Horrible Holocaust!

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—The Newsky infantry barracks at Boslavl, Province of Smoelnsk, were burned last night. The fire was discovered shortly after 10 o'clock, but before all the men could be roused the flames had spread through most of the building. About 400 men ran out in their night clothes. Of the 60 who were driven to the roof and obliged to jump for ther lives eleven were killed and eight injured so severely that they will die. Twenty-three men and nine non-commissioned officers were burned to death. Many other soldiers are missing.

McDonnell, of the Norma, has protested to the British Minister against the seizure.

The Spanish Policy.

MADRID, Oct. 5.—The Spanish Minister of Foreign affairs received the British, French, German, Italian and Belgian Ministers yesterday afternoon to explain to them the policy of Spain in North Africa. While purposing to maintain the status quo in Africa he said Spain would push forward vigorously the work on her forts in North Africa and would chastise severely every attempt of Moorish aggressors to drive her from the coast. Through her Minister Spain has demanded full reparation for the outrage at Melilla.

Surrounded by 27,000 Moors.

MADRID, Oct. 15.—Dispatches from Melilla say that 27,000 Moors, including 5,000 cavalry, are surrounding that place. The Moors swear they will never permit the erection of the Spanish fort at Guarlach, near the Moorish cemetery.

The Council of Ministers here has decided to erect the fort at any cost, so as to wipe out the defeat of the troops, and reinforcements are being sent to the front as rapidly as possible.

The gunboat Cuerva has arrived at Melilla and has been shelling the Moorish forts on the Riff coast all day.

Breeze in the Church Congress.

LONDON, Oct. 5.—Father Ignatius, the Episcopal monk who made a tour of the United States some three years ago, set the Church Congress at Birmingham in an uproar to-day by denouncing publicly the Rev. Charles Gore, the author of "Lux Mundi."

Mr. Gore rose to read a paper, as contemplated in the programme of the day.

Before he opened his mouth Father Ignatius sprang to his feet and exclaimed: "I protest against this. That man is a denier of Christ. He ought not to be heard here."

Cheers and hisses followed. The Bishop of Worcester, who presided, told Mr. Gore to proceed and ordered Father Ignatius to be seated.

Amidst great disorder Father Ignatius shouted that he would not yield until he received permission to speak later.

The bishop assented and Father Ignatius sat down, and Mr. Gore read his paper.

Then Father Ignatius rose to reply, but he was ruled out of order. Cheers, hisses, groans and protests greeted this decision of the bishop. Every attempt of Father Ignatius to speak caused a renewal of the uproar. He appealed to the bishop, but the latter ignored him. Eventually Father Ignatius left the congress. The disorder subsided at once, and the programme of the day was continued.

Loss Over $1,000,000

Details of Disaster from the Gulf Coast.

Appalling News from Sections of Louisiana.

Fully 100 Lives Lost—Scores of Boats and Larger Craft Sunk—The Beach Strewn With Wrecks.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Oct. 5.—The first definite news from the Gulf coast reached the city this morning. The financial loss along the entire coast will foot up not less than $1,000,000, and fully 100 lives were lost. The news is almost as appalling as that from the coast of Louisiana. At Beloxi nothing escaped the fury of the elements. On every side could be seen the wrecks of boats, piers and bath houses, and in many instances the fronts of houses on the beach were totally demolished. The canning industries were completely wrecked.

Out of more than 100 boats of the front bay only three rode the storm safely, and the beach is strewn with wrecks of all descriptions. On the back bay there were only one or two that weathered the gale. Not a single wharf is left standing on either front or back bay. The damage was not confined alone to the water front, but all through the city, in every direction, the effects of the storm can be seen in fallen trees, fences, and here and there a house is partially unroofed.

At Deer Island, just opposite Beloxi, 40 head of cattle were drowned. When the storm came up, which was a genuine cyclone, there were many boats in the Louisiana marsh oyster fishing, and it is almost certain that a number, if not all of these boats went down with all on board. Of eight schooners, known to be there Sunday evening, three have been picked up bottom side up, with masts and rigging all gone and not a soul on board. It is believed the loss of life will not fall short of 100.

At Ship Island, previous to the storm, there were seven vessels loading for other ports. The Norwegian bark Simon, Capt. Gunderson, 734 tons for Cape Town, to load for Buenos Ayres, lost her mast, rigging, and suffered other damage. The British bark Rosella Smith, 509 tons, for Havana, Capt. Hunterman, was found bottom up drifting outside, and is a total wreck. The mate, carpenter and cook were drowned. The German bark Margaret is, 1,287 tons, from New York, Capt. Koster, lost two anchors and 120 fathoms of chains, and suffered other damage. The Austrian bark Annie E. B., from Santos, is a complete wreck. Of the crew of thirteen men and two stevedores aboard, the captain, three sailors and the two stevedores were drowned.

Considerable damage was done on the island, the warehouse, fort, keepers' house and lazaretto at the quarantine station being completely washed away and the lighthouse keeper's house being badly damaged. Very little of the Government wharf remains, and what is left will be of no service. A large number of cattle were also drowned.

Probably the worst damage, the loss of property, was at Chandelier Island. Here was located the United States marine hospital and the quarantine buildings. At this point the fullest strength of the storm was developed, resulting not only in the almost complete destruction of all the buildings on the island, but a fearful loss of life. The building and pier known as the disinfecting plant, supplied with all the modern appliances for the thorough disinfection of the vessels from infected ports is a complete loss, everything being washed away, while the other buildings on the island are more or less damaged and uninhabitable.

The following persons are missing, and almost certain they were drowned: Steward A. L. Duckert, of New Orleans; Nurse McKenzie, of Mobile; Seaman Muller, of Amsterdam, and two patients, one named Lazen, of the steamship Ravensdale, and Geo. A. Salmis, boatman of the American bark Rebecca Goddard. The lighthouse is also wrecked and the keeper has abandoned it. Miles of the island have been washed away and what little remains is liable to be completely submerged with a little more that ordinary high tide.

Chatham's Fair.

CHATHAM, Oct. 5.—The Peninsular Fair opened here on the 3rd, but owing to wet weather was not largely patronized on that day. The weather, however, cleared up and was all that could be desired yesterday and to-day. The number of entries as compared with last year were much more numerous and varied. The grounds were crowded with visitors, and the exhibition has been most successful.

The Murder Trial.

Opening of the Evidence in the Freeman Case.

The Jury Empaneled and Crown Witnesses Called.

Constable McDonald's Description of the Tragedy.

Mr. Osler's Searching Cross-Examination—The Lines of the Defense partially Disclosed—Highly Interesting Testimony

The Raleigh township murder case came up for hearing at the assizes yesterday. Wm. Lount, Q.C., assisted by James Magee, Q.C., appeared for the crown and B. B. Osler, Q.C., Toronto, and Hugh Pegley, Q.C., Chatham, were counsel for the defense. The court room was packed with a curious mob. The prisoners were in the box ten minutes before the appointed time, and before the general public was admitted. Alexander had a few minutes conversation with his Chatham solicitor Mr. Pegley, before the judge arrived. While swearing in a panel the judge asked the constables to allow Lemuel Freeman to sit outside the box as he looked crowded. Lemuel had been supplied with a chair and replied that he was comfortable.

The following jurors were empaneled to try the men for life or death: Henry Montague, Donald K. McCrae, Wm. J. Legg, David Ramey, Cephas Sissons, Daniel Coughlin, John Irwin, Wm. Weatherston, W. J. Weir, Alex. Grant, Wm. Carrothers and Archibald Gilles. Only three jurors were challenged, and they for the crown.

While the swearing in was taking place the prisoners stood up in the box. Of the four Lemuel is the most prepossessing. He is the cousin, and the one who, it is said, can prove an alibi. His complexion is the lightest of the quartet. All four have mustaches, and, with the exception of William Henry, open countenances. William Henry has a singularly lowering brow and hair.

The indictment was read to the jurors, and the case began. The crown counsel displayed a large map of the locality in which the tragedy occurred, and detailed the circumstances of the affair. During the recital the defense objected to the presence in the room of some of the witnesses and Constables McDonald, Dezelia and Best were removed.

Wm. Lount, Q.C., in stating the case, said that the crown believed that George Freeman, when he resisted arrest on the night of the 23rd of January, knew that he was charged with a crime, and that McDonald, the constable, was an officer of the law having a warrant for his arrest. He therefore ought to have submitted to the law; and that on the following day, when the same officer, accompanied by two other officers (Rankin and Dezelia), clothed in uniform, and armed as regards that, with authority, there could have been no cause for apprehension that anything was going to be done but a proper legal arrest. Dezelia was the only man of the trio to carry a gun. George Freeman had been placed under arrest, but managed to break away, and ran about screaming "Murder!" "Murder!" "Murder!" This apparently had been a preconcerted signal, and William Henry, Alexander and another man, supposed to have been the father, Jeremiah, appeared at the back door. Both Dezelia and Rankin cried out that they would not hurt the prisoners, but George shouted, "Stay back or we will shoot you." Mr. Lount held that the word "we" had significant meaning of preconcerted action. George fired three shots and Dezelia was wounded. The three men then followed Rankin, who, seeing William Henry coming at him with a club, Alexander with an axe, and George with a revolver, turned and ran through the deep snow. In a fence corner he was overtaken and beaten by William Henry with the club, and struck several times on the head by Alexander with the axe. Although already shot Dezelia climbed partly over the high board fence and wounded William Henry and Alexander with his revolver. He was chased off the premises and George went back to the dread fence corner and struck the already dying or dead Rankin a blow on the head that was heard at a great distance. When the constables went back the next day for the body they were told to stay away or be killed too.

CONSTABLE SKIRVING.

Constable Archibald Hugh Skirving took the stand, and produced a cordwood stick about two feet six inches long with a significant blood stain in the center of it. The wood and an axe handle were found together. The cordwood stick was covered with frozen snow and blood and some dark brown hair was found on the sharp edge of it. The hairs were the same color as the dead man's and about the same length. The axe handle was covered with blood from end to end. An axe was found in Jeremiah Freeman's house. Near the head the handle had split and had been bound with wire. From appearances the axe had been cleaned, but blood was found in the interstices of the wire, where it was impossible to clean it out. Signs of blood were found on some pitchforks in the stable, as if bloody hands had handled them.

Cross-examined by Mr. Osler—The police of Chatham have no duties out of town, except where people have committed an offense in town and are being followed, have they?

Witness—I consider that I have a perfect right to arrest a man, whether in the city or county.

Mr. Osler pressed for a direct answer as to whether or not a city officer was justified in making a county arrest.

The witness could not state the law on the matter, and the jury will decide.

"Did you know that there was occasion for blood around the premises, and that two of the prisoners were shot—William Henry in the hand?

"Well, I heard that some of them were."

CHIEF YOUNG OF CHATHAM.

Chief Wm. Young, Chatham, identified the various exhibits produced by the previous witness, and corroborated Skirving as to the condition they were found in. He knew Rankin was appointed as county constable from the list furnished. No; he did not know of any specific instance in which Rankin had acted as such. He knew McDonald and Dezelia to act as county constables.

Cross-examined by Mr. Osler, Mr. Young said he could not tell whether the stain on the axe was blood or rust. Yes; witness had seen in the papers that McDonald had been recommended for dismissal more than once. No; he didn't know McDonald was a discredit to the force and that they were waiting to dismiss him after the trial.

COUNTY CONSTABLE M'DONALD.

Alexander McDonald, county constable, Kent county, had acted as county constable for seventeen years. He recognized a warrant produced as one handed to him by Magistrate McNaughton, of Chatham, on Jan. 23 to execute on the person of George Freeman. The warrant charged Freeman with carnally knowing and abusing Jane Lizzert, a girl under 14 years old. He took the warrant, and with a man named Best drove out to the Freeman's. It was 7 o'clock in the evening when he got there, and the door was opened a few inches by George Freeman. "I could see that he was not going to let me in," said the witness, "and I told him that the cutter was broken and I wanted some string to fix it. When I got inside I told him I had a warrant for his arrest. He said 'go out of here or I will kill you.' I tussled with him and threw him once or twice and called on Best to help me get him out. He shouted to a woman (I supposed it was his wife, I don't know,) standing by, to get an axe. She did not get an axe but she pounded me on the back with a stick. Between the two I broke my hold and George ran back to the house. I went back to town and saw Mr. Douglas, crown attorney, and his clerk."

