LONDON, July 7.— Nominations took place in North Longford to-day. Hon.
Edward Blake, Gladstonian, and Mr.
Miller, Unionist, being the candidates proposed. Every Canadian here will be proud to see Mr. Blake in the Imperial Parliament.

THE WIDEAWAKE OLD MAN. LONDON, June 7.- The Pall Mall Gazette prints the following account of the interruption to Mr. Gladstone's speech yesterday.

Mr. Usher, a brewer, began to put some questions from a huge manuscript he carried. The crowd greeted him with a storm of abuse, thinking the questions were put solely for the purpose of "heckling" the speaker. After a time the crowd insisted that Mr. Usher ascend the platform. Mr. Usher strode past the reporters' table to Mr. Gladstone's side, where, amid continued interruptions, he demanded whether the Liberal leader approved of the plan of campaign in Ireland. Mr. Gladstone jumped to his feet, and in indignant tones said that the questioner had never taken the pains to read his speeches. He reiterated that it was the Government that brought about the plan of campaign.

Mr. Usher waited until the renewed and prolonged applause had subsided and then said: "Then I understand that under these circumstances Mr. Gladstone approved the plan of campaign." Mr. Usher, a brewer, began to put som prolonged applause had subsided and then said: "Then I understand that under these circumstances Mr. Gladstone approved the plan of campaign?"

Mr. Gladstone responded with intense irony, pointing and shaking his finger, "I am not responsible for this gentleman's understanding." This retort brought forth vociferous cheering that continued for three minutes. "I am responsible," continued Mr. Gladstone, "for the understanding the Almighty has pleased to lodge here," tapping his head as he spoke, "but I am not responsible for the understanding Almighty God has been pleased to lodge in that skull of his," pointing to Mr. Usher.

Mr. Gladstone then asked whether Mr. Usher had any more questions to put. The latter then asked about the law of couspiracy. Mr. Gladstone said: "You want to entangle me in a legal question."

Mr. Gladstone next replied to a question about boyeotting, when Mr. Usher demanded: "Would you accept an alliene with the Parnellites if you could get it."

Mr. Gladstone trembled with indignation. He paused for a moment and then began: "I with, my friend, that—" Here the crowd shouted: "Don't answer." Here the question was impertinent and said he would not allow it.

Mr. Usher continued his questioning

Onderen replied: "Not the preporters of law and order hitherto in Ireland?"

Mr. Gladstone replied: "Not the present Government, for in 1887 they shot down by constabulary and soldiers three innocent men who were engaged in a liberal and peaceable meeting, and this gentleman supports them," concluded Mr. Gladstone, emphasizing his words with resounding thumps upon the table.

A resolution of confidence in Mr. Gladstone was proposed. Father Gray moved a counter resolution. Mr. Ushers seconded Mr. Gray's motion and seven votes were cast in favor of it. Mr. Gladstone, replying to this vote, said he was glad the amendment was moved, as it tested the sentiment.

CURIOUS FACTS ABOUT SOME CONTESTS.

LONDON, July 8.—In the Walwerth division of London the Liberals reversed division of London the Liberals reveal the result of the 1886 election and changed the result of the 1886 election and changed is being a Conservative majority of 225 into a Lib-cral majority of 296, electing their candi-date, W. Saunders.

In the Metropolitan division of Bermond-set the charge was still more a division.

In the Metropolitan division of Bermondrey the change was still more radical. Heresey the change was still more radical. Herethe Conservative majority of 585 in 1886 was wiped out by the Liberal candidate, who was triumphantly elected by a cheering majority of 1,688.
A similar result was effected in the west division of Newington, where the Conservative candidate was snowed under by a majority of 1,093. In 1886 the Conservative candidate in this district was elected by 382 majority.

candidate in this district was elected by 382 majority.

A Liberal victory was also recorded in the St. Rollox district of Glasgow, where a "Unionist" majority of 10 in 1886 was turned to a Liberal majority of 1,356.

North Salford, Oldham and Center Finsbury also showed good Liberal gains. In Portsmouth the Liberals gained two seats.

In Walsall the Conservative candidate succeeded in overcoming the previous Liberal majority of 533 and changing it into a Conservative majority of 317.

The same result was effected by Ald.
Wilson Lleyd, the Conservative candidate in Wednesbury, who defeated the Hon. P. Stauhope, Liberal, ly a majority of 60.
The Liberal majority in this district in 1886 was 362.

CLADSTONE ON THE POLLING. The Daily News has received the following from its Edinburgh correspondent:

"Mr. Gladstone spont a comparatively quiet day at Dalmeny. He felt that after yesterday's exertions in the windy weather it would be advisable for him to curtail his either intended route to Corstorphine, in which town arrangements had been made for him to address a political meeting.

