytery will hold their adjourned meeting there next Monday night. Rev. Mr. Geddes Nothing tastes good. Nothing gives pleasure. The mind is dull and sluggish. The will is weak. Little things cause great irritation. What's the matter? The probabilities are that the stomach is deranged and the liver involved. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery makes a man who is run down and dispirited feel like a new being. It cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, stirs the sluggish liver into action, and increases the activity of the blood-making glands, so that there is an abundant supply of pure, rich blood. Mr. Edward Jacobs, of Marengo, Crawford Co., Indiana, writes: "After three years of suffering with liver trouble and malaria I gave up all hopes of ever getting stout again, the last chance was to try your medicine. I had tried all the home doctors and received but little relief. After taking three bottles of Dr. Fierce's Golden Medical Discovery and one vial of his 'Pleasant Pellets' I am stout and hearty. It is due entirely to your wonderful medicines."

Choate, the United States ambassador, as a possible candidate for the Presidency of the United States. The company consisted of several hundred members of the English bar, law lords, and judges, the Earl of Desart, director of public prosecutions;

Sir Charles Tupper, formerly Prime Minister of Canada, and others. Mr. Dickinson took Mr. Choate's place as the guest of honor. He prefaced his proposal of a toast to the English bench by a tribute to Mr. Choate. "Mr. Choate does not wich; R. McIntyre, Tempo; W. M. long," said Mr. Dickinson, "to my Kay, Dorchester; W. H. Geddes, Ailsa party or to my government, but it is very near the hearts of the American people that he shall go from the court of St. James to the Presidential chair, and I wish he may get there.' Mr. Dickinson eloquently voiced the sympathetic joy of the American people at the certainty of the recovery of the illustrious and beloved King of England. "We rejoice," continued the speaker, "with you in your joys and sorrows, with you in your griefs. That feeling has been expressed by no one more truly than by President Roosevelt, who is as close to the people of America as has been any President of the Republic."

He cited the recent dispatch of Jos. Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, declaring that the constitution of Cape Colony should not be suspended, as an instance of Great Britain's love of liberty. He declared that America deeply sympathized with Mr. Chamberlain in his recent accident, and con-cluded by saying "Great Britain and the United States can make the world's freedom wider yet, not by alliance, but by an understanding that we, the Engish-speaking nations, mean well by the rest of the world and that the other nations must not attack either one of

BLE DREAMS, DESPOND-ENCY, MELANCHOLY AND GENERAL WEAKNESS.

The proper elements needed to pro-bowels, correct action of the kidneys and liver, must be supplied when a bilious condition of the system is once established. Ferrozone can't help but do this. It gives the stomach perfect rest, and allows you to partake of and enjoy the variety of food that is necessary for maintaining health. One Ferrozone tablet taken after each meal will sep-arate the nutritious portions of the food from the waste, which is carried off, thus preventing and curing consti-pation and its attendant evil, piles.

Being a potent blood purifier, Ferro-zone cleanses the crimson flood of all bile and impurities, and as a result the complexion is restored to a rosy, heal-thy hue, and the dark circles under the eyes and the deathly pallor of the cheeks go away, never to return. Taken for disorders of the stomach commencing with biliousness, and ending with derangements of the liver and kidneys, Ferrozone achieves marvelous results. It is at the same time a tonic and stimulant, and a regulator of all bodily functions, and chronic sufferers should not fail to give it a fair trial. It will do them good without doubt, and if the malady is curable it will yield to Ferrozone. With the use of Ferrozone appetite will be better, the blood made rich and pure, sleep will be dreamless and sound. Your muddy complexion will be cleared and beautified, your eyes will acquire a new brightness, and as your spirits rise and good health re-turns you will bless the day you learned the secret of Ferrozone's power. If you think you need Ferrozone go to the nearest drug store and procure a supply. Refuse a substitute and insist on having the genuine Ferrozone, which costs 50 cents per box, or three boxes for $1.25. By mail from N. C.