From there he went to Constables Dezelia and Rankin for assistance. They went out the next afternoon about 4 o'clock. Rankin and Dezelia were in uniform. Dezelia went towards the house and Rankin towards the barn. The witness went around the corner of the house and saw George Freeman running from the house and striking over the field. He crossed the road and climbed a fence and went to his father's house. As soon as George Freemen left the house he commenced to cry "murder" in a loud voice, although nothing had been said to him. "I wanted to run after him," said McDonald, "but Rankin replied, 'No; we will go slow and catch him at his father's house.' In the house we found George Freeman, coming out of the kitchen door with a revolver in his hand. He said: 'Keep back, or I will shoot you.' This was as we came in the gate. William Henry Freeman and Alexander stood beside the door. There were some others there, but I could not recognize any. I knew one was a little lighter than the other."

Mr. Lount—Do you see the fourth prisoner, Lemuel, there?

"Yes, sir."

Mr. Lount—Did you recognize him at all at that time?

—A.—No, I can't say that I did.

Lemuel appeared much more at ease after this, and smiled visibly.

Mr. McDonald—Dezelia and Rankin both cried out to George Freeman that they wanted to reason with him, would not hurt a hair of his head, but he advanced and fired several shot, and Dezelia exclaimed that he was shot. Rankin commenced to retreat in an easterly direction and William Henry and Alexander left the group at the door and followed him. He (the witness) noticed what he thought to be a grub hoe in William Henry's hand. Alexander had an axe. McDonald went up the road to help Rankin over the fence. When he got near him he saw Rankin at bay in the angle of the fence. William Henry struck him two or three times with the grub-hoe. The blow knocked Rankin down just as Alexander came up with the axe. McDonald cried to Dezelia: "For God's sake, shoot. They are killing Rankin." Dezelia got up on the fence and fired several shots at the colored men. Before that, however, Alexander Freeman had rushed in with the axe and struck Rankin fairly on the head in a downward direction between Rankin's upturned arms. Rankin fell face downwards in the snow, and was again beaten by both men. Alexander staggered as if hit when Dezelia fired the shots. George Freeman then came up with a flat stick which the witness recognized as the bloody piece of cordwood produced, and struck the prostrate Rankin a terrible blow on the head.

Dezelia and McDonald both retired, but came back and asked for Rankin.

Let us have the policeman and we will go home, they said.

Somebody replied: "He is dead and gone to hell."

They then went to Byran's mill for assistance. They could not get any and returned to Chatham by way of Charing Cross. A posse went out the same night and brought in the body.

Cross-examined by Mr. Osler—The snow was falling fast that night. It was after dark when he went to the house the night before.

Mr. Osler—And you got into the house by telling what was not true.

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You were the man who set the law in motion in this case and laid the information?

A.—Yes, sir.

Some rigorous questions were asked about the warrant. Mr. Osler remarked that it looked like a very worn warrant with a very fresh seal, but the witness said that he had seen the magistrate affix it.

Q.—When you were employed as assistant turnkey in the Chatham jail did you know a man named Samuel Harris?

A.—I knew there was a man named Harris in jail there.

Q.—Did you ever say to him "I like those boys" (speaking of the Freemans.) "When I went out that time I did not take any warrant with me."

A.—I swear positively that I did not.

Q.—Did you further tell him that you had been drunk before you went out?

A.—I never told him any such thing.

Q.—And that you were not in a condition to read the warrant?

A.—No, sir; I swear it.

Q.—Did Best have a pistol?

Some hesitation followed this question. Then McDonald explained that he thought Best had a "pistol"—a small bottle of whisky.

Q.—Did you strike George Freeman when you went to arrest him?

A.—No, sir; I did not.

Q.—How do you explain that he (George Freeman) had a wound on his head the following day?

A.—Well, Best struck him when he was struggling with me.

Q.—Did you call on Best to shoot him at the time you were struggling with him?

A.—No; I don't remember.

Q.—Will you swear you did not?

A.—I won't swear I did not.

Mr. Osler then produced the witness' sworn statement before a Chatham magistrate. McDonald was obliged to admit that he had called on Best to shoot.

Q.—Do you remember Best's answer that he had lost it?

A.—I don't think he did.

Q.—Will you swear that you did not say when George started to run, "There he goes; shoot him."

At first the witness swore positively that he did not; then he said that he did not remember saying so.

An adjournment was made for lunch.

NOTES.

The girl Ida Jane Lizzert, who was the primary cause of all the trouble, is not present at the trial. She has married since the trouble.

J. H. Orme, Peter Turner and William Poole, three jurors, were in the room when their names were called in the panel and did not answer. The judge signified his intention of fining them their day's pay unless they could account satisfactorily for their action.

DOMINION ALLIANCE.

Annual Meeting of the Council at Toronto.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—The annual meeting of the council of the Dominion Alliance was held here this morning, Senator Vidal being in the chair.

The annual report was presented by F. S. Spence, after which J. J. McLaren, Q.C., delivered a short address on the work in Ontario, J. R. Dougall, of Montreal, following with a short address on work in Quebec.

Rev. Dr. J. McLeod, of New Brunswick, a member of the royal commission on prohibition, declared that his experience as a commissioner had convinced him that the people were impatient of half measures.

Rev. Dr. Griffin was the next speaker, and was followed by Patrick Monaghan, secretary of the prohibition commission. Mr. Monaghan declared that if Nova Scotia had the power to adopt and enforce a prohibitory law she would easily secure it. After hearing the addresses the council proceeded to the appointment of a committee, which work occupied the remainder of the morning.

The Dominion Alliance resumed at 2 o'clock, Senator Vidal in the chair. The proceedings of the afternoon consisted principally of the reception of committee reports, some of which were briefly discussed.

The committee on law enforcement held that the Provincial Governments were responsible for the enactment and enforcing of laws dealing with the liquor traffic, and recommend that more attention be paid to the composition of municipal councils, which in some provinces have large powers for the enforcement of laws regulating the liquor traffic.

The committee on legislation recommended all provinces that had not yet ascertained the feeling of the electorate on the question of the prohibition of the liquor traffic to take steps immediately to do so.

Without indorsing the appointments of the prohibition commission, the committee recommended that a representative of the council continue to attend their sessions and watch their proceedings.

BOSTON, MASS.
33rd YEAR.

As this renowned institution near approaches the competition of a third of a century of unparalleled success and usefulness in the treatment of all nervous disorders, from whatever cause arising, it is fitting that the public should be informed why it has become a fixed fact among the medical phenomena of this century, and why it will remain so. The chief reason is the physicians employed are qualified by training, education, earnestness and zeal, and peculiar genius, adaptation and attention to this special department of pathology and therapeutics. With their treatment it will be wise for the afflicted to bear in mind that there is no cause for despair or even despondency.

In recognition of the pre-eminent skill of the chief consulting physician of this institute, W. H. Parker, M.D., the board of officers of the National Medical Health Association, on Jan. 1, 1876, conferred upon him the gold and jeweled medal, accompanied by a series of flattering resolutions for the prize essay (The Science of Life or Self-Preservation) on nervous maladies. The presentation was noticed at time of its occurrence, not only by the Boston press but by all the leading journals throughout the country.

The Murder Trial.

Thursday Afternoon.

The Freeman murder trial is likely to continue the balance of the week, so stubbornly do the different counsel hold their ground, and examine and cross-examine each witness on the merest details. Less than half a dozen witnesses for the crown were examined yesterday and one of them was on the stand for about four hours. Counsel on both sides are recognized as the ablest cross-examiners in the country, and it is likely any witnesses for the defense will be as rigorously dealt with by Mr. Lount, as those of the crown are by Mr. Osler. The line of defense as disclosed so far appears to be an attempt to show that Rankin exceeded his duty as a town policeman, in endeavoring to make a county arrest, that McDonald and Best used violence when they first attempted to arrest George Freeman, and made him fearful of his life, and that Alexander Freeman was shot by P. C. Dezelia before striking Robert Rankin with the axe. The details are sensational and appear to deeply interest the curious crowd that pack the court room. Several women with infants crowded in after lunch, so anxious were they to hear the case. The blood-stained cordwood stick, axe, Rankin's clothes, and other exhibits added realism to the awful scene. The prisoners appear to feel the responsibility of their position and are ill at ease, straining every nerve to hear what goes on, George in some instances almost rising off his seat, and at times conversing with his solicitor, Mr. Pegley, and giving his counsel points in the case as the evidence is unrolled. Lemuel appears to be the least affected by his position, smiling visibly when one of the witnesses could not recognize him, and being very little affected when P. C. Dezelia identified him as having chased him with a cordwood stick. It is said that the skull of the murdered policeman will be used as evidence against the prisoners during the trial.

When the court had disposed of the bank clerks yesterday afternoon the Freemans were brought up and placed in the dock. The cross-examination of Alex. McDonald, constable, was continued by Mr. Osler.

Mr. Osler—Had not one of these men been struck by a bullet before the blow with the axe was given.

A.—That blow was struck before Dezelia shot, to the best of my knowledge.

Mr. Osler then produced Mr. Dezolia's statement where he says 'I shot Alexander before he struck Rankin on the head,' "Would you contradict Dezelia?" he asked. A.—No, I would not.

McDonald finally admitted that he did not know which occurred first, the axing or the shooting.

Q.—There had been one blow struck and Rankin had got up again and was active when Dezelia shot William Henry. Was there not? A.—Well I could not tell you that.

Q.—Now you can't identify Lemuel at all? A.—No, sir; I could not.

Q.—Now you never saw William Henry or Alexander before? A.—Not to my recollection.

Q.—And yet you recognized them while running? A.—Of course I saw them at the house for a moment.

Q.—Now, you could not have any more means of knowing Alexander and William Henry at the door than you had of knowing Lemuel. A.—No; I don't know that I could.

Q.—Are you the man that the County Council passed a resolution about recommending your removal from office? A.—Well, I heard there was such a thing.

Q.—Are you the person who broke into a man's house with a search warrant and did not find the goods, but took the man? A.—Who was it?

Mr. Osler—Oh, which of your victims; can't you remember? Take Sheldon for instance.

The witness explained the circumstances of the Sheldon affair, but they had no bearing on the case.

Witness, continuing, said he did not think it was so that he had only been kept on the list after the County Council's resolution, so that he would not be disgraced for this trial. He and Best got a bottle of whisky at O'Neil's hotel in Chatham and a glass of beer at Pearce's hotel at the same place.

The witness left the box at 3:10, having been on the rack since 10:30 in the morning.

JEROME BEST.

Jerome Best was the man who drove out with McDonald on the night before the murder. His story was the same as McDonald's. In cross-examination by Mr. Osler witness stated that he had not been called either at the coroner's jury or before the magistrate. He came from Raleigh on the lake, and had not compared stories with anyone.

Mr. Osler—When was it that McDonald called on you to shoot? A.—In the yard some place.

Q.—Where was it that you dropped your pistol? A.—I never had one.

Q.—Who struck George Freeman and cut his head open? A.—I think it was McDonald.

Mr. Osler—But McDonald says that he thinks it was you. What do you say to that? Would you swear you did not if McDonald swore you did? A.—I swear I did not strike George Freeman.

This witness swore that the exact words McDonald used in making the arrest were "I have come to arrest you. I have got a warrant." In a minute and a half later Mr. Osler had the man so uncertain that he swore the words used were "I have a warrant. I have come to arrest you."

PETER DEZELIA.

Peter Dezelia was the Chatham policeman who went out with Rankin and McDonald to arrest George Freeman on Jan. 24. He had been a policeman for five years and a county constable for three. He had known Rankin to act as a county constable ever since he was on the force. Witness at the time was dressed in full police winter uniform, stripe pants, brass-buttoned overcoat, club and peaked imitation sealskin cap. He had a revolver. Rankin had the uniform used by the force the previous winter. His pants were blue without stripes, and he wore an ordinary Persian lamb cap. The witness told the story of the tragedy in the main identically as told by McDonald. George Freeman was the man who told the policemen not to advance a step further or he would shoot. "We stopped then and tried to reason with them," said the witness. "I said, 'We will not hurt a hair of your head.' Then George Freeman began to shoot. I was struck in the leg, a bullet grazed my belt and two holes were made in my overcoat."