The demonstrations to day were, therefore, less numerous than those which attended his triumphant drive of 28 miles to Dalkeith yesterday, but were equally as enthusiastic.

party, which consisted of Mr. Gladstone, his daughter Helen, his son Henry and a few friends.

"The small hall, with a most tiny platform, in which the meeting was to take place, was almost filled by the time the party arrived in Corstorphine.

"The Earl of Abbrdeen's children, in the care of the family butler, were among those who had gathered in the hall to see and hear the "Grand Old Man," who was delighted to welcome them.

The hall and all the adjacent streets were jammed with an enthusiastic crowd when Mr. Gladstone arrived in town, and he was given an ovation.

"At the opening of his speech heavy thunder clowds gathered overhead, darkening the hall to such an extent that Mr. Gladstone was compelled to call for lights, for which seemingly, no provision had been made. He explained that he ueeded lights as he intended to read some notes he had made showing that the Unionists poll in Scotland was about 30,000 votes, while the Gladstonian poll, including the votes wasted on Independent and Labor candidates was about 47,000 votes.

"In noting Mr. Ballour's statement that the Government had distributed dividends and the Opposition only prospectuses, Mr. Gladstone cited a dozen measures proposed by the Opposition which had been trampled on by "Ballour and his mechanical majority."

"Our dividends," he said, "were ready

"Our dividends," he said, "were ready in our pockets. We were prepared to distribute them, but they are always voted down. The prospectuses of the Liberal party," he continued in a splendidly declaimed passage, "are to be found in the legislation of the past 60 years, the last being the endeavor to establish real unity of the empire by meeting the just demands of Ireland."

Mr. Gladsone they began to several. "Our dividends," he said, "were ready

Mr. Gladstone then began to comment or Mr. Gladstone then began to comment on the polling, quoting figures to show that while up to the present time the Ministerial votes in London had been increased by 9,000 over those of 1886, the Liberal votes had been advanced by 20,000. That, he said, was very significant. Greenock had been won gloriously. Perth had been lost by the operation of an in-genious process of which the Liberal party had a monopoly.

the poling in counties began to-day (Friday). There are some 226 burgh constituencies in England, including the metropolis, and of these the Liberals held 60 at the election of 1886, winning 10 during the life of Parliament. Of English counties, which number 234, the Conservatives held at the time of dissolution 130, the Liberal-Unionists 34 and the Liberal 75. Many of these seats are held by the most attenuated majorities, and a change of a few votes may mean large Liberal gains. If the Gladstonians do not gain heavily in the English counties it will be impossible to form a Ministry, and the political situation instead of being cleared by the election will be rendered more dubious.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The Senate is considering the Gallinger resolution calling for an investigation of the Homestead strike. Mr. Palmer maintained that the workingmen at Homestead were in the right; that having expended their lives in that peculiar work they had a right to expect the permanency of their work and a right to insist upon a reasonable compensation for their services.

Mr. Voorhees attributed the labor difficulties to the Republican policy of high protection, and expressed regret that Carnegie himself had not been at the head of the Pinkerton squad instead of skulking in his castle in Scotland.

Mr. Hale denied that the Republican

THE LARGE CITIES WILL BE INVOLVED. CHICAGO, July 7.—A committee from the Almalgamated Iron and Steel Association at Homestead has reached this city to confer with the building trades in regard to handling the output of the Carnegie mills if non-union men are employed there. The committee was assured and that Chicago union men would not handle non-union made steel and iron. The other building trades of the city are of the same opinion, and the outlook is that in a few days the building unions will cease handling steel and iron from the Carnegie mills. Committees have been simultaneously sent to other large cities in the country. BURIAL OF THE DEAD.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 7.—After the carnage of yesterday and last night the town of Homestead to-day was almost as quiet as a sleepy country village, and the interment of three of the five striking workmen who were killed in the fight was the chief evidence of the storm of yesterday. Up to 8 o'clock to-night absolutely nothing has occurred to mar the peace, which was profound. THE STRIKERS ARE MASTERS OF THE SITUA-

THE STRIKERS ARE MASTERS OF THE SITUATION, and the best evidence that they could possibly produce of their intention to protect property lies at the scene of last night's battle. The immense plant of the firm of Carnegic, Phipps & Co. stands practically uninjured. The dismantled fence around the works has been rebuilt, the yard cleared of all debris and the old watchmen of the firm peacefully perform their customary patrol.

AN ARMED PARCO. AN ARMED PEACE.