The belt and overcoat were here produced. The bullet grazed and glanced from the belt. Two bullet holes were shown in the overcoat. The witness' cap, club and revolver were all produced, as was the late P. C. Rankin's overcoat, trousers, cap and handcuffs. They were all identified by Dezelia.

Witness, proceeding: After the shooting, Rankin ran behind a storehouse in the yard, and McDonald got out of the way. William Henry and Alexander followed Rankin with a club and an axe, respectively. Then Lemuel and George went for the prisoner. George still carried the revolver and fired several shots at him, while Lemuel had a piece of cordwood.

Q.—Have you any doubt about it being Lemuel? A.—No, sir.

Q.—Had Lemuel anything in his hand? A.—He had a piece of stick.

Q.—Was it anything like this? (The bloody cordwood stick was here produced.) A.—It was the same stick.

Witness continuing — "Rankin called 'Pete' three times and I went to his assistance. When I got to the fence George was very close with his revolver and Lemuel with his cordwood stick. Lemuel told me to get off the fence, and then I pulled my gun for the first time. William Henry was beating Rankin with the club and I shot at him. Alexander had by this time struck at Rankin with the axe and missed him." Then the witness shot Alexander, who, after being shot, delivered the final blow with the axe on Rankin's head. Both William Henry and Alexander struck Rankin with their different weapons after he had fallen. Dezelia backed to the gate, holding his gun and club in front of him. He asked permission to get the policeman's body. George replied, "Get out of this, ——— ———, or we will kill you too. Then George and Lemuel went towards the house. George returned in a minute with the club Lemuel had used. He ran down to where the prostrate policeman lay and dealt him a severe blow on the head. The noise of this blow could be heard for some distance. After this the prisoners "whooped and hollered" as if they had gained a victory.

Cross-examined by Mr. Osler—Do you recognize, individually, the prisoners as those who came to the kitchen door? A.—I recognized George from his running across the field.

Q.—When did you see Lemuel? A.—By the kitchen door.

Q.—Was there a hole in your trousers? A.—No, sir.

Q.—And yet you claim you were shot in the leg by a bullet. A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—You stood right there while the shooting was going on. The shots hit your belt and hit your leg; Rankin ran away, McDonald ran away, and yet you stood waiting for more? A.—I stood still.

Q.—Did you shoot Alexander before he struck Rankin on the head? A.—Yes, sir.

Mr. Osler—Then your examination in chief reads: "Alexander then knocked him (Rankin) down with the axe, and I shot Alexander." Is that true? A.—No, sir; that is put down wrong.

Q.—Do you say that George never fired at you when on the fence? A.—He never.

Mr. Osler—Well, you say in your examination in chief that George fired a shot at you while on the fence. A.—It is wrong.

The court reporter's notes were referred to at this juncture and Dezelia was found to have said "Just as I got to the fence George fired one shot." Mr. Osler put in Dezelia's sworn statement at the magisterial examination in contradiction. While the phrase was being looked up the judge told the witness to put on his great coat, cap and belt. He did so and explained that that was the appearance he presented on the night of the tragedy.

Q.—Why did Rankin depart? A.—I could not say except, perhaps, that he wished to escape getting shot.

Q.—And as to McDonald, he went out of range all together, didn't he? A.—I did not see him.

Q.—Now, Rankin did not argue with them at all, did he? A.—I did not hear Rankin speak at all.

Q.—And I suppose if he had spoken you would have recollected it? A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—And if McDonald says he did speak you did not hear it? A.—No, sir.

The cross-examination was very rigorous on the point of identity of Lemuel Freeman, but Dezelia stuck to his story that it was Lemuel that took part in the affair.

Q.—Did you say to Alexander at the arrest, "You are the man who did the shooting, you black ——?" A.—No, sir; I did not.

This was the last witness called for the day, and the court adjourned at 5:50 until 9 o'clock Friday morning.

"The Swing of Conquest."

Representative Character of the Plebiscite Convention.

Rivalry of London and Toronto in Curtailing the Tariff.

Ringing Address by Hon. George W. Ross, Minister of Education.

(Special Correspondence of the ADVERTISER.)

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—The Union Prohibition Convention that has just closed its sessions at Toronto differed from not a few others that have been held under the name of a temperance convention in being a distinctively representative gathering. It has been in some cases that anyone who was prepared to pay a dollar and signed his name on a roll book on entering the hall became a duly accredited delegate to some of these gatherings. Not so with the last convention. The nearly thousand men and women who had seats on the floor of the house represented more than themselves. Our churches, Young Men's Christian Associations, Societies of Christian Endeavor, Epworth Leagues, Young Peoples' Societies, under many names, branches of the W. C. T. U., Sons of Temperance, Good Templars, Royal Templars, temperance leagues and other temperance societies from all over the Province, have sent their most earnest and consecrated workers to attend this convention. The leading members of all denominations, from the east and west, north and south, were there. So that whatever else may be said of the convention it cannot be charged that it was wanting in wisdom, experience or ability. Additional to those whose names have already been given in his correspondence as prominent at the meetings of the convention there may be added Hon. G. W. Ross, Joseph Tait, M.P.P., G. F. Marter, M.P.P., Hon. S. H. Blake, Rev. Dr. Carman and John McDougall (of Montreal), who were present less or more at various sessions of the first or second day.

LONDON VS. TORONTO.

The presence of Mayor Fleming in the chair naturally suggested frequent references to the Fleming bylaw, which has been the instrument in reducing the tavern licenses of the city to 150, a magnificent showing certainly for a metropolitan city of the population of Toronto. The Forest City, as has been well-known, here has been making a splendid record as a well-governed city, and one where the liquor traffic was being kept in increasingly narrowed limits. Mr. John Cameron, of the ADVERTISER, as a representative from London, took occasion to point out to the convention the enviable position his city was attaining in these matters, and he did not know but that it might out-rival the Queen City in its good deeds.

CONDUCT OF THE CAMPAIGN.

The duty assigned to the committee whose place it is to map out the plan of campaign was felt to be one of large responsibility, and much consideration was given to the matter. Conventions are to be immediately called in each county not already organized to organize and arrange for the conduct of the campaign in their respective localities. Officers of county and city organizations are to form an advisory council to the central executive. The executive are to issue at once a circular to all organizations giving hints and suggestions for the conduct of the campaign. The convention further named conveners for the various unorganized districts in the Province, who shall be expected to promptly carry out the recommendations of the committee.

GOOD ADVICE.

Mr. John McDougall, of Montreal, editor and proprietor of the Witness, addressed the convention on Wednesday morning, saying it was an inspiration to stand before the immense gathering of temperance forces assembled before him. Some people were anxious for a prohibitory law; others thought that a prohibitory government would be a greater blessing. He believed what was wanted more than either a prohibitory law or government was a prohibitory people—a people so impressed with the necessity of prohibition that both law and government in harmony with these views would follow as a matter of course.

Mr. J. H. Carson, secretary of the Quebec Provincial Alliance, intimated that Quebec was moving for a plebiscite, and he expected the time would not be long before his Province would have the privilege extended to them of expressing their opinion on the one issue of prohibition.

W. P. Cahill, an officer of the Catholic League of the Cross, made a very hearty speech that was most warmly applauded. He spoke as a Catholic, as representative of a total abstinence and prohibition society of that church. There could be no denominational lines in this work. Whether one signed his name with a cross or took his inspiration from the King James Bible, all stood as one man before the common enemy.

RINGING ADDRESS BY HON. G. W. ROSS.

A hearty round of applause greeted Hon. Geo. W. Ross as he came to the front of the platform. "They have the swing of conquest in them," the Minister said, was the comment of U. S. Grant upon the British troops he saw at Gibraltar, and never had he seen a convention which had more of the "swing of conquest" in it than the one just closing. Its success and power gave him the more pleasure in that he had been a temperance worker ever since 1857. (Applause.) He would take an historical glance over the movement of which the present agitation is the point of culmination. He and Senator Vidal had been co-workers in the Parliament in 1864, when the Duncan Act was passed. It gave municipalties local option, and was regarded by temperance men a pretty respectable gain. In 1878 another step on was made and the Scott Act was brought in, extending local option to whole counties. And now in 1893 the whole Province is to have an opportunity of declaring what is the real state of public opinion on the subject. These three legislative steps indicate the TREMENDOUS STRIDES THE CAUSE HAS MADE since 1864. "Is it not sublime," the Minister exclaimed, "to see 2,000,000 of people through their properly qualified representatives accord to the voters the privilege of going down to the polls and saying with the free conscientiousness of British electors if they approve or disapprove of the principle of prohibition? It is a proof of the elastic nature of our constitution." The present moment, Hon. Mr. Ross continued, is not the time for argument as to whether or not the plebiscite is the proper thing to have. There are now two forms of investigation on foot. The Dominion Government has appointed a commission to go up and down the country and the United States and gather evidence of all descriptions as to the liquor problem and the means of meeting it. He himself had never disapproved of it. He was glad to get all the facts possible bearing on the situation, and was

NOT AFRAID OF HONEST INVESTIGATION. In Ontario a committee of investigation has been appointed—a committee of 500,000 electors, each of whom will go to the polls and give evidence as to his or her views and feelings upon the problem and the way to solve it. The announcement is made that the Dominion commission will report such. So will the Ontario one. Between the two a great deal of light will be thrown upon the question. Why then quarrel with the procedure if the results are so near at hand? The Legislature has been importuned for this plebiscite, Mr. Ross went on. There were 450 petitions sent to it; 300 churches and 140 municipalities sent in requests for it, and the Ontario Alliance found the mass of the temperance workers emphatic in desiring it. As the matter is settled it would be useless to trouble about the mode, so long as the results prove satisfactory. As for the charge that the Legislature has evaded the responsibility of the measure, has transferred the verdict from itself to the people, it was not then worth while to discuss it. Next summer there will be a general election, and than an opinion can be expressed upon the charge. But at the present moment as temperance men let all keep before them. It is prohibition that is desired, not the debating of whether the Legislature was right or wrong in its action. Nothing would delight the enemy more than to see division in their ranks. "The liquor traffic is the creature of the Legislature," he declared. "It is answerable to you for its existence. What will you say regarding it? The advanced prohibitionists say the country is ripe for prohibition; we will soon know if it is. And if ripe it is, all will be right." Even if the result be adverse, the Minister went on to say, the temperance men will by it be enabled to take stock of their strength; a reverse, little as it is to be expected, should not damp, but stimulate, their ardor. "It is maintained that the plebiscite is repugnant to the British constitution," again exclaimed the speaker. "I take no stock in such a theory of the British constitution. It is designed to SECURE FOR EVERY CITIZEN HIS RIGHTS, to protect him in them. The unfortunate widow can lay her petition at the throne of sovereignty; the meeting of citizens can present its wishes before the supreme power; the right of petition of the citizen is zealously preserved. And if the widow may present her petition, if bodies of citizens may make known their wishes, why should not 500,000 electors make known their will upon this topic? If it is the right for the few, is it not the right for the many? If you may express your opinion, why shall not the half million of voters? It is the glory of the British constitution that it is elastic and can be adapted so as to allow it to cover all emergencies and needs. If it denies that right, the legislature becomes tyrannical and autocratic. If it refuses to carry out the expressed will of the people it becomes effete." As regards the

talked of, Hon. Mr. Ross pointed out that there are very many such constitutional difficulties, that ever since confederation the courts have been solving points in our constitution, and that this point will be settled as others have been. Steps have been taken to try Ontario's powers of prohibition, and he thought the solution not very far off. The case, he understood, has been sent to the Court of Appeal, and will be argued upon as soon as it can be reached, Dr. J. J. Maclaren, the able defender of the Scott Act in 1880, being retained to champion it. (Applause.) When through the Court of Appeal it will go to the Privy Council; how long before it will de decided upon there he could not tell. At all events, evidence of good faith has already been given, evidence that the question will be settled as soon as possible. The temperance question is becoming more and more prominent; there is no fear of constitutional difficulties interfering with its settlement. "It is said that there is no guarantee?" he demanded. "What do you want? What is Legislature? Speaking as an elector, as one of the people, I say that the Legislature is to the people as the servant to the master. You have

THE KEY TO THE PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS and you bid us open the door. The sovereignty of this country resides in the people, and as one of the people I would scarcely condescend to ask the Legislature to do anything, for I am above it. What are the precedents? Sixty years ago an English House of Commons said that the slaves should not be free; and public opinion soon forced it to pay £20,000,000 of compensation to free those slaves. The English people were stronger than the House of Commons. An English House of Commons taxed the poor man's loaf for the benefit of the agricultural landlord, and public opinion prevailed and the Englishman's bread became free, while that House of Commons passed out of existence. A House of Commons said that the franchise must be limited to the landlords; it disappeared, and the masses were given the suffrage. We are talking to the masses that shall say if we are to represent them. If the people express their wish in unmistakable terms no legislature will dare to refuse it. What is it but to register public opinion? It may have an opinion of its own, but in the end the opinions of the people are those of the Legislature. When you declare your will the Parliament will do the same. No other Legislature would be tolerated.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR.