But while peace reigns to-day, it is an armed peace—a truce forced by the fact that there is nobody to fight rather than a permanent cessation of hostilities. The town is picketed, and no man can enter without his presence being noted. A cordon of watchful and intensely suspicious workmen are around the entire city. Every road is guarded. Along the river on each bank a ceaseless patrol is maintained. No boat nor party of men come along without being followed, and if it is thought worth while questioned. Railroads are watched and at nearly every street crossing from half a dozen to two score of men are stationed, while up and down the tracks were others going and coming. The men intend that the works shall not be taken by surplise. They are stronger now in numbers and death-dealing coupments. Besides this they are reinforced by the prestige of last night's success and the arrival of fellow-workmen from outside towns, bringing assurance of sympathy and assistance, physical and financial, if needed.

WERE THEY SWORN IN?

PITTSBURG, Pa., July S.—The statements as to whether the Pinkerton men were sworn in as deputies has been very conflicting. Sheriff McCleary says they were not, but the Carnegie people insist that they were. Etshearer, of Chicago, who is at the West Pennsylvania Hospital, confirms the statement of the Carnegie people. He says they were sworn in by Deputy Sheriff Gray. The latter admits he was with the party, but asserts that he did not administer the oath to them. This question will be an important one in the settlement of the question. The wounded in the West Pennsylvania Hospital are in fair condition and will recover except E. A. Conver, of Brooklyn, who has a terriby shattered right arm and thigh; Patrick McGoff, of Chicago, who has a had wound in the abdomen, and C. F. tional Reome Suggested.

The necessity of providing more room at the Collegiate Institute to meet the rapid-ly-growing attendance was brought to the attention of No. 2 Committee of the Education Board last evening. Principal Merchant stated that there was only room for 25 more pupils in the first forms, and it was likely that 150 from the county would ask admission soon. They had to be accommodated or turned away. Mr. Merchant had inspected leading senools in the States, and suggested that the best plan would be to add four rooms to the front of the present building.

The Dehorning Commission,
OTTAWA, July 7.—The Ontario Government Commission this morning visited the Dominion's xperimental Farm and inspected fourteen head of cattle which have been dehorned at various ages extending over a period of five years. The animals appeared to be in no way injured by the process.
Prof. Robertson, in his evidence, stated he was favorably impressed by the dehorning scheme. In his opinion it was beneficial in more ways than one, and he thought farmers should be allowed to use their discretion in such matters. The chief pain lasted for a period of not less than six seconds, the time it took to cut the horn. R. W. Elliott,

A band tournament is talked of for Paris at an early date.

The death is announced of Joseph Winters, a well-known farmer in Brantford township. Mr. Winters was in the 62nd year of his age. He was a man highly respected and esteemed in the community in which he lived. He had resided at the present homestead for nearly 40 years.

Robert E. Jarrett, a resident of Brantford for nearly half a century, died Wednesday. Wednesday. ELGIN.

Pierce & Son hired one of their livery horses to a commercial traveler one day last week, who shamefully neglected and abused the poor animal. It cost him $50 to settle and if a year in jail with a few lashes had been added it would not have been out of place.—[Aylmer Sun.

The other day the little 5-year-old son of J. T. Orme, Port Stanley, climbed the hill on the east side of the village, and wandered over to the edge of the cliff overlooking the lake. His attention was attracted to the swallow's nests in the face of the cliff, and he started to climber down to them. The cliff is almost a sheer precipice at this spot, and of course the little fellow lost his footing, and fell to the bettom, considerably over 100 feet. Strange to say, he was not injured.

Alexander Kerr, of lona Station, died Wednesday afternoon, after a few days illness. He was attacked Sunday with inflammation of the bowels, and although medical aid was immediately summoned, it seemed of no avail. Mr. Kerr was a popular young man, aged about 30, and was held in highest esteem by all his sequaintances. He leaves two brothers—John, of Iona Station, and Archibald, of Lowa.

Thomas Moore, Tyrconnel, met with serious loss a day or two ago. He was hauling wood at the pier to load a vessel, the Defiance, and had unloaded his wagon, taking the horses from it, and turned it around, and was just hitching the horses on again when one stepped backward on some old planks, breaking them, and letting the horse through. It pulled the other horse, and there being no chance whatever of saving the animals, they were speedily drowned. In the course of two hours the carcases rose to the surface, and they were towed ashore.

A clerical-looking individual a few days ago called at the furniture warerooms of Lassaline & Son, Windsor, and purchased goods to the amount of $22. He presented a check for $40 on the Central National Bank of Cleveland, drawn by J. C. Williams. The proprietor of the store took the check and paid the purchaser, who, giving the name of Rev. James Kelly and claiming to be an Episcopal minister from Guelph, gave instructions as to the shipment of the goods and departed. Mr. Lassaline deposited the check at the Essex County Bank for collection, but was yesterday astonished to learn that it had been returned—"no funds," and that no such person as J. C. Williams ever had an account at the bank.

The funeral of the late Sheriff Doeds, of Simcoe, took place at Woodstock Wednesday and was largely attended. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Hicks, of Simcoe, assisted by Rev. J. C. Farthing, rector of the church. Among the county officials present were Judge Finkle, Sheriff Brady, Ragistrar Patullo, Postmaster Mc Cleneghan, Jailer Cameron, T. C. Patteson and others. The following were present from Simcoe: Mayor Campbell, Reeve Matthews, Councillors Curtis and McCall; E. C. Carpenter, M. P. P.: Judge Robb, J. H. Ainslie and W. E. Tisdale, representing the bar; W. Corbould, manager of the Bank of Hamilton; E. Cowdry, manager of the Bank of Commerce; J. D. Boyd, H. W. Purcela, Jailer Butler, H. W. Ainslie, reeve of Port Dover, and F. W. Curtis, deputy sheriff. The pallbearers were: E. Cowdry, Judge Robb, E. C. Carpenter and J. H. Ainslie, Simcoe, and John Barwick and J. H. Nelles, Woodstock.

CONTINENTAL UNION, Discussed at a Public Meeting in Orangeville. Varying Views of the Advocates and Opponents of the Scheme.

ORANGEVILLE, July 7.—A continental union meeting was held in the town hall last evening, and the place was filled to overflowing. On the platform were Messrs. W. Algie, of Alton; T. M. White, Windsor; Rev. Mr. McRobbie, Sheiburne; A. Maxwell, Caledon, and Messrs. Myers, M. S. Gray and Dr. Lewis, of Orangeville.

Dr. Henry was elected chairman. Although his views of continental union do not agree with those of the speakers of the evening. He kept fairly good order during the entire meeting. The only thing to really mar the pleasure of the meeting was a stone thrown through the window by some person.

A Tilbury lady went into the postofice Wednesday to mail a book. On being informed that the wrapping did not disclose the contents sufficiently, she turned to the register at the front window and arranged the article. On returning to the wicket she declared that her purse, containing a $100 check and $10 in cash, had been taken from the wicket desk. The postoffice authorities assured her they had seen nothing of it; nevertheless, she still protested as at first, went direct to the person in whose favor the check was drawn, had him inform the police and demand an investigation. Chief Young went down to the postofice, made a thorough search, with the assistance of the clerks, and found the purse where the thoughtless lady had dropped it down—in the register. She was too sure to be safe.—[Chatham Planet.

The speaker claimed that were we to have continental union our towns and cities would be more prosperous, our farmers would be more prosperous; in fact, everybody would reap some of the good resulting from such a step. Mr. Myers concluded by saying that no human power could put down the men who had undertaken this great work for the welfare of their country.

The figures are alarming in both cases. Yet the people will have the trolley if they cannot have an improvement on it.

One of the significant Liberal victories in the British netropolis is the defeat of Right Hon. C. T. Ritchie in St. George's, Tower Hamlets, by a large majority. Mr. Ritchie took office in August, 1886, as Exceldent of the Local Government Beard, Favridate of the Local Government Beard, for which he has drawn an annual salary of $10,000. He was the compiler of the County Ccuncil Bill, and one of his first acts was to construe its provisions so as to restrict the members of that important body. By the way, it is a noteworthy fact that the Liberals have scored one-half of the victories recorded for them up to the hour of writing in the British metropolis.

PRIVATE ARMIES

The Pinkerton system should not be tolerated in a free land. It is always a cause which they espouse, but when a gang that is irresponsible to the civil authorities are permitted to go to war upon their fellows without let or hindrance, they become a positive menace to the liberties of the It is right that the property of every citizen should be protected. Lawlessness claim protection for their own rights. But the proper agent to enforce this view is the civil power, as represented by the local law officers, and if they are not sufficiently strong to cope with disorder the military forces in charge of the superior authorities may fitly be called on to preserve the peace. Men inclined to riot will think twice before they indulge in lawlessness when they know that they have to face a united organization of this kind, backed as it must be by public soft as the proper agent to enforce this view is two or three weeks of the session. When months are allowed to elapse before action is taken, and the House is kept playing at legislation for weeks at a time, there is a grave dereliction of duty on the part of the Government. But so long as not look for a change. The present system may be costly to the taxpayer; it is by whomsoever resorted to must be put backed as it must be by public opinion and certain to triumph in the end.