"And what is the duty of the hour? There is but one duty," Mr. Ross went on. General Grant's word of battle, "Advance in solid column early in the morning," might be applied in the present situation. The prohibitionists will need all their time, and must present to the intelligence of the country the pros and cons of the case. They must stir up the indifferent, and when the ballot is taken all voters must be aware of the nature of the question. "I am confident we will have cause to rejoice over a victory," was his concluding words. "You will agree that it was well that we consented to consult the people, and that they had a chance to declare their convictions."

PHYSICIANS STRONGLY ADVISE ITS USE.

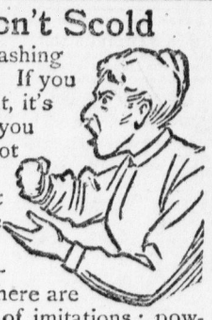

Mothers whose breast milk is of faulty quality should understand that Lactated Food is the food that is nearer mother's milk than any other. It has been shown in every investigation that babies fed on Lactated Food live and thrive better than when other foods fail in the work. Long trials have shown Lactated Food to be perfectly adapted to the age of growth when the digestive organs are making enormous demands to meet the needs of growth and development. An eminent physician says: "I have been familiar with Lactated Food for years, and my immediate professional friends and myself have it always at hand."

The child who is puny, pale and sallow, is likely to grow up with inferior mental and physical powers. The child that is brought up on Lactated Food starts with everything in favor of health, vigor and life.

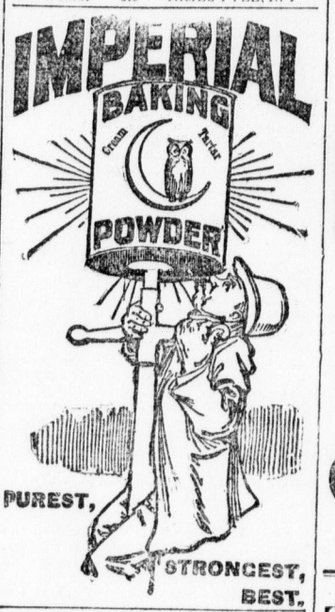

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

RESPECT FOR MORAL SENTIMENT.

In a recent speech in opposition to the principle of the popular vote, Sir John Thompson asserted that his Government "had to obey the moral sentiment of the country." That is certainly its duty, but it has invariably come far short of living up to it.

Did Sir John Thompson and his associates obey the moral sentiment of the country when

1. They dishonestly carved up the constituencies, and ruthlessly broke the county boundaries, in order that they might maintain themselves in power in spite of the free and independent electorate?

2. They passed a Franchise Act which took the preparation of the voters' lists out of the hands of the municipal officers, and put them in the hands of party nominees?

3. They condoned the conduct of the county judge of Middlesex, who in last campaign was acknowledged to have edited the Free Press, and to have disregarded the findings against him of six superior court judges in order that he might keep a seat for his family benefactor?

4. They held that a partisan judge should not have his conduct investigated no matter how it conflicted with right and justice?

4. They indorsed the theft of Mr. Hyman's seat and the giving it, under these disgraceful circumstances, to one of their defeated colleagues?

5. When they retained Caron in the Ministry, and refused to permit any inquiry into his conduct except on an indictment so emasculated as to conceal his guilt?

6. When they refused to order an investigation into the grave charges made against Hon. John Haggart?

7. When they pardoned Arnoldi and restored confessed boodlers to office in the pay of the country?

8. When they promote such a man as Hayter Reid, after his figuring in the notorious fur manipulation case?

9. When they indorse the principle of "protection," the application of which results in one portion of the community being compelled by law to pay taxes for the benefit of a rich neighbor?

Anyone honestly taking the record of the men now in power at Ottawa must reach the conclusion that is not the moral law, but the law of self-preservation at all hazards that influences them.

"By their fruits ye shall know them."

That is a standard that cannot be set aside.

—MR. Vankoughnet, Deputy Superintendent of Indian Affairs, has been superannuated by the Dominion Government. Though only 57 years of age, in good health and strength and willing to perform his duties, he has been given a walking ticket, and a superannuation allowance, out of the Dominion exchequer, of at least $2,000 a year because his office and its $3,200 a year salary is needed for the clamorous supporters of Mr. Daly, M.P. The place goes to Hayter Reed, the Indian commissioner who wrote the letter that revealed the Northwest fur looting, and who attained unenviable notoriety in connection with the transaction that brought General Middleton into disgrace. Hayter Reed's office, on the other hand, is wanted by A. W. Ross, M. P. for Lisgar, who asked for a governorship as a reward for his desertion of the Liberal party, and has to be contented with the minor position. This system is a costly one, and these illustrations of how the public interests are sacrificed to benefit the few in the inner ring emphasize the necessity for a complete change at Ottawa. If less money were available there would be less temptation to squander. Reduce the taxes and the cormorants will not have the same incentives to continually expose the inner outline of their maws.

LONDON AS A MONEY CENTER.

Of the 76 loan, building and investment companies doing business in Ontario, seven are located in London, and of the total subscribed capital of $80,278,277, recorded in the official returns for last year, just issued by the Government, no less than $10,225,500 is subscribed in this city. Toronto, alone, has more companies and a greater amount of capital than London, and Hamilton, with four companies and $5,011,570 subscribed, comes third. The following details of the standing of loan, building and investment societies in this city will prove of interest to the general public:

Number of companies	Seven
Capital subscribed	$10,225,500
Liabilities to stockholders	7,717,725
Liabilities to the public	10,720,917
Total liabilities or assets	18,437,742
Secured loan assets	16,626,308
Property assets	1,811,434

The following is a comparative statement of the amount loaned by the loan and investment companies of this city in the past two years:

	1892.	1891.
Agricultural Savings	$ 262,482	$179,060
Canadian Savings	212,802	248,478
Dominion Savings	720,222	847,636
Huron and Erie Loan	1,022,274	706,6?5
London Loan	1,026 789	506,713
Royal Standard Loan		86,910
*Ontario Investment Association	8,375	3,493
Ontario Loan	702,284	645,023

*In liquidation.

It will be seen from this table that London continues to hold its position as the money distributing center of the West, despite the fact that one of the companies doing business here up to 1891 has sold its assets to a stronger organization, thus reducing the total number of companies from eight to seven.

ALL ABOUT A PLANK.

The chief of the Patrons of Industry, Grand President Mallory, is a very busy man, with little spare time at his disposal, and this probably accounts for the error into which he fell in a late manifesto issued by him. Therein Grand President Mallory undertakes to define the difference between the Liberal tariff plank and that of the institution of which he is the head. He explains:

"Tariff for revenue only, and so adjusted as to fall as far as possible upon the luxuries and not upon the necessaries of life, is the Patron plank."

Of that definition no one can complain. Then Grand President Mallory proceeds to show wherein, according to his view, this plank is different from that of the two great political parties. He says:

"The Reformers, at their Ottawa convention, adopted "tariff for revenue only" as a plank in the platform of the Liberal party, but whether through fear of giving offense to the wealthy men and monopolists, who are still found in the Liberal ranks, or for other reasons not given, they have failed to set forth on their platform any pledges that the "tariff for revenue only," which they propose, will "fall as far as possible upon the luxuries, and not upon the necessaries of life.

"From these considerations, it will be seen that Patrons, upon the tariff question, take issue with both the great political parties; with the one, because it refuses to adopt "tariff for revenue only," and with the other, because it is not pledged to so adjust the tariff that it shall relieve the necessaries of life, and fall as far as possible upon luxuries."

We presume that Grand President Mallory will not willingly misrepresent the attitude of the Liberals on this great question, hence, we trust that he will devote a brief moment of his valuable time to a study of the tariff plank unanimously adopted at the representative Liberal Convention at Ottawa, and indorsed, so far as we have seen, by every Liberal in the Dominion. That there may be no misunderstanding on the subject, we append that portion of the plank in the platform which supplies the information that Grand President Mallory has believed to be missing:

"We, the Liberal party of Canada, in convention assembled, declare:

"That the customs tariff of the Dominion should be based, not as it now is, upon the protective principle, but upon the requirements of the public service;

"That the existing tariff, founded upon an unsound principle, and used as it has been by the Government as a corrupting agency wherewith to keep themselves in office, has developed monopolies, trusts and combinations;

"It has decreased the value of farm and other landed property;

"It has oppressed the masses to the enrichment of the few;

"It has checked immigration;

"It has caused great loss of population;

"It has impeded commerce;

"It has discriminated against Great Britain.

"In these, and in many other ways, it has occasioned great public and private injury, all of which evils must continue to grow in intensity so long as the present tariff system remains in force.

"That the highest interests of Canada demand a removal of this obstacle to our country's progress, by the adoption of a sound fiscal policy, which, while not doing injustice to any class, will promote domestic and foreign trade and hasten the return of prosperity to our people.

"That to that end the tariff should be reduced to the needs of honest, economical and efficient government.

"That it should be so adjusted as to make free, or to bear as lightly as possible upon the necessaries of life and should be so arranged as to promote freer trade with the whole world, more particularly Great Britain and the United States.

"We believe that the results of the protective system have grievously disappointed thousands of persons who honestly supported it, and that the country in the light of experience is now prepared to declare for a sound fiscal policy."

Mr. Mallory will concede that there is nothing in this declaration leading to the belief that the Liberals desire to conciliate "wealthy men and monopolists" at the expense of the masses. On the contrary, it is a distinct declaration in favor of a tariff for revenue only; in favor of the abolition of taxes on the necessaries of life, and in favor of the taxation of luxuries that under the present tariff are admitted at a comparatively low rate. Mr. Mallory should rejoice to find that a party numbering one-half of the people of Canada has declared itself, in terms so uncompromising, in favor of that principle for which he and his associates in the grand army of agriculturists are fighting.

Wilson and Harvey Released on Suspended Sentence.

Judge Falconbridge's Address to the Ex-Bank Clerks.

They Give Their Bonds of $2,000 Each to Appear When Called On—The Court House Packed.

The bank clerks, Richard D. Wilson and Harvey D. M. Harvey, accupied the box when the court sat at 2 o'clock. The crowd in the court room was terrible, and the doors had to be closed to stop the stream. The prattle of infants could be heard above the hum of voices, several women having brought babies-in-arms into court. The judge took his seat at 2:10 and immediately called upon the two bank clerks.

When asked what they had to say why the sentence of the law should not be passed upon them, both replied, "Nothing, my Lord," in a low voice.

"I have been in the habit of saying," said the judge in passing sentence, "and other judges have also been in the habit of expressing regret and sorrow in seeing young men of your position and appearance occupying the place that you do to-day. I am not sure that there is not some false sentiment about that; whether we ought not to reserve our commiseration for unfortunates who have not had the opportunities which you have had in every way and who, perhaps, have had a constant struggle for existence from the time of their birth. However that may be, it has been with the concurrence of the crown, and, in fact, at the suggestion of the law officers of the crown, that I have determined to give you two young men an opportunity of retrieving your character and position, and sentence will therefore not be passed upon you for the present. You will enter into your own recognizance of $2,000 each to appear for sentence when called upon.

A slight ripple of applause greeted the judgment, but it was not genreal. After the prisoners had given their bond the judge again addressed them saying: "I should have mentioned that there was another consideration. In the case of Wilson he had been confined in the common jail from June, and Harvey from June to August, so that there had been substantial punishment in any event."

Harvey De M. Harvey shook hands with his solicitor, Mr. T. Meredith, and both he and Wilson left the room free men.