POO

ELEVENTH-HOUR PRODIGALITY.

The Canadian people are taking so great n interest in the legislative struggle in Great Britain that they are apt to overlook the remarkable developments in the Parliament at Ottawa. A delirium of heedlessness nas seized Sir John Thompson and his associates as a consequence of their successes in the bye-elections and the knowledge that further investigation into past electoral rascalities is, for the time, frustrated by the emasculation of the serious charges laid against Sir Adolphe Caron. Surely it cannot be contended that it is for the public welfare that weeks after the House should have been dismissed from its House should have been dismissed from its labors, and after a large proportion of the members have left for their homes because of press of business engagements, Parliament should be asked to voice away millions of money for railway subsidies. Any one unacquainted with the circumstances of the people of Canada, looking at the manner in unacquainted with the circumstances of the people of Canada, looking at the manner in which these and other huge votes of public money are disposed of, in the most perfunctory manner by a servile majority, would be apt to think that the taxpayers are rich beyond measure, and only too glad to find avenues to get rid of their wealth. With so many of the railways built not fable to pay running expenses—not to say a word about dividends—and a Government railway that has cost over $50,000,000 with able to pay running expenses—not to say a word about dividends—and a Government railway that has cost over $50,000,000 with an annual deficit of from $500,000 to $700,000, the time has surely come for Canada to shut down on the railway subsidy system of bribery and corruption. But if there are to be railway subsidies, it is high time that some stringent, regulations, were there are to be railway subsumes, it is time that some stringent regulations were adopted to secure the expenditure of the money for the purposes stipulated in the vote of Parliament. Hon. Wilfrid Laurier did his best to have such a provision rafted on the last railway subsidy bill. It was pre-eminently in the public interest, out Sir John Thompson vetoed the proposition. He knows why. If the law were made as Mr. Laurier proposed; if receivers of subsidies were made to show how every dollar of the pub-lic grant is expended; if they were prohibited from contributing to the election funds of any party, one of the objects for which these subsidies have in recent years been voted would be defeated, and the oc-cupation of the Haggarts, the Langevins, nd the Carons would in a large measur

No honest man, looking only at the welfare of the Canadian people, can deny the rightfulness of the position assumed by Mr. Laurier. There should be enough public conscience to compel the speedy adoption of his proposition. Is there? It is doubtful. The Canadian people may depend upon it that so long as they allow railway subsidies to be milked for the purpose of raising election funds, just so long will the public purse be plundered under form of law by the politicians who profit by the

MR FOSTER'S NEW DEPARTURE. Another extraordinary developmen the closing hours of Parliament has been engineered by Mr. Foster. Either Mr. Foster was fooling the West India people, or he is now engaged in spending Canadian money in a bootless task.

But this Figure 18 Saunders' opinion that sugar beet culture

But this Finance Minister of ours goes But this Finance Minister of ours goes a step further. Just as the House is about to rise, after the supplies have been voted, and contrary to all precedent, he brings down a number of important changes in the customs tariff, including a project to confer extraordinary powers to retaliate on the Government of As is well known, it will now that calm and dispassionate consideration that would have been theirs if introduced dangerous thing to make it easy for any body of men to resort to arms in aid of the pendent members were to seriously demand that ample time for consideration should be given, we doubt not that Mr. Foster's friends would promptly call the country to friends would promptly call the country to witness that there are obstructionists in the House whose sole object is to prolong the session! That would not be the truth, but the "explanation" would be hugged to the bosom of many a partisan s a complete answer to every objection to this system of sacrificing the public interests that now prevails.

THE BRITISH LENGTH FOR SPECHES.

[The Canada Presbyterian.]

The Hon. Edward Blake possessed the best brain in this Dominion, but there was one thing he never could do, or, at all events, never did do. He could not discuss the leading points of a great question, or of a number of questions, in an hour. A conscientious, painstaking advocate, accustomed all his life to take out of a case all there was in it, and say everything for his client that could be said, his exhaustive method of treatment followed him to the platform, and there he usually went into dotails as he would have done in Oscoode Hall. That is not the English style. Gladstone, Salisbury, Morley, Chamberlain, Harcourt or any other British speaker of the first class can discuss the salient points of any question in an hour. Unless in some great emergency, a front rank British statesman rarely speaks much longer than an hour. British audiences do not like prolixity. No doubt Mr. Blake will change his style. Canadians will watch with interest for the criticism of the leading fournals. Over there the journalists say exactly what they think about a man's style.

The steamer continued to pound heavily, and there was every indication that she was doomed to destruction. Orders were given for all hands to abandon the ship, and in a short time they went ashore, being assisted by the life-saving crew and the coast guardsmen, and the steamer was left to her fate. At 2 o'clock this morning she broke in two amidship, and the after portion went down in twelve fathoms of water.

PARIS, July 7.—The transatlantic steame Marechal Canrobert has been sunk in a col Marechal Canrobert has been sunk in a collision with the French ironclad Hooke, off Planier Island, in the Gulf of Lyons. Several persons were drowned. The Marechal Canrobert was literally cut in half. She was attempting to cross the line of the French squadron that was manewering when the accident happened. There were S5 passengers on the deck of the Marechal Canrobert watching the maneuvers when the Hoche, which is the flagship of the squadron, crashed into her side. Owing to the dense smoke caused by the firing of the guns the officers of the Hoche did not see the Marechal Canrobert until it was too late to avert the disaster. The shock of the collision was terrific. Both vessels were deflected from their courses by the tremendous force of the impact and floated alongside of each other. It was seen at once that the Marechal Canrobert in a very short time must go to the bottom, and she fastened in all haste to the ironclad to prevent her from sinking while her passengers were being transferred to the warship. Immediately after the Marechal Canrobert had been detached from the Hoche she gave a lurch and disappeared beneath the waves. Five of her passengers were lost. It is supposed that they were killed by being struck by the ram of the Hoche when she crashed into the unfortunate steamer. lision with the French ironclad Hoche, off Eleventh Anniversary of the Y. P. S. C. E. of the World.

Thousands of Delegates From Every Quarter of the Globe—A Scene Im-pressive and Unprecedented. The Convention Form-

New York, July 7.—Twenty thousand delegates, representing the societies of Christian Endeavor in 49 States and Territorities, Canada, Europe, Africa, India, Brazil and the islands of the Pacific, met in the great amphitheater of Madison Square Garden to-day. In this year of big conventions no larger or more representative body will assemble, and no more progressive citizens could be called together. It is the eleventh international meeting of the United Societies of Christian Endeavor, and the earnest men and women who have met to advance the cause represent a total membership of 1,100,000. The organization has had a marvelous growth. It was started by the Rev. F. E. Clark, pastor of the Williston Church at Portland, Me., on Feb. 2, 1881. Its purpose was to promote an earnest Christian lite among its members and to unite the young people of all denominations in systematic endeavor to advance the Christian idea. The movement to-day is the greatest the country has seen.

GROWTH OF THE SOCIETY.

The growth from year to year has been follows:

The Initiative and Referendum. Referring to needed reforms in representative government, the following circular has been issued to the people of circular has been issued to the people of Canada:

"We have had years of experience of our system of representative government, the result of which has been to prove representative government, the result of which has been to prove representative government in some respects a failure. Our laws do not represent the will of the people, neither do they serve to prevent corruption. No system of government can be considered satisfactory, which does not answer these two requirements. The first duty of our legislative body should be to carry into effect the wishes of the majority of the electors of the community. In acountry wherethe electorshave no opportunity to express themselves directly upon the question at issue, it must necessarily happen that the wishes of the people may be one thing, while the law enacted by the legislative power may be entirely different. Especially is this true, when, as with us, a dozen different measures may be brought before the electors in one political campaign, on some of which one candidate may represent the electors views while the opposing candidate may be more in accord with him as to the remainder. The elector naturally votes for the candidate who represents his view on what he considers the most important question, while he is compelled to sacrifice his opinions on what he deems of minor importance. When added to this, there have been party affiliations extending over a long term of years, the voter very often sacrifices his views on even the most important matter, because, while not satisfied with the position taken by his whilom friends, he prefers to have them in power rather than to trust the control of affairs to those in whom he has no confidence, fearing that they may do even worse than his friends. (In a proper system of government the voter should be able to express his opinion directly upon legislation.)

"Then, after a "expresentative is once selected, there is no method provided by which his action may be controlled, either positively or negatively during his term of "We have had years of experience of our inis opinion directly upon legislation."

"Then, after a "epresentative is once selected, there is no muthod provided by which his action may be controlled, either positively or negatively during his term of office. He is at liberty to break every pledge, and on every question to vote contrary to the wishes of his constituents. The electors are kings only at the moment they deposit their ballot, for they thus assert their sovereignty only to yield it up again to the representative body. This we believe to be a flagrant wrong which should be remedied. The evil results of the system have been made apparent in our own legislation, and much social progress has been retarded because of its defects.