Scrofula in the Neck

The following is from Mrs. J. W. Tillbrook, wife of the Mayor of McKeesport, Penn.:

Willie Tillbrook.

"My little boy Willie, now six years old, two years ago had a bunch under one ear which the doctor said was Scrofula. As it continued to grow he finally lanced it and it discharged for some time. We then began giving him Hood's Sarsaparilla and he improved very rapidly until the sore healed up. Last winter it broke out again, followed by Erysipelas. We again gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla with most excellent results and he has had no further trouble. His cure is due to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

He has never been very robust, but now seems healthy and daily growing stronger."

Newsy Notes from Tunnel Town—The Car Shops Offer Acceptable—The Ratepayers to Vote On It.

There died at his residence, on Emeric street, on Saturday, Mr. Joseph McIntyre, one of our old citizens, at the age of 57 years. He was customs officer for a number of years at Point Edward, and was universally respected by all classes. His funeral took place on Tuesday to Lakeview Cemetery, Rev. Dr. Thompson, of St. Andrew's Church, officiating.

Sunday next, Oct. 8, will be foreign mission day in the Baptist Church here, and Rev. Wm. Walker, B.A., of London South, will preach morning and evening.

M. A. Sanders' fine two-story frame house on Forsyth street will soon be ready for occupation.

At the last council meeting it was moved by Dr. Merrison, seconded by W. J. Procter, that the car shops committee be instructed to write to Mr. Seargeant, at Montreal, stating that the council and Board of Trade accepted the terms by which the shops would be placed at Point Edward, and were ready to submit the bonus of $100,000 to the ratepayers. Carried.

Rev. A. Price, of Minden City, Mich., formerly a well-known resident of our town, was united in marriage to Alice Phillips, daughter of Mrs. J. Phillips, George street, on Wednesday afternoon, by Rev. C. C. McLaurin. They left the same evening for their future home in Minden City.

Robt. Kerr, bookkeeper for Thos. Kenny, who has been attending the London Hospital for a fall from a bicycle, is rapidly recovering, and will be able to resume his duties next week.

Port Huron is to have a Wonderland, similar to the one in Detroit, in the Princess Rink building on Sixth street. It will be opened on Oct. 9 and will be managed by Chas. P. Dempsey, of Allentown, Pa.

The afternoon boat on the Sarnia and Detroit route has been withdrawn, and only one boat a day now makes the rounds.

Prof. Sturgis, of Port Huron, is conducting a singing school in the Baptist Church school room, and over 100 pupils are availing themselves of the privileges and advantages of his instruction.

Rev. C. C. McLaurin will preach next Sunday in South London Baptist Church.

A number of South Ward ratepayers are anxious to know when the G. T. R. Company are going to build the bridge over the tunnel to connect the town with the reserve. They do not feel like voting in favor of carshops to be located at Point Edward when they are entirely left out in the cold in this bridge matter, which is an important one to fourth ward residents. Councilor Kavanagh should stir up his fellow-councilors in this connection.

Block "I" shops, Fort Gratiot, which have been running on half time and with a small staff of workmen, took on 60 additional men on Thursday and will run full time again.

SOUTH PERTH SHOW.

An Excellent Exhibition in St. Marys.

The Largest and Most Successful Fair Held There in Years.

(Special Correspondence of the ADVERTISER.)

ST. MARYS, Oct. 4.—The annual exhibition of the South Perth Agricultural Society was held on their grounds here to-day and was the most complete in all its departments and the most largely attended of any for years. Owing to rain the speeding track was too heavy in the afternoon for racers to make good time, but on the whole, everything passed off very much to the satisfaction of all concerned.

The society is made up of the members of St. Marys and the six adjoining townships. There are about 250 members in all, and something like $1,500 was offered in prizes this year. The attendance during the day was about 3,000, which is above the average here.

THE HORSES.

The show of horses attracted a great deal of attention. There were some fine animals on the grounds, including a few very nicely matched teams, but on the whole this department is not up to many of the adjoining counties and the number of thoroughbred animals was not large.

In matched carriage teams Mr. Thomas Skinner led with a very pretty span. J. D. Hedley stood next on the list, and Robert McMillan third. Mr. William Henry, of St. Marys, had a very pretty span of matched roadsters, which took the first prize in that class, A. & D. Dawson second, and R. Thompson third. In all these classes there were a good many entries and close competition.

The heavy draught horses made a good exhibit. McCullough & Bros. (St. Marys), R. G. Ratcliff (Anderson), John Hooper & Sons, Geo. Spearin, B. C. Wilson, Chauncey Purdy, and others were successful exhibitors in this class.

In Percherons Mr. P. Whilchan, St. Marys, had nearly everything his own way, and carried off four prizes. He introduced the breed in this section.

THE CATTLE.

There was a large display of cattle and a number of both thoroughbreds and grades would have well held their own at almost any of our fairs. The Durhams were the most numerous. Among the successful raisers and exhibitors in this class may be mentioned: John Hooper & Son, Metropolitan; R. McCullough & Bro., St. Marys; H. Thompson, St. Marys. These are all mentioned as successful breeders. Howard Fraleigh, St. Marys, had a nice little herd of Jerseys. He was the only exhibitor in that class. William Sinkins, St. Marys, had a good show of Herefords. He is the best-known breeder in that class in the district. In Ayrshires, Thomas Ballantyne, St. Marys, is a large and successful breeder. He takes a number of prizes. Prizes were also offered in Holsteins, but none were on exhibition.

SHEEP.

The exhibit of sheep was large and excellent. There were 32 pens, and not an inferior animal among them. In Leicesters, T. Currelley & Son, Fullarton, are very successful exhibitors and prize-takers. A. Smith & Son, St. Marys, also made a good show in this class. In Lincolns, W. Oliver, Avondale, was the largest exhibitor, but E. Brock carried off one of the best prizes. In Southdowns, Mr. J. C. Henderson made a capital exhibit and had everything much his own way in the matter of prizes. In Oxfords, James Beattie, Woodham, and A. McDonald were successful exhibitors. In Shropshires, S. Doupe, Kirton, and H. A. Switzer, also of Kirton, gave excellent exhibits. Several of these gentlemen have a very wide reputation as first-class sheep growers.

There were 21 pens of pigs—a large and excellent exhibit.

POULTRY.

There was a large and capital display of poultry. It was one of the best features of the whole exhibition. Unfortunately, however, the shed in which they were was narrow and unfitted for such a fine display. There is not space to even mention the best of the exhibitors.

FARM IMPLEMENTS, ETC.

There was a large and varied display of first-class farm implements, but with the exception of those from the well-known establishment of Maxwell & Son, of St. Marys, they were nearly all of foreign manufacture. In light carriages, buggies, wagons and road carts, D. McLarty & Son, St. Marys, made a capital show, and carried off a number of prizes.

GRAIN AND VEGETABLES.

There were good shows in both these departments. Some samples of the wheat weighed 64 pounds to the bushel. In red winter wheat, Wm. Mountain, Avonbank, and M. Brethour, Kirton, were most successful. In white winter, M. Brethour and Wm. Porter led off. There was also a new and interesting feature of asking for exhibits of wheat in the straw. M. Brethour and Wm. Mountain were the most successful. All the vegetables were good. There were so many, however, and the list of prize-takers so long that they cannot be specially mentioned here. Weston Bros. and S. H. Mitchell were prominent exhibitors in this department.

LADIES' WORK.

There was a very large and unusually varied and fine display of ladies' work of all kinds, and many of these exhibits would have done good credit to the London, Central or the Toronto Industrial. Among the successful ones were Mrs. Little, Miss Grace, Miss Hutton, Mrs. E. Wilson Mrs. E. Hanham, Miss S. Nott and Miss Hyde, but they do not comprise the entire list by any means.

OTHER EXHIBITS.

There were some very fine samples of butter, in which Mrs. Isaac Hall, Anderson, stood first. Harry Creighton, St. Marys, led off in crock butter. Leary & Co., St. Marys, had a beautiful display of photos from their own gallery. J. W. Woods, St. Marys, well known furniture manufacturers, made a good display. Stafford & Co., St. Marys, showed harness, and T. McGabrick, St. Marys, harness, trunks, boots and shoes.

There was also an exciting tug-of-war and the usual trials of horse speed, the results of which have already appeared in the ADVERTISER.

One drawback was the existence without any official interference such as there should be of a whole lot of fakirs and gamblers—wheel of fortune men, dice throwers, cheap jewelry fellows, and others of the fake class. It was not much to the credit of a large number of young men that they allowed such sharks so good an opportunity of plying their business with profit. Surely under our present criminal code the provisions for the suppression of the gambling practices ought to be put in motion at such places. The local authorities should see to that. A very considerable number of victims were fleeced to some extent.

The Missing Daughter of a Minister Found.

Painful Accident to a Biddulph Farmer —Proceedings of the Paris Presbytery.

BRUCE.

Rev. W. Henderson, incumbent of the English Church here, denounced Sir John Thompson on Sunday evening last from the pulpit. It appears that his congregation were not up to the mark in the Harvest Home offerings, and he was dressing them down somewhat for their lack of interest in the church. He says: "I have figured up and you have given an average of 4½ cents each for the church, while you pay 60 cents each to get to Tara to hear a pervert of the Methodist Church preach Popery." This coming from the lips of one whose loyalty to Conservatism can not be disputed by any one shows something of the strong feeling in the Conservative ranks against the present Premier.—[Wiarton Echo.

ELGIN.

On Tuesday Miss Minnie Oke, a 16-year-old St. Thomas girl, set out for Toronto, where she was to join her uncle, Rev. J. H. Oke, of Milford, a delegate to the prohibition convention. They missed each other through the latter's train being late, and the girl decided to go on to Totten, where she has an aunt, the wife of the stationmaster. Rev. Mr. Oke thought she was lost, and was frantic in his efforts to find her for several hours. Inquiries were made all along the line, and the old gentleman was delighted to receive word from Totten that all was well.

OXFORD.

At a meeting of the Paris Presbytery, held on Wednesday at Woodstock, the Presbytery discussed and adopted the following resolution: "Inasmuch as by the action of the Ontario Legislature the electors of this Province will have, on the 1st day of January next, an opportunity of expressing their mind on the prohibition of the liquor traffic, the Presbytery would, therefore, repeat the deliverance of the supreme court of the church that the general traffic in intoxicating liquors is contrary to the Word of God and to the spirit of the Christian religion, and that it ought not to be legalized by the votes of a Christian people. The Presbytery expresses the earnest hope that our people will be found unanimously opposed to this great evil, and urges upon our ministers and other office-bearers to bring this important subject properly before the people." The following committees were struck: State of religion, Rev. Mr. Hatt; temperance, Rev. Mr. Straithe; Sabbath schools, Rev. Mr. Johnston; statistics, Rev. Mr. Hardy; Sabbath observance, Rev. Mr. Thompson; missions, Rev. Mr. Cockburn; commissioner, Rev. Dr. McMullen.

Woodstock vital statistics for September show the births to be 16, deaths 12, and marriages 9.

MIDDLESEX.

The annual opening of the Excelsior Circle, Hyde Park, and election of officers for the season's programme until Jan. 1 took place at the residence of D. Barclay on the evening of Oct. 2. The retiring president, Mr. A. D. McMillan, was succeeded by Mr. Chas. Fisher; vice-president, Miss Ida Routledge; second vice, Miss S. J. Wood; secretary, Miss Katie Nixon; treasurer, Miss Annie McKenzie; registrar, Miss Katie McKenzie; critic, Arthur Eden Fraleigh, M.D.; programme committee, D. McMillan, Miss Kippon, Miss Nixon, Mrs. McArthur and Miss Coombs. It promises to be more than interesting, the programme being composed of history, natural science and choice literature from various authors.

PERTH.

The total receipts of the North Perth fall fair were $843 55. The receipts last year were $905 80. The receipts of the evening and of the second day about balanced with those of last year; the falling off was in the first day's.

The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Steele, which took place at the residence of her son, Wm. Steele, V.S., Stratford, removes one of the oldest settlers of the county. Deceased was born in the county of Donegal, Ireland, nearly three-quarters of a century ago. They came to Topping, this county, some 38 years since, where the deceased was well known and highly respected. Besides her aged life partner she leaves a son, Dr. Steele, and a daughter, Mrs. James Swan, of Mitchell.

MIDDLESEX.

A very painful accident happened Wm. Hodgins, of con. 2, of Biddulph, the other day. It appears he was walking off the farm and while passing through a gateway was overcome by a peculiar dizziness, which rendered him unable to stand erect, and in the fall he struck his shoulder against the gate post and broke his collar bone.

The funeral of the late Finlay McEachren, of Crinan, which took place Tuesday, was one of the largest ever seen in that community. The deceased was 44 years of age and leaves a widow and three small children to mourn their loss.

One of the sons of Hugh L. McAlpine, who is learning telegraph operating at the station, Appin, was seriously hurt recently. He kicked off the semaphore without removing the dog. As a result the heavy handle flew up with lightning speed and cut a gash on his ear and head. Had the handle hit in front or behind the ear he would have lost his life.

ELGIN.

The business of the approaching Fall Assizes, which opens on Monday, Oct. 16, promises to be nearly as heavy as that of the Spring Assizes. The criminal cases are two in number, both of which were laid over from the Spring Assizes. The first of these is the Queen vs. John D. Sullivan, shooting Elizabeth Henderson with intent on Oct. 15, 1892. This case was tried at the December sessions, when the jury failed to agree, the plea being insanity. The other case, the Queen vs. George Edward Young, in which the latter is charged with killing Fred Glover, near Lawrence station last February.

William Murray has been committed for trial on the charge of criminally assaulting Louisa Locke, the 8-year-old daughter of W. Locke, Elma street, St. Thomas. Another charge of indecent assault on Emmaline Evans, a girl of 13, was also preferred.

KINGSTON, Oct. 5.—Rev. Chas. Cook, the English prison reformer, visited the Kingston Penitentiary. He was much pleased. Architecturally it ranked with the best. THE LATEST DECLARATION.

At Owen Sound Wednesday Sir John Thompson stated, without hesitation, that he believed the Dominion Parliament had the sole power to prohibit the liquor traffic, but he declined to say at present what his policy in the future would be. He wanted to read the report of the royal commission first.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—The hounds will meet at the Kennels, Glenmore, to-day at 4:30 p.m.

—The grand jury visited and inspected the Asylum for the Insane yesterday.

—Knox College will celebrate its jubilee this year. London graduates will participate.

—The last of the 1,000 seats which are now in the Collegiate Institute have been placed.

—A. S. Emery has been granted a permit for the erection of a two-story brick house on Ridout street south.

—David McGregor, attendant at the London Asylum, and Miss Elizabeth Hunt, of Dorchester were married on Wednesday evening at St. James' manse by Rev. M. P. Talling.

—Two Strathroy young people, Mr. William Buttrey and Miss Betsy Ellison, were married Wednesday at the residence of Mr. Charles Edward Pratt, 236 Hyman street, this city.

—A handsome illustration of the Young Liberal fleet will appear in to-morrow's issue of the Toronto Globe. It is a large photo of the fleet as they appeared at the Liberal picnic in Queen's Park.

—Rev. A. J. Snyder, of Biddeford, Maine, formerly pastor of the Methodist Church in Leamington, is visiting his sister, Mrs. John Shaw, Wellington street. Mr. Snyder is en route to the World's Fair.

—Edward White and James Hobbins, jun., of this city, were brought before Judge Elliot yesterday charged with assaulting John Remagnano in front of his store on the night of Aug. 7 last. They were fined $40 each.

—A special from Clarendon, N. Y., says Joseph F. Hess, the temperance lecturer, died of paralysis there Wednesday night. The funeral will take place on Sunday. The news will be heard with regret in London. The ex-pugilist lectured here some time ago.

—The Toronto Star is pretty personal when it refers to a former South London citizen in these terms: "Mr. N. W. Rowell, the well-known young barrister, is developing a lovely set of whiskers. That is, they are not lovely yet, but they look very promising."

—The remains of Howard Lashbrook, who died in Milwaukee, arrived home in charge of his brother, Arthur, and were intered yesterday, the funeral taking place from the family residence, 343 Dundas street. It is learned that he did not meet his death through an accident, but through sudden illness, supposed to have affected the brain.

A Sign of Winter.

At the annual meeting of the Forest City Curling Club to organize for the coming season there was a large and enthusiastic attendance. After winding up the old year's business, the election of officers for the ensuing year took place, with the following result: President, Lieut.-Col. John Macbeth; vice-president, G. H. Gillespie, jun.; secretary-treasurer, Robert Reid, jun. There was a large number of new names handed in to the secretary, and altogether the coming season promises to be one of very great activity for curlers in this city.

Called Away.

Mrs. Sarah McLeod, widow of the late James McLeod, formerly reeve of Nissouri, died Wednesday at the family residence, No. 510 Adelaide street. The deceased lady, who came to this city from Nissouri some 18 or 20 years ago, had been an invalid for a long time, and last winter she was thought to be on her deathbed. She rallied, however, but not sufficiently to be able to leave her room. But the end came quite suddenly, for Mrs. McLeod was engaged in knitting at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and died about six hours later. She had long suffered from heart trouble, but the direct cause of her death was inflammation of the lungs. Deceased was a sister of Mr. Josiah Vining, of Princess avenue, and she leaves a sister in Nissouri. Her family include Mrs. (Rev.) McEwen, of Windsor, N. S., Mrs. Edith Gould, of Brooklyn, N.Y., Miss Lottie, teacher in Lorne avenue public school, and Mr. Stetson McLeod, of Grand Rapids, Mich. The deceased lady had for the greater part of her life been connected with the Baptist body, and since living in London had been an esteemed member of the Adelaide Street Church. Though of a quiet, retiring disposition, she was a woman of strong convictions and many sterling good qualities. It is a somewhat singular coincidence that Mr. McLeod died exactly seven years ago to-day. Her family have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends. The funeral takes place on Saturday at 3:30 p.m.

—Dr. George S. Armstrong, of Olympia, State of Washington, is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. D. Clarke, of Queen's avenue. He is accompanied by Mrs. Armstong. Dr. Armstrong is a graduate of Trinity College, Toronto, but for the last ten years he has been a successful practitioner in the United States. In the progressive new State of Washington he was one of the moving spirits for the formation of a State medical board on the model of that possessed by this Province, and he is now secretary of the State Board of Health. Dr. Armstrong (who was a fellow pupil with more than one Londoner at the Dundas Methodist Institute and in Trinity) has still a warm spot for the Province of his birth, and when he came east to the World's Fair as delegate to the International Congress of Public Health he took occasion to visit the scenes of his youth and renew former acquaintances. Like all visitors he has nothing but commendations for the beauty of London.

Rid of Them.

The city will now be rid of four useless members of society, three for all time to come and the other for six months at the police court yesterday morning. Joseph Marshall, Patrick Tynan and Alexander Campbell, drunk and vagrant, were discharged on condition that "they never come back." Norman Neil was given six months in the Central Prison for petty fraud. This was his fifteenth appearance before Magistrate Parke and will be his third visit to the Central. The present charges were of obtaining two cans of salmon, a loaf of bread and a pound of butter with intent to defraud. William Smith and Nixon Moore are the young men who drove off with a horse and buggy which stood at the roadside. They had a plausible excuse to offer for doing so, but were, nevertheless, fined $5 and $2 respectively.

Choir Concert.

A very enjoyable concert, under the auspices of the choir, was given in St. George's Sunday school, London West, last evening. Seating accommodation was not available for the large crowd, and many had to remain standing during the entire programme. Rev. Mr. Sage performed the duties of chairman, and Mrs. Milligan as accompanist. Sim Fax was the principal attraction, and delighted the audience with his choice selections, both as an elocutionist and singer. The rest of the programme was also excellently rendered. It comprised instrumental selections by Mesdames Smith and Milligan; violin selections by Miss McDonald; duets by Misses Hartson and Messrs. Taylor. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the performers.

Confirmation at Chatham.

St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church at Chatham was crowded yesterday morning, when the rite of confirmation was administered to about 125 young people and a number of adults by Bishop O'Connor, of this city. High mass was celebrated by Father Paul, assisted by Father Maniea as deacon, and Father Bodwin as sub-deacon. Fathers Ronan (Wallaceburg) and Scanlan (Windsor) were the bishop's assistants. At the conclusion of the mass Bishop O'Connor addressed the candidates in an earnest manner, impressing upon their minds the significance of the step they were taking, and the benefits of entering into a closer religious life. He advised them to always bear in mind the three cardinal virtues of Faith, Hope and Charity, and to receive the Sacrament with the utmost contrition. Then followed the ceremony of confirmation, after which the bishop administered the pledge of total abstinence from all alcoholic liquors till the age of 21 to all the boys, which pledge they repeated simultaneously at the dictation of the bishop. Dr. O'Connor addressed words of warning to all present on the sins of intemperance and closed his address by a blessing. The music on the occasion was of a special character and was greatly appreciated by the congregation. At the early mass a choir of little girls very sweetly sang several hymns in English. At high mass the full choir were present and rendered Mozart's Twelfth Mass, also Lambilotte's "Lauda Sion," "O Gloriosa Domina," and "Veni Creator," and an adaption of the Russian Hymn. Dr. Carl Verrinder has lately taken charge of the organ and choir in St. Joseph's and is collecting about him a number of good voices, the improvement in the church music being greatly appreciated by the congregation. Miss Mary Mulligan, of this city, was a valuable acquisition to the choir on this occasion. She remains in Chatham till next Sunday, when her voice will be heard in several solos during the services. Mr. C. H. Fewings, a former pupil of Dr. Verrinder's, in this city, also assisted. In the evening Dr. Verrinder entertained the choir at his residence, when a few hours were spent in music and amusement and a splendid supper served by Mrs. Verrinder to the guests.

MIDDLESEX FALL ASSIZES.

In Hay vs. Cliff, an action for slander brought by David Hay, of Warwick, against Charles Cliff, of Arkona, the text of the settlement was as follows: "The defendant states that he had requested the removal of the chickens in question and that the plaintiff acted in the taking upon such request without any intent to do and without doing a wrongful act; the plaintiff only desiring herein a vindication of his character and accepting the above as such." Hellmuth for plaintiff; W. J. Watford for defendant.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

Karoo's Wonderful Work.

Karoo has been working steadily for the past week in his marvelous cures of rheumatism which are performed publicly each evening on the private lot corner of King and Clarence streets. During the time he has been in London he has relieved six of our citizens from their rheumatic pains, the lasting nature of which has to be seen, although after what he accomplished in St. Catharines, Brantford and Hamilton, set aside all doubts as to the permanent nature of the cure. There are many in our city whose views on such things are decidedly agnostical, but it is manifestly unfair for them to attempt to cry down the wonderful demonstrations given by Karoo without first investigating. This gentleman has repeatedly stated that he courts the strictest investigation into his work and business which no doubt he can well do after having withstood public criticism for the past twelve years in all parts of the world. Karoo must not be classed with the objectionable fakirs who infest market places, fairs and such places, his business and work is entirely different. If our citizens visit his ground they will simply hear an educated man deliver a short commonsense lecture in a gentlemanly style, witness marvelous work and then please themselves whether they purchase or not. It seems to be a matter of perfect indifference to him whether his remedies are sold or not. Seeing is believing. Go and see.

The Coming Regatta

Fine Weather Only Wanted to Insure Its Success.

A Good Game of Football Promised for Saturday.

A Visit from Pennsylvania Cyclists—The Valkyrie Outsails the Yankee Yacht, but the Race Was a Fizzle.

THE OAR.

Favorable weather only is required to make the regatta of the London Rowing Club a great success. All arrangements have been completed, and on the programme are a number of events which will be hotly contested. The club has a splendid crew in training to compete against the representatives of the Leander Rowing Club, of Hamilton, who have signified their intention of being present.

YACHTING.

THE YACHT RACE OFF.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The first of the series of races for the America's cup, to be sailed between Lord Dunraven's English cutter Valkyrie and the New York syndicate's center-boarder Vigilant, was started this morning. At 11:25 the Vigilant crossed the line first. The Valkyrie lost 32 seconds of her time allowance by delay in getting across the line.

12:35 p.m.—The Vigilant leads the Valkyrie a short distance.

Subsequently the wind became very light and at 2:05 p.m. the Valkyrie was a mile and a quarter in the lead. The Valkyrie turned the stake boat at 3:40 and at 3:45 the Vigilant was half a mile behind.