"The present system tends towards partyism and partylsm leads to corruption. In the process of time electors become so identified with their party that they seek to palliate rather than condemn the wrongs of which that party may have been guilty. The result has been periodical revelations of corruption in our parliamentary systems. Partiotic citizens should look around for a remedy. Not a palliative that will serve merely as a check, but something which will strike at the root of the disease. We believe that the cause of these evils lies in the fact that our various representative bodies have practically uncontrolled power over both money and important interests. This affords the opportunity for corruption and at the same time binds the adherents of the parties together and furnishes the incentive to sacrifice the interests of the country for the interests of the party. Party exigency fills the place which should be occupied by the public weal. The remedy, then, is to so change the system as to make it impossible for our representative bodies to control those moneys and interests independent of the econsent of the electors. At the same time the refusal of that consent should not affect the position of the government of the day.

"To insure the consideration and adoption of progressive legislation there should be the powe be the duty of the municipal council, Legislative Assembly or Dominion Parliament, as the case may be, to prepare an act in accordance with the terms of the demand and submit it to the popular vote for approval or rejection. If approved it forthwith becomes law.

"Second—The Referendum, a provision by which all enactments of a general nature, and which are not urgent in their character, do not become law until three months after they have been passed by the representative body. During those three months the voters may demand that the measure be submitted to the popular vote.

"Third—Such other measures as may be necessary to bring our political system into harmony with the above suggested changes.

changes.

"These methods have been in force in the cantons of Switzerland for many years. Instituted in the Canton of Sk. Gallen, in 1831, they were gradually adopted by the other cantons, until one or both is now in force in every canton where there is no general assembly, excepting Friburg. The referendum has been in operation in in federal legislation since the year 1848. "Messra. Adams and Canningbam, in their work, "The Swiss Confederation," published in 1888, used the following words to describe the effect of this system upon Swiss politicians, legislation and the people: "The referendum has struck root and expanded wherever it has been introduced, and no serious politicism of any party would now think of attempting its abolition. Those who violently opposed its introduction became its earnest supporters when they found that it undoubtedly acted as a drag upon hasty and radical law making." law making."

"Rev. J. Waddell Black, while spending a few days in London last week, solicited aid for the building fund of Kiex Church here from some of the prominet Presbyterians of London. He received in all over $50, for which the Leamington Presbyterians are devoutly thankfu! So says the Leamingtom Post. Should my of Mr. Black's frierds whom he was usable to see when in London be willing to give a donation to the church in Leamington, he will be glad if they communicate with him (P. O. Box 281, Leamington), or with the minister, the Rev. Murray Watson, or with the treasurer of the building fund, I. McR. Selkirk, postmester, Leamington.

—Bridge of Weir is a pretty little village in Renfrewshire, Scotland, not much more than a Sabbath Day's journey from Glasgow or Paisley, and it was there Rev. M. Herridge found a wife in the daughter of a Presbyteriam minister of the Church of Scotland. Mr. Herridge has left for Scotland, and particularly that district, While there he will meet Dr. Gentles, of Paisley Abbey, a leading light of the Scotch(hurch. This abbey, dated 1160, is one of the bistoric edifices of Europe, and it is more than probable that Mr. Herridge will occupy in pulpit while so close to its precincts. The reverend gentleman will also, after taking in London, cross the channel to the continent. He is wished bon voyage by this city. [Ottawa Free Press. Rev. From God, who is our home.

—Wordsworth.

The first thing that I can record concerning myse.f is, that I was born.

That I was born! I who now sit in this remote and solitary study, of whose mysteries my good neighbors speak reverently with doubt and wonder, encompassed with things immortal!—the everlasting elements without, the stream, the hills, the fruitful earth, twhich has been and shall be until the end of itime; within, with things of life, instinct gand inherent, fated perchange to live longer than this present world, the books of members book of God—that out of derkness and sleep and unconsciousness, I was born the book of God—that out of derkness and sleep and unconsciousness, I was born the seventating living soul, began, My mind loses itself in these depths. Strangely significant and solemn are the commonest phrases of our humanity; the words which veil the constant marvels of our miraculous life.

phrases of our humanity; the words which veil the constant marvels of our miraculous life!

But this of "he was born" is greater in my eyes, than that other of "he died." Say you, He died? say rather, He has changed his garments, has put off a fading robe, which by and by—perchance a time as short in Heaven's account as are those fleeting days to us—he shall put on again to work forever. But in yonder anxious house, in yender dim room, with life's plaintive music rising on his unconscious ear, in wailing and tears, its natural utterance, this wonderful soul began. By solemn in your rejoiding, ye new mothers, ye glad attendant friends; for this that hath come into the world shall abide forever, this new existence is beyond the breath or touch of death, a thing immortal, a presence which shall outlive the world.