The race had to be postponed, it being evident that on account of the light wind the yachts could not finish within the time limit of six hours.

It has been said that the expenses incurred in bringing about the race for the cup amounts to upwards of $700,000, while the intrinsic value of the cup itself is not much more than $250.

A DRIFTING MATCH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Lack of wind made the first of the international yacht races a failure. Thousands of enthusiastic citizens had a delightful day's outing on the water, and saw Lord Dunraven's Valkyrie, the pride of Great Britain, sail past our cup defender Vigilant, but it was while the Vigilant was becalmed. They also saw the Vigilant creep up on the British boat whenever the wind held steady. They saw the Valkyrie gain a big advantage by being better handled, and they saw both boats after sailing 20 miles out of the 30 in the five hours and a half, give up the race as it was impossible to finish inside of six hours, the limit set by the cup committee. It was more of a drifting match than a race. The wind at no time reached the dignity of a sailing breeze.

The next race will be on Saturday over the same course as to-day and will be the first race postponed from to-day.

FOOTBALL.

ON TECUMSEH PARK.

The London Football Club has begun operations after a long rest, and on Saturday two picked teams will play a game on Tecumseh Park. Lovers of the sport should not fail to see this game, as it is expected that it will be hard fought. Mr. W. G. Thomas has consented to act as referee. The teams will be made up as follows:

FIRST TEAM.	POSITION.	SECOND TEAM.
Minhinnick, Screaton, Meek, Jeffrey	Forwards	Pumphrey, Sharp, Roome, Carmichael
Farncombe, S. Graydon, Courtwright, A. Sippi, Lynd, Wade	Wings	G. Sippi, D. Mills, G. Graydon, Crawford, Dawson, Kerrigan
Skey	Quarter backs	E. Mills
Beltz, Walker, Niven	Half backs	Hobbs, Milligan, Lee
Lockhart	Full backs	Richardson

THE WHEEL.

VISITING CYCLISTS.

A party of five wheelmen from Reading, Penn., arrived in the city yesterday. Since leaving home they have visited, among other points of interest, the World's Fair. The roads in Michigan, they say, are extremely bad, while those in Western Ontario are excellent. They have had a delightful trip. Those composing this coterie of cyclists are Messrs. John Lassman, Murray Killmer, Geo. Wittick, Geo. Eckert and John Bertottle.

MEETING OF THE LONDON CLUB.

The regular monthly meeting of the London Bicycle Club was held at the club house last evening and was one of the most pleasant since the organization of the club. Full reports were received from the different committees showing the splendid progress made during the season. The club took advantage of the occasion to show their appreciation of the services of Mr. Jas. McCormick, who acted as secretary of the race meet, and presented him with a gold-headed cane suitably engraved. Mrs. McCormick was also presented with a silver fish set. The club has secured new rooms for winter quarters and will move in a few days.

CRICKET.

The total score was: Australians, 216; All New York, 199.

THE AUSTRALIAN AT STATEN ISLAND.

LIVINGSTON, L. I., Oct. 5.—The cricket game between the Australians and the All-New York team of eighteen was resumed this morning at 11 o'clock, with the antipodeans at the bat in the unfinished inning of yesterday. An extremely small crowd was present. The inning concluded with 216 runs scored. At the close of play yesterday the score was 103 runs for New York and 33 runs for the Australians. The New Yorks went to the bat for their second and final inning after a few minutes' rest. With two hours to play, the home team had to make 113 runs in order to save a single inning defeat. The match ended in a draw, greatly in favor of the Australians.

THE TURF.

LIVELY PACING.

INDEPENDENCE, Ia., Oct. 5.—By far the best attendance of the season witnessed the sport at Rush Park to-day. In the free-for-all pace, $1,000, Robert J won in straight heats, Flying Jib second, Prince T third. Time, 2:13, 2:06¾, 2:08½.

A Duluth dispatch says the body of an unknown man was found in Sand Point Lake, near the Canadian boundary, Wednesday. He had been shot through the head, and his pockets had been rifled, but a belt contained nearly $1,000, which the murderer had failed to find.

A dispatch from Rio Janeiro by the Exchange Telegraph Company says: At 9 o'clock this morning the situation was distinctly more favorable. There are evident signs of an interposition of the Powers with the important effect of calming public feeling. The banks are open and business is transacted actively throughout the city.

A Terrible Experience.

TORONTO, Oct. 5.—Anthony Adams, an employe of O'Keefe & Co., was cleaning out a beer vat in the brewery, when he stuck fast in the manhole, head downward. The carbonic acid gas in the vat rendered him unconscious, and he would speedily have died had not a fellow-employe spied his legs sticking out of the manhole. He was extricated and conveyed to St. Michael's Hospital. He went into convulsions, but is now reported out of danger.

LUCK, OR PLUCK?

Miss Agnes Dinon was very well worth looking at. Mrs. Tramlay may not have been far from right in fixing her years at 26, but there were scores of girls who would gladly have accepted some of her years if they might have taken with them her superb physique and some of the tact and wit that her years had brought her. Gladly, too, would they have shared Miss Dinon's superfluous age could they have divided with her the fortune she had in her own right. Nobody knew exactly how much it was, and fancies on the subject differed widely, but what did that matter? The leading and interesting fact was that it was large enough to have attracted a pleasing variety of suitors, so that there had not been a time since she "came out" when Miss Dinon might not have set her wedding day had she liked. What detriment is there in age to a girl who can afford to choose instead of being chosen? Is not the full-blown rose more satisfactory, to many eyes, than the bud? And how much more charming the rose whose blushing petals lack not the glint of gold?

Phil had about reached the conclusion that Miss Dinon was a woman whom he believed it would do his mother good to look at, when his deliberations were brought to an end by the lady herself, who approached him, and said:

"At last I can take time to present you to some of my friends, Mr. Hayn. May I have your arm?"

Phil at once felt entirely at ease. It was merely a return of an old and familiar sensation, for he had always been highly esteemed by the more mature maidens of Haynton, and generally found them far more inspiring company than their younger sisters. Phil informed himself in the intervals of introductions, that Miss Dinon was not like Lucia in a single particular, but she certainly was a magnificent creature. Her features, though rather large, were perfect, and her eye was full of soul, especially when he looked down into it, as from his height he was obliged to, and the pose of her head, upon shoulders displayed according to the prevailing custom of evening dress, was simply superb.

She found opportunities to chat a great deal, too, as they made the tour of the parlors, and all she said implied that her hearer was a man of sense, who did not require to be fed alternately upon the husks and froth of polite conversation. Phil's wit was quite equal to that of his fair entertainer, and as her face reflected her feelings the guests began to be conscious that their hostess and the stranger made a remarkably fine-looking couple.

Impossible though he would have imagined it half an hour before, Phil's thoughts had been entirely destitute of Lucia for a few moments, suddenly, however, they recovered her, for looking across the head of a little rosebud, to whom he had just been introduced, Phil beheld Lucia looking at him with an expression that startled him. He never before had seen her look that way—very sober, half blank, half angry. What could it mean? Could she be offended? But why? Was he not for the moment in charge of his hostess, who, according to Haynton custom, and probably custom everywhere else, had supreme right when she chose to exercise it?

Could it be—the thought came to him as suddenly as an unexpected blow—could it be that she was jealous of his attention to Miss Dinon, and of his probably apparent enjoyment of that lady's society? Oh, horrible, delicious thought! Jealousy was not an unknown quality at Haynton; he had observed its development often and often, but to be jealous a girl must be very fond of a man, or at least desirous of his regard. Could it be that Lucia regarded him as he did her? Did she really esteem him as more than a mere acquaintance? If not, why that strange look?

If really jealous, Lucia soon had ample revenge, for music began, and Miss Dinon said:

"Have you a partner for the quadrille, Mr. Hayn? If not, you must let me find you one."

"I—no, I don't dance," he stammered.

"How unfortunate—for a dozen or more girls this evening!" murmured Miss Dinon. "You will kindly excuse me, that I may see if the sets are full?"

Phil bowed and edged his way to a corner, where in solitude and wretchedness he beheld Lucia go through a quadrille, bestowing smiles in rapid succession upon her partner, who was to Phil's eyes too utterly insignificant to deserve a single glance from those fairest eyes in the world. His lips hardened as he saw Lucia accasionally whirled to her place by the arm of her partner boldly encircling her waist. He had always thought dancing was wrong; now he knew it. At Haynton the young people occasionally went through a dance called "Sir Roger de Coverley," but there was no hugging in that. And Lucia did not seem at all displeased by her partner's familiarity—confound it!

He had to unbend and forget his anger when the quadrille ended, for a pretty maiden to whom he had been introduced accosted him and said some cheerful nothings, fluttering suggestively a miniature fan on which were pencilled some engagements to dance. But soon the music of a waltz arose, and Phil's eyes flashed, to a degree that frightened the maiden before him, for directly in front of him, with a man's arm permanently about her slender waist and her head almost pillowed on her partner's shoulder, was Lucia. More dreadful still, she seemed not only to accept the situation, but to enjoy it; there was on her face a look of dreamy content that Phil remembered having seen when she swung in a hammock at Haynton. He remembered that then he had thought it angelic, but—then there was no arm about her waist.

The pretty maiden with the fan had looked to see what had affected the handsome young man so unpleasantly. "Oh," she whispered, "he is dreadfully awkward. I positively shiver whenever he asks me for a dance."

"Awkward, indeed!" exclaimed Phil. A very young man with a solemn countenance came over just then to remind the maiden with the fan that the next quadrille would be his; so she floated away, bestowing upon Phil a parting smile far too sweet to be utterly wasted, as it was.

"You seem unhappy, Mr. Hayn," said Miss Dinon, rejoining Phil. "I really believe it's because you don't dance. Confess, now."

"You ought to be a soothsayer, Miss Dinon, you are so shrewd at guessing," said Phil, forcing a smile and then mentally rebuking himself for lying.

"Won't you attempt at least a quadrille? The next one will be very easy."

"Phil!" exclaimed Lucia, coming up to him with an odd, defiant look, part of which was given to Miss Dinon, "you're too mean for anything. You haven't asked me for a single dance."

Phil's smile was of the sweetest and cheeriest as he replied:

"Wouldn't it be meaner to ask for what I wouldn't know how to accept! We country people don't know how to dance."

"But anyone can go through a quadrille; it's as easy as walking."

"You couldn't have a better opportunity than the next dance, Mr. Hayn," said Miss Dinon, "nor a more graceful partner and instructor than Miss Tramlay."

Lucia looked grateful and penitent; then she took Phil's arm, and whispered rapidly, "We'll take a side; all you need do will be to watch the head couples carefully, and do exactly as they do, when our turn comes."

"But if I blunder——"

"Then I'll forgive you. What more can you ask?"

"Nothing," said Phil, his heart warming, and his face reflecting the smile that accompanied Lucia's promise. The quadrille was really as easy as had been promised; indeed, Phil found it almost identical, except in lack of grace, with an alleged calisthenic exercise which a pious teacher had once introduced in Haynton's school.

The motion of swinging a partner back to position by an encircling arm puzzled him somewhat as he contemplated it, but Lucia kindly came to his assistance, and 'twas done almost before he knew it—done altogether too quickly, in fact. And although he honestly endeavored to analyze the wickedness of it, and to feel horrified and remorseful, his mind utterly refused to obey him.

"There!" exclaimed Lucia, as the quadrille ended, and, leaning on Phil's arm, she moved toward a seat. "You didn't seem to find that difficult."

"Anything would be easy with you for a teacher," Phil replied.

"Thanks," said Lucia, with a pretty nod of her head.

"And I'm ever so much obliged to Miss Dinon for urging me to try," continued Phil.

"Agnes Dinon is a dear old thing," said Lucia, fanning herself vigorously.

"Old?" echoed Phil. "A woman like Miss Dinon can never be old."

Lucia's fan stopped suddenly; again the strange jealous look came into her face, and she said;

"I should imagine you had been smitten by Miss Dinon."

Mother and Child Are Doing Well.

Mrs. Brown was sick. Her friends said she would never get well. "What's the trouble?" "O, some kind of female weakness. The doctors have given up her case as hopeless. 'She may live for some time,' they say, 'but as for a cure, that is quite out of the question.'"

"I don't believe it," said a woman who heard the sad news. "I don't believe she's any worse off than I was five years ago, from the same trouble, and I don't look very much like a dead woman, do I?" She certainly did not, with her red, plump cheeks, bright eyes and 150 pounds of good healthy bone, blood and flesh. "I'm going to see her and tell her how she can get well." She did so. She advised Mrs. Brown to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. Brown took the advice, also the medicine which cures all kinds of diseases so common among women, and—got well. That was two years ago. Last month she presented Mr. Brown with a ten-pound son, and "mother and child are doing well."

At Death's Door.—Dyspepsia Conquered.—A Great Medical Triumph. GENTLEMEN,—My medical adviser and others told me I could not possibly live, when I commenced the use of Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY for Dyspepsia. My case was one of the worst of its kind. For three years I could not eat meat and my weight decreased from 219 to 119 pounds. All the food I took for thirteen months previous to taking the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY consisted of milk. I am now entirely cured and have regained my usual weight, can eat anything with a keen relish and feel like a new man. I have sold over 30 dozen VEGETABLE DISCOVERY since it cured me, as I am well-known, and people in this section know how low I was, and thought I could not possibly be cured. They are eager to try this grand medicine. It certainly saved my life, as I never expected to recover when I first commenced using it. I am not exaggerating anything, but feel glad to be able to contribute this testimonial and trust it may be the means of convincing others of its merit as a certain cure for Dyspepsia. BEHIND PRISON WALLS.

Interesting Statistics Relative to Middlesex County Jail.

Those Who Were There and What They Were There For—Great Decrease in Drunkenness—Religions and Occupations.

The statistics for the Middlesex county jail for the current year have been compiled. Some of the facts and figures contained therein are of interest to the public generally. The number of cases of drunkenness has noticeably decreased; there have been but 218 committed during the year, 14 of whom were females. Next in order as regards number are the cases of vagrancy, 106 persons having been put under the care of the governor of the institution.

The average cost for maintenance was 5 1-100 cents per prisoner per ration, which is very low. All supplies are obtained by tender, and this no doubt accounts for the low rate of maintenance. During the whole year no prisoners were hired out to do convict labor, there having been enough to keep them employed around the buildings.

Of the 537 prisoners committed the offenses for which they were charged were as follows:

	Male.	Female.
Abusive language	1	..

ILLEGAL COAL COMBINE.

Conviction of the Lockport Exchange Members Affirmed.

ALBANY, Oct. 5.—An important case was decided here by the Court of Appeals, the question at issue being what constitutes a conspiracy against the rights of the people under the laws of New York State. J. Carson Sheedon and four others were convicted in Niagara county, and fined $50 each on an indictment charging them with conspiracy in having formed the "Lockport Coal Exchange," which organization, it was alleged, sought to raise and maintain the price of coal to consumers, and that it restricted trade in violation of the penal code of the State and of chapter 716 of the laws of 1893.

This was the first prosecution under the latter act, which is entitled "An act to prevent monopolies in articles of general necessity." The defendants contended that proof of an overt act was wanting beyond the mere forming of the exchange. The Court of Appeals, however, affirmed the judgment of conviction rendered by the lower courts.

Mrs. X., of Detroit, died suddenly at Leeton at 8 one night. Her two little girls were not told of it until next morning. They said they were not surprised, as their mother had come into their room about 8 the evening before and kissed them goodbye.

A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

Hon. J. W. Longley, Attorney-General of Nova Scotia, accompanied by Mrs. Longley, is at the Tecumseh House, spending a day in London on his way home from the World's Fair. Mr. Longley is one of the most brilliant of the younger statesmen of Canada; an able speaker, a telling writer, an accomplished lawyer. We hope Mr. Longley may ere long be able to come back to London and deliver a public address.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—Days of the "sere and yellow leaf,"
Days of a solemn, silent grief
That fills life's bitter cup—
I read, within your golden tint,
I read it plain as Roman print,
This sly, soul-chilling, cruel hint:
"The price of coal goes up!"

—Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McIntosh, and Miss Butler have returned from Chicago.

—Mr. F. H. Cragg, of Rothschilds Bros. & Co., New York, is in the city on business.

—Mr. Walter Armstrong, of this city, has left for Toronto to resume his studies at the Ontario Veterinary College

—Dr. and Mrs. Pingel leave for Chicago to-day, whence the doctor proposes to visit the principal lung institutes and hospitals of the west.

—They say that "Charley's Aunt," the new comedy, is the funniest production that has been staged since "The Private Secretary" was first produced.

—Dorchester Fair was held yesterday and many Londoners attended. Charles Laurence, city, took first prize in the running race. Frank Sage captured first and Fred T. Trebilcock second in the saddle race.

—Sergt. Harry Cast, of the Twenty-eighth Battalion, left for London this morning to take a six months' course at the Royal School of Infantry.—[Stratford Herald.

—The London West railway is being extended to the Dundas street bridge. The work of stringing the wires has been completed on Oxford street and part of the Wharncliff.

—Grain thieves are gathering where they sow not in London township. On Wednesday night Mr. Job Cox, Oxford street, lost ten bags and a neighbor eight bags. No trace.

—The harvest thanksgiving services will be held in St. John the Evangelist Church on Sunday next. The Bishop of Huron preaches in the morning and Rev. Principal Millar in the evening.

—A dispatch from Trenton, N. J., dated Wednesday night says: "There is a decided improvement in Calverley's condition to-night and he is less delirious. The injured limbs were examined by the doctor, who is satisfied with the setting."

—Dennis C. Dorman is a farmer in Westminster township. He cultivates melons extensively. Last evening he swore out an information against Wm. Ayling for trespassing upon the patch. The accused will appear before Squire Smyth on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

—The trustees of the Protestant Orphans' Home very gratefully acknowledge the following donations for September: Mrs. W. Glass, two bags of apples; Mrs. Simpson Smith, apples; Mrs. Biddulph, books and magazines; W. C. T. U., bread and corned beef; Mr. McCormick, five baskets grapes; Mrs. Gartshore, clothing.

—Miss Lotta Fetherston, of Montreal, a favorite pupil of Herr Reichling and Monsieur F. Lehin-Prume, violinist to the King of Belgium, gives a classical chamber concert in Victoria Hall on Oct. 19, assisted by the Misses Hartson and Mr. F. Soper, vocalists, Mr. McCully, violiniste, and Mr. H. Saunders, 'cellist. The concert will be under the direction of Mr. J. W. Fetherston, organist of Queen's Avenue Methodist Church.

—After a session of two hours last night No. 2 committee adjourned, and during the weary wait the attention of the members was chiefly devoted to the passing of accounts. When the item of Collegiate Institute expenditure came up, there was a lengthy discussion over the salaries of the janitors, and a resolution was finally adopted fixing them at $600 for Mr. Jury and $500 for Mr. Miller, the board to supply all materials. A resolution was also passed fixing the rate for the janitors of night schools at 30 cents per night. There were present: Trustees D. W. Blackwell (chairman), Anderson, Turner, Jeffrey, Dewar, Secretary McElheran, Inspector Perry and Principal Merchant.

Accused of Theft.

Arthur Cole is a recent acquisition to this section. A short time ago he was employed by Wm. Iles, who resides in the township of Caradoc. On Wednesday he disappeared and at the same time $51 belonging to his employer. The latter came to the city yesterday afternoon and swore out a warrant for Cole's arrest. This was placed in the hands of Detective Mason, who took Cole before Squire Smyth. The prisoner was remanded for examination until 2 o'clock. Cole did not seem at all perturbed.

A Threatened Suit.

The business of the Board of Works last night was attended to by Ald. Thos. Jones (chairman), Taylor, Dreaney, Garratt, Shaw, Coo, Mayor Essery, Secretary Bell, City Engineer Graydon, and Street Commissioner Owens. A St. Thomas law firm sent a communication in behalf of E. H. Flack, stating that they were about to issue a writ against the city for $1,500 damages for injures which Flack claims he sustained on account of a defective bridge on Charlotte street, this city. It appears that Flack was riding his bicycle on the above street, and when about to cross the bridge in question he was thrown violently into the ditch, on account, as he stated, of the road being so much lower than the bridge. The injuries laid him up for some time, but the communication stated that he would be willing to come to a settlement rather than take the matter into court. The engineer reported that the accident could only have happened through the grossest negligence, as the approaches to the bridge are in perfect condition. The communication was filed. The treasurer presented a report of the expenditure of the committee so far this year. Of the appropriation of $51,015, there have been spent in repairing bridges, etc., $45,425 64. Mr. Orme, of East London, asked that the drain on English street be enlarged, as the present one is not sufficient to carry away the water during a freshet. Referred to the engineer. A communication from the City Council recommending that a drain be laid on Oxford street from Richmond street to the river without a petition from the residents was read, but no action was taken.

A GREAT BILL.

Two Superb Attractions at the Grand Opera House—"Rhea" and "The Crust of Society."

THE CHARMING RHEA.

Adrien Barbusse, the author of Mlle. Rhea's new play "The Queen of Sheba," which will be presented at the London Opera House to-morrow evening, is 50 years of age. Like his contemporaries, Georges Ohnet and Alphonse Daudet, he belongs essentially to the literary set of Paris. He has a remarkable dislike to publicity, and is devoted to his charming family. His duties in the department of the Ministry of Fine Arts, where he holds an enviable position, permit of his devoting a certain amount of leisure to the writing of plays. Since the completion of "The Queen of Sheba" he has received a commission from Coquelin for a comedy based upon an original subject. Mons. Marck, the director of the Odeon Theater, Paris, after hearing "The Queen of Sheba" read, wished to negotiate for a Parisian production of the play, but Mlle. Rhea's engagements in America precluded her entertaining any offer, however tempting, before next season, when she may possibly be induced to make arrangements with Mons. Marck. Meanwhile her American tour with "The Queen of Sheba" promises to be the most successful she has ever had.

"THE CRUST OF SOCIETY."

Manager John Stetson's version of Dumas' famous novel, which was adapted and arranged in Boston and first produced at the Globe Theater there a few months ago, will be the attraction at the Grand on Tuesday next. The tours of the several "Crust of Society" companies which Mr. Stetson has sent around through the country have been most successful. The play presents a certain phase of life not exactly the upper crust and not exactly the lower crust; yet, perhaps that stratum where the two crusts meet. Everyone is familiar with the existence of such a life as is depicted in this adaptation of Dumas' book, and everyone, strangely enough, seems to be in sympathy with the attempts of a handsome adventuress to gain a position in the upper crust at any sacrifice. The cast is a most excellent one, having been carefully selected by Mr. Stetson.

Frogs Come by the Sky Route.

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Oct. 5.—A singular sight was witnessed here the other evening. A tremendous rain poured down, and with it came millions of small frogs. They got into many stores, and the principal streets in the business part of the town were so covered with these pests that it was difficult to walk.

Seduction Suit Dismissed.

STRATFORD, Oct. 5.—At the Assizes today Hannah Entner vs. Ernest Benneweis, an action for damages for seduction, was the first case taken up. The defense took the ground that as the child was born during the life time of the father of the girl seduced he was the person who should have brought the action, and that the mother had no legal claim for damages. His Lordship held that the objection was good and discharged the jury and dismissed the case. The defendant also denies the charge, but the case being thrown out on technical grounds no opportunity was offered to tender evidence on that point.

"Williams' Royal Crown Remedy Saved John Weir's Life"

May be seen in large letters on the covers of the horses that precede the handsome Royal Crown Remedy wagon. Mr. Weir said: "This is a most marvelous cure. I became pale as a corpse; my blood seemed to be turned to water. I had dizziness and a ringing noise in my head; my hands and feet were cold all the time, and my limbs were completely swollen up to the body. Some doctors called it consumption of the blood. I got so weak that I could not walk, and finally took to my bed." Mrs. Weir says: "All Mr. Weir has told you is true. At times he lay for days unconscious and unable to take nourishment of any kind, and was reduced to a mere skeleton of 84 pounds; and I fully believe if we had been one day later in getting Williams Royal Crown Remedy he would be in his grave to-day. So it may well be said 'Williams' Royal Crown Remedy saved John Weir's life.'" The best druggists keep "Royal Crown Remedy"; but if your druggist does not, remit direct to Isaac Williams Company, London, and they will send it to you by first express. The price at which "Williams' Royal Crown Remedy" is sold makes a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with any other medical treatment. Six bottles for $5. Clip this out and keep it.