I was born sadly, in gloom which none broke by the voice of thanksgiving, for the two greatest things of heram life mot in my birth-hour. I entered the world, a fit entrance for my long, clouded course; and solemily, in pain and grief, my mother went forth to the other country. My young, fair, gentle mother, of whom I think now as of some beautiful dream that crossed me in my youth.

My father was a hard man, who loved the went forth to the other country. My young, fair, gentle mother, of whom I think now as of some beautiful dream that crossed me in my youth.

My father was a hard man, who loved the world; but I used to hear long ago that this moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply all my life has it moved him. Most deeply saintly and mother-like when I am yas young, but now, in her paile beauty resembling more a dead child of the old man who is her son.

I dwell upon this pernaps too often, when I am sad—and I am truly sad too often, for I am alone; but it is surely well and blessed to preserve in the safe keeping of death this boly fragrance of youth. The years that have mossed her grave, and match be lood thin and child in my old veins, have brought no chance to her—she is young forever.

My father was a Graeme of Mossgray. In our own Southland district we are chief of the name, tut he did not esteem the traditional honor that belonged to the title—it was mere idle breath to him. The orincity. He labored without ceasing, for I know not what reason. I fancy there had been some ambition in him to accumulate one of those fairy fortunes, which very prosaic and ordinary men do achieves sometimes, though what end he proposed to himself in attaining this, I cannot tell, for he himself was becoming old, and I was nothing to him; even as the heir of his name he bestowed no regard on me; for the name itself was indifferent. He would have thrown it into the scale with any piece of merchandise, and known himself nothing the poorer.

But a spell was upon this fortune of his, so constantly pursued, His prosperity never passed a certain limit. It was as though some malicious spirit had thized with; but the man was a hard was any searcely knew him, though he was my father); and was susceptible to no grief but this. That discripline, wise as it must be, most hard as it is always, which strikes us through our dearest things, could not touch him except in those outward matters of wealth and mercantile credit, which to him were all in al; and on these accordingly the stroke fell.

were all in al.; and on these accordingly the stroke fell.
So heavily it came at last, that in his willful selfishness he resolved to sell Mossgray. There was no one living to plead for me, a child then, scarcely daring to lift up my spes in his presence, and for my right to this inheritance, descended from many upright fathers to whom its very name and local place were dearer than fortune. But death stepped in again to save for me a home—a home which hath been to me a blessed inheritance, a solsce in the midst of some evils—from other some a refuge and a shelter.

i was a solitary child, allowed in this lonely house of Mossgray to grow up, neglected and uncared for, as I best could. My

I was a solitary child, allowed in this onely house of Mossgray to grow up, nejected and uncared for, as I best could. My childish memories are rich in dreams and printual presences, and over-shadowed universally by that vague sadness, which, dumb as it is, and quiet, is so pitiful in children. I remember how the leaves were wont to fall from the old eims and alders from the waterside, with their cerie and plaintive sound. I remember the low weeping cadence of the water—the disconsolate autumn breeze—and then comes upon me again the blank childish heaviness — the cloud of chi.dish melancholy, that knew not how it was made sad, or why.

Mossgray had been a peelhouse—one of those fortified places which the exigencies of Border warfare, predatory and otherwise made so necessary in our district. A high, square tower occupies the center, with narrow windows, and arrow slits piercing its mossy wall, which has been of old strong in all needful capabilities of defense, and could yet be a notable hold, if our peaceful Cumberland neighbors took up their warlike trade again.

oppressed me on all sides then—but I had no misgivings as to the beautiful olden times—they were past, and they were true!

Mosgray had been a peelhouse—one of those fortified places which the exigencies of Border warfare, predatory and charvisis made so necessary in our district. A history of the present of quires two men to work the scheme, but if the victims are selected with discrimination it should prove successful.

The trick is a simple one. Crock No. 1 beards an elevated train and sits down on one of the cross seats on the side nearest the station. If the window is shut he opens it and then begins to scan a newspaper. His pal joins him afterward and takes a seat facing him. No sign iof recognition passes between them, and they continue to ride thus until the seat beside one of them is occupied by a passenger carrying a satchel or a bundle which has the appearance of containing articles of value. Then when the next station is reached one of the men rises leisurely and walks out of the car. He waits until the car is in motion and then rushes breathlessly to his pal and excitedly asks for the valies which he left behind. His pal picks up the valies and passes it ont of the window to his confederate before the rightful owner has a chance to protest. Explanations follow, but the crock, pretending to learn his mistake, humbly apologizes and leaves the train at the next station.

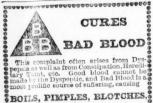

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil, is ear ache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, in which the young are specially subject.
